TORO.VTO, SATURDAY, OCTOEER J5, 1892.

HE death of Alfred Tennyson at the ripe old age of eighty three is mourned wherever the English language is spoken. Following closely upon the death of his American compeer Whittier it emphasizes the fact that the intellectual activities of the present generation do not run in the direction of poetry. Tennyson's works will always hold a high rank among English classics, which is more than can be said of any living writer of English verse.

TTHERE is likely to be some difficulty in filling the vacant laureateship, owing to the very limited number of available candidates--there being but two or three poets in Britain to-day whose verses rise above medioc. rity. If the office is to be continued, it would be a graceful act on the part of the British Government to extend the circle of selection and appoint a Canadian to the office. Archibald Lampman, W. W. Campbell, or Bliss Carman can any of them hold their own with the present race of English singers. But the office, which is an anachronism at best-and might be a bribe st worstought to be abolished.

S nearly as re can understand the Globe,Sir Mowat did perfectly right in dismissing Elgin Myers and Prof. Goldwin Smith is equally right in protesting against the act

So you are right And I am right, And all is right as right can be, as the Mikado hath it. Now let thee editor try and recon cile Free Will with Fore-ordination or tackle some hefty problem of that kind.

T"HE World, which is usually better informed than its con'emporaries on Government affairs, hints at the probability of the appointment of Hon. J. C. Patterson as Minister of the Interior in place of the incapable Dewduey. The change will be greatly to the credit of the Administration. The Ottawa Government has certainly done wisely in making a live paper like the World the medium through which information of their intentions is conveyed to the public, rather than the sleepy old Empire. In last Saturday's issue the latter concern announces that it has no knowledge of the Government's intentions on the Manitoba school matter-a rather singular confession for an alleged organ to make.

HE opinion seems to prevail in wellinformed circles that the demand of the Roman Catholichierarchy for "remedial legislation "in the matter of the Manitoba school law is simplyabluff, and that the real purpose of the move is to force a compromise by which large tracts of school lands held by the Dominion in trust for educational purposes would be handed over to the Catholic Church. Such a proposal ought not to be entertained for a moment. It is, if anything, worse than the imposition of a separate school law upon the Manitobans against their will. From such a measure, harsh and unjust as it would be, growing intelligence and the increased influence of the West would bring future reliefbut the lands once handed over would remain in the dead hand of the Church forever-and as they increased in value enable the hierarchy to levy a heavy tax upon the community for sectarian purposes.

THE experience of the difficulties and heart-burnings over the settlement of the Clergy Reserve question ought to be sufficient to prevent a repetition of the fatal mistake of endowing religious corporations with tracts of land. But in the present demoralized condition of public opinion and utter absence of anything resembling statesmanship or public spirit in the national councils, there is no outrage on sound legislative traditions, common sense or justice from which we are exempt so long as it happens to serve the purposes of a temporary and purblind party expediency. Some day, lowever, an awakening will come, and it will go very hard with the promoters and bencficiaries of land-grabbing schemes, whether religious or secular. deprecated by all good citizens, and if any agitation of the kind gains headway, the intriguing, grasping spirit manifested by the hierarchy in this Manitoba school matter will be mainly to blame. The discouraging feature of the situation is the subserviency of the Catholic laity to the dictates of the priesthood. In European countriessuch as France and Belgium-even in priest-ridden Italy, Spain and Austria, there are liberal and public-spirited Catholics who regard such questions as citizens, not as religionists, and stand as firmly against the encroachments of the Church as any Protestant. If such a class continues to be conspicuous for its absence in Canada, Protestants of progressive views may be driven, in selfdefence, to follow the advice of some of the speakers at the late Pan-Presbyterian conference and adopt as their motto " Put no Roman Catholics in public positions."

ITS FAR-REACHING INFLUENCE.

MRS. COBBLEDICK-"Oh, George, I wish you would not bring that horrid New York Herald into the house. Its influence on the children will be very bad. It's a most pernicious paper."

Cobbledick-" Well, perhaps you're right, my dear. Now I think of it, history records one famous elopement clearly traceable to its influence."

Mrs. Cobbledick-"Who was it, and when did it happen?"

Cobbledick-"Oh, a long time ago. Helen of Troy's faithlessness to her husband was no doubt due to daily hints from Paris.' "

A TALE FOR ALL TIME.

A MAN there was who loved a maid,
What need of names? Of course you know him ;
A maid there was who lored this man And did not shun her love to show him.

Another man there came one day And whispered love so sweetly worded,
The maiden changed-but why goon on The tale is old ; you ve often heard it.

For everywhere, and everywhen Maids love and change and gossips flout then, And everywhere and everywhen Men scribble rhymes like this about them.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

HE Crisis of a Party.' by Augustus Jacobson, is received from the publishers, F. J. Schulte & Co., Chicago. The first senrence, as follows, indicates its purpose: "If the Republican party is to continue to live, it must present to the people live popular issues." The writer deals with the problem of the growth of enormously large fortunes and the increase of pauperism owing to unjust social conditions, and urges the Republicans to grapple with the social question. His appeal is likely to fall on deaf ears. The Republican party-as well as the opposing faction-is controlled by the plutocrats, the struggle between them being merely a sham fight to keep the masses interested in false issues and stifle discussion of vital questions. As in Canada, the progressive men in either party are powerless against the machine. The

AT MONTREAL.
She-" Uncle, do you think there is any truth in 'sermons in stones,' and all that?"

UNCLE BOR-'"No, it's nonsense, aill nonsense. If there were any sermons in the stones of Montreal's streets they would probally preach of the heavenly rest that the street rippers and car company deny them here."
masses could easily, had they the sense and courage, effect a peaceful reform by the ballot-but unfortunately most of them are fools and cowards. It is altogether likely that the class war will increase in intensity till it culminates in the bloodiest revolution of modern times.

LIVING UP TO THE NAME.

THE Order of the Helping Hand is in difficulties. It is a mutual benefit concern, and the officials' hands appear to have been helping themselves to the contents of the treasury. So there is something in a name in this case.

A MODERN COVENANTOR'S TRIBULATIONS.

E'I us rejoice, my friends," said the pastor, "that we live in an age of civil and religious liberty, when all are free 10 worship as they see fit. How thankful should we be that such persecutions as were endured by the Corentaners are a thing of the past."
"Are they? That's all you know," said one of his auditors. "I'm a covenanter myse'f, and the blamed mortgagee has taken everything I own under an execution."

TOO GOOD FOR EARTH.

A MAIDEN fair, still in her teens.
A An impress high her visage bore;
In church she kept the text it mind.
But knew not what her neighbor wore.
But soon, ah soon ! the Reaper came, And mournfully they laid her loy;
Far too angelic for this earth, She found her level in the sley.

TALKED EACH OTHER TO DEATH.

MADE HIMSELF INDISPENSABLE.

DAISY TUTWILER-"Oh, dear, there's Mr. Slobore coming this evening, and I shall have to receive him. What a bother!"

Mrs. Tutwiler-" Can't you instruct Bidalia to say you are " not at home'?"

Dasisy-"Oh, mo, ma. That wouldn't be true, you know. And besides, he's the only young man on my list that is good for theatre-tickets and oyster stews, so I really must give him a little encouragement."

A FRIENDLY CALL.

ElLL, I declare, if that isn't Mrs. Busy just coming in at the gate: I'd like to know who asked her to come here, anyway The old fussy, I wish she'd learn enough manners to stay away from where she is not wanted. But that's not her way. She pokes her nose into everything and thinks so much of other people's affairs that she has no time to think of her own.
"Iou just ought to see that woman in church, thougt. It's perfectly ridiculous the way she acts. She looks behind and stares people in the face and giggles, no matter whether the minister is preaching or praying. I wish she would leave that hat of hers at home. It's such a perfect fright that I wonder at ber husband not burning it: but I guess he daren't. Pcople say that they quarrel fearfully. Mrs. Tell told me so this morning and I believe it. Any way, he never comes home earlier than half-past ten, and I'm sure it's not at work he is. I know,_—but here she is." (Enter Mrs. Buss).
"Good afternoon, Mrs. Busy. How are you to-day? Why, you are a perfect stranger these times. haven't called dear knows when. Called last week, did you say? Well, I never! So you did, come to think of it, but being alone all the time I feel a few days as long as an age. No, I am not alone either. I hare lots of calls from people I don't care anything about and would ten times rather be alone. - Dear me; I don't know how I could live here without you, Mrs. Busy; my other neigh bours are such an unsociable set.

Now there is Mrs. Spry. She's the most horrid woman I ever saw. The way she talks about her neighbours is perfectly shocking. She'd sit there and spin yarns by the dozen and not one of them true. If there is any scandal going the rounds she's the very first one to get hold of it, and I tell you it will be kept going. You'd think from what she says that there isn't an agreeable family in the whole place but her own, although she and her husband, the; say, quarrel awfully:
I called on her one day and there was Xrs. Spry on the sofa, crying herselfito slecp and the dining-room was

LANDLORD AND AGENT.

LaNDIORD -" 5 mm , do you think the tenants will stand a raise of half a dollar more on the acre for next year? Land is getting valuable, and we must have more rent."

Sam-"Well, I don't know. This vear has not been very favorable for cro:s, but probably we can squeeze them a little more. If they ton't want the land there are others who will be glad to get it even if we should put up the rent to $$ 6$ an acre."
all littered up with broken dishes and brushes and books and theirbest looking-glass broken in bits. And, mind you, the next time I saw Mr. Spry he had a piece of sticking-plaster on his left temple. Didn't that look like peace in the family? My, how thankful we ought to be who never have any quarrels !

What! going already? Well now, I'm so disappointed. I thought you were:going to stay all the evening and have a real good visit. It's such a comfort to have somebody worth while come to sec me after all those dreary gossips tiring me almost to death. Well, be sure and come again sonn Kiss little Dot for me when you get home. Good bye, thanks ever so nuch. (Mrs. Busy soes out.)
"Mercy! but how she slams the door! Thank goodness, I got rid of her at last. Such a woman for talking! She had the conversation all to herself; she fairly made me sick. I think I gave her some very broad hints, though, if she only had sense enough to understand. I can't abide these folks who are always talking and gossiping about their neighbors, and I think she's just about the worst. I must put Mrs. Spry on her guard against her, for it isn't right that such people should go round making trouble and scandalizing people behind their backs."

WHY IT CAME TO NOTFING.

HEY would have stood by the gats in the orthodox fashion to murnur their parting vows of never-dying affection and arrange the next time and place of meeting, only there wasn't any gate, and the front door opened right on the street. So they lingered under the maple tree at the street-corner, where the foliage partly excluded the rays of the clectric lamp and the gaze of a cold and heartless world. The abolition of gates and the secluded nooks and corners afforded by front gardens and fences is very rough on the rising generation. It is probably the principal reason why young men don't marry to the same extent as formerly.

They stood with clasped hands in silence. Then he whispered, "Oh, Ethel!", and she responded "Oh, Clarence!" Then their lips met in a rapturous embrace, and he twined his manly arms around her and clasped her to his throbbing bosom.
A measured tread upon the sidewalk announced the approach of a policeman, and they lapsed into aloofness and began an animated conversat on concerning the resplendency of the evening and the eloquence of Rev. Dr. Doodlebug's last sermon.

When the form of the nocturnal guardian was lost amid the shadows the former tableau was repeated.
"Now I really must go in, Clarence," said the maiden, striving to disengage herself from the mortgage-like tenacity of his stalwart grasp.
"But a moment longer, darling," said he. "Oh, to think that we shall be separated for, perchance, twentyfour hours, every moment of which will seem like an age." And he pressed his eager lips to her generous ear. "When and where shall we meet again?"
" Why can't you come to the house, Clarence? That will be the best way. It is getting too cold to meet outside."
"But-but-I can't see you alone there, you know, Ethel."
"Oh, yes, you can, Clarence. I'll arrange all that. Papa will be out most of the evening, and ma will let us have the parlor to ourselves."
"But if your father should come in suddenly and find us by ourselves, he might kick me out or set the dog on me, you know."
"Oh, you silly! Fancy pa kicking anybody out! And we haven't got any dog. Oh, no, Clarence. Pa likes you very well, and if he should be in I know he'll make no objection to your coming."
"Well, good-bye, Ethel. By the way, I'd forgot-I have some business to look after to-morrow evening that may perhaps prevent my coming, but I'll be up some time soon."
"Oh, Clarence! I didn't think you'd let anything keep you away from me. Why, what's the matter? Why are you suddenly grown so cold and indifferent?"
"Oh, no! you are mistaken. I could never be cold towards you. As I said, I'll come if I possibly can. Good-night."
"Good-night."
"So the old man evidently wants to get rid of her," soliloquized Clarence, as he ran to catch the trolley. "Won't make any objection to my calling! Willing to let me sit alone with her in the parlor, eh ? No kicking out! No bulldog! If they want to make things as easy for a fellow as that, I guess she ain't worth having. Guess I'd better go slow in this business. I'll call once or twice, just to let her down easy, but it'll have to stop there."
Thus, by an unwise departure from conventional observances, were two young hearts, which might otherwise have palpitated in unison, reft asunder, and the tender flowerets of affection, which alone shed perfume on life's arid pathway, nipped in the bud.

And Clarence missed his trolley by about ten seconds.

ONE MORE UNFORTUNATE.

Any feller that 'ud travel up behind yez
Wud have told you that your mus was off its base."
"What are the wild waies saying?" That's the query, yes, the whole day long ;
I've bsen plcading with the walers, and they tell me
They're afraid to take the burden of that song.
"We are mighty, and the indigestion never
On our gently heaving bosom caused a pain;
We've engalfed assorted cargoes, but will ever: Draw the line at that old Chestnut Belle's refrain."
"Come where my love lies dreamins." That's the Chestnut Belle's refrain, Which she screeches, while she ought to be a-seaming The pants her brother worked against the grain.
Mending pants, instead of panting on a platform, Seems to me would suit her constitution best;
While her lover, whom she's driven to the 'sylum, Lies a-dreaming of her screaming. Let him rest.
" Oh, Willic, ave have missed yor." What a blessing 'Twas poor little Willie got away in time.
When we meet, we'll have a little celelration
That will cost the lucky fellow but a dime.
How he struggled to escape, we nll can fancy; How he husiled, then, to get aboard the train Whistling softly, "Oh, my Little Annie Rooney, I am flying from the Chestnut Belle's refrain."
"'Tis yiars situce last we met." (Oh, what a corker !) "And wi nc'u may' mect again." (Oh, hide that smile !)
"I haie streugsted to forgit." Oh, softly tell her 'Twould sound better at some distance-say a mile.

Down beneath the weeping willow hetter slumber, That her struggle to forget be not in vain;
Let an encore be her pillow, and a requiem
The last number of that Chestnut Belle's refrain.

TO GRIP'S BOYS.

harky ash, markham,
Winuer of Camera, Sept. 3. 1Sgz.
THE winner of the Student Camera uffered to the boy who sold the largest number of Grips in any town during the week ending October 1, 1892, all previous prize winners bar. red, was Charlie Pettypiece, Forest, Ont., who sold 20 copies.
On receipt of his portrait we will send him the camcra.
The prize for the week ending October 15 th, is another Student Camera and complete outfit, to be given to the boy who sclls the most Grips during the week, all previous winners barred out.
This is the last prize of this series, but in albout two weeks we'll be able to announce the winners of the big prizes, and then we will put a new plan of rewards before our boys which we think will interest them.
The winner must in all cases send his photo or tintype before he can receive the prize awarded; from it we will make a cut for this column. V. R. Goudreau, Chatham, got the Rogers jack-knife, as his letter with remittance was opened first.

Another knife will be given to the boy whose letter with money and orders is opened first on Tuesday morning.

The list of prize winners is growing, and we'll know the winners of big prizes very shortly. This week the contest closes and then the big prizes will be awarded. There will be some great hustling until Saturday, but three boys will get them.
The picture which appeared last week was given as that of Doug. las Mode, of Vankleek IIIl, but owing to it being a poor cut no one could tell who it was. Douglas Mode's picture will appear again next week and we hope it will be better.

The base burner stose, the telephone and other improvements ot a like kind have worked a donestic and social revolution within the last few years. Among these improvements it is not unfair to include the "Myrtle Navy" tobacco. The great majority of men smoke tobacen ; have done so tor centuries past and will continue to du so. It is important, therefore, that they shoukd smoke the best quality of the article. That is what they are supplied with in the "Myrile Navy." All smokers who have used it knew that its thavor cannot be surpassed, th it its quality is always uniform, and that the only care they have to exercise in its purchase is to see that the trade mark T. & B. is stamped on the plug.

Those of our readers who are fond of shooting with shotgun, rille or revolver; who ricle a bicgele: who class themselves as fishermen; who fence, bos, play base ball, cricket or lawn tennis, or who indu'ge in any form of outing or field sports, should write Shootins and Fishing, of Boston, Mass., the old established sportsmen's jnurnal of New England, fir the remarkable Fall premium list they hare issued, a copy of which has just reached us.

Many a shonter would love to own a good gun or riffe but can'l afford it. They will not own a cheap gun, and they are not able to space the money for an expensive one. Shootings and firshing makes a present of as fine a gun, rife, or revolver as moncy can buy, on conditions which any bright young sportsman can easily comply with. On the same condi tions, it offers any one of the popular makes of bicycles (from the lowest to the highest priced), als, shoring coats, gun cascs, rille cases, pleasure and hunting boats, ammunition cases, fencing foils, liahing rods and reels, photographic camerns, hunting boots, boxing gloves, base ball, cricket, and lawn tennis outfits, and an hundred other raluable articles belonging to a sportsman's equipment.

We have seen many premium lists offered, but none so complete and generous in their conditions as the ones hefore us. The full list, with instructions as to how any of these handsome premiums may be obtained, without the cost of a dollar to the sports nan, will be mailed to any of our readers on application to Shooting and Fishing, $=0$ Devonshire sitreet, Boston, Mass. Our readers who write for the list will favor us by mentioning the name of our piper.

Electricity as Applied by the Owen Electric Belt and Appliances

Is now recognized as the greatest boon offered to suffering humanity. It has, doss, and will effect fering humanity, IT HAS, DOBS, AND witl efrect known means has failed. We give the most positive proof that rheumatism and nervous discases cannot proo that rreumatism and erervous discases cannot exist where it is thus applied, It is nature's remedy: exist where it is thus applied, it is natures remedy: By its stead will cure:
Rhewmatism Liver Complaint Bclatica Gomeral Dobility Lumbago
Nervous Diseases Dyspepsla
8oxual Woaknose
fomaid complainte
impotenoy
Kidney Difoneos Urinary Diseagee Lame Back Varicocte

REXUMATISM

It is certainly not pleasant to be compelled to reter to the indisputable fact that medical science has utterly failed to afford relief in rheumatic cases. We venture the assertion that although electricity has only been in use as a remedial agent for a few years, it has cured more ca, zs of Rheumatism than all other means combined. Some of our leading physicians, recognizing this fact, are availing themselves of this most potent of nature's forces.

To Restore Manhood and Momanhood

As man has not yet discovered all of Nature's laws for right living, it follows that everyone has committed more or less crrors which have left visible blemishes. To erase these evidences of past crrors, there is nothing known to medical science that will compare with Electricity as applicd by the Owen Elsctric Body Battery. Rest assured any doctor who would try to accomplish this by any kind of drugs is practising a most dangerous form of charlatanism.

We Challenge the World to show an Electric Belt where the current is under the control of the patient as completely as this. We can use the same Belt on an intant that we would on a giant, $\mathrm{b}_{j}$ simply reducine the number of cells. Other Belts have been in the market for five and ten years longer, but to-day there are more OwRN Belts manu factured than all other makes combined.
