FIND MISSING LIMB IN A GARBAGE CAN

Charred Bones of Blanche Yorke's Leg Overlooked During Search--Labeled Bottle Showed it Held Antiseptic for Use in Operation.

TAMWORTH, Aug. 1.—Carelessly thrown into an open lot at the rear of Dr. Robinson's house when the provincial police disinterred the body of Miss Blanche Yorke from the cellar of the physician's home, a garbage can was found yesterday afternoon in which were concealed a number of charred bones, the steel framework of a woman's purse and a bottle bearing the label showing that it once contained an antiseptic used by doctors to prevent septic poisoning when performing certain operations.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—King George in a final effort to prevent the outbreak of a generally European war in which millions of men would meet in armed conflict to-day at the eleventh hour sent a despatch to Emperor Nicholas of Russia and his message was understood to contain an ultimate appeal for the preservation of peace.

mained at Tsing-Tau, Japan would take no action against them, but should they attack British interests or should Tsing-Tau be attacked a situation would arise which would be dealt with by Japan in the spirit of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

CONFIRMED IN ITALY ROME, Aug. 1.—The Messagero to-day says that the German ambassador has informed the Italian Government that Germany has sent simultaneous ultimatums to Russia and France.

OTTAWA, Aug. 1.—The war situation is likely to bring H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught back to Ottawa from Hanft without completing his Western tour. A decision in regard to this will be reached to-day. There is said to be even some possibility that events may so combine as to bring about the immediate return of his Royal Highness to England.

days, so that a full council will be present to deal with questions affecting Canada in connection with the European situation. Gloomy Cables. The Canadian Government is being kept advised by cable of developments in Great Britain. The tenor of these messages is such as to leave very little hope that a general European war, involving Great Britain, and, of course, the rest of the British Empire, can be averted.

TOURISTS RUSH TO STEAMSHIP OFFICES AND CLAMOR TO GET HOME FROM WAR DISTRICTS

Travelers Prefer British Lines--Tremendous Business is Done--German Liners Told to Seek Neutral Ports.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Trans-Atlantic tourists in England entirely gave up their sight-seeing trips to-day and flocked to Cockspar street, where the headquarters of the steamship companies are situated, to try and book passages home. The companies' offices were crowded from an early hour and the clerks worked at high speed issuing tickets and making transfers to earlier steamers for those who had transportation on vessels sailing the latter part of August or early in September.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The perplexing problem of transporting hundreds of reservists and volunteers for military service in the Austro-Hungarian army to-day confronted acting Consul-General Winter. Acting under orders from the Vienna Government, all temporary arrangements for sending reservists to Austria were arranged to begin assigning them to suspended yesterday. About 700 Austrians are in the city, and it had been steamships to-day.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—At the French foreign office to-day officials declared they considered it would now be folly to rely on any hope of a peaceful outcome of the international crisis. England's efforts at Berlin yesterday, they said, had failed and any glimmer of hope which had appeared had been immediately extinguished.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—No action has been taken by the United States Government on the proposal for Ambassador Herrick to represent Germany in France, but officials expect that such duties will devolve upon American diplomats generally in Europe, and will be assumed by them.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Letters addressed to European nations at war or that may become involved in war are certain to reach their destination eventually, although considerable time may be lost in transmission.

Old Home Week Notes

The general fraternal committee held an enthusiastic meeting last evening in the council chamber, the chairman, J. F. Van-Lane presiding. The sub-parade committee reported their parade nearly completed with the exception of the allotment of places for various societies to line up and this will be settled at a meeting to be held next Wednesday evening after which the full details will be published. The sub-reception committee reported their plans completed for the reception of the large number of visiting lodges that have signified their intention of being here on August 12th. They also recommended that a souvenir program be issued for which a small charge of 5c. be made to cover cost, it being felt that many fraternal men would like to keep one as a memento of the event, this was agreed to by the general committee and it will be published by the reception committee. The sub-sports committee reported their progress completed as follows - 5 mile race, ten times around track, prizes value $25, $15 and $10. Drill Corps competition, 18 men to team, prizes $100. $75 and $50. Tango race, prizes $3, $2, $1. This will be a real side splitting event. Boys Scout, under Scoutmaster McFarlan, "A day in Scout Camp." Catching greasy pig, pig now in training and promises to prove a sprinter and Derby winner. Extraordinary engagement of a world famed troupe of acrobats from the Griffen circuit, never before seen in Brantford. Juvenile Race, for juvenile members and for sons of fraternal men, 15 years and under, prize value $5, $3 and $2. Special engagement of an international troupe of pipers and dancers in charge of Mrs. Henderson, London. Comic baseball game, Brantford professional team versus Peanuckles Happy Hooligans, most interesting game of ball ever played. No ball being used. Tug of War, 9 men, team and captain, each lodge entitled to enter one team, prizes $30 and $20. The committee will give $5 each to the oldest Fraternal man and woman on the grounds, also $5 each to Fraternal man and woman coming longest distance. Judges have been appointed as follows - Sports: Mayor Spence, W. Lahey, C. Roper, H. Cockshutt, W. Kelly; Drill Corps: Ex Mayor Hartman Dan. Noble, A. P. Van-Somern and Chief Lewis. Judges for Tug of War: Chief Lewis and Mr. Cornelius. The football committee reports everything in readiness for the big game on Brantford morning commencing at 10 o'clock, the players will parade to the grounds from the Market square at 9:30 headed by the Dufferin Rifles band. His honor the Mayor will kick off the ball and commence the game. Wednesday a Public Holiday? The committee hope to induce the council to proclaim Wednesday a public holiday. They have canvassed the factories and claim not one man opposed to take a holiday that day, nearly every workman in Brantford is a fraternal man and all want to celebrate, a holiday has already been proclaimed in Paris, so that the Paris fraternal men can come down. Parade Committee. A well attended and very enthusiastic meeting of the Parade committee of the Old Home Week was held last night at the Old Home Week headquarters Temple Building. Serjt-Major Oxtoby presided and the committee immediately got down to business for the time is now very short and there is but one more meeting of the Parade committee that on Wednesday night next. The parades are of course the body and soul of any celebration - except perhaps, the main thing it will, and enthusiastic and good reports were read by all the members who have been canvassing merchants to take part in the parade. On Monday the big merchants parade, the biggest parade of all, so they claim, will be held. It was decided last night that the parade should be divided into two sections, with a marshal in charge of each section under the general marshal, Serjt. Maj. Oxtoby of the Dufferin Rifles. Every parade will be handled in this manner. Serjt-Major Oxtoby was officially appointed grand marshal of all parades, and as sub-marshal, the following were appointed, each to be in charge of a section, J. G. Liddell, Dan Noble, W. E. Greensides, Fred Gott, Harr Bond and Logan Waterous. Parades will also be held each night of a fancy dress nature, for which prizes will be offered, and the parades will be marshalled by T. J. Kidby and W. R. McCormack. The big baseball parade on Tuesday to Agricultural Park will be marshalled by A. S. Pitcher, while the sports parade on Thursday will be marshalled by Serjt-Major Oxtoby. It was practically decided last night to hold an Old Boys' parade on Friday afternoon, with Serjt-Major Oxtoby as marshal. The final arrangements for the parade will be made at the meeting of the committee next Wednesday night. Decorations. The suggestion made some weeks ago that the citizens living in one block get together and get a plan for decoration for their own block, has been well received. Already there are four city blocks that will be decorated in this manner. The citizens on one block are determined to win first prize for the block decorations and have engaged an electrician to arrange the lighting. Over 3,000 Replied. Secretary Blain reported this morning that over 3,000 of those who received circulars had replied and signified their intention of coming. A special meeting of the executive will be held on Monday afternoon to arrange for the programme for Friday of Old Home Week.

VERY SAD DEATH

Word Received of the Death of Miss Winnie Small in Muskoka.
A sad ending indeed to a vacation occurred at Lake Muskoka last evening when Miss Winnie Small, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Small, 30 Brighton Row, Eagle Place, died, it is thought, as the result of a sun stroke she received while in bathing. Medical attention was summoned, but all efforts to save the young lady failed. Mrs. Small left this morning for Muskoka, accompanied by her son, who will make arrangements for bringing the body back to Brantford. Miss Small, accompanied by Miss Ella Rand, left over a week ago on a vacation to Muskoka Lakes. For the last three years she had been employed as operator by the Automatic Telephone Co., and was of a very lovable disposition. No arrangements for the funeral have been made as yet.

TO STOP WORK

Lorne Bridge Will be in Bad Shape For Old Home Week.
City Engineer Jones is endeavoring to secure a conference with the C.P.R. officials to-day regarding the suspension of work at Lorne bridge until after Old Home Week. It is claimed by the city that the raising of the bridge cannot be finished by Old Home Week, and that the bridge would not be safe for the big parade to march over. Should the railway refuse, steps may be taken to secure an injunction.
W. F. Cochrane and family of Toronto are guests at the Hotel Belmont.

The Appreciation of Diamonds

More and more diamonds are bought, sold and worn every year. And this in spite of the fact that the tendency of diamond prices is steadily upward. Which last fact makes the purchase of a good diamond a worth-while investment. Our diamond display to-day is away above the average. We import our diamonds direct from the cutters and set them in our own workshop. We are positive we can save you money.

THE EUROPEAN SITUATION.

At this writing the die would seem to have been largely cast for a general European war.

The embers of the recent Balkan contest, bad enough in itself, were still slumbering, when, as by magic, almost in the twinkling of an eye, the greatest conflagration the world has ever known threatened grimly and with awful menace to life and property and national and private interests.

There has been no such situation since Napoleon was putting brothers upon thrones and had practically every power apprehensive as to his next move. Great Britain was the main instrument in the humbling of that undoubted genius, on water at Trafalgar Bay and on land at Waterloo.

What are the possible hostilities about, and why? It is necessary in this regard to first go back to history. The word Slav is the general name of a group of peoples who almost exclusively occupy Eastern and Northern Europe, and at one time were all-powerful in the sections named.

Those included in the tribe, so to speak, are Russians, the Roumanians, Poles, Servians, etc., etc. It is not too much to say that hope of a restoration of pre-dominance has for generations been latent in all their breasts, and that they are of good fighting strain has frequently been demonstrated.

As before related in these columns, it was practically owing to Russia that the Servians threw off the Turkish yoke in 1877 and were recognized as a nation in 1878. The relations and the ties of the two countries are thus naturally very great and much interwoven.

So much for this phase of the matter; Germany supplies the next link.

She hasn't, considering her area, very much of a coast line to look after, and practically the only ocean in which she has a large interest is the North Sea, which exists between herself and Great Britain. She doesn't begin to have such an all-coast line as that which John Bull has to protect at home, or the tens of thousands of coast lines of overseas dominions, or the guarding of trade routes, and yet, with grim persistency, she has built up the second largest navy in the world.

Why? There can only be one answer, and British statesmen of all shades of politics have never deduced themselves with regard to it. Perhaps a personal incident may not be out of place. The writer, during a holiday jaunt a couple of years ago, formed the acquaintance of a well-known German professor then visiting Canada. A delightful man he proved to be, scholarly, affable, and altogether a most agreeable companion. One day the remark was innocently made that it was to be hoped that Germany and Britain would never come to blows.

The change in the Professor was startling. All of the Teuton blazed up in him with fierce intensity, and he became almost incoherent. After a while he calmed down, apologized, and quietly explained the cause of his ebullition. He said in effect: "The British Empire is great, she has lusty sons and daughters, of whom she ought to be proud. Germany also is great, and she, in the natural course of events, would like to have a family of her own. England has practically denied her that; has by intrigue and coalitions thwarted almost her every move. The Fatherland desires a big household, and will strike for it just as soon as opportunity seems to offer."

Here, then, an illustration is presented of the hope for expansion, and part of the design of the Kaiser and his advisers in this essential is to spread towards the Adriatic Sea. They have Austro-Hungary, with an area of 140,000 square miles, as an ally in that direction, and without doubt Austria was thoroughly in touch with Berlin before recently throwing down the gauntlet to little Serbia.

Russian interest is not alone in the last-named country, but also in the fact that she has a long border line abutting on Germany. There has always, in addition, been a quite general feeling in St. Petersburg that the Kaiser helped to egg on the war with Japan, or, at any rate, took great delight in the outcome. France, of course, knows what would happen to her in the event of a triumph of German arms—the Provinces of Alsace and Lorraine, wrested from her in the war of 1871, constitute a constant and humiliating evidence of the fact—and Great Britain most decidedly cannot afford to stand aloof, for among the mighty issues at stake is the existence of the Empire itself—don't make any mistake about that.

Russia and France have a hard-and-fast treaty between them for mutual assistance. John Bull hasn't with either, but there is an entente cordiale, or, in other words, good-will in existence between him and the other two powers. It seems somewhat of an anomaly that he should thus have his fortunes linked up with the two lands which in former years he fought the hardest, but such is the case, and there should be a heartfelt feeling of thanks that diplomacy—much of it on the part of the late King Edward—has brought about the result.

And if a general war does take place, what a strife it will be! Each of the nations will enter it with the latest thing in warships, the latest thing in flying machines, the latest thing in guns, the latest thing in submarines, the latest thing in rifles, the latest thing in bullets, the latest thing in explosives. Titanic is even almost too mild a word with which to express it.

Meanwhile John Bull is taking the situation with characteristic calm. He is slow to take his coat off, but when he does there is always something doing. His one weak spot is that he has, so to speak, to each day be given his daily bread. Any nation or combination of nations which could cut off his supply vessels would soon cause the spectre of starvation to stalk throughout the British Isles. That such a thing can happen is almost inconceivable, but the circumstances have once more called attention to the fact that Great Britain should all the time maintain well-filled national granaries.

This paper inclines to the belief that the only way in which hostilities can be averted is for Germany to back down. She saw what looked like the commencement of a civil war in Ireland, and knew of threatening murmurs in India. If these were inciting causes for action the events of the past few hours must have given her pause.

As one man the contending forces in connection with Home Rule have said when the Empire is threatened we are all shoulder to shoulder in the front fighting line. It is a grand, and an impressive illustration, together with immediate offers of aid from overseas dominions, of the loyalty and the solidarity of the great British race; of those who are proud to owe allegiance to the grand old Union Jack and what that emblem typifies.

War News Briefly Told

Ultimatums were sent to-day by Germany to France and Russia. Russia was ordered by Emperor William to stop mobilization within 12 hours expiring at noon, while France was given 18 hours to declare her attitude in certain contingencies.

Italy will probably remain neutral, as she regards the campaign of her allies, Germany and Austria, as an aggressive war in which case she is not called upon to intervene.

King George made a final effort to-day to maintain peace by telegraphing to Emperor Nicholas of Russia. The Bank of England discount rate went up to 10 per cent. to-day, the highest level it has ever had. Continental banks also raised their rates.

France was reported to have ordered general mobilization of her forces, as the prospects of peace are thought hopeless.

Strict censorship in all European countries prevented news of military movements leaking out.

Communication by telephone between France and England is interrupted, the governments being desirous of preventing leakages of information.

Japan will not intervene unless British interests in the Far East are endangered.

The German ambassador was reported to have left St. Petersburg.

Stratford Lad Was Killed in Auto Accident

STRATFORD, Ont., Aug. 1.—Gordon Miller, son of Mrs. J. H. Miller, aged about 22 years, was fatally injured in a motor accident at 2 o'clock on the St. Marys road, Miller dying at six this morning. Robby McDonald, Jack Brantford, Gordon Colquhoun and William Riehl, the driver of the car, were also injured, but not fatally.

The party were returning from a party in the country, when about five miles from the city a buggy was noticed ahead at a road crossing. Riehl, who was driving at a fast clip, turned the car which ran into and smashed a telephone pole, and was itself badly wrecked.

MERELY MATTER OF

(Continued from Page 1) certain this neutrality will last until the end of the war, but Italy will stand aloof from hostilities as long as she is convinced that her interests are not being infringed.

WHAT KAISER DID. BERLIN, Aug. 1.—An official communication published to-day in the North German Gazette says the Russian Emperor on July 9 telegraphed to Emperor William urgently requesting him to help in averting the misfortune of an European war and to try to restrain his ally Austria-Hungary from going too far.

Emperor William replied that he would willingly take up the task of mediator and accordingly diplomatic action was initiated in Vienna. While this was in progress the news that Russia was mobilizing arrived in Berlin and Emperor William telegraphed to the Emperor of Russia that his role as mediator was by this action endangered if not made impossible.

The communication adds that a decision was to have been taken in Vienna to-day in regard to the mediation proposals in which Great Britain had joined Germany, but that meanwhile Russia had ordered the full mobilization of her forces. Upon this Emperor William addressed a last telegram to Emperor Nicholas emphatically declaring that his own responsibility for the safety of the German Empire had forced him to take defensive measures.

CHANCELLOR'S ADDRESS. The German Imperial Chancellor to-day addressed a huge procession of demonstrators from the window of his official residence, making a stirring speech, in which he said: "At this serious hour, in order to give expression to your feeling for your Fatherland, you have come to the house of Bismarck who, with Emperor William the Great, and Field Marshal Von Moltke, welded the German empire for us."

"We wished to go on living in peace in the empire which we have developed in forty-four years of successful labor."

"The whole work of Emperor William has been devoted to the maintenance of peace. To the last hour he has worked for peace in Europe, and he is still working for it. Should all his efforts prove vain, and should the sword be forced into our hands, we will take the field with a clear conscience in the knowledge that we did not seek war. We shall then drop our blood."

"In the gravity of this hour, I remind you of the words of Prince Frederick Charles to the men of Brandenburg: "Let your hearts beat for God and your fists on the enemy."

Enthusiastic cheers and the singing of the national anthem greeted the close of the imperial chancellor's speech.

WILL INTERNE SLOOPS OF WAR

Crews Will be Rushed Across Continent and Return To England.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 1.—That the British Sloops of War Shearwater and Algerine will be interned at San Diego and their officers and men rushed overland to New York for passage to England to be used in manning the larger warships of the British reserve fleet was the report here to-day. The Algerine is reported to be steaming at full speed from Mazatlan to this port. The Shearwater fully coalled and provisioned is lying in the stream. It was at first believed the two ships would proceed to Esquimaux, the British naval station in British Columbia, but the gravity of European situation caused a sudden change in the British admiralty's plans. Neither the Shearwater or Algerine is capable of taking a place in line of battle and because of this fact their officers and crew, it is said, will be transferred to large ships of the fleet.

Under international maritime law, the two vessels will have the breach blocks of their guns and all ammunition and rifles taken off if they are interned here, in case of war.

Bulletins On War Flashed Over Wire

THE KING APPEALS. LONDON, Aug. 1.—King George has sent an urgent message to the Russian Emperor in an effort to avert war.

RAISES RATE AGAIN. LONDON, Aug. 1.—The Bank of England to-day raised its discount rate to 10 per cent.

A BANK FAILS. LONDON, Aug. 1.—The National Penny Bank, an institution with many ranches where small deposits are received, was closed to-day.

LEAVES FOR ENGLAND. CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, Aug. 1.—The German consul-general with his entire staff left to-day for England on board the Steamer Saxton. The offices of the consulate-general have been closed.

CENSORING NEWS. LONDON, Aug. 1.—The British telegraph authorities are exercising a censorship over incoming press despatches from the continent.

BUYS ALL WHEAT. BRUSSELS, Aug. 1.—The daily newspaper Ettoile announces that the government has bought the entire wheat supply in Antwerp after announcing to the holders that the cereal would be seized if they failed to agree to the government's terms.

VOTES A MILLION. MOSCOW, Aug. 1.—The Municipal council has voted a million rubles about ($500,000) for the service of Russia and friendly powers.

RESERVES RUSHED IN. SHANGHAI, Aug. 1.—German reserves throughout China are proceeding with all haste to Esing Tau the fortified port in the German Territory at Kiao Chau.

NOTHING UNUSUAL. VIENNA, Aug. 1.—It was semi-officially announced this morning that nothing of importance occurred at the seat of war during yesterday. The statement denies that Austrian artillery bombarded the town of Belgrade declaring that such a bombardment would be contrary to the usages of international law. Fire was only opened on combatant troops, it says, who used private houses as firing positions. The mayor of Vienna, at the request of the government, has issued an ordinance forbidding shopkeepers to hold their provisions for speculative purposes.

Minor Powers of Europe Calling Out Forces

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The extent of the conflagration that at present is threatening Europe is shown in the fact that in addition to the extensive war preparations of the greater powers all the minor countries are also mobilizing their armies with all haste.

The Belgian Government last night ordered general mobilization. Nearly a week ago Belgium called out 100,000 men. A further order on Thursday called out 65,000 more. The whole force of the country is now ready for emergencies.

Preparations for the mobilization of the Danish army were also completed yesterday. The Cabinet has decided to issue a declaration of neutrality to-day in conjunction with a similar declaration issued by the Governments of Sweden and Norway.

Similar action was taken by Switzerland, the federal council yesterday ordering the mobilization of all men between 20 and 48 years of age capable of bearing arms.

In Holland Queen Wilhelmina has issued an urgent decree ordering the general mobilization of the Dutch army.

Spain mobilization her navy some days ago.

The Roumanian legation at Paris yesterday received advices that Roumania had ordered all officers in the active army to the colors.

Cavalry detachments have been sent to the eastern and southern frontiers of Belgium. The National Bank of Belgium has had coined 20,000,000 francs in gold.

HIS DESIRE. I'd like to be a yacht designer. Why? There's always a boom in yacht building.

CANADA AWAITS

(Continued from Page 1) raid of American buyers under the provisions of the Underwood tariff. A certain number of horses suitable as army remounts could be supplied by this country.

Preparing for a Wide Scale. When the last hope of peace or of British neutrality is removed, events will show that during the past few days a vast amount of quiet and effective preparation has been going on. Canada will be in a position to close the St. Lawrence against the departure of Austrian reservists and against the departure of ships belonging to the allies of Austria. It is still too far ahead to forecast with any certainty what the procedure of the government would be in regard to the sending of a contingent. There has been some talk of an extra session of Parliament to sanction the sending of a volunteer contingent. This is possible, but it is not necessary to assemble Parliament, constitutionally or otherwise, while it might afford an opportunity for persons who do not love the Empire to misuse their position in the national legislature.

The fact that the effects of a European war will be felt in Canada is well recognized here. All sea commerce will be to a very considerable extent demoralized, financial operations of the larger kind will be difficult or impossible and the financial situation will bring about automatically the cessation of large construction works, both public and private.

FIND MISSING LIMB

The service was conducted by Rev. Joseph Barnes, the pastor, who spoke on the "deceit of sin." In concluding the pastor said, "Sin and disgrace are inseparable and death and we follow in its wake. The devil may frequently appear in the guise of an angel of light and in our lives it is often hard to distinguish the evil in the soul."

The pastor condemned the present day society and declared that it was not the sin committed which people feared but the exposure which followed. "The effect of this is plainly evident to-day," he said, "and we have seen the fruits in a remarkable way. As a result two families are now plunged in the greatest grief and sorrow. Nothing can undo that which has occurred and while our sympathies are extended to them it in no way dispels the dark cloud which hovers over both homes."

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Little Alfred Won
Little Alfred, owned by Mr. Alex. Howarth of this city, was a winner in three straight heats at Corry, Pa., this week.

Cadets in Good Shape.
The boys at the Boy Knights' Armories were inspected by Mr. H. S. Hardy of Toronto yesterday morning and declared the boys in excellent trim.

Cash Awaits Them.
The efficiency pay of the Signallers of the 25th Brant Dragoons has arrived at headquarters and awaits them. They will be handed their cash upon application for it.

Well Represented.
The local cadets of the Boy Knights' Armories, expect to place fourteen boys on the floor at the Canadian Club exercises, which are held at Massey Hall, Toronto, at the end of the season.

Building Permits.
Building permits were granted today to the Wood Coal Co. for the erection of a brick office at 275 Colborne street at a cost of $1,500, and to Lewis Parsons for a brick cottage, costing $1,000 on Walnut St. West.

To Camp at Grimsby.
Grimsby Beach will be the place visited by the Boy Knights when they hold their annual camp which will be pitched on the 17th of this month. A splendid time under canvas is already promised.

May Go Back.
Three Brantford policemen, Cobden, Blanchard and Barnes, in the event of a general war in Europe, will probably have to return to England. They are first class reserve men and are subject to recall. All belonged to the same regiment.

Boy Knights Entertain.
A pleasant social afternoon was spent yesterday at the Boy Knights' Armories when the scholars of the regular holiday session put on a programme of entertainment. A debate took place and it was resolved that "Girls are better behaved than boys." The special occasion was largely attended and passed off a great success.

T. H. and B. Employees Excursion.
The annual excursion of the T. H. and B. employees will be held at Victoria Park Niagara Falls Ont. Saturday August 8th. The committee in charge has arranged a first class program of sports for which a fine list of prizes are offered. There will also be a grand free drawing contest the first prize for which is a handsome Morris chair. Hot tea coffee and milk will be served to excursionists. See advertisement in this issue.

Calvary Picnic.
A most enjoyable picnic was held at the grounds of the O. I. B. by the Calvary Baptist S. S. on Wednesday afternoon and evening. The sports and games were well organised and occasioned keen competition and much fun. The day was all that could be desired. Ice cream, lemonade, candies, fruit furnished the kiddies with delectable delights, including a sumptuous supper and in the evening a tired but happy crowd of about 150 children and grown ups boarded the cars homeward bound.

Thoughtful Acts
The loss by fire of toys and clothing at the S. M. Thomson Home for Children is being replaced, through the kindness of friends, by timely gifts. Miss Gretchen Heyd presented the children with eight beautifully dressed dolls, which delighted them greatly. Also the scholars of the vacation bible school, conducted by Prof. Hunt at the Boy Knights' armory, stormed the home and presented the children with two well made hammocks that had been worked by the industrial class at the school. This is the first vacation school in Brantford, and is filling a long felt want and could well be copied in other parts of the city.

Unique Case Is Started

On behalf of the Brantford Children's Aid Society, its secretary, Mr. Axford, has appealed to the Provincial License Department to know if, under the law, a bell boy is deemed to be a bartender, and whether he has the right to dispense or carry liquor to the rooms of guests in hotels. The appeal has arisen out of the case of a young boy in Brantford, who cultivated the drink habit through serving guests of the hotels in that city. The matter is being taken up on behalf of all the bell boys in the Province. Mr. Eudo Saunders, chief license officer, states that every bartender must be 21 years of age, and the point for consideration is whether or not a bell boy is a bartender. Outside this point there is no law to cover the case. An appeal will be made to the Provincial Secretary on his return from England for some protection for the bell boys.

DIPLOMAS WERE PRESENTED AT THE HOSPITAL

A Pleasing Event Transpired Yesterday Which Was Largely Attended.

Amid most pleasant surroundings in the assembly room of the Nurses' residence, and before a bevy of prominent Brantford ladies and gentlemen the graduating exercises of the nurses of Brantford General Hospital took place yesterday.

Earnestly repeating the pledge of allegiance to their calling the four graduates looked a profoundly worthy quartette and the advice tendered to them by Dr. Stanley who administered the pledge touched upon duties of their profession and character. It was indeed, an admirable appeal to all that was best in the four whom he addressed.

Mr. Harry Cocksbutt presided in the unavoidable absence of Mr. Waterous who was called out of the city on business.

He had great pleasure in presiding at this happy function, which he found somewhat difficult on account of his lack of experience in these matters. Mr. Waterous was unable to be present on account of being called out of the city on business. That gentleman was deeply interested in the work of the hospital and had devoted much of his time to it. We have to thank the county as well as the city for the management of the magnificent institution provided for the district. Not only were they deeply indebted to the citizens for grants, but also to the ladies of the Women's Hospital Aid for the splendid work they had done for this beautiful home. The speaker was proud of the institution he was proud of the excellent staff and proud of the excellent results of the great work for suffering humanity carried on under its roof. Mr. Cocksbutt then called upon Dr. Stanley, an old Brantford practitioner to present the diplomas.

With a genial smile the doctor accepted the invitation and he at once reassured the four patients' nurses standing at the table that they were not going through any fearful ordeal. "We want to go away with the formality of such occasions," he declared, and at once proceeded with a reminiscent smile to administer the pledge. The four young graduates, Misses Gladys Wardell, Blanche Neff, Louisa Reid, and Carmen McMaster, looking especially trim in their spotless white caps and costumes, solemnly pledged that they would strive to faithfully follow their calling in the relief of the sufferings of those entrusted to their care. The crowded room was quiet and all listened intently to the actual ceremony of swearing allegiance. This concluded Dr. Stanley went on to express his keen pleasure at being present. Such an occasion was the pleasure of a lifetime. He had been out of practice for some time, and it was like coming back to the old ways when he had been a house physician. It was like home-coming. Ordinarily he would have had something to say to each of the ladies but as he had never seen the present graduates before, he had little idea of their personal qualifications or ambitions, and therefore could not give individual advice. He would, however, give a little general advice, and he would say that theirs was a noble calling; he knew of none nobler alleviating the pain and administering to the old ways of the suffering. It was needless of him to remind them of the great responsibility which lay upon them. They should strive to do their very best for all patients, cultivate a pleasant appearance and manner in the sick room; seek to find the best that is in a patient and their services would be an inspiration to them; more than that it would be a benediction. Nurses should always be the ministering angels of the sick room, and their influence should prove of great benefit to all with whom they come in contact.

The speaker was sure he was voicing the sentiment of all when he said God's blessing upon them. "We simply ask," he concluded, "that you do your best in your adopted profession and the satisfaction you will feel when you leave for another sphere will be its own reward."

Miss Carson then presented the diplomas, splendidly engraved and tied with blue ribbon to the happy recipients who graciously accepted them. Mr. Bunnell, the city treasurer, then stepped forward to show that the city appreciated the good work accomplished by the graduates. The diplomas were ample evidence as to the capability of the young ladies and as was customary, the governors gave them a little gift in appreciation of their services. They felt it incumbent upon them when a girl reached her majority or this stage to give her a little start. He did not know whether the ladies intended to invest it in C. P. R. stock or bonnets. That he had nothing to do with, but he would ask them to accept the city's token of appreciation.

Dr. Chapin then gave a brief address upon the excellence of the work of the Brantford graduates. He was certain that when to-day's graduates adopted nursing as their profession they had

The Nicest Vanity Cases We Have Ever Seen and Less Than Half Price Too

Dame Fashion struck a responsive chord when she set her stamp of approval on the Vanity Case. There are occasions when the Vanity Case and that only is appropriate for Milady to carry.

Those that we tell you about are superior in every way—the only thing about them not up to standard is the price. These are fitted with bill and card, as well as coin compartments, mirror and powder puff.

The finishes are silver, gunmetal, machine striped silver, and gunmetal leopard and oxidized.

Tennis Scores

The Duffess contingent and their scores at Simcoe were as follows: Singles—D. P. Jones 6-1, 6-4, E. C. Gould 6-0, 6-2, H. V. Gould 6-1, 6-4; J. McArthur 6-2, 6-2; Arthur Dunstan 3-6, 3-6; F. Morris 6-3, 6-3. Doubles—Jones and E. C. Gould, 7-5, 6-3; McArthur and H. V. Gould 6-3, 5-3; Dunstan and Morris 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Some Splendid Prizes.

Chairman Frank Calbeck and members of the committee in charge of the Industrial Exhibition to be held at the Armories during Old Home Week have arranged for some splendid prizes for the draw on the coupons attached to each admission ticket to the exhibition. The chief prizes will be a Happy Thought Range valued at $65, a Ham and Nott Refrigerator valued at $35, and a set of cut glass from the Brantford Cut Glass works valued at $25.

With the City Police

A visitor to the city from Winnipeg received a rude shock last night while walking along the street. She states that while passing along Colborne St. a young man approached and made very improper suggestions in a familiar way, although she had never seen him before. She explained to the officer on duty and in consequence Alexander Sibbett was charged this morning before Magistrate Livingston. He pleaded not guilty and the case was adjourned until Monday. This was the sole business of the court, other cases being held over until next sitting.

decided rightly. It was an honored and a self-sacrificing career, which required ability of its own. The conduct of the four nurses was all that could be desired during their three years in the Brantford Hospital and he paid a tribute to the sterling qualities of Miss Carson, who saw that delinquent doctors attended their lectures. He hoped the graduates would follow their profession in Brantford, each would make ideal nurses, but he hoped their zeal would not cause them to reject the hand of some worthy young man, when he came along.

The Rev. Rural Dean Saunders was mentioned as a bachelor, and he was brought forward and gave a humorous little extemporaneous effort.

Mrs. W. C. Livingston then, with a few words, asked the graduates to accept a token of esteem from the Ladies' Hospital Aid, so saying she handed a neat little box to one of the nurses and was followed by members of the Ladies' Aid each of whom presented one souvenir from the Ladies' Aid.

The prettiest scene of the afternoon then took place when the newly fledged nurses were presented with large bouquets of American beauty roses, whose perfume pervaded the air of the pretty room.

Nothing was known among the general public as to what was going on behind the screen which fell along the German frontier at about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Everyone supposed that German mobilization was in progress and that the French Government was taking the proper measures to meet the situation. Foreign observers, long resident in France, were deeply impressed with the calm resolution of all the classes of the French people who although they do not want war, owing to their vivid realization of what it means, appear convinced that it is a question of the national existence.

Many weddings were performed yesterday and to-day having been hastened owing to the prospect of the bridegrooms having to leave for the frontiers. The churches were full of worshippers, among them many women.

There has been in Paris no scene of martial fervor as in 1870. The troops have departed without being perceived, instead of marching through the streets with flags flying and bands playing amid the cheers of the populace.

CHILD HAS FINGERS TAKEN OFF IN MOWER

APPIN, Aug. 1.—A painful accident occurred yesterday to a little son of Dougald Sinclair. The child had been looking into the mysteries of the lawn mower, when a little sister came up to take it away. His fingers were on the knives and one was taken off and the ends cut off with the rest. Dr. McLaughlin of Glenoco, dressed the wounds.

RAINBOW ORDERED TO REMAIN AT ESQUIMALT.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 1.—Sir Robert Borden, Premier, issued an order yesterday to Commander Hose of the cruiser Rainbow, now lying in Esquimalt harbor, to cancel his Behring Sea trip for the present and remain ready for duty in the vicinity of Victoria and Vancouver.

GERMAN STEAMSHIP LINES ARE ALL TIED UP TODAY

Two of Them Were Recalled From the Atlantic by Wireless.

(By Special Wire to The Courier.) NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The North German Lloyd Line Steamer Friederich Der Grosse, which sailed from Baltimore on July 29, and Mecklar, which sailed from Galveston the same day were recalled to-day by wireless. The line also instructed the Wilhelhad to leave Montreal, where she is now docking, to go to Boston and remain there.

Local News

THE PROBS

Officials of the line said that the Wilhelhad had been ordered to leave Montreal for Boston because the former is a British port, and in the event of hostilities between Germany and England, it would be necessary for the vessel to be in a neutral port to avoid seizure.

Cancellation of the Wilhelhad's sailing interrupts the return home of the first lot of Austrian reservists from Canada. More than 200 reservists, called to the Austrian colors, had engaged passage on this steamer.

With the issuance of these orders to-day, the tie-up of these orders from American ports and Europe has been practically completed. The Grosser Kurfuirst, which sailed from this port on Thursday, was again instructed to-day by wireless to return. Similar instructions were sent to the vessel last night.

In addition to the four vessels affected by to-day's wireless messages, the sailing of the Hamburg-American line vessels has been suspended on both sides of the water and trans-Atlantic service has been heavily impaired.

RUSH FOR GOLD AT THE BANK OF ENGLAND TODAY

Many People Wanted Notes Exchanged - Big Crowds Gather.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The scenes witnessed at the Bank of England during the rush to obtain gold in exchange for bank notes were repeated this morning, but on a still larger scale. A few people who had been too late to get currency yesterday spent the night in the vicinity of the bank and reached the quadrangle at daylight so as to be first in line to-day. They had spent the night more comfortably for very few followed their example in the early hours. The majority of people came to the city in their leisurely manner and went to the bank at the customary opening hour. The crowd soon increased in the course of the morning and an hour were lined up while the streets near-abouts were filled with curious onlookers.

The bank porters have been sworn-in as special policemen so that they could more easily handle the crowds and in case of necessity arrest anybody causing a disturbance.

A strong force of the city police also was on duty to deal with the crowd outside the bank premises.

Although some of the people were a little restless as they wanted to get their money so as to proceed to country and seaside resorts for their usual holiday at the beginning of August, the first Monday of which is a national holiday, there was nothing which could be described even as excitement.

It was noticeable to-day that the line of people was largely made up of clerks and included many women who had received their wages in notes and wanted to change them into gold as they realized that with a continuance of the crisis notes would become unchangeable. At holiday resorts notes are usually refused and in fact in London restaurants and the hotels notes are changed at the best of times only for customers, and people who are known personally so that persons with pocketful of paper money often find themselves unable to buy anything.

The closing of the National Penny Bank whose customers are mostly working people, caused no excitement whatever. Not a person appeared in front of the head office.

Throgmorton street where stock brokers usually assemble was deserted to-day, the brokers having gone away for the holiday. In fact the traffic to the holiday resorts was heavier whatever the weather. Many who had intended to take short trips to the continent, having decided to remain in the British Isles.

BUSINESS GETS A RUDE JOLT

Imports to United States From Europe Are Stopped - All Buying Ceases.

(By Special Wire to The Courier.) NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—An almost complete suspension of the import business of the country is near at hand, according to the members of large importing firms. The cancellation of the sailing of all vessels by German steamship lines, was feared to be merely a forerunner of more serious obstacles to the importing trade. Great difficulty is expected to be experienced in moving American exports because of the limited tonnage under United States registry or neutral flags.

Still more ominous was the rise in the rate of exchange abroad. This feature of the war situation reached such proportions that large importing houses issued cable orders to stop buying goods on the other side, in many instances goods were advanced from 10 to 15 per cent in Europe this present week.

Apart from the inability of foreign manufacturers and exporters to fill orders stands the probable prohibition by the interested governments of many lines of export. Germany issued a decree of this kind yesterday and importers said they looked for a similar action by the other European powers. Altogether importers contains elements never before met with in the business here.

City News Items

Charity Disbursements. Relief Officer Eddy reported this morning that the City Charity disbursements for July totalled $25.15.

Got Government Grant The Government yesterday gave a grant towards the expenses of the convention to be held by the Associated Children's Aid Societies of Ontario, in the Parliament buildings, Toronto, on September 15th and 16th. In conjunction with this convention the Canadian Conference of Charities and Corrections will be held in the same buildings, on three days, September 16th, 17th and 18th, when a number of prominent men in Canadian affairs will speak. Mr. McCarthy, the president, will occupy the chair.

TO LEAVE POST. LONDON, Aug. 1.—Information reached the French embassy here today that the German ambassador in Paris has intimated that he purposes leaving his post to-night.

TEN INNING VICTORY GOES TO THE RED SOX

Chase and Auld Engage in a Pitchers' Duel, But Sox Make Great Finish and Win on Fried's Hit, 4-3.

The Red Sox came right back to Ort, Trout and Sullivan were quickly retired by Long's single, aided by second encounter with the Toronto Beavers and in a fast, and at several points, a thrilling game, defeated the visitors 4 to 3.

Auld, who is reckoned the Beavers' best, was no puzzle to the Red Sox. The locals got into a good batting stride yesterday and it was a treat to see Cosma and Fried knock out a 3-bagger each, while Chase and Long both got doubles.

In the first innings Hunt struck out, Ort doubled, Trout got to first on Cosma's error, Sullivan, the "heavy hitter" fanned, and Killilea was forced at first on Fried catching Trout out at second.

In the second innings was an easy out. Schultz fanned, Harkins doubled, but Matty Lamond's nice catch of Auld's foul retired the side. The second was a short and sudden death one for the locals, Barrett, Deneau and Fried being easy outs.

Innings No. 3 was a quick one. Hunt was out at first, Ort took first being hit by the ball, Trout was an easy out, and Ort was caught at second, Lamond to Fried.

Brantford: Lamond was out Killilea to Schultz. Chase doubled, Long was an easy out, but Chase made third on the play. The chance to score was lost as Roth was out Auld to Schultz.

Carling's Canada Club Lager
Nothing gives you such a quick "pick-up" or so quickly dispels that healthy fatigue which comes from sport in the open, as a cool, sparkling glass of Carling's "Canada Club" Lager.

Sporting Comment

Talk about racing luck! Mr. Fred Westbrook of this city seems to be possessed of more than the ordinary share. If he could spare a little of it to the Brantford Ball Club it would help a whole lot.

Cosma wore a lemon over his left thumb last night. That member was black from a bad smash. With that handicap he tore off two beautiful hits yesterday and played good ball at second, Cosma was reputed to have been a fighting bad player, but has been quiet since he came to Brantford.

Brantford jumps out at 5.45 tomorrow to play Eric a Sunday game. Auld, said to be the best pitcher in the Canadian, and Chase hooked up together yesterday, and Chase got the best of it.

Geo. Ort, manager of the Beavers, and Rubie Deneau have both been itching for a trade of ball players. Ort wants Lamond in the worst way. He thinks Matty as a catcher is the class of the league.

The Courier finds room for the following, to-day: Mr. Free Lance: On behalf of a few football fans and at their special request, I would be glad if you could find room for the following in your valuable space.

Tom Mason, as a man, is a gentleman, as a player of sport, he has to our knowledge, proved himself one. Reviewing his four year's career as a footballer in this city, Tom is known as one of our very best men, in cleanliness of his game, and at also at the way he conducts himself on the field.

AN ALL-STAR CANADIAN LEAGUE TEAM TO PLAY THE MACKMEN WORLD'S CHAMPS AUGUST 11

Manager Deneau Receiving Every Help From Other Teams in the Circuit—Bierbauer, Snyder, Whitcraft and Lamy Are Choices.

(London Free Press) From the manner in which the Western Ontario baseball fans are availing themselves of early reservation for the season's baseball classic at Brantford on August 11, between a team of Canadian League stars and the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics, all attendance records for this section of the province will undoubtedly be broken.

Electricity as an ornament will be a striking feature of this year's Exhibition. You'll remember a year ago those little electric bulbs flickering like fireflies among the leaves of the trees. That was only a starter for a series of electric novelties that will this year make the grounds a vision of loveliness by night.

Will Take Field The agreement between the club and the fans insures the fans that the regular big league club will take the field. To this end other clubs in the league are conspiring to weaken their teams for the regular league games simply in order to show the big league club just what sort of baseball is being played in this league.

Frank Long is playing beautiful ball for Brantford. This chap is quiet and unassuming and delivers the goods as well. His hitting has been the most consistent of the whole team. The Red Sox have actually played four out of five games of ball this week. By that we mean four good games, and yet they have only won one.

This unsatisfactory game was played on the Scots grounds, and had to be stopped on account of the ungentlemanly behaviour of the spectators. Being on the Scots ground, this should be replayed, but of course the executive have to again favor the Scots.

SOME GLEANINGS FROM THE CIRCUIT

The Fight Is On. Peterborough Examiner: There is still ample opportunity for a real tight scramble down the home stretch for the league pennant. Eric is still very much in the running, and a lot can happen in the next six weeks. The race is far from over and London is far from secure on the perch at present occupied. The Cockneys are due for a good slump and to run into August will prove more disastrous than if they had it at any other time.

Gabby Is Hitting 'Em. Hamilton Spectator: Harry Corns and Gabby Iyers continue to sting the ball on the nose. They were prominent with the stick again yesterday. Mourning His Actions. Hamilton Spectator: The club directors are still mourning the actions of ex-Manager Yates. Before Yates was thrown out of his job he took a trip to Allen town for the purpose of getting back the money paid to that club for Outfielder Sheppard. Since then the Allentown club has refused to refund the money and the local officials are carrying the matter to the National Association.

Man-Eater Gero Is Winner For Ottawa

As Usual, He Had Disastrous First Inning But Recovered—Shag's Crew Going Like a House on Fire.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The Ottawa champions made it two straight from the Tecumsehs yesterday by the score of 6 to 9, when the major portion of their 12 hits off Steiger were coupled with costly errors by his support, but for which London might have won the game, as the early advantage of three runs off Gero would have been sufficient to at least make it a more closely contested battle.

Bunch Hits With Errors.
The high-gear Senators walloped the ball with much more effectiveness than the locals, as can be seen from the box score, each club getting 12 hits, coming in clusters to their advantage, although they had to come from behind they did this very successfully. From shortstop to bat boy the Ottawa gang looked like real champions, outplaying Manager Reising's Indians in a game which was much marred by the poor fielding of Mullin, whose misplays, along with one by Whitcraft in the fifth, made Ottawa a presentation of easily three runs. The Senators fielded almost perfectly, having their heads up all the time and played every opening to the limit. Every atom of their strength was exerted in winning the game, while the locals fell down badly in the first two innings in this respect since a number of runs could easily have been grabbed with Gero strange to the surroundings in the box for Ottawa.

Four Games Separate.
The victory by Ottawa drew them within four games of the London leaders, thereby living up to Shaughnessy's expectations crossing up the hopes of the many local followers. It must be admitted, however, that Shaag's aggregation is going at top speed.

Inability To Find Good White Hope Is Hurting The Game

NEW YORK, N. Y., August 1.—

Interest in the heavyweight situation on this side of the Atlantic is dwindling apace; and unless a Caucasian relieves a certain Jack Johnson of the title shortly, speculative manifestation will wane until it dies out entirely.

For a time after Johnson thumped Jeffries into submission at Reno, the big fellow commanded all the attention of the pugilistic element. The existence of other divisions never entered the minds of those who are the bulwarks of the game. They concentrated their time and energy upon developing a man capable of coping with the mighty Ethiopian.

The boom in the heavyweight division was on "white hopes" hobbing up like mushrooms, and went into seclusion quite as rapidly. "Beat Johnson" was the slogan of the pale-face and a million dollars was to be the reward of the successful combatant.

Then Johnson became implicated in a government trial and he blithely slipped to the other side of the big protecting ocean. The sportively inclined determined to forget Johnson. It was decided not to resurrect him until there appeared a white man who had a chance with the burly black.

Hardly Had the Class
Then came the real tests. They occurred only recently over in Paris and London. In Gay Paree, Moran made a pitiable showing against Jack Johnson, while in a London ring Smith was declared a technical loser to Georges Carpentier, the white heavyweight champion of Europe. True, the decision was said to be outrageous but the fact remains that Gunboat Smith did commit a foul and thereby lost the fight. Even in his fight in New York the Gunboat showed a tendency for unfair tactics. His transgression of the rules were overlooked by vacilla-referees, who lacked the courage

The likelihood of Gilhooly ever playing again in Hamilton is very remote. His suspension is an indefinite one and he has now been fined all his back pay. Meanwhile he is playing a great game with the Carter-Crumes.

Jack White has several deals under his hat. After the Hams make nine errors the Athletics manager should come to the conclusion that his hat ought to be off.

Despite the standing of the Toronto Beavers there is no doubt but that some of them are booked for higher company. Trout, Auld, Killilea, Graham appear awfully good at times, while Carley will likely be given a chance in the International next year, if that organization is still in existence.

Manager White made a good trade apparently when he got Gabby Ivers. The ex-Brant has been busting the fence in every game. Barrett will hit his stride one of these days and Dudley is getting well out of the developing stage, and when this happens then the Hamilton fans will have more his watchful waiting tactics. That was Jack O'Brien. He outwitted Johnson, and when the Numidian tried to lead he foundered all over the ring. Johnson had to laugh at his own ludicrous efforts to land on O'Brien. Fortunately for "Black Jack" O'Brien had nothing more damaging than a wasp-like punch, so Jack weathered the six rounds.

Johnson has expressed a willingness to fight Willard six rounds in Philadelphia, ten rounds in Boston, or twenty over on the other side. The contest in America would be no-decision affairs, so Willard is seriously considering crossing the Big Drink to take on Johnson in a long bout with the championship at stake.

Meanwhile Carl Morris, at one time the foremost "white hope" in captivity, surreptitiously has sailed for England in search of trouble. Gunboat Smith is really the object of the voyage. Morris has given the Buckley proteges some little trouble in their two-contests in this city, and Carl believes he can prove to the satisfaction of Londoners that he is a superior batter to Smith.

If Smith turns down the proposition Morris would not spurn a match with Carpenter, nor even one with Jack Johnson for that is what Morris set out to do four years ago—fight his way through the "white hope" ranks in order to get Mistah Johnson.

Should Willard also make up mind to brave the briny, America would then be without a single good heavyweight.

18 Years' Struggle

All differences between Engraving Company of City and the Photo Engraving Co. have been satisfactorily settled on July 9th, an agreement for a period of three years, which marked the ending of a conflict of sixteen years' which received consideration by reason of the fact that the Photo Engraving Co. was then in the hands of the New York State laws.

Mr. Matthew Wolf, Photo Engraving Co., reports that all difficulties have been overcome; that an agreement has been signed, and that all litigation has been terminated.

What is Being Lost Through Defeat of Good Roads Bill

Good Roads is a question which is becoming of increasing importance to the people of Canada and particularly to the farmers of the Dominion. In Western Canada especially the farmers are calling out for better highways and increased facilities for marketing their produce. The local municipalities and the provinces, while they are doing much, have not the resources to properly cope with the problem, and it is being daily brought home that the aid and assistance of the Dominion Government is required to improve the rural highways of Canada.

This was one of the planks in the platform of Sir Robert Borden in the election of 1911. In his election manifesto, issued just before the last contest, he enunciated as one of the planks in his platform the following: "The granting of substantial assistance towards the improvements of our public highways."

As in the case of other pre-election promises, no time was lost in carrying out this pledge. That the Government has not been able to carry out its policy has been due to the action of the Liberal majority in the Senate, which, for petty partisan reasons, two years in succession killed the highway bill introduced by Hon. Frank Cochrane. Apparently until the Conservatives are in control of the Senate it is useless to expect that the country can get any assistance along the lines proposed by the Government. The action of the Senate has been strongly condemned by Good Roads Associations and farmers' organizations from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Not only did the Senate kill the highway bill, but the Liberals in the Commons fought the bill and voted against it, and it was at the instigation of the Liberal leaders that the Senate, always the obedient servant of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, voted down the Government measure.

Industrial accident board that guessed her victims of lead poisoning should be paid. And the supreme court of the great commonwealth of Massachusetts, upon being asked pointedly upon several separate occasions, has recently said to the board, "You guessed right. Go ahead!"

Favors Public Ownership

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.—Public ownership of railroads, telegraph lines and other public utilities was favored by John Wanamaker before the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations.

Establishment of public ownership, Mr. Wanamaker contended would reduce charges one-half and prevent such scandals as were recently revealed by investigation of the New Haven Railroad and the Rock Island Railroad.

Under a system of public ownership, Mr. Wanamaker said, the railroads would not need to ask for an advance in freight rates.

The speaker favored organization by workers who have as much right to unite, he said, as has capital.

"It is an insane thing not to recognize organizations of labor. The workmen is no longer a man for the rich man to whip his feet or the man who sets a horseshoe or turns a lathe is a better man than the man that walks around with a high hat and cane and does nothing.

"The emancipation of labor will come with opportunity for study and in holidays. I should say that the missing link between capital and labor is 'prejudice' which has built up a chinese wall between capital and labor.

Mr. Wanamaker was evidently not aware of any system outside of unionism whereby the wrongs of workers would be righted, as the following passage will show:

"Is it not impossible for an employee of the United States Steel trust or any other big corporation to get satisfaction for any grievance unless aided by a labor union?"

"You will have to ask Alma Johnson, president of Baldwin Locomotive Works, or Nathan T. Folwell, or some other larger employer of labor than I am."

Getting Better

A Baltimore clergyman has been getting the opinions of men of many cities as to whether the world is growing better. We hear so much about national decadence, about our times rivaling those of 'ancient Rome,' that sometimes persons wonder whether the world is really improving.

The answers received by the Baltimore minister are all in the affirmative and optimistic. And in the same connection, the Rev Dr Lyman Abbott of New York recently published an article showing that conditions in New York city have vastly improved during the last sixty years.

The other night a venerable Baptist clergyman, speaking in Philadelphia, declared that he did not wish for a return of the old days, for the present are so much better. He knew by his own experience that the world is improving.

Those who think otherwise should rub up their history. They should read of the cruelties and barbarities that were common long ago, the torture and murders that occurred in nations that were supposed to have reached a high stage of civilization.

We are living in the brightest and best age in the history of the world. We are moving forward, slowly it may seem to some, but nevertheless surely.—Wilmington (Del.) News.

I'd Rather Be Square

(Bertton Braley.)

I'd like to be rich, and I wonder who wouldnt,
And yet, if it cost me what some people pay,
I'd like to be rich, and find what I couldn't,
There's too much worth while that is lost by the way.

To sacrifice friends and ideals to surrender—
My heart and my conscience, my soul and my mind—
And sell all my dreams for a dollar-marked splendor,
Would leave me too poor for the riches I'd find.

I'd like to be rich, there is pleasure in money—
It's good stuff to have, and it's good stuff to spend.
It helps you to pay for your milk and your honey,
And gives you a chance to be nice to a friend.

I'd like to be rich, but I'd never be willing
To pay such a price as some men do for gold—
The cost is too high and the pace is too killing,
And too many things must be bartered and sold.

I'd like to have wealth if I made it by toiling,
Or keenness and cleverness, canny but fair;
But I'd never get it by cheating and spoiling,
I'd like to be rich, but I'd rather be square!

18 Years' Struggle Ended

All differences between the Gill Engraving Company of New York City and the Photo Engravers' Union have been satisfactorily adjusted, and on July 9th, an agreement was entered into for a period of three years. This marks the ending of an industrial conflict of sixteen years' duration, and which received considerable prominence by reason of the recent litigation wherein the Photo Engravers' Union was enjoined by both Federal and the New York State anti-trust laws.

Mr. Matthew Woll, President of the International Photo Engravers' Union, reports that all differences and difficulties have been successfully overcome; that an agreement assuring union conditions for the next three years has been signed; that the Gill Engraving Co. has been granted the use of the I. P. E. U. union label and that all litigation has ended.

A letter has been sent to Mr. Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, expressing appreciation for the assistance given the photo engravers by the officers of the A. P. of E. and organized labor, to hereafter support the Gill Engraving Company the same as all other fair concerns.

This adjustment likewise removes all further friction in the use of the Allied Printing Trades union label, as the Gill Engraving Company is now entitled to the full protection and all advantages and benefits of the Allied Printing Trades union label, the same as all other union photo engraving establishments.

Ontario Liability Law Leads

Says a U. S. paper of recent date: A precedent was established in North America recently by the legislature of Ontario passing a law "to provide for compensation to workmen for injuries and industrial diseases contracted in the course of their employment." The law mentions by way of introduction, says John B. Andrews, secretary of the American Association for Labor Legislation, the Survey, "half a dozen diseases about which we have been learning lately—poisoning from lead, phosphorus, mercury, and arsenic, as well as anthrax and the miner's ailment spelled ankylostomiasis."

Mr. Andrews says that "twenty-three of our states and the federal government have already covered accidents by legislation more or less adequate. But industrial diseases compensated by special right in the title of the law is worth attention. It hasn't happened before on the American continent." And it means that in Ontario "victims of insidious trade maladies are to be compensated just like sufferers from sudden and obvious accidents."

Continuing Mr. Andrews says: "Of course in Europe countries like England, Germany and Switzerland long since made definite provision for this sort of thing. But our Congress, with a carefully drafted bill before it this long year and more past, and in spite of a favorable recommendation from the House Judiciary committee, has still failed to provide similar protection even for the government's own employees in shipyards, arsenals and printing offices. Bulgaria, for example did that years ago."

"Readers will remember the technical decisions of the federal government attorney who refused compensation to victims of lead poisoning in government navy yards, because lead poisoning is an occupational disease and is not an injury under the law. But now comes Massachusetts with a law that is working well and an

PLACED A MARKET VALUE ON BABIES

A committee of a New York organization which is trying to save the lives of babies, has estimated the value of the average infant at $2,000 and the value of the babies who die each year in New York city at $40,000,000. The committee got its results by subtracting the cost of bringing up a baby from the average earnings of the successfully brought up adult.

Why it should make any difference whether the babies which are lost might be called social investments, nor mentioned, forty million dollars or forty cents may be hard for thoughtful persons to understand. The habit of regarding babies as investments, with a net profit accruing to some one—after expense of bringing up, feeding, amusing and finally burying are paid—is neither uplifting nor intelligent.

The baby's ledger, in an ideal society, would just balance, with the addition of a small percentage of what might be called social investment to help the race along. No one would get rich by being able to subtract what others spent from what they earned and keep the remainder. The baby, as he grew up, would be useful. He would work hard, not only for himself, but for the community, but he would get back dividends on nearly all such work in the form of advantages gained from living in such a community. There would be no unused surplus, either in the hands of individuals or in the public hands. The millions of dollars saved babies would be "worth" would not be locked in bank vaults. It would all go towards making better and happier men and women out of infants who would grow up instead of dying.

This is only one way of saying what everyone would admit and a few

Sailors Must Pay Their Laundry Bill

Those who go down to the sea in ships have many curious old customs and strange superstitions which prevail even in these days of enlightenment.

During bad weather at sea, it is hard to convince any oldtime sailor that there was not a Jonah aboard. Many skippers of the old school are so superstitious in this respect, that it is not uncommon for them to take an intense dislike to officers who have happened apparently to be harbingers of bad weather, and especially fog. It is quite usual on board ship to find members nicknamed "Foggy Jones," "Heavy Weather Bill," or "Squally Jack."

Cats on board ship are considered to bring luck, and many a stray one finds a comfortable home and careful attention with Jack for his friend, although our domestic puss has, at times, been held responsible for the continuance of very severe weather, and had to accept the role of Jonah to the fullest extent.

Probably the most amusing superstition of the sailor is in considering it a crime for any member of the crew to leave port without paying his washing bill, as this neglect is generally believed to be the cause of bad weather being encountered just after setting sail.

Invoking the Gods of the Elements. The methods of invoking the gods of the elements to bestow fair weather and winds are numerous. Among the most practised is that when nearing port after a lengthy voyage. Old clothes and shoes unfit for further wear are collected and thrown overboard with much ceremony and faith as to the ultimate beneficial results which will carry the ship swiftly and safely to the haven she is bound.

One of the most curious beliefs is that dealing with the capture of a shark. The natural dread and antipathy with which these monsters of the deep are viewed causes a capture to be hailed with much rejoicing. All hands, from the captain down to the deck boy take a keen interest in the operation and, having successfully landed the shark on deck it is killed, and its head cut off.

This trophy is then nailed either on the end of the bowsprit or the jibboom, and is considered a charm, capable of having the influence to bring the vessel fair wind and the finest of weather. It is not uncommon to see sailing snips lying in port with this peculiar sign of the sailor's superstition, but the custom is fast dying out with the coming of the steamship, where the catching of a shark is a very rare occurrence.

Fig as Weather Prophecy. Another remarkable and weird belief is that connected with the albatross.

These big birds, measuring 14 to 18 feet from tip to tip of their wings, are only to be seen in the stormy regions of the Southern Ocean, and about the Capes of Good Hope and Horn. They follow ships for weeks at a time. The peculiar belief of "old salts" credit these birds with possessing the souls of ancient mariners, who, for their misdeeds, have been doomed to scour these stormy regions for all time.

During calms these birds are easily caught by a contrivance of the sailors' own invention, which, being baited, is thrown out over the stern of the ship. Few captains of ships will allow these birds to be killed by the men, on account of the belief that the killing would be sure of bringing disastrous results.

Every ten cent packet will kill more flies than $3.00 worth of any sticky fly killer. Refuse substitutes, which are most unsatisfactory.

The killing of a pig at sea is always an event of much importance. Not only for the reason that fresh meat is assured—a great luxury on a sailing ship after months of salt provisions—but also because what is termed a "pig breeze" or favorable wind, may be looked upon as a certainty. Pigs, when kept on sailing ships are often let out of their pen, and their movements, which are believed to foretell the state of the wind for the next few days, are watched with keen interest.

Should any of them show signs of laziness, and merely lay down, or wander slowly about the decks, this is counted a sign of calm weather, with little or no wind in prospect; but any friskiness, and a great amount of squealing, is hailed as a sure sign of wind.

But then in many parts of Great Britain there is a firm belief that pigs can see the wind.

Typhoid Conquered

Medical science has conquered typhoid. Full protection against infection is within the reach of everyone. The United States public health service is waging an educational campaign on the subject and urging citizens generally to avail themselves of this protection. Immunization against the disease by the use of typhoid prophylactic is the advice given. That this method of prevention has long since passed the theoretical and experimental stages is evidenced by the results obtained in the armies and navies of the United States and Europe.

During the Spanish-American war among 10,750 troops assembled at San Juan, P. R., there occurred over 2,000 cases of typhoid with 248 deaths during a period of about four months. In 1900 the use of the typhoid prophylactic was begun by the army and was made compulsory in 1911. During 1911, when 20,000 troops were mobilized in Texas and along the southern border of the United States there occurred during a period of about four months but two cases of typhoid, both mild and ending in recovery. And the report of the surgeon general of the army for 1913 shows that of all the troops stationed within the United States there occurred during the year but 18 cases of typhoid, with three deaths, as compared with 44 cases with six deaths in 1911, with ten deaths in 1910 and 173 cases, with 16 deaths, in 1900.

As showing what is the War Department's opinion of the value of typhoid vaccination the following is quoted from the report: "It has now been clearly demonstrated that the immunization against typhoid fever by the use of typhoid prophylactic is a thoroughly practical measure for the prevention of this disease; that it is unattended by bad results; and that its protective value is very probably equal to that afforded against smallpox by vaccination."—Stockton (Cal.) Daily Independent.

Human Engineering

Here is a thought: Just suppose you give the men who are in your employ somewhat the same consideration you do to the plant equipment under your charge. Treat them at least as well.

You find a certain piece of apparatus not up to its proper performance. What do you do? scrap it? Hardly. You first examine it to see if it cannot be improved.

Possibly it is only a little out of adjustment, or it is worn, or even broken in some minor part. A little time spent in renewing defective parts or overhauling, with little or no expense, and it goes on doing as good or better work than before.

Now, how about the other or fireman who is not doing the kind of work you expect? If he has not got it in him to be a better workman, you do him a service by discharging him with the advice to get into some line for which he is better fitted.

But be sure you give him a chance if he deserves it. Show him why this or that way he has of doing something is not right. Then teach him to do the right way himself. Incidentally you will get a loyalty in that man which money cannot buy.

Another thing, do not be unreasonably harsh with your men over their faults. Cursing them is just as foolish as banging a balky pump with a hammer, and does about as much good.

You can carry this analogy between your men and your machinery as far as you like. Really they are both machinery in a way, and how much more important it is to be patient with human machinery, for that can manifest appreciation in return.

If you are not appealed to by higher motives, there are plenty of selfish reasons for your helping your helper.—Elizabeth (N.J.) Times.

Shouldering the Burden All Alone

American Papers on British Naval Situation.

The humiliating position of Canada, a wealthy young country, dependent for naval defence on the motherland and contributing nothing in return is emphasized by an American paper, the New York Journal of Commerce, in a recent editorial. The Journal of Commerce says:—

"It is an impressive fact that the total burdens in respect of the army and navy amount to about 35c per head of the population of the United Kingdom, while in Canada they amount to only 6s 8d per head.

Switzerland Is the World's Thriftiest Country

In his recent travels through Europe, Mr. Simon W. Straus, financier and president of the American Society for Thrift, has found that Switzerland is the thriftiest country with France running it a close second.

The French, he says, do not waste a single blade of grass, and one French family could live comfortably on the waste that appears in the housekeeping of a family on this continent in the same station of life.

Mr. Straus is seeking to promote the organization of an international thrift congress to meet next year at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco.

While in Great Britain recently investigating institutions designed to promote the habits of thrift, he said that he had obtained already many promises from officers of economic societies both there and on the continent, not only to aid him in the sending of delegations to the proposed congress, but also in working up a gigantic international association that would have as its object the stamping out of wastefulness, both in industrial and domestic establishments.

U. S. People Most Wasteful. "I am sorry to say," said Mr. Straus, "that the people of the United States do not do the most wasteful in the world, just as the American Government is the least thrifty. In America the lack of thrift appears not only among individuals and in the Government, but in big economic wastes. The middleman gets more than he earns, and there is too wide a gap between the receipts of the producer and the price paid by the consumer."

"I don't know why America has not followed your lead in this matter as it should, but I feel certain that before long our systematic efforts to encourage thrift will bear fruit. For instance, the American public is accepting the idea of teaching thrift in the schools and such teaching should have a tremendous effect on the attitude of the public mind."

A SUNDAY SERMON BY PASTOR RUSSELL

EARTHLY WEALTH DOES NOT BRING HEAVENLY BLESSINGS

Hunger For Wealth Prevalent Everywhere. GOD'S BLESSINGS IMPARTIAL

Our is the Wealthiest Period of History—But Faith and Godliness Are on the Decline—Great Increase of Selfishness—An Integral Part of Sin—Lesson for the Church of Christ—A Good Foundation Against the Time to Come—Changed Conditions Under the Messianic Kingdom—Removal of the Stony Heart—Substitution of a Heart of Flesh—Rich in Character—Likeness to Our Heavenly Father.

July 26.—Reports from more than one hundred cities indicate a great public appreciation of the Photo-Drama of Creation. It is the world's history.

The Pastor explained that according to the Scriptures God is not now appealing to the world; for well He knows that so intense is the spirit of avarice that such an appeal would be unavailing.

When that time comes, the speaker declared, God's assistance will also be ready. The Messianic Kingdom will be inaugurated, and a Reign of Love will be established which will contrast sharply with present conditions.

It was then shown that God's lessons are now for the Church—not the church nominal, which is merely a more civilized section of the world.

The speaker then asked a series of questions such as appeal to a thoughtful person: Are we as a race, he inquired, growing rich toward God? Is not the very reverse true? Are not faith and godliness on the decline? Is it not true that within the last fifty years the world is richer than it has ever been?

Attention was then called to the fact that, although we are better housed, better fed and better clothed than were our forefathers, yet there is a general unhappiness and discontent which is more than ever present.

The Pastor next discussed the parable from which his text is taken, in our Lord pictures a man whose lines were fallen to his faithful ones, and whose wealth grew apace.

But instead of growing richer in character through the cultivation of noble qualities, this rich man permitted his selfishness to determine his policy, and he sought to build greater ones.

These say to themselves, "I am rich, I am full, I have abundance of all things; I will not care for any thing." And they will say to their neighbor, "I will sell my land and my vineyard, and I will buy me a field of briars." And they will say to their neighbor, "I will sell my field of briars, and I will buy me a field of thorns."

Commenting upon the Master's estimation of the foolish rich man, the Pastor asked, if the Lord declared that the rich man of the par-

Lesson V.—Third Quarter, For Aug. 2, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mark xi, 1-11. Memory Verses, 7-9—Golden Text, Zech. ii, 9—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

It is sometimes difficult to get the correct sequence of events in the life of our Lord, but it does seem from John and 1, 2, that the supper and something at Bethany took place six days before the passover and just before the so-called triumphal entry of the lesson today, and yet the lesson on the morning is not assigned until Oct. 4. Well, the order of events does not always matter much if we see Himself more clearly and receive the message for our own hearts.

The great event of this lesson is recorded in each of the four gospels and was a fulfilment of the prediction in Zechariah (our Golden Text), quoted in Matt. xxi, 4, 5; John xii, 15. Fulfillment of prophecy is the key to that which is as yet unfulfilled, so we should confidently expect as literal a fulfillment of other predictions of Zechariah, such as those in Zech. ii, 10-12; vi, 12, 13; viii, 22, 23; xii, 9, 10.

After the night at Bethany, when Lazarus whom He had raised from the dead, was one of them that sat at the table with Him (John xii, 1, 2). He and His disciples proceeded toward Jerusalem. On the way He sent two of the disciples to find an ass and colt in a village near by, saying that they should loose them and bring them to Him, and if any one asked why they were to say, "The Lord hath need of them" (Matt. xxi, 2, 3).

The colt was one whom you never saw man sat, reminding us that He was Mary's husband, and that He was Joseph's new-born child. The disciples also mentioned His name, but as Peter and John were a little later sent to prepare the passover (Luke xxi, 9) they may have been the two sent on this occasion also. Whoever they were, they found even as He had said to them, both in connection with the colt and the man bearing the pitcher of water (Luke xix, 32; Matt. xxi, 3), and, whether in this life or the life to come.

Having brought the colt, they put their garments on him, and Jesus sat thereon. Many spread their garments in the road also, and others cut down branches off the trees and strewed them in the road, and the multitude as He came to the descent of Olivet began to rejoice and to praise God with a loud voice, saying: "Hosanna Blessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord! Blessed be who cometh in the name of the Lord! Kingdom of our father David!" (Luke xix, 35-38; Matt. xxi, 9-11; John xii, 13; Zechariah ix, 9).

This lesson is called "The Triumphal Entry," and, while thus far there is some show of triumph, it was for our Lord a sad day—one of the three sad days of the week. He had wept the other two being at the grave of Lazarus and at Gethsemane (John xiii, 35; Heb. v, 7). The record of this weeping is found in Luke xix, 41-44, and part of it is as follows: "He beheld the city and wept over it, saying: 'If thou hadst known, even thou, at least in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace! But now they are hid from thine eyes.'"

Several differences were pointed out between the Lord's dealings with the Church and with the world, and His dealings with the world by and by. These differences are due to the fact that the Church are called to so high an honor; and correspondingly they are to have a more glorious and manifest life than the world, and shall be expected of the world.

To illustrate: The Church must walk by faith and not by sight; they must voluntarily accept the Lord's providences, and voluntarily operate with Him in putting away the stony heart, accepting instead the Spirit of the Lord—a spirit of love, kindness, gentleness, meekness, patience and long-suffering toward all.

Moreover, during the recovery from sin, selfishness and hard-heartedness, doubtless each individual will have several centuries for his gradual development. But the Father seeks in the Church to do this in a few years, and show such earnestness in copying His character, that they will succeed in attaining a heart condition of tenderness, sympathy and love like unto that of the Heavenly Father, in the present years of their Christian experience.

The discourse closed with an earnest exhortation that all who are the Lord's should determine that with His help they will be rich toward God; that each think less and less of earthly riches, and more and more of the Kingdom which is faithful ones. All who attain this Kingdom will be rich toward God in the highest sense.

Not only will they be rich in the possession of the highest prize that God has to give—His very best—but rich in His character-likeness, rich in experience, rich in all that is good and great, however poor they may have been in earthly goods at the end of their course.

Long-Lost Documents Found. Discovered among other old papers in the office of Mr. G. C. Bissett, Sheriff Clerk of Dundee, Scotland, twenty titles to the Breadalbane estates, which had been lost for many years, have been restored by the Dundee Highland Society to Lord Breadalbane. The documents are written in Latin and Scots, and are dated from the year 1541 to 1602. They include Crown Charter of Confirmation by Darnley and Queen Mary, dated 1566.
