

FIGHTING SPEECH AT ESSEX BY MINISTER OF JUSTICE

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, Before Great Gathering, Makes Telling Criticism of Mr. Borden's Methods.

[By Our Own Reporter.]
Essex, Sept. 19.—The Liberal picnic here today was one of the most successful political gatherings this historic old riding has ever held. A very large crowd was in attendance and the utmost enthusiasm and hopefulness prevailed. A long array of speakers were present, and were greeted with great enthusiasm. Hon. A. B. Aylesworth was the orator of the day, and made a strong speech. He scored the scandal-mongering policy of Mr. Borden in unmeasured terms, and gave some historic facts that made a profound impression. His speech was punctuated often with ringing cheers. Hon. A. G. McKay, also spoke briefly and was well received. The chair was occupied by Mr. John Tremblay, of Tilbury.

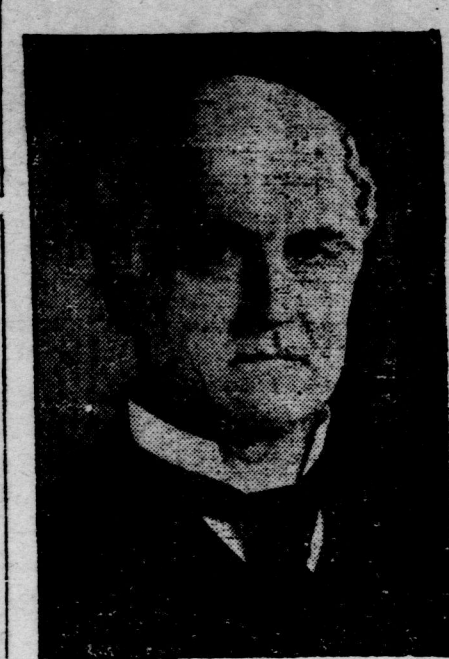

Confidence in Government.
Mr. C. E. Naylor and Mr. John Holden, presidents of the riding associations, read addresses expressing confidence in the administration of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The Government had splendidly administered the affairs of the country, and the people of Canada were prosperous and happy. The excellent administration of the post-office department and the settlement of labor troubles had done honor to the great Liberal party. Resolutions of confidence in the loyal opposition in the provincial house were also passed.

Eulogized Sir Wilfrid.
Mr. A. H. Clarke, M.P., North Essex, delivered a brief speech. He regretted that traditions of the office of speaker forbade Speaker Sutherland from taking part in the demonstration. He referred to the recent dynamite explosion in Essex, a calamity which he sincerely regretted. He mourned the death of Dr. Brien, a former member for the riding, a man of splendid abilities and influence. Mr. Clarke eulogized Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his splendid Government.

Compare the Records.
Mr. Valentine Ratz, M. P. for North Middlesex also spoke briefly. He referred to the slander campaign inaugurated by Mr. Borden and warned the audience not to believe all the tales told concerning graft. They should compare the records of the two parties and then their judgment would not be warped by the statements of Mr. Borden and his colleagues.

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be Premier as long as he lives," declared Mr. Ratz in closing.
"My Dear Lefurgey."
Mr. Dan Derbyshire, ex-M. P. for Brockville, who gave up his seat for the Hon. Geo. P. Graham, eulogized the members for Essex. They had done valiant services for the party and for the country during their term in the House. Essex needed a new postoffice, and he declared that he would bring this matter to the attention of Hon. Mr. Aylesworth.

The case was heard in the division court which was presided over by Judges Elliott and Macbeth.

LIBERAL CAUCUS CHOOSES MR. M'KAY

Brilliant Young Member Succeeds
Mr. Graham as Ontario Leader.

Toronto, Sept. 20.—Hon. A. G. McKay, M.P.P. for North Grey, was elected leader of the Liberal party in Ontario at this morning's caucus, of the Liberal members of the Legislature.

Mr. Alexander Grant McKay was born in Sydenham Township, Grey County, in 1860, of Highland-Scotch parents. He was educated at Owen Sound Collegiate and at the University of Toronto, graduating in 1883. For four years he was principal of Port Rowan high school, and during the next four years he studied law. Mr. McKay was called to the bar in 1891, after a brilliant course, and so speedily did he make himself known as a pleader that in 1894 he was appointed crown attorney for Grey, an office held by him till 1901, when he resigned to enter politics. Mr. McKay was first returned to the Legislature in May, 1902, and in November, 1904, joined the Ross administration as commissioner of crown lands. During his short term in office he was a most efficient administrator. In Opposition he has been a keen and unsparring critic of the Whitney Government.

ST. THOMAS YOUNG LADY ADMITTED TO THE BAR

Toronto, Sept. 20.—The unusual spectacle of a woman being admitted to the bar was witnessed at Osgoode Hall this morning, when Miss Geraldine B. Robinson, a daughter of the late J. A. Robinson, of St. Thomas, was sworn in as a barrister by Mr. Justice Macpherson.

There are only two other women barristers in the Province—Miss E. M. Powler, of Port Stanley, admitted five years ago, and Miss Clara Brett Martin, of Toronto, admitted ten years ago.

MR. GEO. M'CLARY DIES SUDDENLY

Was Treasurer of the McClary
Manufacturing Company—
Ill a Short Time.

In the death of Mr. George McClary which took place yesterday at the residence of his brother, Mr. A. E. McClary, at 388 Dundas street, London, loses one of its brightest businessmen, and a most estimable citizen.

Mr. McClary developed a bad cold in the early part of last January which eventually culminated in an attack of pneumonia. This summer he made a trip to Muskoka and seemed to be much improved in health.

Upon his return to this city two weeks ago last Wednesday, he was subject to another attack of pneumonia but seemed to be convalescing nicely until last Friday night, when his condition became alarming. From that time he rapidly grew worse, and the end came yesterday.

Mr. McClary had been identified with the McClary Manufacturing Company, of which he was treasurer at the time of his death, for over twenty years. He was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver McClary, both of whom passed away a number of years ago, and is survived by his brother, Mr. A. E. McClary, and a sister, Mrs. John M. Moore, of 478 Waterloo street. Mr. McClary was born on Wellington street, this city, in 1861, and has been a life-long resident of London. The deceased was connected with the Brunswick Club for a number of years.

Mr. McClary was a member of the English Church and attended St. Paul's Cathedral. The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock and will be private.

TWO KILLED BY EXPRESS TRAIN

Goderich Lady and Gentleman Fatally Injured at Hespeler.

Hespeler, Sept. 20.—The 11 o'clock express train from Guelph this morning struck a rig at Waterloo crossing, three miles east of Hespeler, badly injuring F. Reid and Miss McDowell, both of Goderich. Both were taken to Galt Hospital, where they succumbed later to their injuries.

MR. HYMAN'S HEALTH

Alarmist Story From Ottawa Scouted
by Relatives in This City.

A dispatch from Ottawa to The Advertiser today says:

"Statements have reached Ottawa that Hon. Charles S. Hyman's health is no better. The ex-minister is suffering from the most severe nervous breakdown. It is doubtful if he will ever return to London, or ever manage his business if he does."

Inquiry at Mr. Hyman's home revealed the fact that the Ottawa story is exaggerated.

"I had letters from Mr. Hyman, dated Aug. 10 and 12," said Mrs. Hyman to The Advertiser, "and in both letters he said that he was feeling much better. He is able to sleep five hours in succession each night. The letters I received were by the last boat, and nothing since then has been heard. He writes to no one but myself, not even to the office, so I do not see how such stories could get out. He is certainly improving in health."

A Great Assortment of Offenders At the Local Police Court Today

Number of Cases Dealt With by Police Magistrate Love—A Catapult Charge.

There was a great assortment of offenders in police court this morning before Magistrate Love, but perhaps the most unusual case on the docket was that against Henry Milligan, who was charged with using a catapult or sling shot on the public street.

Inasmuch as it was his first offense he would have been released in all probability, had he not made a lot of trouble by giving the police a fictitious name. As it was the young man was assessed $1.35 cost of the charge.

Angus Comp, the alleged deserter from the barracks, who was arrested yesterday, was turned over to an escort from Wolsley Barracks where he was taken for trial.

Comp enlisted two years ago, and after serving a year of his time he is alleged to have deserted.

All track had been lost of him until last evening when he was seen in the King Edward restaurant on King street and arrested.

Off-Postponed Case.

It was expected that the Gray-Burton rape case which has been postponed so many times would come up, but for some reason or another it was again held over for a week. If the accused are not committed for trial within two weeks, the prisoners cannot be tried at the October assizes unless they elect to be tried by a judge, and would have to lay over for several months.

Thomas Russell, who was found guilty of stealing a quantity of goods from a booth at the Fair grounds a week or so ago, was sentenced to one month in the common jail.

A case against Leonard Brooks for allowing horses to run at large was laid over for a week as was also a charge of insanity against J. B. Sherman.

Dedication of All Saints' Church; Edifice Is a Most Beautiful One

Impressive Ceremony Will Take Place Tonight—A Long List of Donations.

Tonight the new All Saints' Church on the corner of the Hamilton road and Inkerman street will be dedicated, and a splendid programme has been prepared for the occasion. Rev. T. B. Clarke is the pastor of the church.

The first sod of the church was turned by Mrs. T. H. Smallman on Oct. 1, 1906, and building operations were commenced immediately afterwards.

The church is 94 feet long by 54 feet wide. The height of the nave 40 feet. The tower rises to a height of 95 feet. There is seating accommodation for over 500 persons. The cost of the building is about $20,000.

The basement affords accommodation for a Sunday school, infants' room, library, chapel, lavatories and classrooms.

The following appointments and furnishings were presented to the church:

Oak retables, given by Mr. Harold Richardson, to commemorate the establishment of All Saints' Church, by his father, the Ven. Archdeacon Richardson.

Brass candelabra presented by a friend.

An altar cross presented by the Lord Bishop of London, England.

The Holy Table has been enlarged at the expense of Mr. T. Eccles. This sacred piece of furniture had been in use in the old St. Thomas Church, St. Thomas, from 1824 to 1877, and in that year it was removed to All Saints' Church.

BIG MILL FIRE AT CHATHAM; LOSES CLOSE TO $50,000

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Chatham, Sept. 20.—Fire of unknown origin this morning completely destroyed the planing mill of Wm. M. Dyer, Queen street, and it is roughly estimated that the loss will amount to between $40,000 and $50,000, the building and contents being well insured. The fire was one of the most spectacular as well as the most dangerous that has occurred here in many a day, and only the most strenuous efforts of the fire department and citizens saved the block. It required two hours of furious fire fighting to control the flames. There were some narrow escapes by employees, but no one received very serious injuries, although one, Ed. Masters, was nearly suffocated in an attempt to save his tools.

Owing to a high wind a large number of other buildings quite a distance from the fire began to blaze. The most serious of these was a fire caused by a spark in Taylor's mill, which necessitated another alarm. This fire was, however, soon extinguished. Chrysler's barn was also ablaze, while the roof of Christ Church started burning. Besides these four other minor blazes were recorded, all due to sparks. In fact, on Tuesday, Glassford's caught on fire, twice before it finally settled down.

Bishop Nearly Smothered by Kisses; English Prelate's Arrival in Aylmer

Met by a Bevy of Nieces and Other Members of His Brother's Family.

Aylmer, Sept. 19.—"I am delighted to see you all," was the salutation of the Lord Bishop of London as he stepped off the London train at 3:46 yesterday afternoon. He was immediately surrounded by a number of the town's eminent men, and as he progressed he took cordially by the hand every man, woman and child on the platform.

The Lord Bishop's arrival at Aylmer was in a measure a homecoming. His brother, Francis Herbert W. Ingram, his brother's wife, and Mr. Stanley Christopher, a close friend of the Lord Bishop, composed the party. The people on the little station platform accorded the bishop the heartiest reception he has yet received on his travels through Canada.

Overshadowing their desire to greet one of the world's great men was the touch of personal interest and kindly feeling. This element in their welcome is derived from the fact that the bishop's brother has resided for so long among them that their own feelings were stirred in greeting the great churchman. Genial, smiling, chatting unreservedly with everyone he met the bishop progressed slowly through the crowd.

Took a Day Off.

"They took a day off in London to cheer me off," he smiled to those about him. "I can't express my feeling of pleasure and gratification that your welcome has given me." Then the lord bishop started down the platform and for the moment escaped.

London Not Affected by New Rule

"I have read the rules governing the milk business compiled by Dr. Hodgget, but we have been doing that work for some time," said Dr. Hutchinson, medical health officer, today. "In fact, London was the first city to inaugurate a milk inspection. Some of the details of the rules laid down are impracticable. For instance, how are we to know whether a man washes his hands before he milks. We cannot watch the man all the time. There are several other rules like that. We see that the milkmen keeps within the laws as best we can. We inspect the herds and do all that sort of thing. Our milk supply is kept as clean as it is possible to keep it."

No Overdraft This Year, Says Mayor

"There will be no overdraft this year," said Mayor Judd to The Advertiser this morning. "The business of the year has been conducted in a very economical manner, and the result is that a considerable saving of money has been effected to the city. No. 3 will have a good surplus. No. 2 will get inside of its appropriation, although there will not be much to spare. No. 1 is all right. We had $60,000 for sewers and have spent only $45,000, making a great saving to the city. There has been no scrimping, but straight business."

More work has been done by day labor than for many years past, and it has resulted in a great saving to the city. Several sewers were laid by Engineer Graydon, by day labor, and the cost has been in every case much lower than if the same work had been done by contract. He has had a free hand, and has been able to get good men in his employ with a most satisfactory result to the citizens.

Mrs. Pritchett Settles for $1,250

One of the very important damage suits which was entered to be heard at the assizes in October has been settled.

Mrs. Lucy Pritchett, the mother of Hugh Richard Jennings, the unfortunate brakeman who lost his life in the G. T. R. yards here a few weeks ago, had entered suit for unstated damages against the railroad.

Yesterday a settlement was effected between the parties at a figure of $1,250.

Mr. J. F. Faulds acted for the plaintiff.

NEW TREATY WITH FRANCE BEGINS

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—The following cable was received by Sir Wilfrid Laurier this afternoon from Hon. W. S. Fielding at Paris:

"The new treaty respecting the commercial relations between France and Canada was signed at the foreign office this afternoon. The plenipotentiaries appointed by King Edward to sign the treaty were Right Hon. Sir Francis Bertie, British ambassador at Paris; Hon. W. S. Fielding, Canadian minister of finance; Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Canadian minister of marine and fisheries. The French plenipotentiaries were M. Pichon, minister of foreign affairs; M. Caillaux, minister of finance; M. Doumergue, minister of commerce; M. Ruau, minister of agriculture. The treaty of 1893, which is now superseded, was one of very limited range, dealing with but a few articles. The new treaty is of a much more extensive character, providing tariff concessions on both sides covering quite a large list of articles. It also deals with general questions affecting the commercial relations of the two countries. The details of the treaty are not to be made public at present, and any may not be published until laid before the French Chambers and the Canadian Parliament. Ministers will leave Paris in a day or two for London, and will sail from Liverpool by the Victorian Sept. 27. (Signed) FIELDING."

Local Bowlers Invited To Visit Old Country

Those who remember the enjoyable time spent in this city by local bowlers on the occasion of the visit of the British team will be pleased to learn that an invitation has been extended to London bowlers to visit the other side next summer.

Mr. James Tytler, the popular and efficient secretary of the W. O. B. A., recently received the following letter which explains itself:

"Secretary Western Ontario Bowling Association, London, Ont.
My Dear Sir,—I am directed by the representatives of this board to extend to you, in conjunction with the Ontario Bowling Association, a very hearty invitation to send over to the old country a team of bowlers during the summer of 1908. The board were unanimous in their opinion that the team should consist of four rinks, and that it be left to you to bring what number of reserves you think necessary. It is often a difficult matter here for clubs to play more than four rinks and we also think it would be a considerable help to you to limit the games to four rinks, so that with your reserves, you would be able to go through the programme with more time and comfort to yourselves. The British team are most anxious to return the kind hospitality they received in all parts of the Dominion last year, and all of us here will look forward to your visit with pleasurable anticipation. I trust you will be able to accept our invitation, and a shall be pleased to hear from you at your convenience in order that I may proceed to make the necessary preliminary arrangements.

Assuring you of a very hearty welcome, and with best wishes for the continued success of your association, believe me, yours very faithfully,
W. STONEHEWER,
Honorary Secretary International Bowling Board.

TROOPS SURROUND THE VATICAN

An Anti-Clerical Demonstration Feared Today at the Papal Palace.

Rome, Sept. 20.—This being the thirty-seventh anniversary of the occupation of Rome by the Italian troops and the fall of the temporal power of the papacy, all the armed men in the Vatican were detailed to watch the entrances of the apostolic palace, or to patrol the garden and courtyards, considerable anxiety being felt regarding the possibility of hostile demonstrations in view of the recent displays of anti-Catholic feeling.

Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state, who is at Castle Bandofo, is in frequent telephonic communication with the Vatican, informing the Pope of the situation in various parts of Italy. The Government, in order to prevent the possibility of outrages, has caused the Vatican to be guarded night and day by troops.

RALLY OF ESSEX LIBERALS

Mr. Lemieux at once. He regretted the absence of Mr. Graham who was busily engaged securing a candidate to succeed himself for the local house. He deprecated the attempts of a third rate lawyer on the back concessions to make light of the abilities of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. This same third-rate lawyer had attacked Mr. Aylesworth and everyone else.

He attacked Mr. Borden on his "purity" cry. Mr. Borden was going around talking purity of elections, but he went down and met "My Dear Lefurges" to whom Geo. W. Fowler had written to "keep him, except to Bennett and Borden." This was the man who talked of purity. Trailing him in Nova Scotia was Geo. E. Foster, whose hands had been deep in the money of widows and orphans of Ontario. In New Brunswick he was trailed by Geo. W. Fowler who had told Lefurges to keep him until they got the money. In Quebec Mr. Borden had Mr. Rufus Pope, one of the executive who had handled the money, and in Chatham he had Mr. Matthew Wilson, chairman of the Union Trust Company. Mr. Borden trailed around with the men whom Sir McKenzie Bowell had called "a nest of traitors" men who had betrayed Bowell and his Government. These were the men Mr. Borden compared to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his Government against whom there were no stain.

The Minister of Justice.

Mr. Aylesworth gracefully acknowledged the splendid reception given him, and honest a statesman as ever drew the breath of life. Last week at a public meeting in Dundas I read an extract from Mr. Borden's speech, and I had a word or two to say by way of answer. Since then the newspapers of this Province have been profuse in their accounts of challenges to wordy war and combat. From Mr. Borden to myself, I was waited upon not long ago by the representative of a Toronto newspaper who wanted to know where I would meet Mr. Borden. I had no other answer to make than that I had met him before the floor of the House, and would meet him there again. Mr. Borden will be welcome if he comes to any meeting where I happen to be present. I shall be pleased to see and meet him. But it is a vain and idle thing that he, as champion of the Conservative party, should go about vilifying and challenging his opponents to meet him. Does he think that I am going to follow him? I am here, let him come, I said before in referring to Mr. Borden that he had better look to his own case, and I said what I am prepared to uphold anywhere and before any tribunal in this country, that certain statements of what the petitioners in the Halifax election case said they could prove with regard to Mr. Borden's own connection with corrupt practices at the late Dominion general elections had been submitted to me, and I expressed my opinion on those statements as any lawyer might. I said what I repeat today that if these things were established at the trial, Mr. R. L. Borden would stand elevated for eight years from the House of Commons in Canada.

In the eyes of Mr. Borden and his supporters, the speaker had been guilty of a crime only to be compared to the majestic effect, and that it would be better to name in each province persons acceptable to the friends of the party in the locality. Copies of that letter, Mr. Borden had said, were sent to all the provinces where he had given aid. Mr. Borden, according to newspaper reports, has condescended to accept the platform, that no such letter had been written. Thus the matter stands before you. You are the jurors. On the one hand is Mr. Borden's denial. On the other hand you have Mr. Graham, a political friend and supporter, so enthusiastic that he subscribed large sums to the Conservative election fund, swearing that he not only received such a letter, but that he sent copies of it to each of the other provinces where he had given aid. Is he mistaken? Has he forgotten? Is he imagining? Could any man bring himself to the point of believing, he had done that thing when he had not done it? That one instance of what went on in Quebec ought to be a warning to any who might be led away with the idea that Mr. Borden and his colleagues could or would if returned to power purify the electoral atmosphere.

Mr. Borden Warned.

He (Mr. Aylesworth) warned the leader of the Opposition, and wanted him to understand, that if he preferred to fight his political battles along the lines suggested in his speech in Chatham and elsewhere, he need not expect to escape scot free. He would not hesitate for a moment to speak his mind to him at any place or at any time, before his face or in his absence. Mr. Borden had said at Peterboro that the speaker was a discredit to Canada. On the floor of the House of Commons he had told Mr. Borden that he entertained very little value on any opinion he might form of him. It might be that Mr. Aylesworth had a little prejudice against Mr. Borden, because he was a comparatively recent convert to the Conservative faith. In any case, Mr. Borden was welcome to his opinions.

Mr. Aylesworth took comfort in the thought that they were not the opinions of the people of Canada. Talking of discredit, did not Mr. Borden stand discredited before the people of this country. As the Conservative leader he had not been able to find even in his own native province a single constituency that had any confidence in him.

"Is he the man then," demanded Mr. Aylesworth, "to say that I am a discredit to Canada? If he does, then I reciprocate the compliment."

Nothing To Do With Gamey.

"Mr. Borden has stated that before there was any reputation of the remarks about disqualification, I had better devote some little time to explaining my connection with the Gamey affair. Well, I say to Mr. Borden that it will take me no longer to explain my connection with the Gamey matter than it will take him to explain his connection with the Lefurges-Pope-Fowler affair. Much less in fact. Mr. Borden spent an hour on the floor of the House of Commons explaining it, and the substance of his statement was that he had nothing to do with it, and knew nothing of it. I say the same about the Gamey affair."

Lesser Conservative organs, following the lead of the party organ in Toronto, had attempted in some way or other to connect him with the affair. The sum of their attempt, apparently, for it was almost impossible to understand their arguments, was in effect, that Gamey, when he was, as he said, looking for a purchaser, had come to my office to ask for money, and was ordered out of the room."

Continuing, Mr. Aylesworth declared that Mr. Borden had demanded that he be indicted not upon hearsay or street gossip, but upon sworn testimony, and at the same time he was declaring that the Liberals were corrupt, and made no efforts to purify the election laws of the country. The people had a perfect right to know then if that gentleman practiced what he preached.

That Corruption Fund.

Mr. Aylesworth then spoke of the action brought in the courts of Quebec some two years ago. One of the witnesses was Mr. Hugh Graham, proprietor of the Montreal Star, and three years ago a great admirer of Mr. Borden. Mr. Graham was a most liberal contributor to the Conservative election funds. His sworn testimony was that he had contributed $30,000 to the organizer of the Quebec district. This did not include the Province of Quebec, merely the district round about the city of Quebec. He gave not only to that district, but to other districts and provinces as well. He did not tell the amount of his contributions to other than Quebec district, nor how it was distributed.

Under the election law it was required that the election expenses of the candidate be made public. In his own elections in Durham and North York, he had done this, and the amount expended was between $1,300 and $1,500 in the first, and a somewhat larger amount in the latter contest. This money had been expended for legitimate purposes, and he saw to it that the figures were given publicity to. Did any person imagine that publicity had been given in the manner in which the $30,000 had been spent? Could anyone tell how it had been expended? If so, now was the time to speak.

Further extracts from Mr. Graham's testimony were read by Mr. Aylesworth. These told how various sums of money had been sent to the organizers in a number of districts, and by arrangement with the witnesses to the organizers in their own names, but as Zandry, Zanduck, Zandring, and Zandried.

How It Was Manipulated.

"Mr. Borden can be profuse in his charges of stealing constituencies by electoral crime," said Mr. Aylesworth. "He can make these charges upon his own unsupported assertions. He can demand at my hands that I indict him on sworn testimony. I speak from sworn testimony, and I ask him now what was this conspiracy to deceive and keep from the public the manner in which this expenditure of large sums of money was made. The testimony showed that a Mr. McNab resided in these matters a parliamentary committee from Ottawa, and the testimony also had something to say of the Opposition leader. It was to the effect that the witness Graham had received a letter from Mr. Borden telling him that sums of money ought not to be placed in the hands of men of the party who were in public life or were making a name for themselves. It would be better to name in each province persons acceptable to the friends of the party in the locality. Copies of that letter, Mr. Borden had said, were sent to all the provinces where he had given aid. Mr. Borden, according to newspaper reports, has condescended to accept the platform, that no such letter had been written. Thus the matter stands before you. You are the jurors. On the one hand is Mr. Borden's denial. On the other hand you have Mr. Graham, a political friend and supporter, so enthusiastic that he subscribed large sums to the Conservative election fund, swearing that he not only received such a letter, but that he sent copies of it to each of the other provinces where he had given aid. Is he mistaken? Has he forgotten? Is he imagining? Could any man bring himself to the point of believing, he had done that thing when he had not done it? That one instance of what went on in Quebec ought to be a warning to any who might be led away with the idea that Mr. Borden and his colleagues could or would if returned to power purify the electoral atmosphere."

Mr. Aylesworth then referred to the reassertion within the past two days of the charge that in the last general election the Conservative party had spent $500,000 in corrupting the electorate of Canada, and spoke of the Hon. Mr. Pugsley's willingness to defend any action for libel in connection with that statement. In the light of that statement and challenge, Mr. Borden ought to cast the beam out of his own eye before he looked for the mote in the speaker's eye. In the 1904 campaign with the funds then at their disposal, and which they had no difficulty in obtaining, the Conservatives had planned a coup d'état by which Mr. Borden and his party were to be expelled into power. The resignation of Mr. Blair had been arranged as part of the scheme.

Mr. Aylesworth also declared that as an illustration of Conservative party's preparation for battle, a circular was issued by the organizer in the city of Halifax after the last general election, asking for subscriptions to aggregate $5,000 a year for each of the four years between elections. A like amount raised in each constituency would give a campaign fund aggregating $1,000,000. Sir John A. Macdonald had been turned out of power for demanding the modest sum of $10,000 to be used for election purposes. Mr. Borden certainly was determined to build greater than his great protagonist.

Mr. A. G. McKay was the last speaker. He spoke of the call of Hon. G. P. Graham to a larger political life. It certainly was no reflection against Mr. Graham. He had made good in Ontario, and he will make good in Ottawa.

Mr. McKay attacked the policy of the Whitney Government, and scored the present administration at Toronto. The splendid revenues of the province about which the Conservatives boasted so much were the results of the wise laws laid down by the previous Liberal administrations. He freely criticized the education department which was very badly administered.

Mr. F. F. Pardee, M. P. West Lambton, and others spoke briefly.

The road to success has many buy ways.

ALWAYS A GOOD FRIEND.—In health and happiness we need no friends, but when pain and prostration come we look for friendly aid from sympathetic hands. These hands can serve us no better than in rubbing in Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, for when the Oil is in the pain is out. It has brought relief to thousands who without it would be indeed friendless.

TIS WELL TO KNOW A GOOD THING.—Said Mrs. Surface to Mrs. Knowwell, when they met in the street, "Why, where have you been for a week back?" "Oh, just down to the store for a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil," and Mrs. Surface, who hates pain, walked on. But she remembered, and when she contracted a weak back there was another customer for Electric Oil.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over THIRTY YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. IT SOOTHES THE CHILD, SOFTENS THE GUMS, ALLAYS ALL PAIN, CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHEA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's." Ordinary cheap dip is now being extensively used for the destruction of locusts in South Africa.

The Dominion Trades and Labor Congress has indorsed the Lemieux act by a vote of 80 to 18. It is gratifying to find the Parliament of the trades unionists of Canada ranging itself on the side of industrial peace. Conciliation and arbitration are the cardinal features of the Lemieux act. The resolution adopted by the congress, which was framed by the executive, is an admirable statement of principles. The text is:"Your executive, after careful consideration, gave its hearty indorsement to the principle of the bill. Organized labor does not want to strike to enforce its demands. If the consideration of them can be obtained without recourse to that remedy,
The strike has been our last resort,
and as the bill contained our right to strike, but assured the fair hearing of the demands of the workers, there was nothing to do but to give our support to it. Nor is organized labor blind to the fact that in every great industrial struggle the public have a large interest as well in the result as in the means adopted to reach that result. The least the public are entitled to is a knowledge of the merits of the dispute. This knowledge was given to them under the proposal outlined in the bill."Your executive believe it will be a happy day when every labor dispute can be settled by the parties meeting together in the presence of an impartial tribunal to discuss their differences. Our great difficulty in the past has been that we could not get a hearing. The act has been tested already in the case of the machinists and the Grand Trunk Railway Company, and no better tribune could be paid to it than the settlement arrived at in that case, which has proved to be highly satisfactory to all parties concerned. The arbitration lasted three days, thus meeting the objections of those who, not unreasonably, thought that the delay possible under the bill might be too great to make its provisions of any avail."The admission that the public have an interest in industrial disputes, and rights which should be respected, is an important one, and does credit to the spokesmen of organized labor. The Lemieux act has been unfairly attacked in some quarters from party motives, but it has been already justified by results.

THE RESULTS AT THE HAGUE.

It certainly seems a curious commentary on the conferences at The Hague that while they were originated for the professed purpose of diminishing war and the cost of preparations for war, what has been accomplished by the present international gathering has been mainly in the direction of improving the method of proceeding and embarking in and carrying on war. For instance, the principle has been established that when one nation goes to war with another it must precede the attack on its opponent with a formal declaration.
This, of course, implies the necessity of enforcing the international legislation, for unless there is an umpire to give judgment against an offending belligerent for unfair attack, the legislation amounts to nothing. Not until that is attained will the principle of an authoritative international tribunal and international enforcement of its verdicts be established. The conference has also declared that neutral powers must be notified without delay of a state of war, the notice, which may be sent by wire to become operative as soon as it is received. A protest from a neutral of lack of such notice will not hold good if it can be proven that the existence of a state of war was known to the protesting power, which in these days of telegraphs and newspaper enterprise could hardly be avoided.Another rule promulgated requires that the territory of a neutral state shall be inviolable, and that such a state will commit no hostile act in defending its neutrality. This is of particular interest to such minor powers as Belgium and Switzerland. A definition of the right of asylum is furnished by a declaration that prisoners having once escaped to neutral territory, and having there sought refuge, must be set free if recaptured by troops of a belligerent.The delegates have also discussed the custom of prohibiting the enlistment of volunteers or the formation of bodies of combatants in neutral territory for use against a belligerent.
The British delegates favored the qualification of this prohibition by authorizing the employment of individual neutrals in warfare by a belligerent state whose own laws permit such employment. This matter was referred back to committee, owing to the attitude of the German representatives, who were uncompromisingly opposed to individual citizens of neutral statesbeing permitted to take part in a war.Another declaration forbids the establishment in neutral territory by belligerents of wireless telegraph stations or other means of communication with belligerent forces on land or sea. At the same time the conference has reaffirmed the right of belligerents to use means of communication belonging to neutral or private companies.Perhaps the most important rule adopted, so far at least as Great Britain is concerned, is one forbidding the exportation of provisions from neutral states to belligerents' ports and the transportation from any quarter in neutral vessels of provisions intended for belligerents. For instance, should Britain be engaged in war, provisions consigned to her from the United States and the neutral vessels carrying them might become prizes to the other belligerent. Of course, some neutral vessels would be induced by high premiums to run the risk of capture, but for the most part such food supplies would be conveyed to Great Britain by vessels carrying the British flag, and under convoy of the great British steamers which can be readily converted into armed cruisers.
The real advantage of the rule to Great Britain is that it enables her great fleet to strike at the commerce of any power with which she might be at war.The conference resembled somewhat a convention of high constables, who, called together for the purpose of considering ways for the better enforcement of the law, devoted their time to determining where and when were the best times and places for breaches of the peace and the proper mode of conducting outbreaks of lawlessness.MR. AYLESWORTH ON THE WAR-PATH.The Minister of Justice continues to place the Conservative party and its leader on the defensive. His first attack was prompted by a generous indignation at the irresponsible slandering of an admired colleague, Mr. Fielding, in which, it is to be regretted, Mr.
Borden had joined. Mr. Aylesworth protested against convicting a man on hearsay or street talk, and made the assertion that Mr. Borden himself would be disqualified if all that was said about him was true. Mr. Borden retorted that Mr. Aylesworth was a discredit to the country, and challenged him to produce proofs. Mr.
Aylesworth returned to the subject at Essex yesterday, and said that he had sworn testimony in his possession, which, if true, would prevent Mr.
Borden from sitting in Parliament.
The matter will probably be fought out across the floor of the House of Commons.The statement that the Conservative party raised a campaign fund of $500,- 000, which Hon. Mr. Pugsley offers to prove, gives Liberal politicians a fair opening. Mr. Graham, of the Montreal Star, has admitted sending $30,- 000 into one district of Quebec for campaign purposes. He declared that he had received a letter from Mr.
Borden advising that election money be not placed in the hands of men who were in public life, but of trusted private individuals, who could not so easily be called to account. Mr. Borden denies having written such a letter. This contradiction between the leader of the Opposition and his erstwhile Quebec lieutenant, the mysterious machinations of capitalists in behalf of the Conservative party in 1904, the purchase of the leading French-Canadian daily by enemies of the Laurier Government, at a cost of nearly a million dollars, on the eve of the election—all these circumstances fit into the story that the Conservative party had unlimited financial resources. Who were its benefactors, and what caused them to open their long purses?Westward Mr. Borden takes his way and is probably arranging to clap the soft pedal on his high tariff music.

There are many gateways into England

American exceeds in historic interest the way by which the Pilgrim Fathers finally departed—that is, Plymouth. The first spot at which a landing was made in thenew world was named after the point of departure from the old scenes. The revival of old Plymouth's consequence as a port has been established by the giant liners which stop there now. In six days they "make the run" which it took the Mayflower sixty days to accomplish.EFFECT OF EATING MEAT.

was submitted to the township.No more was heard of the subject until last night, when the councilors informed the committee that the rate-also suggested that three additional drinking fountains be erected—one in council appropriate enough to buy eight fountains. The cost of the foun-

The White Cat

[BY GELETT BURGESS, AUTHOR OF "VIVETTE." Copyright by Bobbs-Merrill Company.]

"Oh, I'm game. It's such fools as that keep you fellows busy, you ought to encourage us." He smiled dryly. "How long do you expect to be down here?" The boot was on the other foot, now and I was amused at his interrogation.

"I have some business to talk over with Miss Fielding," I said. "It depends largely upon her how long I remain."

"Hm!" He went on with his breakfast. When Miss Fielding came into the room my first glance would have told me that it was Joy herself, even if I had not been given the hint already. As Edna, one would have called her pretty—as Joy she was beautiful. The lines of thought and care had returned to her face, but they did but emphasize the richness and meaning of her character, replacing abandon with subtlety. I watched the doctor's eyes leap at her, and then fall, disappointed. He, too, knew in a glance. He seemed to be surprised as well as disappointed. Leah had evidently not told him, and he had not dared ask. He shrugged his shoulders almost imperceptibly, as we both rose to meet her.

"Good morning, doctor!" she said, giving him her hand, smiling. "I've just done a funny thing! Leah told me that you were here, of course, when I walked up, but I forgot. It so completely that I've been trying to ring you up on the telephone."

I saw his pale blue eyes grow narrower as he laughed with her. He was pleased. "Well, did you get me?" he said.

"Are there two of you, too?" she returned, and the thing passed off in a general smile. I took it that she had already heard from Leah of what had happened yesterday and I could not help admiring her calmness and self-restraint. The last thing, of course, that she could remember would be her anguish of two days when we were all so agitated over Leah's absence and dramatic return, and that weary vigil in the library trying to keep awake. Joy was used to these lapses; she had been so long schooled by her changes that she was usually poised outwardly and calm, ready for any emergency, on her guard against betraying surprise; but I could not help peering to myself the nervous excitement of her awakening when her memory first rushed back and she had to learn hurriedly the history of the day before. How much, I wondered, had Leah told her?

Her attitude toward Dr. Copin, while quite that of an old friend, was so different from what it had been the night before that he must have felt somewhat uncomfortable at my seeing it. Of any such difference Joy was herself quite unconscious, but the interest she plainly showed in me served to lighten it. She was still full of gratitude toward me for what I had done in bringing Leah back—the doctor, on the other hand, was only making one of his periodical calls; she was anticipating, also, his urging again his request to give her a definite course of treatment, a thing she had steadily opposed. He came, as I understood it, only to keep track of her disorder in a general way, and to advise her with regard to it; and it was, so far, more because she had not enough confidence in his proficiency in this special subject, rather than any innate distrust of his character that had impelled her to refuse a course of hypnotic treatment.

His elaborate visit failed to receive much encouragement from Joy. The conversation was, therefore, a little stiff for some time, and resulted finally in a dialogue between Joy and me, the doctor maintaining a silence almost surly.

After breakfast, however, she took him into the library for a short colloquy before it was time for him to leave. I waited outdoors. They came out in a few minutes, she, I saw, a little disturbed, a frown on her face. Uncle Jordon drove up in the carriage and the doctor got in, bade us a conventional farewell, and was carried off.

We sat there for a while without talk, Joy gazing straight ahead of her, absorbed in her own thoughts. Then she turned to me and said: "Edna is coming oftener than she used to. I don't like it!"

"Did you speak of it to the doctor?" "Yes, he tried to reassure me. But I'm still uneasy. It was bad enough before, to lose two days a week, but if I'm to be robbed of half my time, it will be unbearable."

"Did you ask him if he thought he could prevent it, in any way?" "Yes, and he asked me again to let him hypnotize me."

"Oh, I hope you refused?" "Why?" she demanded, turning quickly to me. "I've refused only because I didn't consider him able enough—I was afraid to experiment, to put myself into his power, alone as I am here, and without friends. I wasn't quite sure enough of him. Have you any other reason why I shouldn't? He said that he could inhibit Edna's appearance, if I let him hypnotize me. He said she ought to be sent back to where she came from, and that he wanted to 'wake me up,' as he expressed it—make me normal again."

"Then he lied!" I remarked decidedly. "Oh, Chester, you don't know how you frighten me! If I can't depend upon Dr. Copin, a physician, where can I look for help, and for protection against her? You have done much for me, but you're only a layman after all; what I need is professional advice."

"Yes, of course," I said. "It is impertinent of me—it's positive and active, to think I can help you, but, don't you see, the doctor, if he isn't to be trusted, is the more dangerous because of his knowledge? He can do you positive harm."

"Why do you mistrust him?" she insisted. "I must have specific reason before I dare even to disregard his orders."

"Very well, then," I said. "But I may seem more than impertinent—even impulsive."

"She made a fine, impatient gesture. "Oh, we've got beyond such considerations—tell me!"

"Leah," I said, "do you know how much money Miss Fielding had in the house yesterday?"

"Forty dollars, exactly."

"Will you please find out how much of that is left now?"

She ran upstairs, while we waited. She returned in a few minutes with Joy's purse.

"There's only fifteen dollars here," she said, showing the money.

"And it wasn't spent for anything you know of?"

"There's no possible way of spending it," she answered.

"Then there's twenty-five dollars to account for. Dr. Copin undoubtedly has it. Are you in the habit of paying him cash, Joy?"

"Oh, no. Always by check, and, of course, I settle all his bills; that's understood between us. Edna can't draw any checks, anyway, for her handwriting is quite different from mine. What could she have given him the money for? Perhaps she didn't—how can we tell? Perhaps she hid it somewhere."

Leah interposed. "Oh, no, Miss Joy, the purse was in your room all the time, I'm sure."

"It may have been justified—it's barely possible," I said. "But yesterday Edna told me that the doctor was always complaining of being hard up. What else would he harp on that for, if not to borrow from her? Frankly, it's my opinion, that he does. You know how impressionable and impulsive she is—anyone with tact can easily manage her."

Joy stared at me. "Oh, that implies, too, considerable intimacy, doesn't it? Much more than I have with him, at least."

"It certainly does," I replied. She caught the implication I put into the remark. "Do you mean—?" She stopped suddenly.

"I mean that he is not above suspicion; that we should watch him."

"I'll never let him come down here again," she cried. "I'll dismiss him!"

"We must go slow," I said. "We must be sure, first, and besides, you forget that Edna likes him."

A look of pain came to her face. "She likes him?" she repeated.

"He cajoles her. She flirts with him."

"He flirts with her. She flirts with him."

"He flirts with her. She flirts with him."

"He flirts with her. She flirts with him."

perhaps. At any rate, I doubt if she'll refuse him admittance."

She rose and began to walk up and down the gravel walk. "What shall we do? What shall we do?" she exclaimed, extending her hands towards me. "Why, he is dangerous! Chester, I'm positively afraid now. It's too horrible. It's getting worse every day!"

"Tell me," I said, "why have you been telephoning to him every day or so, Joy. You never used to, Leah says. She looked blankly at me. 'I don't know, I'm sure. It's funny, but I never thought much about any particular message. I suppose I was simply a little lonely and it occurred to me to ring him up, that's all.'"

That was enough for me, and I didn't explain the reason for my question. She had no time to worry about it, at any rate, for just then Leah, who had been listening silently, put in—

"Miss Joy, do you know what became of that little gold chain of yours with the sapphire pendant? Edna wore it yesterday, but I can't find it anywhere."

"Maybe it's up in my room somewhere," Joy answered, still walking up and down the path. Then suddenly stopping she faced me.

"Oh, do you suppose she could have given that to the doctor, too?" she exclaimed.

I laughed. "No, she gave that to me to keep for her," I said, and I drew it forth from my vest pocket where it had remained since the little scene behind the stable.

Joy's eyes had followed my hand and fixed on the chain as I held it out. Her lips opened with a swift intake of air as she gazed. The two vertical lines appeared in her forehead. She put out a hand tentatively, but did not touch the ornament. It was as if she were in a trance. Then her lips moved automatically.

"Keep it—safe—for me, please!" she whispered. Suddenly her hand went to her forehead. "Oh, what was it?" she cried.

"Try to recall the rest!" I commanded, watching her sharply.

She thought a moment, then shook her head decidedly. "No, it's gone now," she said.

"You can get nothing more?" was my suggestion.

"Nothing. It was like a dream, like something I had done and said before. What does it mean—do you know?"

"It's precisely what you did say—what Edna said, that is—yesterday." (To be Continued.)

DESIGNED BY MARTHA DEAN.

A PLEASING MODEL FOR A SMALL GOWN—4212.

Mothers find that the blouse dresses are most practical and appropriate for small folk's wear, and few little maids are without this most becoming style. The dress shown is built on French lines, with its long waist and short, full skirt. The broad sailor collar is most attractive in shape and closes in front, being left free at one side. The combination of sailor collar and French dress is quite novel and decidedly pleasing, as broad collars are sure to prove becoming and provide adornment for any dress. The style is one easily made up and suitable to any of the fabrics of wardrobe. For the medium size 2½ yards of 36-inch material are needed.

4212—Seven sizes, 3 to 9 years. The price of this pattern is 10 cents.

No Good Flour Can Be Made

EASILY. It takes time, trouble and the closest attention to the minutest detail of every milling process, to say nothing of adding considerably to the cost of production, to make a good flour.

You know you must watch your bread carefully during every process, from the mixing to the baking, but however close the attention you may give it, your trouble will be wasted, unless you are using a flour which has been made with corresponding care.

No brands on the market today are made more carefully than our "FIVE ROSES" and "HARVEST QUEEN." The grain itself is cleansed by the newest and most perfect machinery before being ground, and the flour is sifted and tested by experts at every stage of the milling in order to insure the nearest approach to perfection it is possible to obtain by modern methods.

If you use these brands and give corresponding attention to the details of your baking, you will have as a result bread which cannot be equaled for quality and nourishing value.

LITERARY NOTES

The Bishop of London, England, has come and gone. He leads a strenuous life. Since his arrival in this country his time and energy have been taxed. He is equally hard-worked at home. During Lent it has been his custom the past two or three years to make a tour through one part or other of the Diocese of London, and to hold mission services of a simple character. The sermons preached on these occasions, including some questions they evoked and the answer given, have been lately published in three booklets entitled, "A Mission of the Spirit," "The Call of the Father," and "The Gospel in Action." These collections are worthy of perusal and study for many reasons, deep spiritual certainty of conviction, largeness of view, directness of address, freshness of thought, intense sympathy, evangelical fervor. These are some of the characteristics that are found on almost every page. Redemption is conceived of as physical and social, as well as spiritual. In short, the religion which breathes through these simple, practical addresses is that of the modern world. Workers in all spheres who long for the coming of the kingdom will find direction and uplift here. The publishers are Wells, Gardner, Darton & Co., Limited, 3 Paternoster Buildings, London, E. C.

September is called an "off" month in sporting circles, but there is no falling off, either in variety or interest, in the many subjects dealt with in the September number of Rod and Gun. Each province of Canada is covered in one way or another. The specially-written account of the Dominion trap shooting tournament at Toronto should be read by every trap shooter, and the whole number is one that commends itself to its ever-increasing number of readers in Canada and the United States.

A story of rather an unusual sort appears in The Red Book Magazine for October. Its title, "The Pawn," its locale is the Philippines, and its author, George Bronson-Howard. Another good story is "His Price" by Rem. A. Johnston, while the tale that Elliott Flower tells in "When Love Reluctant" gives a new glimpse of labor unionism. Grace Sartwell Mason contributes a story entitled "The Measure of a Man," and other clever writers are represented in this number.

HOLLOWAY'S CORN CURE is the medicine to remove all kinds of corns and warts, and only costs the small sum of twenty-five cents.

Swedish railway waiting rooms are provided with couches, and porters come around and wake slumberers ten minutes before the train is to start.

CHOLERA MORBUS, cramps and kindred complaints annually make their appearance at the same time as the hot weather, green fruit, cucumbers, melons, etc., and many persons are debarrassed from eating these tempting things, but they need not abstain if they have Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial and take a few drops in water. It cures the cramps and cholera in a remarkable manner, and is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels.

NEW AND STRINGENT REGULATIONS FOR THE ONTARIO DAIRYMEN

Toronto, Sept. 19.—Dr. Sheard and Dr. Hodgetts, chairman and secretary, respectively, of the Provincial Board of Health, have prepared a code of rules that will cause consternation in more than one dairy and dairy farm throughout the Province when they are put into effect, as they will be, most likely, when submitted to the provincial board.

The regulation will affect all dairies, large and small, in Ontario, where milk is drawn from cows for public or consumption. Considerable study has been given by the board to make the code of regulations strict enough to prevent the spread of disease, and result in the supply of pure, wholesome milk for the consumer.

These are some of the rules regarding the cows' quarters and milk utensils:

The building where cows are kept shall be 100 feet apart from residences or chicken coops.

All manure shall be removed at least 50 feet from the stables.

The cow stables shall be properly ventilated, so there can be no odor from the same.

No strong smelling substance of any kind shall be kept in or near the stables.

No milk vessel shall be used that is rusty or otherwise unfit.

No person shall drink from the utensils in which the milk is delivered to consumers.

All such utensils shall be thoroughly cleaned and sterilized every time after using.

No vessel used for the delivery of milk shall be used for any other purpose.

All empty bottles shall be thoroughly cleaned, and care shall be taken to keep milk tins free from dirt.

No milk shall be taken from cows in any way diseased with tuberculosis or other complaints.

No milk shall be taken from cows within 40 days before and 5 days after calving.

No moldy or wet foods or brewers' stuff or anything else that will affect the taste of milk shall be fed to the cows.

All dairy farms and dairies, with the cattle and appearances, shall be thoroughly inspected by the inspector at least twice a year.

The milkers' hands must be thoroughly clean and dry when milking, and shall not come in contact with the milk.

The udders of the cows shall be brushed and wiped with a cloth before being milked.

No person recently affected with any contagious disease shall be permitted to milk the cows.

JOHN D.'S PROFITS FOR EIGHT YEARS

Rockefeller's Share of Standard Oil Earnings Was $125,000,000.

New York, Sept. 19.—That the Standard Oil Company is operating under the name of the Corsicana Refining Company in Texas, which has forbidden the oil combine to operate within the state, was indicated today when Wesley H. Tilford, treasurer of the Standard Oil Company, under examination in Government's suit against the company, testified that H. C. Fulger and C. M. Hayne, whom Frank B. Kellogg, the attorney for the Government, states control the Corsicana Company are prominent in the affairs of the Standard Oil Company.

Mr. Kellogg sought to draw from the witness information that the Corsicana Company was really a Standard Oil Company and was operating in Texas because the anti-trust laws of that state would not permit the combine to operate it.

Another interesting development was the official statement made public for the first time today of John D. Rockefeller's personal holdings in the Standard Oil Company. Just to what extent the reputed head was individually interested in the great concern has long been a matter of speculation.

It was brought out today that Mr. Rockefeller owned 256,854 shares, or more than one-fourth of the total 972,500 shares of the Standard Oil Company. Based on the earnings of the company as placed on record Tuesday, it is computed that Mr. Rockefeller's personal profits during the past eight years have aggregated almost $125,000,000.

At Tuesday's hearing it was testified that in the years from 1896 to 1906 inclusive, the Standard Oil Company had earned total profits of $490,315,934.

Frank Kellogg spent a busy day tracing the various changes in development of Standard Oil from the time of its inception in 1882, when the trust agreement was signed until the trust was dissolved in 1899, and the Standard Oil Company, of New Jersey, was formed.

Mr. Kellogg developed many of his questions from the trust agreement of 1882, which contained in the bill of complaint filed in St. Louis last December when the present action was commenced. This trust agreement, which was entered into by John D. Rockefeller and 45 other oil interests, providing that Standard Oil Company should be formed in Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and in other states whenever the trust deemed advisable.

All the properties and assets of the embraced corporations and companies were to be turned over to the several Standard Oil Companies, which, in turn, issued their own stock in exchange. Under the terms of this trust all stock was to be delivered to nine trustees, who issued to the depositing shareholders trust certificates equal at par value to the par value of the several Standard Oil Companies. The nine trustees under the original agreement were: John D. Rockefeller, O. H. Payne, Wm. Rockefeller, J. A. Eastwick, H. M. Flagler, W. G. Warden, Charles Pratt, Benj. Brewster and John Archbold. The trustees had absolute power in the control of the companies. They could purchase with the trust funds the stocks and bonds of other oil companies on such terms as they deemed advisable and could dispose of them whenever they considered necessary.

DROWNED IN CAVE

Durango, Col., Sept. 19.—Three young daughters of Samuel Cook were drowned by a cloudburst which filled a gulch in which they had taken refuge yesterday. The girls entered a cave for shelter and the gulch became filled with water, which rushed into the cave. The water caused the roof of the cave to fall, and buried the children.

TO CALL THIRD PEACE CONFERENCE

Powers Agree on Another Congress at Hague, Date To Be Set Later.

The Hague, Sept. 19.—The heads of the various delegations present at the international peace conference today adopted this resolution: "The conference recommends to the powers the convocation of a third conference within a period similar to that which elapsed between the former conference, leaving the exact date to be fixed in common accord by the powers. The conference calls the attention of the powers to the necessity of having the work of the conference prepared a sufficient time before its meeting so that its deliberations may be taken with the indispensable authority and rapidity."

To attain this object the conference thinks it very desirable that about two years before the probable date of convocation a preparatory committee be entrusted by the governments with the collection of the different propositions to be submitted to the conference and the gathering of matters susceptible of being embodied in international regulations, and that the committee prepare a programme about which the governments will agree early enough to have it earnestly studied in each country. The conference recommends that this committee be also intrusted to propose a system of organization and procedure for the conference."

The committee on maritime war, under the presidency of Count Tornielli (Italy), has, after a long discussion about the remaining articles on the project covering the laying of mines, decided to return the whole project to the sub-committee for the elaboration of a new scheme, aiming at regulating the quality rather than the location of mines, that is, to provide by regulation that mines shall really become inoffensive when the reason for which they are to be employed, ceases rather than to determine the places where mines may be laid.

HOW TO MAKE THE BEST HOME REMEDY

A Fine Prescription to Relieve Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble.

A large health publication tells its readers of a number of simple and safe prescriptions that can be made at home. The following, however, for the cure of rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles receives the greatest praise, viz.: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. These simple, harmless ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at little cost and are mixed by shaking well in a bottle.

The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime, drinking a full tumblerful of water after each dose. It is further stated that this prescription is a positive remedy for kidney trouble and lame back, weak bladder and urinary difficulties, especially of the elderly people, and one of the best things to be used in rheumatic affections, relieving the aches and pains and reducing swellings in just a short while.

New Zealand has produced $325,000,000 worth of gold in the last 50 years, and yet the surfaces of the gold-bearing deposits have been worked comparatively little. Great possibilities await further prospecting and mining, combined with scientific methods. Coal mines and iron ore deposits are in close proximity.

A SURE CURE FOR HEADACHE.—Bilious headache, to which women are more subject than men, becomes so acute in some subjects that they are utterly prostrated. The stomach refuses food, and there is a constant distressing effort to free the stomach from bile which has become unduly secreted there. Farmer's Vegetable Pills are a speedy alternative, and in neutralizing the effects of the intruding bile relieve the pressure on the nerves which cause the headache. Try them.

HAND PROBLEM TO RAILWAY BOARD

Latter Must Decide What Constitutes Necessary Sunday Work for Railways.

Toronto, Sept. 19.—With the first prosecution of a railway under the new Lord's Day Act the magistrate has thrown upon the Dominion Railway Board the task of deciding what is necessary Sunday work. The case arose out of the prosecution by the Attorney-General of Ontario of the Grand Trunk Railway, for alleged breach of the act in moving trains at its York yards on Sunday, April 21. The railway company broke up some through trains there, and sent out some cars of cinders for road repair purposes, and also some empty cattle cars to Stratford.

The evidence was heard before the magistrate at East Toronto, and this morning argument was concluded. On behalf of the Grand Trunk, it was claimed that the work done was necessary work, and moreover, it was not within the province of the magistrate to define what was necessary Sunday work, but that this duty lay with the railway commission. County Attorney Drayton, who conducted the prosecution, while not agreeing with the interpretation of the Grand Trunk as to necessary work as correct, agreed that it might be advisable to go to the railway commission. Magistrate Ellis said that in his opinion the Grand Trunk had committed a breach of the act, but he considered that the act was too stringent. He agreed to reserve judgment for a week till the railway board was consulted.

NO PERSON should go from home with a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellom's Dyspepsia Cordial in their possession, as change of water, cooking climate etc. frequently induces on summer complaints, and these Cordials like being ready with a sure remedy at hand, which oftentimes saves suffering and frequently valuable lives. This Cordial has gained for itself a widespread reputation for affording prompt relief from all summer complaints.

To the Mullaha, who were displaced at his initiation into Freemasonry, the Amir explained on his return from India that there was nothing in the craft opposed to Mohammedism.

IN FINAL RESTING PLACE

Remains of the McKineys Placed in the New Mausoleum.

Canton, Ohio, Sept. 19.—The new casket containing the body of Mrs. McKinley today rests in a sarcophagus in the McKinley mausoleum on Monument Hill. On guard at the tomb are United States regular soldiers. A half mile distant, to the south, in a vault, the body of President McKinley still rests in a new casket. Here too soldiers are on watch. The work of transferring the bodies yesterday was intrusted by the McKinley Memorial Association to a Canton undertaker.

The state of preservation of both bodies was pronounced remarkably good by the undertaker and the others who saw them.

United States soldiers carried the casket holding Mrs. McKinley's body to a funeral car, and the little procession wended its way through the cemetery, and up the hill to the tomb which is the nation's gift. The casket was placed in the sarcophagus.

The President's remains will be transferred in like manner. It will be exactly six years to the day, in fact, almost to the hour, since the funeral of President McKinley. A short time later the bodies of the two children of President and Mrs. McKinley will be exhumed from the family burial lot, and placed in niches in the mausoleum prepared for the caskets, thus uniting in a final resting place the entire family.

TRAGEDY AT PITTSBURG.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 19.—Robert McDonald, 33 years old, a chemist, who recently came here from London, England, last night cut the throat of his wife, Mrs. Bessie Smith McDonald, causing her almost instant death, and then drank six ounces of laudanum. McDonald is in a critical condition. Alleged domestic trouble caused the tragedy.

SURE REGULATORS.—Kandake and dandelion are known to exert a powerful influence on the liver and kidneys, restoring them to healthful action, inducing a regular flow of the secretions and imparting to the organs complete power to perform their functions. These valuable ingredients enter into the composition of Farmley's Vegetable Pills, and serve to render them the agreeable and salutary medicine they are.

IF YOU'RE A GOOD GUESSER HERE'S YOUR OPPORTUNITY

As announced in yesterday's paper, The Advertiser proposes to conduct a guessing contest for the remainder of the week on the result of the contest for the city baseball championship between the Ramblers, winners of the East End championship, and the McClarys, leaders in the City League, which will take place at Tecumseh Park on Saturday, the 21st of the month. Twelve prizes will be offered for competition for those guessing the correct result or coming nearest to it, and as the result is most problematical everybody will have an equal chance of winning one of the prizes. The first prize will be $3, second $2, and next five $1 each, and the remaining five double tickets to the Hamilton-McClary contest, which will take place on the 28th of this month at Tecumseh Park. All you have to do is fill out the accompanying coupon and mail it to the Sporting Editor of The Advertiser on or before Saturday the 21st, at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Contestants can have as many guesses as they desire, providing each guess is made on a separate coupon. In case two or three winning guesses are alike the one received first will be awarded the prize.

No employee of The Advertiser will be permitted to enter this competition. The cash prizes are offered by The Advertiser and the tickets, which call for two 25-cent seats at the Hamilton game, are contributed by the City League management.

Already a large number of guesses have been received, and each mail is increasing the number in speedy fashion. The quicker you get into the thing the more chance you have of getting a prize.

All coupons must be in before Saturday next at noon, and any guesses received after that time will be ignored.

At the conclusion of the baseball contest the coupons will be sorted over, and the prize-winners will be announced in Monday evening's Advertiser.

FAST TIME BY KENTUCKY TODD

Ties World's Mark Set by Fantasy at Louisville in 1893.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 19.—Kentucky Todd, owned by Miss Katherine Wilks, of Gait, Ont., and holder of the world's record for 3-year-olds, trotting stallions today, tied the world's record for 3-year-olds of all sexes when he won the first heat of the Kentucky Stock Farm futurity in 2:08 1/4. In 1893, at Louisville, Fantasy did a mile in the same time.

The Todd colt was a good first choice in the betting, although General Watts (2:09 1/4), a liberal following. The latter colt, drawing the pole, led to the first half post in 1:02 1/4. Kentucky Todd was fourth there, but Stinson soon began his drive and his sensational colt moved up even with the leaders in the next eighth. He was an easy leader all down the stretch and won jogging in time one-quarter of a second faster than he made last week at Indianapolis, when he took the world's halion record away from General Watts. The second heat was easier and slower.

Bettie Brent was not extended to win the pacing division of this futurity. Nuckols, her driver, won the same event a year ago with Brenda York.

Hal R. took a record of 2:07 1/4, in winning the final heat of the 2:09 pace which was begun Tuesday.

Ward M. and Idora went into the 2:10 list by taking heats in the 2:17 trot, but the race was won by Kenneth Mac, an outsider. He got the fourth heat when Idora broke, in the stretch, and the fifth by a neck from Ward M.

Suspension for 30 days was the penalty placed by the judges upon Amos Rathbun, driver of Ward M., for laying up his horse in the fourth heat.

George G. had to step in 2:06 1/4 in the 2:05 trot to keep ahead of Main Sheet, in the first heat. The second heat was not so hard for the MacDonald entry.

Angus Pointer is picked to win the free-for-all pace. Gallagher took the one heat decided away from Argot Boy and Baron Brattan in rather slow time, but with an exciting finish, the three coming lapped with Angus Pointer two lengths behind.

CHALLENGE MAY BE TOO STRINGENT

New York Yachtsmen Dubious About Sir Thomas Lipton's Terms.

New York, Sept. 19.—Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge for the America's cup, now on the way here, will no doubt cause much speculation as to its contents. Lipton, during his last visit to America, made known his intention of trying again for the cup, but under conditions quite different from those of previous matches sailed by the Shamrocks. In other words, he wished the present rules for the rating and time allowance to govern future races.

Many of the best yachtsmen in the country do not consider that this time-honored trophy was intended to represent a comparison of speed between types of vessels designed under strict conditions, but think that the "Blue Ribbon of the Sea" was intended to be competed for via vessels of unlimited design, so far as they did not exceed the very few requirements that the deed of gift demands, and that the designer should be untrammelled and produce the fastest vessel possible according to those limitations. What views the members of the New York Yacht Club will take in relation to the settlement of this question will be known when the meeting is laid before them at the meeting of the club soon after its receipt.

It has been rumored that Lipton may ask that not only shall the boats be measured and rated according to the rules of measurement now effective in the Royal Irish Yacht Club, but also that the size of the competing yachts be limited to a rating of 68 or 80. This would mean a boat of approximately 75 feet water line. It does not seem at all probable that the New York Yacht Club would consider this proposition for a moment.

There is now published in Japan a magazine with the Japanese transliterated into Roman characters. It is meeting with hearty support and it is said to be only a question of time when the old alphabet will have entirely disappeared. Not only will Japanese children learn to read in half the time now required, but foreigners will be encouraged to take up systematically the study of the Japanese language.

NONFORT WINS ON SLIPPERY TRACK

Ocean View Handicap at Gravesend Easy for Five to One Shot.

Gravesend, N. Y., Sept. 19.—On a slippery track, Nonfort scored an easy victory in the Ocean View handicap, one mile and a sixteenth, at Gravesend today. He was quoted at 5 to 1 in the betting, and after being badly interfered with on the first turn, he took the lead in the stretch and won by two and a half lengths. Tourenne, the second choice, was second, with Yankee Girl third. Baby Wolf, the favorite, was never a serious factor in the race. King's Daughter, Locked Out, Mae Hamilton, Golf Ball, Alfred Noble, Himalaya, were the other winners.

SOCCER SEASON OPENS ON SATURDAY NEXT

The opening game of this season's soccer football takes place on Carling's Heights on Saturday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. The contending teams are the Bolt Works and the Y. M. C. A. No admission will be charged and the public are cordially invited to attend. Last season the attendance was small. The league has some splendid players and a most enjoyable hour can be spent in witnessing the contests. A large attendance is hoped for on Saturday.

ELECTRIC LIGHT TRACK MEET SECURES ALL THE BEST ONES

The Crack Sprinters and Distance Men Coming for Tuesday Night.

Undoubtedly the greatest body of athletes that ever visited London will be on hand to compete at the Irish-Canadian games to be held here on Tuesday evening next under electric lights at Queen's Park.

Special trains will be run from Stratford and Toronto and it is expected that the outside entries alone will number over fifty. Among the world-famous athletes who will compete are Longboat, Grant, Coley, Walsh, Kerr,

DAN PATCH FAILS TO LOWER RECORD

Does Mile in 2:01 3-4 on Heavy Track Before 10,000 Spectators.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 19.—After a postponement of two days on account of rain the fall race meet at Recreation Park opened under fine conditions with the exception that a heavy track made fast time impossible. With the knowledge that Dan Patch would go against his record of 1:55, 10,000 spectators were attracted to the course.

Dan Patch's performance came off late in the afternoon and the best he could do was 2:01 3/4. He went the first quarter driven from the outside of the track in 32 flat.

In the races this afternoon out of four events only one favorite, Andrew Cone, won, he taking the 2:12 pace in three straight heats after losing the first two heats. In the 2:20 trot Icon, a bay mare by Peter the Great, owned by D. D. Streeter, of Kalamazoo, and driven by the veteran, Peter V. Johnston, easily won in straight heats. Icon was a green horse, having only started once before, in the July races here.

In the 2:20 pace Dewey G. surprised the talent by winning in easy straight heats against such horses as Robert Whitely and Joan Patch, star performers on the Great Western circuit.

Marsh, and a host of others, including the local crack sprinter, Sweeney, and the Muncie distance runner, Nicholas. Shrub will not run, because the amateur rules will not permit of a professional to even give an exhibition at an amateur meet, but he will be on hand with Longboat, whom he is now training, and the people will at least be given an opportunity of seeing the world's greatest runner in person.

The events on the card will include the three-mile race between Dick Grant and Longboat, 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, half-mile run, one mile run, 5 mile run, putting the 16-pound shot, throwing the 56-pound weight, the pole vault, high jump and the broad jump.

Entries for the meet will be received at the Y. M. C. A.

FOR THE TROPHY

Campbell's Perfection Defeats Skidoo in Three Straights.

Perfection had no trouble in defeating Skidoo yesterday at Queen's Park in the first races for the trophy held by Dr. Fred Wood.

The race was taken in straight heats. Skidoo is owned by Mr. George McCormick, while Perfection is the property of Mr. Geo. Campbell.

The time for the three heats was 1:09 1/4, 1:08 1/4, 1:07 1/4.

The second of the trophy series will be run off next Monday at 2:30.

THINKS LONGBOAT EASY

Shrub Confident of Being Able to Beat Indian.

Buffalo, Sept. 19.—Alfred Shrub, the famous English runner, holder of all records up to ten miles and an athlete who has as yet to taste defeat, was in Buffalo last night for a short time. Shrub, who is a typical Englishman, is small of stature and speaks with a pronounced English accent. He was the guest of Thomas Mercer, jun., for a few hours last evening. He was on his way to New York from Toronto, Thursday he will run in a set of games to be decided in New York. He expects to return in time to compete in a race at Toronto Saturday. Naturally the first question put to Shrub was about a meeting with Longboat.

"Nothing would please me better," said the English athlete. "In fact, I think it would be some easy money for me."

"Then you don't think much of Longboat's abilities?"

"Well," replied Shrub. "I have failed to learn where he has done anything that would lead him to consideration from a dozen runners I could name. I note that in all of his races he has met men who never burned up any tracks. I would certainly feel very confident were I to enter a match with him. And, by the way, nothing would please me more, as I said before, than to get him on to a track with yours truly."

"I know of a man who is heard little of outside of his home town, Boston, who I think could dispose of Longboat," continued Shrub. "His name is Frank Keenally. I admire his running very much."

PROBING BRIDGE DISASTER

Government Commission Opens Inquiry Into the Quebec Collapse.

Quebec, Que., Sept. 19.—The royal commission investigating the cause of the Quebec bridge disaster are at the scene of the disaster again today. The commissioners are determined to satisfy themselves as regards the veracity of certain statements made by witnesses in the matter of certain defects in the superstructure which, according to these witnesses, existed prior to the accident. Yesterday afternoon, they disproved the evidence given by the painter, Lawrence, who claimed he saw a large crack in a plate in the main store pier. Messrs. McClure and Kinlock testified at the coroner's inquest this plate was not cracked, but crimped. The commissioners saw for themselves yesterday afternoon that the latter theory is correct. Tomorrow morning evidence will be received at the courthouse.

Nellie Nice, and she is just as nice as such a name, is about the cutest little bit of femininity that has been rolled out in the theatrical world since the days when Della Fox warbled her "A Babbling Brook" and Lulu Glaser first perpetrated her inimitable wink. Nellie is now playing Margery Daw in "The Gingerbread Man," while her brother, Freddie, among the greatest of modern eccentric comedians, is delighting the audiences as the Gingerbread Man.

Simon and Mose, the two old cronies of "Simple, Simon Simple," delightfully portrayed by Charles H. Osborne, an eccentric comedian, and Shorty Edwards, will start things a-going in the fun line, with Nixon and Zimmerman's elaborate production of "Simple Simon Simple," which inaugurated the season at Norristown, Pa., last evening.

The roaring farce, "Side Tracked," will be the attraction at the Grand tonight, for a few hours the most hilarious plays seen here in a long time. In "Side Tracked" you will find no worn-out songs, hackneyed jokes or other antiquities, but new songs and dances, being always right up to the minute, every performer being an artist in his or her respective line. Popular prices will be the prevailing rule.

The coming production of Langdon McCormick's latest play, "Gessie Left the Village," tomorrow afternoon and evening, promises to be the season's biggest success. The author has strayed, it is said, from the "beaten path" of the average playwright, and followed closely a creation of "idealistic" characters that are met in everyday walks of life in the smaller towns. The story is one of absorbing heart interest, with a happy blending of humorous situations that at no time become ludicrous. The scenes are laid in a pretty village. The management, Mitchell Bros., have taken advantage of the same, and given the production a most picturesque equipment. In addition to the large company of superb players, the Green Corners Symphony Band are members of the organization. They give a concert in front of the theater before each performance.

Theodore Kremer's latest effort, "A Desperate Chance," will be presented at the Grand on Monday evening, with an elaborate production and an exceptionally strong cast. The play is based upon the troubled times of the Biddle brothers in and around Pittsburgh. No individuals are presented, only types. Beginning with the arrest, imprisonment, escape and final death of the villain, the author shows the villain in a new garb, with great hypnotic power over the gentle sex. The action of the play is humanely intense, full of heart interest, and abounding with great surprises. The production is said to be one of the most elaborate seen here in many a day, and contains some new novelties, including a snowstorm scene, produced by a new mechanical device which has been used on no stage before, and which causes much comment.

Some of the Prime Ministers of the British colonies receive pretty good salaries. General Botha of the Transvaal gets $20,000 a year and the members of his cabinet $15,000 apiece. The Premier of Natal receives $6,820, the Canadian Premier $12,000, Australia's $10,500, Queensland's $6,500, Victoria's $7,000, New South Wales' $7,850, New Zealand's $8,000 and the Premier of Tasmania $4,750.

A SPLENDID PLAY; SMALL AUDIENCE

Miss Isabel Irving Appears With
"The Girl Who Has Everything."

Miss Isabel Irving appeared at the Grand last night in a play of splendid interest, entitled, "The Girl Who Has Everything." The audience was very small, and was an utter disappointment to Manager Bowers, who has done everything in his power to bring first-class attractions to London, only to see them poorly patronized. Last night's audience, in point of numbers, was simply a joke, and was anything but an incentive to Mr. A. J. Small to send first-class attractions to London. Miss Irving is undoubtedly one of the most talented emotional actresses on the stage today, and the play was one of the best written, and best produced which has delighted Londoners for very many moons.

It is by Clyde Fitch, and does credit to its author. The plot revolves around a girl—Sylvia Lang—whose sister has died leaving a husband and two children. The husband is a rake, and he dissipates his wife's fortune. After the latter's death, a will is produced showing that all the wife's property is to go to the husband and nothing to the children. Philip Waring, a young lawyer in love with Sylvia, advises the girl to go to law on behalf of the children in an endeavor to break the will.

She did so, and won her case, but it was then ascertained that the fortune had been dissipated by the husband previous to his wife's death, and that on her deathbed in order to save him from prosecution in love with Sylvia, she had produced the will which he had produced. Before the action was tried, Guy Weems, the brother-in-law, went to Philip Waring, who was to marry Sylvia, and told him that in order to protect himself he would besmirch the character of his dead wife, unless the suit was dropped. Waring then tried to have Sylvia stop the suit, to prevent a scandal, but she would not listen to him, her mind having been poisoned by Weems, who told her that Waring was after her money and that when he heard there would be no money, even if Weems was beaten, in the action, he would want her to withdraw the suit.

It is a play which is brimful of clever lines and interesting situations and it was admirably carried out by the splendid cast.

Miss Irving never appeared to better advantage in London. In the scene where he quarrels with her husband she was very strong, rising to great heights in her emotional work.

She was given a capable support by Mr. Harry Hilliard, as Philip Waring; Mr. H. R. Roberts as Guy Weems; and Miss Emily Wakeman as Philip Waring's mother.

The settings were superb.

CAN'T KILL SQUIRRELS EXCEPT IN NOVEMBER

Several copies of the new game laws of Ontario, which came into force June 6, 1907, have been received in this city, and according to the new regulations squirrels, black and gray, may only be killed from Nov. 1 until Dec. 1, both days inclusive.

The regulations governing the shooting of ducks have also been changed, and now reads as follows: "No blinds or decoys for use in hunting ducks or other waterfowl shall be placed at a greater distance than two hundred yards from the shore, or a natural rush bed thick enough to conceal a boat."

THE ELLIOTT REUNION

Interesting Family Gathering at a Dorchester Home.

The home of Mr. Robert Wilson, North Dorchester, was the scene of a very happy event yesterday, it being the occasion of what was known as the "Elliott reunion." Guests to the number of 83 were present, being the descendants of three different branches of the Elliott family, namely, Mr. O. H. Elliott, Riddick and Mrs. Wilson. Those present represented three generations.

The visitors began to arrive in the early morning from Belmont, Port Talbot, Verschoyle, Ingersoll, Woodstock, Dickson's Corners, Dorchester Station, Thamesford, London, Banner, Nilesstown and surrounding country, and the stream of new-comers was kept up until dinner was announced at 12 o'clock, when a sumptuous repast, including all the delicacies of the season, was served by the ladies.

During the afternoon selections on the violin and gramophone lent enjoyment to the occasion. Messrs. Geo. Leslie and Robt. Wilson were chosen as captains of a keenly-contested baseball match, in which young and old alike participated, the former being the winner by a score of 24-23.

When the afternoon had been spent in social intercourse and games, the party reassembled at the tea-table, where justice was done to the good things provided.

Mr. Lawrence Wilson, of London, had his camera, and obtained several photographs of the group. At about 7 o'clock, the party commenced to break up, each one delighted with the outing.

CHARGED WITH POISONING.

CLAUDE JOHNSON WOULD NOT ELECT

Alleged Forger Arrested Here Was Arraigned in Stratford.

Claude N. Johnson, the alleged forger, who was arrested in London recently, was brought to Stratford Wednesday evening by Chief McCarthy. This morning Johnson was arraigned before Magistrate O'Leane on a charge of uttering forged notes in 1904, and when asked to elect how he would be tried, declined to answer until he had consulted his solicitor. He was remanded till Monday or Tuesday of next week.

The Stratford Beacon says: The manner in which Johnson made his escape in 1904 will be recalled with interest. Hearing that the authorities were after him he managed to get away, with the assistance, it is said, of a young woman in the city. Driving to Ailsa Craig he disposed of his horse and took the train for Windsor, where he was later arrested on a charge of horse-stealing, the charge being laid by the Windsor police. For this offense he served three years in Kingston Penitentiary, and upon his release he again immediately got into trouble, having been arrested on a charge of horse-stealing at the London Fair.

MR. EMMERSON'S PLAN

Will Represent Westmoreland County
As Long As They Want Him.

Moncton, N. B., Sept. 19.—At the opening of Hall's Creek bridge, near here, today the interesting part of the proceedings was the statement made by Hon. H. R. Emerson, ex-minister of railways, to the effect that he would continue to represent Westmoreland as long as the people of the county wanted him. He said: "The idea seems to have got abroad that because I have resigned the position of minister of railways in the Government I intend to retire from the representation of the county of Westmoreland. Let me say there is honor enough for any man in the county of Westmoreland to represent the county in the Federal House without being enhanced by any portfolio, and so long as the people of the county want my services just so long shall my services be at their command. Let me say once more, the very moment you do not want me, say so, and I will bow with the greatest good nature, and will retire with all grace."

He expressed gratitude to the people of Westmoreland for the kindness shown him, and said his gratitude would live as long as he was above the sod, and if there was such a thing as the things after death he was sure his time would be occupied in thinking of the many kindnesses shown him.

METHODIST ACTIVITIES

District Meeting and Sunday School Convention at Centralia.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

The financial district meeting of the Methodist Church for the Exeter district was held here yesterday morning. The meeting opened at 9:30, with Rev. A. H. Going, of Exeter, in the chair. The work of the district was passed in review along the lines of missionary, educational, and temperance operations. The chairman said it was the "banner" district of the London Conference as far as the general average of circuits was concerned. About 25 ministers and laymen were in attendance, and a most enjoyable meeting closed at noon.

A Sunday school convention had been arranged for the afternoon and evening, and a large delegation of Christian workers was in attendance. The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock, with the chairman of the district presiding. Reports from the various schools showed the work to be of a progressive character, not a doubtful note being sounded by a single delegate. Interesting and practical addresses were delivered by Rev. S. Baker, of Ailsa Craig, and Rev. John Hart, of Exeter.

At the close of the afternoon session, the delegates repaired to the basement of the church for luncheon. A sumptuous repast had been prepared by the ladies of the Centralia Methodist Church, who have made a reputation for themselves as culinary experts.

The church was decorated with hunting flowers and evergreens, and presented a most attractive appearance. The people of Centralia well deserved the hearty vote of thanks accorded them on the occasion.

The evening sessions were largely attended and the meeting was in charge of the Sunday school secretary, Rev. E. A. Fear, Strong, eloquent addresses were delivered by Rev. L. Bartlett, of Woodham; Mr. H. Hueston, of Exeter, and Rev. J. E. J. Millard, of Birr.

Mrs. (Rev.) Baker, of Ailsa Craig, a trained singer, gave a most appropriate and beautiful solo in her usual attractive style, while the choir, which is a most excellent one, under the leadership of Mr. Nelson Hicks, rendered its quota of choice music. The meeting closed a little after 10 o'clock, and all pronounced this convention—the first in ten years—one of the best they ever attended.

The weather was ideal, and in the bright light of the moon the school drove from ten to fifteen miles to their homes, rejoicing in the good time spent in planning for future good.

TWINE WAS SHORT

Government Inspector Heavily Fines
an American Company in the West.

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—J. L. Haycock, Dominion inspector of binder twine, who is now in the city, says that while in the west he imposed fines amounting to $3,600 for short twine. One American firm was fined $1,400, but as an illustration of the far-reaching results of such a fine it actually cost the company $12,000 by being forced to retag what was in the hands of the dealers. Some 250 tons had to be retagged, reducing its value $40 per ton, making a loss of $10,000. There were other cases somewhat similar, but this was the worst.

The deficit for the Pacific Cable last year was $335,340. Of this amount Canada will have to pay $53,150.

HANG HABITUAL CRIMINALS

Would Apply Death Penalty for Attempts To Commit Capital Crimes.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Attorney General Bonaparte, in an address today before the National Prison Wardens Association, demanded the death penalty as a punishment for habitual criminals.

Obedience to the law he declared to be the primary purpose of punishment. He defined at length the relation of criminals to society. The primary purpose of punishment, he said, is to assure obedience to the law. When inflicting punishment the state looks not to the past, but to the future, not to the individual who has disobeyed and now suffers, but to all the individuals who may hereafter fear to disobey by reason of his sufferings.

"We have developed a class of men who pass a very large part of their adult years in one after another prison, using their intervals of liberty only to devise and perpetrate new crimes," he said. "The habitual criminal, it must be remembered, is a product of modern civilization. Our ancestors would have hanged him for his first felony, or if by any chance he escaped of this fate he would have almost surely died of some of the maladies then epidemic in prisons while awaiting trial for the second. I would not have men hanged to day for a trifling theft, but I would have modern society cease to nourish and shelter its proved and inveterate enemies."

"Some years since I suggested that an attempt to commit a capital crime ought to be made itself capital, and that when the man has been already thrice convicted of major crimes, upon his conviction for his fourth offense of the like grade he should be liable to the death penalty. I have seen no reason to repent of these suggestions."

BIG FIRE IN MADRID

Houses Destroyed at Night and People in Panic—May Be Forty Injured.

Madrid, Sept. 18.—One of the biggest fires ever known here started late last night in the Calle Isidro, in the artisans quarter. It spread quickly, causing a panic among the residents of the district.

Firemen and soldiers worked heroically to rescue the inmates of the houses, but terror made the people unmanageable. They clamored for help, but numbers refused to leave their homes without their belongings.

It became necessary finally to drag them into the streets. Fourteen houses were destroyed, and 30 or 40 persons were injured, some of them seriously. Many of the people are destitute and are now camping in the streets.

King Alfonso, who is absent from the city, telegraphed to the Infante Fernando to visit and add the sufferers on his behalf.

THE RESULT OF CLEMENCY

Paris Blaming the Govt. for Outbreak of Atrocious Crimes.

Paris, Sept. 20.—The public indignation at the appalling growth of crimes and violence, which manifested itself over the commutation of the death sentence passed upon Soulelland for the atrocious murder of a little girl, has been aroused again by the revolting crime of a drunken gardener, who, to avenge himself on his wife for refusing to live with him, drowned his two children in a moat of the fortifications. The Matin publishes the story under the caption, "The Result of Clemency."

A writer in the National Review says of Moorish civilization: "It is something so apart, so alone, this Moorish civilization; these great houses, this luxury of horses, servants, living and leisure, this beauty of architecture, creating buildings impossible to reproduce anywhere else; this literature, bigoted and restricted as it is, but existing utterly self-sufficient."
