The Kaiser Delighted with His Reception in England—Preparing to Take His Leave.

LONDON, July 13.—The Emperor and ...ess and their suites Saturday after... ...eft London by rail for Wimbledon ... From that point the route to ...ade grounds was lavishly decorated ...gs and flowers, reaching in almost ... profusion from the station to ...all flag-staff near the reviewing ..., from which the imperial ...ndard of Germany was proudly wav... ...ng in place of the British standard. Over 16,000 volunteers were on the ...grounds and a large force of Life Guards ...and other crack cavalry regiments. This force was divided into two brigades, The Duke of Cambridge was in supreme command, assisted by the Duke of Connaught. ...t 3:30 the brigades were massed and inspected by the Duke of Cambridge and his staff.

Arrived at the saluting point the Emperor and his party drew rein and, as the Emperor saluted, he was received by the Duke of Cambridge and staff, while a royal salute was fired by the artillery.

After the inspection, which seemed to impress the Emperor with a favorable opinion of the soldiers' equipments, the ruler of Germany rode back to the saluting point, and the march past commenced, lasting an hour and a half. First came the horse artillery by batteries at close intervals. They were ...l horsed, well equipped, manned the ... modern field pieces, were dressed ...artest of uniforms and their harness ... were polished up to the highest de... ...of brightness. After the termination of these military ...eremonies the Emperor started for the Crystal Palace to witness the parade of the volunteer fire department and a grand display of fireworks.

Yesterday the Emperor and Empress attended the forenoon service at St. Paul's Cathedral. They drove thither from Buckingham Palace in an open carriage through the streets, deserted as usual on Sundays, nobody expecting them in the city. In the afternoon the Emperor and Empress, in company with the Prince and Princess of Wales, started for Hatfield House to visit Lord Salisbury. This afternoon the Emperor goes to Windsor to bid farewell to the Queen, while the Empress goes to Felixstowe to rejoin her family.

The Telegraph says that in course of an audience at Buckingham Palace Sunday, the German Emperor said: "Tell everybody that I am most delighted with my ...icome in England. It has been a recep... ...which I might have expected only in ...own country, and not outside of it."

LONDON, July 13.—The Emperor of Germany this morning rode through ...e most interesting parts of Hat... ...Park. Upon his return to Hat...ld House the Emperor lunched ...the marble hall. All the ambassadors ...d ministers, and their wives, and Mr. ...d Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain were present. ...is reported the Emperor has invited the ...rince and Princess of Wales to visit ...ermany in full state during the coming ...autumn, and that the Prince and Princess ...have with the consent of Queen Victoria ...accepted the invitation.

The Emperor has presented Lord Salisbury with a splendid Dresden clock made especially for the British Premier.

LONDON, July 13.—After luncheon at the Hatfield House the Emperor bade farewell to Lord Salisbury and the latter's guests, declaring he was highly pleased with his visit and left Hatfield House for Windsor Castle to bid adieu to the Queen. Upon arrival at Windsor the Emperor was met by an escort of the Life Guards, who conducted him to the castle. The Queen met the imperial traveler at the entrance to her private apartments. Her Majesty warmly embraced her grandson, who remained an hour in conversation with her. At the expiration of that time the Emperor took leave of her Majesty. The parting seemed to show that the most cordial sentiment animate both their majesties. After leaving Windsor Castle the Emperor returned to London. He started for Scotland tonight.

She—You will ask, papa, will you not? Or must I? He—Oh, I have seen him. Fact is, he made the suggestion that it was about time for me to propose.

Why will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when by the timely use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided? This Syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc.

TURBULENT TRIBESMEN.

Trouble Expected With the Chippewa and Navajo Indians.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 13.—A special from White Earth, Minn., says: The situation here is so serious that it is feared General Merritt will have to send troops to the reservation at White Creek, to prevent riot. The Chippewas have been turbulent for several weeks.

The Navajo Indians have been acting in a defiant manner towards the whites in Arizona and it is the general belief that they are only awaiting a favorable opportunity to drive the cattlemen from their ranches.

BUILDINGS BURNED.

Destructive Fire at Duluth—Several Conflagrations in Canada.

DULUTH, Minn., June 13.—The new portion of the St. Louis Hotel, built three years ago, was gutted by fire to-day. The property was sold for $350,000, of which amount about $100,000 was for the lots. The building is the property of Boston parties and is fully insured. Other losses will be over $100,000.

ST. THOMAS, July 13.—The barns and sheds of Angus D. McGregor, of New Glasgow were destroyed by fire Friday night. About fifteen tons of hay, two wagons and a quantity of machinery and implements were burned. Loss about $3,000.

KINGSTON, Ont., July 13.—The schooner Gearing was burned to the water's edge at Trenton Saturday morning.

OTTAWA, July 13.—The Bell Telephone office was burned out Saturday. The fire started in the switchboard. The damage arose from a cut telephone wire falling on a trolley wire of the Electric Street Railway.

HOLSTEIN, Ont., July 13.—The barns and stables, of Samuel Queen, township of Egremont, were totally destroyed by fire Saturday together with all his agricultural implements. This is the seventh time within the past twenty years that Mr. Queen has lost his buildings by fire.

ELECTROCUTION.

Cutting Criticism by the London Lancet —"A Barbarous Deed."

LONDON, July 13.—The Lancet bitterly attacks the recent electrocutions, and in an editorial it says: "A word of barbarous sound has this week been added to our language, a word as barbarous as the deed it expressed. It means taking human life by violence through the action of electricity. Salmoneus, with his brazen thunder, is now out-Heroded. His thunder was a mere terror. This is fatal. Four human beings have been 'electrocuted' in New York on July 7, in this year of what is ironically called human redemption. About some of the reports of this deed of horror there is a sound of actual exultation, as if some wonderful discovery had been made or some great triumph of human skill had been perfected. Although we are not at this moment profoundly satisfied with all that has been told, one fact does look better in the Kemmler case, namely, "that this time no member of the body medical did himself the pleasure of acting as executioner. So far so good."

A Colliery on Fire.

LONDON, July 13.—A fire in the West Stanley Colliery, at Consett near Durham to-day, wrecked the pithead and destroyed most of the machinery. The loss will exceed $300,000. Five hundred men are thrown out of work.

Richard III. Rivaled.

HOUSTON, Tex., July 13.—Mrs. Kate Williams, a domestic, has given birth to a boy baby which has a full set of teeth. Medical men are puzzled. The new arrival is a perfect child and as lively as a newspaper reporter. Not since the days of Richard III. has such a youngster been heard of.

Sudden Death at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, July 13.—A blacksmith named Edward McGrath, whose place of business is on the corner of Jackson and Hughson streets, fell down in an apoplectic fit to-day and expired in less than half an hour. Deceased was about 62 years of age. He leaves a widow and grown up family.

Secretary Blaine's Health.

NEW YORK, July 13.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Bar Harbor says: "Secretary Blaine had a bad turn yesterday afternoon. The weather was sultry and warm, and rumor says Mr. Blaine had just sat down to luncheon when he had the attack. He was helped to his couch and in a short time grew better and conversed. He himself declared, so it is said, that the heat was too much for him; that he had on too much woolen clothing for the rise in the temperature. He did not go out driving yesterday.

An Endowment Fund of $800,000 Jeopardized.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Eight hundred thousand dollars, nearly the total endowment fund of the Union Theological Seminary is in jeopardy on account of the action of the directors in the Dr. Briggs case. The endowment fund was established upon the assurance that the seminary was permanently under the control of the Presbyterian Church. Now that the directorate refuse to be guided by the General Assembly disapproving of Dr. Briggs' election to the faculty, this large fund is endangered.

The Signalman Was Confused.

PARIS, July 13.—An accident happened last evening to the Club special train running between Calais and Paris in connection with the Club train service between London and Calais. The Club train came into collision with an express train from Lille. Both trains were entering Gard Du Nord when the Club train dashed into the rear of the Lille train, causing a terrific shock to both. The conductor's caboose and a second class carriage of the Lille express were wrecked, and another car of the same train was much damaged. All the passengers on board the Club train escaped without injury, but two passengers and the conductor and brakeman of the express were seriously hurt. Ten other passengers were extricated from the debris of the wrecked train, all suffering from shocks and contusions. Those who are most severely injured were taken to the nearest hospital. Madame Regnior, on the Lille express, has died in the hospital. The signal man admits that he omitted to signal the Club train to stop, as he had become confused at the number of trains running in and out from the depot.

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

Rotten at the Core.

Scandalous Condition of the Governmental Departments.

The Air Loaded With Charges of Maladministration.

Still Another Damaging Expose Promised for the Present Week.

Significant Utterances by the Montreal Star—Mr. Perley's Damaging I. O. U.

OTTAWA, July 13.—The inquiry conducted before the Privileges and Elections Committee has lifted the veil from many flagrant acts of official peculation; but Larkin, Connolly & Co. are not the only contractors who have obtained large Government works for substantial considerations of the Red Parlor type, and secured alterations in the specifications which have enormously increased their value. The papers which Mr. Trow asked for in Parliament the other day will show what has been done in connection with other contracts. The Department of the Interior is in a state of perturbation, for the irregularities there are so extensive that it is hard to tell who is not involved. In connection with another large department a scandal has leaked out which involves the personal reputation of the Minister and which, should the facts be established as they are stated, will necessitate his withdawal from public life. Grave as was the Pacific scandal, and deep as was the disgrace it reflected on its participants, the state of affairs to-day is far more serious, the consequences more far-reaching than in those dark days of Sir John Macdonald's Administration.

The Public Accounts Committee meets again on Tuesday and there is plenty of matter for it to sift. Mr. Burgess, the deputy head of the Department of the Interior, has tendered his resignation, but he has done so, it is said, in the hope that it will not be accepted. Mr. Dewdney, it is said, is reluctant to part with him. Mr. Burgess, in the course of a conversation, said that his reason for sending in his resignation will be in the hands of the Public Accounts Committee at its next meeting. Until then he declines to make any statement, but says his resignation must not be accepted as an acknowledgment of his wrongdoing. How he can reconcile innocence of wrongdoing with the fact that, unsolicited, he has tendered his resignation, is a problem difficult of solution.

At a dinner Saturday night, where Liberals and Conservatives sat together, a Government member, speaking of the expected bye-elections, said the Government would need to send a score of speakers into every riding, and even that number would not stem the current of this session's revelations. Another Conservative of prominence says there are now on the Ministerial benches men who will desert the Government as soon as they think the crisis has arrived, and the past few days has brought it close to them.

When Nicholas Connolly's examination was finished his friends had him for a time. A wonderful change came over his memory when the questions which were dropped into its abyssimal depths were on the end of a line held by a friendly hand. It was immediately stocked with recollections of whatever sort were required. He has a memory back-reaching and discriminating. The committee discovered this when Mr. Fitzpatrick and Mr. Henry examined him. If there was ever a discredited witness it is Nicholas Connolly with his immovable effrontery and his unflinching forgetfulness. Not only has he nullified the effect of the things which friendly counsel led him to say and so made useless his denials of Mr. Murphy's story, but he carried his recollectionless state to such a pass that he corroborates Murphy's story in the main. Between the two witnesses and their respective credibility there is this to be rembered: the main features of Murphy's story are substantiated by the documentary evidence. He has filled in and made the narrative of the robberies read connectedly and bear the stamp of truth. Nicholas Connolly, on the other hand, questions facts proven in the letters, puts upon references in documents interpretations that are clumsily absurd or he can find for them no meaning at all, though they were written by him not very long ago. He tells a story of such immaculate guilelessness that with the documentary evidence before the committee he is moustrously discredited.

When during Mr. Osler's cross-examination of Mr. Murphy the Conservatives took so much comfort it was with small reason. The witness could not remember on which of the firm's two banks, the Union or the British North America, a check for a certain purpose was drawn. It does not matter whether the $10,000 which Murphy says he handed to Sir Hector at his house in a big envelope was drawn from the British North America Bank or the Union, or whether the bills were fifties or hundreds. The question is, Were the sums of money paid to Sir Hector and the Hon. Thomas McGreevy?

The developments at Ottawa are, naturally enough, the chief topic of conversation among all classes in Montreal, and the semi-Conservative Star comes out with such startling head-lines as the "Augean Stables," "The Scandal Epidemic at Ottawa," etc., and editorially says: "When rogues fall out honest men do not always get their own. The quarrel between 'Nick,' 'Mick,' and Murphy and Mr. Murphy's uncles will not result in the people of Canada being refunded the money o which they have been robbed. The public has the satisfaction of knowing for a certainty what it before suspected, namely, that a precious set of rascals have been bleeding the country in connection with the Quebec and Esquimalt contracts."

Mr. Perley has not been reinstated, nor is it at all probable that he will be. He would have held his office until now had it not been for the story of the I O U. The Government fully expected that the jewelry and silverware had been paid for, but when it came out that it had not been, and that the Connollys merely held an I O U for the money, there was great disappointment, and the more so seeing that Mr. Perley's first statement to the committee conveyed the idea that the matter was settled.

There is to be a general overhauling of the departments before the Public Accounts Committee forthwith, with a view to finding how far the practice of paying extra money to permanent clerks has prevailed. Mr. Turner was suspended on Friday, because, though a permanent clerk, he received through another person's name pay for his own work.

Before the Public Accounts Committee dips far into this inquiry, it will make an examination into the case which has arisen in the Postoffice Department. A lady clerk was absent for months; yet it is said her salary was not stopped.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Officials and Workmen Dismissed for Voting Against the Government.

A Goderich Man Pitched Overboard Because His Father and Brothers Voted for the Opposition, While He Himself Did Not Vote at All.

OTTAWA, July 13. — Mr. Mulock introduced a bill to amend the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act. The object of the amendment is to place an additional safeguard upon the public treasury against the abuse of the power exercised by the Government of issuing Governor-General's warrants for expenditures during the Parliamentary recess. He referred to the statement which had been presented to the House at the commencement of the present session, giving the amount of the warrants issued during the last recess at $1,310,876. Warrants had been issued for that amount, but only $750,646 had been expended, which showed, he claimed, that there had been an exercise of the prerogative by the Governor far beyond the spirit of the statute. The nature of many of the items making up the statement make this still clearer. One of them, of the date 29th of May, one week after Parliament prorogued, was: "Contingencies, Exchequer Court, $10,000." Why had Parliament not been asked for that? On May 30, within thirteen days of prorogation, a warrant was issued for the House of Commons for $24,231. Mr. Mulock said he was unable to understand how within ten days of prorogation the Government could have called upon the Governor-General for these warrants within the spirit of the act.

VARIOUS MATTERS.

Sir John Thompson introduced a bill entitled "An act to amend the Patent Act."

In reply to Mr. Taylor, Sir Hector Langevin said it is the intention of the Government to have a monument to the late Right Hon. Sir John Macdonald erected on the Parliament grounds.

Sir John Thompson introduced a bill entitled "An act to amend the Copyright Act." He explained that it is merely to amend section 19 of the original act, which makes a provision as to the rights of persons in the Exchequer Court intervening at the instance of any party interested and substitutes, at the suit of any person interested.

Mr. Haggart told Mr. Edgar the charges against Benjamin C. Ainsworth, postmaster at Allisonville, in Prince Edward county, had been investigated but not proven, and an order had not been issued for the removal of the postoffice from his house.

Dr. Montague obtained an order of the House for copies of reports of engineers as to improvements in the navigation of the Grand River.

Mr. Costigan introduced a bill entitled an act in restraint of fraudulent marking. The bill will require the marking of all white load "Pure," and parties selling an impure article will be liable to a penalty. Other articles may be added in the bill with the approval of Parliament. In reply to Mr. Laurier, Mr. Costigan said the bill was asked for by Boards of Trade.

The Government told Dr. Sproule that regulations concerning the Atlantic cattle trade, additional to those now in force, will be issued when the bill now before the House is adopted, if it be adopted.

Mr. Innes asked the Government why they refused to refund the Imperial Government expenses incurred for the relief of distressed Canadians abroad and why they afterwards revoked that decision and assumed responsibility of affording relief to distressed Canadians in all foreign countries except the United States. Mr. C. H. Tupper's answer was that the Government had not at first cared to undertake an indefinite responsibility, the extent of which they did not know, and they excepted the United States from their acceptance of responsibility because of the contiguity of the two countries, their long border line and the difficulty of adjudicating on claims.

WALKERTON'S CLERK OF WORKS.

To Mr. Truax Sir Hector Langevin said that John Tolton, clerk of the works at the Walkerton public buildings, did not resign his position prior to or during the recent election contest in February and March last. This adds another to the list of officials whose salaries went on while they did election work through the recent campaign. Sir Hector also said Mr. Tolton is still in the employ of the Government and continues to draw his salary. This is strange inasmuch as the buildings are completed and the contractors left town two months ago.

MR. LAFORCE LANGEVIN.

Mr. Delisle asked if the Government were aware of statements contained in the minutes of the Quebec Harbor Commissioners, under date Oct. 24, 1890, concerning complaints against Capt. J. E. Bernier, dock master, according to which Mr. Laforce Langevin stated that he reported against Capt. Bernier, not to the board or Mr. Boswell, the chief engineer, but to Mr. L. Coste, of the Public Works Department. He further desired to know what was the nature of the service rendered by Laforce Langevin, the amount of money received by him from the Public Works Department since 1888 up to date, services for which the money was paid, and also the nature of the complaint made against Capt. Bernier.

Sir Hector Langevin replied that the Government had not been informed that the statements contained in the first part of the question were contained in the minutes of the Quebec Harbor Commission. He went on to state that by act of Parliament assented to on the 22nd May, 1888, the management of the Levis graving dock was vested in the Department of Public Works, which undertook certain works of construction and repairs under the direct control of the chief engineer and officers. The question of placing some one in charge was left to the acting engineer-in-chief of the department, Mr. Coste, who found Capt. Bernier, the late dock master, unqualified and therefore asked Mr. Laforce Langevin, then assistant engineer, to superintend the work on the 1st June, 1890, and he performed the functions until 13th October, 1890, when Mr. Viliquet, C.E., was placed in charge. The amount of money received by Mr. Laforce Langevin from the Department of Public Works since January up to date is $618. Mr. Laforce Langevin had reported to Mr. Coste verbally at Quebec last fall that Capt. Bernier's work would not stand inspection, and without waiting for an investigation Capt. Bernier had resigned.

TUPPER AND IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

Mr. Amyot asked whether the High Commissioner for Canada at London is authorized by the Government to promote imperial federation, and to afford to that scheme his active public, officious or official concurrence, or is he acting solely on his own responsibility? Are the Government of Canada in favor of the establishment of imperial federation? Have the Government a fixed policy as to the establishment of an imperial federation? Are they hostile, favorable or indifferent thereto?

To the first question Sir Hector Langevin said "No." To the second and third he said the Government had not considered them.

PUBLIC OFFICIALS IN ELECTIONS.

Mr. Perry moved for copies of all correspondence and orders relative to the dismissal of Wm. Saunders and Wm. Mullart, section foremen of the Prince Edward Island Railway, in March or April last. The member for Prince stated that these two men had been employed on the railway since its inauguration sixteen or eighteen years ago, and as the situation was he knew that these men had not been guilty of any dereliction of duty, yet after the election on the 5th of March they were dismissed, and he was anxious to be informed of the reason why. It appeared from information he had received that the authorities had discharged them under the impression that they had canvassed for or voted for the Opposition candidates. He did not know how the department found this out, whether they had had gentlemen looking through windows and behind screens. Personally he did not know whether they had voted for the Liberal candidates or not. But supposing they did, was that to be considered a sufficient reason for their dismissal? If this were the principle upon which the department was conducted it was no wonder that the Department of Railways had gone a-begging for the last two or three months.

Touching the complaints against men who had been dismissed, Mr. Perry remarked, amid laughter, that the man had hired a Grit to do some work, but the explanation he had to offer was that he could not find any Tories. Tories were getting scarce down there now—(laughter)—and he had to employ a Grit. When the time had come that Liberals were not to get a day's work and men had to swear whether they were Liberals or Tories before they could hold their positions it was time that there should be a change. (Cheers.) He did not know how the change was to come about, but he hoped some day a want of confidence motion would do it. (Cheers.)

Mr. Cameron, Huron, said the Minister of Customs laid down the rule the other day that salaried officials had a right to vote for the Conservative candidate. He justified them taking part in the late contest on behalf of the Government candidate by saying that it was their duty to vote for the Government that appointed them. The member for Huron saw clearly in this the principle that to the victor belonged the spoils, and he for one was willing to accept the condition. He might tell his honorable friend before him, the leader of the Opposition, that if when he got into power he did not cut the head off every Tory official who had taken an active part in politics and an offensive part in politics he shall never receive his support. (Laughter.) He had no objection to the rule laid down by the Minister of Customs. It would cut both ways. The present Government, he remarked, were not content with dismissing larger officials, but they had got down to the contemptible meanness of dismissing workingmen. Mr. Cameron held in his hand a letter which he read. It throws a curious light upon the procedure of the mechanical branch of the Department of Public Works about election times. Mr. Cameron observed that in his town there was a person named MacIvor who had been for years engaged in working a Government dredge there at a salary of $2 50 per day. He had faithfully discharged his duties. Mr. Cameron did not believe that there was a single complaint against him. He did not vote at the last election, but his father and four brothers voted for Mr. Cameron. On the 2nd of March Mr. Arnoldi, the chief mechanical engineer in the Department of Public Works, wrote him a letter in reply to his application to be reappointed to his old position. The letter stated he had better see Mr. Porter (the Government candidate who opposed Mr. Cameron) and get a letter from him, after receipt of which there would be no difficulty about arranging the matter. The man saw Mr. Porter, who promised to give him a letter, but did not do it. On the 9th of April, after the elections were over, he received a letter telling him that his engagement terminated after navigation stopped last fall and this department has made a change in the staff by which the position he held last year was now held by another man. It was the policy of the Government that every employe had a perfect right to vote for the Administration, to advocate the cause of it and to make himself offensive upon the stump. It was a rule that as he had already said would work both ways, and so long as he was in the ranks he would support no Liberal Government that would not cut off the heads of those who had made themselves offensive to it.

Mr. Bowell, Mr. Laurier, Mr. Thompson and Mr. Mills continued the discussion until recess, and it was then allowed to drop.

AFTER RECESS.

These bills were read a third time: An act to incorporate the MacLeod Irrigation Company; an act respecting the Salisbury and Harvey Railway Company; an act to revive and amend the act to incorporate the Oshawa Railway and Navigation Company, and to change the name thereof to the Oshawa Railway Company; an act to amend an act to incorporate the Great Eastern Railway Company; an act to incorporate the Rocky Mountain Railway and Coal Company; an act respecting the Baie des Chaleurs Railway Company.

The House adjourned at 11 o'clock.

Margaret Binet, aged 75 years, widow of Jacques Touchette, was killed at Quebec yesterday through her horse running away and throwing her from the ris.

DUE TO DRINK.

Three Murders and a Suicide—Beer and Paris Green Get in Their Work.

JOLIET, Ill., July 13.—Gust Swedborg, a Swede, shot and killed his boarding mistress, Mrs. G. Hedborg, last night and then blew his own head off with a shotgun. Swedborg had been on a protracted drunk.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 13.—Joseph L. Tice, was released from the penitentiary yesterday, got drunk and afterwards stabbed his wife. Mrs. Tice soon died. Tice was arrested.

PITTSBURG, July 13.—Mrs. Martin Farrell a wealthy woman of this city, was arrested last night on a charge of poisoning her husband. The couple were married about five years ago, but have never lived happily together, the bone of contention being a fortune of $60,000, left to Mrs. Farrell, which she has persistently held in her own name. Some time ago they parted, but the quarrel was made up, and Saturday she returned to his home. They spent the night in drinking, and yesterday morning Mrs. Farrell arose to get her husband a bottle of beer. While his back was turned it is alleged she poured a lot of paris green into the bottle and gave it to him to drink. He drained the bottle and is now dying. Nearly a pound of the poison was discovered in the house and a considerable portion of it was found upon Mrs. Farrell's clothing. The physicians say Farrell cannot recover.

NOT A WAGE-EARNER'S CHURCH.

The Movement for Disestablishment—British Congregationalists Pledged to Reform in This Direction.

LONDON, July 13.—At the breakfast given to-day at the Holborn Restaurant in honor of the United States and British colonial delegates to the International Congregational Council which opens here to-day, Alfred Illingworth, M. P. for West Bradford, presided. Mr. Illingworth in welcoming the delegates said the Liberals were pledged to disestablish the Welsh and Scotch churches, after which the English Church would be attacked on all sides. The speaker declared that the aristocracy were the chief buttress of the established church, not 5 per cent. of wage-earners being communicants. The council at to-day's meeting will elect committees and officers and afterward the members will attend a reception tendered them by the Congregational Union of England and Wales. The council consists of about 300 representatives, of whom about 100 come the United States.

THE TRIGGER.

AT BISLEY.

LONDON, July 14.—The Rifle Association opened its annual meeting at Bisley yesterday. The Canadians won a match against Cambridge to-day by 28 points.

His Last Dive.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 13.—Prof. Geo. Mallett has recently been giving exhibitions of high diving at North Park, near the Soldiers' Home. The tower from which he dove is 78 feet above the surface of the water. Last evening on making the dive he turned in the air, alighting on his back, and his death is hourly expected. He is married and has three children.

THE TRIPLE ALLIANCE.

The triple alliance formed in 1879 between Germany, Austria and Italy, was renewed after a period of six years, and again a short time ago was prolonged for a similar period. The renewal of the alliance divides Europe into two great fighting phalanxes, one composed of the Russian and French armies, numbering in all perhaps a host of 6,000,000, the other composed of the united forces of Austria, Germany and Italy, aggregating over 5,000,000 men. This renewal of the great coalition is to be welcomed as reducing the chances of war, and preparing the way for general European disarmament.

A peculiar feature of the arrangement is that apparently it is only to her despotic friend Russia that the republic of France can look for support, should it enter the heads of her united enemies to wipe her out. That Russia is willing to stand by the republic is evident from a statement recently made by M. Flourens, ex-Minister of Foreign Affairs of France, in which he admitted the existence of a Franco-Russian alliance, and that the formation of this alliance was the work of the Czar himself. Diplomatic notes equivalent to a treaty, arranging for common action between the two countries, have been exchanged between France and Russia.

Of late the statement has been frequently made by the French journals that the Triple Alliance is de facto an alliance of a quadruple character, since Great Britain, if a silent, is a powerful partner. England is not in favor with either France or Russia. The latter is jealous of English ascendancy in Central Asia, while France is decidedly antagonistic to England's policy in Egypt. Contrary to treaty obligations and oft-repeated assurances, England maintains her garrisons in the dominions of the Khedive, ostensibly to preserve the peace, but really with the view of holding possession permanently.

On the other hand it is doubtful if the presence of the German Emperor in England really tends to strengthen good relations between Germany, Austria, Italy and Great Britain. Neither the German rulers nor the German people have any sentiments in common with those of the English rulers or people. Their politics, social conditions and customs are wholly unlike, and their commercial interests are opposite and hostile. Family and domestic influences will scarcely be able to harmonize political differences. The Queen would have to be something more than human if she retains no resentment against the whole German official clique and cabal, which put such slights on her daughter—the German Princess and Empress Frederick—while in the depths of her great affliction and subsequent bereavement. The affronts and cruelties of those days, which the present Emperor certainly did nothing to mitigate or assuage, can scarcely be quite forgotten even under the present outside show of oblivion and condonation. Sham and ostentation usually go hand in hand. On the whole, England is likely to choose the better part by keeping herself clear of the alliance and unentangled.

LANGEVIN'S BAD EXAMPLE.

[Toronto World.]

Burgess and Perley must go, and if there are any other practices of this kind known they have got to stop right now and a better morale be introduced into the public service.

While on this subject the World does not make fish of one and flesh of another Sir Hector Langevin, in taking a testimonial from contractors, committed more than an indiscretion and set a bad example to his subordinates. We cannot expect the inferior officers to be highly conscientious in a matter of this kind when it can be said that their chief has laid himself open to even a suspicion of doing the same.

CONSCIENCE AND LIBERALITY.

Y. M. C. A. Secretary Chapman, of Brantford, has performed his duties for five years there with marked acceptance to those engaged in Christian work. The organization is a live one in that city, and many of the active workers, like Mr. Chapman himself, are young men.

A pleasing incident was noted the other evening. Mr. Chapman's resignation was tendered to the directors because he was about to join the Baptist Church. His action was prompted by conscience, and he feared that because he was about to leave the Methodist faith the members and friends of that church, and perhaps others also, might be prejudiced against him to such an extent that his usefulness to the association as its secretary would be destroyed.

When Mr. Chapman's frank avowal was read and discussed it is cheering to state that it was heartily agreed to request Mr. Chapman to withdraw his resignation. Christian liberality was exemplified in the action taken by the officers, and it is safe to say that the work of the association will not suffer by reason of this manifestation of brotherly love one towards another, even among those whose doctrinal views are antagonistic.

Had other counsel prevailed, and had schism swayed the members of the association, the feeling engendered would have been difficult to eradicate, and the lassitude of workers would have resulted in decreased results for good. Jealousies in the association would have created scorn without, and altogether the results would have been deplorable.

The Brantford episode is but a sign of the times. Let brotherly love continue.

BRITICISMS AND AMERICANISMS

The cry of alarm raised by British critics against the degradation of the English language by the invasion of Americanisms is echoed rather derisively in Harper's Magazine by Brander Matthews, who points out that our mother tongue is in equal danger of deteriorating through the influence of Briticisms. A blunder made in Great Britain and stigmatized as a Briticism is as unpardonable by those who take thought of their speech as a Scotticism or a Hibernicism, an Americanism or an Australianism. There is many a Briticism common enough in England which is quite foreign to the best usage of those who speak English. The use of "like" for "as" is heard in the conversation of Englishmen of high standing. Even Walter Bagehot represents the dwellers in old manor houses asking why they (the French) could not have kings, lords and commons like we have. The British habit of saying "very pleased," is contrary to the tradition of the language and the best American usage which require one to say very much pleased. Equally noteworthy is the misuse of without for unless, condemned in America as a vulgarism, but discoverable in England in the pages of important periodical publications. For example in the number of the New Review for August, 1890, we find Sir Charles Dilke, who, as a member of her Majesty's Privy Council, ought to be familiar with the Queen's English, writing that "Nothing can be brought before the vestry without the vestry is duly summoned."

Perhaps the two most frequent Briticisms and the most obvious are the use of different to, where the American more logically and appropriately says different from, and the employment of directly and its synonym immediately for as soon as, in such phrases as "directly he arrived he did thus." Even Thackeray allowed Henry Esmond to write instantly for as soon as.

New countries necessitate the coining of new words. The mother tongue is not a loan but a heritage to be used as needs must. There is no doubt as to the proper use of such words as railroad, conductor, grade, and to switch, although the British equivalents of these words are railway, guard, gradient, and to shunt. But that there will ever be any broad divergence between the English language and American speech is altogether unlikely, since the same alphabet is taught in London, New York, Calcutta, Sydney and Toronto.

MONEY VALUE IN LITERATURE.

American tourists leave in Great Britain from £12,000,000 to £20,000,000 at least per annum. No one can doubt that the principal reason for this enormous influx of visitors is to be found in the places made memorable by Shakespeare, Jonson, Scott, Burns, Dickens, Thackeray, George Eliot and Charlotte Bronte. Shakespeare alone has indirectly bestowed millions of pounds on the inhabitants of those places with which his name is associated. Truth is mighty, but fiction is not very far behind her.

WHAT THE "ADVERTISER" THINKS ABOUT IT.

SOME persons affect not to know why Mr. Osler has been retained in the Langevin-McGreevy case. The real object is to defend Langevin and his colleagues.

LADY DILKE, the wife of Sir Charles Dilke, has been one of the most prominent organizers of trades unions for women in England. The things that have been done and the advances contemplated are described in an article which she has written for the August number of the North American Review. It may be remembered that Lady Dilke is said to have been the original of Dorothea in Middlemarch.

THE McMASTER UNIVERSITY MONTHLY. (Toronto: Dudley & Burns.) This magazine is a continuation of the Woodstock College Monthly, inaugurated more than a year ago, and now embracing the interests of Moulton College also, and published under the new name in Toronto. The publishing committee consists of one representative of each faculty and one representative of the students of each department of the university. Its aim is to subserve in the highest degree all the interests of educational work, and judging from the specimen number just received it will be a source of entertainment and profit to others than those who are specifically interested in college journalism.

AN EDITORIAL statement in Friday's Free Press was that the Richard Reynolds whom Mr. Charlton quoted as authority for the charge that Mr. Bowell had requested that the Orange order should use its influence to have him chosen as a Cabinet Minister was "long since dead." If our contemporary will take the trouble to consult Saturday's Toronto Mail it will find an open letter written by the same Richard Reynolds to the Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, in which some very interesting statements are made. The Free Press corpse is evidently a very lively one.

WHEN an evil is seen in the presence of some noxious animal, and some other animal is introduced to check its career, the remedy proposed may be a hundred times worse than the disease. Sufficient proof may be found in the million of acres desolated by the rabbit in Australia, the infinite amount of damage effected by the sparrow in America, and the extirpation of edible birds by letting pigs run wild in the islands of the South Seas. The mongoose which was introduced into Jamaica for the purpose of destroying the rats that fed on the sugar canes has come to be regarded as an intolerable curse. It has extirpated not only the rats, but nearly all the Guinea fowl, large pigeons, edible land crabs and other native Jamaica delicacies.

[St. Thomas Journal]

Isn't it about time to
TURN THE RASCALS OUT?

MONUMENTAL.

[Detroit Free Press.]

The enthusiastic Canadians of this city who have begun a movement for the building of a monument to Sir John Macdonald have undertaken a serious task. Americans are not monument building people, nor are Canadians. It was more than 100 years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence before the monument of Washington was completed in the capital of this country; we all know the pitiful story of the Grant monument in New York, and there have been other instances scarcely less pointed.

THE MEMORIAL GOING SLOW.

[Labor Advocate.]

The Macdonald memorial meeting held on Thursday evening of last week was a flat failure. There was a mere handful of people in attendance, who appointed a very lengthy and imposing list of those who were not there as members of the committee. The late Sir John is no hero of ours, and we do not see that the country owes him any memorial. All the same the lack of interest on the part of those who professed to idolize him, and who owe everything they are to him, is a striking instance of human ingratitude. There was no particular reason why the people should have been at that meeting and they showed their sense by staying away. But where were the tax-enriched tariff monopolists, the Northwestern syndicate land-grabbers, the boodling contractors, the little 10 cent politicians who have been feeding fat in office owing to Sir John's favors? What a scurvy set of ingrates are the crew whom he has enriched with the people's money!

"August Flower"

What is It For?

This is the query perpetually on your little boy's lips. And he is no worse than the bigger, older, balder-headed boys. Life is an interrogation point. "What is it for?" we continually cry from the cradle to the grave. So with this little introductory sermon we turn and ask: "What is AUGUST FLOWER FOR?" As easily answered as asked: It is for Dyspepsia. It is a special remedy for the Stomach and Liver. Nothing more than this; but this brimful. We believe August Flower cures Dyspepsia. We know it will. We have reasons for knowing it. Twenty years ago it started in a small country town. To-day it has an honored place in every city and country store, possesses one of the largest manufacturing plants in the country and sells everywhere. Why is this? The reason is as simple as a child's thought. It is honest, does one thing, and does it right along—it cures Dyspepsia.

The Coming School of Medicine.
The Histogenetic System.

THIS SYSTEM IS COMPLETE, having different medicines for all the different diseases. The theory is entirely different from that of the old schools. The medicines are perfectly pure, containing nothing of a poisonous nature whatever, and are quite tasteless. For three years these medicines have been given away free and thoroughly tested in the most hopeless cases before being placed on the market. The result has exceeded the most sanguine expectations. Hundreds of cases supposed to be incurable have been cured, and abundance of proof can be produced to convince the most skeptical that Histogenetic Medicines have cured and are curing to-day DISEASES at a later stage than any other system of medicine in the world. In ACUTE cases the medicines act like magic. Chronic troubles require a longer time, generally from one to three months, according to the nature of the complaint. In FEMALE IRREGULARITIES, WOMB TROUBLES, etc., the medicines have been especially successful. Private EXAMINATIONS in these troubles are almost, if not quite, absolutely unnecessary. Call or send for one of our free books explaining the system. They should be in every house in the land.

RHEUMATISM and SCIATICA

LONDON, April 26, 1891.

I am happy to acknowledge, and now testify, to the efficacy of your medicines in curing Rheumatism. I have suffered with this painful disease in my shoulders, knees and hips for twenty-five years, also with sciatica for some time. I decided to try Histogenetic Medicines as a last resort, as nothing ever seemed to give me any permanent relief. The first week's medicine gave me relief, and in two weeks the sciatica disappeared and has not returned. I took the medicines for six weeks, and am cured of the rheumatism. I feel better in every way. I am sixty years of age, and feel quite smart and active. I can cheerfully recommend these medicines to the public, and will be glad to tell any sufferer about my case. It is now nearly two months since I ceased taking the medicines, and the effect is permanent.

THE TRIGGER.

GOOD SCORES BY THE LOCAL CORPS.

Another shoot in the military rifle league telegraph matches was held Saturday at the Coveranges. The weather was fine and the wind very light. The daily practice indulged in during the past month, and the fact that both the "D" Company team and the Seventh took advantage of the large number of targets available to fire off the match after 4:30 o'clock when the wind had gone down, resulted in a largely increased score for both teams, "D" Company, L. S. C., making 862 and the Seventh Battalion 889 points. Both teams will now take a long stride nearer the top of the league list as a result of Saturday's shoot. The Seventh's score has been kindly handed in by Capt. Hayes, and as the following shows, some splendid shooting was done, W. C. Hiscott's 95 being remarkably good:

Redpath captured the powder prize at the regular London Gun Club shoot on Friday by making 29 out of 35. Evans followed with 18 out of 25, Brewer 24 out of 40, and Stanley 23 out of 40. A great deal of interest is being taken in these shoots.

THE WHEEL.

The arrival of the American wheelmen Sunday did not turn out to be an affair of the gilt-edged order. About twenty of the F. C. 'C. Club men left in the morning for the east, via Dundas street, with the praiseworthy intention of giving the expected 'cyclists a hearty welcome to the Forest City. They rode out several miles, then, not meeting anyone, in a parboiled condition they dropped off in a shady spot to await developments. They waited so long before anything "turned up" that the majority came home, although several stuck to it heroically. About 2:30 p.m. a dozen weather-worn wheelmen arrived at the Tecumseh House via the Hamilton road, making it evident that someone had blundered and that the F. C. 'C. C. men had gone on a fruitless mission over the wrong course. The Americans reported that as the bridge between London and Nilestown was down for repairs, they had recourse to the novel method of undressing and fording the Thames with their machines. The local boys returned shortly blowing like grampuses, but pluckily decided to correct their mistake and started off for the Hamilton road. They brought in another baker's dozen an hour or two later, and were told that the remainder of the party had stopped off at intermediate points, not caring for the warm ride. A number of ladies who had purposed coming had changed their minds at Niagara Falls. Mr. Smith, the touring manager, expressed himself as sorry for the misapprehension regarding the route. The party left yesterday for Port Huron, where their numbers will be greatly augmented. They proceed direct to Detroit from there. During the brief stay in the city the 'cyclists were shown every courtesy by local brethren.

Captain Will Owens, of the F. C. C. C., has resigned on account of business engagements. Lieut. "Nip" Tune will advance to his position and Joe Knowles will receive the lieutenancy.

National—Pittsburg 11, Philadelphia 0; New York 15, Chicago 6; Cleveland 5, Brooklyn 4; Cincinnati 7, Boston 3.

Association—Athletics 3, Cincinnati 0; Baltimore 14, Louisville 5; Boston 5, St. Louis 2; Columbus 3, Washington 1.

FLYS.

Umpire Grace Pierce has been released.

Joseph Ramsay, of Syracuse, has been appointed an Eastern Association umpire, vice Kelly resigned.

Shugart, shortstop of the Minneapolis club, has been sold to the Pittsburg National League club for $5,000.

Bob Leadley has resigned the management of the Cleveland team, and his place will be taken by Oliver Tebeau, who is also captain and third baseman.

At Galt, on Saturday, the Galt team defeated the Maple Leafs, of Guelph, by 13 to 7. Batteries—Cockman, Jones and Landers; McIlroy, Benzie and Powers. The Leafs outbatted Galt, but fielded badly.

Ridgetown and Highgate played a closely contested game of baseball Saturday. Score—Ridgetown 6, Highgate 2. Batteries—For Ridgetown, Lang and Patterson; Highgate, Hardy and Miller. Lang struck out thirteen men; Hardy struck out fifteen men.

LAWN TENNIS.

Speaking of the Canadian Lawn Tennis tournament, beginning in Toronto Tuesday and running the balance of the week, the Empire says: Lord Kilcoursie, who has been playing so well at Ottawa, is expected, and Mr. Hellmuth, who a few years ago seemed invincible, is said to be playing as well as ever, and will, it is said, compete. He will probably play in the doubles with R. O. S. Wood, who, under the tutelage of Messrs. Hyman and Hellmuth, promised to develop into a very fine player."

AQUATIC.

A novel race took place on Lake Simcoe on Saturday. Gaudaur and McKay, the double scullers, rowed against the steamboat Orillia, which has a reputation for fast traveling. The race was from the Narrows to Strawberry Island, eight miles. The oarsmen won by a length and a half. Time, 32 minutes.

LACROSSE.

At Cornwall Saturday the home team defeated the Shamrocks by four games to one.

The Hamilton team defeated the local Y. M. C. A. lacrossists Saturday 4 goals to 1.

At Niagara Falls on Saturday the home team defeated the Toronto club 9 goals to 1.

ATHLETICS.

Dennis Gallagher, the clever Buffalo athlete, writes to say he will wrestle Leonard in Oil City on July 20 for $250 a side. They both weigh 160 pounds, and Dennis says he is two inches taller.

In a wrestling tournament at Berlin Saturday, the American, Cannon, beat all comers. Cannon has been elected a member of the Atlasverien, and has been presented with a gold medal in a laurel wreath surmounted by the German and United States eagles.

At the London, England, Athletic Club games on Saturday the team of the Manhattan Athletic Club, of New York, was well represented. H. L. Curtis, the English champion, won the mile handicap walk from the scratch in 6:36. C. L. Nicoll, M. A. C., 25 yards start, was second, and E. D. Lange, M. A. C., 50 yards, was third. C. J. Queckberner, M. A. C., won the hammer-throwing and 56-pound weight. M. Remington, M. A. C., won the 100-yards in 10 seconds and the quarter mile in 49 2-5. H. L. Hallock, M. A. C., won the high jump with 6 feet. Dadman and Roddy were unplaced in the 1,000-yards race.

At the tournament of the Toronto Bankers' Athletic Association held at Rosedale on Saturday an interesting feature was putting the 15-pound shot (open)—Joseph Gray, Coldwater, Ont., 39 feet 7 inches, 1; T. W. Gerrard, British, 29 feet 7 inches, 2; R. Cockburn, Molsons, also competed. George R. Gray, world's champion, was entered, but did not compete. The winner is his young brother 18 years of age. He weighs 140 pounds and made his first public appearance on Dominion Day at Coldwater, when he made a put of 40 feet 6 inches on ground a trifle uphill. For a special medal G. R. Gray undertook to beat the Canadian record (his own) of 45 feet 2 inches, and accomplished it with ease by a performance of 45 feet 11 inches. He then took a shy at the world's record, also his own, of 46 feet 2 inches. At one attempt he sent the shot 46 feet 7 inches from the spot where it left his hand, but the put was on an angle, and on being re-measured to the extended line at which he stood the tape made it 45 feet 11 inches. His next put was 46 feet 1 inch, just an inch behind the best record in the world.

THE TURF.

CLOSE OF THE WINDSOR RACES.

WINDSOR, July 13.—Saturday saw a fitting close of the Windsor meeting, which has been the most successful one ever held on Canada's fastest half-mile track. The association has made money out of the meeting. Summaries:

Rev. F. W. Terry, of the Asylum Cricket Club, is in Toronto, and played for the International eleven against a picked eighteen on Friday. He disappointed his admirers by scoring only one run.

The cricket match between the International eleven and picked eighteen was continued on Saturday at Toronto. On Friday the eighteen made 138 runs and the eleven 51. They finished on Saturday. The eleven made 41, leaving the eighteen victorious by an inning and 46 runs. A few changes will likely be made in the International.

THE WORLD OF WORK.

Iron Works Resuming Operations—Prospects of a Great Railway Strike in France.

The Piqua rolling mill at Piqua, Ohio, has signed the scale of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, and the mill will resume operations at once.

At a meeting at Paris Sunday of 4,000 railway employes it was resolved that if the Paris-Orleans Company refused the demand of its workmen by Tuesday there will be a general strike of the five great railway companies.

Death by Lightning.

ST. ANNE, Que., July 13.—Madame Raoul Cote, accompanied by the two Misses Godison, while returning from an excursion yesterday afternoon were overtaken by a terrific thunder storm. One flash more vivid than anything ever seen in this vicinity, struck and instantly killed Madame Raoul Cote and seriously injured the two young ladies. The latter will likely recover.

Y. P. S. C. E.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 13.—At the regular session of the Y. P. S. C. E., the first thing on the programme Saturday was "reports from the world wide field." Nearly all who presented reports were applauded, but none more so than the colored candidate from North Carolina, Mr. Johnson. A colored delegate from Africa was presented and greeted with great enthusiasm. He was about to return to Liberia, and hoped to establish a chain of Christian Endeavor Societies across the Soudan. He sang "Come to Jesus" in the native tongue. A cablegram of greeting was received from England. Japan also reported by cablegram. "Pastor's hour" was conducted by Rev. J. S. Black, D.D., of Minneapolis.

Safe, Sure and Painless.

What a world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure-pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe, acts speedily and with certainty; sure and mildly, without inflaming the parts; painlessly. Do not be imposed upon by imitations or substitutes.

McFingal—I saw an advertisement of Dullard's store in the papers this morning. McFargle—I thought he never advertised. He told me so, and said he never would. McFingle—He didn't. It was in the list of Sheriff's sales.

The great lung healer is found in excellent medicine sold as Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain or soreness in the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to be far advanced in consumption.

A Waterbury (Conn.) wedding was delayed three hours by the tardiness of the bridegroom. He gave no reason for his lateness, but it is generally understood that he had been winding his watch.

The chimney is one of the few smokers that is easily sooted.

Live Stock Markets.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, July 13.—About 250 head of butchers' cattle, 150 calves and 400 sheep and lambs offered at the East End abattoir to-day. Trade in cattle was unusually dull, excepting for young, thrifty beasts to ship to Britain as stockers; 55 head of latter sold to-day at 3½c to 3¾c per lb; the best butchers' cattle sold at 4½c to 4¾c per lb; common stock, 3c to 3¾c per lb, while some of the leaner beasts would not bring much over 2½c do. Good demand for best veal calves; a lot of four sold for $28; common calves, $2 to $5 each; good shipping sheep are still in demand at from 4½c to 4¾c per lb. There was an active demand for lambs, and higher prices were paid, good selling at $3 50 to $4 each and common at $2 50 to $2 75 each. Fat hogs less plentiful; sold at from 5c to 5½c per lb.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y., July 13.—Cattle—There were 205 cars on sale. Best heavy fat steers and good desirable butchers' cows and heifers sold at steady last week's prices to a shade better; other grades lower; extra export, $5 80 to $5 90; good to choice do, $5 40 to $5 75; medium to choice butchers', $5 to $5 50; light to middle-weight butchers' fat, $4 25 to $5; fair pony steers, $4 to $4 25; coarse steers, $3 10 to $3 85; stockers and feeders in light demand; good stockers sold at $2 75 and $3; common light to fair, $2 40 to $2 65; feeders, $3 to $3 25, with an occasional good bunch at $3 40 to $3 50; yearlings, $2 to $2 25. Not much more than half the offerings of this class were sold. Outside of the sale of a limited number of choice milkers at $38 and $40, there was a very light demand for anything in the line of milch cows; a few of the best springers sold from $2 to $3 per head lower than last week. Calves—Supply in excess of demand to-day; nearly 600 head offered; sales at $5 15 to $5 20 for the best veals; general prices, $5 for good veals down to $4 50 for fair ones, and $5 50 to $5 75 for feed calves. The market closed slowly, with a number still unsold.
Sheep and lambs—Offerings were 35 cars; 8 to 10 cars held over unsold; fair to good 90 lb sheep, $4 40 to $4 75; best 90 to 100 lb sheep, $4 80 to $5; good spring lambs, $6 to $6 50; light ones, $5 to $5 75; ruling prices at close were 25c to 40c per cwt on lambs and 50c per cwt on sheep below last week's opening prices.
Hogs—Offerings, 40 cars; market opened stronger and higher, and the hogs were pretty generally sold, but a number more might have been sold at low values, as the high values restricted purchasers, and several buyers had orders withdrawn on that account; the bulk of the best hogs sold at $5 50 to $5 55, mostly $5 50; light grades, $5 20 to $5 35; pigs, $5 15 to $5 20; 2 or 3 loads of good hogs were not sold up to a late hour that would not sell at $5 50; market closed slow.

Mr. Drake is an old London lad, a member of the furniture firm of Drake & Joyce.

—The interior of St. James' Presbyterian Church presented a charming appearance Sunday morning, the occasion being a children's special floral service. The gallery front and the platform were resplendent with roses, fuchsias, geraniums and beauties of the garden. The center of the building was reserved for the children, who almost filled it, the little ones of the Protestant Home being present by invitation. Appropriate music was rendered, the juveniles joining in heartily. After the evening service the members of the Y. P. S. C. E. adjourned to the lecture hall to present their retiring president and his estimable wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Melbourne, who have decided to remove permanently to Cleveland, with an address indicative of the high esteem in which they were held by all. Mr. Arthur Brown, an eminent and able young man, has been chosen as future president.

Mr. Fraser leaves this afternoon for the British markets.

A WORD FOR THE ORNAMENTAL SISTERS.

Women who work with their hands or with their heads are a little prone to speak slightingly of their ornamental sisters who shine in society, and yet fine social intercourse is really the finest of the fine arts. It is of the greatest importance that the world should keep all that it has achieved in the way of neat personal habits, kindly and courteous observances, and delicate tastes. It is true that a hungry man would rather dine with a boor on venison than with Duke Humphrey on nothing. But, as Colonel Higginson has pointed out, "If the boorishness destroys one's appetite, where is the good of venison?". The true charm of fine manners is best seen in poverty, but the commoner varieties of human clay require long acquaintance with wealth, leisure and social intercourse before they respond easily to the demands of refined living. The society woman is a teacher—a professor of civilization. In the primary class she inculcates a respect for soap and water, while her most advanced pupils are known by an exquisitely delicate consideration for the feelings of others.—[From "Our Point of View," in Wives and Daughters for July.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, is ear-ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

Mr. J. R. Allen, upholsterer, Toronto, sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. We tried two physicians and any number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

Mrs. Smith (to Mrs. Jones' servant girl)—What do you want? Servant Girl—Mrs. Jones sends her regards and says would you be so kind as to count your children and see if you haven't got one too many, as our Kitty hasn't come home and school has been out two hours.

THE BATTLE OF THE BOYNE.

A Memorable Day with the Orange Brotherhood.

The Procession and the Various Lodges Represented.

The glorious Twelfth has come with all its accompaniments of flaring banner, the melody of the fife and drum, its glittering regalia and general exuberance. From north, south, east and west incoming trains poured out a continual stream of Orangemen, True Blues, and their wives, daughters and sweethearts, each delegation making the city lively with the familiar old tunes as the various lodges paraded to and fro. Flags and bunting decorated many of the buildings and the city presented a holiday appearance. A prominent feature was the number of the fair sex who accompanied the visiting brethren.

THE PROCESSION.

At 1 o'clock the Market Square was one mass of humanity, abounding in scarlet and orange colors. The difficulty of getting into order the confused mass was great, but skillful marshaling brought them into line, and about 1:30 everything was in readiness. It was one of the largest and most imposing Orange parades ever witnessed in London, the numbers being estimated at between 3,000 and 4,000. Nearly every lodge had its musical detachment. The shrill notes of the fife, the vigorous beatings of the drum, the sheen of the gaudy banners and flags and the bright hues of the uniforms made the pageant a most impressive one. Hundreds of spectators lined the streets, the crush of people being immense along Dundas street. Following was the order of the procession:

Lady Elgin Lodge, St. Thomas, twenty members in carriages.
Woodstock lady lodges in carriages.
Lady Victoria and Lady Stanley lodges, London, in carriages.
Seventh Battalion Band.
Woodstock True Blues, No. 13; fife and drum band.
London True Blues, No 11; fife and drums.
Queen's City True Blues, No. 41.

A LONG LIST OF DROWNINGS.

Six Accidents in Which Nine Persons Lose Their Lives.

A Hamilton dispatch says: "Four farm laborers named John Burneston, Henry Wells, George Mercer and John Jacobs, all young men, went out from Winona yesterday in a lugger for a sail on the lake. The young men were fooling in the boat, when it upset, and the four were precipitated into the lake. Mercer and Burneston managed to cling to the boat until rescued by two Hamiltonians. Jacobs and Wells lost their grip on the boat and were drowned. Neither of the two young men who lost their lives were married.

Three residents of Brooklyn—Louis Craemer, D. R. Dennis and George M. Norwood—were drowned a few miles from Coney Island by the capsizing of a naphtha launch Sunday afternoon. Capt. White, of East Rockaway, was saved after clinging for four hours to a buoy.

Daniel Donaghue, an employe of Wm. J. Morrow & Co., Peterboro, Ont., was drowned Monday through the upsetting of a canoe.

A. Miller, of Brooklyn, was drowned off Manhattan Beach on Sunday by the capsizing of a sailboat.

A machinist named Ryan went out from Bastien's boathouse, Hamilton, Sunday afternoon in a rowboat, with the intention of rowing to Bay View Park. When about a quarter of a mile distant from the park the boat capsized and Ryan was drowned. It is said deceased was under the influence of liquor at the time.

Ferdinand Fournier, a raft hand in the employ of Edward Moore, was drowned on Saturday below Deschene Rapids. Fournier went to jump from one crib to another, and fell in 30 feet of water. He could not swim, and disappeared under the swift current. He was 28 years old and unmarried.

A Hamilton telegrams says the man who was drowned off the Bay View piers Sunday evening, and who gave his name as Ryan, has been identified as John Irvine, who worked on a Grand Trunk gravel train.

Briggs—Did you hear about Robinson losing his new flannel shirt? Griggs—No. How did it happen? Briggs—He got caught in a shower.

Hamilton Ladies' College.

Among the many excellent ladies' colleges in Canada none have gained greater prominence than the long-established and ably-conducted Hamilton College. In it a most successful year has just been closed, and several advance movements are announced. Ten diplomas were awarded at the late commencement exercises, and a larger attendance is promised next term. The college has university affiliation and university examinations. The music department is in charge of a brilliant Bachelor of Music, Mr. C. L. M. Harris, Mus. Bac., and music pupils will be prepared for the Mus. Bac. degree. Interested parties should address Rev. Dr. Burns for further particulars. Read advertisement in this issue. b

ORANGE CELEBRATIONS.

Enthusiastic Gatherings of the Brotherhood Throughout the Country.

TORONTO, July 14.—The majority of the 12th of July celebrations in Ontario were postponed till Monday. The places where more than local celebrations were held were Drayton, Mitchell, Walkerton, Barrie, Gravenhurst, Midland, Windsor, Brampton, Shelbourne, Orangeville, Brussels Blenheim, Dunnville, Beeton, Niagara Falls, Trenton and Peterboro. All passed off quietly and pleasantly. Processions, speeches and athletics were the general programmes.

In Oil Springs trains leaving Petrolea per M. C. R. carried over 400 people. There were six brass bands present. The attendance was large.

At Tilbury Center the Orangemen did themselves credit, nearly every lodge in the county being fully represented. A monster procession paraded the streets headed by Woodslee brass band, followed by Essex Center, Woodslee Young Britons, Tilbury Center, Comber, Cottam, Mersea and Strangfield lodges in the order mentioned. After dinner the crowd adjourned to Merchand's grove, where addresses were listened to by a large crowd. Several fine arches were erected across Queen street, and the town presented a gay appearance.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Orangeman's day was fittingly celebrated in this city. Uniformed lodges from Brooklyn and Yonkers united with the New York Orangemen, assembling in Madison Square and marching up Fifth avenue 2,500 strong. In Fifth avenue three lodges of women in carriages joined the procession. Ranks broke at Jones' wood.

He Fell Among Thieves

CHAPTER X.

There was a horse for sale in a Turkish village on the green bank of the Maritza, and Harry Wynne was the intending purchaser. The news that a bargain was being negotiated in the street ran from house to house like fire. Venerable graybeards flamed at the tidings; toddling infancy came gamesomely out to witness the transaction; crippies on crutches dragged themselves painfully towards the scene; a wild surging mob gathered about the purchaser the salesman, and the horse, and everybody harangued everybody else in an indistinguishable hubbub. There were seconds of silence in the din, and these were utilized by the respective bargainers. The salesman, blessed by the Prophet— he had led a holy and self denying life and called his neighbors to witness to the fact—had caught a horse that had run riderless from a troop of the accursed Muscov cavalry. He was a gem, a pearl, a miracle, a wonder among horses. Never since the days of Mohammed's milk-white steed had such an animal blessed the sight of man. As an upshot of all this, he wanted £100 for him. The young Englishman's interpreter having anathematized him as an extortioner, a Jew, and the son of a Jew, gravely offered 2d., whereupon the intending vendor spat, and gave to Tophet and the fire and darkness of the unbeliever. This done the salesman professed his poverty, but for which nothing should have induced him to treat a moment longer with a wretch so ignominious and contemptible. He would take £50 Turkish for the steed, though he vowed by heaven it was robbery of an orphan. The interpreter eyed the beast, and described him in terms of such scathing contumely, that the crowd yelled in mingled delight and opprobrium. Then he offered 4d. The contending parties separated, spitting backward on the ground towards each other, and objurgating fiercely. The crowd entered into active participation in the affair, and every man, woman, and child in it went stark, staring, raving mad. Vendor and purchaser were dragged together, and faced each other with the bitterest upbraidings.

The salesman would take twenty—not a paistre less, upon his soul. The purchaser would waste a single pound upon the brute. Beyond that the compulsion neither of fire nor sword should carry him. The interest of the crowd became, if possible more intense. The vendor fell to fifteen, the interpreter rose two. Then the vendor fell to fourteen, and the buyer rose three. Then came offers of twelve and four, and there the purchaser stood like a rock. At every novel offer the contending parties separated and shook the dust off their feet against each other, but the crowd dragged them back again and insisted on the conclusion of the bargain. It was struck at last at seven, amidst a whirl of confusion which Bedlam broken loose could scarcely equal. Vendor and interpreter alike were filled with a sacred joy. The owner of the quadruped had fixed his mind on six, and the deputy buyer would have risen to eight. Each felt that he had outreached the other, and was happy.

In this wise our young adventurer was mounted. It was his first experience of a Turkish bargain, and for a while he was happier in the thought that the bargain had not led to bloodshed than in the business result of it, though an hour's trial made that seem eminently satisfactory. There was such a change in the lad already that his late companions of the Five-Year-Old would hardly have recognized him. The fierce sun and free air had tanned his face and hands to a deep brown. The Circassian cap of astrakhan hid his fair curls, and he wore a close-fitting tunic of the native cloth—the brown, fibrous stuff they call shyak.

On the day after his purchase of the horse, the Circassian regiment to which by Hamil's influence he was attached as volunteer received its marching orders and started northward, its band raising inspiring music. They passed fair tracts of peaceful country where over the broad flat pastures the cattle grazed, and the villagers drove their teams afield, and wide acres of maize, with its white hair waving in the summer wind, a sight of beauty. Then they came to the grass grown desert between the Rhodopes and the Balkans, and so on to the stern fastnesses of the hills. Sometimes the whole body of men would dawdle listlessly along, and others would go thundering along some rocky and precipitous pass at the wildest break-neck pace, as if the whole tribe had suddenly gone mad. When they got a chance to worry anything they took it, and bands of a dozen or so were continually prowling off to chase some domestic creature with hideous howls and whoopings and a storm of shots. They were provided with the Winchester-repeating rifle, and it was a never-ending joy to fire at anything. The small birds on the telegraph wires were a great attraction to them, and when the wires had been cut in half-a-dozen different places the officer in command entered his first protest by hanging a brace of his men, and so put a stop to the pet amusement of the rest.

To the mind of the untraveled youth the life was glorious, but there were many hours when the past lay heavily on the adventurer's spirit. There was never a waking hour in which his mind was absent from Inthia. She was his star of hope, and burned always with a pure and steadfast lustre. He was going to win fame and pluck back honor at the sword's point, at the cannon's mouth, in whatsoever dreadful conflict his mind could picture. The savage band thundered along whooping and shrieking in mere exuberance of animal spirits, and he would ride in their midst with teeth hard set, and every nerve and muscle rigid, sweeping in fancy towards the enemy's batteries.

The regiment rode in any order which happened to please its individual members. There was a discipline of a sort, no doubt, but to the English eye it was invisible. Men wandered off from the track as they pleased, scoured the adjacent country, and caught up their fellows sometimes after an interval of three or four days. Scattered twos or threes would gallop on ahead, and secure a day's idle freedom before the main body caught them.

One day at blazing noon the regiment came up to an old Turk who sat alone on the hill-side overlooking Orkhanie. He gave them news. Gourko's Cossacks had passed by in flying bands, and the Bulgarian villagers had grown insolent at the sight of them. Two Circassians had been shot this morning at the entrance to a Christian village near at hand. The commanding officer mounted the old man behind one of his troopers, and bade him act as guide. The main body deviated from the main route, and made for the village where their comrades had been murdered. Harry strung himself together in expectation of a piece of swift justice work, but he was prepared for nothing so murderously swift and stern as he was doomed to see. The village lay in a sheltered basin of the hills, and the word was given to surround it. That was well and good, and it was proper that the criminals should be allowed no chance of escape. But when a single shot was fired, and the whole circle plunged narrowing towards its center, with rifles pealing everywhere, making a ring of fire and death about the place, Harry's heart flushed with a passionate but impotent resentment against the barbarism of vengeance. Shrieking women bore their children hither and thither about the street. As he rode, he saw one drop and lie still. He sighted Hamil at a little distance and put his horse at best speed across the broken ground to intercept him, crying out that this was infamous, and a murder of the innocents. He crossed the line of his comrades at his own risk, and a ball sent his kalpack flying. He rode on bareheaded not knowing how narrowly he had escaped. They were in the village among the ricks, the open threshing spaces and the tumbledown houses; rifles cracking and ringing, and sabers gleaming everywhere. The wretched villagers rushed hither and thither helplessly, and were shot or sabered as they ran. In the crowded melee a sudden face flashed on him, white with terror and despair. He knew it in half a heart-beat, and dashed between it and the Circassian trooper charging with uplifted sword. The horses met, and clashed, and fell together. Somehow Harry was up again, sabre in hand, standing before the man he recognized. He shouted "Inglese! Inglese!" It was the only word he knew that could be of any service. There was a dozen murderous faces round him full of the lust of blood, when Hamil burst in amongst them, calling out to his blackguards to withdraw. They were in no hurry to obey him, and it was not until he had struck amongst them with his riding-whip, rating them like a pack of hounds, that they dropped back.

"What brings you here?" he asked.

"I am an Englishman," Ronald Morton answered "I'm traveling for pleasure."

He looked so little like it that the Circassian laughed aloud. The man was struck through and through with abject terror, and shook so from head to foot that he could hardly speak. His face was of a gruesome gray, and when he had given his answer his lips went on without his will babbling inarticulate sounds.

"Go back into that hut," said Hamil, "I will give you a guard."

Why His Wife is "Fidgety."

I have the best cook in the town,
Whose bread is delicious and white;
Her coffee is fragrant and brown,
Her pastry a perfect delight.
But she daily complains of the worry they bring—
She's my own darling wife, but a fidgety thing;

Your wife is worn out, and needs Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the only medicine guaranteed to cure debilitated women. How many over-worked American ladies we see with lack-lustre eyes and haggard faces, growing old before their time from those exhausting ailments that men know nothing of. They can be permanently cured by this remedy, as numberless grateful women will attest. Price refunded if it fails to give satisfaction in every case. See guarantee printed on bottle-wrapper.

Figgs—You have an independent income, haven't you? Diggs—Independent! Well, I should say I had. It has utterly ignored me for years.

A man's wife should always be the same especially to her husband; but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.

BORDER STATE BRIEFS.

Benton Harbor will have a pump factory that will employ 100 men.

The hotel to be erected at Saginaw is to cost not less than $50,000.

Sheep-killing dogs are proving a terror to farmers in the neighborhood of Sodus.

The L. S. and M. S. Railroad will have a new $12,000 freight depot at Lansing.

All the railroads of the State report a genuine boom in passenger and freight traffic.

The Kent county teachers' institute will be held at Grand Rapids July 20 to July 31, inclusive.

The Grand Rapids Driving Park Association cleared between $1,000 and $1,500 on the races last week.

West Saginaw thinks a $50,000 hotel will not be good enough, and the one proposed will cost $100,000.

Alpena is proving a Mecca for gamblers just now. The officials appear to be unable to cope with them.

Brenton Harbor people enjoy themselves by going to Chicago for $1 for the round trip, including berths.

The Sanilac county cheese factories consumed about 450,000 pounds of milk last month and manufactured 22 tons of cheese.

The big Armstrong factory at Petoskey, erected at a cost of $150,000 is running so far behind that it will probably soon be closed.

A cottage to accommodate 35 or 40 students is wanted by the Mount Holyoke Seminary at Kalamazoo. It will cost about $15,000.

A company has been organized at Kalamazoo with a capital of $10,000 to manufacture the Kalamazoo parcel carrier for bicycles.

The Industrial works at Bay City will increase its capital stock $50,000, provided local capitalists will take $25,000 of this amount.

A Bay City man will erect sanitary works midway between Bay City and Saginaw, provided he can make ten-year contracts with both cities.

About 190,000 pounds of wool were marketed by Iona county farmers this season, and the grangers are $50,000 better off than they were.

The Southwestern Michigan Poultry and Pet Stock Association is preparing for an exhibition at Kalamazoo. The date has not been agreed upon.

Wheat, oats, barley, rye and in fact all kinds of crops in Gladwin county are doing nicely, with the single exception of hay, which will be decidedly light.

The prize list and programme for the annual chrysanthemum show to be given in Bay City, Nov. 5 to 11, have been issued. The highest prize is $100 and the lowest $1.

Abraham Smolk, who was born at Johnstown, N. Y., in 1791 and has for many years been a familiar figure on Mackinac Island, died there Tuesday. He never used tobacco nor liquor.

The Northwestern Fair, which is the representative fair of Bay, Saginaw and Genesee counties, will not be held this year, because Saginaw is spending all her money for booming purposes.

A large paper mill is being erected at Berrien Springs. It will have a stone foundation and brick walls, and will be expected to turn out twenty tons of book and news paper every 24 hours.

The Alabaster plaster works will furnish all the plaster to be used in the construction of the World's Fair buildings. It is expected that about 15,000 tons will be shipped to Chicago this fall.

When Chester Fisher, of Oronoko, returned from Ann Arbor the other day, he saw his wife for the first time in seven years. He had been blind for that length of time, and was cured at Ann Arbor.

By the breaking of a whiffletree at Lansing a little daughter of August Farle had her skull fractured, and in consequence will probably die. She was watching a team of horses at work on a hay press.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—P. C. W. Gall is enjoying his holidays.

—John Woolway has resigned from the police force owing to ill-health.

—Ald. and Mrs. Skinner are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Miner, in Buffalo.

—Fred Wood, who has been visiting friends in London, has returned home.—[St. Catharines Standard.

—Rev. A. A. Durkin, O. P., St. Dominic's Church, Washington, D. C., is in the city visiting his parents and friends.

—Miss Walsh, Toronto, Miss McCleary, Chicago, and Miss Laura Springer, Detroit, are visiting Mrs. A. G. McVenn, Mill street.

—T. Williams, of London, assistant superintendent of the C. P. R., gave us a call on Monday. He was here in connection with the gravel question and other matters.—[Tilbury Times.

—Anthony Mansell, under arrest on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Harry Platt, has been granted bail on an order by Justice Street, provided he can give his own recognizances for $1,000 and find two sureties in $500 each.

—J. A. McFadden, jun., was in London Thursday night attending a Masonic gathering, and early next morning was taken suddenly ill. The doctor was summoned, and later on he was sufficiently recovered to come home, but will be confined to the house for a few days with an attack of inflammation.—[Stratford Beacon.

—Miss Nellie Cavenaugh, of Ingersoll, is visiting Miss Tatham, of this city.

—A number of young lads left yesterday to spend a short time in the Y. M. C. A. camp at Port Stanley.

—Mr. Guy Magee, of Chicago, formerly of this city, is visiting London relatives, accompanied by Mrs. Magee.

—Frank W. Simmons, of the American Express Company, New York, formerly of this city, is here on a short visit.

—Mr. R. A. Renwick, of the Hamilton Herald, late of the ADVERTISER, paid the city a brief visit Sunday. He is doing well in the Ambitious City.

John Egget appeared before the police magistrate yesterday on suspended sentence, charged with breaking a market by-law. The charge was withdrawn.

—The annual sports and picnic of the London Hunt will be held at the Kennels on Thursday afternoon. It is always one of the most enjoyable affairs of the season.

—The City Record, official journal of New York, contains notice of the appointment of John Frederick Cryer, formerly of this city, as a commissioner of deeds in and for the city and county of New York.

—Rev. M. P. Talling, of St. James' Presbyterian Church, left yesterday for his vacation trip. He goes to Buffalo, and down the Hudson, thence to Boston, St. John, N. B., and other eastern points of interest.

—Amanda Wilson, an old woman considerably demented, who has spent about 34 years of her checkered career in jail was sentenced to a year in Mercer reformatory, Toronto, at the Police Court yesterday. Vagrancy was the charge.

—Nicholas Hendricks, the fierce Indian from Moriaviantown, came up again at the Police Court yesterday on a charge of vagrancy, and was further remanded until Thursday. He will likely get a chance to return to his mother and brother.

—Geo. Slade was before the police magistrate yesterday charged with allowing his cow to run at large on the street. His children, wishing to play, tied the cow to a post, but on the appearance of Policeman Macdonald they quickly removed her. Judgment was suspended.

—Charles Lawerence, a well-known resident of this city, died Saturday at the family residence, 414 Pall Mall street, after eleven weeks' illness. The body will be interred at Dutton to-day, and the funeral will be attended by the Oddfellows, of which order deceased was an esteemed member.

—A yachting party of four leave Owen Sound on Saturday next for a cruise to Parry Sound and other points on Georgian Bay. The skipper of the yacht will be Mr. F. W. Merchant, M.A., principal of the London Collegiate Institute, and the other sailors will be Messrs. S. J. Radcliffe, J. Russell Stuart and A. Hugh Hipple, of this city.—[Stratford Herald.

—Mrs. Barbara Teetzel, wife of James J. Teetzel, of Detroit, died on Saturday at the residence of her sister, Miss McLardy, St. Thomas, in her 38th year. She had been ill about a year, and came to St. Thomas a few months ago. The immediate cause of her death was congestion of the brain. She was a daughter of the late Archibald McLardy, Southwold. She leaves no children. Three sisters survive her—Misses Maggie and Mamie McLardy, of St. Thomas, and Mrs. C. F. Adams, of this city.

—James Guymer was at the Police Court yesterday charged with violating section 3 of market bylaw 576. He sells fruits on the market and has extensions built under the wagon, but, as he says, not extending beyond the hubs of the wheels. Market Clerk Wilson disagreed, alleging that they were two inches beyond the ends of the hubs, a foot beyond the back of the wagon, and that there is a canopy on the top to keep the sun off fully ten feet wide. The case was enlarged until July 17, when the exact measurements of the extensions will be produced.

—Among the guests at the Hotel Cadillac is George E. Walker, recently of London, Ont., who is now a resident of Detroit, with headquarters in the Hammond building. He is associated with his father in the Essex Moulding Sand Company, whose property is at Harrow, Essex county. Mr. Walker is a very pleasant and capable young man, and already likes the people and and city in which he has located. C. W. Davis, of London, Ont., owner and proprietor of the Tecumseh House in that city, was at the Hotel Cadillac yesterday. Mr. Davis is a young man, but has the reputation of being one of the best hotel men in the Dominion.—[Detroit Free Press.

How to Keep Cool.

Everybody agrees that the best thing to do this hot weather is to keep cool. Well, this is the East Indian barracks plan: Pull down all the blinds to keep the sun out. Stretch wet cloths over the windows. Sprinkle the floor; no, have it sprinkled by somebody else. Have a row of big swinging fans in all the rooms, hitched together, so that one negro boy can work them all by pulling a string. If he goes to sleep, shoot him and ring for another. Wear no clothing except an undershirt and a pair of cotton drawers; have the boy sprinkle these all over every five minutes. Drink vast quantities of cool, not ice-cold, lemonade. Swear feebly at intervals at the boy and the climate.

Was the Marriage Ceremony Performed?

The George Hughes bigamy case was brought up for the police magistrate's consideration on Monday again. The only witness examined was Mrs. Gomersall, the mother of the defendant. She said she had been widowed three times, and that prisoner was a son by her first husband, Robert Caines. She knew her son's first wife, Mary J. Johnston, but was not present at the wedding ceremony, although they told her they had been married. This was about twenty years ago, and they lived together as man and wife for some time, two children being born as a result of the union. The second child lived and was at present at the Police Court. He afterwards lived with another woman named Isabella Macdonald, and they resided with witness in Michigan. The three came to London about fifteen years ago. Prisoner subsequently bought a tavern near Collingwood and the girl also left. They soon came back and said they had been married. They lived together up to the present and have had five children. The magistrate, after hearing this story, allowed bail, the defendant furnishing $1,000 of his own security, and two sureties of of $500 each from friends, Wm. Gould and John McGregor.

Bound To Tell It.

And this is the way it begins in the interest of other sufferers: 2026 Vine street, Philadelphia, Pa., U. S. A., Jan. 22, 1890. "Unsolicited allow me to add my testimonial to your grand and glorious remedy, St. Jacobs Oil. A short time ago my left ankle and foot began to swell and become nearly twice their natural size. The swelling was accompanied by pains almost unbearable, extending to the hip. Sleep was impossible. I finally used St. Jacobs Oil. I found relief from the first application, and a permanent cure after using half a bottle. I would not again be without it if it cost $5 a bottle. J. E. SILL." Such a remedy is beyond price.

WHY NOT?
You have corns, warts, bunions, moles or cancers. Why are they not cured? You ask a reasonable question. It demands a candid answer. You have it here: You bought a corn cure. You thought you had Barkwell's, but it was not the genuine; you got a counterfeit. It was no more use than water. We missed the sale of what you wanted. So far, it is your money gone; our money goes too. You get another and think it is the genuine. You have made a mistake, and we are in disgrace. More of your money's gone; more of our money is gone. Your corns are no better; our reputation no better. You make up your mind they cannot be cured. We have lost a customer. You have got hold of the wrong end of the fact. You have got hold of the wrong bottle. Both our moneys are gone. Not only our moneys are gone, but our opinions of one another are wrong. We don't know you by sight or name. You don't know us. We think "how dull you are to get an imitation when you might as well get Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure." And you think "what fools the manufacturers of that corn cure are to cheat so." Let's get acquainted with one another. Let's get acquainted with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. The manufacturer is not the unhandsome name you call him by. And you can't help it. Come on. Nobody deals more handsomely. Nobody ever loses a cent by getting Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure, but they always lose a corn. We never have any trouble except from these infernal counterfeiters. Neither do you with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. ywt

ONE METHOD OF STREET CLEANING

Thus far women's efforts in street cleaning have taken two distinct forms: the rational method by which union is strength, and the fashionable plan in which reliance is placed upon individual achievement. The latter is such a freak in its way that it merits detailed description: The unfortunate woman who voluntarily assumes the duties of street cleaner is swathed in a trailing robe of any costly or delicate fabric suitable for collecting dirt and filth from the sidewalks in a less ostentatious manner than by means of the Cincinnati brooms and rakes. White or light colored dresses trimmed with lace are preferred for this purpose, the lace being particularly serviceable in catching up small sticks, waste paper and other rubbish, while the grimy lower hem forms a striking contrast to the cleanly attire above it. Soft, pretty wool goods are also highly recommended as, being unwashable, the grimy effect so much sought after is permanently secured. Ladies adopting the profession of street-cleaning are earnestly requested to sweep off the main streets with their best dresses every day. A new broom sweeps clean, and the same is true of a new gown. Besides, as our most populous streets are those in which dust and refuse, cigar stubs, expectorations and other foulness most quickly accumulate it is only proper that they should be frequently cleaned. The only question is, how shall this be done? We ourselves prefer the Cincinnati method as being less expensive, more thorough, and decidedly more ladylike.—[From "Two Methods of Street Cleaning," in Wives and Daughters for July.

You Take No Risk
In buying Hood's Sarsaparilla, for it is everywhere recognized as the standard building-up medicine and purifier. It has won its way to the front by its own intrinsic merit, and has the largest sale of any preparation of its kind. Any honest druggist will confirm this statement. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy anything else instead. Be sure to get Hood's. d

Job once said the ostrich was the most foolish of all animals. The man who takes a pug dog out for its morning walk was not allowed to exist in Job's time.

Worms cause feverishness, moaning and restlessness during sleep. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is pleasant, sure and effectual. If your druggist has none in stock, get him to procure it for you.

"By their fruits shall ye know them." This is an indisputable truism; its applicability has a wide range. The 10 cent Norma cigar is the product of the H. McKay & Co.'s cigar factory. As they speak volumes for that establishment in a particular line of business. In these dens ns cigars nothing but the finest of material used, to a connoisseur are indispensable.
