ARCHBISHOP BRUCHESI WITH-DRAWS REQUEST

Montreal, May 28.-Archbishop Bruchesi notified the City Council yesterday afternoon that on account of objections raised to the corporation voting $2,000 towards the erection of a monument to Mgr. Bourget, the request for a subscription would be withdrawn.

The communication from His Grace was as follows:

THE GERMAN EMPEROR AT

The indefatigable German Emperor continues to show his great interest in the welfare of his Catholic subjects. On Friday, the 15th of May, he made a solemn entry into the ancient city of Metz, the capital of the conquered Province of Lorraine, in order to add special splendor to the ceremony of the "inauguration" of the great doorway of the grand old Cathedral, which has lately been un- cross, thereby proclaiming before the dergoing restoration - a work in astonished world your faith in this which the Emperor has taken a personal interest. merely a monument of artistic taste; it bears witness to a higher sentiment in the Imperial Mecaenas — to the Christian sentiment. In ancient Rome victorious emperors raised proud triumphal arches to perpetuate the memory of their deeds, whereas Your Imperial Majesty places all his glory in assuring to the people the benefits of peace. Your great deeds are works of peace and happiness. This work before us is a work of peace. These magnificent portals which to-day for the first time present themselves to our astonished eyes in all their beauty are the arches of peace which announce the triumph of Christ, the Prince of Peace. 'I am the door; by Me if any man enter in, he shall be saved.' These words of Our Saviour have inspired the magnificent doorways of the cathedrals of the Middle Ages; these words preside in spirit, as it were, over this new entrance. Before you, in the centre of the two magnificent doors, you see the imposing figure of the Saviour of the world. Who seems to say to all: I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life.' The doctrine of Christ, which will be represented in the new bronze gates in the form of the Gospel parables, was first of all preached to the world by the Apostles. That is the reason why the Divine Master is represented surrounded by His twelve Apostles. It is the Apostles who have transmitted the doctrine of Christ to the pastors of the ancient and venerable church of Metz, who in their people. It is not without reason, therefore, that we see in the company of the Apostles our most illustrious pastors, Saint Clement, Saint Arnold, and Saint Chrodegand. Your Majesty has not been content with merely approving of this series of ideas being carried out in the construction of the new doorway. You have several times made public profession of your belief in these truths. At Aix-la-Chapelle, the ancient city of the emperors, Your Majesty placed both yourself and your empire under the protection of the truth, that there is no salvation except through Jesus Christ, the true Son of Ged and Saviour of mankind. earthly princes reign, vouchsafe to shower His blessings on Your Im ial and Royal Majesty, on Her Ma-

Most of the annuals are at their best in a moderately enriched which has been thoroughly worked. The aster, however, delights in a very rich soil, and requires plenty of water. Several years ago, says Helen Andrews, in Rural New Yorker, I nad a large bed of Mary Semple As-follows:
To the Shareholders: ters, color a delicate rose. The plants were set twelve inches apart, and after growth began were hoed several times in a week and watered liberally every day. When in bloom they agreed exactly with the catalogue description; the stems were long and stiff, many over twelve inches in length, the blossoms three to four inches in diameter. Give each plant according to its variety, plenty of earth. The beds, asters excepted, will require but little if any watering, if Written off bank premises the method. After a rain, it is an excellent plan to loosen a layer of earth about the plants and thus prevent moisture from escaping.

The dwarf nasturtiums are not as free bloomers as the tall varieties, but are adapted to different situations. The tall kinds should be planted in vases or trained like sweet peas. The morning glory is doubtless the most satisfactory vine both for shade and bloom; still, the flower grower occasionally likes a change in vines. The Rheumatic Wonder of the Age

This Salve Cures Rheumatism, Felons or Blood Poisoning It is a Sure Remedy for Any of These Diseases.

A FEW TESTIMONIALS

193 King street East, Toronto, Nov. 21, 1902. John O'Conner, Esq., Toronto:

DEAR SIR-I am deeply grateful to the friend that suggested to me, when I was a cripple from Rheumatism, Benedictine Salve. I have at intervals during the last ten years been afflicted with muscular rheumations. have experimented with every available remedy and have consulted I might say, every physician of repute, without perceivable out. When I was advised to use your Benedictine Salve, I was a helpless cripple. In less than 48 hours I was in a position to resume my work, that of a tinsmith. A work that requires a certain amount of bodily astivity. I am thankful to my friend who advised me and I am more than gratified to be able to furnish you with this testimonial as to the efficacy of Benedictine Salve. Yours truly, GEO. FOGG. Tremont House, Yonge street, Nov. 1, 1881.

John O'Connor, Esq., Toronto: DEAR SIR-It is with pleasure that I write this unsolicited testimenial, and in doing so I can say that your Benedictine Salve has done more for me in one week than anything I have done for the last five years. My ailment was muscular rheumatism. I applied the salve as directed, and I got speedy relief. I can assure you that at the present time I am free of pain. I can recommend any person afflicted with Rheumatism to give it a trial. I am, Yours truly, (Signed) S. JOHNSON, 288 Victoria Street, Toronto, Oct, 81, 1901.

John O'Connor, Esq., Nealon House, City: DEAR SIR-I cannot speak too highly of your Benedictine Salva. It has done for me in three days what doctors and medicines have been try-ing to do for years. When I first used it I had been confined to my bed with a spell of rheumatism and sciatica for nine weeks; a friend recemmended your salve. I tried it and it completely knocked rheumatics sight out of my system. I can cheerfully recommend it as the best medicine on the market for rheumatics. I believe it has no equal.

Yours sincerely, JOHN McGROGGAN,

475 Gerrard Street East Toronto, Ont., Sept. 18, 1961.

John O'Connor, Esq., Nealon House, Toronto Ont.:

DEAR SIR—I have great pleasure in recommending the Benedictine
Salve as a sure cure for lumbago. When I was taken down with it I called in my doctor, and he told me it would be a long time before I would be around again. My husband bought a box of the Benedictine Salve, and applied it according to directions. In three hours I got relief, and in four days was able to do my work. I would be pleased to recomme it to any one suffering from Lumbago. I am, your truly, (MRS.) JAS. COSGROVE,

7 Laurier Avenue, Toronto, December 13, 1901. John O'Connor, Esq., Toronto, Ont.: DEAR SIR-After suffering for over ten years with both forms Piles, I was asked to try Benedictine Salve. From the first application I got instant relief, and before using one box was thoroughly cured. I can strongly recommend Benedictine Salve to any one suffering with piles.

Yours sincerely, JOS. WESTMAN.

12 Bright Street, Toronto, Jan. 15, 1962.

John O'Connor, Esq., Toronto:
DEAR SIR—It is with pleasure I write this word of testimony to the marvellous merits of Benedictine Salve as a certain cure for Rheum There is such a multitude of alleged Rheumatic cures advertised that one is inclined to be skeptical of the merits of any new preparation I was induced to give Benedictine Salve a trial and must say that after suffering for eight years from Rheumatism it has, I believe, effected as absolute and permanent cure. It is perhaps needless to say that in the last eight years I have consulted a number of doctors and have tried a large number of other medicines advertised, without receiving any benefit, 65 Carlton Street, Toronto, Feb. 1, 1902.

John O'Conner, Esq., 199 King Street East: I was a sufferer for four months from acute rheumatism in my 'est arm; my physician called regularly and prescribed for it, but gave me no relief. My brother, who appeared to have faith in your Benedictine Saive, gave enough of it to apply twice to my arm. I used it first on aThursday night, and applied it again on Friday night. This was in the latter part of November. Since then (over two months) I have not had a trace of rheumatism. I feel that you are entitled to this testimonial as to the efficacy of Benedictine Salve in removing rheumatic pains. Yours sincerely, M. A. COWAN.

Toronto, Dec. 80th, 1901.

John O'Connor, Esq., Toronto: DEAR SIR-It is with pleasure I write this unsolicited testimonial. and in doing so I can say to the world that your Benedictine Salve thoroughly cured me of Bleeding Piles. I suffered for nine months. I consulted a physician, one of the best, and he grive me a box of salve and said that if that did not cure me I would have to go under an operation. It failed, but a friend of mine learned by chance that I was auffering from Bleeding Piles. He told me he could get me a cure and he was true to his word. He got me a box of Benedictine Salve and it gave me relief at once and cured me in a few days. I am now completely oured. It is worth its weight in gold. I cannot but feel proud after suffering so long. It has given me athorough cure and I am sure it will never return. I can strongly recommend it to anyone afflicted as I was, It will cure without fail. I can be called on for living proof. I am,

Yours, etc., ALLAN J. ARTINGDALE, with the Boston Laundry. 2561 King Street East, Toronto, December 16, 1901. John O'Connor, Esq., Toronto:

DEAR SIR-After trying several doctors and spending forty-five days n the General Hospital, without any benefit, I was induced to try year Benedictine Salve, and sincerely believe that this is the greatest remedy in the world for rheumatism. When I left the hospital I was just able to stand for a few seconds, but after using your Benedictine Salve for three days. I went out on the street again and now, after using it just ever a week, I am able to go to work again. If anyone should doubt these facts, send him to me and I will prove it to him. Yours forever thankful, PETER AUSTEN.

Toronto, April 10, 1992,

Mr. John O'Connor: DEAR SIR-I do heartily recommend your Benedictine Salve as a sure cure for rheumatism, as I was sorely afflicted with that sad disea in my arm, and it was so bad that I could not dress myself. When I heard about your salve, I got a box of it, and to my surprise I found great relief, and I used what I got and now can attend to my daily household duties, and I heartily recommend it to anyone that is troubled with the same disease. You have this from me with hearty thanks and do with it as you please for the benefit of the afflicted. Yours truly.

MRS. JAMES FLEMING. 13 Spruce street, Toronto. Toronte, April 16th, 1902.

A SHOCKING CRIME. The thirteen-year-old daughter of farmer living near Collingwood was cruelly murdered on her way to school last week. The crime was committed through some motive which remains a mystery. Such a crime not only shocks the mind but seizes upon the public imagination. The World reporting the scene says: "In the little Roman Catholic cemetery, which Glory Whalen passed every day as she walked to school, her poor disfigured body was laid to rest on Saturday morning. It is usual, he observed, for the presiding officer to make some remarks at this particular stage of the proceedings, but in view of the fact that we shall have another meeting in six months, under the new and altered date, it seems to me unnecessary to detain you with any observations of mine. I can only say that the statement now in your hands is, I am sure, one which you will all agree is extremely satisfactory. It shows the largest profits of any of the Bank's statements for the last twenty-five years, although some indication may be drawn from the fact that in earning that profit, the business of the Bank has enormously increased. In 1876, when the profit to which I have referred was realized, the assets of the Bank-an indication of the business done-stood at $37,500,000, and to-General McDonald, who emerged so gloriously out of the controversy which arose over the conversion to the late Mr.

Mosenthal's Mistake

The secretary of the hospital was pondering over the finances of the institution. A deficit of £15,000 had to be faced. The governors said, and he agreed with them, that some vigorous action would have to be taken during the coming year. But what action? The hospital was only one of many which had claims on the compassion and generosity of a wellmeaning but somewhat heedless public. The usual advertisement setting ed his spouse: forth their needs was appearing in all the newspapers, and the secretary racked his brains to invent some appeal which should stand out from the mass and touch the right people.

It was at so fortuitous a moment that the card of Mr. Julius Rosbaum the new peerages." was brought in. Hard upon it followed owner, a man of medium height dark hair and suave manner. The pattern of his face, added to a faint suggestion of being overdressed, proclaimed the seed of Abraham.

"You will not know me," he remarked to the secretary, "but I am the private secretary of Mr. Moses Mosenthal !

The secretary knew the name and disposition of every millionaire in the world. He had long given up Mr. Mosenthal for hospital purposes as a bad job, but he was a wise man and knew he might be mistaken. "Pray take a seat, Mr. Rosbaum,"

The visitor sat down and took up his parable.

"Doubtless you know that Mr. Mosenthal has just sailed on a yachting cruise round the world."

The movements of the millionaire were all recorded in the guinea advertisement columns of the fashionable newspapers, so that the secretary was able to answer in the af-Brmative.

Before he went," continued the sisitor, "he was looking through the published list of deficits of the warious hospitals; yours, I think, amounts to £15,000.

He drew some papers from pocket and referred to one of them. "Yes, that is quite correct," said the secretary; "unfortunately,"

That includes the £11,000 due to "your bankers?" Mr. Rosbaum asked Yes: £15,000 is the total deficit.' The private secretary took from his papers a number of checks and selected one which bore the name of the hospital. At the foot appeared the signature of Moses Mosenthal.

"Mr. Mosenthal instructed me to call on you and beg you to accept a scheck for the amount of your defi-Fiency. May I take a pen? Thanks."
He bent over the writing-table and wrote the amount-£15,000- words and figures, in the blank spaces. Then the handed the check to the secretary with the especial bow and smile which separate your shopwalker from your mere counter-jumper.

The secretary, clad in complete experience, was not proof against the "My dear sir," he began,

Mr. Rosbaum. "I find my own satisfaction in being the instrument of Mr. Mosenthal's beneficence"-he smiled in a peculiar manner-"and I am sure he would not listen to a word of thanks." The speaker returned his papers to

They shook hands on the initiative of the secretary, and the instrument of Mr. Mosenthal bowed himself out.

As the fashionable announcements had stated, Mr. Moses Mosenthal was navigating the globe in his magnificent steam yacht for his own sure. True, their talk was not of hospitals nor of hundreds of thousands of pounds, but their interest in the cruise of the Argosy and in the general welfare of Mr. and Mrs. Mosenthal was a marked advance on their usual frigid bow, an advance which the gratified millionaire and his lady attributed to its true source. On the morning after Mr. Mosenthal's arrival in London the postman delivered a shoal of letters at his address. The millionaire did not wait for his secretary, but opened them himself. Half an hour later he entered his wife's apartment bearing two of them, which he placed in her hands without a word. The first letter was dated from the address of the Prime Minister in Downing street. It ran as follows:

"Dear Sir-I am instructed by Lord - to express the hope that you will favor him with a call. Lord leaves London to-morrow and will return on the 15th proximo. hopes that it will be convenient to you to make an appointment shortly after that date. I am, dear sir, your obedient servant.

CHARLES DEVLIN'S MAIDEN SPEECH

London, May 20.-Mr. Charles Devlin delivered a very able maiden speech vesterday in the committee stage of the London Education Bill, and with great lucidity and force briefly restated the case for the Catholic schools. Mr. Trevelyan had moved an amendment to Clause 1 in the early stage of the proceedings to exempt the voluntary schools from operations of the Bill. All the old arguments about the endowment of denominational teaching were trotted out, and threats of a "passive reby the supporters of the amendment. Dr. MacNamara admitted that if the amendment were carried the voluntary like better to watch the sports of the schools would be starved, unless the Government made good to them in some way or other the financial aid which the Bill provides. Mr. Devlin ridiculed the argument about the endowment of religion, and with telling effect pointed aut that whatever assistance Catholic schools would get out of the rates in the future would be simply their just right, inasmuch as Catholic parents paid rates as well as any other section of the community. He showed that not only did they pay their rates, but that under the School Board system in the past they were compelled to pay for the upkeep of schools to which they could not send their children, while at the same time they put their hands tary subscription schools in which Catholic children were provided with proper religious instruction. Mr. Devlin said he felt he ought to offer an apology for intervening in a debate which so largely concerned the City of London; but the amendment which had been proposed would deal a very serious blow at schools which were dear to those with whom was religiously connected, and wished, therefore, to explain why he some reference made to the bitterness of the controversy about school matters in Canada, whence he came. He knew perfectly well what was at the bottom of all that bitterness. It was never due to those who championed the denominational schools. It was due to those who took very much the same line as was taken up by certain hon, gentlemen an his side of the House now, and who wished to destroy the system of schools which had existed during a great number of years, and which had been given to Canada by an Act passed in the Imless about public rates, because the portionately to those who were paying those rates. The Irish members would certainly vote against the amendment, because it would deal a blow against a system of schools which had worked very well. He did not refer to the schools of the Church of England, about which he knew nowhich he questioned if they would not compare with other schools which received so much promise from hon. gentlemen who would like to see Cathno," from Liberal members). WHEN ONLY A BOY.

more than five years of age a famous stork in silver and gilt or craved in Uncle John doesn't want us running The MANCHESTER FIRE sculptor was engaged to make a statue of His Majesty.

The sculptor had great difficulty in finding a pose for his subject which should be at once spirited and natural, and sat one day in a brown study, regarding the boy as he looked out of the window.

All at once the sound of a band of music was heard in the street. The King sprang up, and brought his hand to his forehead in the military salute.

"The flag, sir! the flag!" the exclaimed. "Salute it!": The sculptor had found the pose he

THE HOME-MADE BALL Two grown-up boys of sixty were standing in front of a window in which were displayed all sorts of games and sporting goods. There were several boxes full of baseballs which ranged in price from ten cents to a dollar and a half. The Youth's Companion tells what the sexagenarians had to say:

A GENTLE-MANLY BOY.

Let no boy think he can be made the house that he lived in or the money that he spends, admonishes a writer in The Western Advocate. Not one or all of these things do it, and yet every boy may be a gentleman. He may wear an old hat, cheap ton friend as a character, and then live in the state of th clothes, live in a poor house and spend but little money. But how? By being true, manly and honorable. By keeping himself neat and respectable.

The may wear an old nat, cheep ton friend as a character, and the panion.

It came about in this way. I was again at Woodstock finishing the course in philosophy, which had been interrupted by a long attack of ill-the pioneers of French Canada, lost the pioneers of French Canada, by being civil and courteous. By respecting himself and others. By doing the best he knows how, and finally and above all, by fearing God and keeping His commandation.

A REMARKABLE CONVERSION

The Rome correspondent of The Philadelphia Standard and Times has secured from Mr. Isaac Henderson an account of his remarkable conversion to the Catholic Church, Mr. Henderson is the author of the anti-Catholic novel, "The Prelate," and of the play, "The Mummy and the Hummingbird," with which Mr. John John Drew, of the Frohman Company is now touring the United States.

"I will tell you the story and then you must judge," said Mr. Hender-Catholicism to any one, nor permittted any one to speak to me on the subject. Having assumed an agnostic position I wondered at the faith of Christians, but at last made up my mind to look into the question once more and finally determined to examine homestly and follow my convictions wherever they might lead. should then be able to say to my judge, if I found one, that I had done what lay in my power, and more no creature could do. "The first conclusion that I arrived at, after many months of study, was that if the Christian claims had a true basis, and if Christ were divine and had really founded a Church, the Catholic Church was the only institution having valid claims to be that

"After a course of reading which lasted two years I became stale of the subject. One afternoon in May, 1896, I met at a friend's house Dom Gasquet and Mgr. Moyes, who were in Rome as members of the commission to examine the validity of Anglican Orders, and I had a long and interesting talk with Dom Gasquet. Later in the afternoon I was strolling on the Pincio and met them both again. I asked Dom Gasquet if he would drive with me the next day and apologized to Mgr. Moyes for my carriage was a victoria, and I companies won't take habitual users not asking him also, explaining that with me another day.

"Some time after my outing with regard." Dom Gasquet-it was on May 8, an a lovely afternoon-I was reading Liddon's 'Life of Christ,' and, weary of the subject, I laid away the book and decided to drive to the Villa Pamphili. My wife had another engagement, and, after searching in wain for some friend who was not enmaged, I recalled my invitation, not yet made good, to Mgr. Moyes. So I drove to S. Silvestro and found him at home and free to accompany me.

"In the Villa Pamphili we left the carriage and strolled to the wall from which there is, as you know, a fine view of St. Peter's. I happened to look at my watch and noted that it was exactly 4 o'clock-a fact that has a certain interest, so please re-

He seemed more moved that I thought the matter warranted. 'Let me tell you now what I came for,' he said. 'I have been praying for a long time to know if it was my vocation to become a priest, and I have never been able to see clearly. Finally I asked God for a sign, which was that He would make you a Catholic. Yesterday, however, as I was going up the Scala Santa on my knees, when halfway up I felt that I should not try to make a bargain with God, and there and then I pledged myself to the priesthood unconditionally. Do you happen to know at what time you asked Mgr. Moyes that first question about the Holy Trinity?' 1 recalled noting the hour when we reached the wall. 'Just 4 o'clock,' I

LIFE SHORTENED BY LIQUOR DRINKING.

"The man who drinks is assured of a far shorter life than the man who does not. That has been known for fifty years, and is confirmed by all the statistics ever gathered, and it is a surprise that any stress has been laid on the fact at the anti-alcoholic conference at Bremen," said Dr. Abbott, of Boston, secretary of the State Board of Health, recently, when shown the report that Professor Segrain, of Paris, had gone into the subject of "alcoholism and tuberculosis" before that convention.

As a matter of history, experience and fact, the drinking man hasn't the same chance as the total abatainer. Dr. Abbott produced the English statistics on the matter and showed that the mortality of men who are accustomed to handle liquor daily is from one and three-quarters as great as those who are not in such proximity

"In all cases, of the brain, the lungs, the liver and the kidneys the drinking man is at a disadvantage. In liver diseases he has but about one chance in six with the other man. The German statistics prove the same thing, and if the American statistics had been properly kept up they would show the same. Portrait of Pope Leo XIII.

Magnificent Reproduction of Molthe's Celebrated Work

An EXCEPTIONAL OFFER to readers of The Catholic Register.

So general is the interest taken in the character and person of Pepe Leo XIII., who has now exceeded the days of Peter on the Pontifical throne, that a faithful and authoritative picture of His Holiness is demanded in every Catholic home.

The Register has entered into a contract for a large quantity of the reproduced magnificent portrait made by the celebrated artists, J. A. Molthe, who, in the execution of this work, has had the advantage of constant criticisms and advice of high dignitaries of the Church, the latter devoting unusual time in going over the details of this painting with the artist, so that it would be as near perfection as anything that has ever been brought out.

Those who have been favored by His Holiness with an audience, exclaim over the remarkable likeness in this painting, "It is, indeed, a portrait absolutely true to life."

RICHNESS OF THE WORK REPRODUCED

The work has been gotten out at an expense of over $5,000, the lithograph being finished in twelve separate printings on the highest grade of chromo paper, and has been treated in a very artistic man-

The value of this picture is almost beyond calaculation, since it is the very latest, and in all probability will be the last picture ever gotten out from such authoritative sources as have been used in preparing this picture.

And the remarkable strength of body, as well as of mind, of Leo XIII. is now the subject of universal comment, making him one of the most interesting men of our time. So faithful a likeness and so magnificent a work of art as the present picture is, therefore, f incalculable value to everyone.

THE REGISTER'S SPECIAL OFFER The exact measurment of this magnificent picture is 28x22 inches. It has been sold in Canada at $1.00, and in connection with some Catholic newspapers at 50 cents. The Register offers it: To all New Subscribers at......25c. To all Renewals paid in advance............25c. Together with a Copy of the Canadian Catholic

Directory for 1903, we will give this beautiful picture for......35c.

Such an offer will never be duplicated. Send in now and secure the most faithful and authoritative picture of Pope Leo to be had, and address
