

boat in Aspinwall harbor, hauled down the rebel flag, and substituted that of the United States, under which she prepared to slip away. The commander of the Spanish vessel wrote to the commander of the Kansas, there stationed, explaining that the Virginus was a filibustering vessel, suggesting that she should be made to haul down the American colors, and intimating that he would have to follow and, if possible, capture her should she attempt to leave the harbor.

The captain of the American man-of-war wrote to the U. S. Consul, and the latter wrote back to say that the Virginus had authority to sail under the American flag. Meanwhile, another U. S. man-of-war came into the harbor and the Virginus prepared to leave. The Spanish gun boat also got up steam, but the commander seems, on second thought, to have concluded that two men-of-war besides the Virginus were too many for him, and the Cuban was accordingly suffered to depart. The upshot of the matter is big black head lines in the New York papers telling of the great naval victory that has been won. Assuredly such a feat is quite worthy of a place beside the Lava Bed triumph, if, indeed, it does not put that glorious affair in the shade. And then, too, isn't it glorious to think that just when John Bull is paying his $15,000,000 for the ravages of the Alabama, Uncle Sam should be giving Cuban Alabamas the protection of his flag and his fleet? Despite the High Joint confab and much solemn protestation we fear that arbitration business was but a farce preceding a new version of the old story about "my ox and your cow."

Great Gale and Tidal Wave.

Immense Destruction of Shipping LIVES LOST.

Crops Blasted Everywhere Throughout the Country.

INTENSE EXCITEMENT.

The greatest gale ever experienced since 1810 swept over the Island of Cape Breton on Sunday last. The oldest inhabitant has very carefully to ransack every corner of his memory to hunt up a storm as severe, as blasting and destructive as the terrible hurricane that has just visited us, blasting and blighting our crops, overturning churches, and houses, knocking down fences, uprooting huge trees that have stood the battle and the breeze for three score years, sweeping our commerce from the ocean, and worse than all destroying human life. The great Sable gale was insignificant in comparison with the storm we have just had. Our usual November wind and waves have not equalled, this century at least, the terrific, magnificent, yet awful blast that has stalked through our land. Old Eolus must have sent forth every wind under his control and at pleasure let them ravage earth and sea for full twelve hours.

The weather on Sunday morning was dull and heavy. At twelve o'clock, noon, the rain was falling fast, the barometer standing at 29 and eight tenths. The wind commenced to blow from the South East, increasing from a strong breeze at 1 o'clock p. m. to a gale at 6 p. m., this rapidly changing with heavy showers of rain accompanying the wind at the same time becoming more easterly, to a perfect hurricane by twelve o'clock at night. The barometer reading being 29. A darker, gloomier and wilder night, no one could imagine. Vessels supposed to have the best possible ground tackle and riding over the best mooring ground in the harbor were rapidly drifting ashore, dragging great anchors weighing 2,000 lbs., with one or two hundred fathoms of cable as if they were mere toys. Houses were being stripped of their doors, shutters, chimneys; barns unroofed and hay flying through the air; fences falling by the rails; lumber rushing over one's head as if alive and possessed with wings, and fruit trees, potatoes, grain being destroyed by the acres. The howl of the storm drowned the loud cries of the shipwrecked sailors scrambling up the cliffs or interlocking to the rigging. The elements were wild, crazy, frenzied, drunk.

About 1 o'clock a. m., the storm commenced to moderate and for the next twelve hours was a heavy gale, the wind north east, but the storm neither as intense nor the wind as swift as during the night.

Monday morning presented a gloomy spectacle. Large and small vessels of every description, some almost new and well founded were promiscuously piled up many dismantled, some cut in two or three pieces, others wrecked, torn, battered, shattered in every possible way were piled up like nut shells along the beach. A barque's mainmast here, a schooner's foremast there, beams, bowsprits, masts, staysails, skysails, moonsails, and every other kind of sails, mixed up with what was once running and standing rigging, tripped you up at every step. The docks were filled with floating debris, many of the wharves were greatly injured and lumber carried away. Every one you met had some loss to complain of. Messrs. MacKay and Corbett had their wharf injured by an old tub of a schooner the Old Robert, and they put their loss down at $1000. J. L. Ingraham, Esq., lost a great deal of very valuable timber and his wharf damaged by the beating and pounding of the barque Lancashire Witch, to the extent of some $600. Messrs. A. and J. Nisbet lost timber, spars, staging, &c., to the tune of $200.

W. H. Moore, Esq., apart from the loss he may have incurred in his shipping, will require $1000 probably to put his wharf in the same condition as before.

Messrs. Archibald & Co., have met with losses around their wharves here, and in Cow Bay. The Marine Slip has been damaged; it is feared considerably. A number of vessels dragged both anchors over the track and of necessity must have injured the track more or less. The water is so muddy that divers can give no information as yet.

The greatest loss that we have experienced, though, and which is of most interest to those outside of North Sydney, is the great destruction of shipping. The harbor that we had fondly imagined so land-locked, that no wind or sea could disturb us, contains to-day the wreck of 25 vessels. The destruction of property is immense, and with feelings of sorrow we gaze on the shattered hulks of these 25 vessels strewn along our shore.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

A SCENE TO BE REMEMBERED.

It would be idle to disguise the fact that the brief sitting of Parliament Wednesday was one of the most remarkable that ever took place in the country. Mr. Mackenzie, rising to a question of privilege took occasion to move a resolution to the effect that the House should not be prorogued until the so called Pacific Scandals had been investigated by a Parliamentary Committee. He spoke in his motion amid the most tumultuous applause and in reading it was frequently interrupted by deafening cheers from the Opposition. The Ministerial benches were slimly filled. The Left had a goodly show and the control of all the noise. Mr. Black Rod made his three official taps at the door. Mr. Mackenzie continued his speech in a very excited and undignified manner. The noise on the Left, and the excitement in the galleries increased. Mr. Sergeant-at-arms informed Mr. Speaker that there was a message from the Crown. The 'baubles' was lifted and down again, only to be shouldered once more and carried to the Senate. The Speaker followed, and after him the Members on the Right. The Governor General delivered the Speech elsewhere reported and the thing was over. But the Left were utterly rampant and would not be comforted. They mourned for the ten cents per mile and the ten dollars per day which were not; and no doubt, their reckoning with their boarding-house keepers this morning will be a sad, sad affair. The fault, however, is attributable to the Globe and Herald, which persuaded the hungry crowd to come down, or up, to Ottawa, in the certain assurance that the ten cents per mile and the ten dollars per day would be forthcoming!

Well! well! we shall have another session very soon. Then the whole matter will be sifted. At the present time it is more than absurd to suppose that the Governor General could do otherwise than act according to the well understood principles of constitutional Government. We printed Lord Dufferin's speech at Halifax on Wednesday last, and we thought it too good for criticism. We print his official utterance to-day, and are bound to say that according to the limits of our constitutional practice, the document is equally unimpeachable.

The prorogation passed off quietly, though in the midst of intense excitement. The Opposition overdid their case to a degree that must have delighted Sir John Macdonald's heart. Not a man rose from the Left to follow the Speaker except Mr. Frank Jones. Not one on the right failed to rise except Messrs. Cauchon and Cartwright and perhaps one other. But the trio are not worth the waste of printers' ink. When the non-rebellious section of the House of Commons followed the Speaker to the Senate the rebels were informed by Mr. Granite-Cheeked Lambton McKenzie that a meeting would be convened in the Railway Committee Room, to take His Excellency's conduct into consideration! Result—the Queen's Representative basely insulted by men calling themselves representatives of the people of Canada. It is an insane farce, and can only result in disgrace to the Opposition. But let the matter be tried. If Parliament has a more competent tribunal than a Royal Commission, then in the name of common sense let it put its court in motion. But does any right thinking man believe for a moment convicted liars and characterless tricksters are to be permitted to damp the reputation of men whose records run spotless through our history for more than twenty years.

We cannot close our remarks anent the winding up of the session without saying a good word for the visitor in the galleries. Both Senate and Commons galleries were crowded; but scarcely a breath of feeling was manifested in either. It would however be a denial of truth to say that feeling did not run very high among the people. The Reform League was well sented, but the conduct of its members were worthy of all praise. When this proposition is thought about in after times nobody will have cause to regret the part they took in it except those who vainly tried to intercept the free motion of constitutional administration. Alex. McKenzie and his backers may be excused for their part in it, as nobody ever gave them credit for knowing much. But as for M. Cauchon, and Mr. Cartwright, Faugh! They have chosen their company. Let them keep it.

The Shah of Persia, says a Vienna correspondent, has made himself as disagreeable as possible during his stay here. The Empress went away from Schonbrunn to avoid having to receive him. He has instituted a new Order, to be called the "Nasri" or "Victoria Order." The Japanese also have fallen into this fashion, and instituted the Order of "The Daisy." The simplicity of this emblem, which is called in German "the goose's little flower," is a good deal ridiculed by the Viennese.

HARBOR GRACE, SEPT. 6, 1873.

The chief topic of conversation just now seems to be the approaching General Election. This is an important matter. The choice of representatives should be judiciously made, and the necessity of choosing men of sterling principle and unswerving integrity ought never to be lost sight of. The destinies of nations are certainly, in a great measure, influenced by the conduct of those who are entrusted with the guidance and management of national affairs; and men of wisdom and patriotism are required to fill those offices from which emanate benefits to the country at large. Men of noble and philanthropic principles, unflinching in character, and actuated by an unflagging desire to advance the interests of their country and exalt her to a position of independence and greatness, are worthy of confidence and esteem, and we would advise the independent electors of this district, at least, to give their support to men possessing the qualities we have named, and not allow themselves to be induced to advance to positions of responsibility and trust, persons who are actuated by one motive, and that the despicable one of self-aggrandisement. Let your choice be a judicious one, irrespective of any efforts that may be brought to bear against such an object. Principle is of more real value than money, and ought to be prized accordingly.

In another column will be seen a graphic account of the dreadful gale which recently swept over the Island of Cape Breton, carrying ruin and desolation in its track, and destroying a large portion of the mercantile marine of that Colony.

The Firemen made a fine turn out yesterday for exercise, and the supply of water being good, several of the houses near the hydrants were thoroughly drenched from basement to summit. The Company is in a good state of discipline, and fit for active service whenever such may be required. We hope, however, that some time will elapse ere we shall again be compelled to suffer the disastrous consequences of a destructive conflagration.

The "Gazette" of Tuesday informs us that a General Election will be held in November next. The nomination is appointed to take place on the 3rd and the Polling on the 8th of that month.

NEWS ITEMS.

The tunnel through the Rocky Mountains has now been begun. It is to be twelve miles long, and will take only four years in constructing.

The "Soir" mentions a report that M. Gambetta is about to marry the only daughter of Colonel Rochereau Denfert, the defender of Belfort.

At the Wesleyan Conference at Newcastle recently, it was stated that the total number of members in the connection was 348,580, an increase of 1730 on the year.

An officer in the Prince of Wales' household has arrived at Pesth, and is engaged in selecting a villa for His Royal Highness to reside in during his promised visit, when the Prince will join in the Hungarian foxhunt.

A PARLIAMENTARY RETURN just issued states that the total amount paid by the Post Office to telegraph companies in the United Kingdom for the purchase of the interests in telegraph systems is £5,844,347.

GRANTS TO THE ROYAL FAMILY.—The annual grants to the Royal family—in addition to the £285,000 paid to the Queen—will now be augmented to £400,000. The Prince of Wales receives £40,000; the Princess of Wales £10,000; the Duke of Edinburgh, £25,000 (including the addition just proposed); Prince Arthur, £15,000; Princess Royal, £10,000; Princess Alice, £6000; Princess Helena, £6000; Princess Louise, £6000; the Duchess of Cambridge, £12,000; the Princess Mary £5000; and the Princess Augusta, £3000.

A Boy twelve years old, whose parents live in Forestdale, Vt., was severely burned, a short time since, under the following singular circumstances: In crossing a brook he discovered something which he took to be a roll of candy, and on examination placed it in his pantaloons pocket. His clothes were soon on fire and he rushed into the water, when it ceased to burn 'only while under the water. The roll proved to be phosphorus. The boy will not recover.

The Escape of Prince Arthur.

Appropos of the recent narrow escape of Prince Arthur from drowning, the Blairgowrie correspondent of the Dundee Advertiser writes.—"Surely this Prince bears a charmed life, for no less than three accidents, two of them hair-breadth escapes, occurred on the journeys of his Royal Highness to the Highlands, and while passing through this town. The first, which happened more than ten years ago, was of an alarming nature, the carriage in which the Prince and Major Elphinstone travelled having been dashed against a stone wall and broken in pieces through the horses running too rapidly down Allan Street and Wellmeadow. The second occurred not many yards from the same spot, the Royal carriage grazing past a narrow opening between some carts and a quantity of debris caused by some building repairs. No damage of consequence was done then, but on a third occasion a fine large dog was run over and killed by the baggage waggon which followed the Prince's carriage, also near the same place."

Alleged New Potato Disease.

A new potato disease is described by the American papers as having made its appearance near Jena, differing from the one commonly known in its directly attacking the tubers and not the leaves. The tuber becomes covered by a purplish felt, which is the mycelium of a fungus. The skin of the potato is sometimes apparently not penetrated by the mycelium, the contrary being the fact in other cases. In the latter event, the tuber becomes completely destroyed by a cancerous disease. The fungus belongs to the genus Sclerotium, and, according to Professor Hollis, the remedy will probably be the same as in the ordinary potato disease, namely, the selecting of early kinds, using only mineral and no animal nor vegetable manures, and with a careful selection of the best adapted soil. The Rev. M. J. Berkeley, the eminent fungologist, however has lately announced that this is the well known "Copper Web," which in some years is very destructive to asparagus, mint, and other crops, and has been known, to some extent, to attack the potato. It is figured in Tulasne's "Fungi Hypogaei," under the name of Rhizoctonia.

A criminal of high rank appeared within the last few days before a court of justice at Kostroma, in Russia, on a charge of cruelly ill-treating his own son. Prince Cyrie Michailow Urnow was, it appears, a confirmed drunkard, and has treated his son by his first marriage with such cruelty from his earliest childhood, that the unhappy youth, now seventeen years of age, has become imbecile. The child never had a place wherein to sleep, went about dressed only in a linen shirt and trousers, and suffered the greatest extremities of cold and hunger. He was besides, exposed to constant personal ill-usage. His father would in his drunken fits, throw logs of wood at him, or tie his hands and feet, and beat him with a knotted stick. The mother of the boy was obliged soon after his birth to leave her husband on account of the rough treatment she experienced at his hands and died within a brief period of consumption. The jury found Prince Urnow guilty, and the court sentenced him to the loss of all princely rights and privileges and to a residence of three years in the Government of Sennissei. He is further forbidden to leave Siberia for ten years.

EARTHQUAKE AT VALPARAISO.—The Moselle, from the West Indies, arrived at Plymouth on the 17th ult.

A great earthquake occurred at Valparaiso on the morning of July 8. The shocks felt exceeded in intensity those felt in the year 1867. There were six shocks one after the other. Many families passed the night in the streets. The district of the Almendrel suffered most, and few in it escaped being injured more or less. The damage inside of the houses was very great, in the public as well as private edifices, and many people suffered fractures and contusions, and the deaths reported are numerous. The statue lately put up in memory of Lord Cochrane was wheeled half round on its pedestal. The shocks were felt severely at Lamache, Quillata, and Calera. The earthquake was observed to come from the east, and was felt as far south as Curico.

THE FIRE AT THE ALEXANDRA PALACE.—TWO BODIES FOUND IN THE RUINS.—A very shocking discovery has been made at the Alexandra Palace. About the end of June, a fortnight or so after the Palace was burned, two ladies living in Upper Holloway mysteriously disappeared. They were extensively advertised for by their friends, but no trace could be found of them. On Thursday, the 21st ult., as the workmen were clearing away the fallen brickwork, they came upon two bodies of females, which have been identified as those of the missing ladies. Both were fearfully bruised and disfigured.

Latest Despatches.

LONDON Aug. 30.—The German Government has ordered the expulsion of all emigration agents not Teutons. British Admiral Thurston has notified the rebels of his intention to remove the ships Vittoria and Almanzor to Gibraltar. Majority rebels decided to open fire should ships be removed. Thurston gives 48 hours notice and threatens bombardment.

NEW YORK, 30.—The Treasury Department has decided that British Columbia is not entitled to the benefits of the treaty of Washington as far as fish and fish-oil are concerned, it not being part of the Dominion at the time the treaty was signed, and also, the portion of the Dominion embraced in the treaty was that on the Atlantic side. State department has expressed similar views.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The "Globe" says the Ministry is determined to submit a budget next session on the basis of abolition of Income Tax, and if not sustained by the House will appeal to the country.

Fusion of French loyalists regarded complete since the meeting of Orleans Princes at Fretsdorf.

Spanish insurgents will attack the British fleet if they remove Spanish vessels without coming to an arrangement.

OTTAWA, 1.—Goldwin Smith is to be editor of a new reform paper in Toronto.

The "Globe" intimates that if Parliament is not convened when promised, a petition will go to the Queen.

The Toronto "Mail" says the Commissioners have power by writ of attachment to compel Huntingdon and other witnesses to attend, and the feeling ground that evidence convicting members cannot be produced. By Halifax letters, Bermuda is undergoing a constitutional crisis as to whether or not the Lower or Upper House shall have the management of the negotiations for a better steamer between the Island and New York. The Council appointed by the Crown, exercise legislative and executive functions, and the Commons, mindful of the glorious victory of Ruyseyade, know their rights and dare maintain them. Judgment will come from Downing Street.

IMPORTANT TO THE Citizens of Newfoundland.

THE CONTINENTAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK.

In order to complete their line of Agencies from London to San Francisco, California, and to extend universally the benefits and advantages offered by their Company, and to place within reach of all the means of making provision for the Widow and the Orphan, have decided on establishing Agencies in St. John's and Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

The CONTINENTAL, beyond all comparison, the most successful and most popular Company ever established in Europe or America. It has only been SEVEN YEARS in existence, but at its organization men of enlarged views, and great experience in Life Insurance, were placed in its management, who, having discarded all useless and annoying restrictions, and adopted all the improvements known in Life Insurance—many of them original with themselves, it at once received, and continues to receive, a support unprecedented; and it now stands far ahead of many companies TEN YEARS older than itself. It has issued over FIFTY-NINE THOUSAND POLICIES, and has over $3,750,000,000 assets, all securely invested, as required by law, in Bonds of the United States, Bonds of the State of New York, or in Real Estate. For that portion invested in Real Estate, it holds in all cases Double Security. So popular is its management and so great the public confidence that there are only Two Companies in the World that now approach it in the amount of business done.

By the Laws of the State of New York Life Insurance Companies are not allowed to do Fire Insurance or any other business, the importance of which law cannot be over-estimated by all who desire to protect their families by Life Insurance, and who do not wish to have their funds put in jeopardy by Fire Insurance.

By the Laws of New York Life Insurance Policies are held sacred to the families of the insured, free from the claim of Creditors.

The CONTINENTAL issues all kinds of Policies, viz., Ordinary Life, Endowment, Joint, &c.

All losses in Newfoundland will be paid at the Agency here without subjecting claimants to the trouble and expense of going to New York.

All Policy holders can vote and are eligible to office.

The Reserve Dividend System

Is one more step in the march of progress. Presented only after mature thought, it invites the test of the severest scrutiny. Its chief merit is its PERFECT ADAPTABILITY to the wants of insurable lives. THE RESERVE DIVIDEND and RESERVE ENDOWMENT POLICIES originated and published by the Company's Actuary, under copyright in 1869. The principle involved renders every form of insurance a provision in life. It converts an ordinary life Policy, otherwise payable only in the event of death, into a CASH ENDOWMENT, MAKING EVERY TEN YEARS.
