OTHER SIMCOE NEWS

Simcoe, June 28.—(From Our Own Correspondent).—A cable received through the Keeper of Records yesterday states that Pte. David M'ivor, now in No. 4 General Hospital, England, suffering from gunshot wound in the neck, is still dangerously ill, but much improved. An indirect wire from a friend at military headquarters, received also yesterday by Dr. Grasset, states that apparently M'ivor's condition is such that he may be returned to Canada as soon as he is able to undertake the trip.

A Large Funeral Procession.

The sterling citizenship of the late John A. Rose was evidenced yesterday in the long funeral procession which followed the remains from his late home here yesterday afternoon, and by the additional gathering of friends and acquaintances who met the procession at the Port Dover Cemetery.

Both communities were represented in the hearse, Messrs. Colin-McNeill, Wm. Stamp and George Dixon of Port Dover, and Dr. Chas. E. Baird, Wm. A. Ball and John Piette of Simcoe.

The service at the house and the rituals at the grave were in charge of Rev. M. S. Fulton, pastor of St. Paul's.

John Anguish was taken to Hamilton Hospital in an ambulance yesterday. It is now over six months since he was stricken with appendicitis from an operation, for which he tediously made a partial recovery. Great sympathy is felt for him and his sisters in their affliction. Another brother went overseas at New Year's.

Dr. and Mrs. McGuire motored to Oakville on Wednesday, returning the same evening.

Mr. E. E. Collins and Miss Collins went into their lake side quarters at Reverse yesterday.

Miss Hastings, one of the farmerettes at present camping near town, gave an able rendition of "The Revenge." Miss Hastings was the only contributor other than local talent. A feature of the entertainment was a seven year prophecy, with many local hits cleverly invented.

PRESIDENT OF VENEZUELA IS IN LEAGUE WITH HUNS

Pro-Ally Editor Reaching U. S. Port Tells Amazing Story

An Atlantic Port, June 28.—Documents that may lead to discovery of U-boat bases on the Venezuelan coast were brought here today for presentation at Washington by Dr. Carlos Lopez Bustamanti, editor of two pro-Ally newspapers in Venezuela, when he arrived upon a steamer from Central American ports.

"I cannot say there are German submarine bases on the Venezuelan coast," said Dr. Bustamanti, "neither will I deny." I have documents which I will present to the United States Government that show many German intrigues against this country.

Many Identities.

The doctor told a remarkable story of identities he had encountered because he insisted on writing pro-Ally editorials after being warned by German propagandists to quit. Two German propagandists visited him one day, he declared, and offered to buy his principal paper, printing at Caracas, and valued at $100,000. He refused. Several days later he was again visited and told he would "get his" if he wrote any more pro-Ally editorials. He continued his writings.

Watched on Board Ship.

Apparently the Germans were able to make good their boasts, for Bustamanti was arrested and thrown into prison without trial, he declared, after eight months he escaped and was smuggled aboard the ship which brought him here today.

He believed himself safe on the vessel, but said he discovered among the passengers a man whom he recognized as a government agent. He indicated the man to United States officials who boarded the ship when she landed and they questioned him. He gave his name as Dr. Escouille Vivas, and admitted he had been sent to this country to keep watch upon Dr. Bustamanti. With Vivas were his wife, his daughter Dolores, and three men of distinct military bearing, but who, Vivas declared, were servants. Federal agents said the Vivas party will be closely watched while in the United States.

Step Standing Up.

After his summary arrest by Venezuelan soldiers, Dr. Bustamanti declared he was chained hand and foot in prison, in such manner that it was impossible for him either to sit or lie down. He finally learned to sleep standing up, his body held in position by manacles.

One day his cell-mate, by mistake, got some food intended for him and in two hours was dead from poisoning. Dr. Bustamanti declared.

The Venezuelan government had declared him dead, and so had not dared to detain him, said Dr. Bustamanti, even though its officials knew he had been smuggled aboard the steamer, fearing that if the story of his imprisonment leaked out the people, already anxious to rise against Gomez, might start an insurrection.

German money is being spent freely in Venezuela, he declared. The Venezuelan government, led by President Gomez, Dr. Bustamanti declared to be pro-German, while the people were pro-Ally.

POGS HELPED ENEMY

Airplane Observers Can Only Work in Good Weather

Some surprise has been expressed in many quarters that the massing of German troops should have taken place unobserved by allied aviators, both before the German push on the Somme in March and before the last drive against the French positions between Soissons and Rheims.

An expert points out that though airplanes and their crews can do a surprising number of things, one which is impossible for an airplane is to enable its pilot or observer to see in the dark or to see through a fog. The airplane is a distinctly nocturnal vehicle, and not some new optical instrument.

Those who have studied the communications between the German attack in March found constant reference to the fact that night bombing was impossible owing to ground mists, and on various occasions it was stated that it was impossible for our aircraft to ascend until well on in the course of the morning.

This means the Germans could move their troops in perfect safety night after night, and by stowing them away in towns and villages and in forests, which abound in that part of France, an enormous number of troops could be collected in such a way as to be absolutely invisible to the most acute air scout.

Even on a perfectly clear day, at night it is practically impossible to observe the movements of troops, and in the moonlight, though the troops would be seen on the open roads, it would be very hard to see them on those wonderful French roads with trees all along their sides intended to give shade during the day, but now providing equally desirable shadows at night.

The difficulty is recognized, and the fact that the Germans have now such enormous masses of troops behind every part of the line that the movement of the troops in mass or by trains do not attract attention even in broad daylight to the extent which would have been true over six months ago. Consequently, even the most careful aerial reconnaissance may fail to estimate correctly the excess of the number of troops massed behind one part of the line over the number behind another part.

It must be remembered also that although aerial reconnaissance may have estimated with some approach to accuracy the masses of troops held in reserve in the neighborhood of Laon there was nothing to show whether these reserves were intended to move west for a renewed attack on Amiens or whether they were to move to the south for an attack on the Soissons-Rheims sector.

The benefit of internal lines of communication was again demonstrated, and it has been proved that although the possession of aircraft enables an army commander to "see behind the hill" it does not altogether guard him against surprise, when the surprise is planned by capable strategists and tacticians. This was proved by Gen. Byng's surprise attack in the first battle of Cambrai, and it has been proved three times by the enemy since, namely, the second battle of Cambrai, the March attack in the Somme area and in this latest drive.

These facts, however, far from demonstrating the failure of the airplane, merely emphasize the growing necessity for more and more planes, possibly of new types, but certainly in enormous quantities, so that reconnaissance may be even more thorough than at present, so that enemy reconnaissance may be more hampered and that attacks on enemy troops both day and night with bombs and machine guns may be more effective, and so that continued fighting in the air may turn definitely and permanently in favor of the Allies.

SUMMER TRAVEL IN CANADA

"Summer travel is good in Canada this year, despite the war and some inclement weather," said Mr. W. H. Snell, general passenger agent of the C. P. R., eastern lines, yesterday. "In fact the war has had two outstanding effects so far as Canada is concerned. Conditions with regard to foreign travel have become so expensive and so restricted that Canadians have been almost compelled to leave home about the only advantages of the Dominion as a holiday resort. At the same time the ordinary wage earner has had such opportunity for making aroose that an unprecedented number of working people have been able to indulge their lifelong desire to take their wives and family back to their old homes and see 'the old folks at home.' This latter feature of travel has been very marked during the past year, and is more in evidence than ever this summer. In all parts of Canada thousands of men who have for many years nursed the hope of some day taking their families back to their old homes are able to make the trip this year and they are doing it. The result is good for the country, for the families, and good for the railways.

"In fact," said Mr. Snell, "one of the most remarkable features of present war conditions is the application of the motto 'Canada for the Canadians.' More of our people are learning to know their own country the expense and difficulty of going abroad. Travel to Europe has been practically eliminated, owing to war conditions on the Atlantic. The increase in rates in the United States and the difficulties surrounding travel from Canada to American resorts has to a considerable extent reduced summer travel from Canada. The result is that thousands of people who in other times have always gone abroad to the United States for their summer vacations are now spending their holidays and their money in Canada, with distinct advantage to themselves and the country. In fact they are learning now what tourists from all over the world have in years past spent very large sums to come to Canada to see and enjoy.

"In this way, while war conditions have cut off a good deal of foreign tourist traffic in Canada, the same conditions have so increased home travel as to more than offset this. People are visiting our own Rockies instead of going to Switzerland, going to Canadian resorts instead of making German waters, taking trips over the Canadian lakes and rivers, or to our own coasts instead of going to American ocean resorts. It is a curious effect that war should force Canadians to know their own country, but that is one of the results of the European conflagration, and one that should prove of lasting benefit to Canada."

As a result of these general conditions, Mr. Snell said that passenger traffic on the C. P. R., and on all Canadian railways, as well as on the lake and other steamship lines, despite the fact that under war regulations there were no more excursion or special rates, the rates in the United States had gone up so high, with a stringent abolition of all excursion or other special rates, that people were learning more and more to do their pleasure travel in Canada.

"A good deal of this is due to the fact that wages in Canada are higher than ever before," said Mr. Snell. "Where a few years ago men were getting $12 to $15 a week they are now getting $18 and even $25. Despite increased cost of living people are getting better off and many men are able to indulge their desires to revisit their old homes, and it is surprising the number who are taking this method of spending their holidays.

"Canadians are learning more than ever before the attractions of the Canadian resorts, and the knowledge they are acquiring as a result of the war should mean a good deal in future years in keeping our holiday money at home, as well as attracting tourists from other lands."

When Beards Were Taxed.

In the reign of Elizabeth every beard of a fortnight's growth was subject to a tax of 3s. 4d. Peter the Great, in 1705, imposed a tax upon the beards of the Russian nobles of 100 rubles, while the common people's beard tax amounted to one kopeck. This tax caused much dissatisfaction, but in spite of this the impost was extended to St. Petersburg in 1714. The tax on beards was imposed by Catherine I, in 1726, by Peter II, in 1728, by Empress Anne in 1731, and in 1743 by the Empress Elizabeth.

It was repealed by Catherine II in 1762. In France a beard tax was imposed upon the clergy. The celebrated Duprat, Lord High Chancellor of France, was the adviser of the measure, and a bull was published by the Pope enjoining the clergy to shave their chins, and then a tax was levied by the king upon all who wished to be exempted from the harsh decree. The bishops, and others who could afford the means, paid the tax, but the poorer clergy were obliged to yield to the point of the razor.

Toasts Caused Drunkenness.

The drunken dinner table habits of a century ago, referred to by the Bishop of Chelmsford, are not to be wondered at when one considers the iron etiquette of the time in relation to toasts. In this little matter Scotland seems to have set rather a bad example. According to Lord Cockburn, it was the rule in Edinburgh society to drink each guest's health individually. "Thus, where there were ten people there was ninety healths drunk." And before the ladies retired came "rounds" of toasts, with "sentiments" such as "May the pleasure of the evening bear the relation of the morning's" or "Delicate pleasure to susceptible minds."

NOTICE TO PATRONS!

DURING the Winter of 1917-18 there was a shortage of natural gas over our entire system, and the same conditions are likely to exist for the coming winter of 1918-19, with the additional difficulties of a further decline in the available supply as against an increased demand due to the trouble of getting coal, and the high prices of substitute fuels.

In view of this outlook, the Company believes it to be a duty to advise all its consumers not to wait until fall to get a supply of coal or other fuel, or to get ready supplemental appliances, but to get busy now and provide auxiliary equipment and fuel for next winter. The company further warn their patrons not to depend on natural gas as the principal means of heating during the cold weather.

The Company is doing its utmost to maintain the supply, but the difficulty of getting men, machinery, pipe and materials is hard to overcome, and any additional supply obtained will not be sufficient to equal the probable demand. BRANTFORD GAS CO'Y

Estate Passes to Children's Hospital on Death of Wife and Son

GENEROUS BEQUESTS Annuity of $50,000 a Year for His Remaining Son, Irving E. Robertson

REMEMBERS HIS MEN Late Publisher Did Not Hold One Share of Stock

Toronto, June 28.—After providing for a number of personal and public bequests, the wife of the late J. Ross Robertson, founder of the Evening Telegram, which is now being prepared for probate, directed that his estate, together with its increase during the lifetime of his wife and son, shall pass after their deaths to the Hospital for Sick Children in the City of Toronto. In the meantime the support of the hospital, in which the late publisher was so deeply interested, is dependent, as in the past, upon the voluntary contributions of the public. Mr. Robertson's executors being directed to contribute from the estate for that purpose, the sum of $10,000 annually. The bequests to the hospital become null and void unless it is maintained exclusively for a hospital for sick children and not affiliated in any way with the Toronto General Hospital, or any other hospital or infirmary. He requests that his son, Irving E. Robertson, or some other executor, shall have a place on the hospital board.

The testator further directs that, subject to the editorial control of John R. Robinson, the Evening Telegram shall continue to be published as its daily journal, independent and unbiased in municipal, provincial, Dominion and Imperial politics. The executors who are to carry out the terms of this will are: Mr. Robertson's wife, Jessie Elizabeth Robertson, his son, Irving E. Robertson; his nephew, Douglas Shackair Robertson; Mr. John Robinson, editor of the Evening Telegram, and Alfred Taylor Chadwick, business manager of the same. In the conduct of the Evening Telegram these trustees are to have "absolute control and management of the same, free from the interference of any other person or persons, firm or corporation, directly or indirectly."

Left Not a Share of Stock. It is further stipulated that "if the Hospital for Sick Children shall in any year make an attempt to investigate or audit the accounts, either by process of law or otherwise, all payments to it shall thereupon cease."

It is characteristic of Mr. Robertson's business methods that he left not a share of stock. Mr. Robertson's last will and testament was drawn on February 7, 1918, in Toronto, by E. Douglas Armour, K.C. The principal items in the estate are: Building and property, publishing plant and supplies and accounts receivable of the Evening Telegram, valued at $738,000; house properties, assessed value $41,375; Victory Bonds and cash $390,000; life insurance, $22,250.

List of Annuities. The annuities include one of $15,000 to his wife, Jessie Elizabeth Robertson; one of $20,000 to his late son, John Shackair Robertson; one of $50,000 to his son, Irving E. Robertson and his mother, Julia Delmage Robertson, $500 each per annum; to Struan Fleming Robertson and Major Charles A. Robertson $1,000 per annum, and an annuity of $10,000 to the Hospital for Sick Children, or such portion thereof as the net annual income of the estate will allow.

Provision is made for the education of John Gilbert Robertson, Kenneth Frank Robertson and Gladys Margaret Robertson. One week's salary is left to all members of the Telegram staff, together with a gift of twenty-five thousand dollars to John R. Robinson, editor; to Alfred Taylor Chadwick, manager, two thousand dollars; to Michael Givister, John Heigh-ton, William Hewitt, William Lund, William Elder, Helen Douglas Moore, Owen Staples, Percy Bretz, C. H. J. Snider, Charles Crosby, the heads of departments in the Evening Telegram, he leaves the sum of one thousand dollars each. A number of bequests are made to those who were in Mr. Robertson's personal employment and to several of the executive staff of the Hospital for Sick Children. Mr. Robertson also provided for bequests to nephews and nieces.

Many Charities Remembered. To each of the following charities in Toronto he left the sum of five hundred dollars: The Crèche, 374 Victoria street; the Crèche, 199 Euclid avenue; the Crèche, 28 River street; the Sacred Heart Orphanage, Sunnyside; the Hayter Street Nursing Mission; the Haven, Seaton

GREAT PATRIOT SAVED GREECE

Laborers of Venizelos Covered Many Years.

WHAT DOES FUTURE HOLD?

He Has Worked Ever Since Entering Public Life as a Young Man for the Regeneration of His Country, and Now at Last the Goal of His Ambition is in Sight.

HOW far will his star lead Venizelos? Who can say? This star is also that of Helenism; for since 1887, when at twenty-three years of age he was elected liberal deputy of Crete, all his actions have been linked with the regeneration of his country. We may be certain that he will continue to guide Greece not only toward national grandeur, but toward a superior moral ideal. The era of Machiavelli and Bismarck is ended. It has already lasted too long. We have arbitrarily tolerated in statesmen customs and methods which in an ordinary citizen of average honesty would be judged dishonorable. No political success does not go necessarily with intrigue. On the contrary, we believe that if it is to be

PREMIER VENIZELOS.

End character should once more take the first place, for it is the source of noble and useful action. In speaking of Venizelos, it would be well to evoke the great shade of Garibaldi, the insurgent patriot, the soldier of humanity. The man who has known how to risk his life for his country, for humanity, has the right to demand from others great sacrifices. He who is sincere and loyal to such a point that his manner of life corresponds to his doctrine deserves to be heard, believed, and followed.

Having fashioned himself, Venizelos is in process of refashioning his people after that ideal which Anglo-Saxon democracy has formulated and for which she herself is fighting. For its dramatic and symbolic significance the life of Venizelos could from now on be inserted among the "lives" of Plutarch or the "Representative Men" of Emerson.

Cement From Beetroots.

Experiments in French factories have resulted in the production of an excellent cement as a by-product of beet-sugar refining. The first step in the production of sugar from beets is boiling them. It had previously been assumed that the waste material, valueless the scum formed on the cauldrons. But it was discovered that this scum contains large quantities of carbonate of lime. It is estimated that 4,000 tons of the carbonate can be recovered from 70,000 tons of beets. To this quantity of the carbonate 1,100 tons of clay are added, the resultant product being a good cement. The beet scum is pumped into large reservoirs and allowed to evaporate for a certain length of time before being mixed with the clay. It is then stirred or beaten for an hour before being fed into a rotary oven such as is used making Portland cement.

A Mighty Ice-Block.

The largest mass of ice in the world is probably the one which fills up nearly the whole of the interior of Greenland. It is believed to form a block about six hundred thousand square miles in area, and average a mile and a half in thickness. According to these statistics the lump of ice is larger in volume than the whole body of water in the Mediterranean, and there is enough of it to cover the whole of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland with a layer about seven miles thick.—Family Herald.

Railways In India.

India has 25,000 miles of railway and 80,000 miles of telegraph compared with 1,600 miles of railway and 11,000 miles of telegraph in 1861. Washington is discovering numerous cases of women having married two or more U. S. soldiers to get their war insurance.

FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1918

THE SITUATION.
Of the western front it is still a case of waiting as far as the launching of the threatened new German attack is concerned. French and British forces successfully continue their raids, securing a few prisoners and some war material, but the Hun gives no sign in preparation—probably engrossed in preparations for the larger operation. In the latter respect it is pointed out that he has only four months in which to try and get a decision before the strength of the American troops becomes a deciding factor.
The Italians have been holding their own in some fighting in the mountain region. Diaz reports the fulfilment of fourteen thousand enemy dead on the west bank of the Piave.

COBB SPEAKS OUT.
Irving S. Cobb, the well known American writer, who was at the scene of the war during the early portion of hostilities, is back at the front again with the U. S. soldiers. During the course of an article in the Saturday Evening Post he says: "Man for man our soldiers have a higher moral standard than the men of any army of any other nation engaged in the war; and when in this connection I speak of our soldiers I mean the soldiers of Canada as well as the soldiers of the United States. Any man who tells you the contrary is a liar, and the truth is not in him. This is not an offhand alibi; statistics compiled by our own surgeons form the truth of it; and any man who stands up anywhere on our continent and says that the soldiers who have come from our side of the Atlantic to help the American are contracting habits of drunkenness or that they are being ruined by the spreading of sexual diseases among them utters a deliberate and a cruel slander against North American manhood which should entitle him to a suit of tartan and feather underwear and a free ride on a rail out of any community."
This is testimony which certain people need to take well home to themselves. There is altogether too great a tendency at some gatherings to hurl broadsides charges that the men are debauched and that they are surrounded by dangers far worse than the Hun. Cobb does not go one whit too far when he says that tartan and feathers should be the portion of such wholesome slanderers.

A FLAGRANT CASE.
Reference has already been made in the news columns of this paper to the fact that a fifteen year old Dundas lad had been before the police court there on a charge of drunkenness. The Hamilton Herald thus reports the case:
"At the Dundas police court yesterday afternoon a lad of fifteen years was charged with a breach of the Ontario Act, two partly filled bottles of whiskey having been found on his person by Chief Clark last Monday."
Inspector Gould was present and questioned Dr. Shaver of West Hamilton, who had prescribed the liquor for one year last Saturday, and the following Monday issued a singular order.
"On Dr. Shaver's order the liquor had been purchased by the defendant at the dispensary in Hamilton."
Magistrate Fry inflicted a fine of $200 or three months in jail. It is stated the fine will be paid.
"Magistrate Fry in commenting on the case stated that it seemed a strange thing that a minor should go from Dundas, where there are five doctors, to West Hamilton to get a prescription for a quart of whiskey and more remarkable that the same person, two days later, should have gone to the same doctor for a second prescription for a quart of whiskey. This same doctor had given a prescription to a woman, who was on the prohibited list, in the name of her husband, who, the magistrate was informed did not know the doctor. This man had a right to expect protection for his wife under the O.A.A., and here a member of the medical profession was aiding her to continue in her old habits."
On the basis of the $200 fine for the youngster what should have been the penalty for the medical man? Surely the law should be amended in order to get at offenders like that, and also those other medical men who have been issuing permits by the wholesale.

AMUNDSEN OFF FOR THE POLE

Norse Explorer Sailed Today On Voyage to Arctic Regions
By Courier Leased Wire
Christiana, June 28.—Raald Amundsen's ship, Maud, in which the famous explorer will attempt to reach the North Pole, left Christiania today for the north. Captain Amundsen himself will board the vessel when she reaches Tromsø.
Captain Raald Amundsen plans to follow the Siberian coast eastward from North Cape. He is particularly familiar with this region of the Arctic, having, in 1906, discovered the Northwest Passage. He built the ship modeled after a new and unique design. The ship is so constructed that there is no point of her hull that will prevent the convex surface of an arc to the pressure of ice. Crude oil will be used as fuel and the Maud, he hopes, to make a greater portion of the northern trip by sail. In addition to his other equipment, Captain Amundsen's ship carries two airplanes, in which the explorer may complete his journey to the Pole.

All messages had to be posted in special boxes, established only for aerial post.

AMERICANS FOUGHT TO THE LAST MAN

Hopelessly Outnumbered, They Refused to Surrender

Amsterdam, June 27.—Telegraphing from the German headquarters on the Lorraine front under date of June 24, Herman Katzsch, war correspondent of the Koelnische Volkszeitung, says:
"In the course of our dashing attack on the central German Wood (northwest of Schefferville), the American occupants of a position, which had been untouched by our preparatory fire, refused to surrender and fought hopelessly outnumbered to the last. We could only bring in our prisoners two men who were overpowered."
The despatch goes on to say that these two prisoners declared their detachment had fought so desperately because they had been told that Germans tortured and mutilated prisoners, which, the correspondent, of course, qualifies as a biased calumny.

man of the Socialist and non-Socialist parties of Russia," says the former Times Correspondent in Petrograd, who is now in London and writes regarding the mission of the former premier in England and America. He continues:
"Kerensky has wisely resolved to confine himself to propagating the lessons of the Russian revolution among the Allies. He has no thought or intention of returning to the arena of political experiment. His mission is intended as an appeal to the Allies for aid to the Allies in the only form it can be effective—armies and supplies to enable his countrymen to drive out the Germans and to join the fight against the enemies of freedom. He insists first of all that all the Allies take a hand in this task and they do not impose their will in establishing the future form of government in this country. Russia, he says, does not want to choose between Germany and any other country. She wants to be free but cannot achieve freedom under the Bolsheviks."

Margaret Garrett's Husband

B. JANE PHELPS

CHAPTER XXIII.
Bob Remains in Town
The afternoon wore slowly away, so slowly that I thought night would never come. Night that would bring Bob back to me. I couldn't believe he meant that he knew what he was saying when he talked to me.
Yet as I recalled the seriousness with which he had spoken; the respect which tinged all he said; his hollow eyes and pale face, I realized that there might possibly be more in what I thought he had said than I realize. It all was absolutely beyond my comprehension.
Della had cared for the children the entire day. What little household work she had done had been done while they slept. They both took naps after lunch, and so gave her the opportunity. I couldn't have endured Donald's chatter or George's fretfulness. He was cutting teeth and consequently was not as good natured as usual.
About six o'clock the telephone rang. I answered to find Bob calling me.
"I shall not be at home to-night, Margaret," he said in a strained voice. At least it sounded strained to me.
"You mean you will not be home to dinner?" I asked, my own voice sounding unnatural.
"No, I mean that I shall not come home at all to-night. I think it better that I remain at the club. It will give you more time to think things over, to decide what is—in your opinion—best for us to do."
"You don't still expect me to believe you were in your right mind when you talked to me last night?" I asked, trembling so I could scarcely breathe.
"I meant all I said, Margaret. I wanted to say a good deal more; I would like to have been able to make it easier for you; but it was impossible for me to make you understand without appearing brutal."
"But, Bob—"
"I'll be at home to-morrow night," he made answer, and then before I could object I heard the click of the receiver.
I immediately called the office, but his stenographer informed me that Mr. Garrett had been gone about an hour. He evidently had telephoned me from the club; but when I called him there they said he had not been in that afternoon. There was nothing I could do further, so I gave up the attempt to reach him; and with the tears streaming from my eyes I groped my way into my room and threw myself on the bed.
I refused the dinner Della brought me. It was not an untruth when I told her that food would choke me. The girl seemed so comprehended that something unusual had happened; something which meant more to me than the matters over which I had loved him.
Suddenly it came over me that I could not bear it alone. I must talk to some one or I should go mad. But who? Mother was out of the question. In the first place she had always taken Bob's part; and in the second if she believed Bob was in earnest it would almost break her heart that I, her only child, couldn't hold my husband—even though I loved him.
Then Elsie occurred to me. She would tell me what to do. I wiped my eyes and went to the telephone. Fortunately she was at home.
"Can you come out?" I asked. "It is very important, Elsie, or I wouldn't ask it."
"Do you mean to-night?" was her quick query.
"Yes, at once, if possible."
"I'm awfully sorry, Margaret, but my maid is out, it's Thursday, you know, and I must stay with the children. Even Tom is out or I'd ask him to do it."
"Oh—I'm so sorry!"
"Why don't you come in and spend the night with me if it is something that won't keep. Della can care for the children. That is if Nellie is out."
"Yes, she is out; and Della has been taking care of the children all day! I don't feel like asking her to look after them to-night."
"They're so good! I am sure she wouldn't mind. Ask her, then, please! I called Della and asked her if she would mind very much if I went in to town for the night."
"Why, not a bit!" she said heartily. "It will do you good, ma'am. I always does you good to be with Mrs. Barton, ma'am."
So it was settled and I called Elsie and told her I would be right in, that there was a train in fifteen minutes that I could catch.
I put on a thick veil to cover my swollen eyes, kissed the babies good bye, and for the first time since we had lived in the country I left home for the night. But I didn't worry about the babies; Della and Nellie both were exceptional servants.
All the way in town I tried to think what I could say, how put things to Elsie so that she would not think I was wholly to blame. But when I reached town I had come to no conclusion. I would tell her things as they were. It was all I could do.

An Expert's Opinion of the Value of Advertising

Referring to the lecture in Hamilton on Wednesday evening, before the Ad Club of that city, The Times says that the lecturer, Mr. W. F. Brennan, of Dayton, Ohio, left a lasting impression on the audience which will furnish food for thought for many days to come.

"Some distasteful truths were forced home upon the merchant whose business is not what it should be, figures being submitted showing that last year 777 merchants failed in Canada mainly because they did not observe the first rule of economy, that of a system whereby accuracy is an essential to be kept ever before the mind of the careful merchant."

Newspaper advertising was decided to be the very best form of reaching the buying public, and is preferable to all other kinds of advertising.

POLICE COURT

George Hill, charged by Mellina Hill with non support, appeared in the police court this morning. The case was adjourned for a week. Elizabeth Horsnell, charged with vagrancy, having secured work, was allowed to go.

GOLFERS BUSY

The qualifying round for the Canadian Golfers' Shield will be played at the golf links to-morrow afternoon. On Monday morning there will be a match between sides chosen by the captain and the president, and in the afternoon mixed foursomes and competitions will be held. On Thursday of next week the club goes to Simcoe to play.

LEAGUE SOCCER

A change in the provincial soccer league schedule will result in Brantford going to Toronto to-morrow afternoon, to play Toronto Wychood. The following who compose the team will leave at 1:30: Goal, McGrattan; backs, Holland, Taylor, Balves, Westcott, A. N. Other, Holland; forwards, Vipond, Lynn, Usher, Perrin, Richardson. The above team will also play Hamilton I. L. P. on Monday.

CHANCE FOR CLASS "B" MEN.

Though men in Category B of Class One are not being called up at present, a very good opportunity is afforded them to join the Royal Air Force as mechanics. In fact it is understood that the Air Force will circularize all the men in Category B, pointing out to them the advantages offered by this corps. The Air Force has its system reduced to such a degree of perfection that mechanical experience is not necessary, they are quite willing to take men with only clerical training, and will teach them the art of tinkering with machinery. Of course a man with a bent towards mechanical work, or a man with a knowledge of machinery is preferred, but apparently "No experience necessary" has become a guiding principle in selecting men.

ALL NEED LICENSES

The Canada Food Board announced to-day that a considerable number of public eating places, boarding houses, etc., which are required to secure licenses by July 1st, have not yet sent in their applications. These licenses become operative on July 1st, and on after that date it will be illegal for any person to operate without a license a public eating place or boarding house where meals or refreshments to the number of fifteen or more per day are sold or served to persons other than members of the family or household of the proprietor. It will also be illegal for grocers, butchers or any other dealers in food products, to supply goods to public eating places, which have failed to comply with the licensing regulations of the Food Board. It is the intention of the Food Board to enforce these licensing regulations strictly.

HOLIDAY BASEBALL.

Baseball fans will have an abundance of entertainment over the week-end, for double-headers will be staged by City League teams both to-morrow afternoon and on Monday. Pratt and Letchworth are now leading the league by a comfortable margin, but the season is still early, and any of the other three clubs may yet prove strong pennant contenders in the race.

PRESUMED DEAD.

This morning's official casualty list reported Pte. D. S. Vanleest of this city as "presumed to have died." Pte. Vanleest, whose home is at 13 Victoria street, was well known throughout the city. He went overseas with the 84th Battalion some two years ago and since that time was transferred to the trenches. He was a Canadian and unmarried.

EXPERIENCE SOCIAL.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Marlboro Street Methodist Church held a well attended experience social last night. The president, Mrs. Robert Ellis, occupied the chair, and interesting reports were given by six members on their experiences in earning a dollar for the society's fund during the past month. Miss Ellis sang a very pleasing vocal solo, and Miss Edith Lamb gave an excellent piano selection. Refreshments were served and the proceeds of the evening totalled $24.24.

ENGINEERS MEET.

There was a large attendance at last night's meeting of the stationary engineers of the city, when Past President D. Webster, who was a delegate to the C.A.S.E. convention at London, gave a report on the meeting. The next convention will be held in Brantford in June of next year. Grade licenses will be enforced after January 1, 1920, and will be obtainable after January 1, 1919. Mr. Webster was elected an executive vice-president of the association, whose affairs were shown to be in a flourishing condition. Methods of conservation of fuel and power were also considered. The local society is preparing a series of lectures so that engineers may prepare for their examinations.

ZION S. S. PICNIC.

Zion Church Sunday School picnic was held yesterday at Mohawk Park. The program of events was very interesting, the competition in all being extremely keen. The primary events, tug-of-war, leap-frog and shoe races all being worthy of special mention. Zion Big Four and a picked team played at soft ball, the former winning 17-14. Lack of practice and the inexperience of the umpire are reasons of defeat offered by the losers. All were ready for the delightful "Thompsonized" luncheon, which was served by the ladies. The record attendance of both young and old, the untiring efforts of all who were in charge, and the ideal weather all worked together in making this annual outing successful in every way.

TAX ON MATCHES

Matches held in stock by all dealers on Monday, July 1st, are subject to a war tax, at the rate of 1 cent for every one hundred matches, or fraction thereof. War stamps for the payment of this tax are now on sale at the local Inland Revenue office. Dealers having matches in their possession who have already paid the duty, may obtain war stamps free of charge to cover the small packages as retailed upon producing evidence by presentation of invoice or otherwise, that such duty has been paid. All matches in the hands of dealers after July 1st that have not paid the duty, by purchase of war stamps, will be subject to seizure and a penalty of from $50 to $500. Playing cards are dealt with in a similar manner.

ATTEND CONVENTION.

Captain Jenkins, Capt. Boddy, and J. E. Hutcheon have been appointed delegates from Brantford to attend the national convention of the Great War Veterans Association in Toronto, July 28-Aug. 2.

NIGHT FIRE.

Fire from some unknown source broke out in the kitchen of a house at 139 Campbell street, last night at 10 o'clock. The firemen were called, but on arrival found the residents of the house had partially put out the blaze with buckets of water and a little use of chemicals soon checked the fire. Some damage was done to the house and contents.

SEMI-PRO BASEBALL.

The semi-professionals of the city go to Dundas to-morrow afternoon, and on Monday will play two games at Woodstock. On Wednesday of next week they will visit Hamilton again. On the morning of Civic Holiday the semi-pros will play a benefit game for the W.V.A. at Artistic Park with the Veterans' team of Toronto. The semi-pros have a fast outfit, and are drawing big crowds wherever they play.

BOWLING.

W. H. Inglis	20	D. Coates	11

ORPHANS' PICNIC.

The children of St. Joseph's Orphanage, Hamilton, held their annual picnic at Mohawk Park this afternoon, accompanied by a number of sisters from the convent. Lunch was provided by the ladies of St. Basil's and St. Mary's Churches, and the afternoon was spent in games and other amusements. A soft ball game between the visitors and a home team was a feature.

23,380 REGISTERED.

Registrar J. S. Dowling and his staff of assistants completed their tabulation of registrations at noon to-day. The completed figures show that 23,380 persons over sixteen years of age registered on or before June 22. Of this number 11,055 were male and 12,325 female. The cards of those registered for farm service are now being separated from the others, and will be sent to Toronto, while the remainder will be forwarded to Ottawa.

EARN AND GIVE PICNIC.

The boys who took part in the Red Triangle Earn and Give Campaign are holding a picnic at Whitman's Creek on July 1st. An informal program of sports and games will be held during the afternoon. Particular interest centres around the soft ball games for which a prize watermelon has been offered as an inducement toward heavy hitting. The boys will leave the M.C.A. by motor at one o'clock and return from the creek at 7:00 p.m. Boys are taking supper with them but ice cream for the party has been donated and will doubtless be welcomed.

CRICKET.

The Brantford Cricket Club are playing the A.M.C. team of London at London on Monday next and are making the journey by motor. Love, solos, Miss Moody, Miss Heath, Mr. Harp, Miss MacLaren; recitations, Miss Leggett, Miss Trench, Jack Fairlie. Other numbers were supplied by W. J. Sweetman's orchestra, of Brantford, the Bethel Quartette, the Oak Hill and Mount Pleasant girls also assisted. Donations were served by the ladies of the Oak Hill Institute.

GERMANY "FAKED" SLAV ATROCITIES

Krupp Director Says That Commission Fud No Evidence

Washington, June 27.—Further revelations by Dr. Meuhlon, director of the Krupp Company, who is in Switzerland, showing that German falsified stories of Russian atrocities during the early days of the war, are summarized in a despatch to-day from Bern. According to Dr. Meuhlon, the commission of Dr. Meuhlon officers sent to East Prussia to investigate returned without evidence of atrocities and with a report that the population spoke in terms of praise of the conduct of the Russian soldiers.

Dr. Meuhlon also is quoted as saying that in August, 1914, high German officials boasted that Germany possessed the means of destroying Russia without a single battle, by inciting revolution, and that the German plan also included the "liberation" of Finland and the Baltic countries, the proposed reinstatement of Poland as a kingdom; the turning over of Bessarabia to Roumania and the giving of the Caucasian territories and Persia to Turkey.

When a good chance comes to secure a line of goods on which a real bargain can be given to its customers, the Crompton Store is always in the van, ever on the lookout for its customers' interests.

A most unusual opportunity will be offered to-morrow in the sale of Art and Antique Pottery, consisting of Jardinières, Fern Dishes of various sizes, Vases, Bull Bowls, Flower Pots and many other articles. ## FRANCE TO BAR FOOD CORNERS

Boret Plans Measures to Prevent Increase of Meat Prices

FAVORS CARD SYSTEM

He Inclines Toward Monthly Ration Scheme—Potatoes Are Plentiful

Paris, June 27.—M. Victor Boret, the French Food Minister, it is said, will bring before the Cabinet important measures for preventing the increase in meat prices and in the cornering of supplies. The commission that he sent to London, it is understood, has reported unfavorably on the introduction, for the present at least, of the English meat card.

The French bread card has given good results and the Food Minister inclines toward the monthly meat card, which for 19 days will entitle the holder to 2½ ounces of meat, for eight days 4½ ounces of tripe, rabbit or fowl, meat for four days six ounces of cold meat.

He points out that the French herds have suffered much more than the English, there being larger supplies of fish and frozen meat in England than in France. M. Boret believes that there are plenty of potatoes, that he is trying to increase the catch of fish, and that larger quantities of mackerel in its various forms will be available.

Parisians who sometimes find that their baker supplies them with bread of a darker flour than usual are advised in a note issued by the Food Ministry not to make this a reason for buying at another shop. The variation in the color is due to the fact that some of the flour imported from the United States is for reasons of tonnage economy not refined to the same degree as in France, and transportation difficulties sometimes prevent the making of uniform mixtures. As the same variety of flour is rarely delivered twice in succession to the same baker, it is in the customer's interest that he should always make his purchases at the same shop.

FACTORIES IDLE IN BUDAPEST

Troops to be Used to Force the Men to Resume Work

Amsterdam, June 27.—Budapest, advices received here say that in the Lower House of parliament on Wednesday Dr. Alexander Wekerle, the Hungarian Premier, drew a gloomy picture of conditions in Budapest. The Premier said most of the factories had ceased work and that the non-appearance of the newspapers had resulted in a regrettable spreading of false rumors which had fanned the agitation among the working people.

Dr. Wekerle strongly rebuked the demand for the substitution of the military for the gendarmes in factories, and declared that those persons having the people's interests at heart desired the milder police supervision rather than the severer rules of the military in the factories.

NO NEED OF RISE IN BREAD PRICE

Cost of Living Branch Says That Substitutes Are Plentiful

MR. THOMPSON STATES Public Should Accept No Excuses From the Retailers

Ottawa, June 27.—The Cost of Living Branch of the Department of Labor reports to Hon. T. W. Crothers that the report that higher bread prices must result from the recent order of the Canada Food Board requiring substitutes for wheat to be used in the baking of bread, is not based upon facts.

There are sufficient supplies of these substitutes on hand in Canada to meet this new demand, and the prices at which the millers are offering the same for sale do not necessitate an advance in the price of bread, the Cost of Living Branch declares. The percentage of substitute flour required by the order in Canada, it is pointed out, is not so high as that required in the United States, and the number of substitutes allowed in Canada is greater. There can, consequently, be no ground for patriotic Canadians to complain at the new orders of the Food Board, the Cost of Living Branch says.

Mr. Thompson's Statement. Henry B. Thompson, chairman of the Canada Food Board, in an interview to-day said that supplies of substitutes for wheat flour were obtainable by dealers in all parts of Canada at reasonable prices. He stated that the public should not accept any excuses from retailers, because it is the duty of dealers to obtain and to carry sufficient supplies of such substitutes to meet all requirements.

The problem of substitutes for wheat flour has been a most difficult one in Canada, because Canadian mills were not equipped to mill such substitutes. Through the efforts of the Canada Food Board, this difficulty has now been overcome, and the mills are producing a sufficient supply of substitutes to meet the requirements.

Canadian mills are now manufacturing between 4,000 and 5,000 barrels of corn flour per day, and about 600 barrels of barley flour per day. Other mills with a capacity of 150 barrels per day are ready to operate. Fourteen cars of corn flour are on the road to points in Western Canada. Three more cars for Western Canada are being loaded and four cars are in reserve. Six carloads of barley flour are available and can be shipped immediately whenever the substitute is required. Oat flour is also available. There is an ample supply of oatmeal and about 6,000 barrels of oatmeal and rolled oats are now in the hands of the mills.

Answer to questions as to the attitude of the Canada Food Board in case of any attempt to advance prices, Mr. Thompson pointed out that the Food Board had not the power to control the price of the grains, but he said that unless there was an advance in the price of the grains, no increase in the price of substitutes, either by miller or wholesale or retail dealers, would be allowed. "No advance in the price of substitutes is warranted at the present time," said Mr. Thompson. Millers and wholesale and retail dealers are now operating under license from the Canada Food Board, and any dealer who attempts to take advantage of the order requiring the use of substitutes will be liable to have his license suspended or cancelled.

Among the milling companies who are now prepared to supply substitutes, the following have reported to the Canada Food Board that they can supply the products given below:

Campbell Flour Mills Company, Limited, Toronto, corn flour; Chisholm Milling Company, Toronto, corn flour; Morrow Cereal Company, Toronto, corn, barley and rye flour; Orelive Flour Mills Company, Limited, Winnipeg, oat flour; B. B. Rye Mills, Winnipeg, rye flour; Lake of the Woods Milling Company, Limited, Winnipeg, corn flour and corn meal; Empire Flour Mills, St. Thomas, corn flour; Ontario Oriental Flour Company, St. Thomas, corn flour; Canada Flour Mills, Chatham, Ont., corn flour; E. A. Savry, Masson, Que., corn flour; Kingston Milling Company, Kingston, Ont., corn flour; Fowler Milling Company, St. John, N.B., corn flour and corn meal; Atlantic Milling Company, Pictou, N. S., corn meal; Calder-Fraser Company, Dartmouth, N.S., corn meal; G. B. Me-Juanco Bros., Delhi, Ont., rye and buckwheat flour; Stein Bros. and Co., Yarmouth, N. S., corn flour.

The Food Board has been advised that, among others, the following firms are rebuilding and remodeling their plants and will be prepared to furnish substitutes on or before July 15: G. Copeland and Sons, Midland, Ont., corn flour; G. Copeland and Sons, Penetang, Ont., corn flour; Sturgeon Falls Milling Company, Sturgeon Falls, Ont., corn flour; Quaker Oats Company, Peterboro, Ont., corn flour and corn meal; Peterboro Cereal Company, Peterboro, Ont., corn flour and corn meal.

HELP FOR RETURNED MEN.

By Courier Leased Wire. London, June 27.—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—John Hodge, Minister of Pensions, said that he is about to make an appeal for $3,000,000 for the re-habilitation of disabled soldiers.

CLOTHING DEALERS MEET

By Courier Leased Wire. Baltimore, Md., June 27.—The 17th semi-annual convention of the International Association of Clothing Designers convened here to-day. One of the most important matters discussed will be plans to help win the war by conserving material and labor. Not only are the prices of woolen materials very high, but in some cases, it is almost impossible to obtain some fabrics. It is estimated that over 80 per cent. of the looms of this country are now being operated for government needs.

PERFECTING MAIL CIRCUIT.

By Courier Leased Wire. Quebec, June 27.—It is expected that before the fifteenth of July a through mail circuit between Toronto, Montreal and Quebec will be made by aeroplane. It is understood that a party of officers from the Royal Air Force will arrive in Quebec shortly to look over the conditions here as well as the accommodation facilities. Should the plans be carried out, a mail service will be established between the Queen City and the ancient capital and under favorable conditions nine hours should cover the distance between the two cities, allowing a stop at Montreal.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if Kidneys Feel Like Lead or Bladder Bothers

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headache, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless, inexpensive, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications. A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

HONORABLY EXEMPTED.

By Courier Leased Wire. Quebec, June 27.—A branch of the Honorably Exempted Association, which is composed of men who have been honorably exempted from serving in the force of the Military Service Act will be organized in Quebec, Montreal and Toronto, where the idea originated. This society would include all those who, although not called for service, willingly signed for overseas.

CHANNEL FROM BRANTFORD TO ERIE POSSIBLE

Opinion of Grand River Improvement Committee on Trip Yesterday

If, in the near, or it may be far distant future, the Grand River is made navigable for freighting, history will credit "Art" Holmstrake and members of the Board of Trade who comprise "The Grand River Improvement Committee" with having had much to do with the accomplishment of this work.

The committee, together with A.M.S. Harp and Baird, ex-Ass. Jennings, and City Engineer Jones and County Engineer Lee made a trip in automobiles along the Grand River, as far as Port Maitland yesterday, leaving the city at 7:30 in the morning.

The day was ideal for the drive and the members of the party had an opportunity of noting the well-kept Brant County farms, with their wonderful crops.

The fact that the water in the Grand is unusually low for this time of the year gave an excellent idea of the amount of work and expenditure that would be necessary to accomplish a channel suitable for freighting service on the Grand. In many places long broad stretches of clear water could be seen, and one could almost imagine a boat swinging around a curve. In other places shallows that would defy a Mississippi flat boat were seen, and these shallows, filled with stumps and stones, caused the layman to hesitate in an opinion as to the possibility of ever making the Grand navigable. To the mind trained to engineering looks solved the problem, and the opinion was expressed that by the building of a couple of dams for storage purposes, and the putting in of three or four locks, plus dredging, a channel could be made from Brantford to Lake Erie, with Port Maitland at the outlet. The party stopped at Dunnville, on arriving there at 10:30, and Mr. W. J. Aitken and Capt. Ross were added to the party. Mr. Aitken has many interests in Dunnville and Port Maitland, not the least of which is to have the government dredge the Grand. Capt. Ross commands a fishing tug, and the party were, on their arrival at the Port, invited to take a sail-out through the harbor, and for a short run up the Grand.

During the boat trip Mr. Aitken entertained the party with a little bit of history regarding navigation on the Grand. It happened in 1812 that the Indians from Long Point on Lake Erie, paddled down the lake in their war canoes and met the Six Nations Indians, who had paddled down the Grand in war canoes at what is now Port Maitland. Here a council was held and as a result of this council it was decided to at once go to the assistance of Gen. Brock. The British war boats later took refuge in that harbor.

Port Maitland has a good harbor, with a modern ferry slip, and the ferry, Maitland, makes regular trips from Dunnville. The ferry can carry thirty-eight freight cars, and is probably the largest on Lake Erie. The party were shown the harbor and the entrance to the river, which for some miles up is about 200 yards wide with a good depth.

On the return, dinner was eaten at Dunnville. No resolutions were passed in regard to the matter. The committee will report to the Board of Trade, and any action on the matter will be taken by that body.

That any appropriation for dredging or other work of that nature could be secured from the government at this time is not expected, but the committee expect to have data, and to be prepared to make recommendations at the first opportunity.

C. P. R. ENGINEER TELLS OF TROUBLE

Tried Four Years to Find Right Medicine—Tanlac Ends Troubles

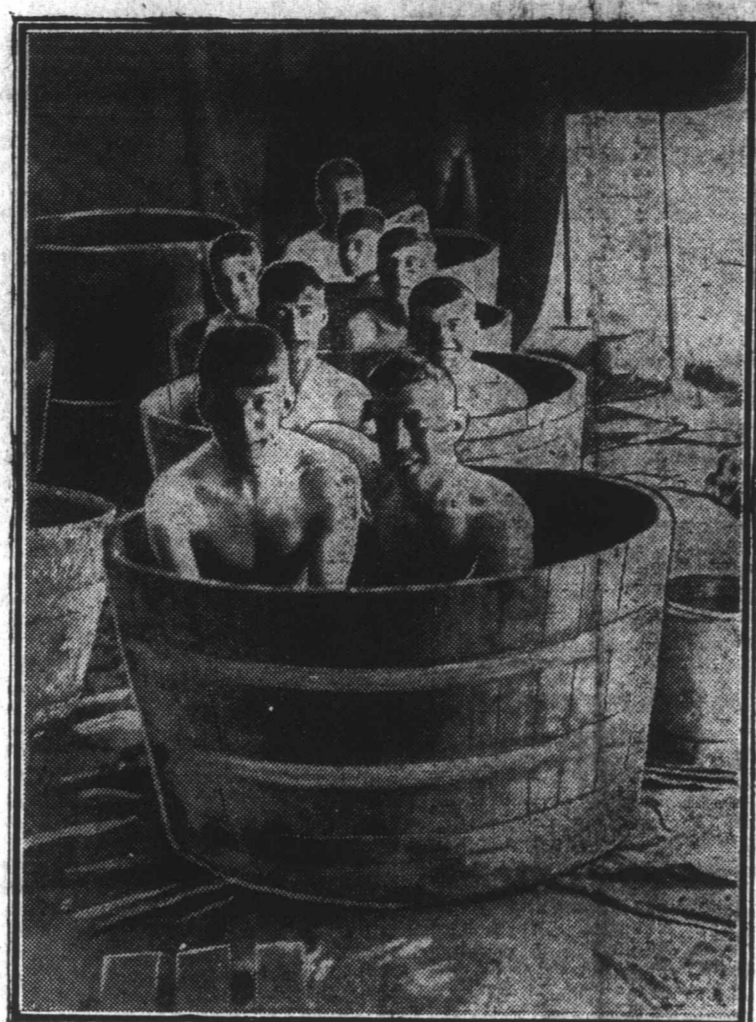

"After trying for years to find something to relieve my awful condition, a few bottles of Tanlac soon fixed me up all right and I haven't had a bit of trouble since," declared William McIntosh, of 3019A Dundas street, West Toronto, the other day. Mr. McIntosh is a well known engineer on the Canadian Pacific Railway and has been on the road for seventeen years.

"I suffered terribly from stomach trouble and indigestion," he continues, "that had worried me for four long years. After eating anything my food would ferment and form a hard lump in my stomach and I felt like I was burning up inside. Then I would bloat up with gas that pressed up against my heart till I could hardly breathe. Nearly all kinds of fruits and vegetables would disagree with me, acid foods would act like poison and I had to be so careful with my diet that I never enjoyed my meals, for I knew what misery was in store for me later on. I was constantly belching up a sourish, bitter water, sometimes a thick phlegm would rise and there was a dull aching pain in the pit of my stomach nearly all the time.

"I took medicine after medicine for the last four years, trying to get relief, but it was no use, and I was getting worse all the time. One day a friend of mine urged me to try Tanlac, as he said it had helped him a lot, so I got me a bottle. I have taken four bottles now and I can say positively that it has entirely relieved me of all my stomach trouble. I can eat all kinds of fruits and vegetables and anything else I want and never have a touch of indigestion afterwards. My food does not ferment, that burning sensation and bloating are all gone and I am in as good condition to-day as I ever was. It certainly is fine to be able to eat anything I want and all I want without having to suffer for it afterwards, and it is nothing but Tanlac that has made it possible for me to enjoy living again like a man should.

Tanlac is sold in Brantford, by Robertson's Drug Store. In Paris by the League in the Guild Hall, said the Imperial War Cabinet was the creation of the war, arising out of its necessities. He was confident it would never be allowed to grow.

TYPICAL OUTDOOR GIRL IS RUTH LAW

If you want to find out just how much like any other woman Ruth Law is, ask her how old she is! (We didn't; it was a rude man that did this morning.) She will tell you that she doesn't think the public is interested in that!

Just what is the woman like who was strong and skillful enough to do what no man has done in America—that is break the long-distance endurance record for aeroplanes? Clear, smiling grey eyes, fluffs of light brown hair peeping from her aviator's cap, blooming pink cheeks, just tall enough not to be too tall, Ruth Law is not a picture of the typical outdoor girl or golf links in America.

Simple as her name—Ruth Law—is she. "I haven't done anything that any other woman couldn't do if she had the opportunity," smiled she this morning as we chatted with her at her suite in the King Edward. "How did you come to do it?" we asked.

"I've always been fond of sports. I've spent most of my life outdoors. I adore motoring or anything with an engine, so when I'd done about everything else I started to fly. I happened to be spending the summer at Marblehead, Mass., in 1912, and there Burgess, of yachting fame, had turned to aviation. He was teaching five army lieutenants to fly, and he let me come, too. I made my first flight on July 5th, 1912, and I've been doing it ever since.

Through six months is allowed as the time it takes some people to learn to fly Miss Law accomplished it in one month. Since then she has been giving continuous exhibitions all over America, and has had a school in Florida, where she made as many as twenty or thirty flights a day, and last summer did a 2,500 mile cross-country ride.

"I like that best of all, to go across country where you don't know where you're going and then make a good landing," smiled she. Her 950-mile trip from Chicago to New York in nine hours and one minute is, of course, her most sensational achievement.

"I was not familiar with the country and just had a man and compass in my exhibition machine," said she. "I wanted Mr. Curtiss to let me use an army machine, but he said a woman couldn't do it. So I had to take one that held but 53 gallons, and stop for oil at Birmingham.

"Probably no one in America has spent more time actually flying than Ruth Law this past six years, yet in spite of her wonderful records, the U.S. Government is still refusing her application for a commission in its aviation service.

VOLOGDA WAS ONCE RUSSIAN CITY OF MUCH IMPORTANCE

Its Prominence in Days of Peter the Great Recalled by Present Events

U. S. EMBASSY THERE Vologda, Russia, June 28.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The German drive into Russia and the peace treaty signed by the Bolsheviks have brought back to Vologda some of the importance which it had in the days of Peter the Great.

When the American Ambassador, David R. Francis, selected Vologda for the site of his embassy to Russia during the period when Petrograd was threatened by German occupation, the little city took on a new life.

Prices of foodstuffs soared and, as more and more Americans came to the city, rooms were at such a premium that some members of the embassy staff were forced to use for several weeks their train berths as sleeping quarters.

The only quarters which could be found by Consul Treadwell for the American consulate were rooms in a huge barn-like hotel known as the Hermitage which was full of German prisoners and Russian soldiers. The consulate's room was just across the hall from the German prisoners' headquarters, but some of these prisoners apparently did not know that America was in the war. Some of them came into the consulate the first day it opened and asked if the Americans were still handling the matter of prisoners' relief.

The embassy was made welcome and a huge wooden structure formerly used as a merchants' club was turned over for its use.

Vologda, in the days of Peter the Great, was one of the most important cities in Russia. It is the head of navigation of the Vologda River, which empties into the Arctic Archangel, and for centuries the ships of the European traders sent their cargoes into Russia by this route.

Peter the Great lived in Vologda for several years and built here the nucleus of the first Russian navy. After the building of Petrograd, Vologda lost most of its importance, though river steamers still ply between it and Archangel.

Vologda is the junction of the Vladivostok-Petrograd and the Archangel-Moscow railway lines and was selected as the embassy site because of its transportation conveniences.

Miss Law is looking forward to much on her four days in Toronto and expects to visit the famous camp. A Boston girl, her home is now in Chicago, and her husband, Mr. Charles Oliver, to whom she has been married five years, travels with her as business manager.

TO ENCOURAGE IRISH (Associated Press.) Dublin, June 28.—One of the latest suggestions to assist recruiting in Ireland is that the Government confer on every Irishman who has fought in the great war the right to bear letters after his name—preferably an additional syllable to be attached to the name—denoting service in the army or navy. The name with its suffix of honor would thereafter be borne by him and his descendants.

SON OF EX-CZAR NOW REPORTED DEAD

While Former Emperor Was Shot After Short Trial, Ukraine Hears

London, June 29.—Rumors are current in Petrograd that Alexis Romanoff, son of former Emperor Nicholas, died a few days, says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen, to-day.

Shot After Trial? Geneva, June 27.—(By The Associated Press).—The Ukraine Bureau at Lausanne announced to-day it had received confirmation of the report that the Bolshevik authorities at Yekaterinburg condemned Nicholas Romanoff, the former Russian Emperor, to death after a short trial and then shot him. Details of the reported execution are lacking.

Reports Persistent. Amsterdam, June 27.—Reports that former Emperor Nicholas has been murdered in Yekaterinburg are increasingly persistent in Moscow, according to a despatch from that city received to-day by way of Berne.

The Moscow newspapers, the despatch adds, indicate the recent whereabouts of the ex-Emperor have not been definitely known. (This statement seems significant as in conflict with the German reports of the former ruler's removal to Moscow.)

Like Being Hit By Rattle Snake

Says that every time you cut or pick at a corn you invite lockjaw

You reckless men and women who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out with the fingers, without one particle of pain.

This freezezone is a sticky substance which dries the moment it is applied and just loosens the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. He says a quarter of an ounce will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but this is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You are positively warned that cutting or picking at a corn is a suicidal habit, any skin.

The clerical and other parties of the Right do not propose to have any women representatives in Parliament.

PRISONERS ILL FED AND ABUSED

Escaped Rusians Tell of the Conditions — Practically Live on Turnips — Germans Feed Bread to Hogs

(By Capt. J. A. F. Ozanne.)
Some interesting information has come to hand from Russian prisoners of war who succeeded in escaping from Germany before the signing of peace. From all accounts the food which received was very bad, both as regards quality and quantity. For breakfast they were given barley soup. Dinner consisted of a bowl of soup made with turnips, or with dry, wormy, turnip leaves, to which adhered dried up remains of worms. Two or three times a week the men had a little meat from some horses which had been killed at the front. Spoiled fish sausage was given. The meals never varied, and on Sundays they were served better than on week days.

Since 1915 the prisoners had not seen any potatoes except those that they could steal. They had only turnips to eat. The meat ration was supposed to be 200 gr. (7 oz.) per week, any meat whatever. A margarine ration of 15 gr. (about half an ounce) was issued on Sundays. Beets and turnip tops went into the prisoners' soup boilers, without washing, just as they came from the fields. No flour, fat, or anything else was used.

Give Hogs English Bread.

In one camp soft bread would be pushed over to the hog pens. The prisoners at work with the hogs would be given a ration of bread. The hogs would eat the bread, and the prisoners would eat the hogs. The prisoners would be given a ration of bread, and the hogs would eat the bread. The prisoners would be given a ration of bread, and the hogs would eat the bread.

Treatment Improving Slightly.

As regards treatment of prisoners it appears that German civilians have recently been ordered to improve in this respect, but not the soldiers. In one camp, where the prisoners worked a plant manufacturing railroad cars, small army cars, etc., the prisoners were required to sign a paper made out in German with a Russian translation attached thereto. It was obligatory on the part of the prisoners to abstain from wild dances of mechanical tools, crops, etc., the penalty for which was death. As the men were working at a manufacturing plant the inclusion of the crops in the document puzzled them. Suspecting a German trick they refused to sign. For their obstinacy they were made to stand at attention three hours daily for two days after working days. The document was finally signed.

Prisoner Committed Suicide.

In February or March, 1917, a Russian prisoner who was working at a coal mine in Westphalia threw himself under a passing locomotive and was killed. He was driven to this act by the conditions and persistent misery of the camp. He was a large, strong-built man, but was considerably weakened by hunger, and since he could not work as was expected of him, he was frequently beaten.

Another Prisoner Stated.

Another prisoner stated that at work they were driven to the last limit of endurance and were beaten by the sentries if the rate of working fell off. He stated that the conditions were such that the men were driven to the last limit of endurance and were beaten by the sentries if the rate of working fell off. ## A GOOD APPETITE A GREAT BLESSING

The Occasional Use of a Tonic Will Ensure a Good Appetite and Good Health.
Loss of appetite during the summer months is a common trouble, and indicates that the digestive system is out of order. Lacking a healthy appetite many people—especially women—go too long without food, or eat sparingly because food seems to distress them, and it is no wonder they complain of being constantly tired and unable to stand the hot weather. All this simply means that the digestive system is not doing its proper work and that the nutriment which should come from the food is not being distributed to the various organs of the body. In other words the blood is growing thin and watery. In such cases what is needed is a summer tonic, and among all medicines there is no tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Take a short treatment with these pills and notice how promptly your appetite returns and your power to digest food improves. Your food will then do you good, your strength will return and you will no longer complain that the hot weather tires you out. Mrs. M. Kelly, Windsor, Ont., says: "I suffered from indigestion for several years, and although I was constantly taking doctor's prescriptions they did not cure me and the result was that I was greatly run down, and always feeling poorly. Finally I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as I soon found they were helping me I continued their use until I was fully cured, and am now able to properly digest any food I take. As a tonic and blood builder I know of no medicine to equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I recommend them to all in need of a medicine."

PACKING THE JARS.

By Laura Enflum.
(Domestic Science Expert of the National War Garden Commission, Washington, D.C.)
A great handicap in home canning is the lack of understanding as to the condition of the jars. When the jars, both inside and out in every groove, and all about the top fateners, are clean and dry, glass-ware, they are in condition for canning use.
When the blanched product is ready, empty into a deep dish or basin. Take a hot jar from the jar-warming bath, place a clean wet rubber on top, put a wide-mouthed funnel in the neck, and using a large spoon, fill the jar with the fruit or vegetable. To shake down the pack lift the jar and hit the bottom with palm of hand. A spoon or spatula is useful to press down the products in the jar. Soft fruits and berries can be packed as closely as possible without crushing. In general pack to within one-half inch of the top. This point is covered in the canning and drying book which the National War Garden Commission, Washington, will send for a 2-cent stamp to cover postage.
In filling jars of such vegetables as rapeseed, asparagus, hold the jar on its side in palm of hand, or on a flat surface, and lay in the products until the jar is full before setting it in an upright position.
Put a level teaspoon of salt in the top of each vegetable filled quart jar, and pour in boiling water to fill but not to overflow. Try to have the water fill the spaces between pieces of product, but it is not essential to use small bottles. For fruits, pour boiling water or boiling syrup into the filled jars.
Each cover should be dipped into water before placing on the jar. Every jar should be packed, holding liquid added, cover put on, and top ball put in place, and then the jar put in canner before the next jar is started upon.
Don't try to improve the method. Experts have been working on canning problems for many years. The points emphasized are important. The Commission will gladly answer any questions written on one side of the paper and sent in a self-addressed, stamped envelope.
Canning Don'ts.
Don't open a jar to put on a fresh rubber after removing the jar from the canner and re-stilizing Allow 5 minutes for fruits and 15 for vegetables. Write to the National War Garden Commission, of Washington, for a free canning manual, enclosing a 2-cent stamp for postage.

FRENCH DELEGATE TO U.S. HELD AS WAR PROFITEER

Charged With Making Millions Out of Motor Truck Contracts

Washington, June 27.—Frank J. Godsol, a French subject, held here on charges of the French Government that he profited by several millions of dollars on motor truck contracts, was held today by the District Court for extradition to France. Godsol, 45 years of age and a man of wealth and business position, had served as a private in the French army and later came to this country as an attaché of one of the French war missions to negotiate motor truck contracts. He was arrested March 8 on a warrant sworn out by the French embassy, which set out that he already had been indicted in France and that as a further measure of getting him into French jurisdiction, the French military authorities had ordered him back to duty. Charges of political influence cropped out at the preliminary hearings, at which Godsol was represented by an array of eminent counsel, who charged that Albert Thomas, former Minister of Munitions, was the real target for the prosecution and that Godsol was brought in because of his close association with Thomas.

FARMERS DON'T REGISTER.

By Courier Leased Wire
Quebec, June 27.—According to Romeo Langlais, registrar, the number of persons who registered in the census of Quebec was very satisfactory but the same cannot be said of the rural districts. Now, however, many of these latter regret that they did not obey the law and are flocking in large numbers to the post office for that purpose. The registration in Montserrat was 8,000 out of 20,000 and in Quebec City over 60,000 registered. ## Music and Drama

THE LITTLE AMERICAN.

Mary Pickford's greatest photoplay, specially secured by Manager Moule for a return showing in Brantford, heads the bill at the Rex the last of the week. "The Little American" is an epic of the war, an arrangement of German Kultur such as has been seldom placed on the screen, presenting Miss Pickford at the height of her dramatic ability, in a setting of all the real and intense in present-day France. One of the many stirring moments is that depicting the destruction of an Atlantic liner. Other people, players appearing with Miss Pickford in this picture, "The Adventures of Dot," a picture taken in Brantford, with local characters filling all the roles, is again an attraction, shown under the auspices of Brant Chapter, I.O.D.E., for the Soldiers' Tobacco Fund. The Rosen Trio present a novel and high class singing and musical offering. The latest episode of "The Woman in the Web" and a clever Mack-Sennett comedy, complete a program of exceptional merit.

THE BRANT.

An exceptionally clever and entertaining musical offering is presented at the Brant the last of this week by the Joyland Girls, a bevy of fair songstresses and entertainers, assisted by the comedian, Ned Norton. Their offering is replete with catchy musical and singing numbers, and is something indeed out of the ordinary. Jack Pickford appears in "Mile-a-Minute Kendall," the story of a college boy who makes good despite parental opposition. The youthful star here has a role well suited to his talents, while his sister, Louise Huff, both of whom appear in the picture, add more than a little to its success. The second episode of "The House of Hate," featuring Pearl White and Antonio Moreno, develops the story and intensifies the interest introduced in the first episode. The Pathe Gazette presents a budget of happenings in all parts of the world.

INCREASE RATES.

TONNAGE LOSSES.

By Courier Leased Wire
London, June 27.—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—The publication last Thursday of the Admiralty report announcing the merchant tonnage losses for the month—due to enemy action shows that the marine risks totalled British 224,735 tons; neutral, 130,329 tons, as compared with an adjusted aggregate for April of $11,456 tons and $30,326 tons in May of last year.
The losses from marine risk are stated to have been unduly heavy last month. The shipping ministry announces that steamships of an exceeding 500 gross tons entered and cleared in United Kingdom ports, exclusive of coasting, and in channel traffic, totalled 7,777,843 tons last month.

WESTERN FAIR ATTRACTIONS.

CHILD TERRIBLY BURNED.

By Courier Leased Wire
Toronto, June 27.—Little John Ernaid Carter, aged six, lies in St. Michael's Hospital burned almost beyond description as the result of his night dress catching fire. No hope is held out for his recovery. A pathetic feature of the accident was that the little boy was carrying the matches out of the way of his two-year-old baby sister, when rubbing them in his hands they ignited.

CHARGED WITH SEDITION.

Destroyer of Seventy-Two Planes, Bishop Ranks as "Greatest of Them All"

Fearless Canadian Airman Fighting Career in Blaze of Glory

Canada's champion airman has become the world's champion. Since returning to the front as commander of a "circus" little more than a month ago, Major W. A. Bishop, V.C., D.S.O. (with bar), M.C., has brought down his 72nd airplane and won the highest title as an air fighter. He has been sent back to England and will probably be forced to rest on his laurels, having been appointed to administrative duties on the Air Board. He will be stationed permanently in England.

The information as to the total of air victories is contained in a cablegram from Major Bishop to his mother-in-law, Mrs. C. E. Burden, of Toronto, which reads: "Returning to England permanently. My total now 72. Hank's total seven." "Hank" is Mrs. Burden's son, Lt. Harry Burden, who went overseas with the 72nd and has been in France with the Royal Air Force since February.

Major Bishop's wife, who is in England, was the first to send word home that her famous husband had returned across the channel to active service with a "circus." It was since reported that the Canadian's super-squadron of fighters was achieving remarkable success, while its chief had gone beyond the mark of all his rivals in the flying services of both groups in the world struggle.

Although the German method of clashes with airman besides his daring and terrorizing feats with the machine gun upon bodies of troops below. He returned to be terrorized by 217 German planes of Britain's armies, whether of R. F. C. or R. N. A. S., he sets a record for the record for the new Royal Air Force.

The latest Bishop swoop across the Channel involved the adoption by allied arms of the "circus" idea which the gallant, if unsporthan-like, Richthofen introduced to the world. The main difference appears to have been in method and success. It is now circus against circus instead of a German circus against a lone Allied flyer. Press reports more than beat out the cable which Major Bishop sends as to the success of his brother-in-law and himself. The flyers have been widely of their chief, who in the past month has bagged 25 Hun planes. On May 12 the Bishop Circus reached France, and now its organizer and, to give him his official title, Squadron Commander, is recalled to more important functions.

"Friends here are sure that no matter what changes in method the circus idea may involve nothing could change the Bishop spirit, and the technique which expresses that combination of apparently reckless daring with nimble thinking and decision. Major Bishop has been always a fighter and always a versatile fighter as his personal accounts quite artlessly prove. Perhaps it is this adaptability which has put him above the other super-aces whose courage and skill he would be the last to disparage.

Bishop Takes the Palm
The exuberant energy of the Bishop style of going into battle is in striking contrast with the restraint of a Guymer who went up above the clouds alone to discharge his duty of ridding France of one more menace and who finally, to preserve unimpaired his reputation, took chances that he knew were too great. Different again was the self-conscious Capt. Ball, who, after his highest honors had been won, he knew that he was a marked man, went up in a plane which was painted like no other, courting combat and the prospect of death.

Germany's great lone fighters, Bolkie and Immelmann, having perished, a more German type of leader in aerial combats appeared in Baron von Richthofen. He, too, painted his machine in clownish colors, but being him talked arrogantly a great V of companions in similarly gaudy machines, sweeping the skies and seeking to win by odds. Richthofen's combat mounted high for the Germans, gave credit for machines which fell behind the allied lines, and may reasonably be presumed destroyed. Among Germany's foes it is the rule to give credit to a man for machines which beyond shadow of a doubt are his, downed behind the Allied lines, where examination and verification are possible. There is generous honor for the daring flyer in Germany's way, but when there are two counts of 72 or any other considerable number by the two methods, the Allied airman has the palm. Bishop, where examination and verification are possible, the British Air Board, lately, of Owen Sound, Ontario, Canada.

CHILD'S DRESS.

The little short waisted dress shown in No. 8743 proves that even the little girl may look smart in tailored clothes. The style of the dress is very simple, and yet it is distinctive. The bodice is in double breasted effect and the round collar rolls high at the back. The sleeves in full length style are gathered into strap cuffs, and the shorter ones are finished with turned back cuffs. The one piece skirt with straight lower edge is gathered all around to the short waist. Patch pockets to match the collar may be stitched on the skirt.

The children's dress pattern No. 8743 is cut in three sizes—4, 6 and 8 years. As on the figure the longer size requires 3 yards 27 inch, 2 1/4 yards 36 inch or 2 yards 44 inch material, with 3/4 yard 36 inch contrasting goods.

To obtain this pattern send 15 cents to The Courier office, or two for 25 cents.

RAILWAY EQUIPMENT RUSTING IN YARDS Scores of Locomotives and Many Miles of Rails Held Up From Shipment

In the old Meadows yards along the Duwamish River in Washington, where once the ponies raced, to-day are idle railroad machinery, equipment and rails upwards of 20 million dollars.

While the railroads of the United States are sorely in need of locomotives and cars, and on the other side of the world the poor Russians are suffering because transportation facilities are lacking to carry the surplus of one district to the almost famine stricken people in another part of the great empire, this material lies rusting.

It belongs to the Russian Government. The Czar's government. The Mikoykoff temporary regime? Kerensky's provisional government? The Bolshevik? The men in charge of the yards shake their heads. They cannot answer.

"How long will it remain there? The answer to that question is another: How soon will the situation in Russia be settled so that the work of the great empire can begin? Seventy-Four Locomotives. There are sixty wide gauge locomotives, complete, ready to set up; fourteen narrow gauge locomotives; unnumbered cranes containing parts; car wheels galore; rails to build several hundred miles of track; a compound engine or two; a huge locomotive crane, and cranes and kegs and boxes of other material, besides a huge shed filled with small parts of railroad machinery.

Part of the material was contracted for while Czar Nicholas, now in exile, was still on the throne. Kerensky's provisional government let additional contracts. Both have disappeared.

Who paid the American Locomotive Works and the Baldwin Locomotive Works for the material no one appears to know. Whether it is in aerial combats for an exchange with Russian gold or money loaned by the United States to Russia before the Bolshevik uprising turned everything topsy turvy is likewise unnumbered cranes containing parts; car wheels galore; rails to build several hundred miles of track; a compound engine or two; a huge locomotive crane, and cranes and kegs and boxes of other material, besides a huge shed filled with small parts of railroad machinery.

Cars Are Being Released.
Until quite recently a great part of the material was still on cars, but the three American traveling cranes and their crews have been at work unloading the machinery, releasing sometimes as many as thirty cars a day. There are still about a hundred cars in the yards, and they each contain one of the immense 36-foot boilers, it may be necessary to use other equipment than that now available before these can be unloaded, and the cars returned to commerce. Some of the cranes were broken on their journey across the continent or in unloading and one crew is now engaged in re-creating this material.

In the yards are eight miles of spur track. It is said to be one of the best equipped and arranged yards on the coast. A high board fence, topped with barbed wire, keeps out intruders, and armed guards are on hand day and night. About the yards are ten searchlights and a searchlight, each with its reflector, shedding a light equivalent to 2,500 candle power, and at night the light is so well diffused that there are few shadows. To get into the yards it is necessary to have a pass.

A. Pevzoff, M.E., representative of the Russian mission of ways of communications, with office in Seattle, is in charge, and at the yards is Ivan Lepitok, a young Russian who has been in this country for five years. The yards, under that there are few shadows. To get into the yards it is necessary to have a pass.

The material has been accumulating for a considerable period, but was not moved to the present location until last fall. Three months ago part of it was loaded in Russian ships which expected to take it to Vladivostok, but suddenly an order came from Washington announcing that the ships would not be allowed to clear until conditions in Russia were more satisfactory. The great cranes were lifted out of the ships.

ONTARIO RUSHING INTO INSOLVENCY DECLARES SENATOR

Not Much Difference, He Says, Between Ontario Government and Bolshevik Rule

Ottawa, Ont., June 27.—"The Province of Ontario is going headlong into insolvency," declared Senator W. C. Edwards this morning, during the course of a brief comment on the new lumber limit tariff which the Quebec Government has just put into effect. While admitting that himself and other large lumbermen would be seriously affected by the new tariff, which has increased stumpage and ground rent rates as high as 100 per cent, Senator Edwards was complimentary of the Province of Quebec. After all, he said, "the province of Quebec is the only civilized province of the Dominion because it is the only province that is solvent and the only province that has a stable government."

The interviewer asked: "But what about Ontario?" To which the Senator replied: "There is not much difference between Ontario and the Russian Bolshevik Government, for the Province of Ontario is going headlong into insolvency." Senator Edwards said the new tariff would have very serious effects. "It may put the lumbering men out of business," he said. "It will mean an increase in the price of lumber eventually," said John Black, of J. R. Booth Company. "We tried to point out to the Quebec Government that the trade could not stand it, but I guess the Government felt that they needed the money. It will be pretty hard for those holding timber limits for speculative purposes."

Paris, June 28.—A seven-cent pig is a luxury and a six-cent smoke a necessity, in the opinion of the French Under Secretary of State for the Finance Department. The Secretary suggests that the ration scheme should apply only to the sale of the cheaper grades of tobacco, cigarettes and cigars, and not to those classed as luxuries. He would give no smokers' cards to women, although the women munition workers are said to have become great smokers.

Capturing Wild Monkeys. Monkeys are frequently captured in nooses and in traps built in the shape of houses. The only animal to escape is a trap-door in the roof, which communicates with a trigger set upon the ground. Food is spread about inside, the monkeys enter, and skimming around disturb the trigger, and the trap shuts them in. Another method of catching them is a most ludicrous one. An old hard cocoanut is taken and a small hole made in the shell. Furnished with this and a pocketful of boiled rice, the sportsman sallies into the forest and stops beneath a tree tenanted by monkeys. Within full sight of these inquisitive spectators, he first eats a little rice and then puts a quantity into the cocoanut, with all the ostentation possible. The nut is then laid upon the ground, and the hunter retires to a convenient ambush. No sooner is the man out of sight than the monkeys race helter-skelter for the cocoanut. The first arrival peeps into it, and seeing the plentiful store of rich rice inside, squeezes his hand in through the small hole and clutches a handful. So paramount is greed over every other feeling connected with monkey-nature that nothing will induce the creature to relinquish his hold. With his hand thus clasped he cannot possibly extract it, but the thought that if he leaves go one of his brethren will obtain the feast is overpowering. The sportsman's unnumbered monkeys fly in all directions, but the unfortunate brute who still will not let the rice go is thereby handicapped beyond hope by the possession of a cocoanut—a state of affairs quite fatal to rapid locomotion. The sequel is that he falls an easy capture to the hunter, a victim to his own greed.—Family Herald.

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason.
THE ONE INTEREST.
 I went last night to see the show, a play I've long adored; but little Eva's tale of woe just left me feeling bored. I saw Ediza cross, the boy and girl no pleasant thrill; for I was thinking of some way to can old Kaiser Bill. And Marks the lawyer hewed his gage, and failed to make me grin; my thoughts were all of battle flags and swords and martial din. I went to see the baseball game, with croquet three or four; the pastor's pretty much the same as in the days of yore. But there was little whooping done, although the play was fine, for we were thinking of the Hun, of war across the brine. I knew not which team won or lost, and didn't seem to care; for everything on earth's a fuss, since doughs covers' them; I do not care for printed books, for music or for art; there's nothing new but war, and looks that stir my weary heart. I do not care for politics or after dinner speeches, for all their foolish gab of tricks I wouldn't give two wheels. I do not yearn for county fairs, for pinks in the yard; I don't mortel things are fakes and snares, save war, and it's the goods. And it alone is worth our while, until our cause is won, until we've gained that thing of gale, the auto-graphic gun.

DOCTORS CRITICIZED.
 By Courier Leased Wire.
 Hamilton, Ont., June 27.—At an annual convention of the W.C.U. of Wentworth and Halton counties here this morning, Rev. J. A. Wilson severely scored doctors who broke the Ontario Temperance Act by giving out prescriptions for liquor indiscriminately. This was one real reason, he said, why temperance organizations should be maintained even though Canada had a war-time prohibition. The Provincial Women's Christian Temperance Union will be asked to appeal to the Ontario Government to include in the present scientific temperance in the public school course.

A BELOVED CITY.
 Dunkirk Has Become Dear to Heart of France.

Dunkirk, the City of Dreadful Night, is pointed out by a correspondent of the Daily Mail, has been mentioned perhaps more often in French communiques during this war than any other city. There are weeks when it is rare for a war-time newspaper to conclude with the words, "Enemy airplanes dropped bombs on Dunkirk during the night," or "long-range gun has fired into Dunkirk." A seat report, the nearest of all to the firing line, is now scarcely less dear to the hearts of the French people than Verdun, and like Verdun, it has been decorated for its courage under fire. Recently France's biggest ship was launched there. The amazing thing about Dunkirk, the writer continues, is that it is still a city. Its inhabitants, refusing to leave, have carried on its normal life in industrial courage. Tramway cars run as usual along its cobbled streets and well-stocked shops are open every day. Weekly in the main square market is held and the countless stalls are well patronized by shrewd housewives. The frequent bombardments from sea, land and air are not laughed at, although they are taken as a matter of course. Bedrooms, instead of being on the upper floors of the houses, are now in the cellars, and public doghouses dot the town as do the air raid shelters of London.

Scarcely a house or wall in the town remains without its record of the enemy's continual efforts to destroy Dunkirk.
