A Complete Manure.

What is a complete manure? It must be a substance abounding in all the elements which minister to the growth and perfection of plants. But the atmosphere furnishes some of these elements without cost; for instance, water and carbonic acid; whilst the earth itself is hardly ever deficient in silica for the formation of the stalks of plants or the small amount of iron necessary to their healthy growth. The elements which manure should supply are lime, phosphoric acid, potash, nitrogen, soda, magnesia and sulphuric acid.

All other elements may be obtained from the air and soil. When bones are dissolved in sulphuric acid, a superphosphate of lime is formed which contains of the important and expensive elements of fertility, but not all. This is a point that farmers should understand.

Superphosphate of lime is not a complete manure. It lacks nitrogen, potash, soda and magnesia. When therefore, the vendor of a superphosphate tells you, my agricultural friend, that his article is the very thing for your land, you must receive his disingenuous statement with some grains of allowance. A genuine superphosphate is a good manure, but it may not be the sole manure required by you to produce the crop intended. The superiority of peruvian guano over the superphosphates is attributable to the large amount of ammonia (furnishing nitrogen) it contains.

Having this valuable element in abundance, it approximates nearer the condition of a complete manure than a mere superphosphate. It has become customary to add ammoniacal matters to the latter, to remedy this deficiency, and recently we have seen advertisements of superphosphates and other manures to which potash has been added. This is a step in the right direction, and such a manure honestly made containing superphosphate of lime, sulphate of lime, potash and ammonia would approximate very nearly to a complete manure. It would embrace all the elements deemed essential to such a compound by the celebrated George Vile, and would pass for such in this country. Nevertheless it would lack one important element of plant food, viz: magnesia, and if the crop to be manured were cotton, it would lack another element, soda.

Naval Architecture A. D. 1650-1750.

Toward the close of the seventeenth century all the great naval powers had conformed to English models in the construction of their vessels that the illustration of an English vessel of 1673 would do equally well as a representation of a Dutch, French, or Spanish craft. By this time ships were built of such a size as to be able to carry their own provisions, which had heretofore been borne in vessels designed especially for that purpose. These tenders accompanied the squadrons to sea, and were guarded with great care; they carried but few men, and were occupied in distributing the provisions to the fleet as required, and they bore the same relation to the men of war that supply vessels do in our own day. In the early part of the eighteenth century the French made many improvements in naval construction, but the English, always slow to follow, were still wedded to the building of ships which are described by one of their own authors as being "destitute of almost every principal that constitute a ship of war; cranked, heavy sailers, of ill stowage, confined and inconvenient in the hour of battle; the larger ships frequently incapable of employing their lower-deck guns except in the most moderate weather, and the smaller absolutely dangerous." And yet in such ships as these, and even in worse than these, were won the glorious triumphs of the English navy.

At length the spirit of advancement was aroused, and about 1750 was built the "Royal George," a vessel which was regarded at that time as a "paragon of beauty, and the ne plus ultra in the science of marine architecture." Her length was one hundred and seventy-eight feet—less than that of a modern gunboat—and yet she carried one hundred guns! This vessel during her existence was the pride of the English navy; she carried more guns, had seen more action, borne more admirals' flags, and done more service to that country than any other vessel in the navy. She was lost by a melancholy accident, which has no parallel in history. Lying at anchor off Spithead, she was heeled over by the guns being run to one side, when a sudden squall from off the land caused her lower tier of ports to go under water, when she immediately filled and went down, carrying with her the admiral, K. M. Penfold, and nearly nine hundred others. At the time of the disaster there were on board not only the crew of the ill-fated vessel, but many of their wives and children. Attempts were made some years after to raise her, but they were not successful. A number of bronze guns were obtained from the wreck, and then large charges of gunpowder were exploded within her, and the hull broken up.

The French were at this time the shipbuilders in the world—at least their models were the best; and this remark applies to the merchant marine also, for their vessels were of comparatively large size and were heavily armed, carrying sometimes as many as sixty guns. It is due entirely to the great exertions of the French that improvements were continually being made, the other powers following her but slowly. It is but just to say, however, that those of other nations, owing to the being built of fir; so that there was no scope for improvement in the number of new ships necessary to be built to keep up their naval strength—A. D. Brown, in Harper's Magazine for March.

A Man with Three Arms.

The Williamsport (Pa.) Gazette and Bulletin is responsible for the following: Among the passengers on the train bound South last evening was a man born and raised in the country of Oswego. His name is William Jacobs. He prides himself on three well developed arms and hands, the member extraordinary having grown above the right shoulder blade. It hangs suspended down the back, and you he raised and lowered at will. Its length is shorter than the arm proper, it possesses extraordinary muscle, which he displays whenever occasion demands it. No person passing through a railroad car or meeting him upon the street would observe any deformity, but after becoming cognizant of this singular case would perceive a peculiar fit of his coat. He states that he has often been questioned as to why he does not place himself on exhibition. His invariable reply is that he is averse to public exhibitions. His father being a wealthy farmer he had always preferred to remain at home. On one occasion, when about eighteen, the village boys thought they would have a little sport at "three arms" expense and commenced a system blackguardism, followed by bold attacks upon his person. Forbearance ceased to be a virtue, and throwing off his loose garments he went at the man true public style, arm No. 3 performing its duty nobly, and apparently outwitting Nos. 1 and 2. At the end of the skirmish, six prostrate villagers told what a fierce opponent they had met.

This calls to mind the forcible expression of Shakespeare—"Twice is he armed that hath his quarrel just."

A SPECIMEN OF FEMALE SCOFFERAGE.

The feelings of the members of the Wyoming Legislature have been racked by the woman suffrage question. Not long since the Governor's veto of the suffrage repeal was before the council. We are indebted to the Laramie "Sentinel" for an abridged report of the debate, in which Mr. Nuckolls, the leader of the Democracy, took occasion to remark:

"I think women were made to 'obey' men. They generally promise to obey, at any rate; and I think you had better either abolish this Female Suffrage act, or 'get up a new marriage ceremony to fit it.'"

This infamous proposition was combated by a narrow-gauge member from the "outsiders" of the Territory, who said:

"The Governor hadn't got no right to veto this bill. He hasn't got no right to veto this bill nor nothin' that we pass unless it is somethin' witch after it has passed it shall appear that is wrong or that there is somethin' wrong by witch reason it had ought to not become a law, according to my reasonin'. I am willin' every old woman shall have a guardian if she wants one and kin git it."

It ain't no party question this bill ain't. I wouldn't let it come up in that shape. I would know better than that. This woman suffrage business will sap the foundation of society. Women can't engage in politics without losin' her virtue. It won't do her no good anyhow. She can't earn a dollar no easier than half a dollar if she does vote.

No woman ain't got no right to set on a jury unless she is a man, and every lawyer knows it, and I don't believe it anyhow. I don't think women juries has been a success here in Wyoming. They watch the face of the judge too much when the lawyer is addressin' 'em. That shows they ain't fit for juries in my way of thinkin'. I don't believe she's figher no how. Wot right has she got on a jury no how?

We here in this Territory ain't got no rights no how. MAGNA CHARTA don't belong to us, because we can't lect our Governor. I don't think this is right, and the men of the West don't believe in it. We can't do nothin' only lect our county officers. This is the effect of the veto power.

There was a Russian here the other day, and he said he did not believe in women's votes, and I don't believe in it neither, and I don't believe half the men do neither." [Editor's Drawer, Harper's Mag. for March.]

CATECHISM.—The following is told of Bishop E., of Massachusetts:

Visiting one of the churches of his diocese, he requested that the children of the Sunday school should be assembled to be catechized. The good bishop put this question rather suddenly to the little boy who stood trembling at the head of his class, "Who made the world?"

"The little fellow with quivering voice, replied, 'I didn't.'"

The bishop, astonished at the answer, demanded, "What do you mean, Sir?"

"Still more frightened, the lad replied, 'If I—did I—I won't—do it—again!'"

A letter writer in Indiana cloths a disagreeable fact in euphemistic language when he says conubial conditions in his vicinity the past year have been mostly second-hand, and that they lack the desirable quality of adhesiveness.

Loving wife at Long Branch: "The horrid suit makes me keep my mouth shut."

Sarcasitic husband: "Take some of it home with you."

The fly has its uses. He serves to keep baldheaded sinners awake at church on a warm day, so that their unregenerated hearts may be touched by the preached word.

Some ladies, instead of having simplicity in their dress, display it in their remarks.

Lovers, observe! Before a man enters the abode of matrimony he should ring the bells. Printers' ink may be black, but it should more light than any other imaginary, however bright.

The bachelor's refrain—A la s! The maid's refrain—ah men! Let them no longer refrain.

A reason why a piano was not saved at a fire was, because none of the firemen could play on it.

An irritable customer, who bargains much but buys little, is productive of counter irritation.

The student at law may be likened to a judge—he, in his readings, passes so many opinions.

Terrible Tragedy near Rockland, Me.

A shocking tragedy occurred at Dix Island, involving a murder and the suicide of the assailant. The parties to this sad affair were Dennis Little, a man about 45 years of age, and a youth of 18 or 20 named White, both of them workmen employed at the granite works, and both belonging to Quincy, Mass. It is said that Little was jealous of young White, and accused or suspected him of being in correspondence with his wife. Shortly before the bell rang for the men to resume work this afternoon Little and White were going up the stairs at the house where the former boarded, when Little, being in advance, turned and fired at White, who fell to the foot of the staircase and immediately expired, the ball taking effect in or near the region of the heart. Little then went to his own room at the Shemrock hotel and locked himself in, threatening death to those who gathered outside if they should attempt to enter. He then fired four or five shots into his own body, and afterward made an attempt to cut his throat. At last, becoming very weak from loss of blood, he opened the door and gave himself up. Little's wounds are doubtless mortal. He was reported just alive when the informant who gives these particulars left the island.

THE RECIPROCITY TREATY.—The President of the National Board of Trade, with his associates on the Executive Council of that body, have been very diligent during the past week in Washington, in presenting questions upon which the National Board acted at St. Louis in December last. Their pet scheme which is a revival of the Reciprocity Treaty between Canada and the United States, does not meet with much favor. Their panacea for the shipping interests is to permit citizens of the United States to register under our flag for purposes of foreign trade, steamers and sailing vessels wherever built, including vessels transferred to foreign owners during the late war.

REMOVAL OF DUTY ON WOOLEN GOODS.—Edward Harris of Woonsocket, R. I., with others interested in woolen manufactures, will appear to-morrow before the House Committee on Ways and Means, and present with explanations a memorial signed by manufacturers whose annual productions of goods are worth over one hundred and thirty-five millions of dollars. The memorial asks the removal of all duties on wool, dye stuffs, etc., and a reduction of all duties on manufactured woolen goods to thirty per cent, ad valorem. John L. Hayes, Secretary of the Woolen Manufacturers' Association, will present a counter statement.

SNOW STORM AT THE SOUTH. The severest snow storm of the season occurred in different parts of the South last Saturday. At Norfolk, Va., the high tides caused by the wind covered many wharves with two feet of water. The telegraph lines on the Norfolk side of the river were prostrated. At Savannah two ships, two barges and five schooners were driven from their moorings. The damage in the city was slight, excepting that done to the hoisting machine on the Baltimore steamer wharf, which was totally destroyed.

PREPARING RUBBER IN BOLIVIA.—Since the surveys of the Madeira rapids have been finished a considerable number of Bolivians from Mojos and Trinidad have settled along their line, to tap the rubber-trees, which are found in great abundance on both sides of the river. The following illustrations will give an idea of the process used there in preparing the gum for market. The sap, or milk, of the tree has been received in an inverted turtle shell. An earthen jar, with hole in the bottom, sits over a palm-leaf fire, the smoke ascending through the jar. A Bolivian Indian sits near the jar, dipping a paddle into the milk, and holds it over the smoke until the gum is hardened, then dips it again, and again hardens it over the jar. This process is continued until the end of the paddle is covered to the proper commercial thickness. The gum is then cut off, and is ready for market. A good day's work is six pounds. The rubber product of the Amazon Valley is increasing with great rapidity. That for 1870 was correctly estimated at 57,600 net tons, and once the lands of Bolivia are penetrated, this figure will be very largely increased. In Northern Bolivia, especially upon the Mamata River, and the western branches of the Beni, are vast groves of rubber-trees as yet untouched. They border lands of exceed ing fertility and health, and are destined, ere long, to attract much attention.

LONDON.—The Observer, in an article on the Alabama claims, expresses the opinion that in case England should renounce the treaty of Washington the United States would take no immediate action in consequence, but would insist on the validity of the right hitherto claimed for American seamen to fish in Canadian waters, and on that point would meet no opposition from England.

—There is a great temperance revival in Russia, and the autocrat himself had become a teetotaler, probably because he knows the power, of example. The Russians have always figured in history as a drunken people, and the Government has latterly done all in its power to check the growing bestiality in high places and especially in the army. The present temperance movement began in the silver works at Moscow, and has spread through the immense manufacturing. It will be a very hard struggle, however, in the Russian climate, to prevent the serfs and the lower classes generally from indulging in their favorite pastime of intoxication. The movement against free liquor in England seems not to have been productive of any very astonishingly good results. At Exeter, recently, a temperance meeting was broken up by a crowd of bullies; and even the bishop, on the platform, did not escape the ignominy usually accorded unpopular speakers. The most sensible journals in England announce that drink has become an intolerable nuisance and prime motor of crime, and hundreds of physicians have published a declaration of the dangers of spirit-drinking. Prohibition is strongly hinted at.

LEGISLATIVE DELAYS.—We would like to have some member of the House of Assembly furnish a good reason why the first three days of the Legislature are always wasted. The House generally meets on Thursday. Now it is well known that nothing is ever done beyond striking a few committees until noon on Monday. Here are three clear days wasted. The House of Assembly is an expensive machine; it costs probably four hundred dollars a day to run it, and to members of an economical turn of mind, who feel so keenly for the privations and sufferings of the backwoodsman, it must be a grievous trial to see twelve hundred dollars thus gone to waste. —[Fred Express.

SAINT ANDREWS, MARCH 13, 1872.

The Mails and Railways.

The late unprecedented weather has disarranged the Mails and prevented the running of the Trains. The heavy fall of snow on the 5th and 6th, was drifted into solid masses on the main roads and lines of railway, rendering travelling impracticable. The managers of the Railways, have used every effort and spared neither expense or labor to open the lines, but with partial success; as soon as one section was opened it filled up again, and engines and snow ploughs were thrown off the track on E. & N. A. and N. B. & C. R. R. ways. Since the 5th instant, no mails have been received from East or West, with the exception of the stage mail from St. George, which the driver by great exertions managed to bring, after working several hours through drifts. The heavy rain on Sunday last, succeeded as it has been by extreme cold, will still further impede travelling, and leave a dearth of news, unparalleled in the history of the country, for it is said, nearly half a century. An old resident informed us, that since 1819, he did not remember a week when no mail was received from St. John. At that time the mail was carried on horseback over a poor road, and after a heavy snow storm the mail-carrier came through on snow shoes, as Thomas Hardy did some years ago from St. Stephen. During such stormy weather, would it not be advisable for the postal authorities to have an arrangement with the International Steamers to carry the mails at so much per trip? Has this been done, four mails out of the seven, now due would have been received. The only papers received from the 5th to the 11th, were the "Boston Journal" of the 4th, and the "Daily Telegraph" of the 8th, both brought by steamer.

Last evening some of the Mails to the 11th were received from St. Stephen by sleigh, the Trains having made a through connection from St. John to St. Stephen on Monday night last. We have made such selections as time permitted.

THE PROVINCIAL SECRETARY. Hon. Mr. Hatfield, was threatened by some men in Fredericton, for his action with reference to the School Bill. They threatened to "fix him" for carrying the School Bill. Well, if they try this kind of argument, they will find men, who will act, without threats in support of the Free Schools Bill, and give them a lesson which it is improbable will require repeating.

FROZEN OVER.—A despatch from St. Andrews brought the news yesterday that the harbor was frozen over. —[Telegraph, 8th inst.

The correspondent, who evidently is no friend to St. Andrews, should have stated facts. The ice which accumulated in the St. Croix was broken in: large flakes below Doucette's Island and floated into the harbor where it remained and united, and thus covered the inner harbor, but did not prevent vessels clearing out or entering, as might be seen by our shipping list. The indications of early spring, referred to in a previous number of the "Telegraph," on the Steamer "Queen" having commenced her trips to Calais, are hardly realized, when it is known that the ice is as firm as iron as far down as Doucette's Island, four miles below the Ledge. Our harbor is as navigable as ever. Were justice extended to St. Andrews, which contributes its quota to the Revenue, the Provincial Dredge would have been sent here some time ago, when the channel at the entrance to the harbor could have been deepened, and a portion of the Bar removed, thereby leaving a free passage for the large flocks of ice to pass out into the Bay. The Minister of Marine has had his attention already called to the necessity of a Block on the dangerous reef at the Western bar which lies directly in the track of vessels proceeding to St. Stephen, and on which H. M. ship "Niger" grounded in 1866. The merchants and others interested in shipping, should bring these matters before the General Government, when no doubt their application would meet with that consideration with which it is entitled.

THE WANT OF CONFIDENCE debate in the House of Assembly, was commenced on Wednesday last. Mr. Willis is Leader of the Opposition. Up to the 9th inst., but little progress was made, but the Opposition feel sure of winning the day; if they do, it will not be from any charges they have made against the Government, as they have been refuted in every instance. It is no use to blink the fact, the Opposition want the offices, and have them they will—if they can.

ANOTHER STORM.—The severest storm of the season took place last night. Snow fell accompanied by a strong North-east gale, and the cold was most intense. It is probable that the roads are again filled up with heavy snow drifts.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A section man named Ferguson, was instantly killed on Saturday night last near McAdam Junction on the N. B. & C. Railway. Two engines with a snow plough ran off the track.

ATTENTION is directed to the large Sale of Furniture, Stock, &c., at the Railroad Hotel. Mr. Clark is about giving up the Hotel, and offers all his effects for sale. A good Piano and several other valuable articles are among the furniture.

The work on the New Hotel, has been retarded owing to the severe storms. The Contractor, however, intends having the frame up in a few days if the weather proves favorable for work.

A SAD ACCIDENT took place on the Fredericton Branch Railway, at Glazier's Station on the 9th inst. A shanty occupied by a family named Sloan took fire at midnight; the family all got out, when the Mother remembering her infant a year old, rushed through the window, and met her death by suffocation. The poor man lost all his effects, and the family only had their night clothes.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.—Preparations on a grand scale are being made in the United States for the celebration of St. Patrick's Day on the 18th inst. Sunday being the 17th. At Lowell, a new French-Canadian Society, called the Joseph's Society has asked leave to join the procession as guests. The operatives of the various Corporations, are to have leave of absence to participate in the festivities.

The United States Diplomatic representatives abroad, appear to get themselves in trouble. Their instructions require them to report to their Government the political and general environments of their mission; but it happens that their Government does not always make a discreet use of the information, which it permits to be made public, and thereby places its Minister in the unenviable position of having the Government to which he is representative request his recall, as was recently the case with Mr. March, Minister to Italy, and not long since Mr. Burlingame in Austria, and recently with Mr. Sickles in Spain.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for March is a very entertaining and attractive number, profusely illustrated—containing nearly fifty engravings—with a great variety of reading matter. The leading article, by Colonel Thorpe, gives a comprehensive history of the United States Treasury Department, illustrated with portraits, views of the old and new Treasury buildings, etc. Some very quaint and curious revelations are made of the domestic economy of Government officials, in our early history, and of the "court society" of Philadelphia and Washington.

The fact that Bolivia is now the objective point of three railroad enterprises, in which American engineers and capitalists are taking a leading part, renders the article on Northern Bolivia and its Amazon Outlet especially timely and interesting. This article is from the pen of Col. George E. Church, the engineer, who has been prominently engaged in the projection of a railroad, 170 miles long, to overcome the rapids of the Madeira River, and to thus bring into full development the resources of the Amazon Valley.

Lieut. Com. Allan D. Brown, U. S. N., furnishes a very interesting paper on "Naval Architecture, Past and Present," which will be concluded in the April Number. Mr. M. D. Conway contributes a paper on Munich, under the title of "The City of the Little Monk." "Negro Life in Jamaica," with ten illustrations, by G. O. Seilhamer, presents novel and graphic delineations of the domestic and industrial life of the Jamaica Negroes and Creoles. The poetry of the Number is contributed by Mrs. E. B. Stoddard, Carl Spencer, and John G. Saxe. The "Literary Record," besides other notices, contains an elaborate criticism of Tyerman's "Life and Times of John Wesley." The "Scientific Record" contains over thirty articles, besides a "Summary of Scientific Progress" covering a period of two months. The "Historical Record" embraces the period from December 24 to January 24, and gives a comprehensive summary of Congressional proceedings, and of domestic and foreign intelligence. The "Drawer" is this month crowded full of humor and facetious anecdote.

The "Telegraph's" special despatches announce a political crisis in Prince Edward Island. By an adverse vote the Government has been defeated. Their opponents were unable to form a Government and an appeal will be taken to the country by the present Government. The whole trouble has arisen over the Railway which both Government and opposition seem willing to build, but the expenditure in connection with it is the bone of contention. Both parties would like to control it.

THE NEW DOMINION MONTHLY for March contains several interesting original articles, with the usual amount of tales, poetry, and useful recipes.

DOMESTIC TROUBLE.—It is not long since an "inconceivable" German known as the Prince of Teck, married the English Princess, Mary of Cambridge, a lady of extraordinary physical proportions, weighing nearly three hundred pounds, her dowry of six thousand pounds sterling, outweighed any objection of a purely material character, and the two were made one. New the Divorce Court is asked to sever the tie, as the disreputable German has turned out a perfect Don Juan. Scandal mangers in London are on the war path in consequence, and developments are being whispered about, not exactly calculated to elevate the standard of English morals; but then what would Mrs. Grundy do without these occasional episodes? What would society amuse itself with? It seems that the little German and the big Englishwoman propose to have a thorough contest over the matter and to "fight it out on this line if it takes all summer."

U. S. NATIONAL BOARD OF TRADE.

NEGOTIATION FOR A NEW RECIPROCITY TREATY.

The Executive Council of the National Board of Trade was in session during the past week in Washington, and had under consideration various questions upon which the Board acted at its annual meeting in St. Louis in December last. The council has memorialized Congress in favor of the appointment of a Commissioner to be appointed in behalf of the Dominion of Canada to negotiate a new treaty of reciprocity between Canada and the United States, on a broader and more comprehensive basis than that upon which the former treaty rested. Some improvements to the law of July 14, 1870, relating to direct importations to interior cities, in order to make the act more efficient, have been recommended, and it has urged the formation of a Sanitary Board of Appeal to protect our citizens and our foreign commerce from the irresponsible control of local quarantine officers. It has presented the resolutions adopted by the Board at St. Louis in favor of the gradual and moderate contraction of the greenback currency, and of a revision of the tariff system of the country, so that monopoly may be checked, a healthy competition in trade and manufactures established, and native industry protected by cheapening the necessities and comforts of life to the masses of the people. The Council has appeared before both Committees on Commerce, of Congress, and have represented the views of the Board on the shipping question. The Board discriminates between the ship owning and ship building interests, and urges that while necessary complications exist in connection with the plans proposed for the relief of the latter, the course to be pursued in reference to the former is perfectly simple and easy. There being a deficiency of tonnage the judgment of the Board is that every barrier should be removed to its acquisition by American merchants, wherein they find that which is suitable for their purposes. The Council has therefore presented a memorial, drawn with great care, in accordance with the expressed and unanimous opinion of the Board, asking for permission to American ship owners to register under their own flag, for purposes of foreign trade, steamers and sailing vessels wherever built, including all tonnage alienated to foreign flags during the war, so far as the owners may desire them. The memorial also recommends the withdrawal of duty from bonded warehouses of ship stores and supplies, and of articles needed for repairs.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.—New York, March 7. Seven steamboats, with their cargoes, were burned this morning at Cincinnati. Loss a quarter of a million dollars.

London, March 7. Bullion in Bank of England decreased £270,000 during the week. All the London journals approve of the decision in the Tichborne case. The trial of the claimant on the charge of perjury will take place in April.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the French Cable Company yesterday, it was resolved to lay another cable to America, under the management of the present cable combination.

The Times mentions the exceptionally friendly tone of the American press toward England.

New York, March 9. A resolve was introduced in Congress yesterday by Representative Brooks, of New York, looking to a Protectorate over Mexico. The Massachusetts Legislature, by one majority, refused to withdraw the right from towns and cities to allow the sale of ale and cider.

London, March 9. The contributions of England to the Chicago sufferers from the great fire, amount to £162,000.

Two of the Paris Communists, tried for incendiarism in setting fire to the Church of St. Louis, have been sentenced to be executed.

New York, March 9. Garvey's testimony at the trial of Mayor Hall is a complete confession of stealing and corruption by the Tammany Ring, and he seems determined to tell the whole truth. His testimony is likely to convict all the ring-leaders.

Boston, Mar. 9. N. W. Fleischauer committed suicide at the Boston Hotel last night by taking Paris green. He is supposed to belong to New York.

The greatest snow storm of the season has prevailed here from the North west since Thursday.

—The California Assembly passed a bill giving Sheriff Jackson $5000 for his fine and expenses when convicted in the Federal Court of collecting the Chinese mining tax contrary to the amendments to the Constitution of the United States.

Judge McKean, a New Yorker, who has during the past two years presided on the bench of the United States Court in Utah, and who has waged fierce war against the Mormons came to Washington to explain certain charges made against him of participating in speculations in land over which he has judicial authority.

SUMMARY.

—Garibaldi has accepted with thanks honorary membership of section 35 of the International of New York. His letter bears the date of Capri, Feb. 6. The organization has arranged for a mass meeting in Tompkins square on the 7th inst., to advocate the employment by the Government of all persons out of work.

—The 17th anniversary of the accession of Alexander to the Russian Throne was celebrated by a solemn Te Deum in the Russian Greek chapel yesterday.

—A Pittsburgh special reports the horrible mutilation at Franklin, Pa., of a youth named Anna McKinley by Patrick Tracy, who had been discarded by the young lady to whom he had been married. Lynches are after Tracy.

—Two females are said to be training for a prize fight for $1000 a side, near Akron, Ohio.

The reply of the American Government to Lord Granville's note is expected in London a week from Tuesday.

—There were fourteen cases of small pox Friday, in New York.

Mr. Russell Gurney of the American British Mixed Commission will leave New York on the 30th inst. for home, but intends to return to America in November to complete the work of the Commission.

—The Secretary of the Treasury sells no gold this month, in consequence of the heavy payments to be made on account of called bonds, which fell due on the 6th inst., to the extent of fifty millions.

—The lady, it seems, are always in trouble about money, of some sort—sometimes it is matrimony, then it is alimony, next ceremony and they are about to hang one of them in Maryland on the evidence of a little speck of matrimony. Truly with them "money is the root of much evil as well as much good."

—The swindler Kenney, arrested for an attempt to swindle Jay Cooke & Co. out of $143,000, has been acquitted on that charge on account of lack of evidence, and held for forgery committed a year ago.

—Father Fitzpatrick, formerly editor of the "Catholic Register," died in Brooklyn Saturday morning.

—The deaths last week in Philadelphia were 448, a decrease of 36. The deaths from small pox were 121, a decrease of 17.

—A case of shocking cruelty to a child has been developed in Jersey City. The child lived with a minister, who almost whipped her to death, and turned her out of the house last Friday night without clothing or any protection from the cold. The child has been terribly beaten, and was covered with bruises. The minister belongs to the Methodists; and the case is to be investigated.

—Admiral Bogue, U. S. N., was dangerously ill in New York last week.

—The Albany, New York, market received 450,000 feet of lumber last year, of which 100,000,000 came from Canada and this same amount from Michigan.

—Queen Victoria, who is going to Berlin on a visit, has been but little of the Continent, and less of her own dominions than thousands of Americans. She has had a second life.

—The young man jammed on the train to Fredericton the other evening, was named Taply. He belongs to Indianapolis, where he has a wife. He has been brought to his home and his injuries are so severe as to endanger his life.

—Dr. Hayes, the Arctic explorer, announces his belief, which agrees with that of other recent travellers, that the interior of Greenland is covered with ice, and he thinks it would be impossible to cross the country from side to side.

Conundrum for married men—Why is a wife like a newspaper? Because every man should have one without borrowing his neighbor's.

Two men employed at one of our hardware stores, was engaged recently in putting up a stove for a lady. During a heavy lift one of them told the other to "spit on his hands," when both were nipped by the lady hastily exclaiming, "O, don't do that; here is a spittoon."
