RASPBERRY SOCIAL.

There was a very pleasant time last night at the home of Mrs. Joseph Seymour, 244 Duke street, when the ladies' aid committee of the Camarthen street Methodist church held a raspberry social. More than seventy-five were present and with a very extensive programme of songs and music the evening passed pleasantly away. Raspberries and cream were served. The programme was as follows: Solo, Myrtle Fox; solo, Mr. Brindle; reading, Miss May Sparks; solo, Miss Daisy Oram; reading, Mrs. H. Bernard; piano duet, the Misses Comber; solo, Miss May Alechorn; piano duet, the Misses Fox; violin solo, Miss Winifred Dunlop. The affair is an annual one and conducted for the benefit of the parsonage. This year's proved as great a success as in former years and was well patronized.

PRISONERS CLEARING THE LAND

Ontario papers speak in terms of high approval of the latest development of the prison farm scheme in that province. This does not relate to the farm at Guelph, which has produced such excellent results, but to a new plan adopted early this summer. There was a tract of land, comprising some six hundred acres, a few miles from Fort William, which was regarded as unsuitable for agricultural purposes. It was virgin land, uncleared and untouched. Hon. W. J. Hanna, who had adopted the plan of employing convicts out of doors, on roads and in farm work, as at Guelph, decided to try an experiment with prison labor on this tract of six hundred acres near Fort William. Here is the story:—

"On June 6th last a group of prisoners—men who were not by any means desperate criminals, but men who were first offenders—were sent to this new provincial farm. Tents were erected, eating tables, sleeping tents, and quarters for the guards. In a couple of days the sixty men had cleared the first field, seven acres in all, and in a few days they were clearing the forest at the rate of three acres a day. They were a rule, law-abiding, willing men, who had got into trouble through an excess of animal spirits, rather than through degeneracy, or criminal instincts. The work delighted them, after the close surroundings of a prison. The permanent buildings planned for this farm were soon in course of erection, crops were put into the ground, and a permanent settlement was established."

The Ottawa Free Press points out that these men who are clearing three acres of brush in a day are giving the province back something in return for the province's expenses, but are also receiving a return in improved health and a better outlook. "It is no light thing," says the Free Press, "to win three acres a day from the virgin wild, and to the use of mankind, but it is an infinitely greater thing, to afford sixty men who have gone wrong an opportunity to get back their physical and mental health, to get close to nature, and to cleanse their minds and bodies by hard work."

A writer in the Toronto Globe makes this comment: "Three acres a day and more! What will it lead to? Those who are prying about prepared farms, clearings with a shack and a barn where a settler can go in and get busy at once on his land, there are some of the things that may result from the new idea. At the present time the men are giving the province a better return than if they were held behind brick walls, and the province is giving the men a better chance to start right again, and the settler, too, in the long run is benefited. Perhaps this is a bigger scheme than it looks, and Fort William may see an agricultural development that will startle the remainder of the province."

In work of this kind the prisoners are not competing with the ordinary labor of the country, nor are they placed where the public eye is offended by sight of them, as it is by the parade of a city jail squad or of the drunken loafers who infest the streets. It is said that the minister of justice while in Europe examined the prison system of Britain and France in order to ascertain the best way of making the prisoners of Canada useful to the state; and the Ottawa Free Press observes that "perhaps in this new Ontario scheme Hon. Mr. Doherty will see a suggestion, and those of his seven hundred prisoners who are not fitted for any reason for road work could be employed in the establishing of another farm of this kind." The New Brunswick authorities might also find here a profitable suggestion.

HAZEN AND FOSTER
The Toronto Globe declares that the speeches of Hon. George E. Foster and Hon. J. D. Hazen in England "were nothing short of a marine scandal." We quote: "The Minister of Marine and Fisheries made public statements in England on the reasonable significance of the campaign in Canada for reciprocal trade in agricultural products with the United States which were an insult to one-half of the Canadian electorate. As a private politician Mr. Hazen's opinions might have little weight with the British people, but as a minister of the crown he speaks with authority which demands on his part scrupulous respect for truth and honor."

"As for the Minister of Trade and Commerce his behavior was notorious, so much so that even Unionists marveled at his irresponsible partisanship. He seemed to think himself still the imported campaigner of the Unionist party managers. From first to last openly, and on all occasions, he was at the beck and call of that group of Unionist politicians who have discarded the courtesies as they have fallen from statesmanship which distinguished the Tory party in Britain in the days before the new school tried to elbow out Mr. Arthur Balfour to make room for Mr. Bonar Law. The humiliation to Canada is that a Canadian minister should so far forget the respect due to his own official position and to the civilities of political life in Britain as to make his home and headquarters, when on a public mission from Canada, at the chief party club in London, and to talk in all his speeches the narrow, partisan insinuations he feels free to talk at a party ward meeting in Toronto. Never again should Canada and the

CURED AFTER MOST WONDERFUL OPERATION
Stockholm, Aug. 23.—An ex-soldier named Blomquist has just been pronounced cured after one of the most remarkable operations on record. A year ago Blomquist was accidentally shot in the head during the manoeuvres. It was found that one-half of the brain had been injured, and that the only chance of life for the patient lay in its removal. After much deliberation by the doctors, the perilous operation was performed, with the marvellous result that within a few weeks Blomquist recovered. He was in full possession of all his faculties, but on being tested in the matter of reading and writing, he was found to have entirely forgotten the meaning of the alphabet and numerals. One of the doctors undertook to teach him all the forgotten lore, and after a not very considerable time and much industry, Blomquist is again able to read and write. He has now left the nursing home, where he has been under the care of the doctors, and returns to work on his farm. He is robust in health, and shows no trace physically or mentally of the extraordinary experience he has had.

TWO HEAVENS

For there are two heavens; sweet, Both made of love, one inaccessible Even by the other, so divine it is: The other far on this side of the stars, By men called home, where some blest pair are met. As ye recede, sometimes in happy talk, Sometimes in silence (also a sort of talk, Where friends are matched) each at its gentle task Of book, or household need, or meditation, By summer moon, or courtained fire in frost; And by degrees there come—not always come— Ye, mostly, other smaller inmates there, Cherubic-faced, yet growing like those two, Their pride and playmates, nor without mock fear: Since God sometimes to His own Cherubim Takes those sweet cheeks of earth, and so 'twixt joy, And love and tears, and whatsoever pain Man shivers with, man, these two grow old; And, if indeed blest thereby, they die In the same spot, and nigh the same good hour. And setting suns look heavenly on their grave. —Leigh Hunt.

"She's been terribly disappointed in love." "That so?" "Yes, you know she married Fred for his money, and afterwards discovered that he was as poor as she was."

THE SMOKE INSPECTOR

A Chicago politician imported his cousin from the old country and named him appointed smoke inspector. This was in the old days. He was turned loose to inspect without any instructions whatever and this is the report he rendered at the end of the first month: "I certify that I have inspected the smoke of this city for the thirty days past. I find plenty of smoke and apparently of good quality. Respectfully submitted."—From the Kansas City Journal.

KEPT THEM BUSY

"Where do you go for the summer?" "To Pink Beach." "And how do you pass the time?" "Oh, we all sit around and explain why we got tired of Newport."—Washington Herald.

GOOD EAR

"My daughter says I have a good ear for music." "What does she mean by that?" "I don't know exactly. I'm afraid she refers to the fact that I can listen to some of the things she plays without getting the nerves."—Washington Star.

FORTUNE AHEAD OF HIM

Knicker—"So Jones has a great invention?" "Indeed—Yes, an umbrella hand that retains the finger print."—New York Sun.

THEN THEY WALKED AWAY

Mrs. Ardmore—"My little Artie is beginning to set like a savage." Mrs. Crandall—"He has never seen many savages." Mrs. Ardmore—"No, your Adelbert is the only one he plays with."

MR. GROUCH

He got up with a groan and he scolded his wife. He told her that she was the bane of his life; He scolded the children and cuffed them around; He scolded the dog because he barked at night; He scolded the cook because she'd slept late; And he scolded about everything that he ate.

HE SCOLDED THE DRIVER UPON THE FRONT SEAT

He scolded and spluttered concerning the heat; He scolded policemen at crossings because they held up their hands and compelled him to pause; He scolded because of the puncture they got; By the scowl on his face you'd have thought he was hot.

HE SCOLDED THE NEWSBOY THAT GOT IN HIS HAND

And he scolded because it said "Warmer today." He scolded the clerks and looked horribly cross When he entered the office in which he was boss.

HE SCOLDED BECAUSE THERE WAS DUST ON HIS CHAIR

And because there were snails in the office boy's hair. The stenog came in after his work was begun; He had called for her twice—she went in on the run; Did he scold when she, trembling, began to explain That a wreck at a crossing had halted her train? Did he snarl at the girl as he'd snarled at his wife? Did he show his impatience? You bet your sweet life!

P. S.

Perhaps we should say, lest you think him a brute, The stenog was not youthful nor was she a brute. —Chicago Record-Herald.

HOW CANADA WILL OBSERVE GEN. BOOTH'S FUNERAL DAY

Toronto, Aug. 22--The Salvation Army in Toronto has completed its arrangements for the funeral services in memory of the late General Booth.

A request is being made to the ministers of all churches in the dominion to refer to the life and work of the departed general at services on Sunday, Aug. 23.

On Wednesday evening, Aug. 26, funeral services will be held throughout the dominion by each corps. In Toronto there will be a united mass meeting in the funeral parlour at Massey Hall on that evening at 8 p. m.

Leading representatives will be present. This service will be conducted by Commissioner Rees and Colonel Mapp.

Following upon the general service the massed bands of the army will march to the city hall, where they will play "Nearer My God to Thee," and other well known hymns on the steps of the city building.

On Thursday, Aug. 27, at noon a solemn hour of prayer will take place at all Salvation Army places throughout the dominion. This hour will be according to English time as near as possible, the hour when the burial service of the departed general will be taking place at Abney Park cemetery.

On Sunday, Sept. 1, the official memorial service for the departed general will take place at all Salvation Army places throughout the dominion.

Boring Operations (Sussex Record).

Active boring operations have been temporarily suspended at Mt. Middleton coal fields, owing to the illness of the expert in charge, Mr. Kent has gone to Moncton for a few days to recuperate but will resume work as soon as possible.

Good progress is being made at Plumtree in the salt boring operations there. The drill is down nearly 100 feet and the water drawn from the hole shows a tendency to a more dense brine than that taken from the spring near the old works. The party now engaged on the work will go down some 25 feet or perhaps deeper.

The golden plover in its annual flight leaves Nova Scotia behind it at Nova Scotia and cuts a 3,000-mile streak for South America, making half the distance over water.

THE MORALS THAT MAKE A MURDERER

Extracts From a Diary Found in Pocket of Dead Bandit

ACCIDENTS CLASSIFIED

Official Explanation of Fatalities Among Aviators--French Women's Estimate of Men--$30,000,000 for Railways in Nigeria

(Times Special Correspondence.)

Paris, Aug. 14--The Matin publishes extracts from the notebook of Garnier, which was found pierced by a bullet and stained with blood in the breast-pocket of the bandit's coat after the escape of Nogues-Marne. On its first page were written the words, "Why I robbed, and why I murdered." There is no doubt that this apology for his life had been drawn up by Garnier for the use of his advocate should he have been brought to trial. This is a document of once intensely interesting, and, from another point of view, utterly banal--interesting for the light it throws on the psychology of the criminal, and yet what a pitiful hash it is of crude, unrefined, and unorganized ideas.

It is not, as we have seen, an idea when taken out of an empty head. I do not see why I should not eat the grapes of Mr. X, because they are his property. What has he done more than that he should own them? Nothing, I reply. Therefore I have the right to profit by them according to my needs. If he wishes to prevent me by force I shall oppose my force to his.

Let me, behind Mr. X, is the force called robbery, which, even according to Garnier's tenets, has the right to protect itself, and to oppose to the force he, as the bandit was soon to discover, a holding and even a profitable game. For what does one fight for? For the money, which is not worth while, not even in more money.

At seventeen Garnier takes to pilfering from the goods exposed in front of shops. It does not bring him in much; and he has no confidence in his own strength. He is content with a few small articles, a watch, a pair of shoes, a hat, and a few other things. He is not a thief, but a petty burglar.

At nineteen he becomes a robber, but the tale is the same. "I couldn't make money as a thief, so I went to robbing. It was a little better. A haul of over $500 was an exception, and the expenses were heavy. Many of our three months' imprisonment, by the police, and we had had to give them pecuniary aid."

Meanwhile the sentence had been mounting, and the end of each imprisonment found Garnier more glibly, more in control, and more confident. He had learned to work among Anarchists, I soon made up my mind to work for a few days. The thought of military service is revolting. "I left Paris when about nineteen and a half, and I was with the regiment for the first time."

The meeting with Bonnot was a turning point. Garnier had been looking out for a "chauffeur chum." In Bonnot he found his man. Then comes the story, told with a brutal coarseness, of the first "gross coup," the murder of December 21, in the Rue Ordener, which was the first of a series of others, set out in the early morning in their stolen car from Boulogne. They drive about Paris, and Garnier is in the wheel. He is rapidly gaining confidence in the management of the car. Useful this, for "we need two chauffeurs, should one of us be wounded."

At nine o'clock they see the bank messenger leaving a taxiway car, accompanied, as usual, by another. It is a serious moment. One must act promptly, or all is lost. The car advances, I descend with one of my companions. Bonnot remains at the wheel and the fourth stands by the car. I walk along the pavement to meet the messenger. About three paces from him I draw my revolver, and his companion, panic-stricken, I pick up one bag and my chum the other, which the fool won't let go of till he loses consciousness. Then we get into our car once more.

All the vanity and brutality of the modern criminal are in that first narrative. It is a document that Lombroso would have been eager to add to his collection.

Accidents Classified. A report on the causes of aeroplane accidents has just been presented to the French "Ecole superieure aeronautique" by Major Renaud. He classifies the fatalities as follows: Twenty-five per cent due to the want of natural aptitude on the part of the aviators. Thirteen per cent due to the insufficient training of the aviators. Six per cent due to the desire of aviators to "show off."

Six per cent due to rashness and want of foresight on the part of aviators. Thirteen per cent due to imperfections in the designs of the apparatus. Twenty per cent due to flaws or weaknesses in the machinery. Ten or possibly twelve per cent due to atmospheric currents and similar disturbances.

If that estimate be correct, a reduction in the percentage of accidents ought soon to be brought about; a view which is held by the new French League for the greater security of aviation.

Masculine Fallings. When women are not talking clothes they are maligning men. Such, at least, would appear to be the opinion of a fashion paper, which has asked its readers to summarize the ten chief masculine fallings in order of demerit. The result was: 1--Egotism. 2--Jealousy. 3--Inconstancy. 4--Intemperance. 5--Cowardice. 6--Immorality. 7--Tyranny. 8--Bad temper. 9--Conceit. 10--Laziness.

Some burglars with a sense of humor have successfully raided the court house at Tours. The burglary was discovered by the servant who sweeps out the rooms. All the drawers in the desks of the registrar's office have been opened or forced. The safe alone defied their efforts. What gives a sort of topical interest to the affair is

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

A total of $125,000 has been found by District Attorney Whitman in New York as having been deposited by Police-Lieutenant Becker.

Moncton was in darkness from 4 until 9 o'clock last evening, caused by a break in the gas main. Repairs took five hours.

The general board of adjustment of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, I. C. R., is in session in Moncton. Business of importance is being discussed.

Mrs. S. Bishop and Mrs. A. Ledman, of Moncton, have been called to Caspédia, Quebec, where their father lies dangerously ill.

William H. Merrill, barrister, of Toronto, was yesterday afternoon found lying in bed at his home, 27 Maitland street, with a deep gash in his throat and a razor in his hand. His life may be saved. He has been ill and worried.

New York, Aug. 22--All world's records for shortland speed were broken here today when Nathan Behr, official steno-grapher of the New York Supreme Court, and formerly official reporter at police headquarters wrote an average of 276 words a minute for five consecutive minutes. The previous world's record was 269 words a minute.

Halifax, Aug. 22--(Special)--Eighty trackmen working on the I. C. R. at Richmond are on strike for higher wages. They were engaged repairing tracks and at general repair work in Richmond yard. They were getting $1.60 a day and they asked for $2. The railway authorities declined the request and the men accordingly walked out and now the work in the yard has practically ceased.

Montreal, Aug. 22--Dr. Charles Noble, the eminent Philadelphia physician, who has been confined since June 24 in the Verdun insane asylum, was granted his release this afternoon by Justice Demers on a writ of habeas corpus.

The judge did not dwell at all on the supposed mental condition of the plaintiff in the commitment papers on which animal thread known.

WEDDINGS

Marr-Woodman. A pretty wedding took place at the Victoria street Baptist parsonage yesterday at noon, when Rev. B. H. Nobles united in marriage Miss Ella Woods Woodman, of Newburyport (Mass.), and Alfred Flinn Marr, of Norton, Kings county. The happy pair left on the 5 o'clock train for Norton where they will make their home. The groom is the father of Rev. Henry Marr, of Maine, and Dr. Marr, who is practicing in British Columbia.

Brooks-Duncan. A very happy wedding party assembled at the Victoria street Baptist parsonage at 8.30 o'clock last evening, when Sarah Duncan, of Glasgow, Scotland, was united in marriage to Beverly R. Brooks, by Rev. B. H. Nobles. The couple were unattended, but many friends were present at the ceremony. The bride and groom will remain in the city for a few days and then proceed to the groom's home in Gasquetown.

BOY KILLED BY TRAIN. Harry McFarland, son of John McFarland, of Pettitcodiac, was killed at Pettitcodiac yesterday afternoon by the Pacific express. In company with Russell Bannister, another boy, aged ten years, he was driving across the railway track when the train struck them. McFarland was badly injured and died at eight o'clock last night. Young Bannister was also severely injured, but will recover.

MORNING LOCALS

It is expected that the matter of the extension of the Street Railway lines to Kane's corner will be in shape to be presented to the council at the meeting on next Monday. Another meeting of the commissioners was held yesterday afternoon and it was decided to give permission to the company to place their double tracks in position provided they kept them clear of snow in winter and kept the road in repair.

A decision will be given in a couple of days in the inquiry conducted by Captain Lindsay, of Ottawa, into the collision of the dredge Fielding and the schooner T. W. Cooper. The sessions were finished yesterday afternoon when Colonel H. H. McLean and J. E. Cowan presented their arguments to the court.

GETTING IN THE HAY. The weather for the past few days has been all that could be asked for and hundreds of tons of hay have been successfully placed under cover. Every farmer has been on the jump and men are getting big wages in the hay fields. If the next few days are as fine as those that have gone before a big hole will be made in the work of getting in the crop. The yield is much heavier than early indications suggested, and the quality of the hay is good.

BUSY SUSSEX. Record:--The marked increase in freight, inward and outward at the Sussex station, is still apparent. Never in the history of this town have freights been so heavy as during the present year. The stand, Dr. Malcolm said he was not growth is not only being maintained but continues to move upward.

Scientific men say that the hair from the tail of a horse is the strongest single error in the commitment papers on which animal thread known.

TO MAKE BRICKS IN NEW BRUNSWICK

"You have right here in New Brunswick the best material for manufacturing brick and other clay products, that can be found in Canada or in the eastern states, outside of New Jersey," said Dr. H. J. von Hagen, president of the North Shore Railway and Navigation Company, last evening to a Telegraph reporter, "and my company has already ordered machinery and will start in the manufacture of bricks at Beersville this year."

He is very enthusiastic about the future of this province, and he has great faith in the natural resources, which he says are far greater than the people realize.

The North Shore Railway and Navigation Company is also interested in the scheme to have a car ferry from New Brunswick to Prince Edward Island. Dr. von Hagen said that already surveying parties now under way are completed, his company may have a ferry from Richibucto Cape to Prince Edward Island, and with the railway lines of his company extended from the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Intercolonial to Richibucto Cape, this ferry, he says, would be able to carry cars from both lines and deliver them to the Prince Edward Island road.

LARRY CONNOLLY CASE. Hearing in the case of Larry Connolly, by co-member of the Marathon baseball team, against the owners of the club for $80 which he says is due him as salary, was continued yesterday afternoon. Dr. D. C. Malcolm and D. B. Donald were on the stand. Dr. Malcolm said he was not one of the owners of the team. The defendants agreed to allow the plaintiff a certain amount for expenses while he is detained here pending the arrival of a witness from Woodstock. The matter of error was arranged.

"Cemetery" Cure for Drunkards

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 21—Illinois has a brand new and original plan to cure the liquor habit. It was devised by George of Madison county across the river from St. Louis. New Douglas is the town which gave this experiment to the world and is now reporting most gratifying results. It is called the "Cemetery Cure." New Douglas does not put the so-called "dead ones" in jail to sleep off their poison. In the early morning they are carted to the city cemetery and are bound with ropes to upright monuments while others are laid in graves which have sunk.

NEW GEN. OF SALVATION ARMY ISSUES HIS MESSAGE.

(Continued from page 1.) In connection with the funeral there is under consideration a suggestion that the coffin be conveyed to Abney Park cemetery on a gun carriage as symbolizing the militant character of the great evangelist's work.

Queen Mother Alexandra has telegraphed to Bramwell Booth, the son and successor of General Booth, the following message:

"I beg you and all your family to accept my deepest and most heartfelt sympathy in the irreparable loss you and the nation have suffered in the death of your great, good and noble father."

Messages of condolence have been received from King Christian of Denmark, General Louis Botha, premier of the Union of South Africa, Lord Wellington, governor of New Zealand; Lord Rosebery, and many other prominent persons throughout the world.

The general also sees immense fields for activity in the service of foreign and colonial governments and especially among the criminals and the tribes of India.

Must Retain Spirit. Speaking generally, Bramwell Booth confessed that he would not be a devotee of the army if the spirit left it.

The general has great sympathy in the demand of the poor for better wages and higher conditions of life.

LEAGUE MANAGERS AGREE RED SOX ARE SURE WINNERS OF AMERICAN LEAGUE FLAG

The Red Sox are sure pennant winners in the American League. This is the opinion of all but two big league managers, Connie Mack of the Champion Athletics and Clarke Griffith of the Washington Senators, both of whom believe that their teams will win the flag. The following statements were made to representatives of the Boston American.

BY JAKE STAHL, Boston Red Sox. We have now got a commanding lead on both the Senators and the Athletics, and I don't see how we can fail to capture the American League flag. We are playing every bit as good baseball as our closest competitors, and there is more chance of our increasing our present lead than there is of the Senators or the Athletics closing in on us.

BY HUGHETT JENNINGS, Detroit Tigers. There is nothing to it but the Red Sox. They have played without a "break" all season, and are too far in the lead to be headed at this late stage of the game. The Athletics are now playing whirlwind ball, but their spirit for the wire came too late. I would advise Jimmy McAleer to select the hunting for the American League pennant.

BY HARRY DAVIS, Cleveland Naps. I have been pulling for the Athletics to win the pennant all season, but I guess that I will have to hand it to the Red Sox. They have done nobly, and while Mack and his boys are still fighting hard, they appear hopelessly out of the race. Everybody thought the Boston team would break down under the strain, but Stahl's boys have surprised us all.

BY GEORGE STOVALL, St. Louis Browns. Jake Stahl and Jimmy McAleer have made good in Boston. They have got the American League pennant nailed down. It is all over but the hollering, as the kids say. The Red Sox have a wonderful machine. It is not a team of stars, but of clever, hard working scrappy young men who keep fighting until the last man is declared out in the ninth.

BY JOHNNY KLING, Boston Pilgrims. Neither the Athletics nor the Senators will beat out the Red Sox this season at least. The Stabls have too big a lead and are playing better ball than any team in the country just now. The "fans" in both Philadelphia and Washington expected the team to slump during the first of August, but they wasted in vain.

BY JOHNNY M'GRAV, New York Giants. It looks as though the Giants will battle the Red Sox in the world series this fall instead of the Athletics. The Boston crew has played sensational ball this season, and I can't see how either the Athletics or Senators can beat them out for first place unless the team literally goes to pieces.

BY FRED CLARKE, Pittsburgh Pirates. Jake Stahl and his boys have proved their worth. They have clinched the American League pennant. The Boston's clever staff of pitchers has been one of the club's most valuable assets during the season. The Sox have played consistent ball throughout the season and deserve to win.

BY HANK O'DAY, Cincinnati Reds. Unlike the New York Giants, the Red Sox are playing better ball now than they were two months ago and there is no reason why they should not win the pennant in Ban Johnson's organization by a margin of at least five games. The Athletics and Senators are very strong, but not quite so good as the team under my old friend Jimmy McAleer and Jake Stahl.

BY CHARLEY DOON, Philadelphia Quakers. One or two stars cannot win a pennant. This is proved in the case of the Red Sox, who have now got a strangle hold on first place in the American League. The team is composed of speedy players, but Tris Speaker and Joe Wood are the only world beaters in the Sox lineup. The other men are all hard workers. They will win the flag without a doubt.

BY BILL DAHLEN, Brooklyn Dodgers. I am glad that the Red Sox have won. Boston is a fine baseball town—one of the greatest in the world—and deserves to be represented by a championship team once in every few years. The Red Sox are the class of the American League. They are strong in every department of the game and should win the gounfan by a comfortable margin.

BY FRANK CHANCE, Chicago Cubs. The Red Sox have proved too fast for the rest of the field. They are a 10 to 1 shot in the American League. I am now pulling for my team to beat out the Giants so that we can try conclusions with the crew from the city of culture and learning in what promises to be one of the greatest world series in the history of the game.

PROBING THE MATTER OF I. C. R. PASSES

Special Agent Tingley Gives Detailed Evidence on Result of Investigation

Moncton, Aug. 22—The I. C. R. pass inquiry was resumed today by Commissioner Eason Adams, of Sussex. Ralph Freece appeared in behalf of the department. Geo. W. Fowler, who was present at the last session of the inquiry, did not attend today.

In the afternoon the only witness was A. J. Tingley, special agent of the I. C. R. who told of receiving a report in 1909 of irregular passes being used on I. C. R. trains and of the results of investigation carried on by him.

Tingley said that in the latter part of October or first of November he was called to investigate regarding alleged irregularities on the I. C. R. A pass bearing the name of J. H. Messervey was given him to inquire into. In September of that year Mr. Shannon gave him a pass that had been used twice, the name of the party to whom it was first issued had been erased. It must have gone through the audit office. He understood it was the means of having some change made in the audit office regarding the checking up of passes.

The witness said the name of Titman LeBlanc was on the pass that was used twice. He saw LeBlanc about it and he denied having anything to do with it. The Messervey pass bore a duplicate number. There were no erasures on it. The witness had an officer in Halifax interview Messervey. The officer reported that Messervey told him he got the pass from a clock in the I. C. R. office and thought it was all right. Witness did not see Messervey himself.

Witness said Mr. Brady gave him a pass about the first week in November bearing the name of Dr. George Tingley. It bore a number higher than the genuine passes printed. These passes were all complimentary. Regarding the last pass, witness said he wrote Dr. Tingley asking the name of the person he got it from and the latter wrote asking if there was anything wrong with it. The witness wrote to him and said there was and insisted on having the name but before the second letter came back witness had learned in Moncton where the pass came from.

Later witness had a conversation with Ferguson, who stated that Vye went to the Transcript basement and brought up two or three passes to Ferguson who was in his room upstairs. They thought it would back to Moncton. Vye was then attending an automobile school and did not want to leave but said that if an inquiry were started all the authorities had to do was to "touch the wires" and he would come along.

Witness said his reports were made to Messrs. Brady and Evans. Brady referred the matters to Ottawa for advice and later Messrs. Bell and Alward came to Moncton from Ottawa and made inquiries on the passes he examined did not appear to have all been done by the same person. Tingley said that one morning after he began inquiring into the pass matter Dr. Murray came to his house and said he had used some passes but thought they were genuine ones and all right to use. Murray said he had obtained the passes from Vye.

At the conclusion of Tingley's evidence the inquiry was adjourned till Wednesday next at 11 o'clock.

UNDER SECRETARIES FOR DOMINION DEPARTMENTS

Ottawa, Aug. 22—Sir Joseph Pope, under secretary of external affairs, who accompanied Premier Borden and his colleagues to England, will, on his return, submit a report to the government as to the formulation of a scheme for the creation of under secretarieships of state as an aid to cabinet ministers in their seasonal duties.

Sir Joseph has, while in England, been studying the British system, and it is considered likely that a scheme along the lines in force in the motherland will be adopted in Canada.

With the ever increasing responsibility and labor of cabinet ministers the necessity for such a system has become emphasized for many years past.

The appointments will be to be made in England, from members of parliament and their duties in a general way will be to look after the lesser work of the portfolio. It is considered that such a system would very much expedite the work of parliament, the time of the members at the present being seriously encroached upon by details which the under secretaries could deal with.

COOMBS BACK IN GOOD FORM FOR CLOSING GAMES OF SEASON

Philadelphia, Aug. 23—Connie Mack says he is still confident of capturing the pennant. In talking about the Athletics' chances of beating out Boston the elongated leader of the White Elephants said recently: "An eight or ten game lead at this season of the year is not much. All we have to do is to win one more game than Boston does from each of the other six teams in the league and then fight it out with them for the position which they now have. I am not afraid of the outcome when we meet them, for my pitchers have not been in shape when we met them before. It is going to be close, but I feel that we are going to win out after all."

Chicago, Aug. 22—"That does not worry me," said Jack Johnson tonight, when informed that his contest with Joe Jeannette scheduled to be decided in New York September 23 had been called off.

The Wanderers and Sport. The Halifax Recorder says: "A short time ago the announcement was made not only at home but through press despatches published abroad that the Wanderers had engaged a trainer, and that there was to be a grand revival of athletics in the club this season. But the M. P. A. A. championships are taking place in Charlottetown today, and the Wanderers have but one representative—a weight performer. This should not be for a club which in the past has been recognized as the leading amateur athletic club in the maritime provinces, which they have certainly relinquished, and which must now be given to the well known Abegweit Athletic Club of Charlottetown, which for some time has been keeping up the sport more than any other club. The Wanderers have this season resumed their old place in cricket; next year they should make an effort to resume their former place in athletics."

The Nova Scotia tournament is now being held at Chester and will be concluded before long and the New Brunswick tournament will be held on Aug. 27.

At a meeting of the New Brunswick Lawn Tennis Association held at Robbsey at noon yesterday, officers for the ensuing year were elected, preliminary arrangements for the provincial championship meet for next year were made, and an inter-provincial play off was arranged.

W. A. Harrison was elected president of the association, Rev. George Wood, of Sackville, was elected vice-president and it was decided that whoever should be elected secretary of the Sackville club would, by the fact, be elected honorary secretary of the New Brunswick association.

An invitation from the Sackville club was received inviting the association to hold their next provincial meet at Sackville. The invitation was accepted. The Sackville club is having nine new tennis courts prepared and the association was much pleased to receive the offer. Negotiations, which have been pending between the New Brunswick and Nova Scotia associations, have been concluded and it is now announced an inter-provincial play off between the champions of the provincial tournaments, which are now in progress, will be held on Aug. 27. The Nova Scotia tournament is now being held at Chester and will be concluded before long and the New Brunswick tournament will be held on Aug. 27.

PITCHERS' EFFORTS TO BEAT BALK

From the time he begins to have aspirations every pitcher must study how to beat the balk rule, or rather umpire's interpretations of them. Theoretically the pitcher makes a balk every time he does anything to deceive a base runner or violates any of the restrictions placed on his method of delivery. Not many fingers of this generation try to beat the rules governing their actions in delivering the ball to the plate. The old timers used to figure out ways to shorten the pitching distance a few inches by "bunching" their feet away from the slab in delivering the ball. Others tried to take two steps by sneaking one foot back of the slab, thereby getting a few extra inches of speed on their last ball.

The double umpire system has blocked those methods of balking, and now the chief aim of the pitcher is to work out a "motion" that will deceive the runners and not be penalized by the umpires. This is as essential as any other kind of pitching goods, for major league base runners will drive a pitcher out of the league, no matter how good he otherwise is, if they can call the turn on his motion.

Many fans remember Elmer Stricklett, who brought the spitball from the Pacific coast, and from whom Ed Walsh acquired the rudiments of his greatness. During the years Stricklett was with Brooklyn, after the White Sox discarded him, the Cubs had difficulty in beating him because of his spitball and because they could not run bases on him. Finally one of them discovered that when Stricklett was intending to pitch the ball he kept both arms tucked against his sides, but when he intended to throw to first one of the arms was slightly raised. They watched and found it worked every time. After that the Cubs cut out sacrificing a runner against his body, preliminary to delivering the ball. From that instant the pitcher must make no move of any kind without delivering the ball to the bat or throwing it to first base, provided there is a runner on first base at the time. If he merely lifts his hands and brings them back to their resting place that is a balk. Sometimes a spitball pitcher will think he needs more moisture on the ball and will raise his hands to his face to apply it before making the delivery. Most umpires will call that a balk.

If the pitcher intends to deliver the ball to the batsman he must do so with a continuous motion. To pause or "stutter" makes a balk. If he intends to throw to first base he must not start any motion without starting also to step toward first base. Walsh is accused of starting his right shoulder in motion before he starts his foot toward first base. As the runner on first is watching that foot as a cat does a mouse this shoulder motion deceives him and, if the umpire is on the job, he will call it a balk. Walsh will deceive many a base runner without being penalized, however.

Nick Altrock used to have the runners at his mercy on first base. Nick perfected his motion so that he could pick up his foot in exactly the same way, whether he meant to pitch or throw to first. Then with his foot in the air he could start winding up and finish either by stepping forward and delivering the ball to the plate, or by stepping toward first and throwing the ball there. The runner did not dare take any kind of a lead off first and had to wait to be sacrificed or batted ahead.

There is one point on which major league umpires differ in calling balks. It has to do with when the pitcher is "in position." To take the trick of hiding the

ALFRED G. STAPLES PAINFULLY BURNED

Collar Took Fire When Alcohol Burst Into Flames in His Home 130 Princess Street

A collar of inflammable material, worn by Alfred G. Staples, of 130 Princess street, was the means of causing painful injuries to him this morning, when some alcohol which he was heating over a lamp, burst into flames, and catching onto his collar severely burned his face and head. His hands and wrists were also burned in trying to beat out the flames.

Mr. Staples is a painter and was heating the alcohol to do some work when he was called to the telephone. When he returned the alcohol had already taken fire, and the flames had spread to the curtains on the windows. He made a rush to throw his coat over the flaming man, when his collar caught fire, and the flames circled his head, burning his neck, face and head. In this condition he ran across the street to Dr. L. A. McPhillips' office and had the wounds dressed.

In the meantime some passersby, seeing the curtains burning in the house, rang the alarm in front of 24, which brought the firemen quickly to the scene. The fire was easily extinguished, and beyond the burning of the curtains and a few pieces of small furniture, no damage was done in the house.

Mr. Staples' condition was thought at first to be serious, as the flames seemed to have affected his eyes, but the physician found that the wounds were only a scalding.

ST. JOHN CHOIR TO FREDERICTON

A misdirected blow nearly severed one of Master Campbell's fingers. Dr. Allingham was called and it required seven stitches to close the wound.

HOME NEXT MONTH

Rev. J. J. O'Donovan, pastor of the Church of the Assumption, Carleton, is expected home for the third Sunday in September. He has been in Ireland for some years and during the land of his birth. One reason for his crossing the Atlantic was to take part in the ordination of a cousin to the priesthood.

CAMPERS AND ORCHARDS

F. S. Taylor, of White's Cove, writes to the Times complaining that St. John campers at Robertson's Point steal apples from neighboring orchards. He suggests that their friends should look after them.

Store closes evenings 6 p. m. Saturdays 11 p. m.

The Lesson of These NEW SCHOOL SUITS for Boys is one of economy and individuality combined. The first principle of wise buying is to be sure of quality.

These Suits are here because they are good, and we are satisfied that each one possesses $1.50 to $2.50 worth of wear and distinctiveness above any similarly priced suits in Saint John.

There is extra worth and wear in the pains-taking way in which they are made. The variety is remarkable as to patterns, weaves and colors.

- Sailor Suits, ages 6 to 10 years $1.50 to $6.75
D. B. Bloomer Suits, ages 8 to 16 years 3.00 to 5.00
