PREFONTAINE'S DEPARTMENT

The New Minister Will Control Harbors and Ports After Next Session.

His Stand on the Tariff Favors Legitimate Protection to Canadian Industries.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, arrived from Ottawa shortly after seven o'clock to-night, and received a enthusiastic greeting from a large number of friends. At the East End Liberal Club he addressed a large gathering of Liberals. He thanked his friends for their loyal support, and said he had consented to become a minister at the personal wishes of the Premier.

Mr. Prefontaine denied that in his being given the Marine portfolio, instead of the Public Works portfolio, the rights of the Province of Quebec had been sacrificed. He declared that he had been authorized to announce that the control of harbors, ports and navigation improvements were to be added to the department of marine and fisheries. It was in the distinct understanding that this would be done at the next session of Parliament that he had accepted the portfolio. Mr. Prefontaine declared also that the works of improvement on the St. Lawrence would be continued until the river would be navigated at night as well as day. He referred to the great importance of the transportation question, and speaking of the fiscal policy, he said he stood for legitimate protection to Canadian industries in 1896, and he still stood on that platform. The Government would do nothing to jeopardize Canadian industries. The new minister received a most enthusiastic reception.

SOME FINDS

Murdered Girl's Watch Chain Discovered Near Prisoner Perry's House.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 12.—The police are still at work on the "Jack the Sluggish" murder cases, and are now endeavoring to get at the record of the young negro prisoner, Geo. L. O. Perry, now in custody on suspicion of the murder of Clara A. Morton and Agnes McPhoe.

The police this afternoon received a fragment of watch chain, which in texture and pattern matches that worn by Miss Morton with her watch, from F. R. Murdock, who lives near the house occupied by the Perry family. Mr. Murdock was clearing up his yard when the glitter of an object caught his eye. The find being rather unusual, and knowing that people traversed his yard to reach the Perry house, he turned the fragment over to an officer.

To-night the Somerville police found Perry's girl, and after persuasion got her to exhibit whatever jewelry she had received from Perry. Among the trinkets was a gold chain, which was recognized immediately as having belonged to Miss McPhoe. Private marks on the chain proved the identification. When the jeweller who sold it to Miss McPhoe later described his own upon it. The chain had been given by the woman to her sister.

The officers next secured letters written by Perry to the same woman and one to her sister, and in the latter missive there is reference to a chain and the instruction not to say a word about it. When Miss McPhoe was in the hospital, during a lucid moment, she asked: "Where is my chain?" At the time there was an abrasion on her neck caused by the forcible tightening of a chain worn there. After her death search was made for the chain, but without success.

All of Perry's clothes, which he wore to jail, were taken from him to-day, because an officer thought he detected a blood spot on a shirt sleeve. Perry admitted the spot was blood, saying that he had a bleeding tooth. To-night all the negro's clothing at home was seized. Some of this, especially a coat, has stains which look like blood. A Harvard professor will examine the garments.

HEROIC DOG

North Tonawanda, N. Y., November 12.—A small deer hound, a pet of the family of S. B. Kirkpatrick, editor of the Tonawanda Star, proved itself a hero the other night. Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick spent yesterday in Buffalo and returned to their home at Goudry and Oliver streets at a late hour last night. Upon retiring a night lamp was left burning on the dining room table.

About 1 o'clock they were awakened by the barks and howling of their dog close to the bedside. Mrs. Kirkpatrick was the first to arise and rushed to the dining room, where she found the lamp had exploded and the tablecloth and table were a mass of flames. Mr. Kirkpatrick soon followed, and with the help of his wife, began deliberately smothering the flames with blankets and old carpets.

About half an hour was spent in subduing the conflagration, which would undoubtedly, if left a short time longer, have entirely destroyed the building and contents, had there been no more tragic result.

WRETCHES HOLD HIGH CARNIVAL

Women are Being Terrorized by Fiends in Indianapolis, Ind.

Latest Victim Lies Dying and Public Wrath is Aroused to a High Pitch.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 12.—Another criminal assault by a negro on a white girl has been placed on record, and the victim of the dastardly outrage is in a dying condition at the city hospital.

Saturday evening Miss Bertha Wilson, a domestic employed by the Henry J. Craig family, on North Capitol street, left home about 8 o'clock to visit an acquaintance. While passing an alley she was seized by the throat by a negro, and dragged into the alley. She did not recover consciousness until 2 o'clock next morning, and on returning to the Craig home explained her condition by saying she had fallen from a street car. Her talk was incoherent, her face was bruised and bleeding, and her clothing was nearly stripped from her person.

Alarmed by her condition the Craigs called their carriage and removed her to the hospital. She continued partially unconscious until evening, by which time the hospital surgeons had discovered deep finger marks on her throat and other evidences that she was the victim of foul play.

The girl then told of the assault, saying that the disgrace was so terrible that she first concluded to conceal it. She could give no description of her assailant, save that he was a big black man and that he clutched her throat with a grip of iron before she could make an outcry. She belongs to an excellent family and her character is irreproachable.

Statistics show that fully 70 per cent of the arrests now made by the police here are colored people, running from highway robbery on to murderous affrays to ordinary misdemeanors, although the total negro population is less than 40,000 out of a possible 210,000 in the city. Of recent months, owing to the laxity of the city administration, the negroes have gone from bad to worse, until public sentiment is aroused to a dangerous pitch.

Particularly is their lawlessness rampant in what is known as Bucktown, where Negro dives abound, and where negroes and whites of both sexes indulge in orgies too shocking to be told. Not only are the negro men turning to highway robbery, but the Negro women are doing the same, and arrests of the latter are not infrequent.

Throughout the Southern States this city is known as "niggers' paradise," and it is rapidly becoming the rendezvous for desperate criminals, who are fugitives from justice.

RETAIN GREEK

London, Nov. 11.—The congregation of the University of Oxford has decided by a vote of 189 to 166, to retain Greek as a compulsory study. A minority, representing an influential section, supported a proposal to substitute German or French for Greek with the view of making the university curriculum more elastic, and giving an impulse to modern studies, which are too often neglected. Mr. Phelps, a fellow of Oriel College, on behalf of the opponents of this proposal, declared that the abandonment of Greek would be a reactionary step, and the greatest victory of obscurantism had won since the university was founded. The discussion attracted an enormous attendance. Those present included the vice-chancellor, practically all the heads of the various colleges, and the professors.

City Tax Collector Rennie reports that the taxes are coming in muddling fast. About $10,000 has been paid in so far.

NO PHYSICIAN I WAS CALLED IN

Patient in Charge of Christian Scientist Dies of Typhoid Fever.

Young Illinois Lady who Went to Act as Bridesmaid Goes to Her Grave Instead.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Miss Louise Hope, of Evanston, Ill., who has been ill here for almost a month, and who has been under treatment by a Christian Scientist healer, died to-night. Miss Hope is the daughter of Mr. Holmes Hope, assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Chicago. She came here October 17, intending to act as bridesmaid for her former school chum, Miss Ethel H. Bogan, the daughter of Dr. Samuel A. Bogan.

While the wedding preparations were going on Miss Hope became ill and remained at Dr. Bogan's house until her death. No physician of the regular school was called in, but the patient, a portion of the time of her illness has been in charge of Mrs. Ellen Brown Linscott, a Christian Science healer, who said to-night that Miss Hope had suffered from typhoid fever. The parents of Miss Hope are Christian Scientists and they gave directions that their daughter should receive medical attention if she desired, but she preferred the Christian Science treatment.

An autopsy will be performed by Coroner Nevitt, to whom the case was reported to-night. The parents of the young woman were with her at the time of her death. They refused to make any statement.

BOYS HOME AGAIN

A Couple of Detroit Lads Want No More "Hunting"—Their Experiences.

The Detroit Evening News of the 11th says:—Floyd Shrieves, the 15-year-old son of Charles Shrieves, 936 Fourth avenue, and Don Randolph, age 14, his companion, who started out last Tuesday to kill elephants, lions, tigers and whatever else was so unfortunate as to cross their path, finally went to Windsor. They began to walk to Walkerville, and stopped to play on the way. They climbed into a freight car and shut the door. The lock snapped and they were prisoners. They had not been in the prison very long before the train started. They opened a small window as the train rushed through Walkerville. "Jump," said Don. "Nope," said Floyd, who was up to snuff, "the suction would draw us under." Finally the train stopped, and they pounded and kicked until the door was opened and the strollers found themselves at Thamesville. Floyd's grandfather was on the conductor to ride as far as London, where Floyd's grandparents live.

They arrived there late at night, and found the house locked up and the family away. They broke in and slept there that night, after buying 5 cents worth of cookies for their supper. The next day they started out to find work, after sending a letter to the parents in Detroit explaining their absence. They found employment in a printing establishment for $2.50 a week. When Mr. Shrieves received their letter Friday night he left for London to bring the boys back with him. When he knocked at the door he received no answer, so he went around to the back and managed to open the door. He found the two lads sitting up in bed with an old double-barreled shotgun at the side, both barrels loaded. He took them down town and bought them a good square meal, and took the next train home with them. The boys say they will never go hunting any more. It's dangerous.

GREAT YARNS

Still Exaggerated Reports Concerning Conditions of Kent Farmers.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Rev. W. E. Norton, assistant superintendent of Baptist Missions, has returned from a tour of the western association, where he addressed many congregations on the subject of missions. Mr. Norton reports discouraging conditions among the farmers of Essex and Kent, owing to almost the total failure of the bean and tobacco crops, caused by the excessively wet weather during the summer.

Rev. C. J. Cameron, assistant superintendent to Mr. Norton, returned yesterday from a visit to what is called the eastern association, including a number of townships in Quebec. Baptist missions are progressing favorably.

The old coal sheds at the G. T. R. are being torn down to-day.

FIGHT WITH A BEAR

Comin, Mich., Nov. 12.—Mortimer Shotwell, of Mt. Clemens, had an encounter with a bear a few days ago which he will never forget. In company with several companions he started out to hunt birds. His gun was loaded with No. 8 shot, and when his dog pointed he supposed that he was being led up to a fine covey. Imagine his surprise when, on rounding a bush he found himself face to face with a big black bear, the largest seen in this vicinity for years.

Shotwell saw that he was up against it, and fired, but the first shot only served to enrage the animal, which attacked Shotwell, throwing him to the ground. Bruin was lacerating the hunter in a terrible manner when the dog came to the rescue. While the bear's attention was temporarily attracted to the dog, Shotwell got out of reach, and his companions coming along, the bear was killed.

Bruin was shipped to Shotwell's home, and he is being cared for by friends. His arm is in bad shape, but he expects to be able to get around again in a short time. He has had enough of bears, however.

COAL BARONS ALL MIMIC BAER

Truesdale, Olyphant and Fowler Reply to Mitchell's Statement.

"Agitators" and "Mischievous Makers" Blamed for Trouble in the Anthracite Field.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The reply for the Delaware & Lackawanna Co. to President Mitchell's statement to the anthracite coal strike commission was made public to-day. It is signed by W. H. Truesdale, president of the company, who says that the company owns 25 anthracite collieries and employs 12,000 workmen in this branch of its business. Truesdale, like Baer, objects to making the recognition of the union one of the issues to be considered by the commission, saying that in the proposition made by the company for arbitration one of the express conditions was that "the findings of the commission should govern the conditions of employment between it and its employees."

He adds: "This company unequivocally asserts that it will under no condition recognize or enter into any agreement with the association known as the United Mine Workers of America or any branch thereof. Nor will it permit said association to be a victim in America. Signor Zanardelli assures Mascagni interest has been taken in his case, and informing him that he will request Signor Prinetti to take up the matter. Signor Prinetti will immediately take up the case."

Signor Prinetti is awaiting the receipt of a report from the Italian embassy at Washington before acting in the affair. United States Ambassador Meyer has not been asked for an explanation, although he dined with members of the foreign office last night.

The charge of apathy brought by Mascagni against the Italian consul at Boston is regarded here as without justification, and an outcome of the musician's ignorance of the fact that an Italian in the United States is entirely subject to American laws.

THE FIGHT IN NORTH PERTH

J. C. Monteith Again Standard Bearer of the Conservatives.

Organization Complete and the Prospects are that Monteith Will be Again Returned.

Milverton, Nov. 12.—Conservative delegates from the different municipalities met here to-day and chose J. C. Monteith to contest North Perth at the coming bye-election for the legislature.

Grosch's Hall, in Milverton, has been many a Liberal-Conservative convention, but none so well attended and with such a hopeful, enthusiastic and veritable gathering of delegates as were seen here to-day. Every municipality in the riding was represented, and many others were present to greet the accredited representatives and help along the cause.

To say the prospect is extremely hopeful is putting it very mildly. The keynote of the convention was that no matter how hard or tedious the campaign might be each and all were determined to work to the utmost to return the choice of the conservative to-day, Mr. J. C. Monteith, who at the general election so splendidly redeemed the election.

Organization in every detail is complete; all the sub-division committees are at work and in full running order. The voters' lists, in the north especially are in the hands of the Conservatives. Last night a majority of 125.

Taking everything into consideration, the prospect for a successful return of John C. Monteith is very much better than at last campaign, the general feeling being that he will be returned by a very large majority.

HER BACK UP

Italy May Make Trouble Over Arrest of Mascagni—Premier's Condolence.

Rome, Nov. 12.—According to the Tribuna, Italy purposes to make an international matter of the arrest in Boston of Mascagni. The Tribuna today says: "Mascagni has telegraphed Premier Zanardelli, requesting the intervention of the Italian Government to protect him from the vexatious treatment of which he says he has been a victim in America. Signor Zanardelli assures Mascagni interest has been taken in his case, and informing him that he will request Signor Prinetti to take up the matter. Signor Prinetti will immediately take up the case."

Signor Prinetti is awaiting the receipt of a report from the Italian embassy at Washington before acting in the affair. United States Ambassador Meyer has not been asked for an explanation, although he dined with members of the foreign office last night.

LOCAL ROBBERIES

Thamesville, Ont., Nov. 12.—Two houses, two general stores, a butcher shop and an office, were burglarized here, last night. Nothing but small things, including cigars, meat, etc., was taken. It is believed to be the work of local parties.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13.

IT IS SIMPLY A BAD DREAM.

His Grace Archbishop Ireland, speaking at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Society in New York City, expressed the conviction that the stately banner of the United States would wave mistress over all the territory from the Gulf of Mexico to Hudson's Bay, comments the Toronto News. There would be no conquest, no war, the hearts of Canadians, he said, were already beating with love for the United States, and commerce and agriculture were both calling for espousals.

His Grace may be a prophet, but if his vision of the future is not more accurate than his opinion of present conditions, his prophecy is merely a bad dream. Canadians may love their neighbors across the line, but time will show that they love their nationality and their country more. Time was when Canada might have become a part of the republic, but that time has passed.

Within her own bounds Canada possesses all the potentialities of national greatness, which the United States possessed thirty years ago. She has a national future which her people will never resign. They may admire and emulate the methods by which the United States have acquired industrial greatness, but the possibility of similar success is in itself enough to prevent the winking of Canadian national existence in that of the United States.

AN OBVIOUS COMPARISON.

King Edward has expressed a special wish that Colonial Secretary Chamberlain should sail to South Africa in the "Good Hope."

This vessel is Cape Colony's gift to the Imperial Navy, on the occasion of Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee in 1897. She has just been completed, and is 14,000 tons burden. She is 500 feet in length and her engines are 3,000 horsepower. They give her a sea speed on 21 knots. Mr. Chamberlain's voyage on her will be the occasion of her first visit to the Cape Colony.

Reading of such a gift to the Empire in general, by a colony which does not approach within a great distance of Canada in wealth, etc., is surely not calculated to make loyal Canadians proud of their premier. We, as a people, should keep in mind the fact that, to all intents and purposes, Canada treats Great Britain as a foreign country. Our premier, whose lip-loyalty has, of late years, been effusive, stubbornly opposed the proposal that the colonies should help to pay the cost of defending the Empire, of which Sir Wilfrid Laurier boasts that Canada is the gem. It was Sir Wilfrid Laurier who killed that scheme, in deference to the wishes of his disloyal fellow countrymen in Quebec. Some eighteen years ago Sir Wilfrid Laurier declared on the floor of the House of Commons at Ottawa, that if he had been on the banks of the Saskatchewan River when the fanatic Riel raised the standard of wanton and unjustifiable revolt and started with his Indian allies on the path of rapine and butchery he would have "shouldered his musket" and aided his rebel horde. And when but a week ago this same loyal Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who stated publicly his sympathy with the butchers of white women, children and unarmed clergy, was asked by the Imperial Government to consent to the raising of a small force of men in Canada from which recruits from the British army could be drawn, he immediately and emphatically refused.

Britain gives to Canada the protection of her fleet, for which Canada pays not one cent. If a Canadian in Newfoundland has a grievance real or fancied, against the French fishermen there, Sir Wilfrid's government complains to Britain, and a British man-of-war is sent immediately to enforce fair play for the Canadian. And John Bull pays the cost. No matter in what remote spot on the face of the globe a Canadian may be, if he summons the aid of British power, it is given—at John Bull's expense.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier knows—none better—that hundreds of stalwart young Canadians forswear their allegiance to their native land yearly, and take service in the United States army and navy. Were they given such an opportunity as the British Government proposed a few days ago, to serve under their own flag, they would gladly take it. And by doing so, they would be paying in part—small part—the debt we owe to Britain for her protection. But the loyal, the effusively loyal, Sir Wilfrid will not permit this. He prefers to see our young men become aliens to their own countrymen, sworn to fight against it, should occasion arise. It is time Sir Wilfrid were returned to the obscurity of the back townships, where he could spout disloyalty to his heart's content. English-speaking Canadians are rapidly sickening of his double-faced and disloyal conduct.—St. Catharines Star.

KING EDWARD COINS.

People everywhere are looking after the new King Edward five-cent piece, on which the manufacturer, Heaton, of Birmingham, England, erroneously put the queen's crown on the reverse, instead of the king's crown. The 10 and 25-cent pieces bear the King's crown. The government has stopped the issue of the 5-cent pieces, and will confiscate all those not sent out. The people are, as yet mistaken in the reason for the stoppage of this coin, and the real reason is not on account of the crown, although this is admitted to be an error. The real reason is, that the small H beneath the wreath that is necessary on all coinage done by the Heaton Company has been omitted in the first consignment of five-cent pieces that reached Canada. The 10 and 25-cent pieces of the Edward issue bear the H. All coinage, both English and Canadian, that has no letter beneath the wreath is done at the royal mint in London. The Heaton people only get the orders when the royal mint is very busy. The new Edward cent just issued, was coined at the royal mint.

WASTE ON THE FARM.

A very common source of loss to the farmer is found in the neglect of expensive farm implements and tools. These are left lying in the fields where they have been used, subject to all the inclemencies of the weather which are more destructive than actual use. Small tools are frequently lost, and larger implements rust or rot. There should be a place on every farm where implements may be kept under cover, and none should be left outside when not in use. A workshop should also be provided in connection with the tool-house, so that during rainy days or other slack periods, implements may be painted, and necessary repairs made. Much time is lost by farmers during busy seasons, such as seeding, haying and harvest, because a bolt or some other small part has been lost, and a trip to blacksmith shop or foundry is necessary to replace it. This waste of valuable time might be prevented by a little forethought or examination of the implement before it was required for use. In many cases implements are purchased which the farmer could well do without. Keeping unnecessary stock is another frequent cause of loss. If a farmer has more horses than is required to carry on the work of the farm, he could sell those he does not need, if a figure at all reasonable, can be obtained. The cow which does not yield milk or butter to pay a good profit on her keep should be disposed of, and her place filled by another, a few weeks' use if the seller and Babcock tester will usually furnish some surprising results in this direction.

All that Woodstock dealers have asked for hard coal this season has been seven dollars. An effort should be made to award them Humane Society medals.

"How high shall a girl lift her skirts in going over a muddy crossing?" asks the Acheson Globe, the questioner evidently being possessed of a humorous desire to see how many country exchanges will reply: "A little over two feet!"

Tim Sullivan, a saloon-keeper in New York City, who is a leader in Tammany politics, and was elected to congress last week, has made a fortune out of the business, yet he is a total abstainer from intoxicating drinks. Tim was badly run down from a long fit of sickness, and his doctors recommended him to take a little whiskey as an occasional stimulant. "Don't you think I can pull through without the whiskey?" asked Tim. "You might," replied the doctor. "I'll take the chance," said Tim, "and I'm d—d if I'll take a drink!"

AWFUL CHAIN OF CONSEQUENCES

San Francisco Call.
Once upon a time a man got mad at the editor and stopped his paper. The next week he sold his corn for four cents below the market price. Then his property was sold for taxes because he didn't read the treasurer's sale. He was arrested and fined $3 for going hunting on Sunday simply because he didn't know it was Sunday and paid $300 for a lot of forged notes that had been advertised two weeks and the public cautioned not to negotiate them. He then paid a big American with a foot like a large hammer to kick him all the way to the newspaper office, where he paid four years advance and made the editor sign an agreement to knock him down and rob him if he ever ordered his paper to be stopped again.

THE NEW NORTH LAND.

New Settlers Make a Living in the Temiskaming District—Work for Everybody Who Deserves it at Good Wages.

The New Liskeard correspondent of The Toronto Globe writes: What is a settler without capital to do to make a living for himself and family during the first couple of years of settlement? is a question asked naturally by every seeker after land who comes into the Temiskaming country. "Go lumbering" is, perhaps, the shortest answer to such a question, but the man on the outside will have a better idea of what he may expect if he is told what the settlers are at present doing, and have been doing for some seasons. It is impossible, of course, for a man without capital to go in and make a living off his farm at once, and it is the amount of outside work offering that enables him to save and steadily income while clearing up his land. In this country the man who wants to work need not remain a day idle. There is an instant demand for his services, and for the lumberman, he can get at liberty to work any place he likes. Where the land is close to water or a good road he can haul his timber to the banks of the river and be paid for it there by the lumbermen. If the river or road is not accessible, he will have to wait till he obtains the road to make his timber valuable, and in the meantime he works for some of the lumbermen. The latter make contracts with the lumbermen to bring out pulpwood, boom sticks, cedar ties and telegraph posts, engage a number of the settlers and put in small camps for the winter. By this means the settler obtains steady work, even where he cannot profitably handle the timber on his own lot. A farmer with several sons working this way is reasonably sure of a nice little sum when the spring comes and his accounts are settled with the lumberman.

The operations of the latter are extending every year now, and this month his farm and the ever. By this means their operations with the settlers, and exclusive of what they are doing on their regular limits. The growth of the lumber business is given to the cultivation of the farms as under different circumstances there would be. It is the exception to see a thoroughly cleared field with all the stumps taken out. Most of the settlers content themselves with taking out the smaller stumps, and in the meantime sowing among the larger ones. The necessity of earning money to support their families prevents them from working their land, while there are others whose sole business is lumbering, and who only sow enough roots to keep the family through the winter. The settler, however, gives all his attention he can to his farm, and these are making good progress.

As yet the settler, has to purchase nearly all he consumes, and with the prices prevailing this is no inconsiderable tax on him. Where he has any farm stuff to sell, however, his lot is a happy one. Hay last winter ran as high as $16 to $18 a ton, and for oats 65c to $1.00 a bushel, and later on from $1.10 to $1.25 a bushel. Potatoes were $1.15 per bag, and peas $1.25 a bushel for seed. All roots and coarse grains bring a high price, and while in some lines prices were higher than usual last winter, there is abundant reason to believe that everything that can be grown will for some years to come bring what would be considered in old Ontario high prices. The demand from the lumbermen, from the new railroad while that is in course of construction, and from the farmers themselves as they gather more stock about them, will always insure a sale at remunerative figures for everything produced, and the farmer with cleared land cannot but be prosperous.

The Asbestos Deposit.
Mr. Wellington Mackenzie, Toronto, who discovered the asbestos deposit on the shore of Lake Temiskaming, October 5, has arrived home. He brings with him a sample which shows the fibre to be unusually long and clean. This is the only known deposit of asbestos in Ontario, he says, so far as the Bureau of Mines is aware. Mr. Mackenzie has filed his claim and intends to develop it at an early date.

The man who grows and feeds hogs to the full capacity of his farm is always prosperous.

This Store

Has come to be a very important shopping centre for the Cash Buyers of this city and surrounding country. We heartily respond to this rapidly increasing patronage by offering inducements we believe not equalled in any other store. Step by step this business has grown under an iron purpose—to be worthy of this city and useful to its citizens. It is not too much to say that the position this store now occupies in the estimation of the public has been brought about by force of HIGH QUALITY and LOW PRICES. Mere talking low prices does not satisfy buyers—the doing of it is what brings and holds trade.

THE T. H. TAYLOR CO. Limited, Flour and Woolen Mills

A Plan for Sheep Raising.

Sheep are easily managed and the most profitable animal the farmer can keep, says J. W. Manville in Wool Markets and Sheep.

Sheep are the most profitable because they yield two products to help pay their expenses, wool and mutton. There are few other farm animals which do as much to pay their way.

If something happens that a sheep cannot be marketed when desired, it can be carried over another winter or year without loss to its owner, for when spring comes the wool will pay all the expense that is chargeable to it. Sheep are very durable about what they eat. They like plenty of good green feed, such as grass and the many kinds of weeds that grow on the farm, and are destructive to the crops. The sheep will leave the green, tender grass, and eat the rough weeds that cluster about the fences. Few other animals will do this.

Sheep will go through the winter with less feed than other stock and come out in the spring in good condition with all the hay they could eat. I have known them to go through the winter without grain, but I have found it the best plan to give them some grain. It makes the ewes more vigorous and strong and better mothers in feeding sheep. It is best to have a shed for them to eat in and go in and out when they please. When it is raining, the sheep will always go to the shed, and in cold weather they will generally go to the shed. But the cold does not hurt them like the rain and snow do.

Any Boys?

If there are boys in the house, or girls either, then croup, coughs, catarrh, bronchitis, and sore throat are sure to be there, too, sooner or later. Don't crowd their stomachs with medicine, just have them breathe in the vapor of Vapo-Cresolene; they'll like it, and it will give immediate relief. In this way you put the medicine right on the place that needs it. For whooping-cough it's the perfect cure.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. The Vapo-Cresolene Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Vapo-Cresolene, 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. Vapo-Cresolene Co., 130 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

"CURES" "WEAK" STOMACHS

FROM PENURY TO WEALTH.

Woodstock, Nov. 11. — Mrs. W. Smith, an Englishwoman, with four children, who have been living in the direct poverty in a hut in Waugh's woods, near Eastwood, received word from a law firm in England on Saturday, announcing that by the death of an aunt she had been left $35,000. She leaves in a few days for England to look after her fortune.

AN AUSTRALIAN SCHEME.

Melbourne, Nov. 11.—The Victorian ministry is deliberating on the question of introducing a bill depriving of the services of votes in ordinary constituencies, but allowing them to select two special representatives in the Legislative Assembly and one in the Council. This measure is proposed in order to minimize the political influence of public servants. Disfranchisement of Government's intention has been closed.

BURIED UNDER LUMBER.

Collingwood, Ont., Nov. 11. — G. G. Groomes was engaged in loosening the stakes on a car of lumber on the railway wharf here yesterday, when one of the stakes broke suddenly, and before Groomes could get away the lumber fell upon him, breaking both his legs and injuring him internally. The unfortunate man was taken to the hospital, where, after great suffering, he died this morning. He was about 58 years of age, and leaves a widow and family.

REMARKABLE SUCCESS

Of a New Catarrh Cure.

A large and constantly increasing majority of the American people are catarrh sufferers. This is not entirely the result of our changeable climate, but because modern investigation has clearly proven that many diseases, known by other names, are really catarrh. Formerly the name catarrh was applied almost exclusively to the common nasal catarrh, but the throat, stomach, liver, bladder, kidneys and intestines are subject to catarrhal diseases as well as the nasal passages.

In fact, wherever there is mucous membrane there is a feeding ground for catarrh.

The usual remedies, inhalers, sprays, douches or powders, have been practically failures, and the only thing more (than an internal remedy) was concerned, because they simply dry up the mucous secretions, without having the remotest effect upon the blood and liver, which are the real sources of catarrhal diseases.

It has been known for some years that the radical cure of catarrh could never come from local applications, but from an internal remedy, acting on the blood and expelling the catarrhal poison from the system.

A new internal preparation which has been on the market only a short time has met with remarkable success as a genuine, radical cure for catarrh.

It may be found in any drug store, under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, large pleasant tasting lozenges, composed principally of antiseptic ingredients, Bloodroot, Red Gum and similar catarrh specific.

Dr. Ansieles in speaking of the new catarrh cure says: "I have tried the new catarrh remedy, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, upon thirty or forty patients with remarkable satisfactory results. They clear the head and throat more effectively and lastingly than any douches or inhaler that I have ever seen, and although they are what is called a potent medicine and sold by druggists, I do not hesitate to recommend them as I know them to be free from cocaine and opiates, and that even a little child may use them with entire safety."

Any sufferer from nasal catarrh, throat or bronchial trouble, catarrh of the stomach, liver or bladder will find Stuart's Catarrh Tablets remarkably effective, pleasant and convenient, and your druggist will tell you they are absolutely free from any injurious drug.

The man who said that poets were born doubtless sought to shift the responsibility upon nature.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Two Soliloquies.

I wonder if it would be wise
For me to wed her?
She's pretty, has good hair and eyes
In many ways she seems a prize.
Yet when I see her anger rise
I dread her!

Yet when I see her anger rise
I dread her!

Not unusual.

"Strange to say, I was driven to drink in the country, when I was pretty well along in years," remarked the comedian.
"Let's hear the story," came the reply from a chorus of interested auditors.
"Well, you see we were stopping about ten miles from a tavern and we used to ride there a dozen times a day," was the quiet response.

A very happy event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. King, 3rd concession, Dover, Tuesday evening, when their daughter, Miss Delema King, was united in marriage to Joseph Laplante, a prosperous and popular young farmer of the same township. Both bride and groom are very popular in the township and the marriage was a most important one. The ceremony took place in the Pains Court church, after which the guests were invited to the home of the bride, where a very enjoyable time was spent during the balance of the evening. The presents were very numerous and beautiful. The young couple will reside on the Creek Road, Dover.

CANADIAN EXHIBIT

The Dominion Government intends making an exhibit of the productions of Canada at Osaka, Japan.

In consequence of this S. Glenn & Son, of this city, have been asked by W. H. Hay, accountant of the Department of Agriculture, Central Experiment Farm, Ottawa, to make up an exhibit of corn of the varieties grown in this part of the country. Among those already collected by the firm for the exhibit are White Flint, Early Learning, Compton's Early Twelve Rowed, Longfellow Eight Rowed Yellow, Gold Coin, Butler's Early Dent, White Dent, Black Dent, and several other varieties.

AWFUL ROADS

Dr. J. P. Rutherford was called to Mull yesterday on professional business. On his way out from the city he was crossing the Indian Creek bridge when his horse stepped in a hole in the planks and twisted its shoe. It is a mystery how the horse escaped from more serious injuries. As the shoe could not be straightened the doctor was forced to turn back and have his horse re-shod, thereby losing a considerable amount of valuable time. As it happened there were no serious results caused by the delay, but the doctor wishes to call the attention of the council to the dangerous condition of the bridge. It is not repaired immediately some teamster will meet with a serious accident, and perhaps draw the council into a suit for damages.

HOME FROM FRONT

Joseph Lynn, of Leamington, who has been serving in the constabulary force in South Africa, was in the city yesterday on route home and called on his friend Frank Ryall at the Fire Hall.

Mr. Lynn went to South Africa at the same time as did Charles Ryall, a brother to Frank, and since that time he has been in the same force with Charlie. A few months ago he (Mr. Lynn) was taken ill and obtained his discharge with permission to come home. In an interesting conversation with Mr. Ryall he describes the conditions which prevail in South Africa at the present time. The country is still in a somewhat devastated condition, but the Boers are now all quiet and seem to have settled down, contentedly. The most of the trouble now is with the blacks who, since the war has ended victoriously for the British, seem to think that they should have all their own way.

Excellent food is now being provided for the soldiers, which is a great relief to them. Last Christmas the soldiers' dinner consisted of one hard-boiled egg, but this year things will be far different and something better is expected. A lady cook is now stationed in each camp.

Charlie was in the best of health and spirits when Mr. Lynn said goodbye to him, and sent many kind messages to his many friends in Chatham and vicinity. He has no present intention of desire to return home.

English as she is wrote.

The gradual spread of the English language leads sometimes to curious results. Take, for instance, the following, which recently appeared in an English paper printed in Korea.

"Seoul, Korea, May 23, 1902."

Lately the police headquarters ordered to forbid the servants, & to run the horses fastly on the big streets, with their sougones, pressed the children down and hurt them on the ground and the police stopped a man running a horse hardly on its back, but a number of soldiers came along quickly and captured the poor fellow. Compare the foregoing with the choice English of the modern American newspaper, as expressed in a recent issue of "The Girard, Ill. Weekly Observer, in the following sentences:

"There is a mad dog scare here at present. Every dog that acts like he had wheels in his head is killed. Three dogs, one old cat, and an old rooster has been killed that was claimed to have been bitten."

Oriental Logic.

A man brought three pounds of meat and brought it home to his wife to cook for dinner, and then sent his way to his place of business in the bazaar. The wife was hungry and ate the meat.

In the evening the man came home and asked for his dinner.

"There is no meat," said his wife, "for the cat ate it."

"Bring the cat," said the man, "and a pair of scales."

"Weigh the cat," said the man. The cat weighed three pounds.

"If this is the cat," said the man, "where is the meat? And if this is the meat, where is the cat?"

ACHES AND PAINS.

You know by experience that the aches and pains of rheumatism are not permanent, but only temporarily, relieved by external remedies.

Then why not use an internal remedy—Hood's Sarsaparilla, which corrects the acidity of the blood on which rheumatism depends and cures the disease?

This medicine has done more for the rheumatic than any other medicine in the world.

One of Miss Stone's abductors has been captured by the Turkish police who have extracted a full confession from the brigand.

WORLD OF SPORT

FOOTBALL

A picked team in the park gave the league team a practice game last evening, which resulted in favor of city team by a score of four or five to one.

The league team showed up in better form than usual and had better combination work.

The absence of a number of the league men, however, weakened the work of the team.

The team for the game with Darrell on Saturday, will be picked from the players who turn out to practice. There will be a game this evening with the Scrubs, 4.30 sharp.

AT ST. JOACHIM

St. Joachim, Ont. Nov. 12.—The international field game was started here at 3.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Owing to the heavy rain, which fell during the greater part of the first day, only two heats of the three for the derby stake were played.

The sportsman complained of the scarcity of birds this year, which is even worse than the preceding year.

The event was run in accordance with the spotting system, and three-quarters of an hour was allowed for each heat, the dogs being run in pairs. Secretary V. B. Wells furnished the list of entries following:

Joe Frey, owned by J. B. Dale, Petrolia, Ont., and Revere Antonio, owned by Fisher, of Detroit, Mich.; Elfril II., owned by W. Donaldson, Windsor, Ont., and Th. owned by Odershaw & Pickering, of Blenheim, Ont.; Duke II., owned by Odershaw & Pickering, and Deuce, owned by L. N. Hildebrand, Detroit, Mich.; Sutton Boy, owned by C. Woodson, Montreal, Que., and Daisy Meadowbrook, owned by L. E. Peterson, Woodstock, Ont.

The total of the Derby was $167.50 and the result was as follows:—First prize, $67, Duke II.; 2nd prize, $33.50, Elfril II.; 3rd prize, $25.15, Daisy Meadowbrook; 4th prize, $16.75, Sutton Boy.

The all-aged stake was run yesterday, but was a evenly contested that the judges decided that it should be run again to-day with the following entries: Lightfield Joe, Thomas Reeder, Detroit; Sutton Boy, H. H. Wootton Montreal; Top Gallant, H. M. Graham, London; Mack M., W. E. H. Blenheim; Little Casino, Louis Hildebrand, Detroit; Tony Bae, J. Armstrong, Detroit; Counts Queen C. B. Cook, Richmond, Va.; Selkirk Selous, W. D. Wells, Chatham.

The prizes for the all-aged will be distributed as follows: First, $34.00; second, $25.00; third, $12.75.

NOTES

At a meeting of "C" Company last evening a committee of sergeants was appointed to look after target practice.

Another committee composed of corporals was appointed to get up basketball and hand ball teams.

Tommy Burns expects to be reinstated within the next month and has made arrangements to ride for several stables on the coast. Next season will find him with W. C. Whitney again—J. H. Free Press.

Ed. Ball defeated J. H. Douglas in the singles yesterday, 22 to 19. A. E. Jewett defeated Wilson Taylor by one shot in the semi-finals of the singles.

In the doubles Wilson Taylor and Harry Collins have defeated W. W. Turner and J. Sowby (Peace) by five shots.

TOWN'S AUDIT

The auditing of the books in the County Treasurer's office is being proceeded with by Government Auditor Leing. Today the treasurers of the different towns of the County of Kent were in with their books. The following called on the auditor: James Bowers, treasurer of Ridgeway; Delia Macdonald, treasurer of Wallaceburg; A. A. Smith, treasurer of Dresden; W. H. Bradley, treasurer of Perthwell; Thos. S. Foster, Hightate, treasurer of Orford; James Leslie, Blenheim, treasurer of Hanwell.

PRETENDERS PUNISHED.

New York, Nov. 12.—Regarding the recent uprising in Morocco when a soldier who claimed to be an elder brother of the Sultan placed himself at the head of a following and claimed the throne, being afterward defeated, the Times correspondent at Fez, cabling by way of London, says the heads of twenty of the pretender's followers have been nailed to the city gates.

Think of all the time and patience and nervous stitches you will save in such an investment as this—to say nothing of the comfort they afford. Soft, warm and serviceable and can be bought for a trifle above the price of the material.

At 50c Ladies' and Misses Gowns of striped flannelette, finished with narrow frills.

At 75c. Of plain colors, yoke, collar and sleeves trimmed with frills and wide torchon.

At $1.00, Pink, blue and white, double yoke, trimmed with hemstitched frills, also extra outside size.

At $1.25, with yoke of hemstitched tucks and trimmed with frills of embroidery. Pink, blue and white.

The New Petticoats

Well and attractively made of black sateen, are stylish, slightly and serviceable. Two principal features are the diversity in styles and the extreme moderation in price. Descriptions of a few:—

At $1.00—Umbrella ruffle, finished with three narrow ruffles, feather-bone cording and narrow stitched bands.

At $1.50—Of heavy black sateen, with deep knife pleating, finished with narrow ruffle, lined.

$2.50—Deep flounce, with 4-inch knife pleating, flounce is corded in clusters.

$3.50—Deep flounce with three knife pleatings, 5 inches deep, each pleating is finished with a fancy braid stitching.

$2.00—Petticoat, with umbrella flounce, trimmed with two knife pleating and narrow ruffles.

$3.75—Of good black moreen finished with a deep full knife pleating.

WOMEN'S JACKETS AND FURS

The weather up to now has not been of favoring influence or tendency for Wrap and Fur selling. Yet our business has been enormously great. Perhaps it is due to the fact that there isn't a missing link here in the whole chain of fashion as applied to women's outer garb. A QUARTET OF EXCELLENT VALUES.

I. Women's long Wraps, in Oxford grey or black, with self-collars, bell sleeves, with and without flounce, trimmed with a tuck, lined throughout with fine grade of mercerized sateen. $13.50

III. "Monte Carlo" of fine quality heavy weight chevot, stitched collar and yoke, trap, new sleeve, with turn back cuff. Lined throughout with aurah twill. $10.00

II. 36 inch jacket, double breasted in fawn, grey or black, velvet or self collar, finished with stitching or tucking. Bell sleeve with turn-over cuff. Lined throughout. $10.00

IV. 42 inch jackets of fawn or black broadcloth, tight fitting-back, double breasted, body lined, neatly stitched, velvet collar, bell sleeve. $3.50

A GOOD REASON

"Don't you think there is something in that passage in the Bible where it speaks about tempting the winds to the storm lamb?" queried Detective Archie Skirving, of the Lake Erie this morning, as he drew attention to the mildness of the summer day. "Don't you think," continued Mr. Skirving, "that the wind who sees all things must know that we have no coal in our coal bins?"

AFTER THE QUP

Belfast, Nov. 12.—The Earl of Shaftesbury has been elected commodore of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, in succession to the late Marquis of Dufferin.

In acknowledging his election Lord Shaftesbury declared himself sanguine regarding the outcome of Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge for the America's cup. But, he added, whatever the result, those friendly contests, carried on as they were in the most sportsmanlike spirit, could not fail to strengthen the friendly relations existing between the two countries.

Col. Sherman-Crawford, the vice-rock III, would be a more representative boat in management and every other way than ever before, he would accompany the challenger to the United States and anticipated that he would be able to cable to the Royal Ulster Yacht club, "Have the safe ready for the America's cup."

VALUE OF RUBIES

Paris, Nov. 11.—The value of rubies is threatened with sensible diminution, owing to the perfection to which the manufacture of artificial stones has been lately brought. Hitherto artificial rubies could be made that were on superficial examination apparently real. Examination with the microscope, however, revealed flaws and imperfections, but the Academy of Sciences today examined specimens of artificial stones manufactured by M. Verneuil, which the members declared were superb in color, and equal in purity and brilliancy to the genuine rubies. The process of production, which is partly by means of the blow pipe, is comparatively not costly.

PEAT WORKS VISITED

The Ontario Government is ascertaining what probability there is of providing in future against trouble over the fuel problem, by the manufacture of peat from the peat works.

There has been in devising a method of properly freeing it from an excess of moisture before pressing into a convenient shape for using. This has been the greatest work at the Erieau Peat Works. The Government has taken the matter up and has sent out W. E. Carter, B. A., B. Sc., mining engineer and secretary of the Bureau of Peat Investigation, to the peat beds of Ontario and make a full report to the department.

Mr. Carter reached Chatham yesterday. This morning J. L. Scott drove him down to Erieau to see the peat works, and to explain to Mr. Carter the steps so far taken towards the successful manufacture of peat fuel.

Mr. Carter made a very careful investigation, taking down with him samples of the peat for analysis, a list of the machinery and a history of the works, including the story of the difficulties met with. Mr. Carter has already visited the peat works at Brockville and other eastern points. His report will be valuable in showing just how much money is invested in the development of the peat industry in Ontario.

SUCCESSFUL COLLEGE STUDENTS

In Kent County alone and within eight days apart from those placed elsewhere, the Canada Business College, of this city, has placed three students—none of them out of their teens—at salaries averaging $50 per month. The principal informs us that the demand never was so strong nor the remuneration so satisfactory as it is at present. It certainly speaks well for the condition of trade in Canada and particularly in Kent County, when such positions are to be had within its precincts, and for the education that can properly train young men for filling such vacancies.

HANGED HERSELF

Welland, Ont., Nov. 11.—Mrs. Carrie E. Ricker of the Moore Settlement, committed suicide by hanging, Sunday.

She had been in Toronto last week for medical treatment and her friends were informed by the physician that she was suffering from acute mania and would need to be carefully watched.

Sunday she was left alone for a few minutes and quickly hung herself with a small rope that she fastened to a hook in the ceiling.

To do this she had stood upon the stove hearth, from which she had stepped down from the rope was adjusted.

MANDELL, THE MAN

Judge W. L. Carpenter, of the Wayne circuit court will, on Nov. 18, take the oath of office of justice of the supreme court. His resignation of his present office is in the hands of Gov. Bliss, to take effect on the night of Nov. 17. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Henry A. Mandell will be appointed by the governor to succeed Judge Carpenter.

THREE QUEER DISEASES.

Two of Them Abide in the Congo Region and One in Peru.

There are two remarkable diseases, either or both of which may attack you if you elect to reside within the Congo basin, but you need have no dread of them if you live in any other part of the world. One is the sleeping sickness, a terrible, mysterious and invariably fatal malady. The patient is at first only drowsy, but ends by sleeping almost continually, waking only for meals or when forcibly roused. Finally the torpor becomes complete. He cannot be roused even to take food, and dies of starvation.

The other disease alluded to is even more curious, although fortunately not nearly so deadly, and is known to specialists in tropical diseases as albinism, from a negro word meaning a saw, a very apposite name, for the typical feature of the ailment consists in the slow amputation of one or more of the victim's toes by means of a serrated bony ligature which grows around the joint of the affected member just where it joins the foot. As soon as the ligature is completely formed it begins to contract, and off comes the toe as effectually, if not quite so quickly, as if it had been severed by the surgeon's knife.

In the province of Cerro de Pasco, in Peru, may be contracted a strange malady which consigns its victim to certain and lingering death. The ailment in question is termed verrugosa (Spanish, a wart), and it occurs only in certain deep valleys in the highlands of that province. There, however, it is endemic and frightfully fatal, especially to the unacclimatized white man. The whole surface of the body in bad cases becomes entirely covered with spongy, wartlike excrescences, varying from the size of a raspberry to that of a pigeon's egg, and from every one of these the patient's life blood oozes out continually until he perishes of inanition.

FIGHT SICKNESS.

Fear Will Harm and Courage Help

Illness is most like a cowardly cur which gives chase if you flee from it, but goes on about its business, that of seeking the fearful ones, if you pass on unnoticing, but courageous. The reasons for the ability of brave men to go unharmed through pest hospitals, as did Napoleon and as physicians do every day, are not only psychological, but physiological.

The quality of mere courage seems to have a sort of pickling and hardening effect upon the tissues of the body, like the plunge in brine, steeling them against infection, while fear, by "stringing" the nerves, weakens the whole resisting power of the body, inviting the very evil feared most.

The scientific health journals have been discussing this potent fact in hygienic laws to a great extent and urging its recognition by the masses.

"Fear weakens the heart's action," says Health in an article on this subject. "Induces congestion, invites indigestion, produces poison through decomposing foods and is thus the mother of autointoxication, which either directly causes or greatly aids in the production of quite 90 per cent of all our diseases."

In recognizing this law, however, it is just as well to carry in a small pocket of one's memory the old adage, "Discretion is the better part of valor," and to avoid running needless dangers. But it is a well known fact that smallpox and like contagions will attack first those who are trembling for fear of it, often leaving unscathed the brave ones who are in the thickest of it nursing, tending and even burying the plague-stricken.

With an armor welded of equal quantities of precaution and courage one stands a good chance of immunity from the attacking hordes of disease microbes.

The Least of The Lot.

Mother—And so your friend Clara is soon to be married?

Danger (just returned from a long absence)—Yes, doesn't it seem strange? I hadn't heard a word about it until I called to see her this morning. She showed me her trousseau. It's perfectly lovely, just from Paris, and she has the handsomest ring I ever saw, and she showed me the house she is to live in and the furniture she has selected and the horses and carriages she is to have. She showed me everything except the man she is going to marry. I suppose she forgot about him.—London Answers.

Lake Colors.

Some lakes are distinctly blue, others present various shades of green, so that in some cases they are distinguishable from their level, grass covered banks, and a few are almost black. The Lake of Geneva is azure blue, the Lake of Constance and the Lake of Lucerne are green, and the color of the Mediterranean has been called indigo. The Lake of Brian is greenish yellow, and its neighbor, Lake Thun, is blue.—London Spectator.

Alternative of Education.

"Education," said the impassioned orator, "begins at home."

"That's where you're off," said the calm spectator. "It begins in the kindergarten, is continued in the boarding school, football field, Paris, London and Wall street and ends in either Sing Sing or Newport."

At the Horse Show.

McBride—Did you ever see a horse jump twelve feet over a fence?

McBride—No, I didn't know that a horse had twelve feet!

A message travels over an ocean cable at about 700 miles a second.

WILLIAM GORDON

BLIND BAGGAGE

Chief Detective Archie Skirving, on the Lake Erie, was in the International Limited going west Monday night. The train leaves here at 9:07 p. m. When half way to Windsor the baggage man discovered three men on the "blind." He opened the door and made them come into the car and put them under arrest. Detective Skirving was asked to identify the men. He went to the baggage car and recognized the men as the Siddals brothers, Aaron Siddals, Jack Siddals and their half brother, Isaac Carey. The men were taken to the Windsor police station. The Windsor Record says that the men were told to get out of the town as fast as possible, but anybody in Windsor would do that without being told.

CITY WOOD YARD.

Editor Planet:—Allow me space in your valuable paper to express my opinions of city wood yard. I consider it one of the best moves that could have been made by the aldermen at that time. There was no wood in town to be had. The wood dealers were slow in getting wood and made no attempt to supply the demands until the city took hold and purchased wood, and a good quality of wood at that. As to the rotten rails Mr. Pigott speaks so highly of, I don't think he ever burnt better wood, as it is supposed to be for cooking purposes, and any person with eyes can see that it is not fit for furnace use, and people buying this wood get value for their money. The Clerk does not recommend this wood for heating purposes, simply for cooking. I am a user of it and hope I can always have a supply. As to Mr. Pigott's cuttings, I think it would pay people to buy old papers instead, as I can send paper far ahead of sawdust for starting fires; and another thing Mr. Pigott charges from 25 cents to 50 cents per load higher than other factories. If you require a steady fire, you will need one person's time to fire up. As to Mr. Cooper's wood yard, I think by the looks of it that a five dollar bill would buy him out, as he seldom keeps more than three cords in stock. I have heard say you can't get wood when ordered. It shows what contemptible people there are in this city. The poor aldermen trying to help the people get fuel and a certain class trying to stamp them under. You understand people that have so much to say are the ones that have something to sell and have the highest prices and rob the unsuspecting public when they can. Now, come, I think the aldermen deserve credit, don't you? As to Geo. G. Martin, I don't believe he ever buys any, and I think if he bought two cords it's a mistake. I think he dreamed he had five dollars, as it is, we have to allow a whole lot for him.

OUTSIDE MARKETS.

HENRY CLEWS' REPORT.

Henry Clews in his weekly letter to The Planet, says:—
The elections had little effect upon the stock market. Fortunately there were no unsettling developments, although the decline in Republican majorities was interpreted in some quarters as an expression of dissatisfaction at that party's tardiness in legislation affecting the four leading questions of the day—protection, currency, trusts and tariff. Congress will open in about three weeks, and usually this is a period of uncertainty pending some idea of the legislative program. The coming session, however, will be a short one, expiring March 4, and no very important legislation need be expected, especially in view of the approach of a presidential election, when all such questions will be reserved for campaign talk. In the political outlook, therefore, there is nothing disturbing for the immediate future.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS

Jackson Johnson, of Norham, Ont., finds Relief from Dyspepsia and Chronic Diarrhoea in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

When a man has suffered for twenty years with dyspepsia, when he has tried doctors and medicines to no avail. When to add to his other ailments, chronic diarrhoea has developed and when at last that man finds relief from his complicated troubles in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, it is surely time to admit that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the one sure cure for Dyspepsia.

Such was the experience of Jackson Johnson, of Norham, Ont. Here's what he writes regarding it:—
"My case was an exceptional one of Chronic Dyspepsia. I had been doctoring for 40 for nearly twenty years, in which time I spent a large amount with doctors and for medicines. Two years ago I was taken with Diarrhoea, which became chronic and I became so weak I was confined to my bed."
"A person who had used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets induced me to try them. I have taken seventeen boxes up to the time of writing and have steadily improved. I am prompted to write by a desire to induce others to give a trial to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, which I claim have been instrumental in taking me from the brink of the grave and restoring me to comparative good health."

DISTRICT DOINGS.

CHATHAM CROSS.

Herbert A. Clark, of Dutton, has moved on to farm recently purchased from Wm. Russell.

G. C. Foster, of Leamington, representing the United Gas & Oil Co., of Windsor, is in the village on business.

Mrs. J. P. Campbell, of Spokane, Wash., is visiting friends in this vicinity.

Samuel Stokes, of Petrolia, was in the village last week on business. A grand tea meeting and concert will be given by the young ladies of the Methodist church, the next Monday evening, Nov. 17th. Some of the best talent has been secured and an excellent program will be rendered on this occasion. Everybody is welcome.

Rev. Mr. Clark, of Haron College, preached in the English church here last Sunday.

SOUTH BUXTON.

In this part of the township the roads are in a dangerous condition. Some of the commissioners have had the ditches cleaned out at this late season of the year, and the dirt is hauled up and dumped in piles and left, which is very dangerous to public travel, and the Council may have a few hundred dollars to pay in damages. This should be looked after at once.

P. Gleason is improving his Green-bush farm. He has had the dwelling raised and a new foundation put under it. He will build an addition and is having all the old plaster removed and renewed. He has also rearranged the outbuildings.

Jas. Ross is fixing up the farm that he lately purchased and is putting a wire fence in front.

Rev. Mr. Scott, of Leamington, has come to take charge of St. Andrew's Church.

Miss Broadbent talks of holding a public examination before she closes her school. The trustees have secured the services of Miss S. McIsaac to succeed her. We hope she will prove to be as good and kind as Miss Broadbent.

Al. Barker has retired from the farm and has moved into town.

J. M. Garel has returned from visiting friends in Uncle Sam's domain.

Joe Holland, our popular shoemaker, is working late and early trying to keep pace with the demand. He is a first class workman.

CHATHAM TOWNSHIP.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McKerrall have returned from their honeymoon and have taken up their residence on the 5th concession. They visited Windsor, Detroit, Pontiac and Mont Clemens while on their wedding tour.

Miss Mary Wilson spent Sunday with her parents at Charing Cross.

Starr Oldershaw, of Chatham, visited friends at Darrell Saturday.

Edward Overstreet is engaged in remodeling his house.

Blackburn is very ill at present.

Mrs. William Nollie is seriously ill and is going to enter St. Joseph's Hospital this week.

A childless home is a cheerless home. The maternal instinct exists in every woman, and when it is ungratified she is deprived of much of the happiness of life. It often happens that childlessness is due to some cause which can be removed, and often is removed by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This vigor and vitality which this remedy imparts to the delicate womanly organs, puts them in a condition of normal health, the lack of which is often the sole obstruction to maternity. Every woman should read Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages and 700 illustrations. It is sent entirely free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing, and customs. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the paper bound volume, or 50 stamps for cloth covered. Address Dr. R. V. So many men say that they do not care to make a speech, but will do it just to please their friends.

Messrs. C. C. Richards & Co.
Gentlemen,—Theodore Dorais, a customer of mine, was completely cured of rheumatism after five years of suffering, by the judicious use of MINARD'S LINIMENT.
The above fact can be verified by writing to him, to the Parish priest or any of his neighbors. A. COTE, Merchant, St. Isidore, Que., May 12th, 1898.

A minister isn't always walking a railroad track when he counts the ties.

Got Lame Back?

No need of that now. That sort of pain can be knocked out in short order, for Polson's Nervine, which is five times stronger than any other, penetrates at once through the tissues, reaches the source of suffering, drives it out and thus gives relief almost instantly. Not magic, but strength that gives relief. It is this power, you will find it magic, however, if you try it, pain goes so quickly. Sold by dealers everywhere in large 25 cent bottles.

You at least may learn something by trying to teach an old dog new tricks.

Why Catarrh is Fatal

Because it pours a flood of poisons into the circulation that saps strength and digestion so materially as to render the body incapable of resisting disease, and consumption is the result. Catarrh is quickly cured by Catarrhoxone, a fragrant germ destroying vapor that goes to root of the disease. It cleans and heals the inflamed mucous surfaces, clears the head and throat, and positively never fails to perfectly cure Bronchitis, Asthma or Catarrh. Nothing is so good for diseases of the respiratory organs as Catarrhoxone. Large outfit $1. Small size 25c. Druggists, or by mail from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Not every minister has discovered that the shortest sermons may have the longest reach.

The Critical Age

Height of vigor past—nature's power slowing down, vitality less, recuperative power less, endurance less. Stop the progress of decay, tone up the weakened nerve centres, impart vigor to the living brain, prepare for the future. A means of remarkable potency in the renewal of decreasing vigor is found in Ferrozone. It brightens up the whole being, imparts a sense of power and strength. By the use of Ferrozone old age is pushed back twenty years. Ferrozone gives strength, vigor, endurance, vim. Your druggist has it. Get a box at McCall & Co's.

The people who always promise to pay something find that it doesn't pay to promise.

ACHES AND PAINS.

You know by experience that the aches and pains of rheumatism are not permanent, but only temporarily, relieved by external remedies.

Then why not use an internal remedy—Hodge's Sarsaparilla—which corrects the acidity of the blood on which rheumatism depends and cures the disease?

This medicine has done more for the rheumatism than any other medicine in the world.

THE MISSION OF DOROTHY

By EMILY S. WINDSOR

Copyright, 1901, by E. S. Windsor

Cyril Moore, lawyer, was not noted for the suavity of his manner nor the mildness of his glance. Both were unusually severe this morning, and he was not inclined to deal gently with his disturber. He had been interrupted in the consideration of an important matter, but Dorothy Dale's brown eyes never flinched before his deep set gray ones.

"Please, may I talk to you a few minutes?" she asked in her soft little voice.

"I am very busy," he returned, "and gave orders that I was not to be disturbed."

"The elevator boy showed me your office, and there was no one in the other room, and so I came in," said Dorothy.

"The lawyer made an impatient movement, mentally resolving upon the course which Wilson should receive for leaving the entrance to the office unguarded."

Two little red spots had crept into Dorothy's face, but she went on bravely:

"You see," she began, "I—"

"The lawyer again moved impatiently and frowned, but his small visitor persisted."

"It is so important, you see," there was a keen note of anxiety in her voice, but the brown eyes never wavered. And what was there in their depths which brought to the lawyer's mind a vague memory and made him look at his visitor with a stirring of interest, then hesitate and finally push aside the papers over which he had been absorbed and say shortly:

"What is it? I can give you a few minutes."

"Oh, thank you," said Dorothy politely. "It is about that position in the Hilton school in surprise. What could this little, old fashioned girl have to say about that? It would be interesting to know. He pushed his papers farther away and leaned back in his seat."

"Sit down," he said, pointing to a chair. Dorothy obeyed with a grave "Thank you," settling herself comfortably in the chair which was so high that her feet were quite a distance from the ground. Her blue felt sailor hat was pushed back on her head, and several soft brown rings of her hair had found their way to her forehead. She lifted her clear eyes to the lawyer, and again their depths vaguely stirred his heart.

"You see, auntie, lost all her money in Boston, and so we had to come here to live. Auntie owns a little house here, and she says that is better than nothing. And yesterday Mrs. Pruden told her they wanted a teacher in their school and that auntie must try to get it right away."

"Oh, indeed," ejaculated Cyril.

"You see," she went on in a confidential tone, "auntie knows a lot of things. She belonged to ever so many clubs in Boston. Every one says that she is so clever."

Dorothy paused to see if the lawyer was properly impressed with the importance of her aunt's acquirements.

"Yes," said Cyril politely.

"Mrs. Pruden told auntie that you could let her teach that school, but last evening a letter came from Mr. White in Boston to say auntie must come to see him right off. You see, he attends to all of her business. So she had to go on the early train this morning."

"Here Dorothy stopped, out of breath."

Cyril uttered an interrogative "Yes."

Dorothy smiled up at him. "And I was afraid she might be too late when she came back, and then it will be such a nice surprise for her when she does come back for me to tell her I came to see you about it."

"Then she doesn't know what you are doing?" queried Cyril.

"Oh, no. I waited till she was gone."

"Where do you live?" questioned Cyril.

"Over on Rose Crescent."

The lawyer did not recognize the locality, but there had been many changes in the old town during those years in which he had been absent from it.

"Auntie will be a splendid teacher. You see, she's so sweet. Won't you please try her?"

In her eagerness Dorothy arose and stood beside Cyril, placing her hand in his woolen mitten on his arm.

The little action thrilled him. A sudden realization of the loneliness of his life smote him, and again the child's brown eyes awoke that memory.

"Please, won't you?" urged Dorothy, with an unconscious pressure of his arm.

Cyril looked down into the eager face with an expression in his own that few had seen there during later years.

"I'll see what I can do. I must know more of her qualifications. I mean," he explained kindly, "if she knows all the things that the person who teaches in that school must know I'll do my best."

"Oh, thank you. I'll go now," Dorothy slipped off the mitten and gravely tendered her hand to the lawyer. He rose and bowed over it with more ceremony than he had for many years shown any other member of her sex.

Dorothy flashed a confident smile at him and tripped jauntily away through the outer office, much to the surprise of Wilson, who was now at his post.

Wilson was still more surprised that afternoon when on going into the lawyer's private room he found him putting his desk in order and was yawned away with: "Don't bother me with that now. It's such a fine afternoon I think I'll take a walk and look at that Dorcon property."

Wilson went back to his desk. He furtively watched the lawyer as the latter put on overcoat, hat and gloves. It was the first time within his knowledge that Cyril had set aside an important matter. What had happened?

The lawyer walked on with rapid stride. There was in the air a suggestion of the spring which was not yet near.

On the corner an organ grinder was playing popular airs. A little further on a flower vender was offering bouquets of violets for sale. The scent of the flowers floated up to him, and the memories awakened earlier in the day by a pair of childish eyes were again stirred. Cyril bought one of the fragrant purple clusters, fastening it in the lapel of his coat with a smile. When had he done such a thing?

As he walked along his glance fell upon a lamppost bearing the name "Rose Crescent."

A sudden remembrance came to him of his little visitor of the morning. That was where she had said she lived. He recalled his promise to do what he could for her aunt. Why not call upon her and find out her fitness for the position? He paused to glance up and down the street.

But the child had not told him her aunt's name or their number. Then it was useless to consider it further. Still he would like to please that child.

He was walking on when he heard a dying of small feet behind him and his name called. He turned around to see his little visitor of the morning.

"Oh," she exclaimed, "I was at the window and saw you passing. I thought perhaps you were coming to see us."

"Well," said Cyril, smiling, "you did not tell me your number."

"I forgot," she laughed. "It's in here." They had been walking back, and now she stopped in front of a modest house standing back from the street.

"Come in," she said. "Auntie's just got home. I didn't tell her about it yet."

Cyril followed her up the garden path and into the house. She led him into a room opening off a small hall. A lady seated before an open fire rose at his entrance. She was not very young, and she was very sweet looking, with great brown eyes.

"Madam," began Cyril, "I—"

He broke off abruptly, looked bewildered, then ejaculated, "Rebecca Powers—"

"Cyril! Why?"

"You see, auntie, I went to see Mr. Moore about that school. I was afraid you'd be too late, and"—began Dorothy.

But neither her aunt nor the lawyer seemed to hear her. The latter was saying, "She has eyes like yours."

"You see, auntie," began Dorothy once more, but stopped as Cyril spoke again. "To find you here!" His face was flushed, and his eyes were shining. There was a bright color in the cheeks of Dorothy's aunt too. Dorothy was looking at her in surprise. Why, she knew Mr. Moore. Then she would surely get that school.

"When I saw you last, I thought that you were going to marry!"

Miss Powers interrupted him quietly. "You were mistaken, but I remember you had a bad habit in those days of jumping at conclusions."

"That one has cost me dear—all these lonely years," she said.

He took the bunch of violets from his coat. "I remember you were always fond of violets, Rebecca. Are you still?" He held the fragrant blossoms toward her, and Miss Powers, after a glance into his face, took them from his hand. She held them to her lips a moment, then fastened them carefully in her bosom.

Dorothy was becoming impatient, but to her great amazement just then Cyril stooped down and kissed her aunt.

Then he turned to Dorothy. "I am going to ask your aunt to take charge of one pupil," he said—"one who needs her very much."

"One pupil?" exclaimed Dorothy.

"Why I?"

But again neither her aunt nor the lawyer seemed to hear her.

Not Categorical.

No self respecting Persian ever answers a question by a bold affirmative or a blunt negative. He always reserves a margin.

Wilson, the Persian royal child, asked Mirza Saleh, a turbaned linguist, in regard to a servant, Hajji Isma'il.

"Is he honest?"

Mirza Saleh was busy with the pages of a dictionary.

"Little—take care—Hajji Isma'il's god—money is," said he.

"That is an answer. I want one word. Is he honest?"

Mirza Saleh closed his eyes in meditation, opened them and shook his head, closed them again and then sat buried in thought, his fingers on his eyelids. By and by he looked up, baffled.

"One word, sahib?" said he as one who should assert, "The task is impossible!"

"Certainly. One word."

He shut his eyes for the third time, as if he would keep the truth from popping out unawares. When he opened them at last, it was to search for the English of the word he had chosen. When he had found it, his face broke into an expansive smile.

"Sahib," he cried triumphantly, "de-fect-ent!"

"Deficient is good."

"It is not bad," he replied in a tone of modest pride.

"I will engage another servant, then," said the Englishman laboring in Persian.

"It better would be, sahib."

THE FRIGATE PRESIDENT.

Launched a Century Ago, Decatur's Flag-ship Lies at a London Dock—A Famous Fight Recalled.

Never again will there be a war between England and America. This is the very confident prediction of the statesmen of the two great English-speaking nations. More than ordinary interest attaches, therefore, to the once famous Yankee frigate President whose guns were among the last to be trained by Americans on the flag of England. Few are the Americans who know that one of the most renowned fighting ships of the early days of the republic lies, unheeded and forgotten, in a London dock.

Little does the President look like a fighting ship to-day as she lies in the West India Docks, denuded of guns and spars and carrying a house on her deck. But in the early years of the past century, when England was embroiled in the Napoleonic conflict, and had little desire for a dispute with the States, the fleet-footed Yankee frigate circled the British Isles, challenging every craft that flew the British flag.

Such a scourge was she to British shipping that the Admiralty issued a special circular to the navy that the President must be captured at all hazards.

How America's first European flag-ship came to fly Britain's flag is a story of Anglo-Saxon courage and daring. It was on the night of Jan. 14, 1815, that the President, having just returned from "beating the lion in his den," was chased by the Long Island Sound by a British fleet. In command of her was the adventurous Decatur. At daybreak on Jan. 15, the President having grounded and strained herself during the night, was again under sail. Decatur then discovered that four of the enemy's ships were in pursuit, one on each quarter, and two astern. At noon the breeze fell. The Yankee frigate was almost waterlogged.

A favoring breeze brought on the Endymion, the most powerful of the pursuing fleet. She opened fire with her bow-chasers, to which Decatur replied with his stern battery. This running fight continued for two days, the Endymion was so disabled that she avoided Decatur's efforts to come to close quarters. But toward midnight two Irish English ships, the Pomone and the Temeraire, crawled up in open defiance of the President at close range. Decatur was compelled to strike his colors. His loss was 24 killed and 55 wounded.

The loss of the President was investigated by a court-martial but Decatur was exonerated of blame.

The President was sent to Bermuda, and from there she was brought to England by the Endymion, whose captain was rewarded by the King.

For 35 years the President lay at Portsmouth, where she was the model for several British frigates. Later she was at Chatham, and some time in the sixties she became a drill ship at the West India Docks.

There she has rested for 40 years, and on her ancient gundeck, where once American sailors gave their lives for their flag, British bluejackets are now instructed in the art of modern naval warfare. One mark only does she bear of her American origin—the figurehead of John Adams, the second President of the republic, on her prow.—London Chronicle.

A FINE PRESS BUILDING.

Dedicated by the Chicago Press Club on October 25, at St. Louis, for the Fair There Next Year.

The Press Building of the St. Louis World's Fair was dedicated on Oct. 25, and it was the first building of the Great Louisiana Purchase Exposition to pass through a dedication ceremony. An interesting incident of the occasion was the visit to St. Louis of the Chicago Press Club, which attended the dedication in a body.

About 100 members of the club were present. After an inspection of the construction work now going on, and a luncheon at noon, the visitors returned to the Press Building, where they were met by a platoon of the Jefferson Guards and accompanied by the officials of the Fair. The building was then turned over to President Francis, who in turn delivered it to the press and publicity committees. The ceremony of dedication was undertaken by the Chicago and St. Louis Press clubs. President Homer J. Carr concluded the exercises by raising the flag over the building. The new structure is a pretty house of the colonial style. It has roomy apartments and ample accommodation for the purpose it is designed to serve.

Span of Life at the Grand To-night.—The author, Mr. Sutton Vane, has written many successful plays including the "Cotton King" and "Humanity," but none have achieved as lasting a success as "The Span of Life." Whether this be on account of its excellent presentation, its interesting story or its unique and marvelous effects, or the human bridge, is difficult to determine. The management, however, in keeping the standard up to the original deserve all the success they achieve. The famous Donizetti Trio are with this present production.

Royal Marine Band at the Grand on Friday.—Signor Guarnini, manager of the Royal Marine Band of Italy and Grand Opera Company, in preparing the repertoire of grand operas which his company will sing, heard after a rehearsal several members of his band humming the different choruses, which, of course, he decided only to carry the principals. The voices of these musicians blended so beautifully and sang so sweetly that Signor Guarnini at once made up his mind to pick out the best of the musicians who would play in the orchestral music for the opera, and rehearse in the different choruses. This proved a most novel idea, and the music lovers of this city will have a treat in store for them, because they will not only hear the band concert delivered by the greatest musical organization of its kind that Italy has ever sent here, but also an act from the grand opera. The principal parts will be sung by specially chosen vocalists, and a chorus rendered by the members of the band.

FAUST.

The Gounod quartette numbers Jeanne Elkin, the noted prima donna soprano, Lawrence Whitman, formerly tenor of the New York Castle Square Opera Company, and Henri Schlöter, the bass soloist, who has appeared, by royal command, before the present Emperor William of Germany. Music lovers will have an opportunity of hearing this noted quartette when they visit our city with Alan Tabor's magnificent production of Faust, which will be at the Grand on Monday, Nov. 17. Shipman Bros. have the direction of the tour in their care.

SUCCESSFUL PRODUCTION.

Large crowds attended the entertainment given by the Colonial Moving Picture Company in the Grand Opera House last evening under the direction of the local Oldfellows. The entertainment given was well worthy of the large house which greeted it and everyone present spent a very enjoyable and profitable evening. The company is under the management of John G. Patrick, who has made several visits to the Maple City in charge of high class entertainments.

The pictures of the coronation of King Edward and the eruption of Mt. Pelee were especially good. They were thrown on the canvas, shrouded in their natural color, and looked very realistic indeed. One well managed part of the production were the noises which accompanied the pictures. In the eruption of Mt. Pelee, the audience could almost feel the earth trembling and hear the hissing and bubbling sounds caused by the lava from the burning mountain mingling with the cool water in the harbor of Martinique.

There were 51 pictures put on during the evening, mostly of a humorous nature. Among the special pictures put on were Rock of Ages, Jack and the Beanstalk, the Big London Fire (colored) and the Stag Hunt. The company are well deserving of the best which has been said concerning their entertainment, and should they return to Chatham again there is no doubt that they would draw even a larger crowd than last evening.

PORTO RICAN RIOTS.

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.—Prof. Samuel M. Lindsay, commissioner of education in Porto Rico, and formerly of the University of Pennsylvania faculty, just home from Porto Rico, says reports of riots and bloodshed in Porto Rico during the elections were much exaggerated. "On the first registration day, Oct. 14," he said, "there was much excitement and much disorder in places, but at no time was there any danger of disturbance with which the civil government and the police could not cope successfully. Nor were the disturbances any more serious than those that occur at election times in some parts of nearly every state in the Union."

Miss Marian Palmer, of Woodstock, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Stewart.

THAMESVILLE

Nov. 12.—Edwin C. Williams, second son of E. S. Williams, Howard, and at his father's home this morning after an illness extending over a period of two years. Although of a retiring disposition, he was widely known and his many friends will regret to hear of his death. He was 43 years of age, and besides an aged father and mother, leaves three brothers and two sisters to mourn his death. The funeral will be conducted by Rev. M. G. Freeman at the family residence on Friday at 2:30 p. m., after which the remains will be interred in the family cemetery. Quite an excitement prevailed here this morning when it was found that almost every business place in town had been visited by burglars during the night. The burglars were unsuccessful in entering the hardware store and L. R. Randall's, but fared better at W. Bebbington's and the Bannister House. At the former place they secured a large quantity of money and at the latter cigars and whisky.

John Clark, of Toronto, is in town to-day.

Miss Daly has given up her dress-making business over the Public Library.

Mrs. J. J. Hennessey had a very successful sale of farm stock yesterday. W. J. Cryderman was the carrier.

The Letter-Box

MISCONSTRUING THE ACT.

To the Editor of The Planet:
Dear Sir,—Will you allow me to say that "Citizen," in his reply to "Awayback" in your issue of yesterday, is in error in saying:

"Furthermore, under the Act, warehouses where liquor may be stored are allowable, and all a man has to do would be to order liquor to be sent there instead of to his own place, and then instead of having to pay at one time the whole cost of the case of whisky, or whatever it was he ordered, he could simply go to the warehouse and take a bottle at a time, paying for it as he got it. The thing is a farce on the face of it, and to call it either prohibition or partial prohibition is manifestly absurd."

The section 155 of "The Liquor Act of 1902" in which warehouses are mentioned is as follows:

"No person herein contained shall prevent any person from having liquor for export sale in his warehouse, provided such liquor warehouse and the business carried on therein complies with the requirements in sub-section 2 thereof, or from selling from such liquor warehouse to persons in either provinces or in foreign countries, or to a wholesale licensee under this Act." Sub-section reads thus:

"The liquor warehouse in this section mentioned shall be suitable for the said business and shall be so constructed and equipped as not to facilitate any violation of this act, and not connected by any internal way or communication with any other building or any other position of the same buildings, and shall be a warehouse or building where no other commodity or goods than liquor for export from the province are kept or sold to such wholesale licensee and wherein no other business than keeping or selling for export from the province is carried on." It is plain that the storing of liquor imported for private household consumption in such warehouse is a direct violation of the Act.

Yours truly,
