Melville, Oct. 3.—Mrs. Crooks, mother of Jas. Crooks, a switchman, who was killed a few days after insuring his life in the Mutual Life of Canada, has recovered $1,000 from the company at the assizes here. The company fought payment on the ground that Crooks was insured as car checker when in reality he was switchman, a risk they would not take. The jury returned a verdict for the full amount.

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—Elmer Goulet, an Ottawa laborer, is unlucky. He was in the Ottawa hospital for some time on the point of death from heart trouble. He left to go to Toronto, and there some one stole $57 from him, his suit case, clothes and other articles. A few hours later a train struck him at Winchester street, Toronto, and he lies in an hospital there now with a fractured skull.

Mr. Hayman, speaking of the project, said: "The scheme will probably be tried first on the Lusitania. Light comedy will be given, and, if successful, other branches of theatricals will be put on the steamers."

WHEN WASHINGTON FELL FROM GRACE

NOT ALWAYS REGARDED AS MODEL OF VERACITY

Washington, Oct. 3.—Documentary evidence has just been discovered in Fairfax county, Virginia, to prove that George Washington was not always regarded by his neighbors as a model of veracity. At the May term of the Fairfax county court in 1800 he was publicly "presented" by the grand jury for swearing to a false list of his taxable property.

The discovery of this record was made by Capt. S. R. Donahue, editor of the Fairfax Herald, the weekly paper, in Fairfax court house. While getting into a history of the county which he is engaged in writing, Capt. Donahue examined ancient records of the county court. In the many depths of papers relating to the county, he unearthed a document or two ago, proof of the fact that in 1700 criminal proceedings were instituted against Washington for not entering his property for taxation, an offense which involved making a false oath. The word "presented" as used in this report carried in those days only a slightly different meaning than that of the word "indicted," a difference largely technical. In short, the greatest of Americans was believed, on judicial inquiry and examination by twelve substantial men of his county, to be guilty of what is to-day termed "tax dodging." Washington, however, was indicted in good company. The William Fairfax "presented" with him was a nephew of the great Lord Fairfax, whose possessions would have easily blanketed half a dozen German princes in the eighteenth century.

The tradition that Washington was officially charged with swearing to a false tax list for the purpose of evading payment of taxes has been passed down by the succeeding clerks of Fairfax village for all the generations of the last century, but until it was proved to be true by Capt. Donahue's discovery, no special credence was placed therein. According to reports among citizens of Fairfax, Washington was hailed before the court half a dozen times for the same offence.

Mr. Taft was fatigued, but in good spirits. The approach of the train was signalled by the salvoes of aerial bombs. Gen. Count Kuroki, the famous commander of the Japanese army in Manchuria, met Mr. Taft and invited the party to an informal luncheon, after which the male travellers visited points of interest. Mr. Taft, however, preferred to go shopping. The train with the party left Kyoto this morning and arrives at Kobe this evening. The party will be welcomed at Kobe by the Governor of Kobe and his staff, and officials of the United States consulate. After being driven to the pier, the party will be taken in special launches on board the steamer Minnesota, which will sail for Nagasaki and Manila at 10 p. m.

Portage la Prairie, Man., Oct. 3.—A peculiar state of affairs has come to light since the survey of the city has been undertaken, and it will require a special act of the legislature to straighten things out. It has been disclosed that buildings to the value of many thousands of dollars are situated in the centre of the public highways, and many of the roadways now commonly used are private property. It will be impossible to observe the new outline, and the aid of the legislature will have to be invoked to allow the existing conditions to continue. It appears that the original error was caused by improper placing of the survey stakes on the north boundary of Crescent Lake.

Winnipeg, Oct. 2.—Insurance companies of the city are protesting against the manner in which it is claimed a number of "wild cat" companies are doing business in the city and province, when they have no standing. They maintain that there are companies with head offices in foreign countries, but which have no officers here or authority or doing business under the provincial government. The insurance act provides for certain regulations being enforced against such companies and members of the board of fire underwriters for Manitoba and the Northwest want the act interpreted to see what will be done. The standard companies admit that these "wild cat" companies are plenty good unless there is fire, but in that case with a claim of $3,000 they may be compelled to be satisfied with $100.

Mrs. Hathaway, whose home is two miles from here, lay unconscious for an hour after the assault of the tramp. The latter meanwhile took her son into the orchard, where he tied the lad to an apple tree, saturated the clothing with oil, set the garments afire and

INQUIRES INTO ASIATIC INFUX

W. D. SCOTT PURSUES INVESTIGATION HERE

Dominion Superintendent of Immigration Pleased With Number of Agriculturalists in Province. (From Thursday's Daily.) W. D. Scott, Dominion superintendent of immigration, arrived in the city last night and this morning he held a lengthy conference with Dr. Milne, the local immigration official. Over a fortnight ago Mr. Scott was dispatched to Vancouver by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to inquire into the conditions affecting Oriental immigration and to report thereon to his government. His coming was consequently upon the heels of a rioting in Vancouver, and at the time he left Ottawa it was rumored that he would have full powers to deal with the situation on the spot, and the power to deport any Asiatics whom he considered undesirable.

When seen this morning Mr. Scott stated that he could say nothing about the investigation, but he stated that the matter must be handed in to the Dominion government. He has made an exhaustive study of the question on this coast, and on his return to Ottawa the Dominion government will be informed of the matter exactly as it stands.

It is a year since Mr. Scott has visited these shores, and he states considerable changes in the country. What he is most particularly pleased about is the fact that the country districts are getting settled faster in proportion than the cities. "I notice," he says, "that numbers of agriculturalists are settled down here. That is the best possible sign of advancement, and that is just what the Dominion government wants."

When asked when the new immigration building at the outer wharf would be erected, he said that the tenders would be called for in a few days, and that as soon as ever the contract was awarded the work of construction would be commenced.

Talking of the trend of immigration, he said that there was every prospect of a big influx next year. The Salvation Army was doing a great work in this respect. He was pleased to note that the Methodist church in England was now arranging to send emigrants with the aid of the Church of England, and was also doing good work.

Mr. Scott is winding up his investigations on the Oriental question in Victoria, and will leave to-morrow morning on the return journey to Ottawa.

PECULIAR CONDITION OF AFFAIRS AT PORTAGE

Survey of City Shows Encroachment on Roadways—Protest by Insurance Companies. Portage la Prairie, Man., Oct. 3.—A peculiar state of affairs has come to light since the survey of the city has been undertaken, and it will require a special act of the legislature to straighten things out. It has been disclosed that buildings to the value of many thousands of dollars are situated in the centre of the public highways, and many of the roadways now commonly used are private property. Enraged farmers and citizens of this place are scouring the country for the murderer, threatening to execute him as he hid the boy.

SPANISH LABORERS

European Agent Denies Statement That They Were Maltreated in Panama

Paris, Oct. 3.—Leroy Park, general European agent of the Isthmian canal commission, expressed surprise at the recent charges by the Spanish government that Spanish laborers who have gone to Panama were grossly deceived and maltreated. Mr. Park says he knows no complaints. On the contrary, he has an official report from the Spanish consul at Panama showing that the latter personally investigated conditions there and found the quarters of the laborers healthy and well cared for, and the laborers themselves contented. Many are sending for their families, and applicants for work, upon the advice of acquaintances already there, desire to take their families with them.

They were traced by dogs to the western coast, and back to the track by Auburn on a sixth street, where they were "set." A reward of $5,000 is offered for the capture of the murderers.

The drivers refused to accept this offer.

Another meeting is being held this afternoon. The way the situation stands now all the Western Fuel Company's employees are willing to work with the exception of the drivers. There is not much fear but some arrangement will be effected whereby all will return to work.

BRINGING HERD OF FALLOW DEER

I. H. WHEATCROFT TO STOCK JAMES ISLAND

New Proprietor Will Bring Specimens From the Herd at Chatsworth Park. (From Thursday's Daily.) James Island, one of the finest residential islands in the Gulf, which was purchased a few days ago from Dr. G. L. Findlay and Lady Spill Findlay by Irving H. Wheatcroft, general manager of the Kentucky Valley railroad, is to be converted by its new owner into a fine natural park. Mr. Wheatcroft is the English magnate who recently purchased about fifty of the famous fallow deer from the unique herd at Chatsworth Park, the Duke of Devonshire's home. Mr. Wheatcroft has arranged to bring his deer from his estate in Kentucky to James Island, which he considers an ideal place for such a venture. Arrangements are now under way to have the deer brought into Canada as soon as possible and British Columbia will shortly boast the possession of a herd that is second to none in the Dominion.

Mr. Wheatcroft's plans are to turn his latest acquisition into a veritable sportsman's paradise, and he will bring to it all his magnificent collection of pheasants and other birds which will be let loose to make their homes about the island. The late owners, Dr. and Lady Findlay, have paved the way to Mr. Wheatcroft's object in the way of cultivating and beautifying the island and in installing a fine water supply. A large amount of acreage has been cleared and a good start made upon the work which the new owner proposes to carry out.

EMIGRANTS FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA

G. A. Williamson, Representing a British Organization, Had Interview With Government.

G. A. Williamson, organizer of the emigration department of the Central Unemployed Body, London, England, had an interview with representatives of the provincial government on Monday...

The process of election which was exercised in determining the fitness of these immigrants, found this number suited for the places they were destined to fill, out of 16,000 applicants.

By the provisions of the act under which it is organized the immigration department is prohibited from dealing with persons of the present class, but financial assistance is extended in cases to meet the expenses entailed by the transportation of immigrants into a new country.

The cost of the journey into British Columbia has hitherto stood as an insuperable barrier against immigration to this province by the people to whom the good offices of the organization are extended, although Mr. Williamson says there are a great many who manifest a desire to come here.

CIVIC AFFAIRS.

The year 1908 promises to be one of the most important in the municipal history of Victoria. The city has entered upon a period of great prosperity. Population is increasing rapidly. Business has been undergoing a tremendous expansion for some time.

It is not surprising that the city is now in a position to give an authoritative opinion—but we take it that the people must be the final arbiters in the matter. It is for them to say whether any recommendation Mr. Adams may tender shall be accepted.

Next year we hope to see sitting in the chairs around the aldermanic board the best council Victoria ever had. For reasons already given we shall need such a council. But in order to achieve such a necessary desideratum we must have preceding reforms.

duty to induce them to submit their names as candidates. It is not premature to suggest that the time has arrived for preliminary action.

It is most remarkable when one considers the matter that while on this continent there has been a steady decrease in postal rates there has been no corresponding reduction in the rates in that other branch of the service through which the public maintain communication, the telegraph system.

The management of the Victoria theatre is to be congratulated on a new departure with reference to the playing of the National Anthem by the orchestra. Monday evening, instead of its being reserved until the fall of the latest curtain, it preceded the rise of the first one.

With a revenue of one hundred million dollars and a total trade of between six hundred and seven hundred millions of dollars, Canada is indeed advancing by "leaps and bounds."

It was quite evident at the last luncheon of the Canadian Club that that organization has outgrown the quarters which served its purpose in the earlier weeks of its history.

Speaking in favor of promotion in the post office department, the Toronto Star says the newly-appointed postmaster of New York is a man who worked his way up from the position of carrier.

nature of the service performed. Control by commission may serve to bridge the chasm between public opinion and corporate desire for profits. But it is easy to see what the end must be.

The Canadian Courier doubtless accurately expresses public opinion in the East when it says: "There can be no doubt that one of Canada's greatest needs is cheaper telegrams. At present we are paying from two to ten cents a word for messages sent over the wires."

THE CONGRESS AT WINNIPEG REPORT PRESENTED BY LOCAL DELEGATES

Victoria Trades and Labor Council Given an Account of Business Transacted.

J. C. Watters and C. Sivertz, delegates to the twenty-third convention of the Dominion Labor Congress, held at Winnipeg recently, presented a report on that gathering at a meeting of the Victoria Trades and Labor Council last evening.

The Trades and Labor Council of Canada in convention assembled and representing organized labor from Halifax to Victoria, unanimously passed the following resolution and asked, if you can assure a favorable reply to the requests embodied in it—

"1. Whereas a crisis has arisen in the Dominion of British Columbia by reason of the unprecedented influx of Japanese."

"2. And whereas the Japanese have already usurped the opportunities for labor in the fisheries in British Columbia and are threatening to entirely supplant white labor in the mines and lumbering industries."

"3. And whereas the expulsion of white labor from the mines, lumbering and other industries of British Columbia will entail a shortage of fuel and lumber supplies, this approaching winter for the people, more particularly of Western Canada."

"4. And whereas the willingness of the Japanese to accept a lower standard of living enables them to outbid the workers of British Columbia who, under higher and better conditions of moral, social and industrial well-being, have trained themselves to conform to a standard of living more in accord with British ideas and who are determined to maintain that standard as the surest guarantee of Canadian citizenship."

into the Dominion, most of whom enter at the ports of Victoria and Vancouver, B. C.; also to draft a telegram to Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier asking that the federal government do take immediate steps to check same, the telegram and resolutions to be approved by the convention before being forwarded.

The discussion that followed revealed a general perception by the delegates from all parts of the Dominion of the danger threatening the white race in this country if the present rate of immigration of Asiatics is allowed to continue. The resolution, was amended to read that

"A special committee, consisting of Messrs. Perry, Vancouver; Pettipiece, Vancouver; Watters, Victoria; Sivertz, Victoria; Lebrucq, Coleman; Jany, Halifax; Lunders, Hamilton; Tracy, Quebec; Empey, Ottawa, and Trotte, Winnipeg, with Mr. O'Donohue, solicitor for the congress, to advise the committee, be appointed to frame a resolution embodying the views of the convention on the Japanese immigration question, the substance of same to be telegraphed to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, requesting an early reply."

Resolution Passed. "The resolution carried without a dissenting vote. The committee applied itself diligently to its task, and in the forenoon of the second day submitted the following report, which was unanimously adopted, amidst great applause, and ordered forwarded complete to Sir Wilfrid Laurier."

"Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, G. C. M. G., Premier of Canada: "Among the important matters considered by the convention were the following:

"Endorsement of the principle of compulsory arbitration, known as the Lemieux Act, and the extension of the operation of same to all trades and occupations, which was carried by 62-23."

"Protesting against the Salvation Army immigration scheme."

"Endorsing the request of the Federated Association of Letter Carriers for an eight-hour day and retirement after 25 years' service, also an adjustment of the present rates of salary, so as to bring it more in accord with the cost of living."

"Condemning the recent lawlessness that took place in Vancouver, and protesting against the responsibility for same being charged against organized labor."

"Instructing the executive to approach the American Federation of Labor with the object of having the money now collected by that body for organizing purposes in Canada, paid to the executive of the Dominion of British Columbia, to be administered under the direct supervision of the executive on behalf of the congress."

"The question of the establishment of a small debt court was referred to provincial executives."

"A declaration in favor of provincial autonomy in political matters, with the collective ownership of all the necessities of life as an ultimate end was defeated by 51 nays to 23 yeas."

Secretary-Treasurer's Report. "The secretary-treasurer's report showed that 515 unions are now affiliated with the congress, with membership of 2,997, also 42 trades and labor councils chartered from the congress."

"The congress represented approximately 150,000 members of organized working people. Eleven international trades unions pay per capita tax to the congress on their entire Canadian membership with the exception of more before the end of the year. The total revenue amounted to $7,474.49, and the expenditure to $6,570.28, leaving a balance of $904.51."

Besides the fraternal delegate from the American Federation of Labor, Mr. R. Maloney, there were in attendance R. C. Owens, representing the Canadian Society of Equity, and Honore R. Jaxon, representing the Western Federation of Miners, who was admitted as fraternal delegate without a vote."

"Mr. Owens appeared for the purpose of explaining the objects and workings of the great organization of farmers, and proved himself both a credit to the society he represented and a source of inspiration to the convention."

"Mr. Jaxon conveyed fraternal greetings from the Western Federation of Miners, and thanked the workingmen of Canada for the generous material and moral support rendered the federation in its struggles in the recent past. After the conclusion of his address the convention ordered that a congratulatory message be telegraphed to the secretary of the Western Federation of Miners, expressing the satisfaction and pleasure of the members present of the fraternal visit of the delegates to Canada during any one year."

"2. That as a necessary preliminary to that end the Dominion government be urged to immediately call upon the Japanese authorities to terminate the treaty with Japan."

"3. That pending the termination of the treaty the Japanese authorities be called upon to restrict the immigration of Japanese in accordance with the alleged convention that not more than 400 or 500 be allowed to come to Canada during any one year."

"The election of officers took place on the fifth day, when President Smith, Vice-President Simpson and Secretary-Treasurer Draper were re-elected to their respective offices. The following were elected as the executive of the congress for British Columbia: Vice-President, J. C. Watters, Victoria; J. Kermigan, Vancouver; A. G. Perry, Vancouver; and C. Sivertz, Victoria."

"R. W. Trotter, of Winnipeg, was elected a fraternal delegate to the American Federation of Labor, while Halifax, N. S., was selected as the next place of meeting."

"The representatives of your body took occasion to support the nomination of the Nova Scotia capital as the proper place for the next convention and assured the members present of the hearty support of Victoria now and in the future."

"Your representatives take this opportunity to express the hope that the labor movement of our city will continue to give the trades and labor congress of Canada the undivided and enthusiastic support it so richly deserves as the legislative mouthpiece of the workmen and women of the Dominion. Sincerely yours,

"CHRISTIAN SIVERTZ, J. C. WATTERS, Delegates."

"Victoria, B. C., Oct. 2, 1907." After completing the business before the council went into committee of the whole to consider the arrangements for the meeting to be held to-night.

Resolutions Passed Favoring Federal Measure and Persistent Action on Part of Province.

Yesterday afternoon the Liberal convention meeting in Vancouver went on record as favoring the enactment of the Dominion government of the Natal Act, and the re-enactment, if necessary, of the local Immigration Act. The resolutions were as follows:

"That as the opinion of British Columbia generally is against the Immigration of Orientals, and as the Liberal party of the Dominion has successfully excluded the Chinese, the party should adopt an immediate policy which will accomplish the same object against all Orientals, and, that in the opinion of this convention the Natal Act, which has been effective in restricting Oriental immigration in other British countries should be passed as a federal enactment, and any existing treaty or act which prevents the passage of the Natal Act should be abrogated at the earliest possible date."

"That the legislature pass, and, if disallowed, then by special session or sessions, re-pass the Natal Act for the exclusion of undesirable immigrants from the realm and until the highest court of the realm declares such an act beyond the jurisdiction of the provincial legislature, or until the convention has passed effective exclusion measures."

L. Main Tells of the Working of the Farmers' Exchange of That Centre.

Owing to special local circumstances a great deal of interest is being taken in the working of Farmers' associations and exchanges. One of the most successful of the exchanges in the province is the Armstrong Farmers' Exchange which has been in existence about five years, and has been more successful every season since its inauguration. One of the members of this exchange, L. Main, of Armstrong, is now in town a guest of Rev. A. E. Roberts, of Victoria West. When interviewed this morning by a Times representative he told about the society the following being a summary of what he said:

"The Armstrong Exchange started without capital. The farmers of the district had had good crops five years ago, but large quantities of the stuff rotted on the ground, because there was no market for it. Something had to be done but the farmers had not sufficient faith in the exchange idea to put any money into it. The result of the following electoral representation: Cariboo—M. S. Wade (proxy), W. HON. F. J. FULTON IS B/C TO CITY

The Chief Commissioner Has Made a Study of Irrigation Laws of Colorado

(From Thursday's Daily.) Hon. F. J. Fulton, chief commissioner of lands and works, has returned to his departmental duties after a two weeks' absence in Colorado.

At the next session of the legislature the government proposes to bring down amendments, designed to make the Water Classes Act, with respect to its application to the supply of water for irrigation purposes, more workable, and add the minister's visit to Colorado was taken with a view of obtaining information concerning governmental administration of irrigation waters in that state. He was accompanied by L. G. Carpenter, an expert on irrigation engineering, whose services were engaged to assist in elucidating the subject.

Hon. Mr. Fulton said this morning that his visit had been satisfactory. He had inspected some of the irrigation systems, and consulted personally with representatives of the state government with respect thereto.

The irrigation schemes of Colorado are all private enterprises. The only concern which the government has therein is in the letting of the water, from which fees are obtained, as in this province. The only difference between the system as observed in Colorado and that followed in British Columbia is that the water privileges are there determined by court decree, whereas in this province they are granted by the agents of the government. Hon. Mr. Fulton did not think there was any particular advantage in the Colorado system over that obtaining here.

There are no state lands in Colorado, other than the sections reserved in that township for school purposes. The lands are controlled by the federal government. Only three million acres have been subject to irrigation, and most of these lands are under settlement.

During the minister's absence word has been accumulating in his department, and he will be kept busy for some time in picking up the threads of business which have been necessarily dropped during his absence.

SAILOR KILLED.

Member of the Crew of the Vado Fell From Railway Bridge.

Patrick Freeman was instantly killed a mile the other side of Ladysmith on Wednesday night about 8 o'clock, falling off the high trestle on the E. & N. track and tumbling down into the abyss below, a distance of some 80 feet. Death was instantaneous.

The unfortunate man was a sailor on the steamship Vado, which coaled at Ladysmith and left yesterday for Victoria. Freeman and two other sailors missed their boat and last night started to walk to Victoria. At the trestle the unfortunate man missed his footing, and tripped, with the result mentioned. He was a native of Wexford, Ireland. The funeral will take place at Ladysmith to-morrow.

closed for a long time. The clashing of cymbals and other ear-splitting noises will be again heard in that part of the town, a company of Victoria and Vancouver players headed by Chung Sing Wung, who conducted the theatre in Vancouver all last winter, having been engaged to open the season. These will be followed by a company from Seattle. Since its closing the theatre has been generally overgrown. The entertainment commences at seven o'clock and continues to midnight, so that those who attend can be sure of getting enough for their money.

Following acted as pallbearers: J. P. Cropp, A. Harper, J. L. Blakney, representing the Barbers' Union, and W. E. Graham, J. B. McCallum and W. Hurst, representing the Foresters.

Harvest home services will be held in the Victoria West Methodist church next Sunday, both morning and evening. The Rev. Dr. Osterhout, of Vernon, a former pastor, will preach the sermon, and special music will be rendered by the choir. On Monday evening the Ladies' Aid of the church will give the usual harvest home supper in Seiple's hall. Supper will be served from 6 to 7.30 p. m., and a concert and entertainment given at 8 p. m. The choir of Centennial church have kindly undertaken to assist in the concert, and a good programme has been prepared.

"He said that he was a relation of Joe Gans and would take me out to Beacon Hill park in his wagon and make me fight," said Abe Dredowitch, in giving evidence in his own defence against a charge of assault brought against him by William S. Estis, a colored man. The case came up on a return from Tuesday and two witnesses were called by the defendant. James Ferrant said that he was present when the fight took place in the C. P. R. baggage room. Estis struck his fist at Abe and Bert Cross said that Estis struck the first blow. Dredowitch gave evidence on his own behalf and caused considerable amusement when he related his part in the assault. He said that Estis struck him after calling him names. The colored man claimed relationship with Joe Gans and said he was a "bad man." Magistrate Jay dismissed the case.

BOYS SUMMER CAMP

Is there any pastime more delightful to boys than camping out for a few days, or even during midsummer? And not only do the boys of the family enjoy getting out to nature for a brief while, but the parents and sisters of the boys are happy when visiting the camp for a day's sojourn.

A plan for a summer camp of the "open-face" variety is pictured here, giving boys a very good idea of how to build one of boards and canvas. The site of the camp should be very carefully selected, dryness of ground being the first consideration and proximity to a spring or well of pure water being next considered. If the camp is to be pitched in a canyon, for a heavy rainfall might prove dangerous, washing away not only the camp, but its occupants. Select a level stretch well up the side of a mountain where the declivity is not too pronounced.

After the "camp" has been duly erected and the "fire shed" built (a place where the campfire should be pitched for cooking purposes) a ditch about ten inches deep and a foot wide should be dug about them just at their outer base. This ditch is for the purpose of catching any water during the rains, and should carry the water off down the mountain or hill side.

Some boys who camp every year build such durable camp lodgings that they last from season to season. These are often equipped with windows and floor as well as with bunks for the bedding. But few boys want to go to so much trouble and expense, and the "open-face" camp is just what they want for a few weeks' outing. Before going into camp the campers should see to it that everything necessary for camp life has been supplied. There should be a good-sized mess-box of wood in which to keep the provisions. Matches should be kept in rubber-corked bottles to insure against dampness. Cracker boxes should be kept in thick paper bags tied tightly at the opening. Let the bread be well wrapped in paper first and outside that a good thick cloth. In the way of uncooked provisions there should be a side of smoked bacon, a bag of meal, one of flour, a can of lard (for frying fish and game), a sack of salt, glass jars of coffee, tea and sugar. Fresh eggs can be bought from a nearby farmer, also green corn and new potatoes if they camping crew cares to consume so much time over the camp-fire. And they are pretty certain to want all that they are prepared to cook, for living out of doors sharpens the appetite wonderfully, and boys who eat little at home find themselves while in camp devouring all the food that they can lay hands on.

The cooking utensils should consist of coffee pot, long-handled iron or steel skillet (never use a frying pan, it is a snare and a delusion), a good sized iron pot for boiling corn and potatoes, and a tin pail for holding water. The dishes should consist of tin plates, cups, kitchen knives, forks, and spoons. If napkins are to be indulged in supply a few dozen paper ones. A white oil-cloth serves finely for a table cover, and a flat rock, or even the ground, will prove as good a table as is wanted.

A few weeks in an open camp, living the wild, free life of pleasure and unrestraint, will prove most beneficial to boys that have over-studied during the school year, and they will come home from their outing like "new men," brown and healthy.

TWO FEARLESS LITTLE GIRLS

By Maud Walker.

Minnie and Pearl Reese were the daughters of a farmer. They were eleven and thirteen years old respectively, and brave, industrious little girls they were, too. Often their mother and father went to town, seven miles distant, leaving the children to take care of the house and stock during their absence. And Minnie and Pearl never for a moment neglected their duty.

One summer day Mr. and Mrs. Reese were called from home on a matter of importance. Before going into the city they told their little daughters to remain at the house and keep on the outlook for traps, for during the warm season that part of the country was flooded with tramps that were going from the South to the North on their annual "foot-excursions."

"Keep your eyes on the big road in both directions, and if you see suspicious-looking characters coming on foot go into the house and lock the doors. And under no conditions must you admit anyone who is a stranger, regardless of any tales of woe or hunger," admonished their father.

As the day was quiet and a beautiful Minnie and Pearl took their sewing on the porch and sat where they could get a fine view of the "big road," as they always called the public highway. They remained there all morning, seeing no suspicious-looking characters coming along the road to frighten them into the house. Several neighboring farmers came along on foot or on horse-back, going into town. They called out cordial and homely greetings to the two little girls in passing, and were responded to by merry smiles and nods, with an occasional call of "Howdy, Mr. so-and-so. How are all the folks?"

About noon, and just as they were preparing to go into the house to fix some luncheon for themselves, Minnie went out to the gate to take a wider view of the surrounding country. She and Pearl had been discussing the possible appearance of a tramp from over the hills at the rear of the house, and had planned upon a course of procedure should they ever be taken unawares in this way. It had been agreed that if one of them should see a tramp—or evil-looking person—approaching, before both girls had been seen by the intruder, that one was to give the signal to the other, who should quietly and quickly slip into the house and call up the nearest neighbors by telephone, telling them an unwelcome stranger had come so suddenly that they—Pearl and Minnie—had not had time to lock themselves in the house. And the neighbors were to be asked to send someone right over unless word to the contrary was received within a few minutes. And it was further arranged that while the one was phoning for a protector the other girl should hold the unwelcome intruder in conversation at the gate, pretending all the while that her parents were about the place, possibly in the house.

As Minnie stepped outside the gate to get a peep of the hills behind the house she caught her breath in a startled way, then, beginning to hum a tune, she turned to her sister who was watching her from the porch. "A terrible man is coming. Hide yourself if he gets in, and go upstairs and make a noise as if many people are there." This is what Minnie said, singing the words carelessly as she informed her sister of the approaching danger. Pearl dropped her sewing and ran into the house, phoning to a neighbor who lived some two miles distant. As she did so she whispered to "how far" they were from protection, and how long it would take for a friend to reach them in case they needed help. As she hung up the receiver, after getting a promise from farmer Jones that both he and one of his hired men would be there as fast as horses could carry them, she heard Minnie talking to the tramp at the gate. Then she dared to peep from behind the window curtain to see how the intruder looked. She turned deathly pale when her eyes fell upon a negro of giant build who was in prison garb. Evidently he had just broken away from a gang of convict laborers that were engaged on some public work several miles away and near to a town where a penitentiary was located. Quick as a flash Pearl was again at the phone. And this time she called to another neighbor, one who lived farther away from her home, but closer to the town where the state's prisons were. Her information to this farmer was to be sent by him over the wire to the prison officials. Just as she had finished phoning she heard Minnie's voice saying: "No, you'll not be disturbed nor seen by anyone. Just sit there in the shadow of that vine and I'll have some dinner for you as quickly as I can."

"Oh, you don't fool me like that," came a gruff voice. "I'll see you right in an' watch you. If you calls for any puseen I'll kill you. I've bin layin' down in the co's jail ever since mornin', and I seen you peep an' go off in the wagon. Now, I knows you alls—not puseen, as I've jes' told you, but I knows dat the's no other puseen about dis place 'em it's you mistah. Whu's she at? Come, no foolin' with mah. I'm gettin' away from dis part o' the worl', an' I needs some clothes an' somethin' to eat. Now, be quiet an' quick."

"I'll come slippin' back an' kill you all at night an' burn the house."

LITTLE LUCY'S CONFESSION

BY HELENA DAVIS.

Lucy's mama was going away for the day and called her little daughter to her, saying: "Now, dearie, I shall leave the house in your keeping for the day. Of course the front door should be locked, but as this is ironing day she will be too busy to look after things in general. So I leave you in full charge—as my little housekeeper, and hope you'll fully appreciate the responsibility. You must be careful about the screen doors to keep them tightly closed, for the flies are very bad, you know. And do not unlock the front hall door during the day, for the house is full of flies, and you are at your luncheon or playing on the back porch."

All right, mama," said Lucy. "I'll do just as you would do were you here. I'll run over to Maggie's this afternoon and ask her to come and play with me on the big back porch. But I'll not forget to keep a close watch-out for tramps and flies."

Then Lucy's mama kissed her and was gone, and Lucy ran upstairs to get her things to fetch to the big back porch where she loved to spend hours at play. Thus the morning passed quickly, and Lucy was called by Bridget into luncheon. As the little Miss was the only member of her family at home she did not take many minutes for the meal, which was eaten hurriedly and in silence. Then, taking her hat from the hall tree she ran right in. Miss Maggie's upstairs. She has a key in the lock, and she unlocked it, and turned the knob. Finding the door locked, she quickly slipped the bolt, turned the great key and opened it. But the instant she had done so she remembered her mother's instructions about keeping the front hall door locked. Lucy was always a most obedient little girl, and had no intention of disobeying her mama. It was during a moment of forgetfulness that she unlocked the front hall door, for her mind was so occupied with thoughts of her little comrade, Maggie, whom she was now going to invite over for the afternoon, that her responsibility as housekeeper had dropped from her shoulders.

On recalling her mother's express order about the front door Lucy was on the point of re-entering the hall and locking the door as securely as she had found it. But on second thought she decided that since she had unlocked it there could be no danger in leaving it so for the few minutes that she should be absent on her errand across the street. So, drawing the door shut behind her Lucy ran quickly across the street to the home of Maggie. "I'll not even go in," she said to herself, "but shall stand here on the porch where I can keep an eye on our house and watch that no one enters while I'm away. Then, the instant I return I'll lock and bolt the door as mama told me it should be kept during her absence."

A servant answered Lucy's ring at the door. "Why, Miss Lucy, is it you? Come right in. Miss Maggie's upstairs. She has a key in the lock, and she unlocked it, and turned the knob. Finding the door locked, she quickly slipped the bolt, turned the great key and opened it. But the instant she had done so she remembered her mother's instructions about keeping the front hall door locked. HINTS ON THE CARE OF PIGEONS

In the matter of pigeon culture many boys and girls overdo-caring for them. Pigeons, to do well, should not be handled much. If you have but a few pairs as a hobby, the best plan is to have them loft or provided with a coop such as is built for poultry. But their houses should be warm in winter and secure from draughts, for pigeons are very susceptible to cold.

These little toy pigeon structures that are perched on the tops of tall poles or on the sharp roofs of barns and outbuildings are never satisfactory. In the first place they are too diminutive for the breeding of the birds and in the second place it is impossible to keep them clean, not speaking of the risk to the feathered occupants during the severe cold weather. They bear in mind that your pigeons must have large, well-ventilated, scrupulously clean houses. Provide tobacco stalks—if possible—for them to build their nests from. Hay or straw fosters lice.

Pigeons must have plenty of flying room. If they are to be kept in a city or town where flying about as free as the air is not permissible there must be a "No-o" fenced in the yard. This pen is built on the plan of a miniature tennis court, being roofed with close wire netting the same as the sides. About the sides of the pen place a six-inch board about four feet from the ground, for the pigeons to roost on and sun themselves. Also have several shallow vessels of water about the pen that the fowls may drink and bathe at will. These vessels should be filled twice a day with pure fresh water. Never allow the vessels to become dirty. Feed boxes save the food and should be used always. A famous pigeon raiser gives the following dietary for pigeons:

The best grains and the proper proportions to feed are—
Wheat, four parts; sifted cracked corn, two parts; kafir corn, two parts; Canada peas, two parts; bird millet, one part (every second day). Fine charcoal, two parts (once a week).
Once or twice a week throw a handful or two of hempseed to the pigeons at noon. All other feeding should occur regularly, at seven o'clock in the morning and four o'clock in the afternoon. The quantity of food per pigeon cannot be given. You must watch their eating and be governed that way. There should always be food enough placed in the feed-boxes to supply the meal and leave some for eating later in the day.

Plenty of fine gravel and crushed oyster shells should be sprinkled everywhere about the flying pens and inside the feed-boxes as well. During the summer months some green food may be given to the pigeons, such as pepper grass, lettuce leaves and perhaps some cabbage leaves. Also a bag-cloth sack-of salt should be placed inside a little wooden frame in the yard for the birds to pick. If the salt sack were open they might get too much salt at times for their own good, so it is better to let them pick through the coarse sack for it. In this way they'll get all they require.

Retaliation
A plumber was called to do some work in the house of a very rich woman. While engaged in the pantry the mistress of the house came in, and seeing that the china closet contained some of her most valuable silver, turned to the butler, saying: "James, remove the silver to the sideboard and lock it up at once."
The plumber, taking from his pocket his watch and purse handed them to his assistant saying: "Tom, take these to my wife and tell her to keep them for me till I'm through this job. There seems to be dishonest people in this house."

TRICKS OF THE TRADE

Pearl had intended to run upstairs and carry on a loud conversation with her mother in different voices to indicate that a number of persons were talking; but the negro's words caused her to change her mind. So she slipped into the kitchen pantry, knowing that Minnie would be obliged to come there for some food for the convict. Then, whatever her sister advised she would do.

"Well, you'll get your dinner and some clothing, too," said Minnie, her voice very calm as she talked to the giant black man in convict garb. "If you want any trouble on your hands, you'd better let me go upstairs alone to get it, for as I told you at the gate, my father and mother will likely be here in a few minutes. And if you see them you'd better run for your life, for my father wouldn't have so much patience with you as I have. If he caught you upstairs he'd keep you here till he got the officers."

The negro had entered the house behind Minnie and stood looking round him suspiciously. Then looking straight at Minnie he said: "Are you here dat no puseen's upstairs. Seems like I done heard some noise."

"You have said that you know all about who's here," said Minnie. Then in a tone of warning she added: "But if you stay down here I'll go up and get some clothing for you—a suit of my father's, as you have told me I must furnish you with one. But if you'll take my advice—don't, don't dare to get a foot on the stairs, stay where you can run if necessary. Now, I'll go up and get the clothing for you. Then, while you are changing them in this room I'll go into the kitchen and prepare some dinner for you. Just keep your eyes on the front door, and if anyone comes through the gate you can run out at the back."

Minnie made this last instruction very emphatic, for she had caught a glimpse of Pearl who was signaling to her from the pantry, being in such a position that she could not be seen by the negro who had remained near to the front door. Pearl understood Minnie's warning to the negro. It meant that she—Pearl—should slip from the pantry and escape fields towards the "big roads," coming into it at a little creek where timber cut it from the view of persons at the house. Here she would await the good farmer and his hired man who would be warned to take a back road which would carry them into the fields at the rear of the house. By doing this they would not be seen by the escaping convict till they should enter the house, one at the front door and the other at the back.

Minnie, trembling in every limb—for she had no way of knowing just what steps her sister had taken in calling for help—went upstairs and procured an old suit of her father's. Taking it below—and delaying all that she could in order that the negro should be detained till men should come to secure him—she pitched the clothes to him and said in an indifferent way: "Now, I'll get something for you to eat." Then she left the black man in the sitting-room while she went to the pantry. But she did not wait there to procure food. She crept outside through the pantry window and hid herself behind some shrubbery, feeling safer there than in the house. From her hiding place she could see Pearl running through a corn field, making for the creek. And pretty soon she saw coming from the timber farmer Jones and his hired man, their horses on the run. They kept to the rear of the barns and house, and the convict, working from the front door had no idea of their approach. Minnie, wishing to hold the negro, now that assistance was so near, went inside and rattled dishes about in the pantry. In another moment the escaping convict came to the pantry door, dressed in her father's old clothes, and said: "Hurry, dar, an' give mah somethin' to eat. An' burn dis bundle in the stove." And he handed Minnie his prison garb as he said this. Then, with a menacing scowl he went on: "I'm gwine ter tie you tight an' gag you as soon as you've got me some grub. Then you'll not be rummin' and raisin' the rump here. An' if you ever talks about comin' heah today I'll come shippin' back an' kill you all at night an' burn the house."

But when a shadow fell across the floor and in another instant farmer Jones, holding a revolver cocked, entered the kitchen. And at the same moment his hired man entered the room from the front door. The negro, seeing he was caught, began trembling and talking, begging them to take him and not to shoot.

But before an hour had passed the prison officials had relieved farmer Jones of his prisoner, who was in truth an escaped convict of a very dangerous type. And it was agreed by all that had it not been for the cool-headedness of Minnie and Pearl the convict would have made his escape. And thus it was that these two little girls were voted to be the most fearless, sensible little girls in all the surrounding country. But you may better believe, their parents never again left the little girls alone during their own absence.

"I'll come slippin' back an' kill you all at night an' burn the house."

TRICKS OF THE TRADE
A plumber was called to do some work in the house of a very rich woman. While engaged in the pantry the mistress of the house came in, and seeing that the china closet contained some of her most valuable silver, turned to the butler, saying: "James, remove the silver to the sideboard and lock it up at once."
The plumber, taking from his pocket his watch and purse handed them to his assistant saying: "Tom, take these to my wife and tell her to keep them for me till I'm through this job. There seems to be dishonest people in this house."

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SHAREHOLDERS

President Refers to Increase in Traffic-Additional Steamers For the Pacific

Montreal, Oct. 2.—At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the C.P.R. to-day the report of the directors was unanimously adopted. Sir Wm. C. Van Horne, E. B. Osler, H. B. Angus and Hon. L. J. Forger were re-elected directors.

A resolution was passed authorizing the lease of the St. Mary's and Western Ontario railway. The board is authorized to acquire the bonds of the Northern Colonization railway, 34 miles, not exceeding $20,000 per mile.

It is moving the adoption of the report of the president. The twenty-sixth annual report of the company, which I have the honor, on behalf of the directors, to submit for your approval, shows an increase in your gross revenue of $1,000,000.

It is particularly gratifying to me that since the close of the fiscal year there has been no change in the policy of your directors in reference to these matters. Indeed, unless the business of the country will be seriously prolonged setback, and there are no present grounds for such an apprehension, circumstances will make it necessary to continue these expenditures year by year, but it may be on a somewhat reduced scale.

To provide the required means, your directors will be glad to ask you to sanction an issue of balance of the ordinary share capital authorized, as and when required, but there are sufficient funds in hand to meet all immediate requirements.

Comments on the report in the financial papers are generally complimentary. Much attention has been called to one or two articles in which it is suggested that the directors should be asked to lease the company's tangible value of the company's assets.

It is not easy to do this with any degree of accuracy, but it may be fairly assumed that in the case of your agricultural lands, as sales are made and the area decreases the value of the remaining lands will be enhanced, and as a consequence the $3,000,000 acres of the original grant, if sold, will yield on the average a price per acre considerably higher.

Considerably higher than has heretofore been realized, without in any manner obstructing settlement or depriving the company of the traffic advantages resulting from the location of lands in proximity to your lines.

Your lands in British Columbia are of a different character, their main value being in the standing timber and the possibility of large coal deposits, although they are also available in the valleys suitable for cultivation. During the last couple of years a considerable demand has sprung up for these lands, and ultimately they will yield a handsome return.

EMPEROR RECEIVED SECRETARY TAFT

Had Private Audience With Japan's Ruler—Good Relations Between Countries

Tokyo, Oct. 2.—William H. Taft, American secretary of war, officially bade farewell to Japan at 6.45 this evening, and left the brilliantly decorated Shinjimbashi railroad station for Kobe amid the firing of an artillery salute.

The Canadian commercial agent at Christiania, C. E. Sontum, thus describes the harvest prospects and the chances for trade under date of September 4th: "Owing to continued rain and cold weather, the prospects for a good harvest in the Scandinavian countries and Denmark are now not so good as they were a month ago."

While the private audience was in progress, Mrs. Taft was received by the Emperor. Both their Majesties showed great cordiality in their reception of the American visitors.

While no official statement of what transpired at the private audience was given out, the Emperor and Empress attended the Emperor and Empress at the banquet room, where a luncheon was served, the Emperor and Empress sitting on one side of the table, and Mr. and Mrs. Taft opposite them.

At the meeting of the board subsequently held, Sir Wm. C. Van Horne was re-elected chairman of the board, and David McNeill, vice-president of the company, and the executive committee was appointed as follows: Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, Sir Thomas Blundell, Sir William C. Van Horne, Richard H. Angus, E. E. Osler, M. P., and David McNeill.

COLONIAL DAIRY PRODUCE REVIEW

Cheese Imports into England Seem to Have Reached a Well Defined Limit.

W. Weddel & Co., of London, Eng., in reviewing the history of colonial dairy produce for the year ending June 30th, says: "The receipts of Canadian butter for the past year were about 6,500 tons, or 45 per cent. less than in the previous year."

The quality of Canadian butter slowly improves year by year, but does not make the advance it ought to do. Canadian butter, which begins to arrive in May, has all the advantages of a usually fine milk market here for the five months from July to November, but butter makers in the Dominion make practically no progress in increasing their supply to our markets.

SULTAN ANXIOUS FOR PEACE IN MOROCCO

Desires to Co-operate With France and Put an End to Anarchy.

Paris, Oct. 2.—M. Tazi, brother of the Moroccan finance minister, who arrived yesterday from Marseilles to negotiate a loan on the jewels of the Sultan of Morocco, for money to meet the Sultan's needs, is reported to be desiring to co-operate with France and put an end to the state of anarchy existing in Morocco, and for that reason had invited the French minister, M. Regnaud, to visit him at Rabat.

M. Tazi said that the sultan, his ministers and the enlightened Moors, under the bitter experience of the past few years, are convinced of the necessity for reforms. The opposition therefore comes from the ignorant people and the nomad tribes.

The sultan, as the religious chief of the Moors, alone has the power to declare a holy war, but instead of so doing he has called on the French to declare a holy war, who by their attacks on Casablanca and the disturbances at Morocco City, caused the occupation by the French troops of Casablanca and its vicinity.

M. Tazi also said the sultan desired an understanding with France in regard to his brother, who was reported to be gathering an army to march on Rabat. His supporters were chiefly heads of Bedouin tribes who were entirely ignorant of European affairs, and who insisted that the policy of arraying the powers against each other could be continued.

for lighting the city is being changed from steam to water power. For this purpose a large dam is being constructed in the hills above the old number one mill.

Some improvements have lately been made in the town, among them being the putting in of a sewer system, of new sidewalks, and general improvement of the streets.

Additional lights have also been erected on the streets, so that this has become one of the best lighted little cities on the Pacific Coast.

HOTEL ACCOMMODATION. G. T. P. is Providing For Trade at Prince Rupert.

The Grand Trunk Pacific will have $30,000 to $40,000 invested in hotel buildings on the completion of the two buildings now under construction at Prince Rupert, and from $10,000 to $15,000 more will have to be spent furnishing them.

INTERSTATE CORPORATIONS. Roosevelt on Necessity for Central Control—Waterway Policy.

St. Louis, Oct. 2.—President Roosevelt here to-day declared it the nation's duty to restore the Mississippi river to its proper place as a great artery of commerce, and termed the proposed 14-foot channel from the lakes to the gulf a national necessity.

He warned against plans which might "entail reckless extravagance or be tainted with jobbery," but urged a liberal waterway policy.

The president's ardor was not diminished by the fact that he was drenched by a sudden downpour of rain while en route to the building where his speech was delivered.

The president took occasion to especially emphasize his views on the necessity for central control of interstate corporations, and he frequently referred to his manuscript to elaborate and make clear his views on that point.

His contention was that there must be some sovereign power to control these institutions, especially railroads. He spoke at length of the difficulty in reaching the corporations which are incorporated in one state and operate in another.

He contended that it is possible to deal with the railway there? No, the railway is a New Jersey corporation, and I had to deal with it as such.

After a reference to the coming trip of the Pacific squadron to Pacific waters, President Roosevelt paid a high tribute to the navy and said that it must be strengthened greatly to meet future needs.

He paid some attention to the great work on the Panama canal, showing that good work was being done there.

ALLEGED TELEGRAPH COMBINE. Attorney-General of State of New York Makes Application to Court.

New York, Oct. 2.—The Western Union Telegraph and the Postal Telegraph Companies were ordered to-day by Justice Ford, of the Supreme court of New York state, to show cause on Friday why State Attorney-General Jackson should not be permitted to sue them for forfeiture of their charters on the ground that they have formed a combination to increase telegraph tolls.

Mr. Jackson, in his application, alleges that the combination was made January 1st, 1907, and that since that time increased schedule of rates was put into effect, and that companies agreed to maintain joint offices at certain points and divide the profits of business received there.

The course of general conversation with Mr. Morley, who has given much of his time to hunting and trapping in Cariboo, mentioned an interesting fact in connection with the presence of deer in the country.

During a period covering nearly twenty-five years these animals were scarce, and it is believed that this was accounted for by the presence of wolves, which scoured the country, and exterminated the antelope or exterminated the antelope and the moose and cariboo are becoming very plentiful.

Mr. Morley says he has seen very few wolves in the past seven or eight years.

Some of the active agents accountable for the disappearance of the wolves is Mr. Morley himself. He carried on unrelenting warfare against them. In the winter seasons, when the wolves and animals roamed abroad in their most destructive moods, the trapper would employ his best efforts against them. He killed many with his rifle and snare, and large numbers in his traps. But a still more effective means of combating the game destroyers was resorted to.

Mr. Morley would occasionally fall a bull and set it in the jaws of strychnine medicine in the path of the ravages of the west corner of the Thompson's Range, and in a few years the country was practically cleared of the wolves, which had been such ruthless work in the more timid denizens of the forest, and as a result old Cariboo promises to again become one of the greatest game countries in the province.

WANTED—Teacher for Rose Hill school. Five miles southeast of Kamloops, duties to commence October 1st. Apply to Angus McKay, Secretary School Board.

Take notice that I, T. H. Thorsen, farmer, of Bella Coila, intend to apply for permits to purchase the land in the described land situated in Bella Coila, in the Township of Rupert, District of the south-west corner of the Thompson's Range, and in a few years the country was practically cleared of the wolves, which had been such ruthless work in the more timid denizens of the forest, and as a result old Cariboo promises to again become one of the greatest game countries in the province.

J. RAYMOND RETURNS FROM LONG TRIP

Victoria Citizen and His Daughter Are Glad to Get Back to City

J. Raymond and his daughter, Miss Beatrice, returned on Monday evening from a tour of Europe, the United States and Canada. They report having an extremely pleasant five months' trip, visiting London, Paris and Switzerland as well as numbers of other places of interest.

Speaking of his visit to London, Mr. Raymond said that he was particularly struck with the wonderful way in which the traffic of that great city was managed. The communication facilities are better there than in Paris, or any other place he visited.

In the central part of the city double-decker motor "buses" are used, trolley cars being run on the wider thoroughfares of the outlying parts of the city. Everywhere in Europe the double-decker street car is in evidence, and the people all prefer to ride on top in good weather.

The traffic in the congested streets is controlled by the police, who stop hundreds of vehicles just by raising the hand or turning the body. Anyone who does not obey these regulations is fined heavily for the offence.

Mr. Raymond has a brother in Deception Bay, and he spent some time in that district. While there he visited the quaint little town of Clovelly, the place which is such a great big thing in the eyes of the people of the island.

Mr. Raymond has a sister in Ireland, and he spent some time in that country. In Dublin he visited the exhibition and thought the Canadian exhibit was the most interesting thing there.

WOMAN RESCUED.

Ottawa, Ont.—Slavery is not dead. Daily, the traffic in human souls goes on. Only a short time ago, a number of Chinese were arrested as they attempted to smuggle young girls from Canada into the United States.

In Eastern countries, the slave trader plies his vocation in the market place. He goes into another kind of slavery—unknown to most of us—making a vain effort to escape. Ottawa is all agog over the wonderful escape of one of her charming matrons from that physical slavery, rheumatism.

She is now and has been for over seven years. I used various treatments—consulted doctors—tried hot baths—used almost every known remedy, but nothing did me any real good. The pains were in my joints and back, and I had frequent headaches and bad indigestion.

After I had taken two boxes, I was much better. Altogether I had taken seven boxes. I have had no rheumatism, no indigestion, no headache, and feel that I am quite cured. I have gained over ten pounds in weight.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure because the intestinal system is purified, the blood strengthened, the kidneys—regulate the bowels—and invigorate the skin. This means pure blood, free of uric acid.

TRAIN PLOUGH PATH OF SEVEN VICTIMS IN ITS METEORIC FALL

Lake Shore Flyer Reaches Destruction at Gary Station Indiana.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Sweetened by the darkness like a sweet, without sound, and with a trail of darkness, white as the train, it struck the dead and dying with relentless violence, death roll came to be found that seven had been picked up for a hundred yards along the track.

From the Shadow. Gary is a temporary station, the time of the death train was late and seven women were hunting for it from the other side. The train pulled in at Chicago town dived back on either side of the tracks and the passengers were track to board it, when from the shadow of night swept round a curve and the crowd.

Search for the Mangled. There was no time to get for safety, but others were in the wind of the train. Even the wind of the train tossed the people to the swept some of them a distance of forty feet. For hours afterward women were hunting for relatives and friends.

The Victims. The list of the known victims is as follows: J. M. Fortney, Chicago & O. Railway. Albert Stein, Chicago, contracting firm of West & White Seal is discredited. John Swartz, C. Mercey hospital, Asheville.
