What a commentary, upon Canadian forming, is implied, by the above where utiles; and how contemptible, in the estimation of foreigners, must be our system of agriculture, when a pound law is deemed requisite, in Wisconsin, to easy the spread of a pastilential wend, which the habitants, who have emigrated to the far West, have doubtless carried with thom, as a cherished mpon which land should be cultivated; that the management of their farms, bears the stamp of ignorance, carelessness, and indolesce; that their cattle are stanted, helf-starved, and profitions as stock; that their properties are undergoing a rapid and certain process of exhaustion; and that they are rendering barren and worthless, soils, which in the hands of Anglo-Saxons, might by satured to value and importance—we are not animated by to value and importance—we are not annually unworthy projudices, and we write less in annual than regret. It is a lamentable truth, that ness has cessed; and every other year the expected plaint is raised, that certain Parishes and Counties, lament 'he failure of their crops, and appre hend starvation; while the Legislature is entreat ed to extend aid, in the shape of money or grain; and the skilful and active Anglo-Saxon farmer, is his coin, to maintain a system, which is ruining those who pursus it. We do not advocate any law, which would disturb the French Canadian, in the possession of his land, or dictate to him the system of agriculture which be ought to pursue; upon such grounds, he should be a free agent, and, fancying he is farming—why, that is his affair.
The process of depletion cannot last for ever—the best soil can be wore out—he must wind up, sooner or later—either selling out and abandoning his property, or altering his mode of cultivation—the first expedient be usually adopts, as the large than the continue of the later when the later was the large than the later was the large than the later was the lat

The Canada thistle that figures in the Wisconsin penal code, whether it be indigenous to this soil, or the result of the peculiar culture of the "habitants"—flourishes unchecked in this section of our Province, to the great annoyance of the careful husbandman; and it is full time that the example of bandman; and it is full time that the example of

The objections arged against such a project, are: that the bettern of the coest recent. bles the surface of the earth; that it is studded with mountains and valleys, the height and profundity of which present difficulties not to be overcome; and that the force of the gulph stream would aweep away any floating line. On the other hand, those favorable to the scheme, say, that the ocean has been sounded between the Count of Newfoundland and Ireland; and that the depth of water would permit the sinking of suchors, if the currents of the gulph stream, or those caused by the thawing of the polar ice, demanded such a precaution; and of the polar ice, demanded such a preciution; and that, consequently, the electric line, might be floated at a level, which would protect it from the action of atorms. We believe Mr. Mores, whose name is pretty familiar to the public, as a successful projector or electric telegraph lines, has intimated that a commandeation might be established between & more and Europe. The Proprietors have their Depot established at No. 6, Jacques Cartier Place, next door to the Hotel of Seraino Giraldi, Esq. The distance for conveying the Waters to the Depot is so trifling that we are enabled to have a constant supply fresh, and are consequently in possession of a better market than any other person. Prices 174d. per gallon, and 2s. the dozen, (in bottles.) Sick persons, unable to pay for it, can have some gratis, by producing a cel thirate from their Physician, since we are unwilling that any should be deprived of these healing and wonderful Waters.
