

ONE DOZEN HAPPY LONDON KIDDIES

School's Out

DR. M. MACLAREN NOMINATED
AS PRESIDENT OF PHYSICIANS;
NEXT MEETING AT ST. JOHN, N.B.

Sir James Grant Made an Honorary Life Member of Canadian Medical Association—Dr. Frank Billings, of Chicago, Attacks the Methods of Handling Vaccines and Serums.

Dr. Murray MacLaren, of St. John, N. B., this morning received the unanimous nomination of the Canadian Medical Association as president-elect for the coming year. This means that Dr. MacLaren will be elected to the presidency at the next meeting of the association. The executive committee announced that the next place of meeting would be St. John, N. B.

In a brief speech, Dr. MacLaren thanked his colleagues for the honor conferred upon him, and expressed the hope that the pleasant, interesting and instructive session just closing would be duplicated next year in St. John. He made a hit when he referred to the cooling sea-breezes to be enjoyed down there.

This afternoon's session will be the closing one of the meeting, and will take the form of a clinical lecture by Dr. John B. Murphy, a noted surgeon of Chicago.

Londoners Thanked. The meeting in London has been in many respects one of the best ever held by the association. The lectures have all been of immense value to medical men, and arrangements made by the local doctors for the convention have been very complete and satisfactory. Appreciation of their efforts and of the efforts of the citizens in general to make the meeting a success was expressed in a resolution passed this morning, thanking the mayor and council, the local doctors and ladies, who assisted them, the hydro electric commission, and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Leonard for the large part they played in helping to entertain the visitors.

Sir James Grant Honored. Sir James Grant, of Ottawa, was honored by the association by being made an honorary member of the association for life, in view of distinguished services in the past. Out of the forty-six meetings he has missed only three.

The thanks of the association were also tendered the retiring secretary, Dr. Archibald, and appreciation of his tact, patience and executive ability expressed.

A medical clinic, conducted by Dr. Frank Billings, of Chicago, proved of intense interest to the large number of medical men who attended it. Dr. Billings dealt with the treatment of arthritis or disease of the joints.

Too Much "Vaccine." A number of patients suffering from affections of the joints were used by Dr. Billings in bringing out the points of his lecture. He was loudly applauded when he attacked the present methods of handling vaccine in the United States. Drug firms manufacture vaccines for nearly every known disease, and even go so far as to combine a number of cultures of various kinds to make a vaccine supposed to act as a sort of cure-all for disease. He was a believer in the use of vaccine, he said, it was without question valuable in the treatment of some diseases, but the manufactured vaccines were often entirely unsuited for the purpose for which they are sold, and were likely to have serious effects on the patient. He urged the doctors to prepare vaccine for themselves when a case seemed to demand its use. In the treatment of joint affections rest and a cheerful atmosphere were quite as essential as the vaccine he said. It was important that the patient be kept in a cheerful frame of mind and not allowed to become discouraged.

Care should also be taken to see that the mobility of the joints was not impaired, otherwise ancolosis would set in, and the patient lose the use of his limb. Ancolosis, or the growing together of the joints, was practically incurable except in its earliest stages. Dr. Billings remarks were loudly applauded by the doctors.

R. K. COWAN, local master of chancery, who died suddenly on Thursday evening.

Young London Nurse Buried at Winnipeg

[Special to The Advertiser.] Winnipeg, June 27.—The funeral of Miss Jean MacDonald, who died at St. Boniface Hospital on Tuesday, was held this afternoon at Winnipeg cemetery. She was a native of London, Ont., and had resided in Manitoba for six years. She was a nurse by profession.

TUG IN COLLISION
Loss Is $2,000 in Crash in Thunder Bay During Fog.

[Canadian Press.] Fort William, June 27.—The tug Bowman, towing a big mud scow, collided with the tug Dudley in a dense fog in Thunder Bay yesterday. Two thousand dollars' damage was done to the craft, and Captain George Taylor, of the Great Lakes Dredging Company, narrowly escaped drowning.

"SUCH A HOTNESS"
NINETY IN THE SHADE
HIGH MARK TODAY

And If You Are Sweltering Remember That "Everybody's Doing It."

Near Cyclone Thursday Routed Old Sol, But Only for a Few Hours.

A WEEK'S HOTNESS.

June 26.....	88 (highest)
June 25.....	88
June 24.....	82
June 23.....	83
June 22.....	79
June 21.....	72
June 20.....	68

For a week London has perspired, has flocked to the cool drink fountains, has fanned itself, bathed itself and alternately berated Old Sol and Juv. Pluv, who has interfered with picnics, camp sports and a few other things in the "too numerous to mention" category. During the same week the farmer has been griping for the alternate rain and heat spells bumper crops. Tip at Carling's Heights the Canadian militia from Western Ontario has been getting a real taste of life under canvas, with various atmospheric changes thrown in, in spite of the diaphanous and cream that so exercised one old campaigner.

The Hottest Yet. Yesterday was hot. Today is hotter. Yesterday 88 was as high as the official thermometer recorded. At noon today the "official" heat was 90 in the shade. It promised to go higher. With one eye cocked heavenwards the amateur weather prophet declared early today that it was going to rain. The clouds said that it would. They said that yesterday. They did more than say it. They "talked" rain several times. Each time they talked it rained like the proverbial "bucketful." Even at that there wasn't so much rain.

Thursday's Rainfall. With the total rainfall of last night added to that of yesterday, there is less than half an inch. A fall of half an inch is not surprising at this time of year, even though it did incalculable good to grain and grass crops throughout the country. At the official South London rain gauge the rainfall is recorded as .024 for last night, and .029 for yesterday.

Shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon there blew up a storm from the north that had every earmark of the cyclone variety of windstorm. It lasted over the city, however, with little more damage than a number of telephones put out of commission by the lightning, some trees wrecked, and similar minor accidents. The general appearance of the clouds, however, and the velocity of the wind that accompanied them, caused thoughts of cyclone cellars and similar refuges to come to the minds of the more timid.

One feature of the afternoon's storm was the fact that the thermometer dropped nearly 20 degrees in almost as many minutes. In less than an hour it had come down below 60 (unofficial thermometer) from its previous high mark of 88.

CITY OF TENTS
DISAPPEARS
Within a Few Hours the 1913
Camp Will Be Thing of Past.

ONE OF THE BEST EVER

Revelle will sound in vain Saturday morning as far as the soldiers who for the past ten days have been encamped at Carling's Heights. By that time they will all have reached their homes and the camp of 1913 will be a matter of history. The work of breaking up camp started early this morning, and before noon the camp grounds had begun to take on a deserted appearance, as row after row of tents were struck. By nightfall the big field will be changed from the animated and life of a military camp to a peaceful golf course. "One of the best we have ever held" seems to be the unanimous verdict of the officers with respect to this year's camp.

RAIN IN MANITOBA.
[Canadian Press.] Winnipeg, June 27.—There was a copious rainfall throughout Manitoba last night with great benefit to crops, which in most parts are badly in need of moisture. The outlook is greatly improved as a consequence.

YOUNG LONDON IS OUT TO PLAY

Nine Thousand Public School Children Have Put Away Books for the Summer—The Holidays Have Arrived.

Green fields, where lazy birds lay their big, speckled eggs in the gray-bird's nest, shady pools, where minnows bite at naked toes, vacant lots, where young Tecumseh engage in strenuous conflict, air rifles, fishing-tackle, sling-shots, boy scouts on cross-country treks, and giving life-saving demonstrations at summer resorts, Little Willie turning somersaults in the big hay mow at Cousin Johnnie's on the farm, while Aunt Mary is teaching little Ethel how to make apple sauce, oh, and green apples and wild black berries, and the birds and the flowers and the bees, for two whole months.

"School's Out." Now to sum up the meaning of this futuristic preamble is simply this: "Schools out." The public schools of the city close today, and the boys and girls will fling their school books aside until next September. No, literally being well trained, boys and girls as might be expected of pupils of the London schools, they will carefully put them away on the topmost shelf. This afternoon the teachers are reading examination papers and counting up marks. But the boys and girls themselves are through. They will anxiously watch for the results for a day or two, but already they are off to the music of glad holiday time.

Busy Playgrounds. Next week the supervised playgrounds will be the busiest spots in the city, and the boys and girls will be swarming like light-hearted, care-free butterflies, about the swings, may-poles, teeters, and sand piles. Nearly nine thousand kiddies will be released from the school room today, in numbers enough to make a small city.

PRESIDENT LEFT FOR FRANCE MID
THUNDER OF GUNS

Was Guest of Honor at Brilliant Ball at Buckingham Palace.

Heartiest Good Feeling Shown All Through Celebrations Attending Visit.

[Canadian Press.] London, June 27.—President Raymond Poincaré, after being the guest of King George and the British nation since Tuesday, left this morning for France amid a great display of cordial enthusiasm. King George, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, and his son, Prince Arthur of Connaught, together with a brilliant assemblage of court dignitaries, cabinet ministers, and military and naval officers, gathered at Victoria Station to bid him farewell.

Great crowds lined the streets from York House to the station and loudly acclaimed the president as he passed, for during his short stay he has made himself extremely popular.

Battleships Salute. The royal train placed at his disposal by the King took him to Dover, where he embarked on a French warship amid deafening salutes from a fleet of twenty-six powerful British and French warships, dressed in rainbow fashion with the French and British colors intertwined.

Several of the British battleships acted as an escort to the president across the channel.

A Brilliant Scene. The state ball, which the King and Queen gave at Buckingham Palace last night in honor of the French president was one of the most brilliant of the season's court functions. The guests numbered fully two thousand, and the glitter of uniforms and of ladies' dresses, in which elaborate jewelled embroideries were a feature, made a magnificent picture.

Queen Mary wore a gown of Indian gold and green spot tissue, with a deep patterned gold border outlined with diamonds and emerald embroidery, emerald and diamond suite, and the Order of the Garter.

Titanic Suit Settled $500 for Son Killed

[Canadian Press.] London, June 26.—The King's bench court today gave judgment in favor of Thomas Ryan, an Irish farmer who had brought suit against the White Star Steamship Company to recover damages for the loss of his son in the Titanic disaster. The judge awarded Ryan the sum of $500, which had been agreed upon, and the costs of the suit. A similar award was made in two other cases at the same time.

UNKNOWN THUGS
NEARLY KILLED
TWO G.T.R. MEN

Broke Brakeman's Legs and Beat Conductor With a Coupling Pin.

Mysterious Affair, in Which a Woman Figured, Is Being Investigated.

Hamilton June 27.—Railway detectives left for Jarvis today to investigate a mysterious murderous assault of two Grand Trunk trainmen at that place last night. The victims are James Carmichael, a conductor, and J. Farschweizer, a brakeman, both of this city.

Woman on Tracks. They were part of the crew on the 6:30 train, which was brought to a sudden stop at a crossing in Jarvis by the engineer just in time to avoid striking a woman. The conductor and brakeman jumped off and ran towards the engine to see what was the matter. They were about half the length of the train when the thugs jumped out from between two freight cars and attacked them.

Used Coupling Pins. It is believed that the assailants used coupling pins. Carmichael was kicked in the face as he lay helpless on the ground, and after breaking the brakeman's legs, the thugs kicked him until other trainmen, hearing the scuffle, approached. Both the victims were brought here, and will be laid up for several days. They could give no explanation of why the men attacked them.

St. Thomas Aldermen Will Discuss Steam Auxiliary Plant for Breakdowns.

The Toronto Telegram, the hydro-electric organ in its city, says on Thursday:

"The hydro-electric commission's inspection of the transmission lines have revealed a large number of faulty insulators. The force of men now at work are going rapidly over the system, which will necessitate the expenditure of $30,000 to put in good shape."

The St. Thomas Journal of Thursday says:

"The hydro was off for half an hour on Tuesday evening and today. The Journal was told that the trouble was on the high tension line. Street cars were tied up, moving picture shows interfered with, and other industries stopped for half an hour. No. 5 committee at its meeting on Thursday evening will probably take up the matter of providing an auxiliary plant to be used when such frequent breakdowns occur."

There was genuine sorrow in legal circles this morning at the sudden death of R. K. Cowan, local master in chancery and deputy registrar of the high court, on Wednesday. At the courthouse and at the county buildings, where his office was, the expression of sympathy and regret at the sudden demise of "Bob" Cowan came from the heart. He was possibly the most popular attorney in London, and his happy smile and genial manner had won for him a place in the hearts of his brother lawyers that will be hard to fill.

"Bob" Cowan's office is being filled temporarily by Edmund Weld, deputy clerk of the crown.

BOY DROWNS
IN THAMES IS REPORT

Police and Fire Brigade Notified, and Men Are Hastened to Dundas Street Bridge—Story Denied at Mineral Baths.

A boy was drowned in the Thames River at 3 o'clock this afternoon, according to reports received just as The Advertiser went to press.

His name could not be learned. The police and fire brigade was notified, and grappling irons taken to the bridge in preparation for searching for the body.

The London Sulphur Springs reported at 3:15 that there was nothing in the report. It had been stated that a boy was drowned, but it was a false alarm.

Collingwood Chief Predicts Arrest Before Night in Calbeck Case.

INQUEST STORY IS NOT CREDITED

Provincial Police Will Likely Present Some Important New Evidence.

[Canadian Press.] Collingwood, June 27.—That there will be an arrest made before night in connection with the shooting of June 19 of the wife of James Calbeck, Jun., was the opinion expressed here today by Chief of Police McLachlan.

The coroner's jury meets at 1 o'clock to receive the results of the investigation pursued here during the last few days by Provincial Detective Reburn, and the chief intimates that the evidence would be very important, and that the responsibility for the shooting would be fixed to an extent sufficient to warrant summary action.

As to the new developments Chief McLachlan and Detective Reburn were both reticent.

County Crown Attorney Cotter, of Barrie, arrived in town last night, and today conducted a private examination of the new witnesses secured, preparing his case for the jury.

Mrs. Calbeck, a woman of about 25, was shot through the body with a bullet from a 22-calibre rifle of an antiquated pattern. Her husband and her husband's father, James Calbeck, sen., were in the house at the time, and they called the neighbors and a doctor, stating that the woman had been accidentally shot by her son, James, aged about 15. The story was that the child was suffering from a toothache, and that the mother was sitting with him in the kitchen. The child was playing with the rifle, and with it resting on the stable, pulled the trigger.

Wanted an investigation. A strong feeling that the story should be investigated resulted in an inquest being opened on June 18 before Coroner Dr. McPaul, an adjournment being made later to permit of some inquiries by the provincial detective, whose time, apparently, has not been wasted, since the case developed important features. Those who were occupants of the house on the night of the shooting have been kept under a quiet police surveillance to insure their presence if required.

Public opinion in the town seems to favor the theory that the child was not responsible for the shooting.

The Calbecks were married about six years ago, and in addition to the boy, James, had a daughter of 12 years, while the woman at the time of her death was in a delicate condition. Calbeck had worked for the corporation and at other odd jobs, and his wife was a hard-working woman, who looked older than her years. John Birnie, K.C., is looking after the interests of the Calbecks in the case. The evidence of Dr. Arthur, who conducted the postmortem, will be heard this afternoon, and it is expected that at least one of the Calbecks will be recalled to the stand.

Fire Victim Had Monster Funeral

Thirty-five Thousand People Fled To See Caskets.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, June 26.—The funerals of Patrick Hammill, Webster Molson, John Forsythe and Michael McDermott, the four firemen who lost their lives in the Itzweil and Sarazin sash factory fire on Sunday, took place this morning, services being held in both St. Paul's Church for the protestant and in St. James' Cathedral for the three Roman Catholic firemen.
A procession, composed of representatives of the fire and police departments, military, schools and social lodges in the city and fire departments of surrounding municipalities followed the caskets to the churches, the streets traversed being crowded with sympathetic citizens.

District Chief Latimer, with three men of the Ottawa fire brigade, arrived in Montreal last night to take part in the funeral.
Last night the lying-in-state was held, when 35,000 people filed by the caskets containing the remains in the central station. Archbishop Bruchest and two priests offered up prayers for the dead during the evening while kneeling before the bodies.
Diamond Lodge of the Orange Order, last night passed a resolution of sympathy with the "heroic men who had sacrificed their lives in the discharge of their duty."

Shot Wife Dead, Then Turned Gun on Self

[Canadian Press.]

Vernal, Utah, June 25.—Crazed with jealousy, while the sun danced, the greatest of the Ute Indian festivals, was in progress last night, Tim Inch, which shot and killed his squaw, and then fired a bullet into his own head. As the braves were dancing, Inch, which the squaw approached the pole around which they were holding their festivities, and placed a bundle of sticks at its foot. A young brave bent over, as if to take some of the sweets, greatly enraging Inch. The squaw noticed his anger and ran away. Inch followed and shot her dead. The Indian picked up his dead squaw, carried her to his tepee and then killed himself. Several white persons, witnessing the dance, became alarmed at the tragedy and hurriedly left the reservation, fearing that the Indians would rise against them.

Eight Killed by Premature Blast

Victims Are All Italian Laborers Engaged on Construction Work.

[Canadian Press.]

Kingston, June 26.—Eight Italians are dead eleven miles from Parham, near Sharbot Lake, as the result of a premature blast explosion on the C. P. R. construction work early today. Michael Guirey, an Italian, and ten of his fellow countrymen were engaged in the work when the explosion occurred. The bodies were found and five missing men are supposed to be somewhere in the debris.
Dr. W. W. Sanders, coroner, will hold an inquest this afternoon.

AN EVENTFUL PASSAGE

Immigrants Tell of Thrilling Experiences Aboard the Ascania.

Passengers of the Cunard liner Ascania, who arrived in London yesterday morning, experienced one of the most eventful passages from the old London to the new that have occurred in some time. According to their stories the last chapter in an eventful voyage was reached yesterday, when a Grand Trunk immigrant special was wrecked at Actonvale, Que. Four coaches of the train left the rails and toppled over. No one was seriously injured, but many were badly shaken up and bruised.

The Ascania was three days late in docking. Three times the big liner stopped on her way across the Atlantic. The first was for icebergs that threatened to combat the passage of the Cunardier. The next exciting chapter was when a passenger named Bond leaped overboard to his death. The third unusual stop was for a fight that broke out among the immigrants, following a duel between two foreigners, who were wielding huge knives. Some of the steerage passengers of the Ascania were tickled through to this city and are now in charge of Immigration Officer John Riggs.

No Beef Trust But Heavy Export Trade

Alarm Over Argentina Situation Is Not Justified, Says Senator.

[Canadian Press.]

Buenos Ayres, June 26.—Responding to an interpellation by Deputy Atencio in the chamber today the minister of agriculture made the statement that he had investigated the situation with reference to the meat industry, but was not able to say that a trust existed in Argentina, as opposed to the Anglo-Argentina meat establishment, although exportation by American plants established in this country had increased.

He declared that since January, 1912, there existed a combination of all the establishments, some of which, however, had opposed its renewal recently. He added that the managers of the American plants declared that the lowest price of Argentina beef in England was accidental and averred that there was no combination.

The minister expressed the opinion that to limit exportation would be legal and asserted that the alarm was not justified. He said that the British Government had intimated that Argentina check the beef monopoly, and Argentina asked the British to authorize the import of beef on the hoof after inspection by an English official at Argentina ports. The minister also urged the organization of a co-operative society among the cattle breeders.

LITERARY NOTES

"Seven Keys to Baldpate," by Earl Derr Biggers, is a delightful romance tinged with excitement and abounding with thrilling adventures of seven novel, all in quest of absolute quiet and rest, and incidentally something more, which all hope to obtain at Baldpate Inn, an unfrequented hotel in winter in a secluded and remote part of the country.

The meeting of the seven individuals in grotesque in its humor, each person staunchly believing themselves to be the only inhabitant of the inn. This leads to ridiculous complications, and many and various thrilling episodes that are finally straightened out to everyone's satisfaction, and to two young people in particular. The story abounds in humor and pretty love sentiment runs throughout. The characters are vividly drawn, and the heroine is particularly attractive. Not in any of the recent best sellers has there been a more charming character, Mary Norton, newspaper girl, a lovable little party, with a golden mop, blue eyes and dimples, who puts through a beautiful scene for the paper in the last chapter. The small boy the writing man who won her was a "lucky guy." McLeod & Allen, publishers, Toronto.

"The Abyssal Brute," from the pen of Jack London, is a story of the ring graphically told, exposing the graft and crookedness of modern prize fighting.
Fat Glendon, the main character, is a young man with a clean, wholesome mind, and an enormous physique. He has been reared in the open by his father, a renowned pugilist, and his amazing attribute of fighting is due. He is taken to San Francisco, where he wins fame and laurels in bouts with other pugilists, and is won by his father's request the crookedness of pugilism is concealed from him. Finally he hears of the trick, and he is disgusted with the trickery and cheating connected with the game, which he thought to be honest sport. Fighting becomes repugnant to him, he decides to renounce it and go back to the open, where he can breathe the fresh air of the woods, and accompanied by the girl he loves goes home again to his father, but not before he exposes to the public the crookedness of the game.
Bell & Cockburn, publishers, Toronto.

LONDON, FRIDAY, JUNE 27.

THE JEANNETTE AFFAIR.

Now that consideration is to be shown to the Farmers' Bank sufferers, how about those Jeannette settlers of the St. Clair flats? Will the Whitney Government and especially its "able Mr. Duff," as a local contemporary calls him, lay behind the Borden-Crothers set in redressing wrong? In the case of the Dominion Government, the wrong was done not by the Government itself, which merely followed ordinary procedure. But this Jeannette business has been going on under a sort of patronage by Ontario officials.

When the affair was brought up in the Legislature, it was somehow smothered. According to Mrs. Shaw, the wife of one of the settlers, quoted in this week's Saturday Night, the Thames Valley Garden Land Company is still circulating in England for a fresh crop of victims to replace those who have given up. The Ontario Government's prestige has been invoked by the canvassers. They represented the agricultural department as "greatly interested in the work which we are doing at Jeannette." "It was Ontario's own Government agent who put several of us in touch with the company," says Mrs. Shaw. Yet the colonists' petition to the Legislature for relief has not moved the Government to investigate their case.

They were induced by the company to pay what seems a large price for land described as "well drained and ready for cultivation," were promised a house, good drinking water, natural gas, instruction, a completed sales organization and profits of $1,500 to $7,500 a year, in fact the farms were described as "Ready Made," with three rivers in close proximity. According to Mrs. Shaw, whose husband had resigned a commission as senior captain in the Royal Marine Artillery for "Ten Acres and Freedom," the land is "an almost treeless swamp, where thrive only weeds, burrheads and frogs." It appears that it has been tried before and abandoned by settlers. The water supply consists of floods from Lake St. Clair, or the Thames backing up, which do not seem to enrich like Father Nile.

A marine, who is an amphibious cosmopolitan, according to Kipling, might have been expected to thrive in such a region, but even Captain Shaw has failed. His wife reports that the frame houses supplied were "not weather tight," and "one family was literally washed out of bed when a thunderstorm came up at night." This was last summer, when it will be remembered there was no little rain. The three rivers where boating and fishing had been promised turned out to be "nothing but drainage ditches full of the foulest of water, and the fish taken out of them were so filthy that no one could touch them without serious internal trouble resulting." Drinking water had to be carried at one time for a mile and a half.

Mrs. Shaw's gloomy accounts are in keeping with the story written for the Advertiser some time ago by Dr. Lockhart McKenna, another of the colonists. He worked his "farm" for three months, and then like the others went elsewhere.

Some measure of responsibility rests on the Whitney Government for this episode. Just how much Government or company is to blame needs to be determined by an investigation. Judging from the way in which the matter was brushed aside by the Legislature, we should say that the Government does not want an investigation.

CONSULTATION WITH THE ADMIRALTY.

Mr. Borden's followers make a to-do over his policy being based upon consultation with the Admiralty. The Australian and Laurier policy rested on consultation with the Admiralty in 1911. Mr. Borden's upon a consultation in 1912. It might seem that the Admiralty advised what it thought the consulter wanted. But as a matter of fact, Mr. Borden set limits to the Admiralty's advice. He asked what Canada could best do "immediately." The view of the imperial authorities in 1911 was the expression of a comprehensive study of the whole defence situation. The Admiralty's policy does not probably depend upon the weather-vane, to reverse itself in a single year. Mr. Borden cheated the Canadian electorate when he promised to consult the Admiralty without saying that he would so limit the consultation as to reduce it to a farce.

EMIGRATION FROM BRITAIN.

It has been the custom in Britain in the past to encourage emigration. Philanthropic societies and individuals were induced even by those who did not assist them, when they undertook to provide a plan in some new country for the poor who could scarcely make a living at home. And it was not even thought necessary to send them to British colonies. Let them go to the United States, to South America, anywhere, so the burden of their support could be shifted from the shoulders of Britain. Of course, when the trend of emigration was towards Canada and Australia, conditions were thought to be improved. These people would not be lost to the Empire; they would be under the old flag still.

But the question has now arisen whether this has not been carried too far. Is this rush of emigration such a good thing as it was thought? The population of Ireland is decreasing; Scotland is not increasing, and England and Wales are growing at a diminishing rate. In addition to this, the birth rate in England is going down. With a lowering birth rate and an increasing emigration, Britain's population will soon be on the downward grade. This is the problem for the motherland to consider. At first sight it looks rather serious. Mr. Chiozza Money, a noted writer, expresses himself to this effect: "This could not proceed long without serious social effects. There would be a fall in national wealth and productiveness and an increased call for social expenditure; a reduced and enfeebled population would be called upon to ameliorate the condition of an increased proportion of the old and unproductive. That is what has already happened in Ireland; it is beginning to happen in Scotland."

This sounds ominous, but the conditions and prospects may not be as bad as they seem. There are certain elements which are perhaps overlooked. In the first place it may be noted that the decrease in population is altogether in the rural districts. The cities are growing rapidly. London has had an amazing development, until now, with over seven millions of a population, it contains nearly one-sixth of all the people in the United Kingdom. The other industrial centres are keeping pace with it. This is partly due to the natural trend in these days of young people from the country to the city in the hopeful spirit of adventure which characterizes youth. But it is probably more largely due to the fact that there is no room for them in the country; they cannot make a living there, and so gravitate to the cities, where conditions are really not much better for them, where they have to live in crowded slums, amid surroundings which dwarf both body and mind, and from which their only escape is emigration.

But that ought not to be. Britain is not overcrowded. There are other European countries more densely settled, but with less actual poverty. The motherland should be able to house and feed a larger population than it does. May it not be that there is too much unproductive land, that there are too many men with more land than they can occupy to any useful purpose? The Duke of Sutherland, who has just died, was the owner of nearly a million and a half of acres in Scotland. How much of that is under cultivation? There are other extensive landowners with vast acres tied up as game preserves.

We are glad to have as many people come from Britain to Canada as desire to improve their condition and are willing to work for it. And if the people in Britain cannot find work to do, or land on which to live, they should get out of the country as quick as possible. And it certainly cannot do that country any harm to lose people it cannot support; better encourage them to emigrate in their own interest, not less than for the good of the country they leave and the country to which they go.

"Far from the madding throng" is a large headline over a St. Louis paper's page of summer resorts. Gay accounts of festive throngs then follow, with pictures of fair ladies in droves.

The Hamilton Times advocates free trade with Great Britain in order to give the British seller a further advantage over the American, and redress the balance of our trade. We shall get no such patriotic move from the Rule Britannia Government.

Luther McCarty is not much loss to anybody. While he was spending $70,000 in the last eighteen months of his life, his wife worked as a servant in a restaurant. Prize fighting stands today stripped of all romantic glamor that it ever had.

The Chinese Parliament has big schemes in mind. It is proposed to build 60,000 miles of railroad in the next decade. The present mileage is only about 5,000. Take this in conjunction with the Panama Canal and imagine China's future trade development.

A Japanese baseball magnate is touring the United States. This is a sign of peace. But it must have tested Japanese politeness to entertain the visiting American teams of late. The games were well and cleanly fought. Japanese baseball teams are worthy opponents of the best.

Servia may be justified in claiming some of the territory assigned by the anti-bellum treaty to Bulgaria, on the ground that she has been blocked out of Albania and Bulgaria has gained Adrianople. On the other hand, the population of the territory which Servia demands is almost purely Bulgarian. There's the rub.

Some indignation is manifested over reports in American papers that Queen Mary had suppressed a book by Princess Patricia in Canada, and that it was somewhat cynical in tone. It would be good news that someone really had honored this country with a satirical treatment. We need it, and it would be immense fun to read it after being fed to death with booster talk.

Appropos of the article in these columns yesterday, a concession has been granted by the Brazilian Government to Japanese farmers of 150,000 acres of land, and 1,500 Japanese immigrants arrived there last month as the vanguard of a large colony. Peru is also seeking Japanese labor. If the United States will let the Japs alone in South America, they will find scope for expansion in a continent still mostly virgin.

A loud timbrel was sounded by Conservative papers a week or two ago for Senate reform. The echoes may still be reverberating somewhere beyond Winnipeg. Did not some Rogers Journal out there ask for his hero to do the work? He might do the rough preliminaries. Then would come a battle royal and imperial between the Premier's cruder following and the kid-glove element that would pull for a hereditary house.

"A MAN WHOSE WORDS WERE DEEDS."

[From "Mr. Morgan's Personality," in the July Century.]
A giant frame, an iron will,
A mind that sped as lightning speeds,
Clearing a way for wit less keen—
A man whose words were deeds,
Simple, sincere, accessible
To all that sought; and who betide
Him who before those piercing eyes
Flattered, evaded, lied!

And yet those eyes, so quick to blaze
And sear, were no less quick to bless;
For strength and courage in great hearts
Mate still with tenderness.
Honest, for honesty's own sake—
Loyal, for so his soul was made—
With one swift glance he chose his ground
And held it, unafraid.

Keen to acquire, to spend, to give,
Ardent in all things, small in none,
He joyed and sorrowed, loved and lived
And toiled till his task was done.

INDIANA "SWEATING STONE."

[Columbus Correspondence Indianapolis News.]
The "sweating stone" on the farm of John Owens, near this city, never fails to give a correct forecast of rain. Seventy-five years ago a barn was built on the Owens farm, and one of the stones used in the foundation is what is known throughout that part of the county as the "sweating stone." Usually a day or two before a rain this stone begins to sweat. Moisture oozes from it and trickles down the sides.
Yesterday morning the stone began to sweat, and Owens called some of his neighbors and informed them that there would be rain within a short time. Rain came in the afternoon.

Teddy's Application for Permission

New York, N. Y., June 27.—Colonel torney Charles S. Whitman, both have permission to carry pistols. Reports some time ago that they had applied for this permission were confirmed by Magistrate Corrigan when he told fellow-magistrates at a meeting in Brooklyn yesterday that in issuing the permits he had waived one of the chief requirements of the law and had asked neither of the applicants for an affidavit of good character. The magistrate forgave this irregularity and did not reprimand their colleague.

HEAVY ELECTRICAL STORM SWEEPED THE ENTIRE DISTRICT

Presbyterian Church at Dorchester Struck by Bolt—Port Huron Man Instantly Killed—Splendid Rain Was of Inestimable Value to Farmers.

the season, followed by a terrific electrical display and a heavy downpour of rain, swept over the whole of Western Ontario yesterday afternoon. Following one of the most oppressive and sultry days of the season, the cool evening which followed the storm was a welcome relief to those who had sweated through the afternoon. The rain thoroughly soaked the ground, and was of inestimable value to the farmers, especially in those districts where the pasture was beginning to burn up.
Before the rain came, the wind blew with almost cyclonic velocity, and out in the country many branches were blown from trees and a lot of grain was blown over.

INSTANTLY KILLED.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
Sarnia, June 26.—A very severe electrical storm passed over Sarnia this afternoon, but so far as is known did not do much damage. In Port Huron, across the river, the electrical display was much more serious, and an old man named Peter Noel, aged 73, was struck by a bolt of lightning and instantly killed.

CHURCH WAS STRUCK.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
Dorchester, June 27.—During the heavy electrical storm here yesterday afternoon, a bolt struck near the front end of the roof on the Presbyterian Church, and after tearing a hole passed down and came in contact with the gasoline pipes used to light the church.
A fire started at once. A volunteer brigade was on hand quickly, and after hard work succeeded in extinguishing the flames. The damage will amount to about $100.

CROPS IN GOOD SHAPE.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Kincardine, June 27.—Fields which a few days ago were beginning to brown rapidly and burn up so badly farmers had the greatest dangers of losing most of the crop, are now green and vigorous again as a result of the recent splendid showers, and the farmers are again in a most optimistic mood. Fruit promises to break all records in this district, and pasturers, while it is going to be short, will be better than was expected untill the rain came. Plums and cherries will be in such abundance as to more than supply the demands. Oats and other grains are coming along well.

COWS WERE KILLED.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Mapleton, June 27.—During the heavy electrical storm which swept this vicinity last evening, Jacob Cline had several fine cows killed by lightning. His loss will total several hundred dollars. Mr. Cline is a brother of Dr. Cline, of Clino.

PROBLEMS OF THE FAIR SEX SOLVED BY CYNTHIA GREY

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn as they are received. No letters can be answered privately.]

"Somebody's Mother."

Dear Miss Grey: There used to be a poem in our old Second Reader, entitled "Somebody's Mother." I don't know the author of it, but if you could possibly publish the poem or tell me where I could get it, I would be so glad. It is something about the children coming out of school, and a boy helping an old lady across the street corner. Perhaps it is familiar to you. If you haven't space in your column would it be possible to reprint the poem in the Poet's Corner? Thanking you,
AN OLD LONDON GIRL.

A—I believe I have a copy of the poem you desire, and I shall ask to have it printed on the Woman's Page some day shortly. There is scarcely room in this column. Call again, London Girl.

Wants a Cook Book.

Dear Miss Grey: I have come to you for help now, as I have never written to you, I wish you would give me advice as to what to do, as following:

1. What will take the dark circles under my eyes, and round my mouth?
2. Can you tell me where I could get the Galt Cook Book, and what is the price of it?
3. What would you think of a fellow who winks at a girl? I have often noticed fellows wink at my girl chum.
4. Do you think I done right the other night to let a fellow take me home, when I didn't know him? Hoping to see in print soon, and oblige, CUTEY.
- A—I. Dark circles under the eyes are usually caused by continuous eye-strain or a run-down system. Correct these, and the trouble should cease.
2. McLeod & Allen, 42 Adelaide St. West, Toronto, are the publishers. I believe the price is $1 with extra for postage. Might I, like the proverbial druggist, suggest "something just as good"—in fact, something I believe to be better? Advertiser subscribers may obtain the Smiley Guide to House-keeping for the sum of 50c, with 25c extra for postage. It is an excellent book and one I feel certain you would find helpful in many ways.
3. They are very bold.
4. Certainly not. Any girl who allows this is running a great risk of associating with undesirable people, and being classed amongst them.

Quotations of the Hour

"DR. MYERS (Immanuel Baptist Church), Chicago, Ill.: 'A school to instruct women how to vote is no more necessary than a school to instruct the men. Such an enterprise might have educational value, but it is no more necessary for one class than the other.'"

FRITZ SCHEFF: "Do you know if I had to live in a tenement and I had to do without everything else, I would still have about half a dozen flowers to care for. They would keep my mind off the dirt and gloom surrounding me, and would give me something pretty to live up to. And if I could not live in the country, I would go out of doors and rest my tired eyes on growing green things whenever I could. IF YOUR EYES ARE TIRED FROM LOOKING SADLY ON UGLY THINGS, HOW CAN THEY BE BRIGHT?"

JIM RICE (rowing coach of Columbia University): "Society women taking fancy cures to remove fat would be surprised at the results which would come from sitting in a safe, flat-bottomed boat and navigating it around in some quiet waters. They should get out into the open more and learn how to pull a pair of oars through the water."

Tea-Table Talk

"ELSPETH" contributes the following treatise on a pertinent subject of the hour, the "smoke nuisance" as apparent in the form of a male person exuding whiffs of smoke from pipe, cigar, or cigarette, as the case may be. Her remedial suggestion is the influence which girls and young women might exercise over users of the "weed" is quite worthy of the consideration of "Tea Table" readers.

The Nonsmoker

Slaves to the Habit. We often note with wonder why such a large percentage of our young men of the present day are slaves to the tobacco habit in some form or other. Indeed it seems to be a rarity to meet a youth of 25 years, or, alas, even younger, who does not use the weed more or less.

"If anyone who smokes this sit out on his or her piazza these warm evenings and watch the passers-by. He or she will be pained to note that not one out of 20, I'll venture to say, but will be using tobacco. If not addicted to the filthy habit of chewing the stuff, a cigarette will be in evidence, a cigar, or what is possibly even more common than either, a pipe of some make, shape, or material, briar, clay, and even the ancient corn cob not being considered too plebeian to hug affectionately and press into service.

Human Volcanoes. A group of young men together present the appearance of as many miniature volcanoes, or smoke stacks of an industrial factory, each belching out his quota of foul smelling smoke with ardor worthy a better cause. Do they consider it manly, or wonder, or are they already slaves to this habit, so hard to break free from. One is forcibly reminded of the old adage applied to tobacco smokers: "A man at one end and a little fool"ish youth at the other.

Nor are ladies considered any different, for even surrounded by girls we are sorry to note the lady still on "the job," keeping alive the precious spark of fire.

We are optimistically assured that this old world is growing better, but not with regard to the use of tobacco, as the age limit appears to be very lenient, and very few are too young; none are too old, to saturate their clothing, their system, and even their houses they occupy with the evil odor of nicotine.

How About Your Influence? It looks as though the young girls could do much toward suppressing this growing evil by discountenancing its use and users if they so wished. Let us hope an effort will be made to drown down the tobacco habit in all its forms.

To Hang Up Coat and Skirt Properly

It is a long cry from the days when women hung up their coats and skirts, when they were travelling. They like-wise hang their skirts upon the flat wooden clips that men use for trousers. The skirt is folded carefully at the waist into the exact length of the clips—the clip is slipped over these folds, the fastener pulled down tight and the skirt is perfectly and securely hung. On return from town with its dust and dirt, coat and skirt are well whisked before being thus hung up, so that they are ready to be donned at a moment's notice. Only in 16 ways can a tailor-made be kept fresh and smart and shapely. But the hangers are necessary for all sorts of dresses and waists, and for these it is pretty to cover the hangers with cotton wool by way of padding, and then to cover this again with ribbon or silk shirred on, and finish off with a bow. If desired, a little sachet powder may be sprinkled into the cotton wool.

Some Don'ts for Hot Days

Eat pork or any other "white meats." Eat much meat of any kind. Drink alcoholic beverages. Let the milk stand in the sun several hours before taking it in.
Keep the milk in the bottle it comes in, empty it into a pitcher or stone jug and put it in the icebox.
Break up ice to make ice water. Let the water cool in the icebox. Ice is likely to be full of dirt.
Run for that car. Take the next one.
Keep looking at the thermometer. Overlook the advantages of frequent tepid baths.

Daily Healthogram

After reaching the age of one month, children derive much benefit from sleeping outdoors in the daytime. This should be encouraged when weather will permit. In the summer time baby may start this happy habit.

One of the most surprising novelties of the season is the hat covered with white velvet rose leaves directly in the centre of the front. The effect is certainly unusual, yet it is not as striking and white checked gingham, which poets have lauded in many a verse. It covers many of the large, new, picturesque shapes, but is most successfully used on a large shepherdess tached a vivid red rose. The one shape, the entire hat, even the brim, being covered with a Delft blue and white plaid gingham. The crown is encircled with wide, white moire ribbon, prettily draped in black, where it ends in huge upstanding loops. A cluster of white grapes, nestles among the folds of the ribbon, and arranged it.

THE SEVEN FOALS

AS TOLD BY AUNT GERTIE.

CHAPTER V.

Jack pulled out the wine and water from his pocket as soon as he reached the step upon which the king was standing.

"Oh, you dear lad," said the king. "Indeed, you have watched the foals well this day. You have been true to your trust. You shall have the princess for your wife and half my kingdom beside!"

Immediately preparations were made for the great royal wedding. Just as the party was about to sit down to the bridal feast Jack excused himself, saying: "I have forgotten something. Please go on without me. I shall return in a minute."

He went out of the palace down to the stable, where the seven foals were standing. Then he cut off each one of their heads. He didn't forget to put each head exactly behind the heels to which it belonged.

As he did this, he and behold, the foals turned into princes, who stood all around him! Then they all walked back to the palace and into the feast room.

"Oh, oh, happiness is mine," said the king as he saw his long lost sons, and more wealth."

"You have already received half of my kingdom. Now I shall give you happy at that feast?"

The king had his sons back. The princess had a brave, true husband, and the poor boy, the son of the old couple in the woods, had riches and a royal wife!

"Oh, well, now they are princes and a royal wife! They can easily get more lands again. They can easily get more lands again."

SIDE LIGHTS ON MANY SPORTSBILL REIDY, CLEVELAND SCOUT,
COMING TO LONDON TOMORROW
TO LOOK AT DUNLOP AND NEALE

Is in St. Thomas Today to Look Over Bill Baker and Marlin Kopp—Has Heard Great Reports About Two London Players—Double-Header Tomorrow With Knotty Lee's Hamilton Club.

[BY JINX.]

Just a half hour before yesterday's game with Hamilton was to start, one of the worst thunderstorms of the season swept over the city, and in a few minutes the playing field at Tecumseh Park was a lake. Umpires J. Ira Davis and Jake Jacobson called the game off, and as a result a big double header will be played on Saturday.

This afternoon the teams will meet at Tecumseh Park in one game. It being Ladies' Day, a large number of the fair sex should be present.

Cleveland Scout Coming.

The first of the big league scouts, who annually make a tour of the Canadian League ball parks, will put in an appearance at Tecumseh Park on Saturday in the person of Bill Reidy, the former Brooklyn pitcher, who is now one of the Cleveland scouts. Reidy was in St. Thomas yesterday to look over Bill Baker and Marlin Kopp, but as the Saints and Red Sox had only played one inning yesterday when the big storm broke he did not get much of an opportunity to see either one of these men. Reidy will stop over in St. Thomas today, when a double-header will be staged by the Ortmans and Brantford team. It is likely Baker will pitch the second game so as to give the Cleveland scout a line on him.

PHILLIES DROP A COUPLE

Pirates Lost Close One to Cardinals, While Cincinnati Won Easily From the Reds.

New York, June 26.—New York took two games from Boston today by scores of 5 to 4 and 11 to 3. In the first game New York overcame a four-run lead and batted out a victory in the seventh, four singles, a pair of wild pitches, by Tyler, and Burns' double, which was made off James, netting four runs. Tyler did not allow New York a hit in the first five innings.

In the second game New York had everything its own way and the game developed into a farce after the fifth, when Hess was batted all over the field. Scores:

To See Dunlop and Neale.

Reidy's visit to London will be for the purpose of looking over Shortstop Dunlop and Outfielder "Oskee" Neale. He had intended staying in St. Thomas the three days, but Manager Ort, of the St. Thomas club, advised him to come over to this city and take a look at these two men. Both are promising youngsters, and if they continue to play at their present rate, should move into faster company by the end of the season. It is not unlikely that both will be sold before the season ends, as the big leagues are combing the minors at present for promising players, and any likely-looking ones are grabbed up without delay.

Halligan and Reidy Old Pals.

While in St. Thomas yesterday, Bill Reidy and "Oskee" Halligan, the umpire, held a reunion. Reidy and Halligan have not met since 1897. At that time Halligan was playing the outfield for Jersey City in the Eastern League, while Reidy was pitching for Brooklyn. The two teams played an exhibition game that year and Halligan, who was one of the best hitters in the Eastern League during his sojourn with the Jersey City club, pounded Reidy pretty hard. The two of them talked over old times yesterday, and Reidy admitted that "Oskee" was some hitter.

PIRATES LOSE BY ONE RUN.
St. Louis, June 26.—Coming from four runs behind, St. Louis took today's game from Pittsburgh by the score of 5 to 4, scoring two runs in the sixth and three in the eighth. Konecny's homer to left in the eighth came with two men on bases, and put the game away. Score: R. H. E.

REDS WON FROM CUBS.
Cincinnati, June 26.—Cincinnati pounded Cheney for 13 hits in this afternoon's contest with the Cubs and won the second game of the series 5 to 3. Brown, pitching in old-time form, was a puzzle to his former team mates, and the best they could do was eight hits and three runs. Score: R. H. E.

PHILLIES LOST TWO.
Philadelphia, June 26.—Philadelphia's winning streak was broken today, Brooklyn taking both games of a double-header, the first by 5 to 2 in 14 innings and the second by 4 to 2. Rucker, who pitched in grand style, in the first game, was forced to leave the field owing to the heat, after making a single in the 13th inning. Curtis finished out the contest and also pitched his team to victory in a duel with Alexander in the second. Scores:

IN TWO INNINGS AND WON

SCHUYLER WAS BATTED OFF THE MOUND IN SECOND—DUNN'S WILDLNESS COSTLY.

Peterboro, June 26.—After earning a run in the first today the Petes took seven in the second on six hits, a passed ball, and Dunn's wild throw to first, the catcher's wildness being responsible for three of them. The score was 9 to 7. "Doc" Burton, the Barrie recruit, led the Petes to a single for five innings, and one run in the eighth. Jack Fryer's double hit in the fourth, and Eehan drove in another. In the fifth Burton's two-bagger scored Fryer and Witte, who had singled, and Wright's triple, with Belting pitching, made two more. Dunn was chased by Empire Daly in the seventh. Score:

St. Louis Betat Them in Fourteenth Inning—White Sox Took a Game From the Naps.

Washington, June 26.—Washington dropped both games of a double-header to the Athletics here this afternoon by 11 to 2 and 10 to 3. The Mackmen batted Groom and Mallin all over the lot, and had little difficulty in solving the deliveries of Griff's relief twirlers. Plank pitched the first game for the Athletics, and allowed but five hits. Washington pounded Carlos Brown hard in the third inning of the second game, and Mack substituted "Chief" Bender, who for the second time in two days came to the rescue and held the Nationals safe. TIGERS LOST IN FOURTEENTH.

Detroit, June 26.—The Tigers lost the opening game of the series to the St. Louis Browns today by a score of 7 to 6 in a 14-inning contest. The Browns led the Tigers in the eighth by a 5 to 1 score, but the Junglers on three hits and an error pushed over four runs, tying the score. This ended the run getting until the 14th round, when three hits and an error gave the Browns two runs. Score:

DISGUISED AS BALL PLAYER
JOHNSON FLEES TO CANADA

Negro Fighter Jumps His Bail to Escape Jail Sentence and Is Now in Montreal—Crossed Border at Sarnia and Passed Through London on Wednesday Night.

Jack Johnson, the colored pugilist, will never again enter the United States. Last night he slept in a Montreal house, which could not be located, and he is now waiting for a boat, the name of which is unknown, to take him to Paris. He is accompanied by his wife, the notorious Lucille Cameron, and three men, two of whom are white.

Johnson was convicted in Chicago on a "white slave" charge. He was sentenced to one year's imprisonment, but was allowed out on $15,000 bail, pending an appeal. On Wednesday he jumped bail, crossed the border into Canada at Port Huron, and came to Hamilton by train, where he was met by a powerful motor car, which whisked him into Toronto. For several hours the car was stalled at the Lake Shore road, just outside the city limits, and Johnson sat in the tannery, the blinds of which were drawn. Johnson's attorney, who entered the car and rode with him to Hamilton, where the motor car was waiting.

"Yes, and to be further away from the cigars I have in my right pocket."

BOBBY HECK AND BILL BAKER BEST PITCHERS IN LEAGUE

Undoubtedly the two best pitchers in the Canadian League at the present writing are Bobby Heck, the London southpaw, and "Wild Bill" Baker, the London boy, who created a sensation by his great pitching in the earlier part of the season for St. Thomas. No other pitchers in the league have records as good as Heck and Baker. Heck has the better record of the two. Since he joined the London team on May 19, he has won 7 and lost 2 games, while Baker has won 7 and lost 4 and tied 1 game.

A GREAT DUEL WEDNESDAY.

On Wednesday afternoon in St. Thomas these two twirlers were opposed to each other, and although Baker held the London team to two hits, his own wildness and an error behind him lost him the game. Heck held the St. Thomas team to three hits and one run, the one run coming as a result of an error in the field. Heck's record in the league has been 7 wins and 2 losses, while Baker's record has been 7 wins and 4 losses and 1 tie.

THEIR RECORDS.

The records of the two pitchers to date are as follows:

BOBBY HECK.
Beat Brantford, May 19—5 to 1.
Beat Berlin, May 24—7 to 6.
Beat Ottawa, May 29—9 to 3.
Beat Brantford, June 2—3 to 1.

DRY BONES RATTLE LIKE CASTANETS IN JOE CANTILLON'S MINNEAPOLIS HOME FOR THE AGED.

Joe Cantillon, manager and owner of the Minneapolis baseball club, is a great believer in the theory that a man is of little use until he is 35 or older. In support of this Cantillon raised the old folks' home when he organized the Minneapolis baseball club and won the pennant last year, and the year before, in the American Association.

The only man the Millers (English for Minneapolis) lost in the draft last fall was Otis Clymer, aged 34, who was suspected by the other players of having cholera infantum every time he had a pain, because of his extreme youth. Cantillon spends more time training his collection of stars and grandfathers every spring than any other A. A. manager, because they need more time to get the rheumatism out of their brittle joints than clubs which carry an assortment of younger players. At Hickman, Ky., where the Millers train, and where Cantillon and Rube Waddell hibernated in the winter, the natives say that the noises about the camp the first few days, as the dried hinges are painfully unlubricated, remind the farmers for miles around that it is time to grease the wagon wheels. The Minneapolis team, under Cantillon, is a refuge for infirm ball players, but many consider Cantillon considerable of a fox, arguing that he is caring for the grandfathers now to have first claim to the grandchildren who will be ball players in a few years.

ENGLISH YACHT OF NEW DESIGN CAME IN FIRST

Beat the German Emperor's Speedy Racing Boat, the Meteor.

Charles Nichol's Boat Won Handily at the Big Kiel Regatta.

[Canadian Press.]
Kiel, Germany, June 27.—Emperor William was a competitor today in the Kiel regatta. He started on board his racing schooner Meteor at 20 minutes past 10 in the opening race for class "A" boats, the other contestants being the former schooner Westward, which was renamed the Hamburg II; the new English schooner Margharite of extreme design by Charles Nichol, and owned by G. Cecil Whitaker, and the Germania, owned by Dr. Krupp Von Bohlen Und Halbach.

The Italian royal yacht Trinacria arrived here today and anchored alongside Emperor William's Hohenzollern, where she will await the King and Queen of Italy, who are expected to reach here July 3 on their way to Copenhagen.

The Margharite showed decided superiority over the older yachts, winning without the assistance of their time allowance of 6 seconds. The Emperor's yacht was followed closely around the course by the German match boat Steiner in case of accident.

The Prince of Monaco was on board the Meteor as the guest of the Emperor.

SUPERANNUATION FOR TEACHERS OF ONTARIO

A Definite Announcement Soon From Government—Deputation Sees Ministers.

Toronto, June 27.—The scheme for the superannuation of Ontario school teachers has advanced another step. Yesterday morning a deputation representing the teachers of Ontario, waited upon Dr. Pyne, minister of education; Hon. I. B. Lucas, provincial treasurer, and Dr. Colquhoun, deputy minister of education, at the offices of the educational department to introduce the subject. In a general conversation it was intimated that the Government had the advantage of superannuation favorably in mind.

The deputation comprised Principal Scott, of the Normal School; Principal Embree, of the Jarvis Street Collegiate Institute; Principal R. A. Gray, of Oakwood, and Miss Semple, supervisor of art in Toronto schools. Mr. Scott quoted Principal Elliot, of Harvard, who in 1897 declared that professors preferred the smaller salaries of European universities, with old age provided for, to the higher salaries at Harvard, which had no superannuation scheme. Ontario was wasting money training teachers only to have them leave the service of education after an all too brief period, to enter other more remunerative walks of life. A superannuation scheme providing for teachers in old age would conduce to permanency in the profession.

The ministers agreed, and promised sympathetic consideration, with some definite step to result.

Heavy Price Paid For Rare Animal

Only Perfect Specimen in America on Exhibition at Washington.

[Canadian Press.]
Washington, D. C., June 27.—A perfect specimen of okapi, the only one in the western hemisphere, has been exposed to view in the National Museum. The okapi is the latest discovery in the animal kingdom, in which scientists believed discovery had been exhausted. The strange animal was found by Sir Harry Johnston, the British governor of Uganda in Africa, and was purchased for the museum in London. The price paid for the specimen is not given, but it is understood to have been heavy.

The animal is a peculiar looking specimen. With a frame somewhat like that of a horse, it sports zebra stripes, has the ears of a mule, and an elongated neck like that of a giraffe. The animal is merely on temporary display, and the taxidermists of the museum are preparing to mount it for permanent exhibition.

Overcome by Heat Falls From Window

Overcome by the intense heat Thursday evening a lady rooming at 69 Maple street, fell through an upper window, striking her head on the ground. Strange to say she was not seriously injured, and it was not even found necessary to call a physician, as she recovered in a few minutes from the effects of her fall.

Thunderstorms occurred last night in nearly all parts of Ontario and Quebec. The temperature was very high yesterday in Ontario, but moderate in all the other Provinces.

ONE WONDERFUL NIGHT

BY LOUIS TRACY.

"Go forward slowly until the buildings stop, Brodie," he said, for the two front windows were lowered, and the three men were crowded at them. "That fellow knew exactly where he was going. When you pull up, light the acetylene lamps, and we will take the other pair and search the wharf from which that car was shot into the stream."

Within a few yards the brakes went on with a jerk, and a tall crane loomed up vaguely in front. All four men sprang to the ground, and while the crane busied himself with the big lamps Curtis and Devar disconnected the smaller ones. They found themselves standing on a wooden quay, evidently used for the transshipment of building materials, and a quick scrutiny showed that the lane supplied the only practicable means of egress. Some gaunt sheds blocked one end of the wharf and piles of dressed stone cumbered the other. The tiny wavelets of the river murmured and gurgled amid the heavy piles which shored up the landing-place, and Devar's sharp eyes soon detected a corner of the gray-colored limestone round which a ripple had formed. In all probability the heated cylinders had burst when the water rushed in, and the explosion had tilted the chassis, else the river, necessarily deep by the side of the quay, would have concealed the wreckage completely.

From out of the mist came a white glare. Brodie had set the lamps going, and now the square section of the merged car became distinctly visible. A little to one side a large was moored, and the policeman, who had produced a serviceable looking revolver, determined to search it.

A plank spanned the foot or so of distance between the quay and the rough deck, and in the flurry of the moment, the three men crossed without warning the chauffeur as to their movements. The squat craft had two open well amidships, but there were two covered in ends, and McCulloch, taking one of the lamps, peered down into the nearest hatchway.

"If anyone is below there, speak," he said, "or I give you warning that I shall shoot at sight."

There was no answer; he knelt down, lowered the lamp, and peered into the "Empty," he announced, "now for the other one."

He repeated the same tactics, but the cavity revealed no lurking form within. Naturally, his companions were absorbed in McCulloch's actions, because they knew that any instant a blinding sheet of flame might leap out of the darkness and a bullet send him prostrate and writhing. Of the three, Curtis was most injured to an environment that was unusual and weird, and it was his first notion that the large was altering its position with regard to the white discs of light which the lamps of the automobile formed in the mist, and a splash caused by the falling plank confirmed his frenzied doubt.

One glance showed what had happened. Already they were ten or twelve feet above the quay, which stood fully two feet above the deck of the barge. Even while the fantastic notion flashed through his mind, a shoreward jump barely achieved by a first-rate athlete became a sheer impossibility.

"Good Lord!" he cried, almost laughing with vexation. "The barge has been cast off from her moorings!"

Devar and McCulloch greeted the discovery with appropriate remarks, but the exclamation called for deeds rather than words. The cumbrous craft was swinging wildly into the stream, displaying a light-hearted energy and ease of motion which would certainly not have been forthcoming had it been the object of her unwilling crew to get her away.

The whereabouts of Brodie and the automobile were still vaguely discernible by two fast converging luminous circles now some twenty yards distant, and the fact was painfully borne in on them that in another few seconds this landmark would be swallowed in a sea of mist and swirling waters. Curtis, accustomed to the vagaries of Chinese junks in the swift currents of the Yang-tse-Kiang, adopted the only measures which promised any degree of success. He ran to the helm, which had been lashed on the starboard side to keep it from fouling any submerged piles near the bank.

Just as he was about to put it hard a-port, and shouted to the policeman and Devar to bring a couple of boards from the floor of the well, and use them to sheer in the hulk to the bank. The night was pitch dark, the mist all on them like an impenetrable veil, and the wooded heights which dominated both banks of the river prevented any ray of light from coming to their assistance. Still, they had two lamps, which at least enabled them to see each other, and Curtis could judge with reasonable accuracy of the direction they were taking by the set of the stream. They seemed to have been toiling a weary time before the helmsman fancied he could see something looming out of the void. He believed that, however slowly, they were surely forging inshore again, and was about to ask Devar to abandon his valiant efforts to convert a long plank into a paddle and go forward in order to keep a lookout, when the barge crashed heavily into the stern of a ship of some sort, and simultaneously bumped into a wharf. The noise was terrific, coming so unexpectedly out of the silence, and their argosy careered dangerously under some obstruction forward.

No orders were needed now. They scrambled ashore, abandoning one of the policeman instantly extinguished the light of the other by pressing the glass closely to his breast when a rumble of curses heralded the coming of deck of two men who had been aroused from sleep on board the vessel by the thunderous onset of the colliding barge.

Two-thirty a.m.

New men or women of sympathetic nature, and gifted with ordinary powers of observation, can go through life without learning, at some time or other in the course of their careers, that circumstances wholly beyond human control can display on occasion a fiendish faculty of contriving patent honesty and apparent dishonesty—and that which is true of motive holds equally good in the case of conduct.

The three men standing breathless and unmoved on some unknown wharf on the left bank of the Hudson might fairly be described as superlatively honest persons, for had they done any act which could be construed as wrongful by the most captious critic; yet McCulloch's concealment of the lamp suggested something thievish and illicit, and though he alone could give a valid reason for exercising extreme discretion, because he realized, better than the others, what a choice morsel this adventure would supply to the press if ever it became known, both Curtis and Devar listened like himself with bated breath to the oaths and ejaculations which came from the after part of the moored vessel.

"Howly war!" cried one of the startled crew, "what's a' duntin' us—'s the devil's own batherin'—ram ay a' crew, an' vid an' elegant lantern shittuck on her many hide, 's ye please."

A ship's lamp bobbed up and down in the gloom, and another voice said gruffly: "Mighty job we had to get this out, or she would have knocked a hole in us. She seems to be wedged in good and light-hearted energy and ease of motion which would certainly not have been forthcoming had it been the object of her unwilling crew to get her away."

OCEAN-TO-OCEAN ROAD TO BE LAID

Ten Million Dollars Will Be Raised by Motorists for the Purpose.

Detroit, June 27.—Permanent headquarters have been opened in Detroit for the Lincoln Highway Association, which has been formed to secure the establishment of the ocean-to-ocean highway, a project started two years ago by Carl G. Fisher, of Indianapolis. Plans for the highway are rapidly nearing completion. Approximately $1,000,000 of the necessary $10,000,000 already has been subscribed.

H. B. Joy, president of the association, is on his way to the Pacific coast, making a preliminary survey for the cross-country route west of the Mississippi River.

Final plans for the transcontinental highway call for a concrete road wherever practical. Permanent improvements will be made on fully 2,000 miles of roadway.

This association proposes to co-operate with local communities in procuring the establishment of the highway or in the improvement or reconstruction of existing highways, which will constitute part of the route. Several states have taken steps looking to the construction of improved highways from east to west, which are to connect with the coast-to-coast route and constitute part of it.

A Rapid-Fire Campaign.
A rapid-fire national campaign for securing popular subscriptions has been started, and individuals and manufacturing concerns in all parts of the country are pledging their support to the movement. Negotiations have been opened with state, county and city governments.

Upon returning from his western trip Mr. Joy will leave for New York, where he will hold conferences with a number of prominent financiers, many of whom have offered to act as sponsors for the project.

The highway is to be a memorial to Abraham Lincoln. The name was adopted after the plan for a Lincoln memorial highway from Washington, D. C. to Gettysburg had been abandoned.

SHAFTS OF FRANCE COSTS 300 MILLION

Government Completes Inventory and Valuation of Many Monuments.

Paris, June 27.—All who know Paris will be interested in the result of a curious inventory just taken by the French Government. The objects inventoried were the national monuments of France. The actual cash value of each has been figured out so, now, for the first time it is possible for the visitor to this country to realize, when he stands before the Louvre, the Pantheon or the Elisee Palace, exactly what sum of money it represents.

Many of these figures are stupendous. Huge as they are they represent merely the brick and mortar value of each building and monument, as if, to quote the official report, "they were a question of constructing them at the present day, without taking into account the value of the site." Nor, it might be added, of the priceless value of the contents of the buildings.

As a result of this inventory, the whole value of the national monuments—from the Louvre itself to the least valuable one in the list—the memorial to Marshal Ney—is $79,245,498, or roughly $259,049,300. The most valuable item in the list is not the Louvre, but the famous former royal palace at Versailles, which, as a building alone, is worth $144,000,000.

The Louvre and what is left of the Tuilleries represents $56,874,400 and the famous Paris opera house, $10,000,000. One could, it seems, rebuild the Pantheon for practically the same figure, while the Luxembourg is worth $1,025,000, and the Elisee Palace, the residence of the president of Paris, a paltry $947,000.

Not so long ago a Frenchwoman millionaire desired to buy the Arc de Triomphe, which Napoleon built to celebrate his victories, and under which the Prussians marched into Paris, and to remove it on the ground that it interfered with the view from her bedroom window. She was informed that the arch was not for sale. Now it appears that the monument would have cost her, as it stands, $4,000,000.

GROWS BEAUTIFUL, HEAVY HAIR, WE PROVE IT--25 CENT DANDERINE

Destroys Dandruff—Stops Falling Hair—Cleans and Invigorates Your Scalp—Delightful Dressing.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair, soft, lustrous, freely waving and free from dandruff, is merely a matter of using a Little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knott's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed, and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp. Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itching scalp, and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a Little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

For All Occasions.

CURED ECZEMA LIKE MAGIC

Suffered for Years—Tried All Kinds of Treatment—Surprised at Results From Dr. Chase's Ointment.

You can soon tell when people are enthusiastic about medical treatment by the language they use. After experimenting with all sorts of ointments in a vain effort to obtain relief and cure, the writer of this letter was astonished at the quick and satisfactory results obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"It worked like magic," she writes. Indeed, it is surprising the healing that is often effected in a single night by this great ointment. The stinging and itching are relieved at once, and cure is only a matter of time and patient treatment.

Mrs. Clements, 18 Strange street, Toronto, Ont., writes: "I have suffered from eczema for years, and after trying all kinds of ointments, at last tried Dr. Chase's Ointment. It worked like magic and proved a God-send to me. I would advise anyone suffering from eczema to try one box and be convinced." Sixty cents a box, all dealers, or Edmonson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Union Sunday School Outing To Be Held From Ingersoll.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ingersoll, June 27. — July 17 has been fixed as the date of the union Sunday school excursion, which will be run to Port Stanley. This, for years, has been one of the biggest outings the townspeople enjoy. Business is usually suspended and a big percentage of the population go to the lakeside for the day. In the past two large special trains have carried the crowds, and it is expected the exodus this year will be as great as formerly.

"If the prevailing winds are from the east, we should have open water. Although the Karluk is smaller than Peary's ship, the Roosevelt, she carries more than twice the provisions taken by the Roosevelt. Our provisions are all concentrated. We have a little of the sort of supplies taken by whalers, such as salt beef and canned goods, preferring dried fruits and grains, which require much less room." Mr. Stefansson said that if the expedition met with no mishap and everything went according to schedule they would return to civilization in October, 1916.

May Cure Deaf Son of King Alphonso

[Canadian Press.]

New York, N. Y., June 27. — A cable from Madrid says: Don Jaime, the second son of the King of Spain, who has been deaf and dumb since his birth five years ago, is said to have greatly improved in health since his recent operation in Switzerland. When a book was dropped on the floor behind him he started perceptibly and it is now confidently hoped that he will be cured of his deafness, and perhaps in time taught to speak. The new Spanish prince, the latest child of King Alphonso, will be named Ferdinand Carlos.

STEFANSSON TO SPEND 3 YEARS IN THE ARCTIC

Explorer Arrives at Seattle to Make Final Preparations for Trip.

Plans to Make Extensive Investigations at the Mouth of the Mackenzie.

[Canadian Press.]

Seattle, Wash., June 27.—Viljalmar Stefansson, the explorer, who will lead the Canadian scientific exploration expedition into the Arctic next month, arrived from Victoria, B. C., last night, to make final preparations for his three-years' stay in the Arctic.

Tuesday Mr. Stefansson, Dr. R. M. Anderson, the biologist, who will be second in command and James Murray, Oceanographer, will board the steamship Victoria and leave for Nome, Alaska, where they will join the party of twelve scientists, who left Victoria on the exploration ship Karluk ten days ago.

Mr. Stefansson accompanied from Victoria, where he superintended the dispatching of the Karluk by J. F. Hicks, an official of the Esquimaux navy yard. Mr. Hicks came to Seattle to assemble equipment, shipped from the east too late to be sent north, and to purchase additional supplies for the expedition. These will be sent on the Victoria to Nome, where they will be transferred to the Karluk and to the gasoline boat Alaska, which will be used as an auxiliary to the Karluk, and will carry Dr. Anderson and eight of his fellow scientists to Victoria Island, where they will undertake a complete scientific examination of the land.

"Without a doubt the Karluk is the best equipped exploration ship ever sent to the north," said Mr. Stefansson.

Plan Exploration.
"But what the results of the expedition will be I cannot forecast. We are going to explore a large area north of the mouth of the Mackenzie River. We shall go farther north than a ship ever has sailed in that quarter. We cannot foretell what we shall find. We do not know whether we shall find ice and if we do, we do not know that it will be inhabited. If it is inhabited, it is certain the people will be a tribe of Eskimos, but there is little probability of there being any people that far north even if there is land. We are not going out to look for people, but to explore the vast region that now is a blank on the map."

Leave July 20.
Mr. Stefansson expects to leave Nome on the Karluk about July 20, and to reach Point Barrow, the northernmost point of Alaska, by the end of the month. From Point Barrow the Karluk and the Alaska will sail to the mouth of the Mackenzie, which the explorer hopes to reach by Aug. 10. From the Mackenzie the Karluk with Stefansson aboard will sail northward,

PARTY OF JAPS WERE CHASED BY CALIFORNIANS

Effect at the Present Critical Time May Prove Very Serious.

Tense Situation Has Not Been Helped Any by Racial Clash.

Riverside, Cal., June 26. — The anti-Oriental sentiment of the citizens of Hemet, a little mountain town, ten miles from here, may lead to international complications with Japan.

A party of Hemet people drove out of the town a party of Korean apiculturists who had been engaged by orchardists near here. The Asiatics were not maltreated, but they were escorted to a train and forced to leave at once.

People Pleased.
Later the mayor and several prominent citizens repudiated the expulsion of the Koreans as illegal, but the great majority of the people commend it. When told by the ranchers who engaged the Orientals that they were Koreans, and not Japanese, the leaders of the mob said: "That makes no difference; they are Asiatics and we don't want either them or the Japanese."

The secretary of the Japanese Association of Southern California telegraphed the facts of the case to the Japanese consul-general in San Francisco, and as Korea is a Japanese dependency, it is expected that the consul will demand protection for these men.

Unpleasant Situation.
Washington, June 27. — The Japanese embassy here received a report of the expulsion of a number of Japanese subjects from Hemet, Cal. While full details of the incident are not known, it is felt that such an occurrence is just what both Governments had hoped would not come up during the discussions of the California land law controversy.

It has been felt from the first by those in positions of authority in the administration that one of the gravest dangers of the situation was the possibility of clashes between whites and Japanese either in California or in Japan.

It is realized that if the incident at Hemet was really the outbreak of racial antipathy that the Japanese Government will be in a position to make the situation embarrassing for the United States. That the persons expelled claimed to be Koreans is not regarded as altering the case materially, as all Koreans are now citizens of the Japanese Government.

Coal King's Daughter Was Firing Post Box

Cardiff, June 27. — Mrs. Mackworth, wife of Captain Humphrey Mackworth, of the Royal Monmouths, and only daughter of David Alfred Thomas, the coal king, who was killed in a pillar box, was arrested last night at her residence and conveyed in her own motor car to the police station at Newport, charged with setting fire to a pillar box.

Mrs. Mackworth, after spending four hours in a cell, was allowed out on bail, furnished by her husband. She will be arraigned for examination today.

Graham-White Flew From Paris to London

London, June 26. — Graham-White made a flight from Paris to London on a hydroplane today. He left the de Jatte, near Paris, at 5:50 this morning and followed the course of the Seine. He reached Havre in two hours, and thence followed the coast to Boulogne, where he descended at 10:35 and crossed the Channel later to Dover. After a rest he proceeded round the Kent coast, then followed the course of the Thames to Putney, where he arrived at 7 this evening.

GOUSTING STRIKERS

[Canadian Press.]
Nanaimo, B. C., June 26. — The first break in the strike, which since May 1 has existed in the coal mines of Nanaimo district, has been made by the Pacific Coast Coal Company, owners and operators of the South Wellington mines. The output has already reached 70 tons daily.

The management has ordered the striking miners out of the company's houses, which as soon as vacated will be filled with non-union men, who will be given employment in the mine.

FRISCO REBUILT

Four Hundred Millions Spent Since the Big Fire in 1906.

San Francisco, June 26. — With the filing today of an application for a permit to construct a cottage, building application since the fire of 1906 reached a total of approximately $400,000,000.

This is in rough figures the amount of the city's loss of property in that disaster. Today's application is numbered 50,000, the series dating from the first one issued after fire destroyed a large part of the city.

TWO KILLED

Auto Crashed Into Railing of Bridge
[Canadian Press.]
Chicago, Ill., June 26. — H. A. Gregory, manager of a circulation bureau, was fatally injured, and Miss Minnie Bristol was drowned early today, when their automobile crashed into the railing of the Jack Knife Bridge in Lincoln Park. Miss Bristol was thrown into the lake by the impact and went down before a policeman in a shanty nearby and two fishermen could reach her. Gregory died on the way to a hospital.

PAINFULLY CRUSHED.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
Leamington, June 26. — A young man named Harry Butler met with a painful accident at the H. J. Heinz Company's factory this afternoon. His hand was crushed in a stamping machine and jammed in so tight that instant amputation was avoided by a narrow margin. Parts of the heavy machine had to be broken away before he was liberated.

Waited All Night To Get Homesteads

Farmers Are Mad Because Lands Were Given to Applicants by Letter.

Cobalt, June 26. — Treatment which the pioneer farmers of Hearst are alleged to have received from the crown lands agent there, after waiting all night in a thunder and hail storm on the steps of the recording office to procure the homesteads, is arousing indignation.

It seems that the reason that they were unable to get the farms they were after was because these had already been applied for by letter, in some cases two or three farms having been applied for in this way at one time by people who are not known at Hearst. They had been told repeatedly, it is said, by the agent that the first man to file for a particular piece of land would get it, and they were dumbfounded when they found their patient waiting had been of no avail.

A particular case is that of a man named Smith Ballantyne, who has lived near Hearst for the past three years, and had squatted there, clearing three acres. He was turned down in this fashion, and there were seven other others in line behind him. The department in Toronto has been approached on the subject, and Crown Lands Agent Anderson has been asked for an explanation.

Man of Mystery Gets 15 Years in Kingston

[Canadian Press.]

Sault Ste. Marie, June 26. — Sentence of fifteen years in Kingston was today pronounced by Judge Britton on Fred McGreggor, found guilty of manslaughter for killing Fred Morin in a Blind River barroom in March last. The judge said the jury had taken an extremely merciful view of the case. The prisoner is a man of mystery. He resolutely refuses to say where his parents or his wife are beyond that they are in Alberta, and the only information regarding himself since his incarceration is that he is a graduate of Edinburgh University. While awaiting trial he made a desperate attempt to escape, with the aid of a dummy revolver. The turnkeys thought it a real gun but threw themselves on him, and he was backed into his cell. As a marvel of ingenuity, even showing tips of bullets in the chambers.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Amherstburg, June 26. — While bathing in the reservoir with three companions at New Canaan last evening, Alfred Pink, aged 18, a popular young man, was seized with cramps and drowned. His friends tried desperately to reach him before he sank, but were unable to do so. The body was recovered two hours later.

HOTEL BANKRUPT

Historic St. Denis Has Liabilities Now
Estimated at $55,000.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, June 26. — The old Hotel St. Denis, a survivor of days that were, was thrown into bankruptcy by creditors today. The liabilities are estimated at $55,000, assets at $15,000. The hotel stands at Broadway and Eleventh street, nearly opposite Grace Church, and ranked perhaps next to the Astor House, recently closed, in historic interest.

WILL EXTEND LINE

Pacific Great Eastern Plans to Build Into Alaska.

[Canadian Press.]
Vancouver, B. C., June 26. — Sir Richard McBride announced yesterday that he expected within two years arrangements would be made for the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway into Alaska, making a thorough route north from Vancouver. Present construction plans of the Pacific Great Eastern will carry it north only as far as Fort George, 450 miles from Vancouver.

FRUIT GOING WEST

Shipments From St. Catharines District Will Exceed Last Year.

St. Catharines, June 26. — Considerably over two hundred carloads of fruit from this point will be shipped to the Canadian West this year, according to President Robert Thompson, of the St. Catharines Cold-Storage and Packing Company, who recently returned from a trip to the west. Last year one hundred and ninety carloads were shipped by this co-operative concern from the warehouse. This year this amount is expected to be exceeded by at least twenty-five carloads of fruit at the storage plant without trouble, but the capacity has been about reached, and the matter of enlargement is being considered.

PETERSON--BELL

Pretty Wiarion Girl Becomes Bride of Former Alisa Craig Man.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Wiarion, June 26. — The wedding of the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Peterson, was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday afternoon at three o'clock, when their daughter, Arlene Laurie, was married to Mr. James Stewart Bell, E. A. of Markham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bell, of Alisa Craig. The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. J. M. Nicol, of St. Paul's Church, took place in the library, which was beautifully decorated with daisies and vines. The bride was handsomely gowned in a heavy cream satin, made empire style, with lace yoke and long train, and wore a beautifully embroidered veil. Her bridal bouquet was roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Marjorie Peterson, the bridesmaid, wore a blue satin, and carried pink roses. Mr. John Bell, of Richmond Hill, was groomsmen.

After the ceremony the wedding party and guests were photographed on the veranda. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. and Miss Bell, of Alisa Craig; Mrs. Kerr and little daughter, of Bramford; Miss Edith Walker, of Hamilton; Mrs. Robertson, of Teeswater; Mrs. Robertson, of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Reid, of Owen Sound. A reception followed from 4 to 6, which was largely attended.

DEAD DUKE WAS BIG LAND OWNER IN SOUTH ALBERTA

Duke of Sutherland Had Been Seriously Ill For Some Time.

Had Greatest Faith in Canada, and Invested Huge Sums
In West.

London, June 27. — The Duke of Sutherland died at 1 o'clock this morning at Dunrobin Castle, Sutherlandshire.

The Duke of Sutherland, well known in Canada, was one of the first British peers to acquire large tracts of land in Western Canada, and he was in consequence a frequent visitor to the Dominion. His last visit was made last summer when he travelled to the Pacific coast and considered the advisability of purchasing more land. On a previous occasion he came to Canada in his steam yacht Catania, which lay for many weeks in Toronto harbor awaiting his return from his trip to his western possessions.

Held Western Lands.
The Duke of Sutherland originated a western colonization movement and co-operative farming system. With a view to carrying out this plan he acquired his great western holdings of fertile land at Brooks in Southern Alberta, and formed the Southern Alberta Land Company. He laid out many ready-made farms with outbuildings and homes and interested tenants of his estates in Scotland and brought them to Canada where they eventually would become owners of these farms. Numbers of other farmers throughout Great Britain were also brought to Canada by the company's agents, and after being employed in improving the land and learning Canadian methods, succeeded in acquiring similar farms. As the farmers in the country became more interested in the company's operations it was found necessary to secure more land and a large area lying beside the original purchase was bought.

Co-Operative Plans.
It was the duke's idea to have the various owners of these farms co-operate and assist each other during the harvesting and sowing seasons. In this way there would not be the fewness of laborers which farmers in other sections of the west experienced at the time of the harvest. The last visit of the Duke of Sutherland to Canada was made with the intention of acquiring another large tract of land in Alberta, and of still further increasing the operations of the Southern Alberta Land Company and the colonization movement.

In connection with these enterprises the Duke of Sutherland proved to be one of the foremost advertisers of Canada in the British Isles, and was the means of securing directly and indirectly the investment of much British capital.

Known in this country as a keen business man, he was recognized in Great Britain as the head of an ancient family. He was the fourth duke, was Earl of Sutherland in the peerage of Scotland, a baronet of England, and a Knight of the Garter. He was born on July 29, 1851, was lieutenant of the Second Life Guards, and sat in the House of Commons as member for Stafford before he succeeded to the dukedom in 1892. He afterwards held many county offices, such as the Lord Lieutenancy of Sutherland and the presidency of its Territorial Force Association. He was mayor of London in 1895.

Stafford Duke's Heir.
In 1884 he married Lady Millicent St. Clair-Erskine, daughter of the fourth Earl of Rosslyn. He leaves two sons and one daughter. The Marquis of Stafford, the heir to the dukedom, was born in 1888, and married in 1912 Lady Ellen Gladys Butler, daughter of the Earl of Lancaster.

The Duke of Sutherland, whose family name was Sutherland-Leveson-Gower, was descended from the Scottish Earl of Sutherland, whose title dates from 1290, but was said to have existed in 1057. In 1703 the head of the family was created Baron Gower, in 1746 the title of Earl Gower and Viscount Trentham in the peerage of the United Kingdom was created, and in 1786 the title of Marquis of Stafford.

In 1833 the second Marquis of Stafford became the first Duke of Sutherland, and it was the second duke who assumed the additional name, Sutherland.

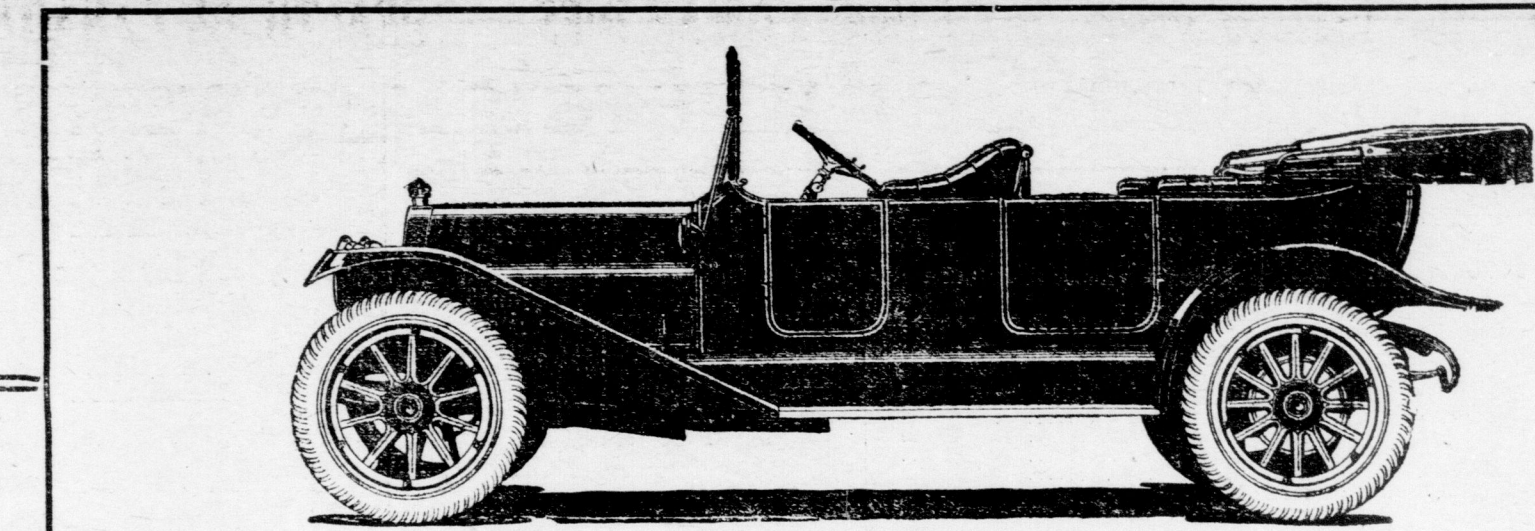

[T. P.'s Weekly.]
Lord Northcliffe, or as most people still call him, "Harmsworth," once met a sub-editor in the corridor, and in accordance with occasional practice stopped him for a few words of conversation.

"How are you getting on?" he asked.
"Excellent, thanks."
"How long have you been with me?"
"About three months now."
"What money are you getting?"
"Five pounds a week."
"And you are quite happy and contented?"
"Yes."

"Then you are not the man for me. I don't want any member of my staff to be happy and contented with five pounds a week."

That is typical. In a book called "Adventures of a Newspaper Man" (Smith, Elder, 6s.) there are many stories of newspaper life. The author is Mr. Frank Dillot, editor of the Daily Citizen.

The New Style.
Undoubtedly Harmsworth originated the new journalism, which with all its limitations is alive. It encouraged young men and threw them out without mercy if they did not fit in. A huge syndicate has arisen that influences twenty million people a week. Such enormous power betokens a remarkable man, and this is how Mr. Dillot describes the Napoleon figure whose big battalions march to his command: "Picture a squarely built man, heavy in the shoulders, who always walks quickly with short steps, a man with head at once massive and boyish, with a great square forehead, over which a lock of hair drops pendulously; Bismarckian chin, a big mouth, which sinks at the corners, an aquiline, well-formed nose, and widely opened eyes, which hide thoughts and passions instead of reflecting them. There he is externally. Yet the description conveys little. It is mood which transforms the man. At all times, energy flickers from him like lightning, but as a rule, it is not seen."

Power of Knight Greater Than Poppet Valve

Knight Engine vs. Poppet Valve Engine

In our previous advertisement, we referred to the test of a 38-h.p. Knight engine before the R. A. C. of Great Britain, and the 38-h.p. Poppet Valve engine before the Automobile Club of America. Today's advertisement deals with the greater power developed by the Knight engine.

Knight Engine

38 h.p. R. A. C. rating.
Maximum h.p. attained, 57.25 h.p. for 5 hours.
Average h.p. maintained for 132 hours, 54.3 h.p., or 141 per cent of its rated load of 38 h.p.

Poppet Valve Engine

Six-cylinder 38 h.p. A. L. A. M. rating.
Maximum h.p. attained, 44.9 h.p. for three minutes.
Average h.p. maintained throughout 300-hour test, 35.7 h.p., or only 93 per cent of its rating of 38 h.p.

CONCLUSIONS

The Knight engine showed 20 per cent greater maximum power than the Poppet Valve engine. It developed this maximum power (of 57.25 h.p.) for five hours, as against the Poppet Valve engine's maximum power of 44.9 for only three minutes.

The Knight engine developed 50 per cent more h.p. than the average h.p. maintained by the Poppet Valve engine. The proportion being as 141 per cent is to 93 per cent in favor of the Knight engine.

This settles the question of the relative efficiency of the two engines.

Remember, too, that this efficiency was attained by the Knight engine four years ago. The six-cylinder Poppet Valve engine of today cannot equal it—Whereas the Knight engine of today has developed to a point of even greater efficiency and power than it attained four years ago.

We want every owner or prospective owner of an automobile to watch for and read these advertisements, because for four years we have claimed for the Knight engine greater power than any Poppet Valve of like rating. The comparative figures of the two tests prove how fully our claims have been justified.

nevertheless he is an entirely different man on different occasions.

But let it not be thought that this apparently impersonal force, tossing aside men like banana skins, is a Scrooge. There was, it is said, a member of the staff who had been acting as his private secretary, and he was getting very fatigued with the work. Alfred Harmsworth looked at him one morning, glared, and said: "You are run down. You are not well. You must have a holiday." The man muttered that he would be able to get along all right. Alfred Harmsworth refused to be contradicted. "You want a holiday," he said fiercely, "and you've got to have it. Take six weeks off at once. Go today." Stammering, the man protested he did not want a holiday. "I know what it is," said the chief sternly, "you've got no money to go away with. That's what it is. Don't tell me. I know what it is. Very well, here's a check. Now go off and rest yourself for six weeks."

Blame Mrs. Pankhurst If Her Death Results

London, June 26. — The case of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, came up in the House of Commons again today, when Mr. Jowett, Labor member for West Bradford, asked if the Government was prepared to face the possibility of her death if the prison treatment was continued.

Secretary McKenna replied that the prison authorities have done their utmost to induce her to eat, and that she alone would be responsible for any consequences because of her persistent refusal to take nourishment.

Serious Charges in Lobby Investigation

Chairman of Union Pacific Board
Tells of Efforts Made.

[Canadian Press.]
Washington, D. C., June 26. — Robert Scott Lovett, chairman of the board of directors of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, told the senate "lobby" investigating committee last night that a long-continued and determined effort had been made to have Edward Lauterbach, a New York lawyer, retained by his company "to grease the wheels" in Washington, and prevent unpleasant agitation in Congress against the dissolution plan of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific systems, ordered by the supreme court, and now before the Department of Justice.

Judge Lovett made no charge that any corrupt methods had been used to secure the employment of Lauterbach. He did swear, however, that someone had urged him to be Congressman Borden, of New York, had urged through the telephone, the retention of the New Yorker, and had suggested the likelihood of difficulty in Congress, which might be averted by his employment as a lobbyist.

of Sympathy.

at Once.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, June 26. — Gonzalve Desaulniers, K. C., has been literally inundated with letters and messages of sympathy and felicitation on the occasion of the act of the ecclesiastics in excluding him from the St. Jean Baptiste literary gathering of Tuesday evening, because he has offended the church.

Sympathy, because in such cases, Mr. Desaulniers' interlocutors regretted that what they deemed an insult, has been directed against him in his capacity as a leading French-Canadian literary man and member of the bar; felicitations because many admired the stand which Mr. Desaulniers had taken in directing to advantage an eleventh hour compromise, whereby, as he put it himself, he would be allowed to make a back-door entry to the literary speakfest.

Writes Archbishop.
In the meantime, however, Mr. Desaulniers has addressed a letter to his grace the archbishop, asking that the latter express in writing his reasons for taking the action his grace is alleged to have taken in the matter. Mr. Desaulniers will await his grace's reply. He will in return make a reply in writing. He has also communicated with the Provincial Government on the subject and has made a protest against the action of the ecclesiastical authorities in excluding him—a citizen and ratepayer—from an institution which is subsidized by the funds of the public. The St. Jean Baptiste Society will also take up the question of repudiating the action of some of its members in bowing to the order of the church.

EVERY FLY GONE IN WHOLE STATE SAYS FLY HUNTER

Expert Is Now On Way to Show
Other Places How It Is Done.

Pure Food Men All Over the Country Are Greatly Interested.

New York, June 26.—James H. Wallis, who is known in the far west as "Idaho's flyman," arrived here yesterday with a challenge to all and sundry eastern states to show as many flyless back alleys or spreading acres as he can boast of in his own buzzless town of Boise.

Mr. Wallis has been trapping the flies out there for years, and he says he has got them about all trapped. Now he is going down to Alabama to better hunting grounds for flies, and incidentally to tell the people of that southern community how he has made a flyless state out of Idaho.

Swatting Helped.
"It wasn't all done by swatting," said Mr. Wallis, when a reporter sought his views about the fly-swatting industry that has replaced the hunting of grizzlies and mountain lions. "There were several other methods, but the swatting gave us good sport while it lasted."
To show what the other methods were, Mr. Wallis produced a book which bore his own name on the title page. It was a book about fly-swatting and fly-hunting and fly-extirpation in general.

"Seventy-five thousand of the little books," he said, "were given away to the children of Idaho. That's why we can boast of our Buzzless Boise, and all the other joys that come from living away from the pests of fly time."

Taught Children.
"The book taught the children how to do it, and they attended to the rest. No, it isn't for sale. The state of Idaho owns it and the state is shipping them free to Cuba, and to the Philippines and Alaska, and almost everywhere else."

"Comforts of life." Why a steak you order in an Idaho restaurant you can eat with the absolute knowledge that not a fly has perched upon it anywhere west of the Idaho state line.

The statement seemed rather sweeping and on being asked to explain it and tell what guarantee he could give to go with it, Mr. Wallis admitted that out in his country he was many things besides a fly extirpator. His card explained all, for it stated that he was state dairy and food inspector and sealer of weights and measures as well.

"What we can guarantee about our restaurant steaks," he said, "is that we don't let them come across the border till we know they're covered up with unbleached cloth. We surely stimulated the trade in unbleached factory cloth among the Omaha packers. At first they couldn't see it, but when we stopped a few trainloads of meat and sent it all back, they gained the idea that they better cover each piece."

"There isn't a butcher shop in Idaho where meat is on display in windows. That's the second stage of the proceedings, for we have traced the route of the beef from packer to consumer and we demand that the cover be kept on all the way. The butcher would be arrested who would display meat in the window and the sentiment of the country wouldn't tolerate such a practice any more."

"Going after the flies was just one activity that makes our state today. I am willing to assert, the finest example of a pure-food state in the country."

No Bleached Flour.
"We read about the danger from bleached flour from a Government report. I called every miller in Idaho into a convention. Some I found had just installed bleaching machinery at a cost of $4,000. I allowed there would be no more bleaching. They talked it over for a while and decided to agree to that. Today you can't buy a pound of bleached flour in the state. So we have other joys than living in a buzzless capital like Boise."

"There were some fine, large times pursuing our milk supply back to the source. Not a drop of milk is sold in Idaho now that is not bottled right at the dairy where it is produced. We do not allow bottling anywhere except at the dairy. And we published the picture of every dairy that was dirty and it kept. Alongside of them we published pictures of dairies that were decently kept. And, of course, the dairymen did more out of a sense of pride or a sense of shame than they would have done out of a mere duty to obey a law they didn't like. If we find bottles of milk with sediment in them we just seize it and sell it for pig feed or destroy it."

Got the Photos.
"To get the pictures I had all my inspectors armed with cameras. And one day the cameras came in pretty handy. A big merchant, who didn't like the idea of throwing things such as we condemned away, put up a big sign over his store. The pure food fakers are in town. Beware of them."

"Our cameras noted that down, and now the pictures are chief evidence in a $10,000 criminal libel suit. You see, we can't afford to have some people get the notion they can laugh at us."

"In your eastern country, have your pure food people ever done anything like this for you? Have they ever stopped a through train and forced the dining car chef to throw most of the food out onto the right-of-way? That's what we had to do to teach the railroads that the pure food idea applied to their dining cars as well as to other places where people eat. In Idaho now you don't have to worry over what you're getting on a dining car, and there was good cause to worry till we stopped a train or two."

Fast Service, Toronto to Winnipeg, via Grand Trunk Railway, Northern Navigation Company and Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

"Steamship Express" leaves Toronto at 10:45 a.m. each Monday, Wednesday and Saturday via Grand Trunk Railway, stopping at Hamilton, Brantford, Paris, Woodstock, Ingersoll, London and Strathroy arriving Sarnia Wharf 4:00 p.m., making direct connection with the Northern Navigation Company's palatial steamers leaving Sarnia Wharf 4:15 p.m. for Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Port Arthur and Fort William. Steamer leaving Sarnia Wharf Mondays does not call at Port Arthur. On the arrival of steamers at Fort William, special trains of the highest standard leave that point at 4:45 p.m., via Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, arriving Winnipeg 1:45 a.m. next morning. The service afforded by this route is the finest in every respect and includes Parlor-Cafe, Parlor Cars and Coaches between Toronto and Sarnia Wharf, excellent service on the steamers of the Northern Navigation Company, including the Hamonic, the finest and fastest steamship on the Great Lakes. Standard sleeping cars (electric lights in lower and upper berths), dining cars and coaches on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, also Standard sleeping cars to Sault Ste. Marie and Sarnia.

When Napoleon was in Moscow says a recent book of travel, he stabled his horses in a church. "The Russian nation has since forgiven him for that act of sacrilege," The Germans also treasure a grudge against Napoleon for turning the Cathedral of Cologne into a barracks. Yet these acts were probably not intended to be sacrilegious, for another recent book says that "it is among the many things to the credit of Napoleon that, as soon as he came into power, he restored all the desecrated churches of Paris to their original uses as places of worship."

CHICAGO WOULD ABOLISH NOISE

Health Committee Directed to Take Up Subject in All Phases.

RACKET CAUSED DEATH

Efficiency of Workers and Health of Windy City People Is Imperiled.

Chicago, June 26.—Suppression of all unnecessary noises in Chicago is being sought for this city by council. Ald. Willis O. Nance, an eye and ear specialist, has obtained unanimous consent for the passage of an order directing the health committee of which he is chairman to take up the subject in all its phases and to recommend ways and means to reduce the racket that he said had given Chicago the reputation of being one of the noisiest cities in the universe.

"We may not be able to compel the milkman to wear rubber soled shoes," he said, "or to force our neighbor to put a muffler on his early morning rooster, but there are scores of noises that can be eliminated entirely, or reduced to a tolerable minimum."

Death Caused by Noise.
He based his argument almost entirely on the question of health. Noise, he charged, is responsible for discomfort, deafness, and even death.

"Chicago today," he said, "is reputed to be one of the noisiest cities of the universe. The order presented directs the committee to take up for consideration the question of the suppression of unnecessary noises, to investigate their causes, and to endeavor to recommend ways and means for their elimination."

"It is admitted, I believe, by all, that the noise in Chicago is entirely unnecessary. It is permitted to exist on account of a large extent at least of the indifference of the public and public officials. Most noises are superfluous and serve no useful end. On the contrary, they are highly detrimental to health. In the case of nervous individuals it is not infrequently fatal."

Noise Produces Deafness.
"Unquestionably it has much to do with the production of deafness. There are in Chicago approximately 50,000 sick people every day, many of them suffering from some nervous disorder, who require and should receive all of the consideration it is in our power to give."

Industrial efficiency in Chicago today is probably reduced 25 per cent in certain localities by the more or less hum-drum of useless noise.

"We are taught by modern sanitarians to keep our windows open night and day to avoid tuberculosis and pneumonia. We have no protection from the noise of the street and the factory."

"Our eyes are protected by nature by eyelids; our ear drums have no such protection. It is a question if our lives are not being shortened indirectly by the ceaseless abuse of our nervous system as the result of city noise, much of which is obviously unnecessary."

Work Done by Other Cities.
"Many large cities have taken this subject up seriously, and much good has been accomplished."

Berlin, a city of about the size of Chicago, and likewise a commercial and manufacturing centre, has become one of the quietest large cities in the world. The steam whistle, the huckster's cry, the shriek of the locomotive and the loud rattling of wagons is never heard in this municipality.

In Lowell, Mass., where 18,000 persons are employed by ten large corporations, no whistle is required to call or dismiss their employees. In Atlanta an ordinance prohibiting the blowing of locomotive whistles has been in effect since 1881.

Some of the subjects which the committee on health could take up for consideration, I believe, would be the better regulation of steam whistles—factory, marine, and locomotive—and the automobile bell, the street car gong, the locomotive bell, the street car gong, the automobile horn, the roar of the elevated trains, elimination of the "flat wheel" of the trolley car, better anchorage of ill-adjusted machinery, muffling of the pneumatic riveters, abolition of the cobble stone pavement, careless packing of heavy metallic merchandise and a more positive enforcement of the recently-enacted ordinance prohibiting the automobile open muffler.

Phone Revision Deferred.
The council received and deferred for action at the next meeting the telephone revision ordinance. It was accompanied by the ordinance creating a telephone bureau to be conducted in the city hall. This was approved by the committee on gas, oil and electric light at an afternoon meeting.

The bureau is to be directed by a "telephone commissioner" under the jurisdiction of the city electricians.

For Two Years SUFFERED SEVERE PAIN IN THE BACK.

Many people fail to understand the significance of a lame, weak, sore or aching back.

When the back aches or becomes weak it is a warning that the kidneys are affected in some way.

Take notice to the warning and cure the backache on the first sign, for if you don't do this, serious complications are sure to arise, and perhaps develop into Dropsy, Diabetes or Bright's Disease, the three most deadly forms of kidney trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills go right to the seat of the trouble, cure the back and prevent any further trouble from the kidneys.

Mrs. D. J. McInnis, Carleton, P.E.I., writes: "For two years I had a severe pain in my back. I was so bad that when I would stoop down I could not straighten up for quite a time. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they helped me to get on my feet. I had used two boxes, and now I am completely cured. I think they are the only remedy for disordered kidneys."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents a box, a box for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

When ordering direct specify "Doan's."

MILITARY BILL HITS INCOMES

Germans Earning Over $1,250 Will Have to Pay Big Tax.

REQUIRE $250,000,000

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, June 26.—The Imperial Parliament read a second time today the German military contribution bill, the purpose of which is to meet the non-recurrent cost of $250,000,000 in connection with the increase of the German army.

The measure has been greatly changed from the original bill proposed by the Government, which contemplated a levy on owners of property valued at over $2,500, with an incidental tax on big incomes.

It now hits also persons earning salaries, as it taxes incomes of $1,250 and upwards on a graduated scale of from 1 to 8 per cent.

The increased armaments of Germany, according to the Government's financial estimates, will be largely a rich man burden, as $40,750,000 of the $250,000,000 is to be derived from persons worth $250,000 and over, and $23,550,000 from those with incomes over $25,000 per annum.

Strawberry Social at Masonville

A very pleasing and profitable event took place on Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Knapton, Masonville, when a strawberry social was held under the auspices of the Masonville Sabbath School, many hundreds of people being present from the neighborhood and city. The grounds were beautifully lighted with Chinese lanterns, and from the top of the 60-foot windmill floated a large and handsome Union Jack. The tables were bountifully laden with strawberries and cream, sandwiches, pies and cakes, provided by officers and members of the school. A booth, where ice cream, peanuts and candy were sold, occupied one corner of the grounds, and the proceeds were most gratifying.

Mr. Knapton, superintendent of the school, introduced the chairman of the evening, Mr. Joseph Brown, of London, at the same time expressing his satisfaction at the kindly patronage manifested by all present.

DRANK POISON

Vaudeville Actor Suicided While Chatting With Friends at Club.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, N. Y., June 27.—Albert Schlicht, a vaudeville actor, 33 years old, who was known on the stage as Al Bellman, formerly of the team of Bellman and Moore, committed suicide early today at the Vaudeville Comedy Club. He suddenly drank poison while in the billiard room of the club with his brother and several friends, who were unable to save his life.

ALL LAMBETH OUT TO ANNUAL PICNIC

Over One Thousand People Journeyed to Port Stanley on Thursday.

GETS BIGGER EVERY YEAR

Sunday Schools of Westminster and Delaware Also Present.

Over 1,000 people went to Port Stanley Thursday on the Lambeth Civic Holiday excursion. The first item on the program was a baseball game between Littlewood and Sharon, which was won by the Littlewood team by a score of 14 to 7. Another game was scheduled for the afternoon, but owing to the rainstorm was called off. The teams intending to play were Tempo and Lambeth. One of the other interesting items on the program, the tug-of-war, was also called off. In spite of the inclement weather in the afternoon the picnicers enjoyed themselves to the full. The weather in the morning was ideal, and everyone was having a good time when the rain descended and deluged the town.

The lake was rather rough, but many took a dip. An outing on the steamer State of Ohio was planned for the evening, but when the storm commenced it was decided to call it off.

Bigger Every Year.

The outing was inaugurated by the trustees of the village of Lambeth and the board of trade of the same place. It is due to their untiring efforts that the holiday was so successful. This is the first year that all the Sunday schools in the townships of Westminster and Delaware have been invited. Next year the outing will be bigger, brighter, better than ever. The committee in charge consisted of Messrs. G. Carley, J. Kelly, W. Earle, S. Barnattine, J. Campbell, G. Van de Linder. The superintendents of the various schools were also on the committee. They are Messrs. Hanlon, Upthegrove, Branton, Jones, Siskale and Rev. R. J. Garbutt, Mrs. Neil Campbell, Mrs. John Dale, and Rev. Mr. Cranston. The schools joining with Lambeth were Trinity and Methodist, Lambeth, Glendale, White Oak, North Street, Littlewood, South Delaware Presbyterian, Sharon Methodist, Delaware Union School and Tempo.

CORRESPONDENCE

Why the Applause?

To the Editor of The Advertiser: I notice in the report of the medical association meeting in regard to the finding of a committee, re Dr. Friedmann's treatment for the cure and prevention of tuberculosis, that when the report of the committee was read and a resolution condemning it of Dr. Friedmann and his cure passed, there was great applause. Now, what I want to ask is, why applause? Would it not have looked better, and have been more consistent with the professions of these gentlemen, who concur in this association, had they expressed regret that it has proved a failure, these gentlemen who appear so anxious to prevent disease? Yours, etc., WILLIAM ELLIS.

TRIUMPHAL PARADE

Mother Got a Bargain in Chairs and Family Carted It.

It was a heroic little procession and a triumphal one in its own way. First there came the little foreign mother, stooped and tired-looking, with a tiny baby in her arms. She had crossed the street in advance of the others, and the street cars and the traffic had separated her from them. The little boy of perhaps 4 years who came next, carrying a bundle of sticks, and despite the repeated signalling of the mother and her encouragement shouted across the street in her native tongue. At last the little fellow cautiously ventured across, carrying the chair, which was bigger than himself. It was a very cheam, common kitchen-chair. It was painted red and had probably been purchased for a few cents at the auction sale on the Market Square. Reaching the sidewalk the little fellow set down the chair and climbed into it and sat down to rest.

Next came another boy, a year or two older. He carried two chairs, painted red like the first. A third boy dragged an express wagon made of rough boards, unpainted, and laden with a few yards of old linoleum, so old that it folded quite easily in squares. Bringing up the rear was another tired woman pushing a baby-carriage, in which a girl cooed, and alongside of which a little girl of a few years toddled, holding on to the side of the carriage, with one hand, and carrying her baby sister's little red bonnet in the other. A third woman carried another red chair. The woman with the baby-buggy was tired. So was the little mother that headed the procession, but it was near the noon hour, and perhaps her husband, who earned nine a week in a big factory, would treat her roughly if dinner were not ready. Who knows whether he would condemn her economy at buying kitchen chairs and old linoleum at auction sale prices, or chide the bargain-hunting propensities of the "eternal feminine" that more likely actuated the purchase.

"SWAT THE FLY" SEASON IS WITH US ONCE MORE

And Everybody Should Take a Slam at the Pesky Insect.

I don't care to be a hero. And wear medals on my breast; I don't want to be a comic And be famed for quip and jest; I don't hanker for a million; Sordid riches are my dread, I just want to be protected So the flies won't bite my head.

"Swat the Fly" season is here again. It is more than here. The annual pronouncements against the terrible fly are being made by the medical health officer and the other health officials. Fly traps, fly screens, fly poisons, and fly swatters are holding full sway.

Crusade Effective. According to the authorities where ever the fly crusade has been carried to a proper degree of completeness it has never failed to have the predicted end—elimination of disease and contagion carried on the tiny feet of the terrible fly. Stables, uncovered garbage piles, and such like places, are condemned as the breeding place of the fly. It is expected that the inauguration of an adequate garbage system will eliminate many of the favorite breeding places of the plague but eternal vigilance is being urged as the only effectual way to combat the inroads of the fly.

I desire no fame or honor, In the fields of politics, I despise the game, by ginger, I seek not the world to conquer, Or to be mighty in the hunt, But let me be a private soldier, In this great fly-killing stunt.

HOME BANK DEPOSITS SHOW HEALTHY GROWTH

During Past Year Increased a Million and Half—Assets Jump Up.

Toronto, June 27.—Senator James Mason evidently does not respect the superstition that 13 is an unlucky number. He received his senatorship in 1913, and was able to submit to the shareholders of the Home Bank a statement of affairs that goes to show that he is a man of marked business ability.

At the annual meeting of the Home Bank, held in Toronto, Hon. J. J. Foy pertinently referred to the diplomatic way in which borrowers are turned aside. This was a compliment to the bank, and a comment on the subject of collateral. The remarks of Mr. Kennedy, vice-president of the Grain Growers' Association, who has just returned from a trip through the west, were very much to the point. He intimated that the Home Bank should follow a more liberal policy of extension and not refuse to open branches without giving the matter deep consideration.

AMUSEMENTSLYMAN HOWE'S GREAT TRAVEL FESTIVAL

Magnificent Paris. Travelling with Lyman H. Howe has become such a popular diversion that his trips are now considered quite the most enjoyable and instructive substitute for globe-trotting that could be imagined. In this respect he promises to more than fulfill expectations at the Grand Opera House for one week, commencing next Monday night, when he will take his audience on a sight-seeing ramble through that paradise of pleasure-seekers—Paris. While Mr. Howe has shown occasional snapshots of "Gay Paris," he has never offered such an elaborate reproduction of any world capital as he now presents of Paris—the city, par excellence, of gaiety, art and life. He claims it would be impossible to present a similar reproduction of any other city in the world, because no other world-metropolis can compare with Paris. Whoever you may be, whatever things attract you, you will find in "Paris, the Magnificent," all that is fascinating. Everything that is worthiest in architectural splendor, and most beautiful in the gay capital, will be presented.

JUNE WEDDINGS

WARWICK—BROWN. [Special to The Advertiser.]

Mapleton, June 26.—A very pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Warwick, when their eldest daughter, Eva Muriel, was married to Mr. Warren L. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jamer Brown, also of this place.

At 6 o'clock the bride entered the drawing-room on the arm of her father amid strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march rendered by Miss Mabel E. White. The bride was handsomely gowned in white duchess satin, with trimmings of pearl and baby Irish lace wearing the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carrying a bouquet of Bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The groom was supported by Mr.

The bride party took their places "Oh, Promise Me," accompanied by Miss Mabel Wismer.

After the ceremony the guests returned under an arch of evergreens and roses, banked with ferns. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. G. Charlton, of Mapleton, assisted by Rev. Mr. Buckborough, of New Sarum.

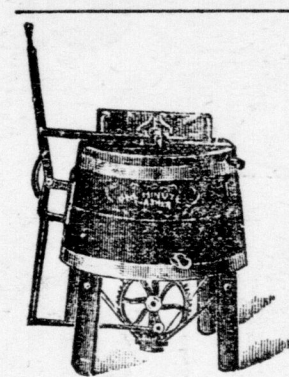

During the signing of the register Miss Mabel White sang very sweetly paired to the lawn, where refreshments were served.
