Police Are Puzzled to Divine the Object of the Man Who Made the Assault—A Wierd Story.

A brutal attempt to murder Miss Elizabeth E. Frank at her home, "Mount Frank," on the Wellington road, just on top of the hill, and about half a mile from Clark's Bridge, was made about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by a man as yet unknown to the police, although the detectives have a good clue, and an arrest is expected shortly.

Miss Frank was shot three times. One bullet passed through her neck under the ear, coming out at the back, and boring a hole right through the cords. Another bullet cut the lobe off her right ear, and a third grazed her nose, tearing off the skin.

As Miss Frank is about 70 years of age, Dr. George H. Wilson is fearful that she may not recover. Blood poisoning is feared.

ALARM

After the attempted murder the aged lady ran about half a mile to Boug's grocery store at the "V" of High street and the Wellington road, at Clark's Bridge, and there an alarm to the police was telephoned in.

The patrol wagon, with Detectives Egelton and Down, and two police galloped at a furious pace to the scene, and reached the house in a short time, but the would-be murderer had decamped.

He left his hat, a stylish derby, with the name of a local dealer inside, and this furnishes a strong clue for the officers.

"I have seen a good deal in my practice," Dr. Wilson told The Advertiser, after he had dressed the ragged wounds, "but Miss Frank is the most wonderful woman who has as yet come under my notice. How she managed to rush to the grocery store for help, and later, to go to the residence of her sister, Mrs. Charles Rudd, 175 Horton street, is a mystery to me. She is very badly wounded, and has lost a lot of blood. At her time of life one can never say what may happen."

A DEVILISH DEED.

The story is one of ferocious devilishness.

"I was sitting in my kitchen," said Miss Frank, "when I heard someone walking around the house. I listened for a moment, and then I heard glass crash in the window of the bedroom I occupied."

"I walked across the short hall at the back of the house, and then I could see a man attempting to get into the room."

"What are you breaking my windows for?" I shouted to him.

"He never spoke a word but drew a revolver and fired at me. I screamed and ran. I had had all the doors bolted, and as I strove to get open the door at the east side of the kitchen I could hear him smashing out the entire sash. Then I got the door unfastened and he jumped into the room and started in pursuit of me."

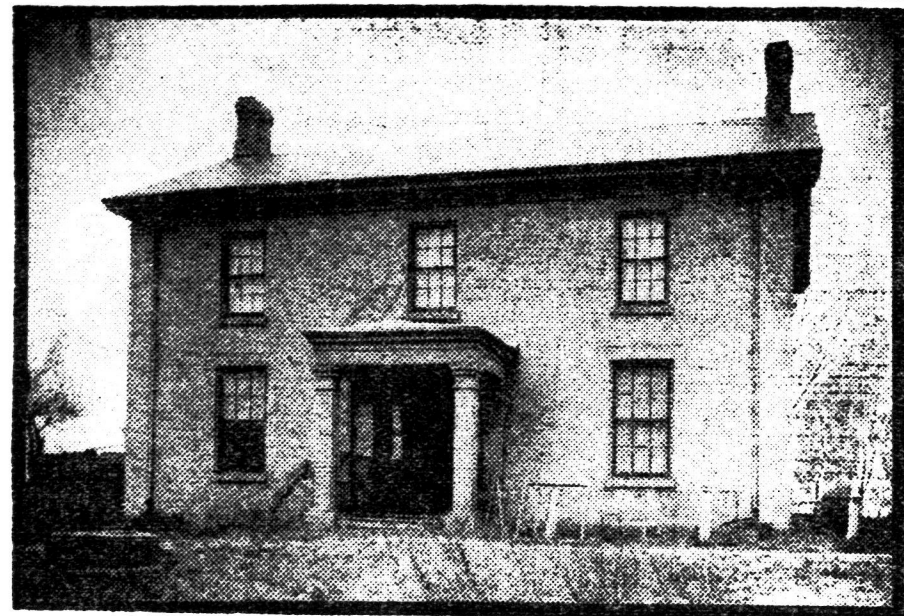

"He was a man about forty years of age, medium height, with black curly hair, and bald spot on his head. He came right for me with the revolver pointed at me, and I screamed for help. I ran around the corner of the house to the front, when he overtook me. There he dealt me a blow, and while he stood over me he tried to murder me. With a terrible look in his face he jumped on me repeatedly."

A FIGHT FOR LIFE.

"I fought for my life and struggled with him. With the revolver aimed against my face he fired. One bullet went through my neck. Another struck me in the ear, and a third struck my nose. I was covered with blood, and sank to the ground. He evidently thought he had killed me, as he had intended, and he went into the house."

"I was terribly dazed and weak, but I came to myself and getting up I ran screaming toward the Wellington road. There was nobody in sight for some time, but finally I saw some boys. They did not appear to take any notice of what I said, and then I made my way to the store. I never saw the man before, and he did not speak a word."

"While Miss Frank was being cared for by the doctor, Detectives Egelton and Down searched the house from top to bottom, but found nothing of value."

Would-Be Assassin Begged Hat in the East End—Said To Have Hidden in the Swamp Until After Dark—Then He Started Out to Make His Escape.

Miss Elizabeth Frank, the victim of yesterday afternoon's sensational shooting affray, is considerably improved this morning.

She spent the night at her own home attended by Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Knowles, of Weston street, and Mr. Joseph Dudley.

She was very restless during the night, and at times great difficulty was found in keeping her in bed, as she wished to get up and walk about. In the early morning, however, she went to sleep and slept for some time, and awoke feeling much better. Mrs. Knowles has remained with her throughout the day.

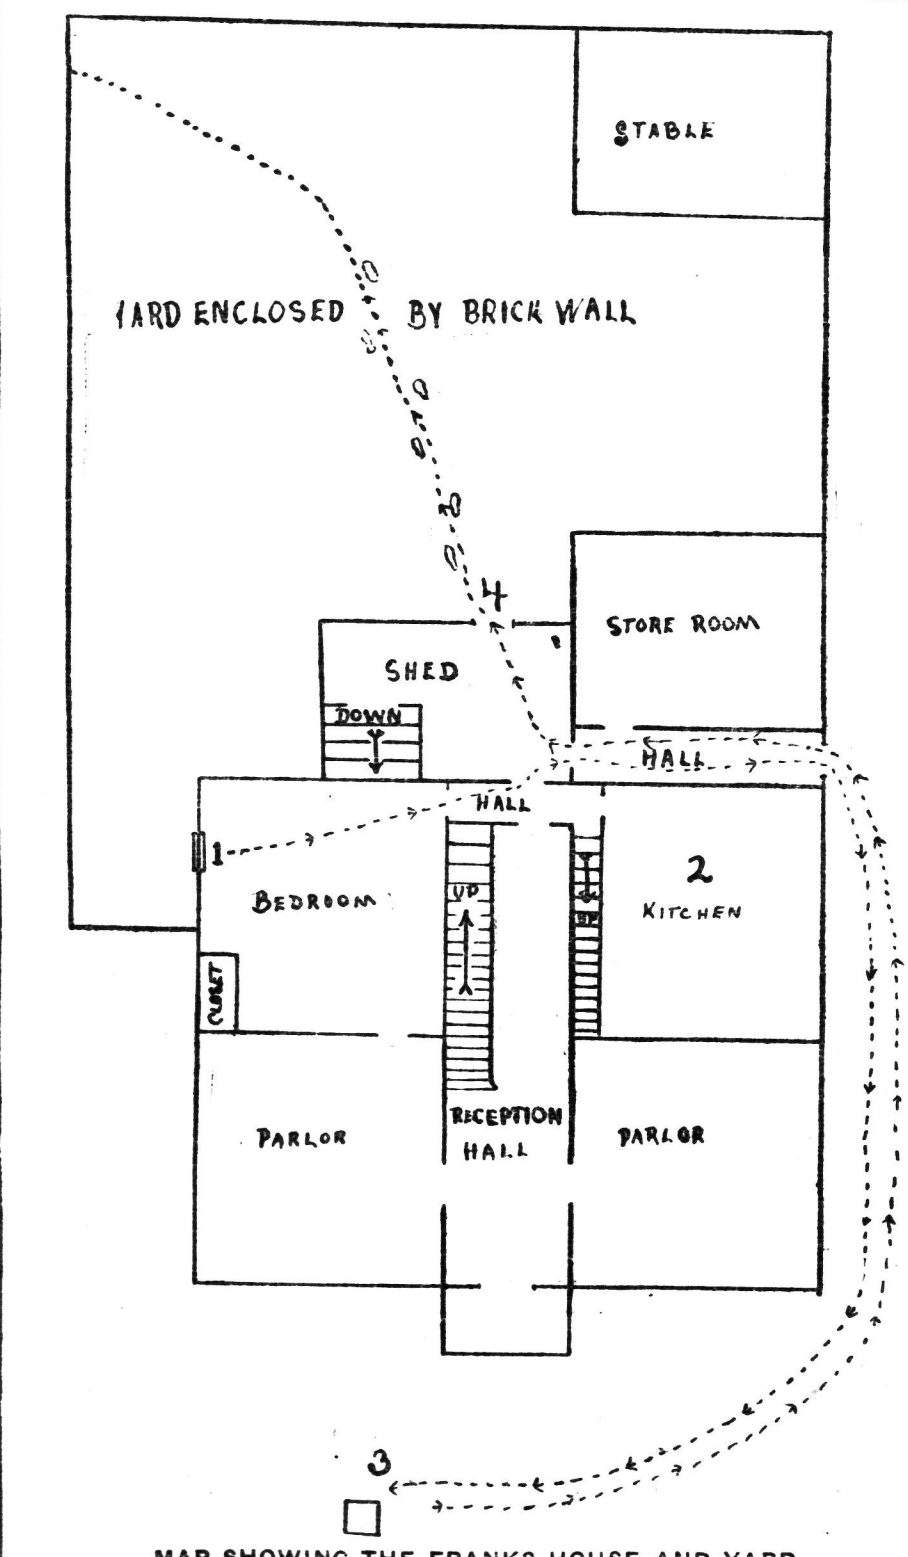

Detectives Hard at Work.

Detectives Egelton and Down have been working on the case all morning, and have learned that a man believed to be the assassin of Miss Frank was seen in Frank's swamp, just south of the house, last evening about 5:30, and that, as it was getting dark, he went down the Base Line and east across to Holdens sliveroad.

He procured a hat at a farmhouse and continued his way along the road, and it is believed went over Vauxhall bridge.

Another Version.

Mr. Knowles, who was with Miss Frank, continued on Page Eight.

No. 1 shows window at which Miss Frank's assailant entered, and where the first shot was fired. The dotted lines show the course taken by Miss Frank, when she was pursued to the front lawn, 3 being the spot where she was attacked the second time. The perpetrator then doubled back and went out through the rear door, No. 4. No. 2 is the kitchen where Miss Frank was working when she heard the bedroom window breaking.

2,200 at the Exhibition

Twenty-two hundred people paid to see the "Made-in-London" exhibition in the armories yesterday. This large attendance is very gratifying to the ladies, who have worked so hard for the success of the exhibition. It is desired that the public should know that in the winter booth every evening a splendid tea can be secured for 25 cents. Some people are under the impression that this tea is only for those who take part in the exhibition. This is not the case. The price to anyone is 25 cents.

ALD. SAUNDERS TAKES OATH TENDERS RECEIVED IMPROPERLY

A Big Row Over Cement Walks Is Slated for the Next Meeting of the Board of Works—Now Up to Ald. Tancock to Prove His Assertions.

The sharp tilt between Ald. Saunders and Ald. Tancock does not appear to have ended, and there will probably be another round on Thursday night at the meeting of the board of works.

The difficulty will arise over the tender of W. J. Antistie for cement walks, which was handed in after the others were opened.

Ald. Tancock disputed this assertion and it was then that he made his celebrated Anabias speech.

Ald. Saunders is not going to rest under that imputation, and today made an affidavit to the effect that the tender was not handed in as called for.

but was allowed after the others had been opened.

Up to Ald. Tancock.

This will put it up to Ald. Tancock to prove that the tender was received in the regular way, and this seems to be somewhat difficult.

City Clerk Baker will explain to the committee also that he did not know at the time the tender came in late, but upon investigation he found that it was handed in after the other had been opened.

In all probability this will result in throwing out Mr. Antistie's tender on this work.

The council did this when Smallman & Ingram's tender for clothing was considered.

DUNDAS ST. FIRMS NOTIFIED

Barker Property on Dundas St. It Is Alleged, Will Change Hands

—New Stores and a Theatre Are Talked Of.

The Barker property, between Clarence street and Wellington street, on Dundas street, will be torn down, and a large new building erected, according to rumors about the city.

Certain it is that all the tenants, Neil Cooper, Mr. Watson, Fessenden's, and the Williams' Piano Company, have been notified that all the leases will expire April 1, 1911, and that they will not be renewed.

No definite information could be obtained as to what would become of the present building, as the owners live in Hamilton.

It is understood that they have handed to a large company that will erect a store there next summer, and Eaton & Co., Marshall-Field Company, Chicago, and many others are mentioned in this connection. There is also talk of another theatre here.

However, nothing definite could be learned, but it is expected that something will be made known shortly.

WOMAN SUCCUMBED TO BURNS HUSBAND TERRIBLY BURNED

Mrs. John Cochren, 465 Hamilton Road, Died in Victoria Hospital
Last Night—Ambulance Was Long in Reaching the Scene of the Fire.

Mrs. John Cochren, the elderly lady who was fearfully burned by an explosion of a mixture of turpentine and gasoline, which she was using in housecleaning at her home, 465 Hamilton road, yesterday afternoon, died last night at Victoria Hospital as a result of her injuries.

Mr. Cochren is a slight, elderly gentleman working down stairs at the time did not share her fate as a miracle, as he rushed up, carried his wife downstairs in a mass of flames, and later extinguished the fire in the upper room unassisted. The firemen were called, but the trouble was over when they arrived.

A Downright Shame.

The necessity for more horses for the police patrol and the city ambulance was also emphasized, as Mrs. Cochren, suffering the most excruciating agony, lay at home for over an hour and a half before she could be removed to the hospital, where her injuries could be given proper attention.

The patrol had been called out on the Frank case south of the city, and the horses were fagged when they returned to the police station to answer the call to the scene of the Hamilton road tragedy.

Mr. Cochren was burned to his elbows, the flesh on each hand being literally roasted.

Husband Tells Story.

"I was downstairs working when the accident happened," he told The Advertiser, "and the first I knew of it was when I heard her scream and cry. 'Oh, pa!'"

LOCAL LOAN COMPANIES UNITE AN IMPORTANT AMALGAMATION

Negotiations Between Agricultural Savings & Loan Company and Ontario Loan & Debenture Company End in Satisfactory Agreement—Fair to Shareholders.

It is understood that the negotiations which have been under way for some time past between the two companies looking to the amalgamation of the Agricultural Savings and Loan Company and the Ontario Loan and Debenture Company, have resulted in a most satisfactory agreement which has been duly adopted by the directors of each.

Little difficulty was experienced when the parties got close to the discussion, and it is anticipated that the shareholders will readily confirm the union which will be thus carried into effect.

The arrangements are subject to the revaluation of the investments of each company by the other, and to a special audit before being finally consummated.

It aims at being eminently fair to the shareholders of each of the companies and subject to readjustment and the necessary conditions and provisions usual on such occasions, seems likely to result in the holdings of shares of the Ontario remaining unchanged, and the shareholders of the Agricultural securing six shares of the stock of the amalgamated company for each seven shares they now hold, together with a cash bonus, the amount of which will depend upon the valuation of the assets as above referred to.

It has also been decided that the board of directors shall consist of the present directors of both companies. The combined capital of the new company will likely be over $1,700,000, with a reserve fund of at least $1,250,000.

MISS LIBBY FRANK.

JOHN PRODGER HELD BY POLICE SUSPECT IN THE FRANK CASE EFFORTS MADE TO IDENTIFY

Robert Bremner, of 122 Adelaide Street, Gave a Hat to a Bareheaded Man Who He Said Resembled Prodger—To an Advertiser Reporter He Also Made the Same Admission—Suspect Is Being Put Through the Police Sweat-Box—A Well-Known Character.

John Prodgers, aged 40 years, who was born at 428 Ottawa avenue, was taken into custody by Detectives Egelton and Down this afternoon at two o'clock on suspicion of being the man who murderously attacked Miss Libbie Frank, at her home "Mount Frank," on the Wellington road, yesterday afternoon.

No charge has as yet been preferred against Prodgers, but he is being detained at the police station and put through the sweat-box.

Robert Bremner, of Adelaide street south, who yesterday afternoon gave a hat to a bareheaded, half-drunk, excited man, who, he said, resembled Prodgers, has been sent for that he may be afforded an opportunity of identifying him.

Prodgers has been residing in the Albion Block, upstairs, corner of Richmond and Carling streets. His room was searched this afternoon by the detectives, but they refused to make any statement to The Advertiser.

It is said that Prodgers has been residing there with a woman supposed to be his wife.

Prodgers has a lengthy police court record.

Some twelve years ago an aged man, William Godwin, who resided alone on the site of the Metlary foundry at the foot of William street, was attacked in his home by several men.

Money was demanded, but as the old fellow had none, he could not tell them where his money was hidden.

He was bound, gagged and brutally beaten, his feet being held and roasted in a fire by the fiends. A few weeks later he died of his injuries.

A number of arrests were made, the suspect in the Frank case being among those hauled into court. They were all acquitted.

CAN IDENTIFY HIM.

Miss Frank will be able to identify the man who made the murderous attack on her yesterday afternoon.

She declared that she did not know the man, nor did she remember seeing him.

The police will take Prodgers to see her as soon as her condition will warrant.

Robert Bremner, a middle-aged man, whose home is at 122 Adelaide street, reluctantly admitted to The Advertiser reporter this morning that at 5:30 last evening he provided a hat for a bareheaded man of 40, who, he believes, is Prodgers, a well-known character who resided for many years on Ottawa avenue, where he was born.

The man approached him as he worked in front of his home on Adelaide street, opposite Hill street, inquiring, "Have you a hat that you could give a fellow?"

"I saw that he was drunk," Bremner told The Advertiser, "so I went into the house and got two old black stiff hats to get rid of him. He took one of them and started up Adelaide street, and I paid no more attention to him."

TRACED INTO THE CITY.

A bareheaded man of 40 years or thereabouts, was traced into the city and up Adelaide street, by an Advertiser reporter this morning.

Several women and children playing about the streets noticed him, and commented on his remarkable appearance.

Fred Jones, a greaser, of Adelaide and Lizard streets, together with a number of others, watched him as he passed, as he appeared to be intoxicated.

His trousers were covered with mud where he had crossed through the plowed fields through the country south of the city, and, according to a story received by the police, he spent some time in the swamp in Frank's bush, on the east end of the Thompson road, immediately south of Chelsea Green.

WAS VERY MUCH EXCITED.

When the man walked up Adelaide street he appeared to be very excited. He wore a white handkerchief about his neck, and was easily remembered by those who were in the vicinity at the time.

At Hill street he paused for a moment and spoke to Mr. Bremner.

He made no explanation as to what had become of his own headgear, and was asked for none, Mr. Bremner told The Advertiser.

Mr. Bremner has known the man for some years, and gave a dissertation on how busy he is repairing his home, when asked repeatedly for the man's name.

POLICE ON THE HUNT.

He had seen him about the streets several days ago, he said, but he never knew him by any name. Later he thought he had heard him called John, but as his memory freshened and visions of trouble presented themselves to him, he admitted the man's identity.

The police this afternoon were given the same information, and are now working to locate the man named by Bremner.

AVOIDING TROUBLE.

The Advertiser's informant was very anxious to avoid any trouble in the case, and did not even care to be called as a witness. He will probably be one of the principal witnesses for the crown, however, if the culprit is located.

It is thought that he is still in the city, although it was reported that he turned east on the Hamilton road after leaving Bremner.

LARGE CROWDS FILL ARMORIES

Attendance at Made-in-London Show Is Fully Up to Expectations.

Went From Booth to Booth Assisting in the Good Work — A Scene of Rare Beauty.

Successful beyond expectation was the first afternoon and evening exercises at the "Made-in-London" exhibition, and when the show closed at night the ladies in charge were tired, but quite happy.

They had spent a very strenuous day. It was a continual hustle from morning until evening, and when the citizens flocked into the armories last evening in droves, the ladies were kept continually on the move.

It is estimated that fully 2,000 people visited the museum at night. The crowd came early, and the majority of them stayed late. There was always something of interest to see, and quite often something to purchase.

In addition to the usual exhibits, the bazaar and the concert hall were both in full operation.

In the theatre, the first was called "A String of Pearls," and was really a clever play. The acting of the principals was very good, indeed, and the audience was pleased with the enactment of the piece.

Mr. Harry Rehnitz, a society man, was the star, and was wonderfully enjoyed by the large audience. Both were very skillful in their parts and showed much ability.

In the concert hall a very excellent programme was given. It included solos by Cyril Dwight-Edwards, Miss MacDonald, Miss Edna Mortimore, Mr. Elmer Haines, and a piano solo by Miss Jessie Hamilton. All acquitted themselves with distinction, and created not a little enthusiasm.

Mr. W. A. Blethner acted as accompanist in a manner that won for him unstinted praise.

Booths well patronized, and some reports a rushing business. Tony Cortesi's orchestra rendered a very fine programme of music during the afternoon session, and in the evening the Seventh Regiment Band, under the direction of Bandmaster Slater, gave an excellent concert.

His excellency left generous donations in practically all of the booths, and the receipts for the day were very large.

Today's Programme.

Today's programme in the theatre is as follows:

Afternoon.

"Barbara," by St. Mary's Dramatic Society. The cast: Barbara, Anna J. Finnegan; Lillie, Leland; Marie, H. Graham; Cecil Norton, C. J. Soper; Mr. Finnegan, P. J. McLarnan, Director; Hattie E. Rooney.

Evening.

"A Yankee Election," by St. Mary's Dramatic Society. The cast: Frank, W. Murray; Nora, Miss Annie Durkin; Mary, Miss Alice Lilley, Director, H. S. Marshall.

MURDEROUS ATTACK

to bottom, but could find no sign of the criminal.

A minute inspection of the yard showed that the would-be assassin had run through the rear, and his foot prints showed plainly in the sand.

Once over the back wall which surrounds the place all trace was lost in the meadowland and forest which surrounds the straggly, if somewhat decayed, "Mount Frank."

FIEND WAS SEEN.

Various persons reported having seen a man racing through the fields toward the L. and P. S. R. tracks, and the police in the patrol went after him on the gallop. Their efforts were futile, however, though they got a good description of him from a man named Campbell, who works for Mr. F. Burgess, the Wellington road, next farm to that of Mr. Ed. West.

The old farmhouse where the tragedy occurred is one of the most interesting and picturesque in the entire county. Middlesex. Though to all intents and purposes on the Wellington road it faces the south, frowning off into the distance with a weather-beaten facade. Once the house was the most pretentious in Middlesex County.

Built of white brick, it is still strong and rugged, though its age is plainly written on every good old hard brick. The square porch which guards the entrance, is supported by two square brick pillars. The floor is rotting some, as are the wood linings and the window sills.

The roof is slated, and the blasts of winter have torn now and again a slate loose, which, not being replaced, have been broken into pieces on the ground below.

LIKE AN OLD CASTLE.

The front is a sturdy gable, but at the back another building joins it after the manner of the centre stroke of a letter "T." Thrown up against this are numerous small frame structures, all with heavy bolts and locks.

The stables stand about one hundred yards from the house, and they form the north end of a court or stable yard of which the house forms the south.

Two massive brick walls, about seven feet high, run along either side, giving the place the appearance of a prison.

The Wellington road runs two hundred yards to the east. On north, south and west the broad acres of the estate of "Mount Frank" stretch out. It is many years since these acres have been cultivated, for when old Richard Frank died thirty years ago, his boys had been married, or were about to be married, leaving the mother and three girls, Ann, Jane and Libby, as Elizabeth was called, to look after the farm. All were school teachers, and Ann was noted for her ability to handle a horse.

WELL-BRED WOMEN.

When The Advertiser man went through the house after the blood-thirsty attempt to kill the old lady, there were many signs and marks of women who had been bred ladies.

In the broad hallway the walls were covered with a dainty paper. The oiled floor was partly covered by rugs of a subdued hue.

On the chairs and sofas were dainty pieces of needlework, and on an easel in the corner were the pictures, enlarged evidently from a photo, of two girls. And dashing girls they were, too. It was stated to the reporter that one was Libby Frank, and the other her sister Ann.

Years have passed and the unceasing hand of time has rumbled the old farm mansion. The girls of yesterday have grown old, and one has crossed the great divide. The other lived to be the target for a weapon of a cowardly murderer, who even though his victim recovers, is nevertheless guilty of that terrible crime.

Miss Frank's sister Ann died eight years since, and since that time she has been living alone in the old house.

Mrs. Rudd was married many years ago. Few men would care to live there under the same circumstances. Last night the "sneaking" of the night birds and the "croaking" of the frogs gave an uncanny tone to the atmosphere. In the trees the wind sighed mournfully, and in the distance could be heard the gurgling of a small stream which runs through the farm. Far away on each side could be seen the lights in the houses of the neighbors, all of whom would be too far away to hear a woman's screams, were she in her house or they in theirs.

A tremendous crowd gathered at the place yesterday afternoon, and there were all sorts of theories advanced. Some of those were taken up by the police, and one sensational story relating to the identity of the would-be assassin was soon exploded.

At least half a dozen people heard the shots and saw the man running away. Two of them, Mr. Sydney Clark and Miss Bertha Clark, of 127 High Street.

HEARD THE SHOTS.

To The Advertiser, Mr. Clark said he heard shots fired about the time Miss Frank was attacked. But he had only two shots, and he took no notice of them, as boys and men frequently shoot in the district.

Miss Clark, it is said, saw a man running through the woods, who answers the description given by Miss Frank.

As three of the shots were fired outside and one inside, many other people should have heard the reports, but as yet they have not given their names to the police.

The place where the struggle occurred between the feeble old woman and the fiend, was directly in front of the porch at the front entrance.

Thirty feet away from the house, in the centre of a circular drive, which had been gravelled and well kept, stands a stone monument, where some relative had been buried. Around the house runs a path of marble, which is used for cemetery plots, giving the place a gruesome aspect.

HAD NO DOG.

Up till a few months ago Miss Frank kept a huge white bulldog for protection, but the animal being old died, and it is said the old lady could not bring herself to take another pup to the house.

Had she done so there might have been another tale to tell, for it is said her late pet guarded his mistress with a jealous eye, and would have at once left his mark on the coward, so that the police might trace him.

The police searched diligently in the house for traces of the fiend, which had been fired, but it could not be found.

Outside, the other bullets, after passing through the woman's flesh, found a billet in the ground.

Dr. Wilson is of opinion that the wounds were made by a 22 or 23 calibre revolver.

THE POLICE THEORY.

The police theory is that when the man heard the old lady scream he became frightened, and gave up his ransacking of the house and fled.

After she had had her wounds dressed Miss Frank determined to return to her home, and with Mrs. Rudd and Dr. Wilson she drove to the house, which had been fired, but it could not be found.

She examined her strong box, and claimed that it had been rifled of a watch, but this had been picked up by Detective Down, who found it lying on a sidewalk. As far as could be learned no money or valuables were taken.

"Either the man was frightened away by the screams of the woman," say the police, "or he did not go there with the intention of robbing her. There may have been another motive, and suspicion may rest in some quarters, but as yet we have nothing to show. We are following every clue."

THE STRONG BOX.

It is said to be a fact that the strong box was upset and opened. It was hidden away in the bedroom in which the window was smashed when the intruder entered, and it would appear that the man, if he had been known the place to find it in such a short time.

The entire bottom sash was broken and the glass was scattered over the floor for four feet inside.

For years Miss Frank and her sister, now deceased, were remarkable in the community, from the fact that they chose to live alone in the old farmhouse. Miss Ann Frank died many years since, and her sister, who had the nerve to occupy the house alone. Frequently it was prophesied that there would be trouble there, for it was a well known fact that the old lady was well off. She owns many places in the city and Westminster, and it is said her rent roll is very large. She kept to herself and transacted her own business, and, perhaps, never heard of the fears of her neighbors.

the early history of the township of Westminster, the father of Miss Frank having been well off. It is said the old lady made it a point to buy back whatever land had passed out of the family's hands through other channels.

In addition to the farm upon which she lived, Miss Frank owned all the land on the east side of the Wellington road, for a long distance, and running away east to the L. and P. S. R. tracks, and to the north the River Thames. This land lies just west of Chelsea Green.

POLICE WERE NOTIFIED.

Mrs. Boug, of the grocery store from which the alarm was given, states that it is marvellous how the old lady managed to reach her place.

"She was covered with blood," said Mrs. Boug, "when she reached here. 'Good God, Jane,' she said, 'I have been shot. A man tried to kill me, but I escaped. He is still in the house. Telephone for the police.'"

When the police had been called, Miss Frank at once left for the home of her sister on Horton street, Mrs. Rudd. The latter is a widow, her husband having been killed late Charles B. Rudd, the pioneer farmer of London.

PAN-AMERICAN CLUB

London, April 6.—Many efforts have been made in many years to form and maintain a distinctive American club in London. All have failed. The Pilgrims' Society and the American Society have flourished for years, but they are not clubs in the American sense. They are dining clubs with benevolent and patriotic objects.

The latest venture in club life is the American Universities' Club, which was opened on March 21. It has been invited to share the premises and the prestige of the New Oxford and Cambridge Club in Pall Mall. Mr. Roosevelt, it is said, has expressed interest in the club, and Lord Brassey is giving it their patronage.

THE TORTURES WOMEN SUFFER

CAN BE RELIEVED BY KEEPING THE BLOOD SUPPLY RICH WITH DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

A woman needs a blood-building medicine regularly just because she is a woman. From maturity to middle life, the health and happiness of every woman depends upon her blood. Its richness and its regularity, if her blood is poor and watery, she is miserably and helplessly afflicted. If her blood supply is irregular, she suffers from headaches, backaches, sideaches and the other unspeakable distresses which only women know. Some women have grown to expect this suffering at regular intervals, and to bear it in hopeless silence. But women will escape much of this misery if they take a box of two of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to help them over each critical period. These Pills actually make new blood. They give the blood a new nature, makes the greatest demand upon her blood supply. They have done this for thousands of women throughout Canada, why not for you?

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, N. S. says: "For ten years I suffered from nervousness and those troubles that make a life of misery. At times I would be confined to my bed for weeks. I spent sleepless nights and seemed to lose all courage. I tried several doctors, but they failed to give me any relief. The last doctor I consulted told me frankly that he could not undertake my case unless I would undergo an examination. I was then I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. After taking six boxes I was much improved in health, but I could not get the blood to flow. I have used the Pills once since that time for the after-effects of a gripe. These are plain facts from my own experience. I have always felt that I cannot too strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to the many women who suffer as I did."

You can get these Pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Correct Silks for Summer Wear

REASONABLE PRICES A FEATURE OF OUR SHOWING THIS SEASON.

In this day of imitation let us advise you when you go to buy anything called "silk." Lots of "silk" now comes from the cotton patch. By a process of "mercerizing," cotton is made to look like silk until after it is cleaned. Our Silk Department has always been a pride with us, and this week we wish to especially call your attention to the beautiful display in this section. Our "silk" is silk, not cotton, and even at the lowest price, no matter what your selection may be, you are assured the value is the best possible consistent with quality. We might ask: Is there any fabric that makes a woman feel satisfied her gown is correct so much as silk?

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6.

AT THE ARMORIES.

The "Made-in-London" exhibition has opened with great under happy auspices and distinguished patronage. The spectacle in the Armories is radiant testimony of the energy, taste and organizing capacity of the ladies who have the affair in hand. The useful and the ornamental are beautifully blended. The industrial activities of the city are cleverly illustrated, and the exhibition is certain to prove an excellent advertisement for London as a manufacturing centre.

The unselfish labor of the ladies and the enterprise of the manufacturers have been enlisted for a worthy object. The want of provision for consumptives has been a reproach to many Ontario communities, but it will not be longer against the city of London. The hopes of many good men and women, who have agitated the question for years, are being realized. The tuberculosis sanatorium erected in the name of the London Health Association, comprises already eight buildings, located on a high and picturesque spot on the north side of the river opposite Byron. The initial cost, including the land, has been about $11,000. A fair start has been made with a civic grant of $5,000, and a number of liberal private subscriptions, but more funds are urgently needed. The sanatorium will be open to paying and non-paying patients, the latter to be maintained by civic and government grants. For the present it will be available for city patients only, but the county council is expected to make a financial contribution shortly in order to obtain the benefits for county patients. Already fifteen consumptives are seeking admission.

The citizens of London, should respond liberally to the efforts of the ladies on the present occasion. More money is needed to permit the sanatorium to begin its work in the most efficient manner. It is a purpose that should appeal to every man, woman and child.

ONTARIO'S LANDS AND MINES.

The report of the provincial department of lands, forests, and mines for the ten months ending Oct. 31 last, places the total area of crown lands in Ontario disposed of during that period at 11,521 acres, and the total collection on account of lands sold and leased at $285,729.22.

The region lying north of Lake Temiskaming has continued to attract the largest number of settlers. It has been demonstrated that grains and roots of all varieties can be successfully grown there. This country is being opened up by the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, and colonization roads are being built in various directions, causing a demand for labor at good wages. The mining industry and the construction of the Transcontinental Railway have employed a large number of men, and there is a good market for all that can be grown. The actual settler who is residing on his lot with a small clearing of two acres, has the privilege of selling any timber other than pine growing upon his land. Spruce is plentiful in the Temiskaming region, and the bona fide settler may therefore earn considerable money taking out pulpwood, which commands a ready sale.

A number of townships were opened for settlement along the line of the Transcontinental Railway, and a considerable area of land has been taken up therein. Other intending settlers are waiting the completion of the Transcontinental before moving their families in permanently. Cochrane, the town site of which only a short time since was a wilderness, is now a flourishing incorporated village, with a population of about 800. When the railway is constructed east and west, Cochrane, as the divisional point for both railways and an important junction, is expected to become a large and important town. An added interest has been given to the Porcupine region by the recent gold discoveries.

The production of ores and minerals proceeds vigorously. The silver mines of the Cobalt camp reached their highest work. Judging from the output during the ten months, the total yield for 1909 cannot be less than 25,000,000 ounces, and may be possibly more. The report verifies the stories of the discovery of rich gold ore in the Porcupine Lake region. Nickel-copper mining in the Sudbury district has also been active, and Ontario now produces from 60 to 70 per cent of the world's supply of nickel.

The opening of these new fields for settlement and the finding of rich sources of revenue are due to the construction of two lines of railway—the Transcontinental and Temiskaming and Northern Ontario. The late Provincial Government and the present Federal Government are entitled to the credit.

TO FIGHT THE "WHITE SLAVE" TRAFFIC.

A leaflet dealing with the "white slave trade," prepared by Rev. J. G. Shearer, D. D., has been issued by the Moral and Social Reform Council of Canada, which is waging a war on this vilest of traffics, and asks the co-operation of the press.

The methods of those engaged in the traffic are dealt with at length, and ample evidence is given to show that their ramifications extend to this country. Over a score of governments—that of Canada among them—have signed a treaty, by the terms of which each covenants with the others to co-operate in detecting and punishing the nefarious traders.

Society is urged to co-operate in efforts to suppress the traffic, to punish offenders, and bring about, if possible, the redemption of its victims. The establishment of houses of refuge, whose doors will always be open to the penitent, is recommended. The writer says, further, there ought to be in every province some institution, under Christian care, to which the impudent can be sent under the authority of law, and given a chance, under fair conditions, to get free from the bondage of the life of vice.

As a preventive measure, immigration authorities are urged to do more than has been done in the past to bring to justice persons who make a business of ensuring girls of other countries. The United States Congress recently voted $50,000 for such a purpose.

Preachers, press men, teachers, parents and moral reformers are urged to persistently proclaim the "single standard of morals" for both sexes, and to warn women and girls of the perils to which the young are exposed, as most victims are utterly ignorant of danger. Travellers' aid work is another suggestion, the idea being that it should be made impossible for any lone girl to arrive at any city railway station or on any wharf, without being offered the protection and guidance of a sister-woman, recognizable by her costume or badge. What is considered of vital importance is that Christian and social service workers in every city should make up and advertise a list of inspected and safe and comfortable boarding-houses for girls and women wage-earners. To give any sort of general effect to these suggestions, the organization of social purity vigilance committees in every centre is considered essential.

UNWORTHY JOURNALISM.

The other day The Advertiser repeated comments on the tariff settlement from the Toronto News, Ottawa Citizen, Kingston Standard, Montreal Star, Toronto World, Ottawa Journal, and the London Free Press. All these Conservative journals, excepting the Free Press, expressed satisfaction with the outcome. The waitings of the Free Press over what it called Canada's humiliation were ridiculous and contemptible when contrasted with the sane and patriotic utterances of its Conservative contemporaries. It now tries to read them out of the party.

The Ottawa Citizen is owned by William Southam, proprietor also of the Hamilton Spectator and Calgary Herald. His party orthodoxy and that of his papers have never been before impeached. The Ottawa Journal is owned and edited by P. D. Ross, president of the Ottawa Conservative Association, and a Conservative candidate for the Legislature in the last election. The Standard is the Conservative paper of Kingston as fully as the Free Press is the Conservative paper of London, the only difference being that the Standard is sometimes fair and reasonable. The Toronto World is owned by the Conservative member for South York. The Montreal Star would be classed by any journalist as a Conservative paper, though it has of late been at loggerheads with both the Federal Government and the Federal Opposition. The Toronto News is now recognized as the most authoritative spokesman of the Conservative party. When the Free Press says that these journals are not Conservative because they get some Government advertising, it insinuates that their opinion are influenced by patronage. It discards any such insinuation, but this was the inference drawn by the average reader. It has frequently levelled the same charge against Liberal newspapers. Setting this aside, it has undertaken to deny the title of Conservative to any journal that will say a good word for any good deed of the Liberal Government. It judges them all by itself.

Mr. Foster and Mr. Monk have become stand-patters.

Like Marc Antony, Roosevelt is making Rome howl.

The "Made-in-London" exhibition is an eye-opener as to the variety of things that London makes.

The Miller anti-gambling bill is having a hard road to travel at Ottawa. "Society" sport and self-interest make a formidable combination.

Mr. Roosevelt is streaming through Europe like a meteor, and dividing honors with Halley's comet. His faculty for keeping in the public eye amounts to genius.

The cruisers Niobe and Rainbow will leave for Canada in June to form the nucleus of the Canadian navy. This will be another occasion for the jests of tin-pot Canadians.

When is a Conservative paper not a Conservative paper? When it approves anything the Ottawa Government does, according to the ruling of the London Free Press. Our local contemporary is safe.

BIGGEST MAN IN PARLIAMENT.

The tallest member of the new Parliament will probably be found to be Douglas B. Hall, the Unionist representative for the Isle of Wight, who is no less than 6 feet 5 inches in height. He is run very close, however, by Sir Randolph Baker, the new Unionist for North Dorset, who is one-half inch shorter. Sir Owen Phillips, the Liberal member for Penbroke, is one of three brothers—Lord St. Davids is among the number—whose average height is 5 feet 4½ inches.

EARTH'S GREATEST BORE.

Among the horrid scenes of earth you rank him tall over all. By night and by day, and by night, He crops up in the day's debate. In towns from here to there, He's here and there and everywhere—This Master Inner Man.

One tries to dodge him, but in vain— He makes his presence known. His vengeance when he's left ignored Wrings many a heart-felt groan. One simply cannot snub the bore. One tries rebuffs and fails. You find him tall and every where— And calmly back he sails.

Oh Inner Man, you cause expense And keep us all at the grind. If it were not for your dark cloud, We'd leave all care behind. But here you come, persistent fiend, Without a warning knock. And it's time to knock off this— And take you out to lunch.

A LAND OF HUNTERS.

Germany is a country of hunters. There are 90,000 sportsmen, which means one gun for every 100 people. Each year fall to the gun, on an average, 40,000 hares, 100,000 partridges, 200,000 ducks, 200,000 rabbits, 10,000 deer, 15,000 woodcocks, 30,000 wild ducks, 25,000 pheasants, 25,000 deer, 15,000 quails, 15,000 hares, 1,000 wild boars and 1,000 bustards. To yield this "game" requires 25,000,000 kilograms. The monetary value is 25,000,000 marks, or £1,250,000. The sum received for licenses to shoot is 7,500,000 marks, or £375,000.

WHOSE FAULT THEN?

[Kingston Standard, Conservative.] Under the circumstances the sooner a convention is held and a party re-constituted by being shown of its weakness and its failures, the better for the Conservatives and the better for the country.

GETTING A HOUSE RENT FREE.

The Rotterdam case of houses without owners results in an interesting instance within the personal knowledge of an old resident of Waltham. For a quarter of a century a good house was occupied there by a family who were never troubled by the rent collector. They paid their rates and kept their secret. But it got out at last and they were called on for payment of the rent—and all the arrears. This alarmed them, and they "skipped by the back of the moon." The astuteness of their plan then quickly took possession, and he had no more right to the place than had the vendors of his land.

THE CHASE.

[The London Advertiser.] Man follows fast a mocking chase. Two days of odd. He pauses not for day or night, For heat or cold. While blind to all things else he makes Pursuit of gold. He jumps his candle at both ends, Forgets his rest. He wanders on and down the earth, And east and west. While feverishly he hunts On pleasure's quest.

But never does he really know, The "chase" he follows. The true excitement of a chase From him is hid. Until an April gale blows off His nest upon his lid.

A FAMOUS FAMILY.

[Ottawa Journal.] It now looks as if Hon. A. B. Stinson will resign his Albertian seat in the House of Commons. The cabinet as prime minister. These Stinson boys seem bound to get to the top. The father, Hon. J. A. Stinson, was speaker of the Manitoba Legislature years ago, and had a long and honorable political career. The publisher of Hon. Clifford Stinson, as minister of interior, is known to everyone. And now the only son who made member of the family seems fated to become a member, thus doing better than either his father or older brother. Take the famous Canadian family in colors, of which each of the four brothers became famous in his own line, the Stinsons seem bound to reach to the top despite the difficulties of the race.

A SANE CONSERVATIVE.

[Ottawa Citizen, Conservative.] The Citizen is not inclined to agree with its contemporaries who are taking the view that Canada has been over-ruled by the United States in connection with the recent tariff settlement.

GROSS STUPIDITY.

[New York Post.] In no field of diplomacy has our record been marked by such gross stupidity as in our negotiations during many decades with Canada. It is time for heart-felt gratitude when we escape with an escape from another horrible blunder.

ENGLAND'S OUTWORN LAND SYSTEM.

[London Daily News.] Our English land system turns our cities into slums into which it directs a ceaseless stream of miserable humanity, torn from their roots in the country and driven into hopeless exile in the towns. The last election threw a revealing light upon English rural life. In a subdued and obscure way the same forces have always been at work, but on that occasion the machinery worked for the eyes of all men to see, because in the hour of crisis, when the stronghold of their authority was in peril, the lords of the countryside called into operation every reserve power. The open intimidation, the direct brutal threat, the plain hint or the clear orders were common enough episodes in every country election. The coarse methods are less universal and less effective than others. The rural laborer is the most helpless and defenseless of English citizens. All the instruments by which he lives are in the ownership of the land and the control of the squire. The squire owns the land on which the laborer works and the house in which the laborer lives. Through his ownership of the land the squire dictates to the farmer who is the direct employer of the laborer. He stuffs the bench which administers the law. He controls the county council, which is the organ of local government. He appoints the parson, who supports the squire's instructions with the thunder of heaven, and through the parson he appoints the schoolmaster, who makes education a means of disciplining the laborer in the way approved by the squire. The bread the laborer eats, the house he lives in, the church he prays in, the school he studies in, the courts before which he appears, all belong to a single system which encompasses him, and in every action of his life stamps upon him his subordination.

BANK ROBBERS MURDER OFFICIALS

Gang at McKee's Rocks Deliberately Shot Down Manager and Cashier and Fire at Citizens.

Pittsburg, April 5.—At 8:20 this evening the municipal police, a robbery in the history of Pennsylvania, if not the entire country, occurred at McKee's Rocks, a suburb, six miles below Pittsburg. Employees of the Victor Banking Company were preparing to close for the night, when four men stepped from the shadows outside. Two, with drawn revolvers, warned away all passing pedestrians, while the other two went inside the bank and opened on all inside.

Samuel Friedman, manager, was killed with three bullets while trying to protect $5,000 on the counters of the bank. The robbers, Ignatz Schwartz, cashier, shot through the head, died in McKee's Rocks hospital.

Robert King, a citizen, shot down on the street by the robbers as they fled with the plunder; at McKee's Rocks hospital; will live. Andrew Miller, mill workman, struck by a stray bullet, slightly injured, is recovering.

Mary Ebo, employee of bank, slightly injured trying to save Friedman and Schwartz.

McKee's Rocks and Schenckville adjoining were each terrorized for about 30 minutes during and after the bank robbery, for once on their horses, the four robbers, finally, armed with blood, rode up and down through the town, shooting right and left. It was then that King was shot down in cold blood, and Miller also shot dead.

They each tried to stop the wild ride of the robbers. From what can be gathered by deduction, the two who entered the bank appeared to have walked right up to the cashier's desk and Ignatz Schwartz in his tracks, then grabbed the great piles of money, which they stuffed into bags slung over their shoulders. Friedman, who was evidently in the back part of the bank, attending to the big safes, was seen to come rushing out of the bank after the first men, and as he passed on the steps of the bank he was shot dead.

Three of the attacking party appear to have shot him at once, as he fell dead in his tracks. There had evidently been a struggle with Friedman inside the bank before the robbers got away with the money; for tightly grasped in his hand was a bunch of bills, which he had evidently torn from one of the robbers.

The robbers got away with $5,000.

ADJUSTER AT STRATFORD

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Stratford, April 5.—Mr. Charles D. Curry, of Toronto, is in the city today acting as adjuster for all the insurance companies interested in the loss on the Stratford woolen mills, viz., the Waterloo Mutual, Millers' and Manufacturers', Economical Mutual, Perth Mutual, Gore Mutual, Newmarket, and several others for smaller sums. It is understood that the total insurance will not exceed $25,000. The adjuster is called to work this afternoon appraising the loss.

TRUTHFUL TAXIS

The London Kind Do Not Attempt to Rob Tourists.

London, April 6.—An American who is spending his first week in London said: "Oh, yes! Westminster Abbey's all right in its way, but the greatest attraction in this town is the taxicab. Say, they're cheaper than walking, and they've got clocks that tell the truth. The cabbies don't even try to crook, and they don't even try to give you the wrong time from the clock when they hear your American accent."

The clock starts with 16 cents a mile. Only 16 cents a mile! Wouldn't that jar a New Yorker, who sees 60 cents making faces at him on the traffic? It makes a similar reply. "Upon the count the flag goes down? Nobody living in London ever had the courage or meant to take a taxi to Brooklyn, but over here you can cover twice the distance from 125th street to the Commissioner Baker's residence in Brooklyn in a taxicab. The New Yorker would call cabbie money."

"Say, when I get back I'm going to tell Mayor Gaynor he wants to drop the system of cabbies until he learns all about how they run taxicabs in London and introduces a square taxicab deal into New York."

DEATH OF MRS. OSLER.

Toronto, April 5.—Mrs. E. B. Osler died today after a long illness from cancer.

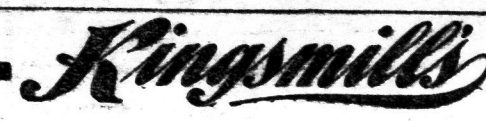

A Slow Liver Cause of Headaches

Why a mild liver remedy is so much safer than headache wafers.

Most headache wafers contain Phenacetin, Antipyrin, Acetanilid and in many cases analysis shows they contain destructive, harmful opiates. They do incalculable injury to the system, and should be looked upon with suspicion and distrust. When headache is due to the liver—don't try to "drug" the headache.

A well-known resident of Lebanon, N. H., J. P. Fleming, tells the following experience: "I think I must have the most sluggish sort of a liver. In the morning my mouth was bitter, and that foul, soft feeling that tells you, 'No breakfast needed here this morning.' A cup of coffee would sort of brace me up, but in two hours I was disposed to quit work, all energy having oozed out of me. I was in only good mood, but I guess I didn't digest very well, for I dreamed to beat the band. A friend put me wise to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I took them, and they have taken hold on my liver, perhaps my stomach, too, because from the very start they made things go right. I feel me now—awake in the daytime, but hustling for the mighty dollar and getting fun out of life every minute. That's what Dr. Hamilton's Pills have done for me—they have rebuilt and rejuvenated my entire system."

To keep free from headaches, to feel young and bright, to enjoy your meals, to sleep sound and look your best, nothing can help like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Twenty-five cents per box, all dealers, or The Catarthone Company, Kingston, Ontario.

on reaching his hotel was to announce his rupture with the Vatican, that trouble has been steadily growing. While his innocent cause today took a short respite from his strenuous holiday in the shape of a little slightseeing, which was unmarked save by a shudder at the sight of the Vatican gardens, the storm seethed and surged all over Rome. There were suppressed rumblings at the Vatican, slight quakes disturbed the calm in the neighborhood of the American college, a cloud hung over the embassy, the reception tomorrow in honor of Roosevelt had been abandoned in alarm, and a perfect tornado raged in the Methodist centre.

Attack in Billboard Form.

This morning the walls of Rome were posted with the following bill: "Papal intolerance has found a worthy response in the Protestant conscience of Theodore Roosevelt, who rejected the conditions imposed as to a reception at the Vatican. A solemn warning to those who cherish the delusion that the spirit of the papacy has changed."

Roosevelt's anger with the Methodists after seeing Rev. Mr. Tipple's communication was greater perhaps than with the Vatican. This appears not only in his pronouncement as called, but was visible in his expression and audible in his voice, and expressed in his action when he at once cancelled the reception at the embassy, which was thought was to be general for Americans in Rome, but was really intended to be especially for the members of the Methodist mission.

At the Methodist mission it is no exaggeration to say that something like a panic prevailed. Mr. Tipple's statements are thrown over, and probably Mr. Tipple will follow. Mr. Spencer, head of the college, and Mr. Clark, superintendent of the whole Methodist mission in Italy, both superior to Mr. Tipple, who is a minister of the Methodist church, emphatically point out that Mr. Tipple has been in Rome only about three months. Mr. Clark says: "Neither with my knowledge or consent has Mr. Tipple said anything for I do not repudiate his statement, for I had nothing to do with it. It is his, and his alone."

ALDERMEN SUBDUED WITH A CHILD DYING

St. Catharines, April 5.—Two of the aldermen at last night's meeting of the city council became so loud in their attack on one another that Mayor McBride was compelled to use a patently novel means of calling them to order. "Gentlemen," he remarked finally, "I must ask you to lower your voices, or else we will have to adjourn. There is a little child dying in the next room."

A hush fell over the excited men, and the argument ceased. The mayor's little daughter had been ill with meningitis for some time. She died later on in the night. The aldermen who were raising the disturbance were unaware of the little girl's illness.

A LIFE'S DEVOTION

But why describe the happenings further? One election is much like another; the same speeches are made, the same cheers are given. Scroggs' election was but little different from a hundred country elections; the one outstanding particular in which it differed was that the enemy of a certain caste—though an involuntary enemy—had found an ally in the opposite camp. It was somewhat incongruous; even in the tumult and confusion of victory Scroggs found himself thinking of its utter strangeness.

GERMANY FACES
GIGANTIC LOCKOUT

The Building Trade May Be Completely Tied Up.

Berlin, April 4.—A gigantic lockout, initiated by 22,000 employers and involving direct or indirectly a million and a half workmen, appears to be inevitable in the German building trades. The lockout will probably begin on the 14th of this month. It means the culmination of a series of disputes between organized employers and organized workmen over wages, hours of labor and other mutual interests. The trade employers held a convention at Dresden recently and drafted a new code on conditions of labor, which they presented to the unions. A conference of delegates of all unions will be held in Berlin on Monday to consider the ultimatum submitted by the employers. The majority of the delegates have already been instructed by their unions to unconditionally reject the employers' terms. The employers, who have foreseen this rejection, decided to lock out all workmen who refuse to accept their terms after April 14. The number of workmen directly affected is 400,000, but the workmen of allied and dependent trades who will be thrown out of work by the lockout is estimated to number 1,000,000. In Berlin alone 25,000 men will be locked out and 100,000 others will be indirectly affected. The minister has been appealed to, and asked to use his influence to avert a gigantic industrial war, but the employers and the workmen say they will accept neither mediation nor compromise.

BROOKLYN BANK CLOSED

State Authorities Take Charge of Affairs of the Union Bank.

New York, April 5.—The doors of the Union Bank of Brooklyn were closed this morning. The bank has seven branches. O. J. Cheney, state superintendent of banks, has taken possession.

The assets and liabilities of the bank have not been made known. Supt. Cheney said that he had no doubt that the bank's difficulties had been caused by bad loans or indifferent investments. He said that later a statement would probably be forthcoming after a further examination of the bank's books had been made. The Union Bank took over the business of the Mechanics' and Traders' Bank of Manhattan, which closed over a year ago.

A ROYAL UNDERSTUDY

Prince of Wales Slowly Taking the Place of His Father.

London, April 4.—The Prince of Wales is slowly but surely taking his place in the public life of England as his father's understudy, and the real help apparent.

The prince was for years eclipsed by the shadow of his great and popular father. He appeared infrequently in public ceremonies that might have brought him close to the great public. The King, however, has given the prince the chief figure at the humblest ceremony.

With the last year, however, the King has been giving the prince a more conspicuous position. The result is that the public has slowly discovered that while the prince seems a little distant, he is really a good deal of a man, and a much stronger character than the people believed him to be.

It will not be long before he is the chief figure on the stage of all minor royal functions, for it is known that he no longer cares for state functions, and the minor ceremonies, that are the bane of those who sit in uniform in the seat of the mighty.

RABIES DYING OUT.

Ottawa, April 5.—Very few heads of supposedly mad dogs from Western Ontario are now being received at the biological laboratory of the Experimental Farm for examination. A LOVERS' TRAGEDY.

Pittsburg, April 5.—While strolling along "lovers' path" near Mysdale, Jesse Myers, aged 25, was shot by one of the prominent families of that borough, and George Lindaman, aged 23, a mine foreman, laid headlong over a 60-foot cliff, directly on the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, an express train passing at that instant mangled the bodies practically beyond recognition. The bodies were removed by a train crew and brought to this city.

FERRY BOATS LIBERATED.

Toronto, April 5.—The ferry boats, which were seized by the police last night, were released by the fire tug Nellie Bly about 1 o'clock this morning, after several hours hard work, during which the tug lost its engine, and the boats were seriously damaged. The fog on the bay early this morning was so heavy that boats were compelled to run less than half speed, and to sound their whistles constantly.

CANADA HOUSE.

Montreal, April 5.—It is announced that German people interested in the development of wider trade relations between Canada and Germany, have organized an information bureau in Berlin, to be known as Canada House, where will be available all classes of information about the Dominion, and its trade likely to be useful to a German house desirous of doing business with this country. Mr. J. J. Blakelee, who has travelled extensively in Canada, is inquiring into trade matters, and will be the manager of the bureau.

PATTON DROPS MILLION

Colonel Patton, a hero of the World War, has dropped a million dollars in the stock market.

A reported collapse of speculators in Liverpool and New York against him, with the heavy rains in the south, is said to have caused the enormous loss to Patton and his crowd.

This price of cotton declined one cent a pound during the day. Patton alone is said to have 200,000 bales of cotton. It is the truth that he will lose a loss of approximately $1,500,000.

Recent rains in the south are said to have caused a uneasiness in the southern markets.

The market was more sensational and excited than it has been at any time since the culmination of the first big movement of the season and the big break of last January.

POISONED BY MATTRESS

Death of Several Persons Had Been Laid at Relatives' Door.

Boston, April 5.—That the arsenic found in the bodies of the three children of Mrs. Mary Kelleher, of Somerville, and those of her sister, Bridget Knowles, and her husband, Stephen Kelleher, and her husband's sister, Annie Kelleher, got there from a hair mattress on which they all slept at one time or another, and was not willfully administered by Mrs. Kelleher, as charged in the indictment, had a strong bearing in her acquittal by a jury in the superior court of Middlesex County at East Cambridge yesterday.

The jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" without leaving their seats by order of Judge Stevens and Squire, at the request of District Attorney Higgins.

A few minutes later Mrs. Kelleher left the court house free, after remaining 15 months in jail awaiting trial.

WANT EARLY CLOSING.

Ottawa, April 5.—A deputation of 500, headed by several clergymen of various denominations, and carrying petitions containing several thousand names, waited on the Hull council last night and asked that the hotels of the city be ordered to close at 10 o'clock instead of 11 p. m. There was strong opposition from the liquor interests, and the petitions were tabled until a later date.

BRILLIANT SCENE IN THE ARMORIES

His Excellency Earl Grey Opens the Made-in-London Exhibition.

LADIES CONGRATULATED

Earl Says the Idea Is a Noble One and He is Pleased With the Effort.

Brilliant indeed were the exercises marking the opening of the "Made-in-London" Exhibition in the Armories yesterday afternoon. The building presented a scene of unrivaled beauty.

Earl Grey and his party arrived shortly after 3 o'clock.

A mounted escort from the First Hussars under command of Major L. Comand, formed guard of honor to his excellency until the Armories were reached.

Here Capt. Becher had the guard of honor from the Seventh Regiment drawn up, and they gave the royal salute to the vice-regal party as they approached.

On entering the building the orchestra struck up "God Save the King," and the crowd stood bareheaded during the playing of the anthem.

His excellency was then escorted to the platform in the west end of the hall.

Lady Grey and Lady Sybil Grey accompanied him, and when they were seated, three pretty little tots, Bettie Hodgins, daughter of Col. Hodgins; Ellen Stevely, daughter of Mr. John Stevely; and Eleanor Robinson, daughter of Mr. W. E. Robinson, presented him with exquisite bouquets of roses and violets.

Mrs. Lillian Beck then read his excellency the address of welcome, presenting him with a very handsome engraved copy.

The earl acknowledged the compliment in a graceful speech.

A Red Letter Day.

"This is indeed a red letter day in my term as governor-general," said his excellency. "Today I have dedicated our splendid armory for the benefit of the suffering people of your city and district, and now it is my duty to open this exhibition to assist that institution. On my last visit here, as in this, I was delighted with the beauty of your streets and the beauty of the city, but I was not prepared for a scene like this. I must congratulate the ladies who have assisted in their infallible good taste and their energy, there are evidences of the highest order of the exhibition that you intend to wage relentless war on the most formidable enemy to the efficiency of Canada. I wish you goodspeed in your undertaking, and feel confident that with the enthusiasm and ability you have displayed, you will succeed in your aim. It is just as possible to stamp out the white plague as your ancestors did leprosy, and this fact is becoming more and more understood. I will rely on you to make your best efforts—efforts commensurate with the evil you have undertaken to combat. It is difficult to convince people of the evil with which they are familiar. If the same evil were presented in an unfamiliar form they would rise up, and stamp it out immediately. If a lion were to seize a victim a day for a period of time, the citizens would rise up quickly and slay the despoiler of their homes. Tuberculosis can be stamped out just as certainly as a lion can be killed.

Fight the Disease.

"You have the power to moderate and reduce this disease. I never visited a city so favored to battle with the white plague. I have happy recollections of my visit here four years ago. I then asked to be shown the poorest as well as the richest homes in the city, and I was delighted beyond measure to know that you had few poor, and no slums. Every home is surrounded, and garden surrounded, and I thought then that it was one of the most beautiful cities I had ever visited. It is your duty to keep London a garden city, renowned for its beauty and health, to keep it free from the diseases that punish and penalize the people who make no adequate means to combat them.

"With these words I declare the exhibition opened. I congratulate again the ladies who have been touched with enthusiasm in their most laudable enterprise, and I hope that the spirit that is one's dearest privilege to assist in the well being of their native city and country will grow and become your boast.

"I thank you for the splendid address so well as significantly engrossed."

Mayor Beattie followed, and referred to the distinguished honor done the city in the visit of their excellencies. He congratulated the management of the exhibition on the splendor of the display, and declared it to be a thing of beauty, and would undoubtedly be a joy forever.

His worship paid a compliment to London in preparing such excellent displays, and it was to their great credit.

Holiday on Friday.

"By special request of their excellencies, I have arranged that the school children of London will have a full day's holiday on Friday. It was intended to have the afternoon declared a school holiday, but on the request of his excellency, I have declared it a full holiday."

Hon. Adam Beck followed in a brief speech, in which he outlined the purposes of the exhibition, and expressed his gratitude to the ladies of London for their unfailing kindness and enthusiasm during the exhibition. It was a credit to them and to the city. He was proud of them.

He expressed his personal appreciation of the courtesy of Earl Grey and Lady Grey in coming to London, and declared that words failed him to express his great pleasure at the visit.

Then followed the grand march. Headed by the Seventh Regiment Band, the young lady assistants in the different booths in costume, marched about the Armories. Sergt. Major Borland, of Wolseley Barracks, and a staff of men directed the manoeuvres, and to say that they were capably done is putting it mildly. The young ladies were really a very pretty lot, and the visitors were loud in their praises of them. Earl Grey was very enthusiastic over this part of the programme.

Booths Visited.

After this was finished, their excellencies visited each of the different booths, and complimented those in charge on the fine display. Lady Grey accumulated a rare collection of souvenirs, and the aides were quite laden with trinkets when the visit was finished.

At 4:15 the guard of honor was again drawn up, and the vice-regal party departed for the Grand Trunk station. All along the line large crowds greeted them, and much enthusiasm was evinced.

Hon. Adam Beck, Mayor Beattie, Philip Pocock, A. L. McMahon, Sheriff Cameron, and a number of prominent citizens went to the depot, and bade his excellency good-bye.

The speech was most enthusiastic, and if the earl carries away with him as pleasant memories as the citizens of London have, they will be most pleasant indeed.

MONEY IN FARMING?

If So Why Is There Not a Rush for the Land.

Ottawa, Ont., April 6.—The cost of living came up in the annual report of the committee yesterday, and before the discussion ended the solution of the problem by greater reciprocity with the United States was advanced and supported.

Mr. C. J. Thornton (Durham) said that the situation was in the hands of the farmers.

"Town people were suffering, while fortunes were being made out of five-acre plots by intensive farming."

Mr. W. O. Sealey (Wentworth) took slight exception to the classification of Canadian farmers with King Midas.

"If town people think that farmers are making barrels of money, there is no wonder that in this country, let them do likewise," he said. "The increased cost of living is due to waste. Enough apples rot yearly on the ground around Hamilton to supply the city."

"This committee should recommend that the Government secure United States markets for Canadian farm products," said Mr. Wm. Wright (Muskoka). "They are discriminated against shamefully. If any measure of reciprocity is to be of any use, it must be presented in the near future. The agricultural interests should be considered."

Mr. Thornton explained that he really agreed with Mr. Sealey, and suggested that a great publicity propaganda be started by the agriculture and colonization committee which would tempt town dwellers to adopt rural life.

"THE CITY" SWARMS

Half a Million Daily in Financial Heart of Old London.

London, April 6.—Like the Wall Street district in New York, the city as the financial quarter of London is called, is a very lively and populous place in the daytime, but at night it is deserted, except by janitors and their families. The population of the city of London is curious about the number of inhabitants the historic square mile contains, and it is about to take a day census.

The ordinary census applies to the sleeping residents, but the real life and activity of the city are measured by its day population, and not by its permanent population of janitors and their families. The resident population of the city has been declining for years. The last estimate was that it did not exceed 18,000 or 20,000.

It is supposed the new census of the day population, the census of the merchants, brokers, bankers and their swarms of clerks, will disclose a population of at least 500,000. The official agent, say, of perhaps twenty of New York's skyscrapers.

SENT TO CENTRAL.

Toronto, April 5.—A convict, 18 years old, was sentenced at this morning's police court to four months in the Central Prison on four convictions for housebreaking.

INVIGORATING TONIC

Miss Ella Muriel Wood, of Brownsville, Ont., says: "Two years ago I was going into a decline. I could hardly drag myself across the floor. I could not sweep the carpet. If I went for a drive, I had to lie down when I came back; if I went for a mile on my wheel I was too weak to lift it through the gateway, and last time I came in from having a spin I dropped utterly helpless from fatigue. My father would give me no peace until I secured PSYCHINE, knowing it was excellent for decline or weakness. I must say the results are wonderful and people remarked my improvement. Instead of a little, pale, hollow-cheeked, listless, melancholy girl, I am to-day full of life, ready for a sleigh-ride, a skating match, or an evening party with anyone, and a few months ago I could not struggle to church, 40 rods from my home. I have never had the slightest cause to fear any return of the disease."

SEND ME ANOTHER BOX OF "LITTLE DIGESTERS"

That's what Mr. E. S. Glasco, of Toronto, wrote us last May, after he had tried and proved "Little Digesters" for indigestion. He said:

"I wish you would send me another box of your 'Little Digesters.' All the members of my family have been using them and have obtained the most satisfactory results."

"I congratulate you on your success in putting up a tablet for the cure of indigestion. I suffered for years and tried everything that was recommended to me. Nothing gave me relief until I was persuaded to try 'Little Digesters.' Now I never suffer from indigestion. I enjoy my meals and am not afraid to eat, because I know a 'Little Digesters' after each meal will digest my food."

"I recommend them to all my friends who suffer from indigestion and would further say that you may publish the above if you wish. I know there are thousands of people suffering from indigestion who will be glad to know there is a safe and sure cure for them."

"Little Digesters" are positively guaranteed to cure or money is refunded.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES A LITTLE JEALOUS

Dr. Wyckoff Wants to Know Where the Mayor Gets Power to Give School Holiday.

A CLASH OF AUTHORITY

One Sequel to the Visit of the Governor-General—Reports Presented at Meeting of the Board.

At a meeting of the board of education held yesterday afternoon it was decided to ask a number of architects to submit plans for a new "Colborne street school. It was stated that a number of architects were willing to do this and the board thought it would be a good plan to see the various designs, even though they do not undertake anything definite for a while.

A Question.

Trustee Wyckoff asked when it was that Mayor Beattie had obtained the power to proclaim Friday a full holiday, as he had done at the armories. The board did not think he had the power to grant such a holiday to the school children, but under the circumstances it was decided that Chairman Gamgee should take the matter up with his worship and in pursuance of the request of the governor-general, grant the holiday.

The question of securing new typewriters for the Collegiate will be gone into at once, and the board decided to buy new machines throughout.

Miss Florence Kirk tendered her resignation to take effect at once.

A report from H. B. Spotton was received and in it he recommended the establishment of a fifth form in connection with the public schools to relieve congestion in the Collegiate. The recommendation will be dealt with later.

Leave of absence was granted Miss Jean R. Laidlaw, to attend the International Teachers' convention.

Employ a Plumber.

Trustee Balfour suggested that in view of the large amount of plumbing and repairs that there is to do continually in connection with the city schools, that it would be cheaper for the board to have the work done by their own men instead of going to a lot of different firms. The suggestion will probably be gone into later.

In the meantime Secretary McElihan will look up the cost of the plumbing bills in 1908 and 1909, and present them at the next meeting.

Inspector Edwards presented a monthly report, his annual report and also a report of his visit to the annual meeting of the Department of Superintendents at Indianapolis.

GAS STOCK AUCTION AT QUEEN CITY

[G. N. W. Dispatch.] Toronto, April 5.—Representatives of all the brokerage houses in the city and a host of private investors faced Auctioneer Townsend at noon today, when that functionary mounted the rostrum in his auction rooms to sell a million dollars' worth of gas stock. The actual stock which the company had for sale represented a par value of only $100,000, but as it bore an average price of somewhere about 200, the gas company is just a million dollars richer. To transfer this million dollars' worth of property to the pockets of the assembled investors occupied about one hour. The stock was offered in ten-share lots and the price brought ranged from 205 down to 188. The average price paid at the last public auction sale in January, 1909, was 203.91, but only half the number of shares sold today were offered then, and gas is a 10 per cent stock.

MORAN GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

North Bay, April 5.—Jas. Moran, aged 19, was today found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of Wm. Dyson, the H. N. O. agent at Redwater, on Dec. 21. He will be sentenced later.

According to the evidence, Dyson and another man got into a fight over the placing of a flat car, and while they were scuffling on the floor Moran hit Dyson with a stick. He died a few hours later.

MIYEBE GIGBE ALIGA NANA

THIS is a sentence used by a native on the mission station at Lokoja, West Africa. It means "I like best that green medicine," and the "green medicine" was Zam-Buk. The poor native had been suffering for months with a terribly ulcerated leg. Every remedy the missionary could try had been tried in vain; and until the arrival of Zam-Buk, the native had to go on suffering. When Zam-Buk arrived, the sore was treated, and in a few days began to heal. Zam-Buk finally worked a complete cure, and the missionary communicated with the proprietors, and told them of the incident, quoting the native's own words.

PROOFS OF ZAM-BUK'S HEALING POWERS.

Mrs. S. Crooks, of 488 Pacific Ave., Winnipeg, says:—"A year ago I contracted eczema, which spread over my neck and ears. Doctor's lotions and ointments were given a fair trial, yet I found no relief until Zam-Buk was used. The pain and irritation were acute, and it was quite impossible to turn my head the least when the disease was at its worst, on account of the soreness and stiffness. Zam-Buk, after several applications, relieved all this stiffness and soreness; banished the pain, and gradually healed the sore. A month ago I was also cured of a bad attack of bleeding piles through the efficacy of Zam-Buk. Part of a box was all that was necessary to relieve and permanently cure. I would advise others, who suffer in like manner, to try Zam-Buk."

BAD BURNS AND RINGWORM HEALED.

Mrs. Lewis Best, Carlisle P.O., says:—"My little daughter fell against the stove and burned her forehead very badly. The burn was about the size of a 50c piece and was very deep. It made the child's eye swell until it was almost shut, and then she got cold in the sore. It began to run matter very badly, and I could not stop it, although I bathed it well night and morning. At last I sent for some Zam-Buk, and one application stopped the discharge. I continued with the balm, and it very quickly healed the burn. Indeed, I have never seen a burn heal so quickly, and I am sure I shall always keep a box of Zam-Buk on hand in case of emergencies."

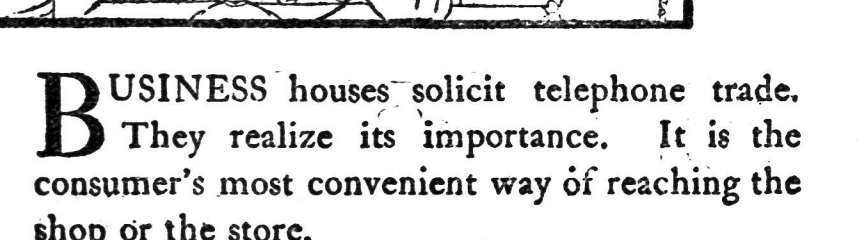

Mrs. W. G. Evans, of McLean, Sask., writes:—"My two little daughters had ringworm badly, around their eyes and on their hands. We tried several kinds of ointments, which did very little good. Finally, we procured a box of Zam-Buk, and after using it for about two weeks, the ringworm was entirely healed."

Miss Winnie Bennett, Cross Creek, N.B., says:—"I suffered from a form of eczema on my hands. My fingers had great cracks in them, and although I tried various preparations, I could get nothing to heal them. I heard of Zam-Buk and obtained a supply. I was more than pleased with the first lot, and a little perseverance resulted in a complete cure."

Case after case could be quoted in which Zam-Buk has brought health and healing when all else failed. It is a sure cure for ulcers, eczema, rashes, ringworm, acne, itch, bites, salt rheum, burns, scalds, cuts, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. Also for piles. Druggists and stores everywhere at 50c box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse worthless imitations, as times offered as "just as good." Send 10c stamp to pay return postage and this advertisement and a delivery free trial box of Zam-Buk will be mailed you by return mail.

HITS AT ROOSEVELT. Washington, April 6.—Theodore Roosevelt, the politician, has met his Waterloo, declared Rev. Father Eugene Hannon, pastor of St. Martin's Roman Catholic Church in this city, in discussing the Vatican controversy last night. "Like a bull in a china shop," he has attempted to jump into the Vatican and override the etiquette of the most august court of the world has ever known. The court of Rome is not given to assisting in political exploit, and has surely let Roosevelt know it in no uncertain manner.

"Roosevelt is the greatest press agent the world has ever known, but the people of Europe have not much use for the press agent in politics. He may swing the big stick in this country to his heart's content, but it is folly for him to attempt to ride roughshod over the Vatican."

A UNIQUE BANQUET. London, April 6.—An unique banquet was held in London last night at which Lord Coleridge presided, the gathering being composed of two hundred dependants of British Poles. The occasion was the anniversary of the birth of Algernon Charles Sumner, and the dinner included the Duke of Norfolk, Lord Lytton, Lady Lyndesay, Lady Shelley and Helen Mathers (Mrs. Henry Reeves).

MR. GRAHAM'S POSITION AS TO CHEAP POWER

Does Not Think That Eastern Ontario Is Receiving a Fair Deal.

Ottawa, April 6.—In the Commons today Mr. Blain reopened the discussion on the St. Lawrence power commission bill by asking the Minister of Public Works whether there had been any correspondence between the hydro-electric commission and the Government on the subject.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley replied that he was not aware that either the hydro-electric commission or the Government of Ontario had any correspondence with the Government with reference to the bill.

Mr. Blain inquired what the view of the Government was with regard to the bill.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley replied that the Government as a whole had no view, but each member of the Government was free to express his individual opinion. He ironically congratulated the Opposition on their new leadership, which, he said, was "exciting the wonder and astonishment of the country."

Hon. Mr. Graham, in a vigorous speech, made plain his position. He was in favor of the bill, because it would give the people of Eastern Ontario, and his own constituents, an opportunity to obtain cheap power, which they had been denied for so long. He said that the bill was a "curious piece of legislation," and that it was "a piece of legislation that would do more harm than good."

IT'S UP TO THE EAST IF THEY WANT POWER

Ontario Power Minister Replies to Criticism of Dominion Minister of Railways.

Hon. Adam Beck was seen by The Advertiser today in regard to the statement made by Hon. George P. Graham, minister of railways, when the St. Lawrence Transmission Company's bill was being considered at Ottawa. Mr. Graham said that the Niagara power commission is doing nothing for Eastern Ontario.

At first Mr. Beck refused to talk. Then he remarked:

"What did we do for Ottawa? Ottawa was tied hand and foot and had 200,000 invested. We made it possible for that city to own and operate its own plant."

"It's up to the people of Eastern Ontario. They have not grasped the situation as have the people of Western Ontario. They have not organized. We have given them estimates, and quoted them prices for power, but they have done nothing. The trouble lies in the fact that the people of Eastern Ontario have not organized. There is a company at Trent, which would no doubt seek to be bought out if we went ahead and gave them cheap power, but they have not done so. They have not organized. They have not organized. They have not organized."

MIGHTY LEGAL LIGHTS TO MEET AT HAGUE

An Illustrious Array of Counsel to A. J. British-American Differences.

[Associated Press Cable.] Washington, April 6.—An array of counsel greater in number and more illustrious in reputation than ever before assembled at The Hague, to engage in the trial of a special case, has been retained to represent Great Britain and the United States in the determination of what is the most important issue ever presented to the court. This is the case of the termination of differences which have arisen between the two governments, as to the true intent of the provisions of article 1 of the treaty of 1818, done at the city of London, between Great Britain and the United States, in the determination of what is the most important issue ever presented to the court.

WOMAN SUCCUMBED

"I thought she had suffered another stroke, as she had before, but when I ran to the stairs I found her completely enveloped in flames. I tried to tear off her clothing, but my knife wouldn't cut. Then I carried her downstairs to the kitchen, through the blinding rain, and threw a pail of water over her, and ran back up again. Heat Was Awful.

"I worked there for a long time, and the heat was awful. The smoke was so thick I could not see, and I can feel it in my lungs yet."

The canvas apron I was wearing, repairing shoes, saved my clothes from catching fire, and saved my life, for I was so tired that I could hardly move when the fire broke out. I would not have been able to save myself."

The case was reported to the police, and an investigation was at once instituted. The story told by Marcy is that he was alone in his room at the time, and was attempting to clean a 32-calibre revolver, when it was discharged, the bullet striking him.

SPAIN WARNS

Tells Ecuador and Peru They Had Better Not Go To War.

Madrid, April 6.—The Spanish cabinet today dispatched to the cabinets of Peru and Ecuador telegrams advising those Governments to adopt a conciliatory attitude towards each other. The Spanish Government considers that it was its duty to tender this advice, as King Alfonso is the arbitrator of the boundary dispute, which gave rise to the ill-fated and subsequent war talk among the people of both republics. Father Juan, superintendent of the order of Salesians, died today.

POLICE IN PURSUIT

Frank during the night, stated to the Advertiser today that she told him that she had never seen the man before. He was a well-built man, clean shaven, and wore dark clothes, according to Miss Frank. When the police arrived at the house they found Miss Frank's comb lying on the floor beside a man's Christy hat.

Bullet Through Hair

The bullet went through her hair, loosening it so that it fell down. She then started to go to a rear door leading into the yard. By this time he had raised the window and pulled himself through, and caught her just as she was getting through the door, and pushed her so that she fell outside. He then shot her through the neck. He fired two other shots at her while she was struggling with him.

HEARD THE SHOOTING

Mrs. Swain, of Wellington road, who lives two doors from Miss Frank's home, stated to The Advertiser today that Mr. Fawkes, the confectioner, was at her place at the time of the shooting, and that when they heard four shots, he remarked that someone must be doing a lot of shooting. A little while after they saw Miss Frank running down the road, but thought nothing of it, as the boys quite frequently annoyed her, and it was not unusual for her to run after them.

SAW THE MAN

Mr. William Durham, of 76 Wellington street, who works at McClary's south end works, was looking out one of the rear windows, when he saw a man coming across apparently from the London and Port Stanley Railroad tracks. This would be a short time before 6 o'clock. Mr. Durham states that the man had no hat on, and answered the description of the man who shot Miss Frank. Some of the men in the shop called at him, as they thought he was drunk, as he was acting in a peculiar manner, and seemed very much excited. One workman did call, and immediately the man hurried away towards the east. Mr. Durham states that one of the legs of the man's trousers was torn near the knee. The police are following this clue closely, as they have further information that a man without a hat on was seen crossing over the Vauxhall bridge, a short time afterwards.

Women Cannot be Strong and Healthy Unless the Kidneys are Well.

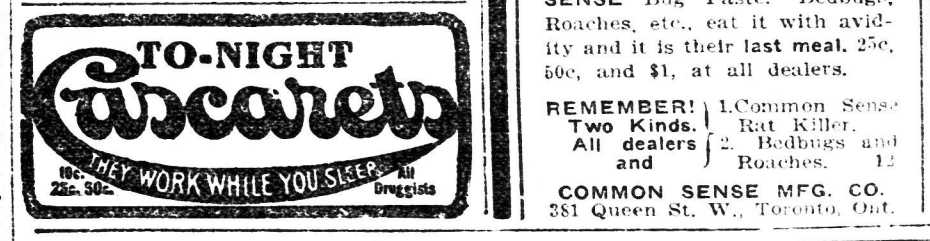

Weak, lame or aching backs are the first sign of Kidney Trouble. Under ordinary conditions they ought to be strong and ready to bear the burdens of life. It is hard to do housework with a weak and aching back. Backaches come from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause. But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order. Weak back is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you in the same way as they have cured thousands of others.

Miss Alberta B. Clarke, Stoney Creek, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with kidney trouble for several years; my back was weak, I had such terrible headaches, and was so restless I could not sleep at night and tried everything without any benefit. Meantime a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got four boxes and they completely cured me. I now feel as well as I ever did and would advise everyone suffering from kidney disease to try them."

OFFICER'S HORSE FELL

FOOT CAUGHT IN STIRRUP

Sergt.-Major Campbell Saved Himself by a Hair's Breadth Yesterday.

Sergt.-Major Campbell of the First Hussars had a narrow escape from serious injuries yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock, when his horse fell. His own coolness saved him from hurt.

He formed one of the escort for Earl Grey, and when the ceremonies had concluded, he turned north on Richmond street from York. As he did so, the animal slipped on the wet pavement, and fell on his legs under the horse, but fortunately, not sufficiently to break it. The animal jumped up quickly, catching one of Sergt. Campbell's feet in the stirrups. Quick as a flash, Campbell rose, and pulled his foot free, and the horse rushed madly down the street.

Another trooper went in pursuit of the runaway, and captured it within a few blocks.

A large crowd gathered around the man, as it was taken for granted he was quite seriously hurt.

Elcaya Creme

Elcaya (El-Ki-Ya), a tree of India, noted for its perfume. The fresh buds and leaves of the Elcaya tree have a most fragrant and agreeable odor, at once refreshing and invigorating. A paste made from the fresh leaves possesses the characteristic odor of the tree, and is used for beautifying the skin and developing retarded tissues.

Creme Elcaya possesses these qualities in a much more marked degree, far surpassing in its beneficial and beautifying effects all the preparations of its kind. Its creamy consistency and fragrant odor have led its admirers to declare it veritable "CREAM OF FLOWERS."
