speaker at Washington, and the west, where there are no manufacclined to free trade, took the matter into their own hands, as being the majority of the caucus, and elevated Mr. Carlisle, of Kentucky, to the chair. This probably will give the next presidential election to the Republicans. Any movement in the direction of free trade will lose votes of the Democrats of the Northern and Western States who |

such as they are, result from speculation. The Monetary Times says, the number of traders in Canada to-day who are systematically dabbling in bank and other stocks may be guessed from the panicky feeling the recent decline in prices of shares. Why, if no one but brokers were affected by the ups and downs of the stock market, should so wide an interest be taken, and such dire predictions of "hard times" and "a bad winter" be indulged in, proceeding from no more serious circumstance, that we can discover, than a decline from prices which were inflated, and a so-called scarcity of money which is not severely felt by any who are not over trading or speculating on margin? The Shoe and Leather Reporter says: "The manufacturer or wholesale dealer makes all possible inquiries about the financial standing of the merchant buying goods, and having assurance that the buyer is 'good for the amount,' they do not hesitate to forward him the goods. -Maj. W. H. Smyth gives the following origin of the American custom of turning to the right of the road . Our ancestors drove oxen as a usual thing. In driving an exteam the driver walks on the left of the team, so that he can handle the goad or whip with his right hand. In meeting a wagon each driver would turn to the right, so that he could be between his own oxen and those of the other wagon.—Atlanta
