Mr. Mignault said he was going in a hurry on account of sickness and produced certificates to show it. The Magistrate accepted this explanation. A. E. Blake was charged with allowing his car to stand in Haymarket square so as to obstruct pedestrians. Policeman Bettie said that the car, No. 3817, had been on the sidewalk and that pedestrians could not pass. CAUSE TO CURE A CAUSE MUST BE ADJUSTED FIRST

CHIROPRACTIC is based on fundamental, natural laws. The organs of the body are the motors, the nerves are power lines which carry vital energy or life to all parts of the body. Impingement or pinching of the nerves interferes with their life-carrying power and disease is the result. The chiropractor adjusts vertebrae and the impinged nerves are freed. The flow of life enters the part diseased, normal functions are resumed and health restored. The chiropractic way is Nature's way.

However, leaders of the party now realize that if the rank and file of the membership are not to be won over to the Communist standard in greater numbers, definite action must be taken.

Merchants Robbed By Turkish Bandits

Armenian Preacher, Held at Ellis Island, Describes Life in Aleppo.

New York, Aug. 11.—The Rev. Ephraim Jeranian from Marash and Badel Steian, student from Van, Armenia, who arrived as first cabin passengers on the Royal Mail liner Ohio from Cherbourg, were detained by the Immigration authorities because they had been born Turkish subjects and the quota for that country was exhausted last Thursday. Mr. Jeranian said that he was a clergyman and a school teacher and asserted that he could enter the United States under the exempt clause. Both he and his friend, the student, will be sent to Ellis Island with the 987 immigrants from the Ohio for further examination.

The minister said that for the past year up until three weeks ago he had been teaching school and preaching in Aleppo, which was filled to overflowing with refugees who had been driven from Armenia by the Turks. Before the war the population of the city had been about 200,000 and now, he said, it was approximately half a million.

"The Armenian refugees have brought their trades with them and work at carpet making, weaving, silk spinning, copper smelting and shoe making."

"Aleppo is under the rule of the French, but they do not have enough soldiers to protect the people outside the city from the Turkish bandits. The merchants send their goods to Alexandria, about a hundred miles away, by camel caravan because the freight rates are so high. If the armed guard is stronger than the bandits then the caravan goes through safely. If the bandits have superior strength they steal what things they may want and kill any person who resists them."

"The railway is in operation to Damascus and Beirut from Aleppo, but its rates are prohibitive to many of the people who travel in antiquated automobiles which were left in the desert after the war. All communication between Aleppo and Marash, Van and other places in Armenia has to be carried on by camel caravan."

"The railroad to Bagdad only goes as far as Djarabious, where the bridge

The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism

A remarkable book written by an authority who has spent more than 20 years of his life in study, research and experimentation in this distressing disease. One of the many new and startling facts which this distinguished writer clearly sets forth and proves is that Uric Acid never did and never can cause Rheumatism!—That Uric Acid is a natural and necessary part of our blood—found even in every new-born babe—and that without it we could not live!

Every sufferer of Rheumatism, Neuritis, Sciatica, Lumbago and associated disorders should read it. A limited edition is now being distributed free by the author and fortunately anyone sending name and address to H. P. Clearwater, Ph.D., 238-N Water St., Hallowell, Maine, U. S. A., will receive a copy of this valuable book by return mail, postage paid and entirely free of charge. If not a sufferer yourself cut out this notice and help some afflicted friend by handing it to him.

was destroyed three years ago and has not been repaired. There are a few Druse bandits on the Aleppo-Damascus caravan route, too.

"When I arrived in Beirut three weeks ago I saw the chief bandit of the Druses and several of his men hanged on a gallows near the watch tower for killing a Frenchman and his family on the road to Damascus and robbing them of their money and jewels."

"This has caused bad feeling between the Druses of Lebanon and the French officials in Beirut."

Mr. Jeranian, who speaks English and has relatives in New York, said that living was cheap in Aleppo, but that there was very little business being done.

Nineteen of the second cabin passengers on the Ohio from Hamburg, Cherbourg and Southampton were detained for various reasons and will be sent to Ellis Island today with the 987 in the steamer.

Victor Mason, convicted of the murder of three persons, will be hanged at Regina on August 16, the federal cabinet having declined to interfere with the sentence. The motive for the murders was robbery.

DEAD PRESIDENT IS LAID TO REST

In Presence of Great Throng Is Placed in Tomb Beside Mother.

Marion, Aug. 10.—Harding, of Ohio, in home tonight sleeping time away near the mother at whose knee his first childish dream of greatness was prattled.

Before his tomb, as the choir sang "Nearer My God to Thee," another tender, brave woman stood with aching heart looking at the sky. She stepped a moment into the vault, then turned away, brave to the last, she did not wait to see the iron gates close upon her dead.

Aside from the multitude that walked the long way from his father's home to the vault, and those others, closely packed to make a living setting for the funeral rites, there were not much to mark the ceremony as the burial of one who had held highest power in his grasp. There were the men in his guard from the sister services of the nation, the admirals and the generals, who formed his honor guard, the president and comrades who now is President in his steady, the colleagues of his cabinet. Otherwise the funeral service was that of a simple much-loved citizen of Ohio. Throng, whose number will never be known, passed beside his casket and looked their last upon the dead face.

From his father's house he went out again carried by the men who have stood constantly to guard a dead commander. No solemn music of bands or military pagant marked his going. In cars behind the simple barge came President Coolidge, members of the cabinet, the friends and clergy. There came too, Chief Justice Taft and General Pershing.

His Widow and His Father. Last to leave the house was Mrs. Harding, in black and with her veil drawn close, and just ahead of her walked the old father, his face plainly showing his grief. Through the silent face-walled street the cortege passed and around the corner to the quiet cemetery. As it came to the gates the guns spoke afar in honor. The vault stands, ivy-wrapped and set back into a gentle hill with a grave before it. So the funeral train was halted at a distance, and the casket carried to a resting place before the entrance of the tomb. Already a group of senators, who knew this dead President

President's Body Received In Vault Upon Arrival At Quiet Cemetery At Marion

THE LATE PRESIDENT'S SISTER, MRS. M. C. REMBERG, WHO ACCOMPANIED BODY ON SPECIAL TRAIN VAULT WHERE BODY WAS RECEIVED.

Marion, Ohio, Aug. 11.—The vault where the body of the late President Harding was received upon its arrival in Marion is shown in the accompanying photograph. The President's body will rest beside those of his mother and sister, Mary Clarissa. Two giant elms cast deep shadows over the two slabs of granite which mark these graves, to which another will soon be added. Situated at almost the exact center of the shallow expanse of the old burial ground, the Harding family plot lies cupped in a tiny valley.

CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM advertisement with image of a person using the balm.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION advertisement for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Washington, D. C.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation which a physician advised me to have for a very bad case of female trouble. My system was all run down for two years after my little girl was born. Then I read of your wonderful medicine and decided to try it. I could hardly drag one foot after the other, and after taking six bottles of the Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman. I now do all my housework, and I wash and iron, and do not know what real trouble is. My health is fine, and I weigh 140 pounds. When I started taking it I weighed 97 pounds. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman suffering from female trouble or is run down. You may use this testimonial for I am only too glad to let suffering women know what the Vegetable Compound did for me."—Mrs. LIDA HEWITT, 1229 Penna. Ave. S.E., Washington, D.C.

debt under the Capitol dome before he passed to the White House, across the great waiting in line across the roadway that runs in front of the entrance. With them stood the comrades of campaigning days, Ford, Edison and Firestone. The cabinet family came to stand close at the foot of the casket, with their new chief among them. The admirals, in gleaming white, lined the way to the left, the generals, to the right and beyond. Behind the cabinet stood the little party of intimates and friends.

Then came Dr. Harding and the brave widow, walking in her place at the right of the casket with Secretary Christian and the members of the family. Within the shadow of the doorway of the vault, the churchmen took their places and from the ambulatory that screened them the choir sang "Lead Kindly Light." The funeral programme for the late President today follows: Prayer at the home before the funeral cortege left for the cemetery. Dr. Walter A. King, of Columbus, former pastor of Trinity Baptist church, of which Mr. Harding was a member. Firing of presidential salutes of 21 guns as the hearse entered the cemetery. Song—"Lead Kindly Light," by Trinity church choir. Scripture reading—Rev. Geo. Landis, pastor of Trinity church. Prayer—Dr. Jesse Swang, pastor Epworth M. E. church, of which Mrs. Harding is a member. Song—"Nearer My God to Thee," by Trinity church choir. Benediction—W. F. Anderson, of Cincinnati, resident bishop of the M. E. church in Ohio.

HERE ON LONG HIKE Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Baxter arrived in the city yesterday, having completed 18,485 miles of a 50,000 mile round the world journey on foot. They commenced their walk from Washington on December 14, 1921, and expect to finish some time in 1928. Mr. Baxter's health being poor, a friend offered to give them a camping outfit and one cent, making them a proposition that if they walked around the world in seven years, there would be a $10,000 prize awaiting them on their return. They cannot solicit a lift, but may accept one when offered. Mr. Baxter has improved greatly in health and has increased in weight from 117 to 140 pounds, while Mrs. Baxter has gained twenty-one pounds.

Physician Explains Who Should Take Nuxated Iron

Practical Advice on How to Help Build Up Great Strength, Energy and Endurance

"Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life," says Dr. Emile Sauer, well known New England physician. "It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. I have stressed and emphasized the great necessity of physicians making blood examinations of their weak, anemic, run-down patients. Thousands of persons go on year after year suffering from physical weakness and a highly nervous condition due to lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpuscles without ever realizing the real cause of their trouble. Without iron in your blood your food merely passes through the body something like corn through an old mill with rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind."

ONE NEW CHURCH BUILT; WORK ON SECOND BEGUN; OTHERS RENOVATE

Activities on This Line in Various Parts of St. John.

A good deal of repair and renovation work is going on among churches of the city at present. Among the churches carrying on extensive work is the Central Baptist. Rev. James Dunlop, the energetic pastor of an energetic congregation is in Montreal, supplying in the Westmount Baptist church, during August, and in his absence this work is done. Both the interior and exterior of the edifice are receiving close attention. A careful inspection of the main walls has been made and defects remedied. The interior walls have been painted and tinted. The pews and woodwork have been revarnished, bringing back the natural tint of the wood, and adding to the general effect.

The strains of the organ will be sweeter, because of the work that is now in progress on the instrument. Capable workmen have the organ in hand. A modern baptismal font has been installed, the upholstery renewed and new carpets laid. The leaded glass in the windows has been given attention, greatly enhancing the beauty there.

To make the church more cozy than at present and to make the relationship between pastor and people more intimate, the pulpit and platform have been moved closer to the centre of the church. An addition to the choir loft has been made, thus making it possible to add to the number of the choir. The church has, in a word, received a thorough overhauling.

In connection with the church a very important factor is the Sunday school, and here again the people of the Central Baptist have not been found lacking.

ing. A dusty Sunday school has no attraction for the young, hence the work that has been accomplished in this direction. Paint has not been spared to make the Sunday School more attractive. The rooms are now all bright and airy.

The next most extensive work being carried on at present is the renovation of the exterior walls of the Queen Square Methodist. The mortar has been renewed in the places between the stones. The window casings have been re-set. The interior has not been neglected. The walls are to be repainted, and all interior decorations renovated.

Only recently the German street Baptist church was given a thorough inspection and all necessary repairs were effected. At the moment a new organ is being installed. It is the gift of a member of the congregation and is of the most modern construction. The back of the church is being renovated to make room for the larger organ and the repairs will cost approximately $5,000.

Within the last twelve months, Centenary Methodist church, located on the corner of the intersection of the main street and the interior repairs both to the interior and exterior. The roof was covered with slate, the interior repaired, electric fresh up, giving it a much more hospitable appearance.

New Churches.

In Victoria street, a beautiful church has been erected, and is now in use. The cost of the church is reported to have been in the vicinity of $20,000.

A new church is now in process of erection on the Haymarket Square. The excavating is being done at the present time on the next adjacent lot, and it is the intention of the finance committee to build the church, taking in both the new lot and the one on which the present church stands. The cost is to be in the vicinity of $35,000.

DIARRHOEA AND VOMITING DOUBLED UP WITH PAINS

If you are suddenly attacked with diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps or pains in the stomach, or any looseness of the bowels do not waste valuable time, but at once procure a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and see how quickly it will relieve you.

Ernest Morris, 3 Webb St., London, Ont., writes: "I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for what it has done for me.

Some time ago I took an awful violent cold, which was accompanied by diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and I really thought I was going to die.

My husband went to the drug store and got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry; he gave me four doses, at intervals, and my next day the diarrhoea had stopped and the pain was all gone too.

Now I will never be without Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Price 50c. a bottle; put up only in The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Poland Art Treasures Scattered in Russia Are Being Reclaimed

Delegation for Recovery Under Treaty of Riga Meeting Many Difficulties.

London, July 18.—(By Mail).—Since the signing of the treaty of Riga between Poland and Russia in 1921, Poland has been playing a sort of hunt-the-thimble game in Russia for her art treasures, says the Warsaw correspondent of "The London Times."

These treasures comprise libraries, pictures, tapestries, bronzes, bric-a-brac, and various art collections that were taken to Russia either in the days of the monarchy or during the war, owing to the German invasion of Poland. In addition to these historical and artistic objects, machinery evacuated from the Polish factories and rolling stock has to be returned and reparations made in gold.

The principle of restoration is established, but the intricate practice and tact have to be pitted against Soviet proscriptions and chicanery.

The Polish delegation concerned comprises sixty members, each expert in his own special subject, and is divided into nine sections. The property for which they are in search has been dispersed all over Russia, and it is no light task to follow up the scanty clues and to prove the original Polish ownership, opposed as the delegation is by every chance that passive resistance and bureaucracy can compass, and at the same time refute the charge of "economic espionage."

To make the task more difficult many of the collections have been scattered, and it is not whole libraries, but in many cases individual books or objects that are the subject of protracted negotiations. The experts have to wander far and wide, with bad communications, where they experience to the full the ignorance and power of the local Soviet officials who, owing to the centralized system of administration, are often unable to give the necessary reply to their inquiries. Having overcome these difficulties, the Extraordinary Commission for Combating Counter-Revolutionaries (Tcheka), the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Ministry of Public Works (Babbarin) and lastly, the customs authorities. All who give information as to the location of any objects are liable to be threatened with severe penalties.

Diamonds and precious stones were, by agreement, handed over in lieu of gold, but apart from the difference in valuation, a sufficiently difficult matter to assess, many of the stones offered were found to be false.

Modern Lear, Erstwhile 'King,' Dies In Workhouse

Ruled Bardsley Island for 30 Years Abducted for £100 and Turned Shepherd.

A king died in Pyllyhell workhouse this morning, writes a correspondent from Pyllyhell. "The London Daily Express."

The manner of his dying was surely the strangest royal passing the world has ever known. No courtiers watched his death, no privy council or cabinet waited in grief to order his affairs, no passing bell tolled, no minutage boomed. Yet he was, in his own thought, a king with title absolute.

His name was King John of Bardsley Island; the workhouse officials started and I really thought I was going to die.

Four years ago King John ruled in Bardsley Island, with a regal crown and pious sceptre. His kingdom lies in Carligan Bay, twenty miles from Pyllyhell workhouse. It is only two miles long and one mile broad, but the people there say that 20,000 saints are buried in its hallowed soil.

King John was the second monarch of the island. He succeeded his father, King John I, and occupied the throne for thirty years.

Then, so King John II, used to say, there was a revolt of his people, led by a stranger. He abdicated. The stranger paid him £100 for his palace. "He left the island for ever, and became a shepherd on the mainland."

There he learned the age-old lesson of kings. "Sheep are easier to rule than men," he said, speaking as King Lear might have said. "There is gratitude of beasts, but there is none of men. My

"HOLD on fellows! Keep some for me! Bet I could eat the whole box myself. Gee! I'm glad you brought it."

LET the boys and girls take a package of Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice along when they go swimming, or picking berries, or on a "hike." Their stomachs soon get hungry with the fresh air and the exercise. Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice are delicious tit-bits for between-meals.

Puffed Wheat is ideal for constant use in summer because while it is light, it is a properly-balanced food. It is always ready to serve at any meal, or between meals, in a variety of ways—with milk or cream, with fresh fruit, with ice cream, or just plain, or doused with melted butter.

Another "Spoonersism" which I think has been often repeated, but which may be new to some of your readers, occurred to me on the occasion when the Canon desired to inform his congregation that a certain place, Billerica, was distant from another place so many miles "as the crow flies." He first rendered it "as the fly cries," then, correcting himself, he stammered, "I should say, as the cry flows." Realizing that he had blundered again, he made one more attempt—"I mean, as the fly crows."

Letters To The Editor

MORE "SPOONERISMS."

To the Editor of The Times.

Dear Sir,—Following the collection of "Spoonersisms" appearing in "Thursday's Times," it occurred to me that one or two others as authentic as most, might prove interesting and perhaps amusing. The Rev. Maxwell Spooner, lately Archbishop of Maldstone and Vicar of Holy Trinity Church in the Kenish capital (where I officiated as organist for some years) was himself a member of the great Spooner family, famous for cricket and "Spoonersisms."

Canon Spooner at one time was hastening into the railway station to catch a train when he was met by a porter who knew him well. "Have you any luggage, Sir?" the porter asked. "Only two rags and a bug," replied the Canon.

His congregation were once amazed to hear the following proposition put to them by their Vicar in the pulpit: "My dear friends, you all know what it is to have a half-warmed fish in your bosom." It took some of his people a long time to realize that the Canon intended to speak of "a half-warmed wish."

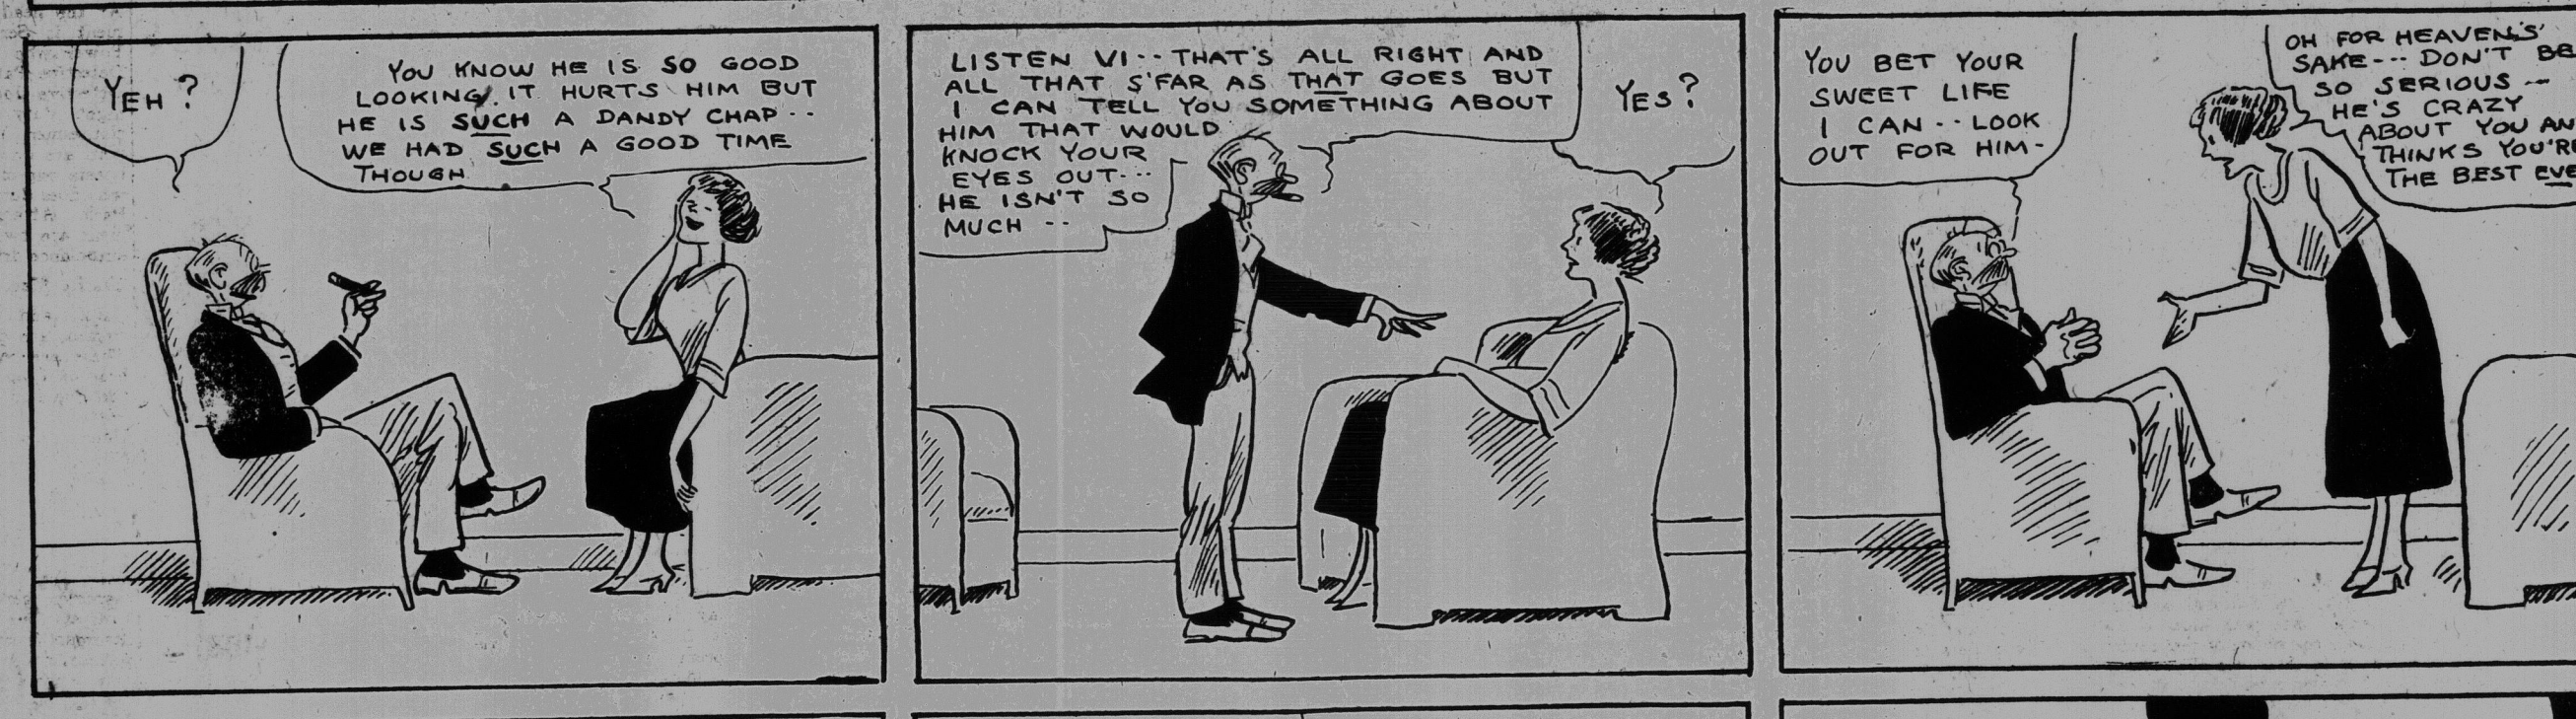

Another "Spoonersism" which I think has been often repeated, but which may be new to some of your readers, occurred to me on the occasion when the Canon desired to inform his congregation that a certain place, Billerica, was distant from another place so many miles "as the crow flies." A little more than twenty years ago when the writer was editor of the St. John Star, who was later absorbed by The Times, he received a call one day from Miss Mabel Peters. The promoter's call was to say she had observed that the Star was a strong advocate of playgrounds for children. She herself had been laboring in the Council of Women, writing letters to the press, and in other ways trying earnestly to draw the public to the attention of the need for playgrounds. There were still prejudices to overcome, and the ladies gave an exhibition of their criticism was not based on knowledge. We pass on, however, to the next great step in the movement. Miss Peters and her committee realized that the work they had undertaken was not a matter for the Council of Women, but for the whole city. They rejected to have been able to inaugurate the movement, but there was now need of a Playgrounds Association.

82, She Defies Police To See Funeral Train

Chicago, Aug. 11.—A little, stoop shouldered, gray haired woman was among the first arrivals at the Kinzie avenue station when the body of the late President Harding passed through, and refused to give up her position when the police attempted to clear a space on the platform. "I saw Lincoln's body lying in state," she said. "I have been here since 6 o'clock this morning and I'm not going to move for any policeman." She gave her name to the police as Mrs. Jane White, 82 years old. She was allowed to remain on the platform.

LONG BEATS POLICEMEN MUST GUARD

SYSTEM OF PATROL

Bond's Alley Dividing Line Between the North and South.

Meeting a lone policeman in the street late at night the pedestrian usually hurries by with a curt "Night Officer" and hastens to his warm bed. Very few stop to think of the responsibility which rests upon these blue-coated and brass-buttoned guardians of the civic peace on the system by which they are distributed about the city and the manner in which they police on their work.
Three Divisions.
For purposes of police protection the city is divided into three divisions: Southern, Northern and Western. The Southern Division takes in the main part of the city; the Northern Division includes the areas from Millville, Indiantown, Douglas avenue to the suspension bridge, over the Marsh road to the One Mile house, along Russell avenue to the line where the boundaries of the Southern Division meet; the Western Division takes in that part of the city on the western side of the suspension bridge, from the waterfront to City Line. The Southern Division is headed by Chief of Police John J. Smith. The Northern Division is headed by Chief of Police John J. Smith. The Western Division is headed by Chief of Police John J. Smith.
At the head of the department is the Commissioner of Public Safety, John Thornton. Next under him comes the Chief of Police, John J. Smith. There is an inspector, Thomas Caples, and next come the sergeants, Baxter, Rankin, Scott, McLeese, Sullivan, O'Neil and Spindley.
There are some forty-three patrolmen. At the head of the detective department is Sergeant-Detective John J. Smith. Next are the sergeants, Baxter, Rankin, Scott, McLeese, Sullivan, O'Neil and Spindley.

Famous Redheads of History Give Color To Superiority Claim

Popularity of Crimson Crown, However, Confined to Modern Times.

London, June 20.—(By Mail)—A celebrated professor has recently given a testimonial to red-haired boys and girls as being the most conspicuous and popular. His success, Henry VI, ruler who held Richard of England to ransom inherited this characteristic of his father.
"Red Horak, a Turkish pirate, born 1500 and his son, Khalid-Din-Barsanous, were both for a long time the scourge of the eastern Mediterranean. Desare Borgis, Catherine of Medici, William II and Elizabeth of England also belonged to the red-haired tribe. Did their strength of character confirm in advance Professor Pearson's statistical facts?
"Turning to literature, we find that the head of the miller in Chaucer's 'Canterbury Tales' was as red as a fox's fur; Becky Sharp had red hair; Thackeray also bestowed it on Major Bagshaw and one of the Miss Hogarty's, while the whippers of Arthur Pendennis were of a decidedly reddish hue. Collyer of Cleburne in Stevenson's 'Kidnapped' is referred to as red-headed, and in fiction of a lighter sort Captain Kettle and Tartarin of Tarascon are serio-comic 'ginger' heroes, and Miss Gwilt, the 'vamp' in Wilkie Collins' 'Armadale' dyes her hair red to achieve her fell purpose. Two of Dickens' super-dame, Ursula Heap and Fagin have red hair, as has the half-witted Barnaby Rudge.
"Most of these characters would do anything but popular, conscientious and hardy have agreed with Professor Pearson's theory, but there is a charming exception in Charles Reade's red-haired heroine, Margaret in 'The Cloister and the Hearth.' She is always lovable, is certainly connected with the Union depot; main street at Paradise road and Mill; and Main street at Douglas Avenue.
"The official complement of the police force and officials connected with it is as follows: Central or Southern division, Chief of Police, John J. Smith; clerk, City Court clerk, chief of police, inspector, sergeant detective, four sergeants, four traffic men, one mounted policeman, nineteen patrolmen, two ambulance drivers, two patrol drivers, one janitor; Northern Division, two sergeants, two traffic men and twelve patrolmen; Western Division, one sergeant and three patrolmen.
"Each member of the force is allowed two weeks' vacation after he has been attached a year. Traffic men are on duty eight hours a day and all the men, including the sergeants, are on duty nine hours.
The Bests.
The divisions are divided into beats and each patrolman is assigned a beat. He is responsible for the maintenance of law and order on his beat. The night men are required to devote attention to the busier parts of the beat until eleven o'clock in the evening. Between eleven and twelve o'clock they must try all the doors of all the business houses on the beat and patrol the quieter sections. They must try the doors again between three and four in the morning and if they find any open must notify the proprietor of the premises or one of his employees. The patrolman receives a visit from his sergeant three times through the night and the sergeant keeps a record of the time and place at which he found the patrolman. Inspector Caples has general supervision of the force at night.
"Thus it is that St. John is protected from criminals and mischief-makers. The policeman is out in all kinds of weather, winter and summer, day and night, sunshine and rain. The remuneration is not princely and the duties are very trying at times. A little consolation on the part of those who owe the safety of their property and, in some cases, their life and limb, to the police will do much to make the path of the "cop" the brighter, even at night.
Tenders for the bankrupt estate of the Fowler Spring Company on City road were closed yesterday at room and were received at the office of the authorized trustee, The Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation. The tenders will be considered and dealt with on Monday afternoon at a meeting of the trustees and the appointed inspectors.

Geddes Sees Dismal British Trade Future

London, July 24.—(A. P. by Mail)—"I put the settlement of the European situation first and foremost of all measures which call for attention in the improvement of trade and the reduction of unemployment in this country," said Sir Eric Geddes, director of the minister and economic authority, addressing the Bradford Branch of the Federation of British Industries the other day.
"The general upward trend of trade," continued the speaker, "is checked because of the disturbed condition of Europe, and while I have fair reason to hope for an upward trend in the cycle of trade, I can at present see nothing but sickness when I look for a resumption of the upward progression in the general level of trade shown during the last century.
"Our unemployment is caused by the state of Europe. The working, trading and banking community of the country cannot too insistently bring before the Government the conviction that the great problems of this country would meet as best before the sun if a stabilized condition could be brought about in Europe.
"Not only can Germany not purchase from us, but Italy prefers to purchase from Germany because German cost of production is much lower owing to her depreciated currency. And it does not stop there. India cannot purchase from us because Germany cannot purchase India's products, and so throughout the world.
"As proof that England still lagged behind America in the efficiency of her factory operatives, Sir Eric said that while English hands did no more work than they did some years ago, in America there had been an all-round improvement of fifteen per cent. in the efficiency of factory workers.
Ladies of Baxter Lodge, L. O. B. A., enjoyed an outing at MacLaren's Beach yesterday afternoon and evening. Mrs. J. M. Chapell, of Fredericton, was present and was enthusiastic concerning the scenery of the locality.

EVER WONDER HOW FIRE CHIEF AND DRIVER MEET WHEN BELLS CLANG?

It's an Object Lesson in Time Saving and Efficiency.

Probably few people realize the demands which the position of Chief of the St. John Fire Department make upon a man, but a few minutes' conversation one day this week with Chief George Blake made a reporter for the Times open his eyes. The Chief was in the North End, what provision have you for getting in touch with him at the earliest possible moment?
To this the Chief replied, "The driver of my car has no business in the North End for the car if I am here. He is in constant touch with me. I know every minute where he is, and he knows every minute where I am."
The Chief has a large bell in his office in German street, which rings simultaneously with the fire bells and gives him the location of the fire. Frank Purling, the driver of his car, comes directly to his office for him.

MOTORS
And Their Care

Practical Suggestions for Insuring the Longevity of the Car.

After Every 1,000 Miles.
Lubricate steering gear, universal joints and brake linkages.
Tighten bolts and nuts, such as springs, clips and body bolts, and replace missing cotter pins.
Wipe out collection of carbon dust in the ignition distributor and carefully oil the circuit breaker directly beneath.
Tighten or replace worn clips on demountable rims, and have badly worn or cut tires replaced, as they may blow out and cause a back skid.
Inspect brakes. Jack up the rear axle and test the clearance of the bands. The lining should be free from oil, dirt and grease, and the bands so adjusted as to give the brakes an even, steady and certain application.

The Art of Driving.
The good motorist is always looking for new methods that he can apply to his own driving. He learns how to drive with safety over strange roads, how best to make both right and left turns in the country as well as in the city, how to approach the tops of hills, how to negotiate sand and mud, how safely to pass vehicles going in the same direction and how to meet those approaching him. These are but a few of the things which a driver can do in the common way or the expert way. If he does them in the expert way, he is an efficient driver. Not only is he getting the most out of his car, but he is being the easiest on his car. And at the same time, he is driving safely and not endangering his life and the lives of his passengers, as well as the lives of other motorists and pedestrians.

Progressive Tightening.
In tightening opposed nuts, such as those holding the bearing caps in place, one nut should be drawn up a little and then the opposite one tightened a little. It is wrong to tighten one nut fully and then proceed with the other.

FORD RUNS 57 MILES ON GALLON OF GASOLINE

A new automatic Vaporizer and De-carbonizer, which in actual test has increased the power and mileage of Ford's from 25 to 50 per cent, and at the same time removed every particle of carbon from the cylinders is the proud achievement of John A. Strossky, 3978 South Main street, Pukwana, South Dakota. A remarkable feature of this simple and inexpensive device is that its action is governed entirely by the motor. It is slipped between the carburetor and intake manifold and can be installed by anyone in five minutes without drilling or tapping. With it attached Ford cars have made from 40 to 57 miles on one gallon of gasoline. Mr. Strossky wants to place a few of these devices on cars in this territory and has a very liberal offer to make to anyone who is able to handle the business which is sure to be created wherever this marvelous little device is demonstrated. If you want to try one entirely at his risk, send him your name and address today.—Adv.

Saved tires pay for Hasslers

BUMPI! Up goes your car! Whizz-z-z-z—then a sudden, arresting grip of the whole car with its momentum against the road again—and an awful wrench on your tires! Thousands of times a year—often more than you think—your tires take this punishment besides jars, jolts, vibrations and the bumps unavoidable in everyday traffic.

Do you wonder the best of tires give way too soon!

HASSLER Shock Absorbers
Made in Canada

Put on Hasslers and the wheels will just roll over the bumps! They stick to the road. Hasslers, not your tires, stand the punishments. They absorb and dissipate not only the rebound shocks, but add resiliency and also prevent side sway, saving tires.

On tires alone you soon save the cost of Hasslers, not to mention saved gas and fewer repairs. They also save the car.

You're paying the price of Hasslers now in unnecessary tire expense—why not have them! Your dealer knows these Hassler facts.

A Spark Plug Suggestion.

To prevent compression leaks, it is as this method tends to spring the metal and cause poor contact.

Importance of Uniform Tires.

Tires of different sizes will unbalance a car slightly and make steering difficult. The tires in the rear should be the same size, just as they should be the same diameter on the front. The cord tire is about an inch larger than the fabric tire of the same size.

Concerning Rivets.

The question as to whether rivets should be set while hot or cold depends greatly upon the work which they are to do. For fenders or such parts, cold riveting will do, but for more important parts, such as frame units, a hot riveting will give the best results.

An Emergency Patch.

Ordinary tire tape may be used to patch inner tubes by running it twice around the tube and overlapping the ends so as to cover the leak. Adhesive plaster may be used in the same way, in an emergency.

Carburetor Efficiency.

To avoid the possibility of the stoppage of the flow of fuel in the carburetor, it is well to drain the carburetor float chamber to remove all the water and sediment that may have collected during the past months for service.

A faulty spark-plug can be determined by short-circuiting it with a screwdriver.

If the engine slows down during this test, it is a live plug. If it does not slow down, the cylinder is not firing.

When driving at night a motorist should not stop to pick up a tire or any other article seen on the highway.

This may be a trap and a gang of hold-ups may be hiding close by.

Draining the crankcase is done to the best advantage immediately after a run, when the engine is warm and the oil is thin.

Rabbit metal is usually reamed dry, though there are times when kerosene will prove beneficial.

It is necessary to depress the clutch pedal when applying dressing or cleaning the friction surfaces.

A rigid shaft will bind unless the alignment is perfect and provision is made to prevent frame deflection.

When timing the ignition of an engine, it is necessary to know when the piston reaches the top of the stroke.

A tire with low air pressure creates friction and causes the car to slow up.

Snow.

One steam shovel and three five-ton trucks remove as much snow as can be handled by 50 men and 10 teams, according to Engineering News-Record. The man-power method cost $245, the mechanical way $127, last winter in Hartford, Conn.

When machinery can do for $127 the work that costs $266 when performed chiefly by human labor, men naturally are out of jobs. But they soon find new ones.

Labor-saving machinery temporarily injures the people whose jobs it takes. But the man-power thus released becomes available for effort in new fields. This is the process by which our standard of living gradually rises.

control, this promise would, we are certain, take the form of instant legislation. The Verdict of 81,880 Buyers

During the first six months of this year, 81,880 buyers named STUDEBAKER as their choice of motor cars. This volume of business was the largest ever accomplished during any six months' period in Studebaker's history of 71 years.

Sentiment did not influence the preference of these eighty-one thousand buyers. It was simply a case of selecting the car that offered the highest quality and value.

Thousands of buyers are daily turning to the Studebaker Light-Six, for example. At its price of $1395, this car offers the greatest motor car value on the market and a type of six-cylinder performance that was formerly confined to the very highest priced cars. Extensive manufacturing facilities, large scale production and the elimination of middlemen's profits through complete manufacture in Studebaker's own plants, make possible in the Light-Six, the combination of high quality and low price.

To be able to buy a Six, practically free from vibration, quiet operation and can be throttled down to a walking pace in high gear. It is easy to drive, convenient to park, takes the hills on high and holds sustained speed over long stretches hour after hour.

Stop in and let us prove what a vast difference there is between the Light-Six and other cars at about the same price—or between the Light-Six and cars of other makes costing several hundred dollars more. There's a reason for that difference. It's worth knowing.

GODS OF OLYMPUS STIRRED BY VULCAN

Surprises Colleagues With Jazz Music and News from New World.

(N. Y. Times)

For a week there had been an unsolvable mystery on Olympus, Jupiter, the all powerful, was as much in the dark as the lesser gods and goddesses. Vulcan alone held the key, and he avoided questions by keeping to himself in his stately apartment in the palace. Usually when he was busy there the mighty blows he dealt the metal on his anvil reverberated through the halls above, but now there came only faint tinkering and tappings as if he were fashioning some trifling trinket. The gods were curious, vexed and even a little nervous.

"What is he doing, Venus?" Jupiter asked the most beautiful mate of the homeliest of the immortals. "His wife ought to know. Is he making a new weapon for Mars or a new girder for you?" "I can't get a thing out of him faster," replied Venus. "Why do we go to bed and try to pump him into his grunts, rolls over and goes to sleep. He isn't doing anything for me," said Mars. "I have all the tools I need for the petty hickering that are now engaging my attention."

"He's neglecting his regular work, that's certain," said Jupiter. "He hasn't delivered his full quota of thunderbolts for weeks, and the few he has turned out won't make as much noise as a bowling alley. And why he falls down below complaining of a dry summer too! I wonder if he is sequestering some of my choice volleys?" "Somebody," stormed Apollo, "has stolen all my spare lyre wires."

"Perhaps he's making a home brew still," suggested Bacchus. "He asked me what the longest war anything could give Neptune." "He's up to something," remarked Mercury. "I was taking the other day and saw him on the roof making measurements. He acted as if he was figuring on putting up a flagpole."

Even Cupid is worried. "I caught him prying under the baseboards and picture moldings in the great hall," was Minerva's contribution. "I heard him muttering, 'where can I ground here?' piped up Juno. "He's going to buy some more." "And he is in a state of apoplexy," pointed Venus. "The moment he hears those funny noises he calls singing and the next he is swearing like a galley slave."

those radio receivers we've been hearing about, a development of wireless telegraphy and the wireless telephone. Gives you all the news from mortal earth right up to the minute. You just put this cup over an ear and you hear a sermon, a concert, a home run, a play of a political campaign speech. But we are so many miles away from New York that I had to use up all your lightning juice to hitch up with the sending station. Now, each one of you put on one of these headpieces and listen.

Curiosity, incredulity and a touch of fear played on the faces of the gods as they followed his instructions. "Why didn't I call that man Franklin in the first place?" muttered Jupiter. "Talk about stealing my thunder! What do you call this?" "After a few seconds there was a medley of indistinguishable sounds in the ears of the listeners. Then all heard clearly, 'Everlasting Chewing Gum—High 20 3-8; low, 18 1-2; close, 19 3-4; set change, plus 3-8.' "What might that be?" inquired Jupiter.

"That's a new version of the old yarn about Jason and the Argonauts, recalled Vulcan. "Remember, they went after the Golden Fleece. Now they call it the Wall Street Report." "Jupiter Hears Old Stuff." "Give us some more of that," shouted Pluto. "Hold your horses," broke in Mercury. "Just because you're the God of Wealth you aren't entitled to the whole show. Give us that Giant's score by innings. Say, Apollo, if this contraption works we can start that baseball pool. I'll pick the Yanks."

A grin of mischievous delight spread over Vulcan's face as he pushed the dial over and announced, "Here's ANOTHER broadcasting a lecture on 'The Scandals of Olympus.' Jupiter and Juno flushed and looked uneasy while the rest chuckled under their breath and nudged one another. "Jupiter," began the lecturer, "was much inclined to stray from the halls of Olympus, and forgetting Juno, plunderer with mortal maidens. He wooed them under various disguises—there was the famous case of Leda and the Swan and the notorious abduction of Europa by the White Bull. Juno, while of an unusually jealous disposition, refused to divorce Jupiter, and took her revenge by changing the unfortunate damsel who succumbed to the blandishments of her spouse into animals. For example, there was Io, who was changed into a heifer and pursued by a stinging gadfly."

Simultaneously Jupiter and Juno tore the headpieces off, the former's brow beetling with rage and the latter spluttering incoherently. Jupiter raised his threatening arm toward Vulcan. "Stop that at once," he commanded. "Oh, for a thunderbolt!" "Well, here's the weather report," temporized Vulcan. "Boreas will like that. It tells just what brand of wind he's going to give them tomorrow."

"Now, that is just what I am going to give them," exploded Boreas as he listened. "How did they know it?" "Smart chaps, these mortals of 1923," replied Vulcan. "How would you like to hear the tragedies of Sophocles? Remember how we used to disguise ourselves as mortals and slip into the theatre? Recollect the premiere of 'Oedipus Rex' and the lambasting the critics gave to it the next day? I can give you that, or 'Medea at Colonus,' 'Antigone,' 'Ajax,' 'Electra,' 'Trachiniae' and 'Philoctetes.'"

"I've heard there's a new kind of pipe, called a saxophone," said Pan. "Any chance of hearing one?" "Easiest thing in the world," cried Vulcan. "WHIAM is sending out the best Basco Brothers right now. You'll hear 'em in a trice they were 'Great.' Chorus of Pan. "I must order a few of those for those four shepherds. They're throwing their pipes away, and are talking about higher wages, forty-hour weeks and strikes. A few saxophones will keep them quiet."

The inability of the Chinese Government to catch the culprits in the recent bandit outrages is but an example of the situation. It is always possible for a criminal to escape into the interior where he can never be traced. This difficulty is closely bound up with the ancient Chinese principle of the responsibility of an individual family for the actions of any individual member. This responsibility holds even to the execution of the death penalty."

FRICITION ALLEGED ON KENYA QUESTION

India Office Explains Winterton's Refusal to See Sastri

(Canadian Press Cable) London, Aug. 10.—The Daily Herald, the Labour organ, alleges that there has been friction between the India officials and Servinava Sastri, chief of the Indian delegation at the recent conference in London on the Kenya question. As a result of Sastri's rejection of Government decision of the Kenya matter, Peel, Secretary of State for India, apologized to Sastri for the refusal of Earl Winterton, Under-Secretary to the India Office, to see Sastri when he made a courtesy call at the India Office prior to his departure for home. The India officials issued a statement today which admits that Earl Winterton refused to see Sastri and says the reason was that Winterton felt that it would place both Sastri and himself in an embarrassing position, in view of Sastri's very strong comments on the Government's decision in the Kenya case, if they met for discussion without Sastri having had an opportunity of seeing Viscount Peel.

JUSTICE IN CHINA TOO HIGH FOR POOR

Italian Lawyer in Its Courts Explains Need for Extra Territoriality.

Whatever may be the impression of diplomatic authorities, all European lawyers in China are agreed on the absolute impossibility of the abolition of extraterritoriality, at least for the time being, according to Dr. Lodovico Magistretti, Milan, Italy, who maintains legal offices in Peking and Tientsin. Dr. Magistretti, who was here en route to Italy, has practiced law in Chinese, British, French, Italian and American courts. "The reason that extraterritoriality must stay," said Dr. Magistretti, "is that the difference in point of view is so great that the Chinese Judges cannot grasp European principles of trade and law. There is not one single procedure in a European court which finds its counterpart in Chinese courts. For example, there are no fixed laws in China for the Chinese. There are a code once written, but as the Parliament failed to pass it there is no law but a set of customs to guide the Judge. The result is that each case is made a special one."

"Legal action is very slow. The three degrees of jurisdiction take a minimum of three years and are extremely expensive, a lawyer requiring 150 taels or about $115 a hearing, which puts justice entirely out of the reach of the lower classes, especially as the plaintiff

Old Suffolk Is In Business Once More

Noted Boston Boxing Club, Dormant Years, Is Reorganized.

The Old Suffolk A. A. of Roxbury has obtained a license again to conduct boxing. The club, one of the oldest in that part of the country passed out of sight a few years ago, but some of the old members always maintained a meeting place, Billy Canby, who has been the club secretary for years, will assume his old duties under the reorganization. In view of the fact that the club quarters are not large enough to accommodate big crowds, the boxing shows will be held in the Boston Arena and the first show will be staged Aug. 15.

Tom Goodwin, former matchmaker of the Arena A. C., will fill a similar capacity for the Suffolk Club. Goodwin plans to bring to a head the much middleweight Yued that involves Pat McCarthy, Hambone Kelly and Pal Reed. McCarthy and Reed will appear in the feature event in one of four 10-round contests ushering in the club's reopening in the fistic field, and Kelly will meet the winner at the succeeding show. The other three 10-round bouts will be announced as quickly as Goodwin receives the contracts from the club has opened an office at 809 Washington street, room 20.

Nee Meets Friedman. Abe Friedman, the New England bantamweight champion will put his title at stake in a meeting with Tommy Nee of South Boston at the Arena A. C. in the Boston Arena, Aug. 20. The rapid manner in which Nee has advanced during the past year has revived interest in the little men's class. Local fans have always demonstrated interest in contests between the little fellows, but the lack of talent of sufficient class to drap the top rung on the ladder of pugilistic fame retarded progress in the bantamweight ranks locally. Since Friedman and Nee came to the front conditions have developed for the better. Friedman's good showing against Pancho Villa under conditions that were anything but favorable, and Nee's exhibition in his contests with Henry Ford have helped to convince the fans that the boys are classy fighters.

Nee entertains the idea that he would like to tackle the very best in his class. In meeting Friedman it will afford the fans a chance to determine whether the South Boston man is qualified to

HAILS POLICEMAN M'GUIRE AS NEW SENSATION OF THE ROWING WORLD

Baltimore Writer's Report on His Race With Hilton Belyea.

The Baltimore Sun of last Sunday, commenting on the victory of Edward McGuire of the Mutual Rowing Club of Buffalo, at the National Regatta, says that his feat will not soon be forgotten by rowing devotees. The writer contended that there was nothing fluky about his sensational performance especially as he was pitted against such men as Paul Costello, the champion, and the internationally famed Canadian, Hilton A. Belyea. He furthermore asserted that the presence of these famous oarsmen did not detract from the new champion the slightest nervousness. McGuire is a policeman. A description of the race follows: "Rowing a beautiful, smooth and powerful stroke, he was in front or within less than a length of the leader all the way. And he had in reserve for the final dash more than enough to enable him to gain a fairly easy victory over his nearest rival Belyea. "While it is practically certain that Costello could not have retained his laurels under any conditions against the new sensation of the rowing world, it will be interesting to rowing fans to know that Costello effectually put himself out of the running when he struck with his oar one of the making flags about midway between the starting point and Hanover street bridge. "Belyea quickened his stroke 200 yards from the bridge and gained approximately a half-length on McGuire. But as soon as they struck open water on the other side McGuire let his link and two and in a few strokes had forged up on even terms. "They were opposite the Ariel pier when the St. John sculler began to show signs of willing under the terrific strain. His oars failed to catch the water properly and the rough water that now prevailed was troubling him. A half-length and then three-quarters, the Buffalo man forged ahead. "Belyea was hanging on grimly, but only his courage was keeping him in the running. For about 20 yards there was no perceptible change in the relative positions. Then McGuire again began gradually to forge forward until at the finish there was open water between the shells. "Belyea collapsed after crossing the line, and it was several minutes before he was able to bring his shell back to the Ariel float. Costello finished about six lengths behind the winner."

A Wild Afternoon

Boston, Aug. 11.—One fan in the grand stand recently had a wild, wild afternoon. In the sixth inning with the Yankees behind by two runs and Ruth at the bat, this fan fell fast asleep. Head on his folded arms, he slumbered peacefully on the back of a bench and the proceedings on the field meant nothing to him whatever. Ruth crashed the ball down the first base line a mile a minute, and Schindler, grabbing in self-defense, made a phenomenal stop. A sailor sitting next to the "Who grabbed what?" demanded the sleeper to stop. "D'ye see that stop! Oh, boy, some grab!" "Schindler grabbed Ruth's drive. Some stop!" exclaimed the enthusiastic sailor. "What of it! Lemme sleep," replied the fan in surly tones.

ROTHESAY WINS TENNIS HONORS

N. B. Champions-All Members of the Club There.

The finals in the sixteenth annual New Brunswick tennis tournament, which was concluded at Sackville yesterday produced some thrilling contests. As a result of the play the champions for 1923 are as follows: Men's singles, George Hudson; ladies' singles, Miss M. McVey; mixed doubles, George Hudson and Jack Thomson. All of the champions are members of the Rothesay Tennis Club. A large audience gathered for the finals in the men's doubles. George Hudson and Jack Thomson, of Rothesay, defeated W. T. Wood and H. Bigelow, of Sackville, in five gruelling sets. It was undoubtedly the best and most exciting match of the tournament. It was really a case of two young tigers with a smashing attack pitted against two crafty veterans of the court. The sympathy of the spectators was with the Sackville team as these two players have providing thrilling matches for years and are the most popular pair in a tournament. The first set was won by Thomson and Hudson, 6-2. They seemed to have their opponents completely bewildered. Many were of the opinion that they would walk away with the match in three straight sets. But Wood and Bigelow struck their famous stride in the second set and downed the youth to pair 6-4. In this set, they changed their style of play and both resorted to the crushing net game. In the third set, Hudson and Thomson took three straight games and Wood and Bigelow captured the next three. The fourth set was won by the youthful pair 6 to 4. Wood and Bigelow again turned the tables and won the fourth set, 6 to 4. This was the best set of the match. The Sackville team won the first three games, then lost one, but took the next two, making the score 5 to 1. Then Hudson and Thomson took three straight and the excitement was intense as it appeared to many that the Rothesay team would win the match then and there. Thomson was serving and all who know his crushing service expected him to win the game. It was a thriller, but Woods and Bigelow, rising to great heights, won the game and set. The veterans were firing noticeably, but the youthful pace set hardly warmed up Hudson and Thomson and they took the deciding set by 6 to 2. Every game went to decide several times keeping the large crowd on edge until the deciding point was played. After they had been served in the University, the mixed doubles final was played. George Hudson and Miss Muriel Davies defeated Mr. Wood and W. H. McKel 6 to 1 and 6 to 2. They easily outclassed the Sackville team. George Holly spoke of the wonderful reception given the visitors by the Sackville people and moved a vote of thanks on behalf of the players. He then called on W. T. Wood, president of the Provincial Tennis Association, to present the cups. Mr. Wood then presented the ladies' singles cup to Miss M. Davies; the men's singles cup to George Hudson; the ladies' doubles cup both to Miss M. Davies in the absence of Miss Doreen McVey. The mixed doubles cups to Miss M. Davies and George Hudson and the junior singles cups to George Holly for Jack Frith. Mr. Wood said he was very sorry that Sackville could win no silverware, which remark drew a long laugh from the spectators. The players were entertained last night by the Amherst Golf Club at a dance.

Walter Johnson Admits He's Slipping But Blames Legs Instead of Arm

Washington, Aug. 10.—Is Walter Johnson going back?

Walter admits it himself, so there can be no doubt about it. At times, Johnson looks as good as ever, but his pitching lacks the old consistency that made him the greatest pitcher of his day. Johnson has been pitching in the American League since 1907. He has always been on a losing team, never with a great club. As a result, in order to win, he invariably was forced to press his pitching to the limit. When a star pitcher begins to go he has a chance for the championship of an ailing arm. Listen to what Johnson has to say on this point: "Of course, I am not as good as I was 10 or 15 years ago. Age tells in baseball quicker than in any other sport. "I'm going back, and I know it better than I do. It may surprise you, however, to know that I figure it is my legs not my throwing arm that troubles me most. "Unless a pitcher's legs are strong and able to stand up under the constant strain of striding on every ball pitched, he can't get his stuff on the ball. "My legs are far more troublesome than my arm. Some days they seem too weak to support my body after I have gone four or five innings at top speed. "Umpires and batters tell me after certain games that I have aged as much as ever. In those games my legs have always felt strong. It's a pair of weak legs rather than an ailing arm that is robbing me of much of my old-time speed."

WALTER JOHNSON.

McBRIDE, HERO OF A DRAW WITH JOE GANS, FALLS DEAD

Danny McBride, who fought a twenty round draw with Joe Gans in 1909, fell dead of heart disease while walking in East Fifteenth street New York on Wednesday. He had been elected recently in the Park Department. He was 40 years old. He was a star lightweight of the old Broadway Club ring for many years and at one time was thought to have a chance for the championship. He was said to be one of the hardest men in the ring to knock out. His career came to an end when blood poisoning set in after he had broken the knuckles of his right hand in one of his fights. Two of his fingers had to be amputated at that time.

AT EAST END

Customs Team Victorious Over Water Department Players. The Customs team, of the Civic and Civil Service League, defeated the Water Department team in a postponed league game on the East End grounds, last night, by a score of 16 to 2. This makes the first defeat in the second series of the Water Department team. Colohan struck out seven men. The box score and summary follows:

JACK JOHNSON TO FIGHT SPALLA ON SEPTEMBER 6

Boston, Aug. 11.—It has been definitely settled that Jack Johnson, the former heavyweight champion will mingle with Ezrinio Spalla, the Italian heavyweight champion, in a scheduled twelve round contest to be decided at Dreamland Park in Newark on September 6. The match has been put back from August 30 to give Spalla more time to get into shape for the fray. Nick Cline, manager of Spalla, received a cable from his protégé from Milan, Italy, where he boxes this week, stating that he intends to sail immediately after that battle, and can be expected here within two weeks. Cline quickly got in touch with the Dreamland Park promoters and agreed on September 6 as the new date for the battle. This bout will mark Johnson's first competitive appearance in his country since his battle with Jim Flynn, the Pueblo freeman at Las Vegas, N. M., on July 4, 1912.

COOMBS AGAIN TO COACH AT WILLIAMS

Williamstown, Aug. 11.—Williams College will again have Jack Coombs, former big league pitcher, as baseball coach next season. His services have been secured to take charge of the purple nine for another season. Coombs has coached Williams for the past three years and he turned out strong results in the past decade last spring. Coombs is manager of the Kennebunkport team in Maine this summer. Fanaticism obliterated the feelings of humanity.

MILLIDGEVILLE RACES LIKELY CLUB REGATTA; NOT CHAMPIONSHIPS

Question of Lack of Four Oared Crews in This Vicinity

There is every prospect of the Millidgeville Outing Association today requesting the withdrawal of the application for the Maritime Amateur Rowing Championships, to be held on the Millidgeville course on Aug. 28, and a club regatta will be held instead. The Millidgeville Club was in earnest in making their request for the grant and the New Brunswick members of the executive voted that they be given the sanction from the Maritime body as it was New Brunswick's turn this season. Harry Ervin, the secretary for New Brunswick, received a wire from R. T. MacLennan, of Halifax, yesterday to the effect that the Maritime Association was ready to vote the championships to St. John provided the clubs here would guarantee the expense of sending eight four-oared crews with spare men and attendants to St. John to race against one another was hardly justified when the championship could be settled in Halifax without such cost. If there would be reasonable competition by New Brunswick four-oared crews the position would be different. The secretary learned last evening from William Turner, president of the Millidgeville Club, that there were at present no senior four-oared crews in New Brunswick, and the only four that will compete in the regatta are a few juniors around the age of twenty years who will row for the McEllan Cup. Other than these are only junior, intermediate and senior singles, although any outside four can come and race for the Fulton Cup, which is not a championship race. This information was wired to Halifax last night, asking if it would be possible to run championship events with the exception of the fours and this class rowed at Halifax. While it is generally understood that such cannot be granted, there is every possibility of Millidgeville withdrawing their request and they will carry out their programme as a club regatta. It is unfortunate that St. John clubs have no senior fours ready, when the rowing game has taken such a firm hold, but perhaps before next season arrives, our wonderful single scullers will be joined by a few fours. The deaths caused by appendicitis are reported on the inside.

It remained for the director of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and "The Prisoner of Zenda" to make the one really great screen drama of the South Seas.

"Where the Pavement Ends"

WHERE THE PAVEMENT ENDS, THERE ROMANCE BEGINS—and there is no pavement beneath the feet of life in the South Seas. It is all sunshine and danger and the slow, easy poison of lassitude, all lazy surf and white beach and green jungle. Such is the essence and the background of "Where the Pavement Ends," a story by John Russell, which has been produced by Metro by Rex Ingram, maker of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," "The Prisoner of Zenda" and other such great photoplays. It is the story of the young daughter of a missionary. She was quite alone and young; and the tropic nights, so alive with the pulse of life, quickened her longing for love. Alice Terry is the girl, and Ramon Navarro the one to symbolize love to her.

Doing Splendid Work in China

MRS. T. A. PINCOCK

The marriage last year of Miss Ida Whipple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Whipple of West End to Dr. T. A. Pincock, who was going to West China, created much interest. Still further interest is felt all over the province, but especially in her native city, at the splendid reports that come from China, of their successful work, after only a few months' sojourn in that far-off land.

They have inspired a Sunday School in Calgary to give more liberally than ever before, though the school is in a down town district and the members not affluent. The school is held at the Central Methodist church. They decided to support a married missionary in China and to them was allotted Dr. and Mrs. Pincock, to whom they write every month. Through this direct intercourse, the interest has increased, so that where the givings were almost negligible, over $200 increase was made this year. Further than this, through the incentive from Dr. and Mrs. Pincock, scholars of the school are offering for the work, which needs so many helpers. Mrs. Pincock was a member of St. Jude's Anglican church, West Side, before her marriage and went to Winnipeg to teach school, where she met Dr. Pincock, who was practising there and making preparations to go to the foreign missionary field. After meeting the doctor, Miss Whipple went to the Moody Bible School, where she studied to be fitted for the work of her husband.

BAPTISTS IN RUSSIA NOW NUMBER 2,000,000

Growth Due to Appreciation by Soviet of Faith, Says Minister.

New York, Aug. 11.—The number of Baptists in Russia has increased from 100,000 in 1914 to 2,000,000 at the present time, according to the Rev. Edgar Y. Mullins of Louisville, Ky., who returned on the Stockholm from Sweden, where he was elected president of the Baptist World Alliance. The United States alone, he said, exceeds Russia in the number of Baptists.

The rapid growth of the Baptist faith in Russia, Mr. Mullins said, is due to the fact that the Soviet Government has not interfered with activities and is appreciative of Baptist "democratic tendencies."

ST JOHN BOY IN SECOND PLACE IN PROVINCE LIST

Jas. E. Flewelling Wins the Lieut.-Governor's Medal.

James E. Flewelling, son of Mrs. Edmund Flewelling assistant dairy and food inspector, in addition to winning the Chairman's gold medal for the highest marks in the high school entrance examinations, for the city, has also been awarded the Lieutenant-Governor's medal, for making the highest marks in the county of St. John. He was a pupil in A. L. Dykeman's class, in the Alexander school. He made the second highest in the province his total being 890 out of a possible 1000. The other winners of the Lieutenant-Governor's medals for the High School entrance examinations were the names of the schools where the examination was written are as follows: Albert, Alberta Rossmore, Bishop, Elgin, Carleton, Allison Creighton, Woodstock, Charlotte, Marion Lambert, Milltown, Gloucester, Clifton Winslow Cooper, Rathurst, Kent, Ida Boudreau, Richibucto, Kings, Eleanor Morton, Penobscot, Madawaska, Ben Fournier, Edmundston, Northumberland, Donald A. Jardine, Chatham, Queens, Francis Hornbrook, Chipman, Sunbury, Mary Ellen J. Burns, Fredericton, Victoria, Helen Ruth McLaughlin, Grand Falls, Hazelton, Fredericton. The three highest in the list in order of merit were—Ben Fournier of Edmundston, James E. Flewelling of St. John and Jane S. Clayton of Fredericton.

DID DUTY WELL. The Story of a Log From the Old Beacon Light in Harbor.

Serving for eighty-five years as part of the sub-structure of the old Beacon Light at the mouth of the St. John harbor, then tossed about the waters of the Bay of Fundy and finally pulled up on the shores of Mace's Bay, where it was manufactured into a motor boat a few days ago, is the record of a large white pine log. In 1828, when the Beacon Light was erected, this log was placed in the sub-structure and in the fall of 1813, when the light was demolished, it went adrift. A short time later it was washed on the shore of Mace's Bay by Robert J. Mahoney and set aside for future use. Last Monday the son John was looking about for a log to cut into boards and selected this old pine. Despite the fact that it had been in use for nearly a century, it was in perfect state of preservation and turned out some of the best lumber ever seen in that part of the country. There was not a knot in the log and it seemed as clear and as strong as if it had been cut recently.

Get On Nicely With Track Work On Market Square

Excellent progress in the paving of the track section of Market Square was reported. It has been carried on without interruption to traffic, with the exception of one evening when the New Brunswick Power Co. took the cars off the north track. The north track has now been paved and the south track and devil strip will be paved up to the cross over by tonight. The portion at the foot of King street, where the junction is made with Prince William street will not be opened until Wednesday at the latest. The work is being done in such a manner that it is possible to keep the street cars in operation in the use of a pitch joint instead of grout. With the latter it is said traffic would have to cease for at least ten days.

MANY TOURISTS. The tourist traffic between St. John and Digby on the C. P. R. steamer Express is reported to be exceptionally good this season and the steamer arrived last evening with 170 passengers, a good freight and several automobiles. Motor parties who come to St. John from the United States delight in crossing the Bay of Fundy and then making the tour round through Halifax via the Annapolis Valley, or when going direct to Halifax by the New Brunswick and Nova Scotia highways make the trip this way by the steamer route. One gentleman from New York, who arrived with a party last evening, said he never enjoyed better scenery than that in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, and as far as the roads were concerned, they were excellent, with the exception of places where they were under repair.

REMEMBER WHEN—

Five mile race between Frank Dowd of Montreal and Hugh J. McCormack of St. John for $300 was won by Dowd at Montreal in 17 min. 17 sec. on Monday, Feb. 14, 1887. Three Liberal candidates—J. V. Ellis, C. W. Weldon and C. N. Skinner—were elected in St. John City and County on Tuesday, February 22, 1887. Messrs. McLeod, Barker and Everett were defeated. Vessels unladen in Port of St. John on Saturday, February 24, 1887, were two ships, five barks, one brig, one brigantine and 115 schooners. Second annual sleigh drive of the Daily Telegraph Employees was held at the Ben Leonard House at Lock Lomond on Saturday, February 26, 1887. For ten years to 1887, $8,500 had been collected in fines from liquor sellers in St. John. SEND 'EM IN.

LOCAL NEWS

SOME PAYING TAXES. The sum of $114,000 had been paid into the city chamberlain, up to last evening, on the 1923 assessment of $1,700,000. This is about the same amount as received up to the same period last year, it was said this morning by the chamberlain.

SHORT IN POSTAGE. People evidently forget that letters from the city addressed to the county require three cents postage. The Times learns of daily cases where East St. John folk receive letters with only two cent stamps and must pay two cents themselves in order to get the mail.

DRAW WATER SUPPLY. Commissioner Wigmore announced this morning that owing to the necessity for repairs at the Mill Pond Bridge one of the mains would be shut off this evening at six o'clock and would probably be off all night. Until the water was turned on again pressure on the heights would be low and he advised that householders draw a supply ahead.

HEALTH BOARD FIGURES. There were seven marriages performed in the city during the week. The deaths totaled ten—Marasmus; myocarditis, endocarditis, cerebral apoplexy, chronic nephritis, carcinoma of the stomach, acute dilatation of the heart, mitral regurgitation decompensation, acute mastoiditis (right side), and fracture of skull, one each. The births numbered twenty-one, eleven boys and ten girls.

WEST END WEDDING. A wedding of interest took place on Thursday evening when Rev. R. G. Falk, a prominent local contractor, and Mrs. Sarah Martha Hudson, the ceremony was performed at the home of the groom in West St. John in the presence of immediate friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Clark were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kingston of Somerville, Mass. Following the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served, after which a reception was held.

ONE IS RELOADED. The schooner Northern Light which was wrecked on Wednesday night on Pettit Mann, near Frenchmen's Bay, Me., was reloaded yesterday and tonight, where repairs will be effected. The amount of damage is not as yet known. It was reported that the schooner was damaged by a fire on board. No word had been received this morning by J. T. Knighting, manager of the vessel, as to the condition of the schooner. The schooner was owned by the Laurent W. Hansen, ashore in the Restigouche River.

MANY WILL GO. A large number of the boats of the St. John Power Boat Club will be away tomorrow to Crystal Beach for the annual service beginning at 12 o'clock, daylight time. The boats will leave the Club at 10 o'clock. The service will be conducted by the club chaplain, Rev. Craig W. Nichols and will be present as an invitation was extended to the members of that organization.

SAW TWO MOOSE. While coming into the city this morning, John Tyeer of the Local Board, saw two bull moose grazing contentedly in a cabbage field on a farm on the Hickey Road. They were seen as they approached the people on the road, but stood there gauging at them, until the owner of the field came and shot them. With a graceful leap the two monarchs of the forest cleared the fence and disappeared into the woods. Mr. Tyeer reported that the moose were full grown, but that their antlers had not as yet passed the green stage.

SALE OF EXCISE STAMPS. The Board of Trade has been advised by the Post Office Department, in answer to its request that postmasters be allowed to sell excise stamps, that it is satisfied that the objections to postmasters selling excise stamps mentioned in a circular recently issued by the department, could not readily be overcome. Another serious objection from a departmental standpoint, it stated, would be the difficulty that many postmasters would have in keeping their post office accounts correct in the handling of two sets of stamps. Postmasters, it is feared, would be continually mixing their post office receipts and reporting to the department receipts that would belong to the Department of Customs and Excise, vice versa. Such a situation, it is contended, would lead to constant trouble.

A. O. H. CONVENTION. New Freeman—Arrangements are being well advanced for the provincial gathering of the A. O. H. which will take place in this city on August 21 and 22, with about 200 delegates in attendance from various points in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. This gathering promises to be one of the largest conventions held in St. John for some time and St. John has an opportunity, therein, to make itself better known throughout the two provinces. Suitable features of an entertainment nature are being arranged and it is expected that many matters of importance will come before the gathering. The sessions will be held in St. Vincent's Theatre and in the Y. M. C. I. hall, which has been placed at the disposal of the A. O. H.

A TAME CROW. Can a crow, one of the wildest of the feathered species, be tamed? The vast majority of people will answer no, but there is a crow at Dipper Harbor that will fly to the shoulder of one of the residents of the village. Yesterday morning, prior to the sailing of the steamer Connors Bros. for St. John, the bird was surprised to see a crow light on the shoulder of Mrs. Boyle and eat as she fed it. They were told that the bird was in the habit of sitting there and it cannot go. I know what is out there under the morning sky and in the gloaming. I ought to be a part of it—as I was when my first sweetheart gave me a sweet wild rose. "My! My!" said Hiram. "It's wasn't I thought. Got it bad—haint you. I guess you must have been in some big office yesterday an' seen the gals atreakin' out to ketch the five fifteen train—hey—what?"

SHRINER CHIEF WILL BE HERE ON SEPTEMBER 4

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "I am distressed." "Been eatin' too many cucumbers?" queried Hiram. "You are quite wrong," said the reporter. "My distress is not of the body—but of the mind." "I thought you newspaper fellers didn't hev no conscience," said Hiram. "You are wrong again," said the reporter. "My grief is from another cause. The pagant of the summer is marching past, and the brick walls obscure my view. I cannot see. The fields, the streams, the hills, the woods—they are calling me and I cannot go. I know what is out there under the morning sky and in the gloaming. I ought to be a part of it—as I was when my first sweetheart gave me a sweet wild rose." "My! My!" said Hiram. "It's wasn't I thought. Got it bad—haint you. I guess you must have been in some big office yesterday an' seen the gals atreakin' out to ketch the five fifteen train—hey—what?"
