

ALLEGED PLOT TO ASSASSINATE PREMIER LLOYD GEORGE

King Issues a Strong Appeal to Men Who Are Over Military Age

CONFERENCE OF ALLIED DELEGATES IN PETROGRAD

Is Expected to Result in Many Improvements in Russia

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Jan. 31.—A cable to the Tribune from London last night says: The conference in Petrograd of the Allied delegates is expected to result in great improvement in the Russian situation in both a military and financial way, and to help to some extent in the economic reorganization which is going forward.

The political situation is another question. Protopopoff remains the dominating figure in Russia, and as long as that is the case, the political outlook of the Empire must be considered most dubious.

Protopopoff's reactionary tendencies are moreover rapidly increasing the complexity of the other problems with which Russia has to deal because of the alienation of the Liberals, who are most vigorous and able of the Russians.

The extreme delicacy of attempting any influence on the internal affairs of the empire doubtless will prevent any open effort to relieve this situation, but it is hoped, nevertheless, that some change can be brought about indirectly.

Lord Milner, the head of the British delegation, in the short time that he has been a member of the British cabinet, has gained considerable respect of the French and Italians because of his keen power of analysis. He is expected to meet with similar success in Russia.

As a member of the British triumvirate, he has unlimited power to deal with the perplexing question he has to face, and can decide the points that arise on the spot.

Lord Revelstoke, another member of the delegation represents great financial interests and comes of a family which for generations has had a part in all Anglo-Russian financing.

General Wilson, the third of the British envoys, is considered one of the brainiest of British military leaders. General Wilson and General Castelnau, of the French staff, who is also there to explain the plans and views of the western allies, will be in a position to reach a unity of military action with the Russian high command, such as has hitherto been impossible because of the delays in communication. The effect of this, it is expected to show as soon as the spring fighting gets under way.

By Courier Leased Wire. Amsterdam, Jan. 31.—Via London—Emperor William, replying to a telegram received by him from the director of the province of Brandenburg, says a despatch from Berlin, sent the following message: "After thirty months of warfare, rich in sacrifices, the entire German people in holy wrath at the rejection of my peace offer, is inspired anew with doubled strength and stands as one man."

French Transport Sunk With Great Loss of Life

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Jan. 30.—11.55 p.m.—Official announcement was made here tonight that the transport Admiral Magon, which was taking 950 soldiers to Saloniki, escorted by the destroyer Arc, was torpedoed by a submarine on January 25. Of those on board, 809 were saved.

A statement from the German admiralty on Monday said that on January 26, a German submarine at a point about 250 miles off Malta sank an armed hostile transport steamer which was proceeding eastward, convoyed by a French torpedo boat.

The steamer, which was filled with troops was said to have gone down in ten minutes.

WHEAT PRICES DECLINE. Chicago, Jan. 31.—Wheat prices declined today owing to some extent to reports that Germany might furnish basis for another peace move by President Wilson. Indications of the presence of German sea rovers in the North Atlantic tended also to handicap the bulls. Lack of buying, however, rather than unusual selling pressure seemed chiefly responsible for the breaks in prices.

Opening quotations, which ranged from 7-8 off to 1-2 up, with May at $1.75 to $1.75 1-2, and July at $1.48 1-2 to $1.50 were followed by a setback all around and then a moderate rally.

Conspiracy Discovered to Murder Lloyd George and Arthur Henderson

Sensational Plot Said to Have Been Disclosed in the Old Country—Four People Are Arraigned and Deny Any Knowledge of the Charge

By Courier Leased Wire. Bulletin, London, Jan. 31.—4:05 a.m.—A conspiracy to murder Premier Lloyd George is reported by The Daily Sketch, which says arrests have been made in this connection. The persons arrested are described as "three suffragettes and a man, a conscientious objector to military service."

The Sketch says the persons charged with the conspiracy are the three women and the man whose arrest "on a remarkable conspiracy charge" was reported in the newspapers this morning.

A despatch from London last night, quoted The Daily Mail as saying that the man and two of the women were arrested at Derby and the third woman at Southampton, that all of them would be arraigned to-day at Derby and that "their trial probably will attract the widest public attention."

Charges Preferred. Bulletin, Derby, an. 31.—1:45 a.m.—Mrs. Alice Wheelton, her two daughters and the husband of one of them, Alfred George Mason, were charged at the Guild Hall here to-day with conspiring to murder Premier Lloyd George and Arthur Henderson, member of the House of Commons and of the war council.

Information laid by an inspector of Scotland Yard charged "that the defendants on divers day between December 25 and the date of laying this information did amongst themselves unlawfully and wickedly conspire, confederate and agree together against the Right Honourable David Lloyd George and the Right Honourable Arthur Henderson wilfully and with malice aforethought to kill and murder, contrary to the Offences against Persons Act of 1861 and against the peace of our lord, the King, his crown and dignity." The information is signed by A. H. Bodkin, prosecution on behalf of the crown.

After formal evidence concerning the arrest had been given, the case adjourned until Monday.

Mrs. Wheelton, who is 50 years of age, resides in Derby with her daughter, Ann, who is a school teacher. Mason, who is 24, is a chemist of Southampton.

On being arrested the defendants denied any knowledge of the charge. They declined to make any statement.

The Daily Sketch says: "The police have unearthed what is believed to be a plot to murder the Premier, with the result that Mrs. Wheelton of Derby, Miss Nettie Wheelton, her daughter, Mrs. Mason, another daughter, and Alfred Mason, the latter's husband, have been arrested. They were taken to the police station and formally charged with conspiring together to murder Mr. Lloyd George. They were disclosed in the police court proceedings, but it is understood the charge will be made that the defendants purposed to use poison."

The inquiries by Scotland Yard began during the week-end. The Wheeltons, who live in Pear Tree road, a good district, are well known in Derby in connection with the suffrage movement. Mason is a conscientious objector to military service.

No details in regard to the case.

KING GEORGE SENDS A STRONG LETTER OF APPEAL

HAS HEART ON HIS RIGHT SIDE

Canadian Soldier Recovered From a Wound in the Vital Organ

HAS IRON CROSS

Which He Wrested From German Colonel in Fight

By Courier Leased Wire. St. John, N.B., Jan. 30.—After being twice wounded in the heart, once by a bullet and again by cupid, and the proud possessor of an Iron Cross, Marcel Belliveau, a Moncton and N.H.A. hockey player, has been invalided home. Belliveau got his bullet wound in his heart at Gourcellette during the attack on the famous sugar refinery there. He was operated on and his heart has now moved over to the right side. He got the Iron Cross after a hand-to-hand fight with a German colonel, who was wearing it.

Belliveau married the nursing sister who looked after him in the hospital. He exhibited the Iron Cross to friends here and also a prayer book through which the soldier that entered his heart, had bowed.

Returned men who had won the Military Cross were Lieut. Simonic, Wiarton, Ontario, and Lieut. F. J. Behan, Toronto. The former did some work on the Somme. He went into action with 48 men and came out of the fighting with but five uninjured. His work with the grenade section was considered most valuable.

Lieut. Behan went overseas as a private.

Other returned officers were Major G. T. Gilson and Lieut.-Col. O. E. Talbot, Quebec City, and Lieut. Boyd, Hamilton, Ont.

By Courier Leased Wire. Petrograd, Jan. 31.—Via London.—Russian troops have captured Austro-German fortifications east of Jacobeni, southwest of Kimpolung, near the northern end of the Roumanian front, the war office announced today. Prisoners and booty were taken by the Russians.

German forces attacked the Russian lines southwest of Riga, today's statement reports. The attack in general was arrested, but near the Kalzenen—Chlok high road, the Russian forces were withdrawn two-thirds of a mile after the assault.

A DECREASE

In the Total of British Casualties

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Jan. 31.—11 a.m.—The total of British casualties, as reported in the published lists during January, are 960 officers and 31,394 men.

British casualties for January show a considerable decrease over those of the preceding month. No lists were published during the Christmas holidays, but the total for the first twenty-three days of December was 815 officers and 36,350 men. The January total brings the number of British casualties since the beginning of the Somme offensive to 522,371.

Asking Men Over Military Age to Join for Home Defence.

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Jan. 31.—King George has sent a letter to the Lords Lieutenant of counties throughout the country, appealing to men over military age to enroll in a volunteer force for home defense. The letter recalls the territorial force which was originally intended for home service, but has since gone to the front.

After expressing his thanks to the territorialists who have gone to France the king continues:

"While they are thus fighting the battles of the empire abroad we must organize and equip a force to take their place as defenders of these shores in the case of invasion."

The King refers to the fact that some volunteers have already been enrolled and that the Duke of Connaught has been appointed their commander and concludes:

"I am confident that all who are now prevented from undertaking active service abroad will join the volunteers."

HANS WAGNER

Is to Have a Cut in His Salary

By Courier Leased Wire. Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 31.—The salary of Honus Wagner, famous shortstop of the Pittsburgh National League team, will feel the blue pencil of retrenchment this season. President Barney Dreyfuss admitted today. Wagner is understood to receive $10,000 a year. The Pirate's owner refused to indicate how much of this would be chopped off.

"I think Honus understands the matter perfectly," said President Dreyfuss. "In fact, he invited a reduction in his 1916 salary, but we refused to lower the figure then as we felt that others and not he should be subjected to a cut."

Wagner has not yet signed a contract for 1917.

Semi-Centennial Association Re Patriotic Fund

In Work of Appealing to Brantfordites Now in U. S.—Other Matters in Connection With Coming Celebration

Co-operation with the Patriotic Fund in its coming campaign in this city was promised last night at the meeting of the executive committee of the Semi-Centennial Association, in the matter of the sending of appeals for contributions to former residents of this city now living in the United States.

The use of a list of such citizens now in the possession of the Semi-Centennial Association was promised to the officials of the Fund together with assistance in the work of preparing the appeals. Discussion was evoked also upon the question of the length of time to be consumed in the celebration. Ald. J. Kelly and others advocated the confining of the ceremonies to one day exclusive of the opening religious services upon Sunday, the day fixed being Monday, July 2, a statute holiday.

Mr. J. G. Liddell was strongly in favor of retaining the original two day plan, assuring the meeting that an ample program would be prepared to cover that time, and that the financial success would accrue.

The question was settled by the motion of Messrs. MacBride and Ward, that the program committee bring in at a subsequent meeting a report upon the question of celebrating upon one or two days, and that an outline be given of the entire proceedings, fixing the approximate time to be consumed and the cost thereof.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

G. A. Ward, S. P. Pitcher, G. D. Watt and Ald. S. Dowling were appointed to wait upon the finance committee of the city council at its meeting on Friday evening next, to request a grant of $500.00 from the city.

The question of requesting the Dominion Government to issue a special stamp commemorating the Semi-Centennial anniversary received some discussion. The suggestion of the adoption of a group of the Fathers of Confederation as a basis was suggested by Mr. J. G. Liddell. Messrs. Pitcher, Ward and Dowling were appointed to confer with the members of Parliament for Brant County in this regard on Saturday next.

Messrs. Pitcher, Ward, Dowling and Watt were appointed to wait upon the Buildings and Grounds committee of the city council at its meeting on Friday night, and to request the use of the Market Square for the occasion of the celebration of the Semi-Centennial Association to authorize all attractions coming to the city for the occasion and to control the use of the Market Square vendors upon the occasion.

Patriotic Fund

Mr. J. H. Spence addressed the meeting in the interests of the Patriotic Fund upon the matter of getting into touch with the former citizens of Brantford now residing elsewhere. A list of such persons was in existence, and the speaker considered that through its means appeals might be issued to them in the interests of the Patriotic Fund.

It was pointed out by Mr. F. S. Blain that letters fitted to the occasion were being furnished by the main branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, together with the postage necessary.

The issuing of a circular by the Semi-Centennial Association in conjunction with the Patriotic Fund, was moved by Mr. MacBride, the circular to contain the names of officials of both associations.

Messrs. Blain, Clement, Harp, Powell and MacBride were appointed a committee to draft the proposed folder.

The suggestion that the pageant of Canadian history to be staged on the occasion, include some reference to the enfranchisement of the women of the western provinces of Canada, was made by the Equal Franchise Club of this city.

Correspondence was read between Mr. J. G. Liddell, chairman of the entertainment committee and a United States lithographing establishment relative to the souvenir plaques to be issued for the occasion of the celebration.

Sports

Promise of a sports program was reported by Ald. J. J. Kelly, chairman of the sports committee.

Vote of Condolence

A vote of sympathy to Mr. T. J. Nelson, a member of the committee, in the recent death of his mother, was passed on the motion of Messrs. Powell and Burnley.

Church Committee

Mr. F. Charlton made an appeal on behalf of the ministers of the city for funds for the church committee, to be used principally in advertising for the "Go to Church" campaign, to be inaugurated to open the celebration on Sunday, July 1. He also requested that at least one of the city's clergymen be appointed a member of the executive committee and on motion of Mr. Liddell, it was agreed to allow the clergy to appoint two of their number to the board.

In the absence of Mr. Matthews, chairman of the committee, Mr. S. P. Pitcher, first vice-president occupied the chair.

The Roll

Those present were Messrs. S. P. Pitcher (chairman), F. S. Blain, J. G. Liddell, W. H. Lane, F. S. Armstrong, H. J. Clement, E. C. Kilmer, F. C. Harp, John Hill, J. J. Kelly, F. Charlton, G. A. Watt, A. B. MacBride, Geo. D. Watt, A. B. Burnley, J. A. Powell.

OVERALLS FOR CHICAGO GIRLS

Munition Workers Have Introduced the Garb to Others

(Chicago Tribune)

Chicago girls and women are going to wear overalls. For street and dress wear they will still tolerate skirts, but when it comes to work they will don jeans. That's the news from experts of State street.

Overalls may have such a hit with the women working on munition factories overseas that dress manufacturers decided they ought to be just as practical here. Accordingly they introduced them into some factories in the east with such good results, that they have decided to stampede the working women of the country into overalls. Besides enabling the wearer to move about more quickly, they greatly lessen the danger of accidents.

"We intend to feature them just as soon as we can get them," said a woman department chief at one of the largest stores in State street the other day. "They will be dandy for housework. When it comes to scrubbing floors, cleaning windows, washing clothes and many other household tasks, women will find them ideal. Besides in the summer time they will be much cooler than a house dress, as no underskirts will be needed with them. The only difficulty will be that at first women will be afraid to wear them while working for fear some one might come to the door, but they will get over that as overalls become a recognized working garb."

These overalls are to be of chambray and gingham for house wear, of blue denim and white duck for gardening and outdoor sports. Although they follow the general lines of men's overalls, these garments are to be designed especially for women.

EXCUSE FACTORY WORKING OVERTIME

Pte. Sam Landers Scores the Alibis of Those Who Do Not Enlist

The enthusiasm that has been instilled into the local recruiting situation by Private Sam Landers, of the 205th 'Tiger' battalion, was explained by the large attendances that gathered to listen to his message on the streets last night. The band of the 215th battalion were paraded at half past seven, and accompanied Lieut. Landers down Dalhousie street from the Armories, playing patriotic selections. At the corner of Queen and Dalhousie Sts. where the soldiers came to a halt, a goodly sized crowd gathered, during which he stated that there were many young men who had already attempted to don the khaki, but who had been prevented by some slight deficiency. It was now possible for these men to be placed in other branches of his service, where the medical requirements were not so strict, and where their services would be equally valuable. He referred to the many weak excuses given by eligibles for not enlisting, and in this connection declared, "I tell you, the 'excuse factory' is working overtime these days. There is not a man in khaki to-day who could not have had the so desired, given a legitimate excuse for not enlisting. He inquired if, after the vast outlay of man power, and material resources that had already been made, was the country now to give up with resignation, and be forced to inform the Mother Country that nothing more could be expected from Canada? Rather should our efforts be renewed to bring to a successful conclusion, the struggle that has been so well upheld by our relatives and friends now overseas. Private Landers stated that he, accompanied by Major Joyce of the 215th battalion had visited the various schools in the city during the past two days, and declared that he was amazed at the number of children in attendance at the different classes visited, who had immediate relatives serving in the country. Although without exception, all the children's families were represented in khaki.

The band paraded down Queen St. to Colborne, and then down to the Market Square, where another address was given. The speaker concluded by making a direct appeal for more recruits to augment the ranks of the battalion.

Longstreet vs Sanderson.

This action regarding the estate of the late C. W. Sanderson, Reeve of Houghton, has passed through another roll in the legal mill.

The case was argued before the court of appeal in Toronto last week. The defendants succeeded in having the order of Sir Glenholm Falconbridge of last December, altered. This order provided that the plaintiffs were entitled to immediate possession of all real and personal property and ordered defendants to give up possession. Under order of Appeal the plaintiffs are allowed to remain in possession of house and contents and have reserved to them the right to urge at the trial, all their claims against the rights and claims of the plaintiffs to possession of any part of the possessions until the validation of the will, which is in dispute, is established.

The trial will likely proceed at the sessions here on February 29th. T. J. Agar, Simcoe, and N. C. Brown of Delhi are the defendant; F. R. Ferguson, of Toronto, for plaintiff. The activity of the late Mr. Sanderson in public life in the county has thrown interest about the matter.

SIR SAM HUGHES

Makes Speech in Commons in Explanation of Course MODERATE IN TONE

Was Shocked When Asked to Cast in His Lot With Liberal Party

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—The speech of Gen. Sir Sam Hughes in the House yesterday is best described as a bitter disappointment to the Opposition. It was moderate in tone, dignified and restrained within the lines of a straightforward explanation of the course taken by the late Minister, and the points of administrative difference which brought him into conflict with his colleagues. Sir Sam's earnest desire to promote the welfare of the Canadian soldiery by the methods which commended themselves to him was the keynote of his address. The studied effort of Liberal speakers to goad the former Minister into the delivery of a speech which would provide them with material for additional attacks upon the government, failed of its purpose.

"I have been asked," said he, "by some—not officially by Liberal leaders—to cast in my lot with Laurier and the great, the time-honored Liberal party. In all love and kindness let me say the idea shocked me. To assist in placing a statesman of even his high character in power with the principles enunciated by his authorized supporter in Dorchester, and have Canada depend on his ideals for the conduct and the settlement of the war, would be repugnant to my very soul."

Further on he said: "Whatever my course may be, and whatever the effect to me may be, rest assured my aim, my purpose, my determination have but one conclusion, the active, energetic conduct of the war to a victorious conclusion."

Drew Large Audience

The announcement that Sir Sam Hughes would speak drew to the House a crowd which taxed the capacity of the gallery. His desire with the question of future enlistments, and reaffirmed his advocacy of the calling out of the single men for home defence under the provisions of the Militia Act, arguing that from the men so trained drafts would be easily available for service overseas. He stated that there were 788,000 single men in Canada eligible for military service. Sir Sam said that he had planned to have at least six Canadian divisions at the front in order that two might always be in rest billets. He declared his belief that the control of appointments and control of Canadian expenditures in Great Britain. He had felt that since the members of the cabinet were individually and collectively constitutionally responsible for these expenditures they should not be made solely on the authority of departmental officers. He had first suggested an audit of such disbursements. Later, he had thought a commission with Sir George Perley at its head should authorize expenditures in England, and finally had reached the conclusion that a Minister of overseas services, responsible as was a Minister at home for the administration of his department should be appointed. The Finance Minister condemned the partisan attitude of the Opposition and the suggestions that came from that quarter to the effect that Canada lacked leadership. He outlined the achievements of the Dominion and its government since the war began as the answer to these insinuations.

Speeches by Hon. William Pugsley and Mr. A. Bellenore of Maskinonge, brought the debate to a close. The address to the Governor-General, in reply to the speech from the Throne was then adopted.

Copenhagen, via London. —According to The Ekst the captain of the Danish Iris, which arrived at Copenhagen Tuesday, defied a German submarine which threatened to sink it and compelled the submarine commander to permit him to pass. Iris encountered the submarine while it was engaged in sinking another boat. The Danish captain ordered to stop and was told the submarine captain who ordered its papers and ordered it to take to the small boat. Danish captain refused, saying the Iris was bound from one country to another and had no trans on board. He added "You may sink us, but I men will remain on board."

After threats and arguments failed to alter the determination of the captain of the Iris, the submarine commander returned to ship and allowed the steamer to proceed.

DANISH CAPTAIN

Defied a German Sub. and Got Away With It

By Courier Leased Wire. Copenhagen, via London, Jan. 31.—According to The Ekstrabladet, the captain of the Danish steamer Iris, which arrived at Copenhagen on Tuesday, defied a German submarine which threatened to sink his ship, and compelled the submarine commander to permit him to pass. The Iris encountered the submarine, while it was engaged in sinking another boat. The Danish craft was ordered to stop and was boarded by the submarine captain, who inspected its papers and ordered the crew to take to the small boats. The Danish captain refused, saying that the Iris was bound from one neutral country to another and had no contraband on board. He added: "You may sink us, but I and my men will remain on board."

THE EARNING POWER OF MONEY

THERE is no disputing the fact that the European War is directly responsible for a wave of prosperity in the United States and Canada that has steadily grown in force for over eighteen months, until it has embraced practically all of the important industries.

Thousands of artisans, small shopkeepers, manufacturers and business men, who only a few years ago found it hard to make both ends meet, are now earning such large profits that, in spite of the high prices for foodstuffs, they find they have a respectable surplus at the end of each month.

Bank deposits have been doubled and the Savings Banks throughout the country have their vaults loaded to overflowing with gold and silver and high grade securities.

This shows clearly that the prosperity is not confined to any particular locality, or to any favored class, but that it has engulfed the rich and poor with indiscriminate fancy.

These are certainly prosperous times for many, but as the prosperity is abnormal, it cannot be lasting, so I say it behooves every man and woman who is directly benefited by this "War Prosperity" to make hay while the sun shines.

The standard of value in this country is the "Dollar" and every school boy knows that while the standard has remained stationary, the cost of necessities, as well as luxuries, has slowly, but surely advanced, until the dollar of old purchases only about half what it formerly did.

As an example, let us take the man who had $100 invested in government bonds paying him 3 per cent. yearly. At the end of each year he received $3.00 as interest, which at the time purchased 3 bushels of wheat. Today, if he still holds the same investment, his $3.00 will buy but 1 1/2 bushels, which shows that there must be something wrong somewhere.

The "something wrong" is the earning power of the dollar, for whereas it was only 3 or 4 per cent. a few years ago, it should be 6 to 8 per cent. today.

Financiers throughout the world are recognizing this fact, and this is proven by the number of gilt edge securities that can be purchased on a basis, where they return anywhere from 5 to 7 per cent.

If the war continues another year or two, I expect to see this scale advanced to a point where 7 or 8 per cent. is the recognized standard on the almighty dollar.

The man or woman who is reaping some of the prosperity in this land and who is placing all surplus capital in some bank for safety is losing an opportunity that may never come again, and the sooner they realize it the better.

Take your money out of the bank and place it in gilt edge securities, which will bring you an income year after year. There is no such a thing as an absolutely safe investment, but at the same time there is no such a thing as an absolutely safe bank, so you take no more chances by investing than you do by hoarding, providing you use ordinary intelligence in the selection of your securities.

If you don't know anything about securities or finance, go to some responsible broker with an established reputation and ask for advice which he should give you freely and without any charge.

If you don't know of such a broker, ask your bank and they will recommend some stock broker in your home city.

The important point is to take advantage of these abnormal times, for in all my experience in finance I have never seen so many genuine investment bargains as the market offers today.

Many of the big producing copper mines with ore reserves that guarantee dividends for years to come can be purchased at prices that bring you a return of 8 to 12 per cent. yearly, which means an income of from $80 to $120 yearly in every $1,000 invested.

If your bank cannot or will not furnish you with information on such investments, write me and I will send you full and complete reports by return mail.

Yours faithfully, Mark Harris

AMPLE TIME

To Save All on Board the Laurentic

London, Jan. 31.—There was ample time to save all on board the British auxiliary cruiser Laurentic, which was sunk by a mine off the north coast of Ireland last Thursday, says an official statement issued today, contradicting reports to the contrary. The fatalities were due to severe weather preventing some of the boats reaching shore, it adds: "A statement appeared in some of the morning papers," says the official statement, "to the effect that there was not sufficient time to save all who had escaped being killed by the explosion, and that the ship Laurentic went down carrying with her more than 200 men.

"This is wholly incorrect. There was ample time to save everybody and the ship was very carefully searched above and below, and all hands were put into boats. Those who were lost, were lost owing to the cold and severity of the weather preventing them from reaching shore."

The official report on the Laurentic stated that 121 officers and men were saved. She is believed to have had a complement of about 300, the loss of life thus being indicated at about 180.

CAPTAIN JACKSON

Is Transferred to the 257th Construction Battalion

Has Long Been Identified With Military Authorities

Coupled with the announcement of the loss to the 215th battalion of Capt. J. A. Mutter, made this morning, was the information that the unit was being deprived of the services of Major Alan Mad Jack- son, who has been connected with the battalion since last March. He was appointed to a captaincy, on the strength of his qualifications of experience received in New Zealand. Capt. Jackson was born in New Zealand, in 1879, and an odd coincidence, in connection with his departure from the city, and from the ranks of the second Brant battalion, is that it is exactly nineteen years ago to-morrow that he commenced his career as a civil engineer, in the hands of his father. He was early identified with military activities, being first commissioned a sergeant in a volunteer corps formed from the employees of the firm with which he served his apprenticeship. He rapidly rose through the ranks and held the rank of captain when he left New Zealand. At the next few years of his life were engaged in the pursuit of his profession, the exigencies of which compelled him to travel in many parts of the world. He came to Canada after having been in the Mother Country in the previous year. Shortly after his arrival in this country, he spent one year in taking a course in the mechanical engineering department of the Canada Foundry. For the past four years he has been engaged in private practice, a member of the firm of Jackson and Lee, surveyors and civil engineers, of this city, and is still connected with that concern.

Since his enlistment with the 215th Battalion, Major Jackson has been very popular with officers and men alike, not only being a capable and competent officer, but always having at heart the best interests of his men, and it is only with a feeling of regret that he is forced to sever his friendly relationships with the members of the Batt. to gratify his desire to go overseas sooner than would otherwise be the case. In the list of appointments announced at Toronto this morning is included that of Major Jackson, who reverts to the rank of Captain with the 257th Construction Battalion. Captain Jackson will be placed in charge of recruiting in the London district where seventeen men have been secured by Lieut. Hugh Gall, the Toronto University football star. Lieut. Gall has been removed to Guelph where he will look after the interests of the battalion. In assuming his new duties, Captain Jackson will find familiar and congenial employment for his talents, the work of the Construction Battalion being directly similar to that of his profession, and this was also a potent factor in inducing Captain Jackson to take the step which he has.

The 257th Battalion, is privileged to recruit from all over Ontario and since its inception has been leading in the number of men obtained each day. Last week four hundred men had been taken on strength although the unit had only been organized for two weeks.

To the departing officer, the heartiest wishes for continued success are extended by the officers and men of the battalion which he is leaving as well as a host of friends throughout the city and county.

YOU can save Belgian lives!

Though you cannot fight and kill Germans, you can give and save some of their helpless Belgian victims, three million of whom must be fed or starve. So little is needed to feed a Belgian family, and so economically are contributions handled by the Belgian Relief Commission, that there are very few of us who could not provide for at least one family through this winter, or till the end of the war.

$2.50 a month—less than 10c. a day—will do it! How easily you could save that much from your little indulgences—and how much it would mean to some Belgian mother and her hungry little ones! Wouldn't a little self-denial now be richly repaid by knowing, when the war is over, that you had done your part, and had saved precious lives for our unfortunate Allies? THE SITUATION.

Speaking at Nottingham, Lord Robert Cecil, Minister of Blockade, stated that he rated war, as his father (Lord Salisbury) had done, but it was by reason of this fact that he was anxious there should be no premature peace. Referring to the blockade of Germany by the British fleet, he pointed out that the measure in question could not be trusted upon alone, but that it had met with a large degree of success. The overseas exports of the enemy had been absolutely destroyed, and their trading with neighboring neutrals had been largely diminished. With regard to food, "We have evidence of the extreme state of things now existing in Germany as well as in Austria." Another despatch in this latter regard announces that there is extremely cold weather in the Fatherland and that lack of provisions is becoming more and more acute. Elderly men and women and children are stated to be suffering the most. Small wonder that a despatch over the Courier leased wire to-day announces that the Kaiserites are hoping that President Wilson will persist in his peace efforts. The slackening of the German offensive in Roumania is said to be due to the fact of the removal of troops from there to help in the opening spring campaign on the West front.

It is announced that the Canadians made two very successful raids on the Somme front and that one hundred prisoners were taken and two machine guns. The loss attending these expeditions was small.

The Belgians, assisted by French troops, caused the complete failure of German attacks South of Hetsas.

SIR SAM'S SPEECH

The Laurierites were fondly hoping that when Sir Sam Hughes made his first speech in the Dominion House he would rip into his former colleagues and especially Sir Robert Borden. It is anything with these men to cause distrust and discontent with the Government during these war times and they fondly hoped that the ex-Minister of Militia would provide sensational disclosures—something which their own unpatriotic efforts have utterly failed to establish. The Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Globe says:—

"The expecter fireworks failed to materialize, and to this extent the craning galleries were disappointed."

The "craning galleries" forsooth! The hungry Laurierite seekers after office more nearly expresses it, with the Globe as deeply disappointed as all the rest of them.

Sir Sam in his remarks stated that he had even been approached to join the Liberal Party, something which had naturally come to him as a shock. He made it abundantly clear that he still felt a loyal allegiance for the Conservative Party, and his main grievance seemed to be against Sir Thomas White, Finance Minister for withholding support. In reply Sir Thomas denied the allegation.

Altogether Sir Sam's effusion was not at all what the Grits hoped, or expected.

PUTTING IT UP TO WILSON

Followers of Venizelos, according to a Greek paper published in New York, have written the President of the United States as follows:—

"To the President of the United States, Washington, D.C. "The undersigned respectfully request the President of the United States that in consideration of the fact that three quarters of the Kingdom of Greece, abandoning the constitutional and arbitrary government of Athens, constituted a liberal government for themselves, a government inspired by the eternal principles, emanating from the American proclamation of Independence, known as the Provisional Government of Greece in Salonica, in consideration also of the fact that this provisional government has decided to recognize none of the official acts and documents issued by the Consular Authorities depending from the government of Athens, a measure which is of vital interest to Americans, foreigners and subjects of the territories under the provisional government of Salonica, the Government of the United States do recognize de jure said Provisional Government of Salonica and the official representa-

It was scarcely necessary for Premier Borden to reply to the assinine charges of that man Turritt. Nobody took any stock in them anyway.

With the grub getting shorter each day, the Huns at any rate are afforded food for reflection.

So the Liberals, after lambasting Sam Hughes, tried to get him into their own ranks. Sir Sam was too staunch a Conservative for that and also too staunch a Canadian to play into their hands as hoped.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little into your hand and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. RETURN VISIT. The High School Club discussed plans last night for the return visit which is expected, will take place on February 16th. Preparations are now under way for a royal entertainment of the visitors when they arrive, and a splendid program of sports and contests is contemplated. The hostesses for the evening were Mesdames A. McFarland, A. McPherson, "Bert" Inglis, A. E. Day and Dr. Jarvis, who provided a dainty supper for the members of the club.

NO POSTPONEMENT. Word was received by Manager "Ed" Gould, of the local junior hockey team that the game on Friday night between the Ingersoll Juniors, the winners of their group, and the local boys, would have to be postponed. The information was communicated to him by a telegram from Secretary Hewitt, Toronto, of the O. H. A. This morning he called up Mr. Hewitt over the telephone, and was told that a protest had been entered by Woodstock against the resident qualifications of one of the Ingersoll players. The winners, however, maintained that their man was a bona fide resident of Ingersoll and were confident of convincing the O. H. A. officials of this fact. It was expected that the tangle would be straightened out in time for the game to be played here on Monday night, however. Later, Manager Gould was informed that a satisfactory settlement had been arrived at by Woodstock, withdrawing the protest, and the game will progress as scheduled at the Alfred Street rink on Friday night. The juniors have been practicing faithfully and are determined to continue the excellent showing made by them in this district. Their opponents are also reputed to be a fast aggregation, and an interesting and exciting match is assured.

COMMITTEE MEETING. The Buildings and Grounds committee of the city council are meeting in the City Hall on Thursday evening at eight o'clock.

GIVEN A SHOWER. Last evening a number of young people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Oxley Eagle avenue, the occasion being a miscellaneous shower held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. (nee Miss Minto Almas) Joe Bracht, who have just returned from an extended honeymoon in Buffalo, New York and other U. S. cities. The presents, which were numerous, showed the high esteem in which the young couple are held, and were more like those of a wedding rather than a shower. The evening was spent in games, cards and music. A dainty luncheon was served at midnight, after which the merriment was continued for some time. The gathering after wishing Mr. and Mrs. Bracht much happiness, broke up at an early hour in the morning. Mr. and Mrs. Bracht are leaving shortly for Detroit and Dakota, after which they will return to their home in Fielding, Sask.

BRANTFORD CLUB. The annual meeting of the Brantford Club was held last night, when a large and enthusiastic gathering was present. The sentiments expressed were highly optimistic over the prospects of the club for the coming year, and it was decided to proceed, and make an earnest endeavour toward improvement of the building. A sum of money will be expended in this regard, within the near future. The financial report for the past year was submitted, and it was found that there was a gratifying surplus, that further encouraged the members in the progressive attitude assured by them. The following officers were elected for the year 1917, President, C. A. Watrous, Vice-President, A. S. Towers, Secretary-Treasurer, Fred Frank Directors, Messrs A. K. Bunnell, E. J. Mabon, George D. Watt, N. D. Neill and J. E. Baker.

FINE TIME. An enjoyable evening was spent by the members of the Marlboro St. Epworth League last night, when as the result of a contest for new members and interesting meetings, held about a month ago, the victors were royally entertained and vanquished. The four committees comprising the society, participated in the campaign, but the Literary and Social group displayed their superiority throughout, and were therefore the guests of honor at the last night. A splendid programme had been provided, including an instrumental offering by Miss Edith Anderson, that was greatly appreciated and vocal solos by Miss Mears and Mr. Taylor, who were also highly acceptable. Delightful readings were given by the Misses McLaren and Cronk. The chair was occupied by the president, Mr. E. C. Crawley, who officiated in his usual capable manner, and with a brief address, congratulated the victors on the splendid showing made by them. The evening was brought to a close by an interesting contest, and the serving of dainty refreshments.

McLaren of the 2nd Brigade, accompanied by Major Beggie, visited the 215th battalion this morning, for the purpose of making the usual weekly examination of the administration of the unit. An attractive and forceful poster has been issued by the West Haldimand recruiting committee, a copy of which has been forwarded to Lt. Col. Snider. In large letters at the top of the poster, are the words, Dear Friend, Have you ever thought of going abroad? Privates Edward Bray and Nelson E. Doherty, who enlisted on Monday, have been detailed to go to Simcoe for recruiting purposes, and have been placed on subsistence while engaged in these duties. # STORY OF GERMAN PLOT IN CANADA IS REVEALED

Clarence Dangburn, Arrested at Windsor, Tells Strange Tale—May be Hun Spy, or May be Insane

Windsor, Jan. 31.—The imposition of a two-year sentence upon Clarence R. Dangburn, convicted here of forgery, concludes, for the time being at any rate, a story that has engaged the attention of the police for some time, the investigation of which reveals a record of crime of unusual proportions, and, by the word of the prisoner, a plot to destroy military buildings in Canada, to wreck troop trains, destroy barracks, containing crops, and to otherwise hinder Canada's war endeavors.

The case of Dangburn, according to the Windsor police, first came to their attention through the military and immigration authorities. It is said that the man wrote early last fall to Ottawa from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, saying that he was about to be deported back into Canada, and Windsor and that he was in possession of information of vital interest to the Military Department.

He was handed over by the American officers to the police authorities at Windsor and thereupon commenced the unravelling of his yarn, regarded in some circles as pure fiction, and by others as possessed of more than a grain of truth.

Dangburn then gave the name of Sgt.-Major John Francis Knowles. He claimed that he had been a member of No. 1 Construction Battalion, but that he had deserted from his corps at Valparaiso. He asked in his communication from Cedar Rapids to be reinstated and asserted, so the story goes, that he was anxious to serve the Empire. He then claimed that he was born in Vancouver of English and French parentage. His story about his nativity has since proven untrue, by investigation in the records of British Columbia.

The "sergeant-major" was not long in custody at Windsor when he informed the officers who had his case in charge that he had learned that a plot had been concocted by German agents in the United States to destroy buildings of military value. The Windsor police and military officials found difficulty in securing details as to the properties against which the campaign was aimed, but "Knowles" persisted in his allegations. He stoutly asserted that he desired only to assist in frustrating the plot, but later the suspicion was developed that his purposes were quite to the contrary. Many of his contentions were proven to be untrue, but his eagerness assured strongly of method. Though he said he was a member of the Royal North-West Mounted Police for a couple of years before the war, this could not be substantiated.

Burning of Barracks. Then by divers means which the police of Windsor claim to have been shrewdly exercised, the confidence of the man was gained, and, believing that he was talking to a man truly friendly to him, he stated that he had intimate knowledge of the burning of barracks in Western Ontario and other incidents that aroused suspicion and some anxiety in certain localities.

It will be recalled that a series of barn fires in Lambton County last fall brought forth a government investigation. He intimated that there were co-workers from an enemy organization, with headquarters in the United States, in various battalions in Canada, each putting forth his best endeavors to obtain information of value to the foes of Britain.

Known Military Quarters. Later it was found that he was familiar to a strange degree with military quarters. He drew many sketches from memory, of the Citadel of Quebec, of St. Clair Tunnel, and of the buildings occupied by the troops at Queen's Park in London. Later, beneath his lapel, was found a badge indicating that he was a member of the American Secret Service. This complication rendered the case more mysterious, and the lead brought the investigators to a novelty store kept by a Hebrew in an American city.

Obituary

The death occurred in Fergus, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robinson, on Monday of Mrs. Dickie, former resident of this city. The deceased, who is the mother of Mrs. Nelson Jex, Peel street, was well known to a large circle of local friends, who will hear with sincere regret of her demise, following upon a lingering illness.

Annie White, widow of the late John White of St. Thomas, passed away at the home of her son, George C. White, 42 Nelson St., at 7 o'clock this morning (Jan. 31st). Death was due to pneumonia.

The late Mrs. White was a native of Devonshire, England, and was 75 years of age. For the past five years she has made her home with her son George C. of this city, organist of Colborne St. Methodist Church.

Mrs. White was a staunch Baptist a member of Park Baptist Church, where she regularly partook of Holy Communion. She was, however, a Christian of generous views, and broad sympathies and because it was more convenient, worshipped regularly with the Methodist people where her son was in charge of the choir. She took an especial delight in the prayer meeting and bible class and having leisure spent the greater part of her time, when able, in visiting and reading to and praying with elderly and shut-in people, and was ever ready with a kind word and helpful deed wherever there was trouble. Many of the East Ward will miss her cheery, earnest words and pleasant smiles and fervent prayer, and charitable deeds. Truly it may be said of her "She hath done what she could."

Four sons survive to mourn the loss of a good mother, Edward F.

LLOYD GEORGE, WHOSE LIFE IS SAID TO HAVE BEEN PLOTTED.

HOW WAR AFFECTS DIAMOND MARKET

Mines of South Africa Are No Longer so Active as at One Time

One of the many horrors of the war is the increase in the price of diamonds. There was a time when diamonds were comparatively cheap and they increased in value until it was only a limited number of people who could wear them. When war broke out their price declined like the price of almost everything else, but soon it is strengthened, and it is said to rule now well above the average of recent years. Just why this is so has been explained by Messrs. Asscher, the largest firm of diamond cutters and polishers in Amsterdam, which remains the world's headquarters for the world's Assemblée. They will be remembered as the firm entrusted with the cutting and polishing of the famous Cullinan diamond by King Edward. They explain chiefly by the fact that not so many diamonds are being mined now as before the war. The desire to find them may be greater than ever, but the skilled labor is not available, since the great bulk of diamonds are produced in South Africa, and South Africa has now more serious business on hand.

Diamonds as an Investment. There is also the fact that thousands of people invested in diamonds in the early months of the war when the value appeared to be falling out of the world's ordinary securities. Especially was this true in Belgium countries. They considered diamonds to have a universally-recognized value like gold. Gold, however, was scarce. It was relatively bulky, and could not be so easily concealed. There was a plunge into the diamond market on the part of those who had plenty of money, and realized that the temporary decline in the market offered them a chance not merely to save their money, but to increase it.

A traveller from Hungary some time ago reported that while there was an abundance of paper money in Budapest, the Jews, numbering about a handsome 50 per cent of the population, were buying diamonds with it. In the early days of the war many German and Austrian buyers visited Amsterdam and invested large sums in diamonds which they expected to sell at a handsome profit to their countrymen, who desired to concentrate and conceal their wealth.

American Buying. Then again, the unprecedented prosperity of the United States tended to boost the prices of diamonds, not alone because of the abundance of wealth, but also because some channels through which the Americans were wont to dispose of their wealth were closed to them. For instance, they could no longer visit Europe and daze the inhabitants by their extravagance. The United States has been the world's largest purchaser of brilliant, the rose diamonds which constitute the other chief division by which diamonds are classified, being chiefly purchased in Europe, and its appetite for the stone and its ability to gratify the appetite have, as remarked, increased in the past two years.

It is also to be considered that the diamond market does not cater exclusively to those who desire the stone as an ornament. The industrial uses of the diamond are many and important. There is the glazier's diamond with which everyone is familiar, and it is to be borne in mind that diamonds are used for drilling and sawing blocks of stone, such as granite; for trueing emery and other wheels used for grinding the hardest steel tools, for drilling holes in very hard steel objects, and in drawing wire for electric lamps.

The Belgian Industry. Rose diamonds are not in such demand as before the war, since Europe has not the spare money to pay for these luxuries and several of the belligerent countries have forbidden their importation. The diamond manufacturers and dealers of Antwerp were Belgians, with a large proportion of Austrian and Russian Poles and a few Germans. Off the outbreak of the war they were sent away by the Belgian government, the majority of them migrating to Schoveningen, in Holland. When Antwerp fell into German hands the latter exploited the terrible distress to which the Belgian diamond workers in Antwerp were reduced to make them work for scandalously low wages. At the outset they manufactured British diamonds, which they had in stock or which they bought. They had also a very considerable stock of German South West African diamonds on hand, which the industry was kept going and to this was added later the existing pre-war stock of the German Regie.

The Control Committees. In June, 1915, the British government desired to put a stop to this and two committees were established in Amsterdam, one to control the import of rough diamonds and the other the export of cut diamonds. The rough diamonds sent from England are consigned to the first of these committees. These diamonds are sold to enemies of the allies. After being polished they have to be exported through the medium of the second committee, to whose judgment all the diamonds exported must be submitted. A very searching examination is made by this committee to prevent the palming off of diamonds cut from rough diamonds coming from what was once German South-West Africa, or diamonds not cut in Amsterdam. This committee does not advise the British Consul to grant a certificate until it is satisfied beyond all doubt that the conditions of the contract have been fulfilled. Elaborate precautions are subsequently taken as to the sealing and shipment of parcels of diamonds exported to Great Britain and the United States.

BOXER IS KILLED

And Another Suffers Concussion of Brain

New York State Legislature May Take Action

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Jan. 31.—Boxing promoters expressed fears to-day that the game would suffer further restriction at the hands of the state legislature. It was reported that Governor Whitman intended to ask the legislature to repeal the present law, which permits ten round bouts without a decision. The rumor was without confirmation, however, either in Albany or New York. Developments in the boxing game expected to affect the future of the sport include the investigations now in progress of charges against Frederick A. Weineke, chairman of the state athletic commission, and the death of Stephen McDonald, who was killed last night in the first round of a professional bout at Albany.

A number of legislators saw the fight in which McDonald was knocked out by Toddy Hicks, with a blow under the heart. Hicks, his seconds, the referee and promoters of the bout are held on charges of manslaughter, second degree. An autopsy to-day will determine whether McDonald's death was due to the blow or to injuries received when he fell against the ropes. The Weineke investigation will be continued next Monday in New York. The chairman of the athletic commission is charged with attempted extortion in seeking a bribe from boxing promoters.

On Behalf of the New War Loan

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Jan. 31.—The Daily Mail says that at a conference of the leading clergymen of all denominations held in London yesterday, preliminary arrangements were made for an appeal from the pulpits in every church and chapel in Great Britain for the people to subscribe to the war loan. It was arranged also for some of the most prominent preachers to deliver special sermons in which it will be argued that it is the nation's duty to subscribe to the loan.

$420 has been received from the sale of the Brant County Booklet, from the North and South Brant Women's Institutes, the Six Nation Women's League and the Mohawk Institute and the Brant Chapter I. O. D. E.

The Burch District where there is no Institute contributed its share through the kindness of Mrs. Burch, Mrs. Minshall and workers.

Of the total amount ($420) $335 including the I. O. D. E. cheque, is being forwarded to the Patroness of the work, the Princess Patricia, by the presidents of the different Societies in behalf of the girls who had charge of the books, for Brant County Hospital beds in British Red Cross work.

The balance of the money has been expended in connection with the Iroquois Colors for the Indian Warriors, in yarn for the Indian women and in material for the coming year. The booklet was financed partly from some of the town sales and partly privately.

Other than the money raised by the Indian women for the Colors, a cheque was received from Mr. E. M. Chadwick, K.C., of Toronto, for ten dollars and a cheque from Lieut.-Col. Merritt for $65. At the beginning of the war Lieut.-Col. Merritt offered $25,000 to raise a S. N. I. Regiment.

An order with accompanying cheque was received from Mr. D. C. Scott, Dept. of Gen. Indian Affairs of the Ottawa Government and from Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, Provincial Government, for a considerable number of copies of the Booklet for distribution in the interest of Red Cross and Education. Letters of commendation also, as to the intrinsic merits of the work have been received.

The Booklet was issued with a two-fold purpose: in the interests of the war and in the interest of the Indian history of Brant County.

Since the discovery of the new world, the origin of the Indian and the identity of the Indian language has been one of the world's scientific and historical mysteries. The secret lies in Brant County, other than the Niagara district, Brant County in virtue of the Iroquois contains the greatest historical and scientific possibilities in Canada.

The first two numbers of the Indian history were ready for publication when the war broke out, it was not thought right or wise to expend money in anything but practical work during war time and these were laid aside. In a poetic and practical way some of the great truths hidden in Brant County have been set forth in the Booklet, "St. George, the Knight of the Holy Trail."

For a century discussion continued among the most learned men in Europe over the origin and identity of the European, Asiatic and African languages.

The discussion was fruitless until the man with the poetic vision scientific mind, and fund of practical common sense, appeared and proceeded on true scientific lines. He found the roots of the different languages and identified them. Then all was simple and plain.

Then one of the great minds of Europe wrote of him, "The discoverer of a New World of Intellect."

In all probability he would have identified the Indian language at the time but his information was second-hand.

Mr. Frazer, the Provincial Archivist has written that the value of all the works issued in Indian history, until lately, is a question with learned men because the writers have not proceeded on fine lines of science.

And too often, alas, learned men, D.D.'s, and L.L.D.'s, are a hindrance rather than a help in the search of Truth. The work in a groove, too often on the surface of things the greatest abhorrence of great minds. They lack the poetic vision. Their names carry weight with an unthinking public and prevents the acceptance of Truth for a time.

The European philologist traced many, in fact most of the vital words to the root A. R. Campbell, a Canadian of poetic vision, who spent twenty years in his "History of the Heathen," saw this vital root in Iroquois indeed we follow it up. No ethnologist has yet revealed the origin of the word Iroquois. Iroquois holds the secret, a secret so simple that it is within a child's comprehension. Iroquois is the French spelling of the word. In all primitive languages there is the "Law of harmony," that is the vowels change to harmonize with the principal vowel in the word or sentence, the vowels are ever interchangeable. The Mohawk could not use the French initial I, nor is there a Q in Mohawk. The word is spelled Aewo-Kwa (h) or Eri-Kwa (h).

In the colonial records, Aerio, Air or A is the oldest Aryan, feminine yet seen in soldier, sultanah. It is the Hebrew feminine as in Ish, Man, Ish-ah, woman. It is the Mohawk feminine. Primarily it is both masculine and feminine. Ah is man and woman. W-ah is great man or woman. Kw-ah, is family or clan of great, great men or women. Aerio-Kwah is family clan of great, great men or women. Take out the K and W, and the singular Aerio-ah remains the root is A.R., the vital root of the European Aryan languages. This is the secret which the Indian religion and every word of the Indian language reveals a secret, one of the world's great scientific secrets which lies at our own door, neglected.

It has its value, great for practical purposes. Children, students spent from four to eight years on the languages of Europe without acquiring enough efficiency and proficiency to be of any practical use.

A scientific analysis of the Iroquois language would throw a whole light over the languages of the world and render the mastery of them comparatively easy. Carlyle says, language is the greatest creation the world has ever known, so great that the frail mind cannot grasp it. We have language here in the making, clear as sunlight, near to Nature, before it went out into the world and became hardened symbols.

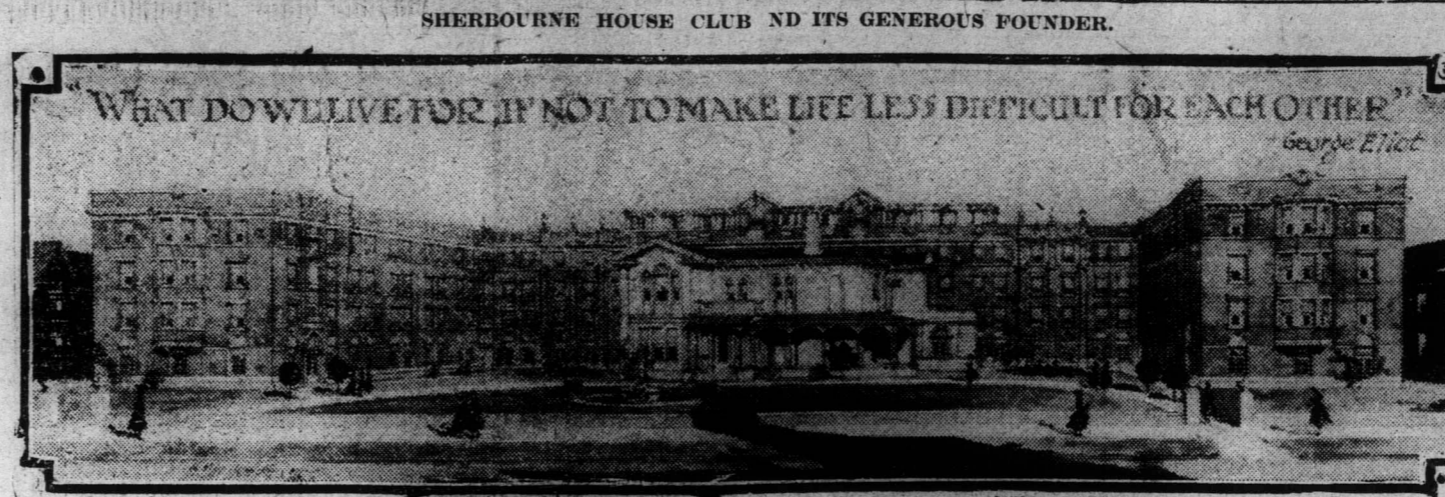

The who's who of Canada, the counterpart of the English who's who, reveals the fact that Brant County contains as many, if not more, men of note than any other county in Canada. Under these conditions there must be enough minds attached to the finer issues of life to search for and establish a truth. The practical sciences have found their men in Brant County, the finer sciences await theirs. The war will bring higher ideals and better standards in life. The opportunity is passing, it is almost gone, to accomplish this work. The future will hold the present responsible for this opportunity.

The spring publication, it is hoped, will contain a complete report of the war work done by the women of the county. After that, if war conditions permit, the Indian history will be resumed.

Of the many private letters received, one is given for publication because of its connection with Indian history. The letter is from Mr. Lighthall, a leading barrister in Montreal. Mr. Lighthall is president of the Antiquarian and Numismatic Society, Montreal, and with the late Hon. Mr. Cosgrain, postmaster-general and Sir Edmund Walker, the vice-president of the Historic and Landmark Association of Canada.

His last letter reveals the fact that he is a descendant of the general who accompanied the five kings to England to the court of Queen Anne in 1710, one of the kings being Jos. Brant's grandfather. One of the copies preserved by Ottawa, was sent to a gentleman in Montreal interested in Indian scientific and historical work. A review appeared in the Montreal Gazette, which attracted Mr. Lighthall's attention. Adominus Vos Biscum et miserrie

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism, others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get quarter pound limestone phosphate from the drugstore which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the teachers, officers and scholars of the Inman Baptist church was held last night, when a most satisfactory and prosperous condition was reported. The school has an enrollment of 382 pupils, with a staff of 28 teachers and officers. During the past year there has been the creditable average attendance of 245, while the money raised for all purposes amounted to $554.18. Of this amount $503.71 has been expended in the regular administration work of the school, as well as in missions, and other like purposes. Almost without exception, the officers of 1916 were re-elected. Mr. John T. Grantham being again elected as superintendent, a position of trust which he has satisfactorily filled in the past. The meeting was brought to a close by the serving of a bounteous supper by the ladies of the church.

THE MAN WHO STAYED AT HOME

A Simple Little Story Which May Have a Moral for Many

I sank back on the comfortable cushions with a sigh of relief (I was travelling first-class—on the firm's business, not my own) and the Pharisitic gratitude that I was not as other men, pushing and fighting for an inch and a half of cold corridor. Lighting my pipe, I took stock of my companions. One was a tall, rather tired-looking subaltern of artillery; one did not need a glance at the ribbon of the Military Cross to be assured that he had been in the thick of the real thing. Opposite him was a stout, ruddy, healthy-looking infantry Captain, on whose good-humored face was a curious air of dissatisfaction. As he stood up to open the window he appeared to have trouble with his leg, for his mouth contracted suddenly and he whispered to himself a remark which I fear would not be found in works published by the S.P.C.K.

The two military men, having dismissed me with a single glance at a mere civilian, looked at each other with polite interest.

"A nice day," remarked the Captain. "It is the customary British conversational opening gambit, and at the same time indicated a readiness on the part of three stars to fraternise with a single one."

One star agreed, but remarked acutely that there was rain about.

"You're right," replied the Captain. "I can feel it in my bones." He laughed ruefully.

"Got it in the leg, Sir?" asked the Sub, with interest.

"It's got all right," was the reply; "but not what you think. The bullet doesn't seem to be cast that's going to do me any harm."

"Trench foot?" hinted the Sub, sympathetically.

"My dear fellow," said the Captain with an airy manner obviously assumed to cover a deeply-felt mortification, "the only trenches I've seen are practice trenches dug in this, our bee-utiful country."

The Sub looked surprised, and then tried not to look anything at all in particular.

"I am," proceeded he of the three stars, "what has been so charmingly described as a chocolate soldier. Not that I eat chocolates, you know, but the beastly stuff—I mean a blighter in khaki, crammed with all sorts of theoretical knowledge and bursting with enthusiasm, who's never heard the hum of a bullet outside a rifle-range."

"Of course," said one star, politely, "some men are too useful."

"Thanks very much, old thing, but that's not me, either. Tons of people about who've forgotten more than I ever knew. No, I'm just a rotten crock, that's all."

He had, it appeared, been a keen amateur soldier for quite a number of years; had refused a commission in his younger days so as to learn what life in the ranks—as far as a volunteer can see it—is really like; had taken special courses in all sorts of subjects (this was very modestly hinted at) and spent time and money in trying to help forward the movement for an efficient auxiliary force. Then, when the war came, after a couple of months' strenuous training, was "pushed into a rotten damp billet and got a beastly thing they call neuritis, and now they turn up their eyes in pious horror when I ask to go abroad."

"Jolly rough luck," said the Sub.

Not stopping to explain how rough luck can be jolly, he proceeded artfully: "And what have you been doing since?"

Oh, just messing about, it appeared, ingeniously questioned by the prosecution, admitted that he had trained some hundreds of men in musketry, had written certain technical books, done a good deal of coast defence duty and was now engaged in certain work of too confidential a nature to be publicly described. (I promptly buried myself in my newspaper.)

"Now, sir," said the prosecutor, triumphantly, "I'm going to tell you some things, if you'll let me. I know some of you volunteer (I mean by that Territorial and K's army) men think the regulars sneer at you. Well, I happen to be a Regular myself—commissioned from the ranks you know. We don't. We think you're good sports and hard triers, and you've made a damn fine fist of things too. Take your case; a Regular has all day and every day to learn his job in, and he learns it thoroughly. You've got, I expect, a business or profession to keep you busy, yet you give up your spare time to learn the game out of sheer patriotism. Well, war comes, and you naturally hope to get out and do something with the knowledge you have been cramming up, but you get crocked through no fault of your own. What then? You know as well as I do we can't choose our jobs; somebody's got to do the dirty work. Everybody'd rather have a chance to see things and help in the push, but everybody can't. There must be some people left to run things at home."

"And another thing. What about the new drafts? I can tell you when we get a crowd of fresh men out we are not long finding out what they know. And if they know their jobs are only just what the finishing touch you can't get anywhere but at the front, we say 'Jolly good chap trained these men; here's to him.' If they don't know their jobs—well, you can fill in what we say with as many blanks as you like. Don't you worry; it's devilish hard luck on you, I know. Tons of men come home with bits of gold braid on their sleeves who've probably never had half as much pain as you've had, but what's in that, after all? We know you'd all be out there, if you could—except perhaps a few skunks who are better where they are, for they'd soon be made to look pretty sick out there—and we know you're sympathetically.

"I am," proceeded he of the three stars, "what has been so charmingly described as a chocolate soldier. Not that I eat chocolates, you know, but the beastly stuff—I mean a blighter in khaki, crammed with all sorts of theoretical knowledge and bursting with enthusiasm, who's never heard the hum of a bullet outside a rifle-range."

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

Children love this "fruit laxative" and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is they become tightly clogged with waste. Liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act, naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs," because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a fifty cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, sold by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

NEWS OF THE STAGE

INTERESTING ITEMS FOR ALL FOLLOWERS OF THE DRAMA, SPOKEN AND SCREENED

AT THE GRAND
"Daddy Long-Legs," the reigning dramatic success on the English speaking stage, will be introduced to the playgoers of this city Tuesday night, Feb. 6th, at the Grand Opera House.

The play, written by Jean Webster and staged by Henry Miller, is a dramatic version of the famous "Daddy Long-Legs" letters originally published as a magazine serial and reproduced in a book which has for three years headed the list of American "best sellers."

The story of the comedy is woven about the personality and adventures of a pretty waif in a New England orphan asylum, who becomes the heroine of a fascinating real-life fairy tale. Judy Abbott, the founding girl, rebels against the tyranny of the institution in which she has grown from infancy to adolescence. Her spirited but pathetic defiance of the matron is overheard by Jervis Pendleton, a newly appointed trustee, and a man with a penchant for doing good deeds, but a positive horror of being found out. Pendleton admires the girl's bold declaration of independence and determines to give her the chance in life that has been denied her. He arranges to have her sent to a fashionable college for girls, where she shall have pretty frocks to wear, money to spend and the companionship of girls more fortunately born than herself.

There is just one stipulation imposed by Pendleton. The girl is not to know her benefactor; she must be kept ignorant of his name. She is to make reports of her progress at the college, but her letters must be addressed to "Mr. John Smith." Judy, however, is too imaginative to accept the absolute terms of the arrangement. Although she does not have her mysterious guardian, she manages to catch a glimpse of his elongated shadow cast on the study walls by the searchlights of his automobile, and promptly nicknames him "Daddy Long-Legs." And when, upon her arrival at college, she begins to write him letters that fairly brim over with whimsical fun, yet are tinged with pathetic yearning for someone to whom she can pour out all the wonderful story of the tremendous happiness that has come into her life, these letters go straight to the heart of the lonely bachelor and he determines to visit the interesting object of his impulsive philanthropy. And with their meeting begins the appealing story that has played upon the heartstrings of record-breaking audiences in Chicago, New York and San Francisco. Henry Miller's superb production of the play and the fine acting organization he is sending to this city will make the first presentation of the comedy here the most notable event of the theatrical season.

The cast will be headed by Edna Walton, and other prominent members of the cast are Albert Roscoe, Julia Varney, Marie Taylor, Viola Cain, Sue Van Duser, Perdita Hudspeth, Alfred Helton and Frank J. Kirk.

SEVERE RHEUMATIC PAINS DISAPPEAR

Rheumatism depends on an acid which flows in the blood, affecting the muscles and joints, producing inflammation, stiffness and pain. This acid gets into the blood through some defect in the digestive processes, and remains there because the liver, kidneys and skin are too torpid to carry it off.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old-time blood tonic, is very successful in the treatment of rheumatism. It acts directly, with purifying effect, on the blood, and through the blood on the liver, kidneys and skin, which it stimulates, and at the same time it improves the digestion.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Sold by all druggists.

car and nearly killed Robert G. Virginia, her director and Nat Deverich, his assistant, who were sitting on the porch, watching the effect of Miss Huff's approach to the house at top speed. It was an elopement scene for the Famous Players' adaptation of "Seventeen" in which Miss Huff and Jack Pickford are co-starring.

Prevarications
Marguerite Clark is suffering from a severe nervous strain during the staging of "Miss George Washington." In this production the little star plays the part of a girl who cannot tell the truth. Her incessant telling of falsehoods is the motive power of the play. As a result of this continuous fibbing in the studio, Miss Clark finds that her word is doubted on every occasion and is becoming highly incensed at the manner in which everybody refuses to believe a word she says.

"The Kiss."
"Gracious, is there anybody in the studio who has not kissed me?" demanded Marguerite Courtot the other day after she had spent an entire morning in rehearsing scenes for "The Kiss" in which she is co-starring with Owen Moore. As a title suggests osculation forms an important part in the story and of course there are always interested young men who have original ideas on the subject when pretty girls are concerned.

CATHCART
The Red Cross Club held a very successful dance in the Forrester's Hall on Friday evening. The musical supplies by the Secora Orchestra. The nice sum of about sixty-eight dollars was raised, which will be given to the Red Cross.

Miss Sarah Reid who has been seriously ill is not improving as seriously as her many friends would wish.

Mrs. Robert Thomas has returned home after spending a few days with her mother Mrs. Boney, of Tansley.

WOODBURY.
Mrs. Geo. Read has returned to her home after an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Taylor, Cathcart.

Mr. and Mrs. Cicero Tune of Cooley Road and Mrs. R. Kennedy of Tansley spent Sunday last at Mr. Edward Tansley's.

A number from here attended the funeral of the late William Bastedo at Woodstock on Wednesday, January 24th.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McIntyre of Brantford were calling on friends here on Sunday last.

Wm. Lawrence who has been working in a munition factory in Brantford has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Doran of Tansley were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. T. L. Force.

ABOUT EDNA WALTON, WHO PLAYS JUDY IN "DADDY LONG LEGS."

The company that will present Jean Webster's beautiful comedy, "Daddy Long Legs," at the Grand Opera House, on Tuesday evening, February 6th, is under the management of Henry Miller, and will be headed by pretty little Miss Edna Walton. Although quite young Miss Walton has had a varied stage experience. Her professional career began in the autumn of 1913 with "The Blue Bird," at the New Theatre (now the Century), New York. Then she went with the Metropolitan Opera Company, and made quite a reputation as the youngest singer in the history of that great house. After that engagement Miss Walton went with Charles Frohman's "Seven Sisters," Company, and next with E. H. Sothern. Others prominent in the "Daddy Long Legs" cast are Albert Roscoe, Harry Redding, Julia Varney, Marie Taylor, Viola Cain, Sue Van Duser, Perdita Rudspeth, Alfred Helton, and Frank J. Kirk.

Jack London Foremost Among Writers of U.S.

His Strong and Virile Works Found Immense Favor and His Style Set the Fashion For Many to Follow

In the recent death of Jack London the United States lost one of the most widely-known novelists that the country has produced in this generation. His works have been translated into several European languages, and we are told that he is well liked by the Russians, to whom his stark style appeals. Jack London established the red-blood school of novel writers in his country. We know that attempts to imitate his style and to draw his frequently made a reviewer look rather foolish. Only recently the talk about "schools," "Robertsonian" and other kinds, among our Canadian poets, has been justly ridiculed, but the term can be properly used in reference to the work of London. He may not have been the first of the American novelists to reveal in his language of man, and to draw his favorite males and females as super-beings, but he is better known than any of the others, who are accordingly frequently called imitators of London. The vividness and the punch that his best stories possess have made even those persons who dislike his views of life acknowledge that he was a genuine individuality among the fiction writers of the day. He was only 40 years of age when he died, his life having burned out quickly because it burned so fiercely.

As a novelist Jack London became a victim of his own style and ideas. It will be remembered that he was in theory a Socialist, but none of his work in which he preached his political creed showed any artistic effects, stimulating the imagination by his technical device. Recently it has been merely a constant affection. In our estimation "Fris" is the best story in "The Turtles of Tasman." It is a gripping description of a deliberately planned murder in the far north, in which the murderer falls a victim to an error in judgment of his own. The story is dramatic and sufficiently horrible to make it impossible for a reader to break away. This is the sort of thing that London has always done well in. "The Prodigious Fisher," a cruel little piece of humor, we find an example of London's blindness to the niceties of conduct. "The Turtles of Tasman" gives one the same feeling. The author contrasts two brothers, one a wastrel and the other a hardworking and respectable, and his verdict is emphatically in favor of the man who acknowledged no lies. The wanderer dies in the end and his brother continues his hardworking existence. London makes the dead man's daughter tell her father's philosophy of life. Her words are worth quoting, for they might be applied to the author of "The Sea Wolf" himself. The girl said to her safe and comfortable uncle, "It could not have been otherwise. Father bought life. He never drove bargains. It was a royal thing, and he paid for it sovally. You saved your arteries and your money and kept your feet dry."

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a Glass of Salts Before Breakfast if your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. The acid famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful after-dinner lithia-water beverage, and because it is in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

WHAT SHE'D DO IF

A neighbor of mine startled us the other evening by saying in her husband's presence, "I was planning it all out last night what I should do if Phillip should die. I'd take the children out in the country to mother's. You know, she has quite a large place, and I'd take his life insurance and fix the place up and make a little Inn out of it. I'd have Junior (her oldest boy) have charge of the garden. I suppose I'd have a man to help him, he's only fifteen."

He Didn't Like Being Disposed of That Way

"Well, I don't like that," broke in her husband. "So you're going to dispose of me right off. It didn't sound attractive to me at all but I did think it was in the future, not right now."

"In the future?" she picked him up. "I hope it isn't at all. But I was just planning what I would do if—"

"And you like to think of things like that," he broke in again, beginning to feel ruffled in earnest.

"Of course I don't. I can't bear to think of them, but I was just planning if—"

"Why think of it at all? Wouldn't you have time enough to plan if it did happen?"

"Trying to Make a Man Understand. 'I suppose so,' she conceded.

LEAF BOATS

Once upon a time there was an elf who lived in a tree, and as the seasons changed so too he changed the color of his coat. It was green in summer, red and gold in autumn, and black when the branches were bare, and when the snow came he put on his suit of snow white fur.

Said the elf one summer day; "I'd like to be an admiral and have a fleet of boats. I believe I could use the Wind for a sea and the leaves for sails if I could just get them off, but I'm under pledge to the tree not to pull the leaves off if I want to live here. Hum! I'll ask the Wind to try."

Now the Wind knew that he couldn't pull the summer leaves off. He didn't dare.

"Wait until autumn," he whispered to the elf. "Then you can make your leaf boats with sails of red and gold, and I'll come rushing by and launch them for you."

So the elf waited until autumn and all that summer he was building tiny boats beneath the leaves of his tree.

"Ho! ho!" he cried. "Ho! ho!" 'tis a merry gold and scarlet fleet of leaf boats I shall have, sailing away, sailing away on the sea of wind. And all the other elves will envy me, for I shall be a great admiral!"

He boasted a lot, that foolish elf, and though all the other elves did not know just what he was up to, they knew he was up to something and watched and waited.

So the autumn came, and the elf had his boats done. He no longer made a secret of it—not he!

"Ho, ho!" he cried to the other elves with a chuckle. "Wait now until the big sea of wind rushes by my tree. I shall be an admiral!"

Now you know, and I know that pride goeth before a fall. The day came, the wind came, and there on the tree, cunningly fastened to the bigger autumn leaves, were the elf boats.

Swirl! went the wind and shook the tree, and the small leaves that had been much too small for boat sails fluttered down and away.

Swirl! Again the wind, but not a leaf stirred. The leaves that were not boat sails fluttered one by one away, until the elf's fleet stayed upon the tree, stiff little boats with gold and scarlet sails.

You see when the elf built his boats fast to the bigger leaves, he'd made them so heavy that the wind just couldn't blow them away—just couldn't! And the elves came and laughed.

"Look at the admiral!" they cried. "Look at his fleet! It doesn't sail. It sits perched stiffly there upon the tree boughs like a flock of crows. Ho, ho! Ho, ho!"

And that you can see for yourself, was no way for an admiral's fleet to act.

LADY'S DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.

Here is a dress that holds the palm for style and originality. It is in the popular straight line effect with the front in panel form, and gives every evidence that the designers exercise their skill to offer plenty of variety in the one-piece frocks that are so much in request.

Diversity in effect was produced in this model by adding side pleatings. The designer, it would seem, is rather special on necks, according to the collar offered; although a bit distant, it is really fascinating. The button and loop decoration of the waist-body is effective and embroidery on the pelpline is a detail toward perfection. Full length sleeves are set in without fulness and cuffed to match the collar. The closing is at back with small buttons close together.

An elegant afternoon dress may be had by copying this design in charmeuse, satin or similar rich fabric, using chenille, silk floss or wool embroidery, if not beads. Broadcloth, serge, gabardine, wool poplin, &c., are excellent for a practical dress, with satin or broadcloth for the collar and cuffs and braid for embellishment. Although elaborate in detail, this dress is simple in effect and may easily be made at home.

The dress pattern, No. 8,134, cuts in sizes 36, 38 and 40 bust. To make in size 36 requires 5 1/2 yards 36-inch material; 1/2 yard 36-inch silk, or 4 3/4 yards 44-inch, all one material.

Don't Marry Women Who Call Dogs "Sweethearts"

Former St. Thomas Pastor Tells About What He Considers the Ideal Woman—Favors Suffrage

The ideal woman—the woman who is married and answers willingly and intelligently when her husband says, "My dear, how does this proposition strike you?"

The impossible woman—the woman who is followed to the seashore by 11 dogs and calls one of them sweetheart."

These are two extremes of woman-kind as pictured Sunday night by the Rev. W. H. Wray Boyle, pastor of North Woodward Avenue Presbyterian Church, Woodward and Philadelphia avenues, Detroit, a former pastor of Knox Church, St. Thomas.

Of the latter type, Rev. Wray Boyle said: "She is not fit to be married and she ought not to be a mother."

Of the former type, the pastor said that, while many women are forced to have business relationships and go into the world as wage earners and breadwinners, women nevertheless, reaches her highest sphere as ruler of the home and a real helpmeet to a husband.

In Rev. Wray Boyle's sermon, which was devoted largely to woman, and was in the main a plea for marriage and happy wedded life through mutual adjustment and common sense, some of the epigrams that most impressed a large audience were the following:

"While true marriages may be made in heaven, there are many counterfeits on earth."

"A woman's heart is in the safest place when the Lord has the right-of-way."

"It is right that a woman should strive to be beautiful, that she may make a better wife and helpmeet."

"Happy marriages result from mutual concession, suppression of self-love and common sense."

"I once knew a preacher who said he could not marry because marriage was a lottery and a clergyman could not participate in games of chance."

Rev. Wray Boyle declared that since he became a husband, he had always omitted the word "baby" from the marriage ritual because he found it superfluous.

"If a man loves by tender overtures, as he should, a woman will obey, not because she must, but because she wants to," said the pastor. "She will not obey under other circumstances."

Rev. Wray Boyle said he hoped to live to see the time when women would vote at least on all questions involving the welfare of children.

SLOW BUT SURE

The delegate who's slow but sure is nearly always sadly poor. I hire some fellows, then and now, to mow the lawn or shear the cow, to shovel snow, or whack up wood, and "Slow but Sure" is not much good. It puts a wire edge on my nerves to watch the slow man's languid curves, to see him stand around perplexed, as if doubting what he should do next. I pay him, when he's done, his yen, but do not hire that man again, if I need help to mow the grass or cultivate the garden sash. He may be sure, but he's too slow; when he is weaving to and fro, you have to line him with a post to see which one is moving most. To one who wishes to arrive, must show the village he's alive. When he's going anywhere, his coat tails flap the balmy air; however humble be his grind he leaves a trail of dust behind. In every action, every step, he shows that he is full of pep. Employers seek that hustling gent in whom such shining traits are blent. His energy allures, enchants. We let him wed our maiden aunts.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

INFANT WELFARE—ARTICLE No. 3.

FORMULA for Fourth Month:— Cream—Six ounces. Skimmed Milk—Eight ounces. Boiled Water—Eighteen ounces. Sugar of Milk—Four level teaspoonsful.

From this point until the baby is eight months old two ounces of skimmed milk should be added and two ounces less of boiled water used. The sugar of milk in the formula should be reduced one-half teaspoonful every three months.

Formula at Eight Months:— Cream—Nine ounces. Skimmed Milk—Twenty-seven ounces. Boiled Water—Twenty level teaspoonsful. Sugar of Milk—1 1/2 level teaspoonsful.

At this age the formula may be made from whole milk as follows:— Whole Milk—Thirty-six ounces. Boiled Water—Twelve ounces. Sugar of Milk—4 1/2 level teaspoonsful.

From this point on to thirteen months the formula may be increased by replacing the boiled water with whole milk two ounces each month. At thirteen months the boiled water may be omitted from the formula, one ounce a week. Beginning at the age of eight months the sugar may be gradually reduced one tablespoonful each month.

At the age of five months or at any time after that, barley water is a very good substitute for the boiled water in the formula. A sign indicating the use of barley water is the failure of the baby to gain in weight. Gain in weight is one of the best signs that the baby is doing well. Another indication for barley water is the appearance of the baby's movements. If they are not well digested try the use of barley water. Barley water is made by mixing two level teaspoonsful of Robinson's or Brook's barley flour to enough water to make a paste, and add water to one pint. Boil for twenty minutes in a double boiler. Strain through two thicknesses of cheesecloth. Add enough boiled water up to one pint to make up for what has boiled away.

Lime Water. This is added to the formula if the baby spits up its food or if the stools are too frequent or slightly green in color. If used it should be added in the proportion of one-fifth of cream and skimmed milk. For example in the formula for a new-born baby there are four ounces of milk and cream. One-fifth of this is about three-quarters of an ounce. The boiled water should be reduced by this quantity.

Boiled Water. All water used by the baby should be boiled. In addition to the quantity given in each feeding the baby should have some boiled water a couple of times a day. At first it may have one-half to three-quarters of an ounce, twice a day. This should be gradually increased until at three months he is taking four or five ounces a day. Give it before the bath in the morning and in the later afternoon.

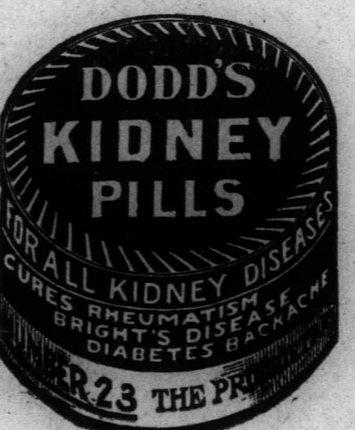

Sugar of Milk. The best sugar to use is lactose or sugar of milk. Malt Sugar. This may be used when the baby does not digest sugar of milk well, does not gain in weight, or is constipated. It should not be given if the baby vomits or has loose movements.

Cane Sugar. Cane sugar or ordinary granulated sugar is often used. It is cheaper and more convenient and many babies do well on it, but it is not so satisfactory as sugar of milk. Changes should not be made except on the advice of a physician.

Amount at a Feeding. The stomach of a baby is quite small. If too much food is given or if it is given too often the stomach becomes distended, indigestion is set up, and the baby manifests its discomfort by crying or restlessness. At birth the average baby will take with comfort from one half to one ounce. This amount may be gradually increased until at three months he is taking four or five ounces at a feeding. The average amount of food for a baby to take is one ounce more than he is months old. Big healthy babies will take more than small delicate ones.

Method of Feeding. Do not prop the bottle up and leave the baby to feed itself. Hold it throughout the whole nursing. Occasionally take it away to let air in the bottle. Each feeding should be given slowly, taking twenty or twenty-five minutes.

Canadian Toymakers Now Getting Into Stride

Third Annual Exhibition Will See 5,000 Distinct Varieties of Playthings Exhibited

That the toy industry has made in the last couple of years, and that there are about this practically new industry of ours many features of exceptional interest, will be apparent next month when the third annual toy exhibition will be held in Toronto. It will be held from the 5th to the 17th of February in the Annex to the Traders Bank building. This year it will be arranged by the Toy Manufacturers of Canada assisted by the Department of Trade and Commerce, and it is anticipated that it will be visited by Sir Geo. Foster, who has evinced the liveliest interest in the toy industry, and whose department, in fact, started the idea of an annual toy exhibition.

At the forthcoming exhibition the general public will be admitted on the last two days. For primarily, the exhibition is a business one, where manufacturers and retailers may foregather, and with every known specimen of the Canadian toy-makers art around them, may proceed to the transaction of mutually profitable business. It is expected that practically all the toy manufacturers in Canada, from coast to coast, will attend the exhibition. There are now over a hundred toy manufacturers in Canada altogether, and the number is increasing almost daily. Yet among them there is not so far overmuch competition. For there is a distinct tendency to specialize. For example, some manufacturers will go in for velocipedes, doll carriages, express-wagons, etc. Others will make a specialty of wooden toy articles, such as canons, kiddie cars, rocking horses, and so on. Others again will specialize in iron toys. There are now about twelve doll factories altogether in the country, of which 7 are located in Toronto, four of these latter having started within the last year, which fact shows the hold the toy industry is taking.

At the Exhibition next month there will be something like five thousand different toys on exhibit.

Probably half of these will be of new design. For the toy trade is like the millinery trade. Fashions are always on the change. Among the exhibits will be many new naval and military toys—wooden long Tom's, bombing machines throwing round bombs in the form of ping pong balls, several new dreadnoughts and cruisers, and a complete cannon outfit with limbers made in iron and wood. There will be any amount of new wooden toys—nursery carts representing Puss-in-Boots, etc., rocking horses, representing motor boats, automobiles elephants and locomotives, wheelbarrows, representing bull frogs, clowns, rabbits, cats and so forth.

Several kinds of extremely fascinating sand balancing toys. New steel construction toys made in Canada and ranging in price from 50 cents to $25 will be shown. There will be various kinds of wooden blocks, all made in Canada, and some very ingenious kindergarten folding-up tables. Among other pleasing toys will be some Russian dolls' sleighs and some dolls' rubber tired rickshaws. After four years spent in perfecting them, dolls' heads in bisque, and the Germans were so famous for, are now made in Toronto, and for beauty and elegance even surpass the German kind, it is claimed. Dolls wigs come from Montreal. And dolls' eyes and wigs far better than those formerly emanating from Germany come from England. Mr. V. Dussseau is president of the Canadian Toy Manufacturers, and Mr. L. C. Bebee, the secretary-treasurer. Mr. Bebee informed the newspaper correspondents that the incomparably better finish than in former years will be a very noticeable feature of the toys at this year's exhibition. And it is very gratifying to learn that Canadian toy manufacturers are now well able to compete with American concerns as regards both the price and the quality of the toys they are producing.

WAIST OF PAISLEY FIGURED SATIN. It's a Beauty. It is said that this kind of material will be the feature of this summer's styles. This one is combined with white Georgette, and will be a prime favorite, no doubt. The skirt is of khaki wool, with broad stripes of colored plaid, and novel shirred pockets.

Kipling Criticized by Native Poet of India

His Writings Do Not Truly Represent the East, Says Sir Rabindranath Tagore.

Sir Rabindranath Tagore, who recently completed a tour of the United States, and has sailed for India, has achieved distinction in the world of letters. Even in India, where a poet is of his own that is unique. Born in Calcutta in 1861 of a distinguished and ancient Indian family, his mother died while he was a mere baby. When he was still quite small his father took him out of school to the heights of the Himalayas in order that the child might live an outdoor life under ennobling natural influences. Here Rabindranath was taught English, Sanskrit, Bengali, Botany and Astronomy. Between the ages of 11 and 17 his time was spent on the banks of the Ganges still studying, and from there he went to Europe, where he developed an English style. At this time he was already writing much imaginative verse and when he was 18 years of age he published two little volumes of "Songs of Sunset" and "Songs of Sunrise."

His Domestic Life. In 1884 the poet was married and went to manage his father's large estates. Here he lived happily for 17 years and produced many of his best known works. This happy period of his life had a sad close in the death of his wife, a daughter and a much-loved younger son. In India he and custom for whole families to live together and not to separate as is so commonly done with us, so the poet is surrounded by the members of his family, including his brothers, one of whom is the founder of a new art in India. He has a married daughter and a son, who was educated at an American university, and is now in the automobile business in Calcutta. Sir Rabindranath devotes the greater portion of his time to his boys' school at Bolpur and to his writing. Thirty poetical works, twenty-eight prose works including plays, sermons, essays, novels and short stories, have come from his prolific pen.

Awarded Nobel Prize. In 1913 Sir Rabindranath was the guest of William Butler Yeats in London, and in November of that year he was awarded the Nobel Literature Prize and since then he has been widely translated. Tagore writes in Bengali and translates his verse into English. He is a tall stately man, his face suggesting some portrait of William, but having greater delicacy. His beard and his long hair are turning white, contrasting strikingly with his dark skin. Usually he wears his native robes, and does well to learn from the East the reverent delight in the vision of perfection in whose depth all movements find their rest and meaning.

War and Poetry. Asked as to what effect the war was having on the poets of his native land and of England, he was found to be far from believing that war stimulates literary expression and is a source of great poetry. He said in carefully chosen phrases: "The war acts like a dust-storm in men's minds. It not only obscures the horizon, but injures the organ of vision itself. It cannot have a stimulating effect upon poetry so long as it lasts." It is needless to add that Tagore is a pacifist and an ardent advocate of international unity on all subjects, particularly between the east and the west. Avowedly his chief purpose in lecturing on this continent was to break down the opposition that the thars his countrymen from migrating.

The work of Kipling. In another interview, the name of Kipling, his predecessor in winning the Nobel Prize, was mentioned. There was no change in the expression of Tagore's face. But his voice rose to a shriller pitch. "The work of Kipling as far as it attempts to interpret the East is 'charlatanry.'" He spoke more quickly than he had spoken before. "At best his work is a literary tour de force, legerdemain—false. He does not—cannot—represent truly even the most superficial aspect of the East. He may portray truly that of the East which is European corrupted. But of the native East—no! He is so western to the core of his heart—and the worst sense—that he had not the least basis for an understanding of our people. It is impossible to him. The arrogant insularity of his mind shuts out all possibility of sympathy with us. And you can't study people as you would zoological specimens, with utter aloofness personally. Kipling has tried to do that in depicting the East. The result—"

Beautiful But Incoherent. "Beautiful words" describes to the lay mind better than anything else the work of Tagore. Those who form the cult of "Tagorism," which is so in vogue at present across the border, and much delight in the mysticism and allegory of his thought. But to just folk, who are of the earth earthy, and very western according to such people, Tagore is just a matter of beautiful, somewhat incoherent and unconnected thoughts which he dresses in simple, limpid language. Two of his latest translations are "Fruit Gathering," which is in a sense a sequence of "Song Offerings," and well known here, and "Stray Birds," "Stray Birds" might be termed the Proverbs of Tagore. He has many things in say that are purely eastern in their application; but many of them have been sung to us before by better known poets.

His Short Stories. In "The Hungry Stones" and the other stories, Tagore is first revealed to English readers as a writer of short stories. There is sadness in most of the stories. They nearly all have grand opera endings. There is one funny tale of "A Kingdom of Cards," in which everyone did everything and went everywhere by rule and just so. To the Kingdom come three rollicking young men who play ducks and drakes with the rules of the pack and upsetting all traditions and bring enthusiasm to its dusty life. The Queen of Hearts breaks precedents scandalously, and marries the strange Prince and there is a hopeless shuffle and cutting of the pack. "We Crown The King," contains a sharp reproof for the type of Hindu who apes the English Sahib. It is well to remember when reading the lofty idealism of Tagore that he represents only a tiny portion of the highest culture of India.
