Carload lots of hay and oats are stored for the horses in Moir's stables. To keep rats and mice away cats are necessary. These are all black to match the black horses used in Moir's deliveries.

Practically all the fifty horses are Black Beauties. Mostly they are pure black Percherons, but one of the black ones is of registered Clydesdale pedigree.

Frank Boutillier, noted horseman, takes a loving pride in the selection and care of these horses and sees that the men clean harness and wagons daily so that all teams will stay spotless.

STILL DEFY SPANIARDS

MOORS HAVE WAGED HOLY WAR FOR CENTURIES.

Desert Kings Still Follow In Steps of Their Ancestors — Determined to Keep Spaniards In Certain Limits In Morocco — Countless Expeditions Sent Against Them.

Raisuli and Abd-el-Krim, unchallenged kings of the desert and the mountains that hem in the Spanish zone in Morocco, the two Moorish leaders whose fame has spread throughout Europe and Africa, are faithfully following in the steps of their ancestors.

For centuries Moors have waged a "Jihad," or Holy War, against the invading infidels, and to-day the Spanish hold on the narrow strip of territory behind Melilla is less secure than ever before.

How seriously the position is regarded in official circles may be judged from the fact that there are well over 150,000 Spanish troops—well-armed and equipped for modern warfare—in the Melilla salient.

Raisuli is better known than Abd-el-Krim, as his warlike activities cover a longer period.

He began life as a brigand—the family calling—and soon won for himself a great name as a daring pillager and a leader of men. Like all Moroccans, he is a crack shot, and audacious smuggler, a born bandit, and is as brave as a lion.

He laughed to scorn all the attempts made by the Spanish authorities to bring him to book for his lawlessness, and raided villages, convoys, and military outposts with unflinching regularity.

His predatory operations were assisted by the nature of the country, which consists of wide stretches of barren desert and lofty ranges of mountains, where none but the tribesmen can find their way. From these rocky fastnesses Raisuli led little armies to harry the Spanish garrisons and plunder the towns and hamlets, falsely secure in their proximity to the strongholds of Ceuta and Melilla.

There were arms and ammunition in plenty, for in his mountain strongholds at Tazerant in the Beni Aros mountains and the Fondak of Wadi Ras, Raisuli had gathered the spoil of many forays with the Spaniards. Nor was he lacking in artillery, for his captures include several batteries of machine and field guns.

He met with immediate success, and soon his fame rang from the Atlas Mountains to the Pyrenees. Spanish mothers wishing to soothe their children's "fears" or I shall give you to Raisuli! Such was the dread of his name.

Countless expeditions were sent against him, but he bore a charmed life, and although his strongholds were reported bombarded and shelled, he always turned up again and harried the invading troops, so that they had to retire to their base.

He and his men fought the flower of the Spanish army in pitched battles, and often proved victorious. His personal bravery became a household word, and his power extended over the length and breadth of Morocco.

After several years of war Raisuli quieted down, and the Spanish military authorities, wishing to make peace with him, commenced friendly overtures. These bore good fruit, and Raisuli was granted $250,000 a year and a complete pardon. It was hoped that this would see the end of the struggle, and that the rebellious Moors would devote their energies to less warlike pursuits.

Raisuli gave out that he was retiring from active hostilities and declared that he wished to remain at peace in the mountains in a zone which the Spaniards promised not to violate.

It was hoped that he would intervene on behalf of Spain to stop the recent attack by the Rifis under Abd-el-Krim, by whom he is much respected, but up to the present he does not appear to have fulfilled expectations. He has remained entirely passive, an attitude which is causing the Spanish authorities to have many anxious moments.

Abd-el-Krim has been somewhat overshadowed in the past, despite the fact that a few years ago he inflicted a crushing defeat on the Spaniards and captured hundreds of prisoners, whom he afterwards ransomed for $1,000,000. This sum was paid by Spain after long haggling.

Abd-el-Krim, at the beginning of his career, was more peaceably inclined than Raisuli, and for two years was employed by a Spanish firm in Melilla. There he found "everything bad," and, disgusted with the treatment meted out to the Moors, fled to the mountains and joined in the war against the common enemy.

At the head of fanatical but well-trained bands of tribesmen Abd-el-Krim would sweep down from the mountains and lay waste large areas of territories in the Spanish Protectorate. Then he would return to his home in a sheltered valley behind forbidding and almost inaccessible crags.

His great success occurred a short time ago, when he routed the Spaniards outside Melilla and almost drove them from the town.

It seems almost incredible that the Spanish army, with its tanks, machine guns, airplanes and heavy artillery, should not be able to wipe out its native opponents. Even the death-dealing inventions of modern science cannot cope with the bravery of the Moors, who are fighting not recklessly, but under the direction of a commander well versed in the art of war.

This struggle between Moor and Spaniard began 1,500 years ago. Is it destined to be interminable?

A MILLION A YEAR.

That First FALL COLD

NEVER forget this! It's the first 'cold snap' catching us unawares.

That finds the weak spot in throat and chest. Peps provide the best and handiest means of getting rid of Fall colds quickly and surely. Neglect adds to your troubles later on, most possibly in the shape of a bad dose of bronchial catarrh that lingers through the winter.

The first sign of hoarseness or throat irritation is evidence that you need Peps. Dissolve one or two of these pleasant infection-killing tablets in the mouth right away. Breathe deeply into throat and lungs the powerful healing and germicidal Peps medicine given off in the form of fumes. These cut the phlegm, soothe and purify the tender air passages and destroy harmful germs that start trouble in throat and lungs.

Peps remove the cause of coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. By invigorating and fortifying the entire breathing system Peps give valuable resistance against weather dangers.

IMPORTANT! The immediate 50 per cent reduction in the price of Peps, is only made possible by greatly increased sales, lowered cost of our ingredients and improved methods of manufacture. The public secure the full benefit. They should use same generously and unsparingly for value and efficiency at 25c. box.

The title role was assumed by John Gilbert, who added laurels to his histrionic crown by his artistic acting. He received admirable support from dainty Bessie Love and lovely Barbara LaMar and others in good minor roles. A Hat Roach two-reel comedy made the kiddies yield to outbursts of merriment. After a period of suffering, borne with Christian fortitude, Mrs. Fred Porter passed away on Thursday at her home on Mill Street. Mrs. Porter was about eighty years of age, most of which has been lived and spent within a radius of two miles of Centreville. A life-long member of the Baptist church. We look upon her sterling Christian life as an exemplary one, and though confined to her home for the past three or four years by the infirmities of age, her sunny character was still unobscured. She leaves to mourn a husband, Mr. Fred Porter, and two sons, Frank and Miles. The funeral services were held on Friday from her old home and burial made in the new cemetery. The venerable lady, last summer, gave the committee $100 towards this project, which they saw fit to devote to the erection of a fence and gateway, and which stands as a memorial of the good lady's bounty.

FIVE INCHES OF SNOW IN WOODS

Plaster Rock, Oct. 19.—Charles Wright, one of the Tobique guides, came in from his camps on the Wapaskie today and reported that there were about five inches of snow lying on the ground in the section at the headquarters of the Wapaskie. There was a slight snowfall here last week but it did not stay on the ground.

Smith was taking his usual Sunday afternoon stroll with his latest acquisition—a dog that would certainly have taken no prizes.

One of Smith's acquaintances met him. He gazed meditatively at the canine at the end of the leash. "That's a frightful-looking mongrel," he said frankly.

"Ssh," said the owner, warningly, "don't let him hear you. He thinks he's a foxterrier."

BRITAIN WANTS 10,000 BARRELS OF OUR POTATOES

An Order Sent Here, But There May be an Embargo.

Fredericton, Oct. 17.—The Provincial Department of Agriculture is awaiting instructions from Ottawa relative to the importation of potatoes into Great Britain. The matter is one of extreme importance to New Brunswick, as an order for ten thousand barrels for England has been received, and a portion of the order actually loaded for shipment.

The shippers were informed by the steamer company that potatoes could not be imported into England from Canada, and that the shipment must be refused. This information was the first received by the intended shippers that the English market was closed to Canadian potatoes, and the wires have been kept hot since to find out just what the situation is.

It is said that Great Britain does not know the Colorado Beetle, generally known here as the botato bug, and has no desire to know him. For that reason an embargo was placed on the importation of potatoes from a number of countries, Canada included. The order in question is for table

BODY OF WINSLOW BROWN OF PLASTER ROCK FOUND

On Sunday the body of Winslow Brown was discovered at noon after 19 days of continuous search conducted by his brother and many residents of the vicinity. The body was found lodged in a deep hole near the highway bridge pier on the eastern shore of the Tobique River in the centre of the village and only about 500 feet from the spot where the accident occurred.

On Oct. 1 Winslow Brown with Douglas and Harry Giberson had been in a boat fixing the bulkhead on the dam in order to obtain a higher level of water. The construction suddenly gave way and the boat with the three men was carried over the dam. Brown was drowned but the two Gibersons were rescued. There were several parties out in boats when the body was found, but John Brown, brother of the dead man, and Seymour Trafton were the ones who first located the remains.

The body had become covered with a considerable quantity of bark and drift stuff. People here find it difficult to understand why the diver who was employed to search for the body did not find it as he spent considerable time working in the hole where it was found today. The general opinion is that the body was lodged in the hole where it was found shortly after the accident.

Immediately after the body had been located, Coroner A. W. Ridgewell was on the scene and, after viewing it, he decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The body was then placed in a casket and interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE W. C. T. U.

Several resolutions were passed at the closing meetings of the eighth annual convention of the N. B. and P. E. I. W. C. T. U., which met in Campbellton last week. Mrs. Jas. McWha, of Sussex, was appointed press superintendent of the Provincial Union, instead of Mrs. W. B. Logan, of Moncton. This appointment concluded the various assignments to office. The following are the resolutions:

Whereas, the sale, legal or otherwise, of alcoholic drinks is one of the most dangerous foes of our race; therefore, resolved, that we return thanks to God for the great progress of the prohibition cause and for our triumph in the referendum, and also resolved that this W. C. T. U. convention would urge the provincial Government to more strictly enforce the law of importation and exportation into and out of New Brunswick, and so remove the humiliation and blame of having New Brunswick become the source of supply for other prohibition provinces and for the State of Maine.

Believing that the boys and girls should be a living, vital part of the W. C. T. U. we realize that the need of the hour is consecrated and educated leadership for loyal temperance legion branches and for the Women's Christian Temperance Unions, resolved that plans be made to train leaders.

That whereas, the solution of grave social, moral and political problems of the day demand serious consideration of women and their active participation in public affairs, resolved that we urge all women to exercise their right as voters irrespective of party politics in the full realization of their responsibility to God and His righteousness.

Resolved, that more strict censorship of our moving pictures should be enforced and that pictures be morally uplifting and educational for children, and recommended that parents should see the pictures before allowing minors to see them.

Whereas, smoking in public dining rooms during regular meal hours is becoming a common practice in our hotels and whereas, this practice is absolutely improper, unnecessary and an infringement on the comfort of others; resolved that the Women's Christian Temperance Union of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island raise its voice against the practice and request of the Minister of Health to incorporate a "no smoking in dining rooms during meal hours" in the hotel rules, and that he notify hotelkeepers and all public eating places accordingly.

Whereas, it has become a common practice for girls and women to smoke cigarettes, and believing that the health of the future motherhood of our country is menaced by this unwomanly and obnoxious practice, therefore be it resolved that we urge upon our unions a more vigorous campaign to suppress this growing evil.

In view of the attitude of the public mind toward prohibition legislation and the somewhat insidious propaganda that attains even among temperance people as well as the obvious demand for a clearer vision on the part of even the best thinkers, resolved that this meeting recommends that the provincial convention send into the different sections of New Brunswick an organizing speaker who will be capable of placing the situation clearly before the audiences and showing them the very serious responsibility they assume if by indifference or opposition they weaken in any way the present prohibitory law or discourage those who are struggling in face of many difficulties to maintain and enforce it.

A kindly mission worker was visiting a prison in the West of England when she encountered among the inmates an old acquaintance, a lad from her own village.

"Why, Jim," she explained, "is it possible I find you in prison?"

"Yes, mum," replied Jim. "I was caught stealing some groceries at Mr. Abel's store."

The mission worker sighed. "Fancy you, Jim—here!" she repeated. "I am surprised."

"Yes, mum," said Jim. "So was I, or I shouldn't be here."

"Did you have any trouble with your French in Paris?"

"No, but the French people did."

The Judge: "Prisoner, the jury find that you did not steal the spoons. You may go."

Prisoner: "Thank ye, sir. And may I keep the spoons?"

large one this year and loads of this delectable tuber can be seen on our streets any day. The price varies considerably, the vendors of this product getting what they can for them. SOCIETY'S WORST PEST

HOW THE BLACKMAILER PLIES HIS EVIL TRADE.

Human Vulture fattens on Secrets of the Dead—Willing to Be Silent, But His Silence Must Be Paid For—Is Pitiless and Merciless.

The blackmailer is pitiless and merciless. This human vulture fattens on the secrets of the dead, and his prey are the defenceless ones who can never speak or deny the foul charges brought against them.

He is willing to be silent, but this silence must be paid for, and so he extorts money from those who loved and honored the dead and who pay the price asked, in order that no disgrace may rest on their dear one's name.

"When a man is dead he can deny nothing," is a motto which might be adopted by a class of scoundrels at work nowadays, whose methods are as cunningly ingenious as they are heartless.

A man who started his career in Australia, and subsequently built up a big business and made a large fortune in England, died, leaving a son who was ambitious of entering Parliament.

Secretly had the coffin been lowered into the grave when an individual appeared with an allegation of certain black transactions in which the deceased man was declared to have participated at the Antipodes.

The son disbelieved the story, but he was afraid that a scandal, even if in reality a false and unjust one, would ruin all his political prospects before he could aspire and silence it. So he very foolishly paid to have the whole matter hushed up—and by paying once practically put himself in the power of the blackmailer, and had to submit to pitiless extortion for a number of years before he accidentally discovered that the charge against his father was, as he originally supposed, a lying fabrication.

"It is because the dead cannot come back to defend themselves that this sort of thing is possible," remarked a private inquiry agent, whose attention was drawn to the matter.

"One can understand it would be very unsafe to suppose that all the stories brought forward by these vultures, flourishing on the secrets of those in their graves, are false. Some are lies, but others are true, and frequently the truth and falsity are so intermingled as to render it impossible for even an expert to judge where one ends and the other begins.

"One scoundrel of this stamp was a person of some education and distorted talent, who used to devote practically all his time to gleaming details about the careers of men who had made their way up from nothing to eminence.

"Most men who have had this experience prefer to leave their humble past in obscurity, and the vulture took full advantage of this. An example will throw some light on his methods.

"A man found his way to a country town where no one knew him, and worked hard until he became the chief banker of the place, won a name for unimpeachable worth and probity, and eventually married the daughter of a country magistrate.

"Then he died, and as his coffin was about to be carried from the house, the blackmailer appeared at the door and demanded to see the father of the widow.

"He had discovered that the dead man, in his earlier days, had served a long term in prison, although contriving to conceal the fact in the town where he had retrieved his past; and he threatened to reveal the secret to the funeral guests unless his silence was purchased at a heavy price. He got what he asked, so that there should be no scandal.

"When he was finally arrested there was found in his possession a diary, entries in which left no doubt that he had made a systematic practice of 'marking' likely victims during their lifetimes, and learning everything possible concerning their past careers, so that when they died their widows and grown-up sons and daughters could be compelled to pay for the suppression of the different secrets.

"The blackmailer's net was ample enough to sweep in any and every sort of prey. Among his victims was the widow of a small shopkeeper, who paid a few shillings a week—a considerable sum to her—to prevent the revelation of the fact that her husband had been guilty of fraudulent bankruptcy.

"While he was grinding every possible shilling out of this poor woman the blackmailer was extorting heavy sums from a peer of the realm."

In an office was a clerk—a man of a prying and cunning character, who took no pains to make himself popular with his fellow-clerks. He was the son of a friend of the elderly head of the firm, and was retained solely on this account and out of pure good nature. On the old man's death it was taken for granted by the staff that the obnoxious individual would be discharged by the new head of the business, the old man's eldest son.

Instead of this, however, he was promoted to the chief clerkship at once, with double his former salary, and subsequently advanced from one post to another, although no one could guess what he had done to deserve it.

He had done nothing at all, but he had discovered a guilty secret in the life of his dead master and benefactor, and rather than allow his father's honored name to be disgraced the son had consented to accede to the demands of a blackmailer, who thus became a regular Old Man of the Sea to him.—Tit-Bits.

Ant Travels Rapidly.

If we moved our legs proportionately as fast as an ant, it is calculated we could travel nearly 8000 miles an hour.

Here and There

Tourist business throughout Canada has been remarkably productive this year and it is estimated that its total value for the Dominion will exceed $100,000,000. This places the tourist traffic high among Canada's industries.

The "Princess Kathleen", one of the two fine steamers under construction for the Canadian Pacific Railway's British Columbia coastal service, was launched at Glasgow, Scotland, on September 27th. Lady Mount Stephen, widow of Lord Mount Stephen, former president of the company, performed the launching ceremony.

As an indication of how plentiful wild game has become of recent years in the Province of Quebec comes a report from Montreal, which records the recent appearance of a full-grown bull moose in its element, a suburb of the city. It is thought to have strayed into the neighborhood from the forest to the north. The animal was quite tame and was easily captured.

The Duke of Alba, who, with other Spanish grandees, recently completed an extensive tour of Canada, purchased a number of very valuable furs for gifts to be presented to his friends, including the King and Queen of Spain. The furs were acquired while the Duke was sojourning at Banff, the popular mountain resort on the Canadian Pacific main line.

So greatly has the turkey industry grown in Saskatchewan that many herds now have been arranged by the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture and the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association for the marketing of both dressed and live turkeys this fall. Inspectors will be furnished for grading and giving killing and dressing demonstrations.

So heavy was the movement of grain from the lakes to the port of Montreal recently that serious congestion was feared. The storage capacity of the port is 10,000,000 bushels and the grain in sight was greatly in excess of this figure. But skilful handling quickly reduced the amount in hand to 7,350,442 bushels, relieving the situation completely. No further possibility of congestion is anticipated.

It is expected that before the season closes, the work of re-ballasting the main lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the Quebec District between Montreal and Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto and Montreal and Quebec will be completed. The latter section requires only a few miles to be finished, while the other portions of line referred to have already been finished. As a result, the Canadian Pacific will have in these lines a road-bed which is not exceeded by any other on this continent.

Night was coming on, the storm increasing and some of the deck things had already been swept overboard, when the captain decided to send up a distress signal.

The rocket was already lit and about to ascend when a seaman messenger stopped up.

"Captain," said he, "I'd be the last man on earth to cast a damper on any

Watchmen Who Never Sleep

Top left—Shows how they guard the approach to the Kestry Trench Pass; right, the passage through the Pass itself, and the Tulliver Tunnel (below).

Comparatively few of the thousands of miles of railroad in Canada are electrified, but there is no railway organization which does not rely to a greater or lesser extent on electricity as an aid to efficient operation and service. Electricity plays an important part in all of the great Railroad Shops through the country. Some trains and cars are operated by power directly transmitted or stored in batteries. Bridges are operated, and a thousand and one electrical devices are in constant use which beside being labor saving do away with the human element which might make for inefficiency. Numbered among these are the automatic Block Signals which one finds distributed along the line of the Canadian Pacific, and notices particularly in the Rocky Mountain passes where they are more urgently required.

To the average layman an automatic signal is just a signal, and the general public is only interested in it because it gives added protection, or rather eliminates possible danger from the portion of track which it governs. To the railroad official it is more. It acts as watchman against broken rails, open switches, a fouled track or any other obstruction. Through a circuit in the rail this is accomplished, and if the circuit be broken, for the reason that another train is occupying the block, or that there is an open switch, a broken rail, washout or other obstruction, then the train approaching the signal may not pass. And while it awaits a through signal, trains following in the rear may not approach for the reason that they are also stopped by an automatic signal which will not release them until the preceding train has passed from that section of the track which they desire to enter. A perfect system. No electrical circuit — no through signal — no train may pass.

The value of this system in the Rockies can hardly be over-estimated. Not only is labor saved, but the company is able to ensure absolute protection.

ROBB'S REVENUE REDUCER

The effects on the Dominion Treasury during the last six months have shown that what the country really got in the form of fiscal changes in the Budget Speech last session was a strong dose of Robb's Revenue Reducer. In this, as in all other cases in which so-called remedies are applied, results, and results only, count. When the changes were announced there was much difference of opinion as to their probable effects; but a glance at our greatly reduced revenues leaves now no doubt as to what the country really got.

The returns of the Customs and Excise Department for the first six months of the current fiscal year, that is to September 30th, shows that the receipts from customs and excise taxes were approximately $30,000,000 below those for the corresponding period of last year. That is they were only $121,213,000, as compared with $151,392,000. In other words, during the first six months, the Treasury has lost more through these sources of revenue than Mr. Robb thought would be lost during the whole year.

Nor is the outlook any brighter. In April customs collections were about $700,000 below those for the corresponding month of last year which was bad enough; but in September they were $1,600,000 below those in September last year. Revenue will not begin to increase until business improves, and it certainly is not improving. August employment figures issued by the Labour Department show that there were 14,000 fewer persons employed in industries reporting than during July, and in that month the number was 10,000 below that in June. Increased, rather than decreased employment is the forerunner of better business.

How can business be expected to improve as long as our home market continues to contract? Immigration during August was actually 50 per cent below that for August, 1923; on the other hand emigration was just as pronounced. With fewer people coming in and more going out, how can business prosper? Robb's Revenue Reducer has done all that Conservatives said it would. It is reducing the revenue to a skeleton.

And while all this has been going on there has been no reduction in expenditure. The consequence is that the Treasury will be millions of dollars behind this year!

BETTER IN EVERY WAY

After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ingomar, N. S.—"I took your medicine for a run-down condition and inward troubles. I had pains in my right side so bad at times that I could not walk any distance. I saw about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and have taken five bottles of it. I am better in every way and you can use my letter to help other women."—Mrs. ALVITA M. PERRY, Ingomar, N. S.

Nervous Breakdown Relieved

Toronto, Ontario.—"It is pretty hard to explain your feelings in nervous troubles. I felt low spirited, had pains in my head and eyes, always crying, and did not want to go anywhere. I do knitting and fancy work, and I would get irritable after a few minutes of work. I have been in Canada five years and have been this way ever since I came. I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I sleep better and it seems to make me eat, and I must say I am feeling more jolly. I have great faith in your medicine because of what it has done for my husband's sister and she recommended it to me."—Mrs. A. SMITH, 10 Burleigh Avenue, Todmorden, Toronto, Ontario.

All druggists sell this dependable medicine, and women suffering from these troubles so common to their sex should give it a trial now.

BETTERISMS

Better to show too much courtesy than too little.
Better of two evils, to choose neither.

Better to be deceived than to trust nobody.
Better to say nothing than nothing to the purpose.

Better to aim high and fail, than not to aim high enough.

Better break word if ill would be done by keeping it.

"That Mrs. Smart is getting too clever."

"What's the matter?" she queried. "When she came in just now she told me I ought to rename my scales the Ambuscade brand."

"Well, why?" began his wife.

"I've looked-up the word and it means 'to lie in wait.'"

Mrs. Goodbody: "And how long were you prisoner?"

Beggar: "Five years, ma'am."

Mrs. Goodbody: "But the war did not last five years."

Beggar: "Who's talking about the war, ma'am?"

INCREASE IN CARIBOU

Protection of Animals is Having Effect—Herd of Nine Recently Seen on Tobique

Reports to Chief Game Warden L. A. Gagnon indicate that caribou are showing signs of increase this season. The animals have been protected for some years and still are protected. The possibility is that in time the caribou will become plentiful enough to permit hunting.

Game Warden Gough of Tobique has informed the Chief Warden that he recently saw a herd of nine caribou in his territory. That was about a week ago and earlier in the autumn the caribou were seen in the same section. It is three ears since they first were observed in the Tobique country. The increase which has been noticed is believed to be the result of breeding and not of migration. This is very encouraging.

Originally the caribou returned to New Brunswick from Quebec via the Matapedia Valley. It is believed that they came from the Gaspé Peninsula. Some years ago New Brunswick was an excellent caribou country and may be again. The animal has a migratory instinct and frequently changes its district of habitation.

A theory which is strongly supported by fact is that with the increase in the number of deer the caribou move out of deer infested country.

Here and There

Immigration to Canada for the month of August, 1924, totalled 20,186, of whom 5,706 were from the British Isles, 1,784 from the United States, and 12,696 from other countries. Immigration for the first five months of the fiscal year totalled 76,719. In the same period 23,861 Canadians have returned to Canada from domicile in the United States.

As an indication that the tide of settlers has definitely set in the direction of Canada, it has been made known by the Department of Immigration and Colonization that 5,000 acres of land near Lethbridge has been sold to ten families of 75 persons from South Dakota. This, it is announced, is only the advance guard of a considerable northward movement from that region.

"We will have a good report to present when we reach the Hebrides," said Rev. Father Alex. MacDougall, a member of the Hebridean commission of inquiry which investigated conditions of Hebrideans in Canada. The members of the commission, after visiting Alberta, reported the new settlers perfectly satisfied with Canadian conditions.

Among the passengers sailing for Europe aboard the Canadian Pacific Steamship "Empress of France" on October 8th, was Geo. A. Walton, General Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, who will represent the company on an extensive tour of Europe arranged for the American Association of Passenger Traffic Officers, by the trans-Atlantic steamship companies and the railroads of Great Britain and the continent.

Charles J. Pernigotti, a native of Danbury, Conn., has received a commission from the Prince of Wales to paint some of his blooded stock on the E. P. ranch, near High River, on the Canadian Pacific lines in Alberta. Pernigotti, who has attained a reputation as a painter of animals, says the commission was awarded during the Prince's stay at Syosset. He will commence work the latter part of October.

As a result of the survey conducted by the newly formed Graphic Arts Association, printing and allied trades are now shown to constitute the second largest industry in Winnipeg, Man., representing an investment of $10,054,318, and providing employment for 12,000 people. The report shows that during 1923 the sum of $3,619,322 was paid in salaries.

With the approaching close of the tourist season, plans are being laid for the continuation of construction work at the Chateau Frontenac, the Canadian Pacific Railway's palatial hotel in the city of Quebec. Some of the interior decorating and the completion of rooms of the main corridor in the Chateau had to be left unfinished when the present tourist season opened, but it is expected that work on these parts of the hotel will commence very shortly. The billiard room and other rooms in the basement will also be completed as soon as possible.

"Jack—"Masculine and feminine. The masculine are divided into temperate and intemperate, and the female into frigid and torrid."

Jones: "How is your young cousin, the doctor, getting on with his practice?"

Smith: "Very slowly. The whole family is trying to help him out; but, of course, we can't be ill all the time."

Angry Visitor: "I call this a downright swindle! You advertise on your bills, 'The Most Remarkable Dwarf in the World,' and he turns out to be five feet five inches high."

Bland Showman: "Exactly, sir. That's what's so remarkable about him. He's the tallest dwarf on record."

Mr. Newrich had taken his wife to Paris and the lady was quite unable to resist the lures of the jewellers' shops which abound in a certain thoroughfare. As he totted up the bills, Newrich was heard to groan: "Well, I don't wonder that they call this street the Rue de la Pay!"

An old Southern planter was discussing the hereafter with his servant. "The first one that goes, Sam, must come back and tell the other what it is like over there."

"Yes, massa. Dat suits me exactly, massa, but if you go fust, would you please come back in the daytime?"

She—"And now, Charlie, I suppose you will have to speak to papa about this?"

He—"Yes, dearest, I suppose I must." (After a pause). "Has your father got a telephone?"

"How much bread do you sell a day?" the customer asked.

"Some four hundred pounds on the average," replied the baker.

"I can tell you how to sell five hundred pounds," said the customer.

"Can you?" said the baker, eagerly.

SHOOT BOBBED-HAIR GIRL FOR WOODCHUCK

Attleboro, Mass., Oct. 14.—Seeing a bushy object through a tree, James F. Kennedy, caretaker of an estate here, fired a load of buckshot, expecting to bring down a woodchuck. Instead, he heard a scream, saw a girl rise and swoon, and discovered that the buckshot had lodged in the scalp of Miss Lydia M. White, without serious injury. The gunner had mistaken for a woodchuck the young woman's bushy bobbed hair.

POLICE SEARCH FOR MISSING MAN

Woodstock, Oct. 17.—Sheriff Maguire, of Bangor, has been here in consultation with Sheriff Albion Foster relating to the alleged automobile bandits now under arrest and in Skowhegan jail. One man is missing, and it is supposed to be the one shot by a Smyrna Mills watchman, during the attempted robbery of a store. It is known that he was taken to a hospital for treatment and given temporary relief, but refused to stay there. The American sheriff thinks he is a patient at some hospital on the border, or is being cared for in a private home. The party now under arrest are the father and two sons named Stevens, and the man arrested in Boston is Hoppe, a son-in-law.

Sheriff Maguire says that a man with a wooden leg was one of the party in New Brunswick and Maine robberies. It will be remembered that a wooden legged man was arrested near the county line and placed in jail here. He was kept for several days, and not being identified was let go. The sheriff thinks this is the man wanted. He left town as soon as liberated and has not been heard of since.

RADIO FOR FARMERS

The agricultural knowledge slowly gathered by devoted masters of the world's oldest science will be made available to the farmers of Eastern Canada by means of an arrangement just entered into between Macdonald Agricultural College, St. Anne's and Marconi radio station CFCF.

If a farmer has a problem which needs solution, or is anxious to have advice upon some phase of his work, it will only be necessary to write to Marconi station CFCF, Montreal, and the matter will be turned over to the college for attention.

The replies to the enquiries thus received will be broadcasted, together with the enquiry, from station CFCF during the Monday and Friday evening broadcasts at an hour which will be published later. In this way not only the original enquirer, but other farmers who possess radio sets will benefit from the advice given out from the college.

This new step forward in radio service was made possible through the whole hearted co-operation of Professor F. C. Harrison, principal of Macdonald College who has offered to assist in every way to make the scheme a success.

Mr. Alltalk was a very poor speaker; and after his oratory had run on for over an hour, some of his audience began to leave. As one man slipped out of the doorway, another who had waited outside, asked hopefully:

"Has he finished?"

"Has he finished?"

"Yes," said the first sufferer, grimly. "Long ago; but he won't stop."

PRINCE OF WALES PAYING VISIT TO THE CAPITAL

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—The Prince of Wales arrived here at 7 o'clock this evening and his train had barely come to a standstill when he stepped off and hurried forward but in hand to receive the greetings of His Excellency the Governor-General, Hon. G. P. Graham, Acting Prime Minister and Hon. Martin Burrell.

The Prince who was wearing a light overcoat over his evening clothes walked down the long platform chatting animatedly with the Governor-General and lifting his derby hat to the saluting police and guards. As His Royal Highness and Lord Byng entered the station a tremendous crowd held back by a special detachment of Royal Canadian Mounted Police, cheered again and again while the official party passed through the station.

Outside the station crowds lined the sidewalks for block after block and cheered the Prince as the motor cars carrying the party proceeded to Government House. The Prince will stay at Government House tonight where an official dinner is being given.

"Do you know my lady?" asked a young man who had become acquainted with the royal party. "Yes," was the answer, "she is the daughter of the man who grew up."

"Yes," I've never been lucky enough to catch a good one."

FALL SKIN WORRIES

CHANG-OF-SEASON brings troublesome skin troubles. Pimples, irritating rashes, blotches, etc., are often harbingers of very serious, persistent and other stubborn disease. A little Zam-Buk will soon put your skin right. Nothing else takes away pain and irritation so readily as this famous herbal healer. Sinking deep into the tissue, it destroys harmful germs, expels impurities and makes the skin healthy and clear. Zam-Buk ensures quick anti-septic healing and protects injuries against festering and blood-poison, and is a widely-used remedy for piles. Zam-Buk Medicinal Soap is a valuable aid to the treatment.
