

ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE OF "PAT'S" IDENTITY

Why Does Sir Adam Wait?—Asks Leader Ferguson

NEW IMPORTANT FACTS ADD TO EVIDENCE THAT "M'GREGOR" IS NORTON

Advices From West Say Man Arrested With Sidney Murrell Has Divorced Wife Living in Nevada—Mrs. Ernest "Pat" Norton Admits Her Husband Was Also Divorced.

OTHER CITIZENS RECOGNIZE MCGREGOR

A new and possibly important clue in further establishing the identity of Pat Norton was secured today.

"George McGregor," who lies in jail at Susanville, California, and whose photograph was yesterday identified as Pat Norton by Chief Birrell and Sergeant of Detectives Down, has a divorced wife, living in a small Nevada town.

Ernest Pat Norton has also a divorced wife, whose present whereabouts The Advertiser has not yet discovered.

This further parallel evidence seems to have important possibilities in confirming the confident opinions stated by the local police authorities yesterday when they inspected the photograph of McGregor, secured by The Advertiser from Susanville.

As matters stand now it may be a woman who will prove the final undoing of the man who has baffled the police of the continent for over two years.

This morning The Advertiser received from Susanville a telegram stating that Sheriff Carter, the man who arrested Murrell and "McGregor" in this country several years ago, and that "he has a divorced wife living in Nevada." The telegram requested The Advertiser to make inquiries regarding Norton's matrimonial ventures.

Norton's Previous Wife. Acting on this information, The Advertiser learned from Pat Norton's present wife, who is living at Lambeth, that the bandit has a previous wife, whom he divorced some years ago. Where she is now is not known. The present Mrs. Norton has not had a happy life. She married Ernest Norton with love and confidence. For long months he deceived her with stories of his work on the railway, and his previous marriage was kept secret from her until after the birth of the little son, whom she is now trying bravely to bring up in honesty and independence. After the child was born, however, she learned that she was Norton's second wife, and pictures of the first Mrs. Norton were shown her by Pat's mother.

The Advertiser has telegraphed this information to Sheriff Carter at Susanville.

London police have nothing to add to the declarations made yesterday. Chief of Police Birrell and Sergeant Harry Down were equally positive that the photograph of "McGregor" was the face of the long-wanted Pat Norton. Other members of the force were uncertain, and some declare that it is not Norton; but the chief and the sergeant are positive in their opinions.

May Be Delay.

It may be some time before their opinions are either confirmed or denied with authority. Photos of the real Pat Norton, obtained locally, have been sent to Susanville for comparison with McGregor, and final identification now seems to be with Sheriff Carter and his officers. In the meantime, according to telegrams received by The Advertiser, the sheriff is giving McGregor no inkling that he is suspected of serious crime. He prefers to let "McGregor" rest in false security until indisputable evidence can be secured.

"George McGregor" sits these days in deep thought, behind the bars of the little village jail in California. At this moment only he himself knows positively whether or not he is the bandit whom London has wanted since April, 1921. If he is really Norton, as the present evidence indicates, one wonders what must be his emotions as he thinks of the trains and telegraph messages which he knows must be speeding across the continent searching for proof of his guilt.

Whether Chief Birrell and Sergeant Down are right or wrong, one thing at least seems certain. The man "George McGregor" has at some time lived in London.

Several people, among them a prominent merchant, declared to The Advertiser today that they recognized yesterday's picture of "McGregor" as that of a man whom they have seen in London, although GEDDES MAY RETIRE. The early retirement of Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador at Washington, is forecast. Sir Auckland is said to be threatened with blindness, the same affliction which overtook his predecessor at Washington, Viscount Grey.

SOME UNION MEN ARE DISAPPOINTED WITH NOMINATION

"Sim" Thompson, Secretary for Barbers, Displeased With Stevenson.

SELECTED McKAY Fails To Understand Why Other Nominees Withdrew Names.

Some of the union men find it hard to swallow Dr. Stevenson. It seems a pretty bitter dose for "Sim" Thompson, secretary of the barbers union and one of the delegates from that organization to the Labor convention last night.

"Sim" is none too well pleased with the outcome, although he feels that he will have to support Dr. Stevenson "as he was the party choice." The secretary is sorely disappointed, nevertheless, and is not at all backward when giving vent to his feelings today.

Why didn't some of the other nominees allow their name to go to the convention? he questioned. "I nominated Ald. Frank McKay and I felt sure that either he or Ald. Colbert would stand. I still think that one of them—or at least some good union man—should have been tendered the nomination. I don't mind acknowledging that I am disappointed with the decision."

FATHER'S NUDE BODY DISCOVERED BY SON

Montreal Man Found Hanging and Still Warm Few Hours After Supper.

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, June 1.—Hanging dead and unclothed, the body of Richard Frayne, 45, Notre Dame street east, was found by his only son last night. The body was still warm, but efforts to revive the victim were unsuccessful. Frayne had appeared in his usual spirits at supper time, and his son said that he did not seem to be either ill or depressed.

QUEBEC IS IN GRIP OF FOREST FIRES; HELP SUMMONED

Messages Pouring In State Many Sections of Province Affected.

FORTY ACRES BURN

Expect Conditions Will Be Very Serious Within Few Days.

Special to The Advertiser. Quebec, June 1.—Once more the Province of Quebec is in the grip of forest fires, and today messages are pouring into the forestry branch announcing one after the other that all the sections are more or less affected.

The most important one, reported in the eastern section of the province, is that of l'Anse St. Jean, in Saguenay County, where 40 acres of beautiful timber are now the prey of the flames, and 200 men are working to prevent its extension.

The fires are rapidly spreading, and forecasts and expectations are that the conditions will be very serious within a few days. Instructions are being wired from the forestry branch here, and arrangements are completed to obtain complete co-ordination of the various services. Several fires reported under control last evening have now started again, and many are spreading from Ontario to Quebec, notwithstanding attempts to check them.

The permit regulations are being insisted upon. Sportsmen and fishermen are again blamed for the numerous outbreaks, and another appeal is being made today.

NORTH BAY MURDERER BURIED THIS AFTERNOON

Bishop Scollard Refuses Dead ex-Convict Rites of the Church.

Special to The Advertiser. North Bay, Ont., June 1.—Leo Rogers was buried at 2 o'clock this afternoon "outside the fence" of the Catholic cemetery, in a plot where the unbaptized children are interred. Rogers was a member of a Catholic family. His sisters were good church attendants. He himself had been to St. Mary's Cathedral on various occasions, but he had not made his Easter duties and he had not taken communion.

Despite the entreaties of Mrs. Rogers and her husband, Bishop Scollard refused the dead ex-convict the rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

Driving Wind Wrecks Crop and Takes Roof Off Cars

Storm Near Regina Smashes the Windows in Homes—Almost Approaches Cyclone.

Canadian Press Despatch. Regina, June 1.—Breaking windows, driving young crops into the ground, tearing the roofs from six freight cars in motion, and accompanied with gusts of rain, a hailstorm which broke to the north of Balgoni, near here last night, for a time approached the proportions of a cyclone. Telegraphic reports state that rain

SOUTH SECTIONS WILL DETERMINE ELECTION RESULT

Campaign Leaders Concentrating Their Efforts on the Western Peninsula.

CASUALTIES HEAVY

Overthrow of Andrew Hicks Greeted With Pleasure by Drury Supporters.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, June 1.—Election month opens up with the battle for power in the provincial government being carried to the populous and prosperous peninsula of Southwestern Ontario.

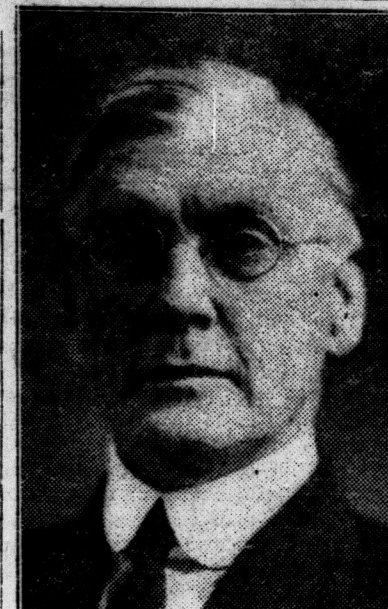

In this section of the province every county has two or three and sometimes four seats in the legislature. Undoubtedly the casualties will be heavy, and the returns from these ridings must bulk decisively in determining the issue of the present campaign for the election of the sixteenth legislature of Ontario.

With Hon. Howard Ferguson at Sarnia and W. F. Nickle at Owen Sound, the Conservatives last night opened up the speaking tours of their leaders. Today Mr. Ferguson is speaking at Aylmer and St. Thomas, and tomorrow the Conservative leader will campaign in Perth County. Mr. Peter Smith, the provincial treasurer in the United Farmer Government, who held the seat for South Perth, Mr. Hay and other Liberal stalwarts have already done some preliminary campaigning in southwestern Ontario, and the Liberal leader will return to that district after his present tour in the north.

It is expected that Premier Drury and the U. F. O.-Labor leaders supporting the government will make an intensive campaign in Southwestern Ontario during next week and the remaining period before the election on June 25. Much of the support for the government in the last legislature was brought from this section of the province. Government supporters this morning express gratification at the turn of events yesterday in the United Farmer nominating convention for South Huron, when W. G. Medd was elected to the place of Andrew Hicks, former member and government whip, whose defection from the government party and sensational speech in the legislature during the closing days of the last session helped to hasten the general elections.

FRENCH EXPEL FOURTEEN OFFICIALS OF DYE WORKS

Associated Press Despatch. Berlin, June 1.—The French are reported to have expelled fourteen of the leading officials of the Hoechst dye works. A despatch to the Vossische Zeitung says that the police of Bochum yesterday raided Communist headquarters and arrested sixteen of the leaders. Documents relating to the Communist organization were seized. By means of these, arrests of conspirators and the seizure of explosives in other towns were made possible.

VANCOUVER GETS LARGE CONTRACT IN SOUTH CHINA

Sun Yat Sen Gives Order to Northern Construction Company To Build Railroad.

LINK UP PROVINCES

Estimated Cost of Huge Project Will Run Between $25,000,000 and $35,000,000.

Canadian Press Despatch. Vancouver, June 1.—A contract for the construction of a 1,200-mile railway in South China has been let by the Sun Yat Sen administration to the Northern Construction Company of this city. The contract was signed during the recent visit to the Orient of C. V. Cummings, vice-president of the company. Mr. Cummings tacitly admitting the accuracy of this information when interviewed today, but stating that he could not discuss the matter at this stage.

At the office of the Canada Morning News, the Chinese Nationalist daily published here, it was stated that the railway is part of Dr. Sun's scheme to link up the province, passing en route through Kwangsi and Yunnan provinces.

When construction can begin is problematical. The South China government has some heavy financing to do before the work can be entered into, as the Canton Government is still engaged in warfare consolidating its territory in the south, this financing being faced with difficulty.

SCHOOL STUDENTS GIVE DRURY BIG RECEPTION

The Premier, Like Children, Is Looking Forward to End of June.

Smith's Falls, Ont., June 1.—Premier Drury received the greatest reception of the campaign here yesterday. It was from the local school children as, after addressing them for a few minutes, he announced a half-holiday. The premier joyfully remarked that he, like the children, was looking forward to the end of June. He said he wished the schools could get along with fewer examinations, and that there could be more subjects such as pupils liked to learn.

CONSERVATIVE LEADER SAYS BECK HAS NO NEED TO WAIT WORD FROM HIM

Surprised That Sir Adam Has Not Already Made His Decision as to Acceptance of London Nomination—"He Knew My View Long Ago," Ferguson Adds.

J. CAMERON WILSON HITS AT WENIGE

Sir Adam Beck is a very fine fellow, in the opinion of G. Howard Ferguson, leader of the Ontario Conservatives, who passed through the city at noon today, to put up into a Tory meeting in Aylmer this afternoon.

The only thing that appears to worry the provincial chieftain is to know definitely when Sir Adam intends to come out from hiding and accept the local nomination. There is no danger of hydro being launched into the political arena just because Sir Adam or any other "hydro candidate" might gain a seat in the legislature, Mr. Ferguson argues, adding his view that as a matter of fact it was originally intended that at least one, and if necessary two, members of the legislature should be members of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Why Does Beck Wait. And Howard Ferguson makes it quite clear that Sir Adam doesn't have to wait for the signal for him, although Sir Adam pleaded at the recent Tory nominating convention that he would have to have "another conference" with the leader before he could tender any definite decision.

Mr. Ferguson thinks that Sir Adam ought to be in the field, and dismisses abruptly the suggestion that Sir Adam is waiting for him to say something more about it.

"We must have some information in the house about hydro undertakings," continued the Conservative leader. "This is not projecting hydro into politics at all. Why, during the last administration there has been little or no discussion in the legislature about hydro. This fellow Carmichael knew as much about hydro as I do about the man in the moon."

Will "Survey" O. T. A. The Conservative leader gives assurance that his party is ready to do something for the people that Premier Drury never did, or would, even if returned to power. He refers to the Ontario Temperance act—its enforcement and proposed modification.

Mr. Ferguson declared that when the people evoked a whole-hearted desire for a change, the Conservative party stood ready to direct another referendum.

"The house will consider the entire question," Mr. Ferguson assured, definitely, "and if in our opinion we feel that sentiment is changing sufficiently to warrant another expression of the people we shall see that such is taken."

"That is something that Premier Drury would never do, or promise."

AN INDEFINITE TERM ON CHARGES OF THEFT

Albert McKeown Sent to Reformatory For at Least Three Months.

Albert McKeown, who was remanded a week ago when brought up on two charges of theft, was sentenced in police court today to three months to one year less one day on each charge, to run concurrently, in the Ontario reformatory. McKeown admitted he had been using drugs, and blamed their use for the thefts. He has appeared several times before on various charges, and the court in passing sentence said that it was more of a kindness to place him in the reformatory than to let him out into the world to face a temptation that was seemingly too strong for him.

The delegates to the London Methodist Conference, who are holding their annual session in the Central Methodist Church at Sarnia, the conference is one of the largest and one of the most important in the history of Methodism in the London district. Every church in the conference is represented by several delegates, in addition to the ministers. Several matters, important to the country as well as to the church, have already been settled, and the effects of the decision will undoubtedly be felt throughout the province in the near future. Rev. W. E. Millson of London has been elected president of the conference. When this picture was taken 173 ministers and 146 laymen had registered.

2,000 MEN BATTLE FOREST FIRES IN NEW ONTARIO

Juvenile Court Function Is Building of Character Says London's New Judge

Rev. G. Q. Warner Tells Kiwanians How He Proposes To Conduct Local Court—Will Follow Toronto Methods.

Evidence of the efforts of the local Kiwanis Club toward the establishment of a juvenile court in the city was forthcoming at its meeting in the Kiwanis House today, when Rev. G. Q. Warner, judge of the court, and Major Bradshaw, the newly-appointed probation officer, spoke.

"If we find it necessary to advertise London by sending children to institutions, you may be sure they will be only of the most hardened type with whom we find it impossible to adopt any other course," Mr. Warner said at the outset, an explanation of policy which was received by the Kiwanis Club with applause.

"I have a deep-seated horror of reform institutions as a general rule. Except in the most difficult cases, children are best out of them."

Speaking of his own appointment to the post, Mr. Warner referred to his previous experience, which had been mainly with hardened types and professional cracksmen.

No Experience.

"I have had no experience with the work of a juvenile court but what I had taught me what happens when there is no constructive effort during the formative period of child life. It is next to impossible to effect any influence with older men, but it is possible to save the majority, if not all, of juvenile delinquents. I should say the function of a juvenile court was less along court lines than to build character among children who committed crime through causes for which they were not responsible."

"In the city of London for years," Mr. Warner continued, "we have had the essence of a juvenile court without the actual proclamation of the act, in the work of Magistrate Graydon and the officials of the Children's Aid Society, who have done as much in this direction as any other body at the facilities at their disposal."

Copy Toronto.

"As for my own policy with regard to the court, it will be to follow as much as possible in this city methods similar to those which are already established in Toronto. Major Bradshaw has been in Toronto for four days with the chief probation officer of the court there, and if the cases here are only a percentage of those in the larger city, it will still be necessary to use methods which are as painstaking and effective."

"This means every child will be examined mentally, morally and physically, and with regard to his entire relationship with the community. As far as possible, we don't want to commit any children to a home. We ought to accept it as a challenge that the best environment for children can be found right here in London."

"Writing a check is one of the simplest things a man can do to help the court. We need money, it is true, but we need as well the personal influence of citizens, and I hope we can look upon the Kiwanis Club as a sort of big brotherhood in our work."

Get Children Young.

"If we get a child under our care while it is young enough and plastic enough, then environment is everything and antecedents practically nothing. It is upon this principle that Dr. Barnardo works, and proof that it is effective is contained in a report which shows that 98 1/2 per cent of the children sent to Canada from Barnardo homes have made good. He has shown there is such a thing as regeneration of character, and with proof that there can be success in so many instances, there is no work more fascinating or more thrilling than rebuilding character."

Major Bradshaw made it plain he did not want his position of probation officer mixed up with the idea of a "policeman and a big stick."

"I am going to keep as many youngsters away from the judge as I can," he said, "and when I find it will feel that I have failed a little, necessary to bring one into court I shall be brought in by the police, of course, are out of my jurisdiction, but I want youngsters to know me as a friend and not as a police officer, and the more we can do to keep them out of the courts, the better off we will be."

OVER-ORGANIZATION ENDANGERS CHURCH

Bishop Warns Against Elimination of Personal Contact To Save Souls.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Brantford, June 1.—The permanent establishment of the Hamilton Conference summer school on a site of 45 acres west of Normandale, was recommended to the Hamilton Conference this morning.

C. P. McGregor, of the Laymen's Association, speaking on the question of sustentation, declared that the cities were as bad as the rural sections in their failure to support the sustentation fund to augment ministerial salaries in smaller places. He distributed envelopes calling for district pledges to the fund, the delegates to go back after the conference and see that the pledged amount was raised.

Bishop Burt, of Buffalo, gave an address in which he stressed the value of personal contact in evangelizing, saying that the one by one method was the most effective. There was a danger that the Methodist Church would fall under the spell of the newspapers and out of the courts, the better off we will be."

JOHNSTONE FUNERAL LARGELY ATTENDED

Many Friends of Late Delaware Resident Honor Him in Death.

So large was the crowd that gathered in Delaware yesterday afternoon from every section of the district for the funeral of the late Henry C. Johnstone that before the services started in Christ Church that edifice was crowded and many had to stand in the aisles or wait outside.

Mr. Johnstone was born in Middlesex County and had farmed in Delaware Township for many years, later entering the grocery business in the village. His integrity and good-natured disposition was known to all the residents in the surrounding townships, and his cheerful presence will be indeed missed in the district in which he was born and reared.

Many beautiful floral tributes were sent by friends and relatives. The services were in charge of Rev. E. C. Crowder of Christ Church.

The pallbearers were: Alton Ryckman, John E. Plimcoe, Robert Reid, Percy B. Seabrooke, Henry Hannam and Octavius Weid.

Says Methodist Education Highest of All Churches

Rev. Dr. Graham Makes Plea For the Continued Support of Victoria College at Conference in Sarnia—Miracles Should Not Be Discredited.

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, June 1.—Stating the Canadian Methodist Church has the highest educational standard of any branch of world Methodism, and quoting Principal Fraser of the Montreal Presbyterian College as saying the Methodist educational standard was the highest of any Protestant church in Canada, Rev. Dr. J. W. Graham, secretary of education for the Methodist Church, appeared before the London Conference, and asked continued support for the educational activities of the church, and especially Victoria College.

Rev. I. G. Bowles, president of the Toronto Conference, brought greetings from his conference to the London Conference, and in the course of a forceful address said that he had no sympathy for teaching or preaching that minimized the supernatural or tried to discredit miracles.

Rev. Frank Lankford of Toronto emphasized religious education work, after which Rev. Byron Snell of Alvinston brought in the report of religious education work within the conference.

Rev. John Garbutt of London led in a discussion as to the most adaptable way of giving religious instruction, so that the instruction would not interfere with the work of the regular Sabbath schools. This matter was being discussed up until the time of adjournment at noon.

LOCAL CUSTOM HOUSE TO HOLD AUCTION SALE

Many Citizens Leave American Goods Unclaimed Owing to High Duty.

In the course of a year hundreds of Canadians order merchandise from United States firms, and when the goods arrive are appalled at the amount of duty they are required to pay, which results in many of the would-be purchasers leaving goods with custom officials.

These unclaimed articles collect so fast the local officials have to hold a public auction every six months or so to make room for the next haul of goods.

One of these public auctions will be held on June 10, at 10 a.m., and will continue until the merchandise has been disposed of. The list for the auctions reads: 121 boxes of goods, cotton packages, cleaners, auto parts, boots, shoes, rubber cement, typewriter, rifle, spark plugs, electric iron, revolvers, cigarettes, suit cases, pen-knives and a trunk.

Curzon Attacks Search For Bones of Pocahontas

Believes Some Excuse For Excavations at Tutankhamen's Tomb, But Declares Dead Should Be Spared.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, June 1.—Marquis Curzon, the foreign secretary, has added his voice to the protest against the search for the bones of Pocahontas. Addressing a meeting of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings last evening, he denounced the destruction of works of art in the past, and asserted that reverence for ancient buildings was a civilizational sentiment. He said that it was indeed almost a religious cult, and added: "But there is one thing that is not a cult, and that is the modern craze for taking up the remains of the dead."

Lord Curzon, after mentioning several instances in point, including the excavation at King Tutankhamen's

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS CONTINUE TO GROW

Last Month Almost $40,000 Ahead of May, 1922.

In the past four or five years one class of Dominion revenue which has consistently increased is the receipts of the customs. The last yearly report of the London customs house established a record for increased business in this district and judging by the May receipts the revenue at the end of this year bids fair to equal if not better the last statement.

The grand total for the past month as compared with May for 1922 brings out an increase of $33,371.27. The receipts this year were $301,554.98 and for the corresponding period last year $268,183.71.

The most substantial increase is noted in the domestic sales tax with a jump from $91,252.07 in 1922 to $118,043.92, a growth in business of $26,791.85.

There were only two decreases and these were small—$456.83 in sundries and $317.35 in domestic excise tax. The report as prepared by H. W. Wooster, cashier, is as follows:

"FEAST OF NATIONS" ENJOYABLE FUNCTION

Banquet by Forest City Chapter, O. E. S., Largely Attended.

One of the most enjoyable banquets of the season was the "Feast of the Nations" given last evening by Forest City Chapter, O. E. S., in the rooms in Alma Block, England, Ireland, Scotland and Canada were represented at the tables, which bore emblems of each country.

The Scotch table, laden with shortbread, oat cakes and cheese and decorated with purple iris flowers and old Scotch candlesticks, was in charge of Mrs. M. Horner, convener, assisted by Mrs. James Hendry, Mrs. Gale, and Miss Betty Saunders. Gay Scotch lassies, who opened the evening with the pipes, were Miss Jean Horner and Miss Peggy Robins.

Green flags combined with golden daffodils made effective decorations for the Irish table. The assistants, who wore Paddy green kerchiefs and lassies, were: Mrs. Albert Glinz, convener; Mrs. A. Kreidler, Mrs. A. Lee and Mrs. T. J. Redman.

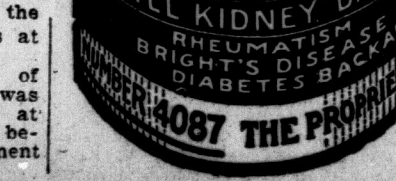

Mrs. Harry Harding convoked the English table assisted by Mrs. T. Tozier, Mrs. T. Shaw, Mrs. Arthur Wilkes, Mrs. William Cross, and Mrs. J. Dunkley, all wearing red, white and blue caps, with sashes to match. Candies in red, white and blue in little baskets decorated the tables, and the menu included roast beef, English jams and seed cakes.

Lilies and quantities of tulips adorned the Canadian table, where Mrs. F. Corp was in charge, assisted by Mrs. W. Newman, Mrs. G. Stillson, Mrs. Charles Linnell, Mrs. H. Bond and Mrs. D. Gilmour.

Following supper, a clever program was presented, which had been arranged by Mrs. W. T. Weamers and Mrs. Fred Tullett. Those taking part were Peggy Robins, Helen Galbraith, Helen Wilkey, Kate Davis, Mrs. George Stark, Jean Horner, Fannie Mills, Miss Harding, Ethel Lewis and Mrs. M. Horner.

Potentates Arthur Carruthers, W. H. Abbott, recorder, J. F. Reid, and Dr. G. A. Routledge will be the officials representing the Mocha Temple of London. The Arab Patrol, to the number of 40 members, will form part of the company, and the band of 35 pieces will go "en masse." Most of the Shriners will be accompanied by their wives, and traveling accommodation insuring the comfort of the entire party has been arranged for.

The imperial council meeting is the big event of the year in shrine circles, and Recorder W. H. Abbott says that fully 300,000 Shriners will have gathered in Washington by noon on Monday, practically doubling the population of the city. No announcement has been made as yet, but it is expected that the Shriners will parade to the train at the station where their wives will be awaiting them.

The following are some of the Shriners who have stated their intention of attending the big gathering at Washington:

Who Drove the Stiletto?

Hon. Howard Ferguson paused in his address at Belleville to shed a few tears over the fate of Hon. William Hearst, whom he claims was sacrificed because of his temperance policy.

Ontario is willing at any time to pay full tribute to the courageous manner in which Mr. Hearst placed the O. T. A. before the electors, but Mr. Ferguson's explanations now, with the idea of creating political sympathy for his own aspirations, are rather vague.

Mr. Ferguson at Belleville spoke at some length on the temperance question, stating that he had more to do with the present temperance act than any other person excepting Sir William Hearst. "The latter stood out as a man who kept his word and what happened to him? His temperance policy was endorsed, but how many behind the curtain in the polling booths drove the stiletto into him up to the hilt?"

This stiletto business is interesting. There had been a Conservative government in power previous to this. There had been enough Conservative members elected by Conservative votes to form a majority in the legislature.

Following the contest of 1919 it was found that the Conservatives were badly beaten. It must have been that there were not enough Conservative voters voting for Sir William Hearst to return him to power. The only inference is that the Conservatives themselves went back on him, and according to Mr. Ferguson's own reasoning they drove the stiletto into him because he stood for the O. T. A.

Mr. Ferguson's line of reasoning is not very complimentary to his own party. He might as well look things square in the face when he tries to act as presiding officer at a post-mortem of the last Conservative government. He would find that he, himself, Hon. Howard Ferguson, manipulator of crown lands for political friends, in Northern Ontario, was one of the chief reasons for the use of the stiletto by Conservative voters.

He may shed a few onion tears now in memory of that election, but he is painfully aware of the mark if he imagines he had nothing to do with the downfall of the Hearst government. He was like a millstone tied about its neck.

Rogers' Case An Awful Lesson.

The short and desperately bad career of Leo Rogers has come to an end, and North Bay will breathe easier as a result. It seems almost out of the question that one man should be able to terrorize a whole community for two weeks, but Rogers did it.

His whole story shows the utter folly of having conditions in this country whereby a man who is desperate, or criminally inclined, can secure firearms and ammunition and go about his damnable work of killing officers—who are appointed to enforce the laws, the enforcement of which is for the protection of the public in general.

In 1916 Rogers was sent to penitentiary for shop-breaking; before that term was out he made a murderous attack on one of the officials and escaped, being given a fifteen-year term upon his recapture.

Despite an investigation by a competent alienist, who pronounced him of insane tendencies, he was paroled.

Early in this year he appeared in Toronto and aided two gun shops, securing many revolvers and a supply of ammunition. Five days later he was arrested in North Bay on a charge of having concealed weapons. While on trial for this, he flourished a wooden revolver, and made his escape.

Two days later he shot and killed an officer whom he had promised to "get" some time before. Twelve days after he shoots another officer, and just as he is preparing to turn his gun on officers again another party shoots first, and Rogers is dead.

It is a desperate story from beginning to end, and two things stand out plainly:

(1) The man should never have been paroled; expert evidence showed that he was of a low type mentally, with insane tendencies; parole gave him the opportunity to go ahead and finish the work he had in mind.

(2) The criminal folly of having firearms and ammunition where would-be killers can get a supply. Our methods are far too loose in this connection, and the mad career of Rogers is such convincing proof that it ought to bring action from the authorities at once.

If they fail to take action that will dry up the supply of firearms, they are asleep at the switch.

Law should put the odds in a fight on the side of the officers of the law. It is not right that a policeman should become the target for a criminal's gun because this same law has made it so easy for him to get one.

The Women Should Be Interested.

The women all over the country are taking less interest in politics and politicians than at any time since they acquired the franchise. The local issues have little appeal to them—Guelph Mercury.

If that is so, then it should not be so. Provincial matters ought to be of greater interest to women than Dominion issues, or even the great bulk of municipal affairs.

Provincial government deals with matters of education, framing our school laws, and in the majority of cases women are more closely in touch with schools than the men.

Provincial government deals with the attitude of the people toward the liquor question, and it cannot be said for one minute that the women are not alive to this issue.

Provincial government deals with public ownership matters, and women are just as anxious as any man could be that this policy shall be carefully managed and zealously guarded.

Provincial government deals with courts, with the enforcement of many of our laws, and women know the importance of having these matters attended to fearlessly and honorably.

The Mercury's claim of indifference of women to provincial issues is almost incredible. The hope of getting full benefit from the women's vote lies in the fact that it should not be so carefully hived into political areas as the men's vote used to be, but rather that it should be quick to sense any great moral issue and throw its influence in the balance in its favor. That, at least, would be the ideal use of the women's vote, and in that way it would become a great power for good and right.

The Failure of Andrew Hicks.

Mr. Andrew Hicks of South Huron, the man who undertook to run Premier Drury out of office, failed to get the nomination meeting in his own riding.

Mr. Hicks failed by a good big margin. There were 199 votes polled at the convention in Hensall, and of these Mr. Hicks secured only 66, being less than one out of three.

The decision speaks out very plainly what his constituents think about his actions in the legislature. It is a vindication of Mr. Drury, and by no means a compliment to Mr. Morrison, who is looked upon as approving of Mr. Hicks' movements.

There is something wholesome about the answer of the U. F. O. gathering at Hensall to the application of Mr. Hicks at the convention for a renewal of the confidence of the electors in himself and his peculiar conception of his duties as a public servant.

After all, even a biased partisan has in him a sense of fairplay that does not break forth in admiration of a man who seeks to drag out in public things that are very properly done in secret.

83 Bushels of Oats to the Acre!

What is the best kind of oats, or wheat, barley, or field peas? That question would start quite an argument in any farming community, and well it might, for any farmer who works his fields year after year has a very vivid memory of certain fields that were good, bad or indifferent.

The Experimental Union, which has just issued its 1922 report, has a number of experiments at work. Their findings are interesting, and while special care may be given to the plots, the work covers a wide area and is fairly representative of what should be expected on a large scale.

Twenty-three tests of oats placed O. A. C. 72 at the top with 47.74 bushels per acre; next came O. A. C. No. 3 with 42.69, and third was Liberty (a hullless variety) with 38.68 per bushel.

Spring wheat shows Marquis with 24 bushels to the acre, and Wild Goose with 23.53, a pretty close showing for five plots making the test. In winter wheat, which Ontario banks on for her wheat crop, O. A. C. 104 gave 30.96 bushels; Kharkov, 28.92; Dawson's Golden Chaff, 28.79; Imperial Amber, 26.69, and Yaroslaf 25.59 bushels.

There is very little spring wheat in this section of Ontario; it is to be doubted if there are a dozen fields in Middlesex County. There was an effort to get it started when the war was on, and at that time the government brought in large shipments from the west, but the late springs here are against spring wheat, as Marquis must be in the ground along in March, which is often out of the question here.

These experiments in seed that is suitable for Ontario farms are valuable; they bring before the farmers anything new in the line of seed varieties, and good seed is at the bottom of a good harvest.

It is interesting to note that experiments in oats conducted at the grounds of the O. A. C. in Guelph are away above the average of those produced elsewhere. Here are some figures covering a period of 16 years:

Variety	Bushels Per Acre
O. A. C. No. 72	83.23
O. A. C. No. 3	82.73
Banner	73.58
Daubeney	72.16

The tests at other points give for 10 years the following results:

Variety	Bushels Per Acre
O. A. C. No. 72	48.5
O. A. C. No. 3	43.7

Why is it that the results on the farm at Guelph are so much ahead of yields secured from the same seed on farms scattered over the province? Do the O. A. C. men go out at night and talk to the oats, or is there an atmosphere of intensive production there that is lacking elsewhere? The spread between 83.23 bushels, which is a phenomenal yield, and 43.5, which is no mean record, is great enough to call for quite a lot of explaining. If the average farm could so work it to get a yield approaching 83.23 bushels per acre, there would be a mad rush to the oat fields of this province. Perhaps some of the O. A. C. men can explain the spread. It would make interesting reading.

Well, let's see. This is June 1. And three weeks from Monday it will be all over.

They've got a starvation sanitarium in Chicago where they pay $30 a week to get reduced to skin and bones. What under the sun would they charge in that place for three square meals per day?

Most of the Liberal attacks on U. F. O. and vice versa are being made by the leaders of these two parties. The average Liberal and U. F. O. speaker seems to be smiting each other with very gentle little whacks. When a U. F. O. speaker seizes a fence rail he always hits Howard Ferguson.

DIVIDING THE FAMILY INCOME.

(From the Ottawa Journal.)
United States Senator Woodbridge Ferris of Michigan, addressing a graduating class of girls' college in New York a day or two ago, advised girls not to marry until qualified by knowledge of work or business of some kind to support a husband. This, he said, would render a girl independent and compel a husband, when she took one, to treat her fairly as regards money—or of course anything else. Senator Ferris said:
"You have all seen your mothers beg for money from your fathers to buy anything they want from a 'safety-pin to a gown.'"
These words are well worth while. The world is improving in regard to recognition of the equal rights of a wife in her husband's income, but a vast deal of decency is still needed in the manner in which a great many wives are treated in the money matter—and not merely decency, but common sense. No wife should need to ask her husband for money up to a fair extent. By fair extent we mean a sufficient allowance for the maintenance of house, children, and table, and as liberal an allowance as the family means permit for her own pocket—an allowance in this last connection as liberal as that which the husband uses for his own personal purposes. All this is not as a matter of concession or generosity on the husband's part, but as a matter of justice which a husband has no right to disregard.

PESSIM AND OPTIM.
If God is for us, who is against us?—Rom. 8:31.
It is useful to see the dark side. It is helpful to see the bright side. But whichever side is most clear to you, do not let it make you an "ist."
Do not insist that the side you see is the only side. You must admit that things are not so bad but what they might be worse.
Therefore, you cannot be a pessimist yet.
You can't claim that things are so good that there is no need of betterment. Therefore, you may not be an optimist yet.
Open your mind on both sides. Don't ignore the evil. Don't despair of the good. Work patiently for the better. Believe that God is on that side. Take religion not as an opiate, but as a tonic.

Your Health

WHAT YOUR SALIVA DOES TO HELP DIGEST YOUR FOOD
By Royal S. Copeland, M.D.
United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Without the saliva, digestion and assimilation of food would be seriously embarrassed. It is one of the essential body fluids. There are three sets of glands producing saliva. The "parotid gland" is set into the face directly in front of the ear. Its duct, or passageway, opens into the mouth near the second molar tooth of the upper jaw.

The "sublingual gland" lies under the tongue, as the name indicates. A number of ducts lead from this to the mouth.

The "submandibular gland" lies under the lower jaw, about half-way between the parotid and sublingual glands. The duct opens near the middle of the lower side of the tongue. Besides these large salivary glands, there are a number of small glands throughout the mucous membrane lining the mouth and throat. The amount of saliva produced by the combined action of all these glands is about a quart in 24 hours.

The use of the saliva are several, but its chief use is to moisten food and thus make it possible to swallow it. If you have ever tried to swallow a capsule without water, or a piece of perfectly dry food, you know how difficult it is. Moisture is necessary to the swallowing process.

In dogs this is the only use of saliva. There is no digestive process in his saliva, but he is given a flood of it, so help float in his stomach the food he snatches and bolts.

You should take pains to chew each and every meal to chew your food thoroughly. You will understand now why it should be done, especially if starchy foods are set before you.

Unfortunately breakfast is a hastily eaten meal. The commuter, the office man, the stenographer, the manufacturer, the broker, the great lawyer, the laundress, the maid, the porter, the school child—it makes no difference what the vocation—breakfast is eaten too fast. This is unfortunate, to say the least, for it is decidedly detrimental to the health. Above all other meals, the nature of breakfast is such that time for thorough mastication is most essential. Otherwise the digestion of the food is interfered with at the very first place it should be started.

Anything stimulating to the emotions and appetites will increase the flow of saliva. Therefore, good company, good food and an occasional change in both will do much to promote digestion.

For her visit to Rome, Queen Mary carried with her a most elaborate series of frocks which, though made in London, were designed by a French couturier. The day of her arrival, her majesty wore a gown of blue and silver, the blue aquamarine, the silver soft and frosted in effect. Pearl and diamond ornaments were worn and a silver tissue hat.

The queen, who looks best in evening gown and jewels, paid particular attention to this side of her Italian wardrobe. She took with her, among many other frocks, one of soft emerald satin having two panels gracefully designed and perfectly executed embroidery in emerald and white crystals sewn up effectively with silver which reached to the hem, while the bodice was embroidered; the jeweling, with its touches of gold and silver, showing up effectively with the soft green of the emerald.

The dress in which the queen had audience of the pope was black, according to strict Vatican rules for ladies of whatever rank received by his holiness. The fabric was rich soft black silk, the bodice high and the skirt without much fullness. The dress was fastened over her shoulders by a clasp of brilliant. For the audience, King George donned a field marshal's uniform.

When they arrived at the Vatican the king and queen declined to use the famous lift, built in the time of Pius X., and slowly climbed the four long flights of marble stairs. King George mounted the steps without much fatigue, but her majesty, evidently unaccustomed to the task, after going up nearly 200 marble steps, was somewhat tired, although she smiled.

On entering the Sala Clementina which was finished under Clement VIII, who reigned between 1592 and 1605, their majesties walked through it slowly, having hardly time to notice the curious old frescoes on the ceilings and walls. A group of bishops and monsignors in beautiful purple and scarlet robes were waiting to escort them further through the various rooms that lead from the Sala Clementina into the pope's private apartment and the little throne room, where the actual meeting with his holiness was to take place.

As their majesties passed through the last anti-chamber, the door of the little throne room opposite opened, and his holiness, in a white robe, came forward smiling to meet them. According to the ceremonial they met in the middle of the throne room, just where two carpets cut the room into equal parts, as it were. According to etiquette, his holiness slightly bowed, and the same salutation was returned by the king and queen, whereupon they shook hands and his holiness invited them to be seated in the crimson and gold armchairs. The bishops, monsignors and members of the suite retired, and his holiness and his royal visitors were left alone. The conversation lasted about 20 minutes. Instead of the usual presents of solely antique works of art, his holiness and their British majesties exchanged presents of their latest photographs in silver frames. Those presented by the pope were set in white satin cases, bearing the pope's signature and coat of arms in gold. The frames were of plain polished silver.

Still another room takes one into Japan—a Japan idealized a little after his fashion by the Italian artist in enamel and lacquer. Set in rococo frames of gold are gods in red jade set on little thrones before mirrors. The ceiling itself is half lacquer, half mirrors and the whole room glitters like a sword save the little reflective red gods on the pedestals.

The king's bathroom was like a corner of some old temple with pillars and Roman bath such as may be seen in museums; while in the queen's bedroom the bed stands like a throne in a three-arched recess. Inset into its head is a panel on which in soft colors is a fresco of a rosy dawn driving away night, while through a thin bank of clouds floats a crescent moon. On the occasion of the royal visit, the bed was spread with pale green satin, the three arabesque arches which screened it from the rest of the room being outlined in gold, and beyond the arches, everything—furniture and walls—were a melting mixture of silver and gold on which floated innumerable birds and blossoms painted in a hundred colors.

Looking Abroad

Rome Was In Gala Array During the Recent Visit of King George and Queen Mary—Much Made of Audience With Pope.

By DOUGLAS McREYNOLDS.
Rome donned its fairest gala dress in its recent greeting to the British sovereigns. Venetian masts in the chief streets were wreathed with garlands; velvet hangings draped the stands all along the route taken by the visiting royals; the British royal arms were displayed on the Villa Patrizi, which during the week of King George's and Queen Mary's stay in the Eternal City housed the British legation to the Vatican. The tramcars of Rome flew the British flag, and soldiers and policemen all wore full military uniform. The splendid site of the Piazza Esedra, della Tetteme, which, being close to the railway station, was the first view the king and queen had of the city of Rome

Special Train Will Carry Oddfellows To Detroit

London Degree Team To Take Leading Part In Initiation Ceremonies Conducted By Diamond Lodge This Saturday.

The stage is all set for the big initiation ceremony to be conducted by Diamond Lodge of Detroit, on Saturday, and at which the London Oddfellow degree team will take a leading part.

Diamond Lodge is rated as one of the strongest and most representative in Michigan, and when those in charge of the special ritual asked the Forest City team to confer the first degree on a large class of candidates it reflected credit on the reputation for presentation and thoroughness won by the city team throughout this part of the country and in their home town as well. A big representation of local Oddfellows and their friends will journey to the border metropolis Saturday in a special C. P. R. train, leaving London at 2:30. Following the confirmation of the first degree in Detroit, a monster banquet and celebration will be tendered the Canadian visitors.

Elaborate preparations have been made by the Detroit brethren to do proper honor to their guests, and the members of the team and others making the trip are confident that it will be one of the most successful ventures ever undertaken by local Oddfellows. The degree team has everything in readiness to insure the success of the ceremonial as far as their presentation is concerned and besides the usual rites, promise the Detroit Oddfellows something new in the way of novelties.

ARCHIE M'COIG FAVORS WOMEN FOR THE SENATE

Kent Senator Gives Notice of Motion To Amend Act.

PUT AGE LIMIT

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, June 1.—Senator McCoig gave notice of a motion today asking the Senate to petition the king to consent to an amendment to the British America act which would make women eligible as senators under the same qualifications as required for men. A further request in the petition is to the effect "a senator who is hereafter summoned to the Senate shall hold his or her place in the Senate until he or she reaches the full age of 70 years and no longer."

In committee on the bill to amend the industrial disputes investigation act, Senator Ross (Middleton) moved that the second clause be struck out. This clause makes it unlawful for an employer to make a cut in wages or hours, or for employees to go on strike until a dispute has been dealt with by a board of conciliation. Senator Ross said the clause was very unfair to the various mine operators, and read lengthy protests from the Asbestos Mine operators of the province of Quebec and the Canadian Institute of Miners. Senator Ross motion was declared lost. Senator Belsue then moved that the following clause be added: "It shall be unlawful for any employer, without the consent of a majority of the employees, evidenced in writing, signed by them or their authorized representatives, or for any employee to make any change in the conditions of employment with respect to wages or hours, unless the party making the change has, before doing so, applied for the appointment of a board to which the dispute shall be submitted, and as regards wages the board may declare its decision retroactive to any date not anterior to that on which the change was made."

CHATTED OF CRIME

What They Said to an Advertiser Man on Memorable Trip to Melbourne.

Life just a game of chance with the Murrell gang—and a long shot at that.

The gang says so itself, or to be more precise this is the opinion of the three members who have been behind prison bars, Sidney and William Murrell and "Slim" Williams.

"What's the difference?" Sidney asked an Advertiser reporter. "There's going to be a lot of people dead before we die. Why, they're dying every day."

"Wa-al, I don't know," drawled Williams, as he turned to the Advertiser man, when the three bandits and the reporter were on a motor trip to trial in Melbourne—a trip which ended in a spill in the ditch on the provincial highway.

"Queer things do happen. When I was overseas I was alongside two fellows. One had been up the line three years, the other, just a few weeks. A 'whizz-bang' came over, and the man who had been with us three weeks just naturally disappeared. You can't tell me that fate isn't working here."

"Say, if I ever get away from this I'm going down to dear old Broadway, New York. I was with a bunch of fellows down there for a while. I know a bunch in Sydney, Australia, too."

At the time of the Melbourne crime the Murrells, and Williams dubbed Melbourne "New York," and the main street (one of the two in the village), "Broadway."

New York and Broadway.

On the day of the preliminary hearing the three prisoners came out of the court house mawled. As they were about to step in the police car to take the trip to Melbourne, one of them said to The Advertiser man (addressing him by his nickname): "How's things down in New York?"

"Pipe," answered the reporter, grasping the humorous satire of the situation.

"How's things on Broadway?" chimed in Williams.

The police car started toward Melbourne.

An aged farmer was sitting on a stump in front of his farm.

Pointing to the old gentleman, Sidney Murrell remarked: "There's a kind of people they ought to kill. They have plenty of money, and they never spend much of it. It's guys like us who spend money, who need it."

Then the conversation turned to the Garfield brothers, bandits, one of whom had been sentenced to twenty years in Kingston Penitentiary and the other who has since been hanged for a murder at Woodstock.

"Small town guys," remarked William Murrell.

"Yes," agreed Sidney. "They pull jobs on women in small stores. Just like taking candy from a kid. We never pulled that stuff, and nobody can say we did."

"Was that guy married?" asked Sid.

"Who? Campbell?" queried the reporter, speaking of the victim of the Melbourne bank robbery.

"Yes," answered Sidney.

"No," the newspaperman informed him.

"That's good," he replied.

"When you shot Campbell," the reporter began, in an endeavor to straighten out the exact details of the case.

"Just a minute there," interjected "Sid." "You mean 'alleged' to have shot Campbell?"

The reporter did not pursue his examination.

At Melbourne the people were so excited about the case that they cheered and banged every time any evidence was given against the prisoner.

"What's this a court of justice or a nickel show?" Williams asked The Advertiser.

CONFERENCE WANTED

Border Chamber of Commerce
Receives Replies to Question.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Windsor, June 1.—Replies received to letters sent to boards of trade and chambers of commerce throughout Canada by the Border Chamber of Commerce show that there is a widespread demand for a nationwide conference on immigration problems such as the local chamber proposes to hold here next fall.

The letter set forth that Canada's greatest problem was her sparseness of population, and many trade bodies have replied favoring a conference to discuss a policy of bringing in desirable immigration.

MAYOR WENIG GUEST AT CHICAGO BANQUET

Will Invite London Old Boys
There To Come Back This Summer.

Sometimes Mayor Wenig addresses the city council. Sometimes his voice is heard laying down the law in the finance committee. At many a festive gathering he also drops a word of guidance, but tomorrow he goes further afield. He addresses the members of the Canadian Club in Chicago.

His Worship leaves this evening in order that he will reach the Windy City in time to speak to the London old boys and girls of that community at a dinner tomorrow evening.

Mayor Wenig wants the Old Boys Reunion and Summer Carnival next August to be a greater success than ever before, and he goes to Chicago to meet the former citizens that "the people back home are not entirely dead ones."

STATE 33,525 PERSONS
MAY VOTE IN LONDON

Polls Will Be Open on Election Day From 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Approximately 33,525 persons are entitled to vote in the city of London at the coming provincial election, according to an official report today from City Clerk Sam Baker.

About 425 names were added by the court of appeal, sitting since Monday.

This number is far below the last time, by reason of the fact that the voters' lists, as recorded at the city hall, are in much better condition than ever before. A marked improvement has been noted.

choused, as they were taken back to jail.

"One never knows. Anything may happen. Life's just a chance," remarked Williams.

"And what do we care," one of the two brothers rejoined.

"Oh, don't mind them," Williams replied in a sympathetic, pitying tone. "They don't know any better."

The police car had been wrecked in the ditch on the way to Melbourne. As the prisoners returned in another car sent out by the police department, they passed through Minor Park, their old home.

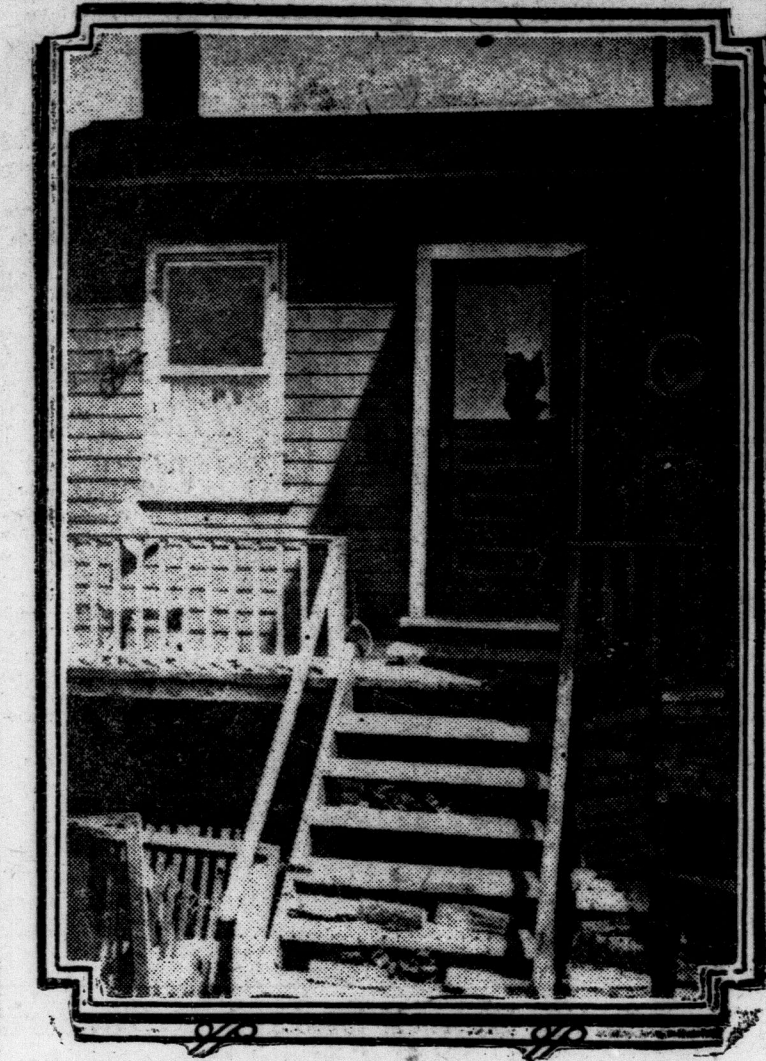

"There's the Payne!" exclaimed "Sid," as they passed through the suburb. "Hello, Sid!" he shouted. He was disappointed when the little girl either failed to hear or did not recognize his salutation.

"I guess she didn't hear me," he consoled himself.

"Well, I guess that is the last time we will pass through here, so I guess we won't see her again," he added.

"Oh, I don't know," replied the brother William, half hopeful, half optimistic.

And he smiled knowingly.

MAKES BITTER ATTACK ON DIABETES REMEDY

Noted Anti-Vivisectionist
Denounces Methods of Extracting Pancreatic Juices.

By HENRY SOMERVILLE.
Special Cable to The London Advertiser
by a Staff Correspondent. Copyright.

London, June 1.—Dr. Walter Hadwen, the well-known anti-vivisectionist, speaking in London yesterday, made a bitter attack on insulin along the lines usually adopted by anti-vivisectionists, when dealing with medical experiments. Referring to insulin, he said the whole thing had been known fifteen years.

"There has never been a single case of diabetes cured with it," he declared. "The agony which brought about the manufacture of insulin was wrought entirely upon dogs, and now they have discovered there was no need for this torture. They can get all the pancreatic juice they want from pancreas ovens as a by-product of the slaughter house."

The same product had been obtained from onions and other vegetables, he said. It is diabolical iniquity to torture any creature to get some problematical benefit for our own wretched carcasses.

In connection with the foregoing, it may be pointed out that the statement that "the whole thing has been known for fifteen years" is not true; that the discussions do not claim insulin to be a cure, though it does remove the symptoms of diabetes; that the dogs used in experiments were not so much for the purpose of supplying insulin as for observing its effects, an essential preliminary to experimenting on humans.

U. S. SENATOR WRITES AGAINST RECIPROCITY

Capper Says American Market
Would Be Flooded
With Canadian Goods.

Associated Press Despatch.
Washington, June 1.—Senator Capper of Kansas, head of the farm bloc in the United States Senate, opposes Canadian reciprocity in discussing the subject in his publication, Capper's Weekly. He says:

"Canada wants 'free trade' on farm products and live stock. Canada advocates tariff reciprocity between the United States and the Dominion. If other arguments favoring the farmers' tariff enacted by the last congress were lacking this should afford it."

"The failure of foreign markets to absorb American surplus agricultural products now causes a sag in the price of these products. It would be folly to bear these prices still more by opening our own market for farm products to Canadian producers, whose products suffer from the same lack of foreign markets."

AMERICAN MINISTER
FOUND UNNECESSARY

Australia Will Not Consider
Appointment of Ambassador to Washington.

Associated Press Despatch.
Melbourne, June 1.—Australia does not consider the appointment of a minister to Washington necessary and no action tending to such an appointment will be taken, according to a statement made by the premier of the commonwealth, S. M. Bruce.

When any diplomatic representations are to be made to the United States government, Mr. Bruce said, they will be submitted through the British embassy, as in the past. The prime minister explained that a trade commissioner to the United States had been appointed, Donald MacKinnon, director-general of recruiting during the war and a former minister in the Victorian cabinet.

Mr. MacKinnon, who will arrive in the United States in June, will succeed Sir Mark Sheldon, former commissioner for Australia, and will occupy the New York offices. Mr. Bruce asserted that the new commissioner's duties would in no way overlap those of the British ambassador.

TEMPORARY MANAGER
TAKES OVER HOSPITAL

R. F. Armstrong of Citizens' Research Institute in Charge Today.

Commencing today Victoria Hospital will undergo a reorganization that will last for a month and probably longer, following the taking charge of that institution this morning by R. F. Armstrong, of the Citizens' Research Institute. This step was taken following the recent survey of the hospital.

Mr. Armstrong told The Advertiser this morning that it would probably take him a couple of weeks to get next to the various departments. Following this he will take steps to reorganize it, section by section, which will probably take three or four weeks. After this has been done, a recommendation as to a manager will be made to the hospital trust.

He also stated that he had spent this morning cleaning out his desk and getting things arranged to his satisfaction.

UNITED STATES DELEGATES
QUIT OPIUM CONFERENCE

Special Cable to The Advertiser.
Geneva, June 1.—The entire United States delegation walked out of the opium commission at the League of Nations headquarters here today. The Americans refused to answer questions regarding their proposals or participate in any discussion of these proposals.

Chairman Porter of the house foreign affairs committee, with other American leaders, recently appeared before the commission urging that because of irregularities by his clerk, as this alone would curb the traffic.

San Francisco, Cal., June 1.—The day when persons who are ill may drop a coin in the slot of one of his super-radio machines and ascertain what ails them is not far off. Dr. Albert Abrams, pioneer in the use of radio activity, declared today.

The radio set used by Abrams is attached to what he calls a reflexophone, which catches from the air the vibrations of diseases and records them by means of delicate tuning methods.

His apparatus already has recorded vibrations of cancer, Abrams said. The experienced by a flower when it is torn and the absence of pain when it is chloroformed have also been detected. The doctor even claimed that his device would discriminate between truth and falsehood.

The reflexophone is a set of boxes with dials covered, which connect the reflexophone to tiny instruments arranged on a board, whereon three lighted bulbs glow and from which rises a magnifying glass. The super radio set is equipped with an antennae delicate-looking rod attached to the set by a black cord.

Dr. Abrams' first test with the apparatus was to record cancer vibrations. The moment the antennae rod approached a bottle containing a cancer in alcohol, the horn gurgled audibly; when the bottle was removed and the rod adjusted, the horn squeaked again, but after a moment had been passed over the spot the radio did not respond.

The radio recorded the message broadcast by the cancer, Dr. Abrams explained.

The cancer communicated a part of its energy to the spot where the bottle stood," he said, "his magnet sterilized the spot, hence the reaction."

When the leaf of a nasturtium was torn the horn responded.

NORTHERN TOWN
SAVED FROM FIRE
BY SHIFTING WIND

Heroic Fire Rangers and Railway Employees Battle Flames at White River.

DIG LARGE TRENCHES

Women and Children Placed On Train, Ready To Leave Section.

Special to The Advertiser.

White River, Ont., June 1.—The gathering force of a great fire similar to that which destroyed Haliburton, Charlton and other Northern towns last fall, has been temporarily broken by a desperate uphill fight by the local population, and by the ever-shifting winds here today.

Without a doubt yesterday was the most anxious day for White River in the history of the citizens, with fires raging on three sides, smoke in all directions choking, and all but suffocating the 40 assembled fire rangers, under Chief Robinson.

Women and children could be seen running in disorder to a specially-prepared train of empty box cars on the east siding. The town was frequently thought to be doomed.

However, a determined fight by the provincial fire rangers, ably assisted by special C. P. R. gangs of workmen from the surrounding bush, and local high school pupils, saved the town, and today trenches are being dug and pumps placed in position of advancing along and adjacent to the C. P. R. tracks.

The present work is very similar to that of consolidating a trench, or rather position, after a military encounter, and the jubilation is none the less hearty that White River is not now a mass of smoldering ruins than if a great strategic position had been captured in battle.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, June 1.—Miss Mabel Russell, actress-wife of Captain Hilton Philipson, was returned in a by-election today as a member of the House of Commons for the Berwick-Upon-Tweed division of Northumberland. Running on the Conservative ticket, she polled 12,000 votes against 3,888 for Captain Harold Robson, Liberal, 3,966 for G. Diver, Labor.

The seat was previously held by Miss Russell's husband, who lost it because of irregularities by his clerk, as this alone would curb the traffic.

San Francisco, Cal., June 1.—The day when persons who are ill may drop a coin in the slot of one of his super-radio machines and ascertain what ails them is not far off. Dr. Albert Abrams, pioneer in the use of radio activity, declared today.

MONEY ROLLING IN

One Consignment of Scotch and English Whiskies Brings Quarter Million.

Associated Press Despatch.
Norfolk, Va., June 1.—Just one more successful voyage as a rum-runner with a full cargo of Scotch and English whiskies is the ambition of the owner and master of the British steam yacht Istar, now lying fifteen miles off the Virginia Capes, according to the story the skipper told local bankers, when he came ashore to exchange a quarter of a million dollars for British currency.

This final trip, the captain was quoted today as saying, would enable him to retire from "the business" with profits totaling $1,000,000.

While the Istar rode easily at anchor fifteen miles at sea, her owner and master made his way to the shore in a yawl. He landed at Cape Henry, abandoned the yawl, and came on to this city with his burden of United States money, paid him for his last cargo. His business at the bank completed, the captain boarded a Chandler's launch and went back to the yacht.

In relating his story to the bankers today, the Istar's master declared his vessel had never brought liquor closer than fifteen miles to the United States shore, selling to luggers, who in turn disposed of it to smaller craft at the three-mile limit.

CHURCH ACCEPTS OFFER

Board of Education Will Push
Work For Construction of School.

Members of St. George's Anglican Church in London West have officially notified the board of education that an offer of $15,000 for property at the corner of Empress avenue and Wharncliffe road has been accepted.

With this communication received, the board will hold a meeting today to consider plans for the new school. The trustees are exceedingly anxious to make an early start on construction work, and so the board will work overtime during the next few weeks to get much necessary preliminary work cleared away.

As soon as the deal with the church people is closed, the purchase money will be paid, so that work on a new Sunday school building to replace the one which will be torn down to make room for the public school can be started immediately.

TEN PEOPLE SLAIN
IN RELIGIOUS RIOT
AT DURANGO CITY

Mob Attacks Provincial Palace and Disarms Mexican Police.

MANY ARE WOUNDED

Want Law Repealed Limiting Number of Clerics in State.

Associated Press Despatch.

Mexico City, June 1.—Ten persons were killed and seventeen women wounded in a religious riot at Durango City last night when a mob attacked the provincial palace and disarmed the mounted police, according to despatches to the newspaper Excelsior.

Federal troops are being concentrated in Durango for the purpose of preventing further disorders. All places of amusement have been closed and soldiers are patrolling the streets.

Despatches from Durango say that the trouble is indirectly caused by the recently enacted law limiting the number of ministers permitted to officiate in the state to 25 for each denomination. The Catholic priests in Durango normally number more than 250.

Accompanied by a crowd of more than 5,000 persons, a committee of prominent Catholics went to the provincial palace about noon yesterday for the purpose of asking the governor and the legislature to repeal the law. The committee waited at the palace for more than three hours and in the meantime the crowd was harangued by orators, constantly becoming more excited.

The mob finally began storming the palace, where the mounted police and guards fired a volley over the heads of the demonstrators.

The crowd, infuriated, attacked and disarmed the guards. As a result of the promiscuous shooting, the bodies of three policemen and seven civilians had been recovered today. The wounded, eight of whom were seriously hurt, were taken to hospitals.

Federal troops took no part in the disturbance, and the mounted police and guards were the only sufferers from the wrath of the mob.

The church authorities have announced that services will be discontinued unless the law is repealed.

TAG DAY TOMORROW
FOR WORTHY OBJECT

Daughters of the Empire Take
This Means of Aiding Canadian Institute For Blind.

Tomorrow the Daughters of the Empire will hold a tag-day in the interest of one of the most worthy causes for which similar appeals have been made.

Citizens of London will be asked to purchase tags for whatever sum they feel they can afford to give, that the work of the Canadian Institute for the Blind may be carried out successfully in this city. The cost to the institute of the work in London averages about $5,000 per annum, and so far none of this has been raised by the citizens, nor has any money been contributed by the city as a grant.

The work of the institution is dealing with those persons who are over 18 years of age and blind, teaching them to become as self-supporting as possible. For this purpose a teacher is kept in London, where there are some 48 blind adults. They are taught how to make white wear, baskets, brooms, etc., for which a ready market is found in Toronto. By this means they become an asset to the community instead of being a charge on their relatives, friends and probably the municipality.

The Daughters of the Empire are looking for a splendid response when the final return is counted tomorrow night, and they feel sure that if the citizens knew and could see the work accomplished by the institute they would, no doubt but that the $5,000 would be raised.

LITTLE MOTHER SELLS EVERLASTING FLOWERS

Works Up Successful Trade With Assistance of Mothers' Pension.

The Mothers' Allowance Board and its investigators mean more than a monthly income to some brave little souls who come under their protection.

"This is my mother!" Is the manner in which one mother introduces Mrs. R. M. Graham, investigator for the London district, so much has the investigator's visits meant to her.

Energy and industry, with the help of money coming in regularly from the Mothers' Pension Board, has built up a successful little market-garden trade for another mother, who has two little girls of eight and ten for whom to provide. Her husband died of influenza and for some time the little mother left behind had a desperate struggle. Her cheeks were hollow and her eyes wore a weary expression all of the time. Then came the pension and with it hope. The little mother which her husband had built shortly before his death need not go.

From this earliest gleam of hope, the energetic little woman has achieved success. Now she has a cow and a flourishing garden. She is on the market every Saturday with flowers and bulbs and vegetables. She hopes eventually to specialize in flowers.

Three years ago she was given seeds of everlasting flowers. She planted them, and then when they were grown, tied them up into small bunches, dried them and sold them at Christmas time. Next year she made tiny baskets and filled them with everlasting flowers and the demand for them at Christmas was even greater than before. Last Christmas, the entire ceiling of her back kitchen was strung with baskets of these flowers and she did not have nearly enough to meet the demand.

She is now well able to provide for her children and the pension was just what was needed to lift her out of her despair.

PUPILS OF ELOCUTION GIVE BRILLIANT RECITAL

Miss Gwendolen Anthistle Prepares Attractive Program—Vocalists Assist.

Enjoyment filled every moment of the recital given last evening in the First Congregational Church by the elocution pupils of Miss Gwendolen C. Anthistle. The work of the pupils was artistic and showed keen understanding of the art which they were interpreting. They were assisted by Miss Gladys McEvoy, and R. Henry Shaw, vocal pupils of George C. Carrie, and Miss Helen D. Clarke, pupil of Miss Irene Burns, whose brilliant numbers were an added attraction to an already delightful program.

The program follows: "A Mortifying Mistake," Anna M. Pratt; "Baby Logic," Elizabeth W. Belmont, by Florence; "Bees (Ill. Journal)," George's Great Plan; "Mary Moncre Parker," by Jack Dean; "Too Late for the Train," by Melissa A. Byrnes; "Daisy's Practice Hour," Pauline Phelps; by Marguerite E. Christopher; "Mrs. O'Toole and the Conductor," S. J. Smith, by Irene L. Deacon; "The Correction of Benny," F. T. Bishop, by Francis M. Carraire; "Pale Moon," Logan, and "The Swallows," Cowen, by Gladys I. McEvoy; "The Only Child," by Misses M. Taylor; "Old Ace," Fred Emerson Brooks, by Ida Cunninghamham (Thorn); "The Obliging Lady Boarder," by Elta L. SURE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxide powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxide powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition—Adv.

The Bungalow Inn, Springbank, was the scene of an interesting banquet last night when over 60 members of the Secondary Teachers' Federation with their wives as guests dined there. Pink and white blossoms were the chief decoration, used in profusion on tables and about the rooms. The pink and white scheme was also carried out in tiny baskets filled with pink blossoms and in the place cards. The guests were received by the president of the Federation, Miss Bessie McManus, and her executive, Mr. T. W. Oates, Mr. S. A. Whitton, Mr. A. E. O'Neill, Miss A. W. S. Balfour and Mr. John McKillop. The dinner was a most successful one, and a sports program was carried out under the direction of Mr. D. S. Scott, of the Technical School.

An outstanding event of the year for the graduates of the Ontario Hospital was the dinner given last evening in their honor, by the hospital in the amusement hall, Uptairs, where the nurses received green and red were combined effectively to decorate the room, and quantities of tulips were also used. Mrs. Gerald McIntosh, who is leaving London tomorrow to reside in Detroit, was happily surprised recently by the gifts of the weights and measures and the electric and gas inspection departments of the customs, of which she was a member for several years. Mrs. McIntosh was presented with a handsome silver tea service. The presentation was made by A. F. Nash, who gave a short address on the occasion of her departure from the city.

A smart social affair of next week is the wedding of Miss Margaret Johnston, only daughter of Mrs. Lyle Johnston, of St. Thomas, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. White, which takes place Thursday. Miss Shirley Lind of Toronto will act as bridesmaid and Mr. Eric Rehnitz will be best man.

Mrs. George Edwards of Komoka, president of the Women's Institute in Ontario, will represent Ontario at the bi-annual convention of Dominion Institutes being held in Fredericton, N.B., June 13th to 15th. Mrs. Edwards will reply to the address of welcome being given by the mayor of Fredericton, and will also give an outline of the women's work in Ontario. Mrs. Edwards is addressing district annual meetings with Kent and Essex counties next week.

Following a vocal recital given last evening at Wesley Hall by pupils of A. D. Jordan, assisted by the Hartsch Quartet, the artists were entertained by the choir at an informal supper party.

Mrs. Fred White was the hostess of a charming luncheon at the Highland.

SENDING THE CHILD TO CAMP

Down the woody road came the sound of softly tramping feet, of a rousing camp song, the clanking of utensils, bursts of laughter, joyful calls to invisible companions in the distance. Then around a curve there came in sight a troop of young girls, in mid-dress, their feet clad in sporty moccasins and their hair tied back with bands of red ribbon. A counselor or two tramped alongside—older girls who were woodcraft-wise and responsible for the safety of the campers.

The party was returning, from a three-day hiking and camping trip, carrying their packs on their backs, and singing songs recounting the adventures and joys of the trip. They were members of one of the summer camps which, during the last decade or so, have become scattered all over the country in haunts far from the cities, where boys and girls may learn to live in the open and gain knowledge of nature's ways.

The summer camp has become almost as potent a factor in the education and training of young people as the school itself. First of all there is the freedom of the woods and streams, sleeping under the stars, eating under the trees, learning the valuable lesson of working together.

Theatres and ConcertsSuggests City-Wide Survey
of All Crippled ChildrenCol. W. M. Gartshore Visits
Children's Hospital Committee At Lenmore.

The suggestion that a survey of the city and surrounding district to ascertain how many crippled children there are in the district, with a view to caring for them in the new War Memorial Hospital for Children, was made by Colonel William Gartshore at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the hospital committee held at "Lenmore," King street.

Colonel Gartshore is very anxious that the children in this district need orthopaedic treatment shall receive it. He deplores the fact that many adult cripples of today might have been made whole in their childhood had they received the proper attention at that time.

"The only way to search out these children is to institute a survey," he says.

Colonel Gartshore further suggests that a system of "hospital aides" in connection with the new hospital might prove very helpful. He saw such a system working at the splendid modern children's hospital at Sydney, where society girls took shifts, week about in looking after the children and playing with them while the regular trained nurses were busy.

These voluntary aides arrive at 9 o'clock in the morning and work through until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the hospital supplying their uniforms and meals. Two of them are changed each week, the others who have had experience remaining on until the following week.

Heating by "Nature."

Colonel Gartshore told of one hospital in New Zealand, situated in the district of the hot springs, which was heated by steam piped from the "natural regions" below.

The annual report of the honorary treasurer, Mrs. C. T. Campbell, was presented, showing that the total receipts during the year had been $42,571.80, and the expenditures, $38,300.09, leaving a balance on hand of $4,271.71. Colonel Gartshore explained that the majority of the bills towards the building had been paid, the men's advisory committee having put up their notes for $12,000 needed.

Mrs. Arthur Smith, convener of the committee, who presided yesterday, brought a proposition from Mr. Arthur Smith, who has offered to make beds trays at a very low rate for all the beds at the hospital. His offer was accepted and the trays will probably be financed as the gift of some local organization.

Hospital Day For London.

A hospital day for London was another suggestion put forward by Mrs. Smith at yesterday's meeting. The committee voted that the correct name of the new hospital shall be

WAR MEMORIAL HOSPITAL.

Erected in grateful memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice in the world's great war and in honor of those who daring to die, survived.

"Their name liveth for evermore." Initiated and supported by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, London. Built and equipped by the War Memorial Hospital committee composed of representatives of various organizations of men, women and children in London and Western Ontario, assisted by grants from the Provincial Government of Ontario, the County of Middlesex and the City of London.

Dedicated and presented to the City of London for the relief of suffering children, October 25, anno domini nineteen hundred and twenty-two, 1922.

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these My brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

"War Memorial Hospital for Children." Arrangements were made for the women's participation in the bazaar to be held on June 13 in honor of Sir Robert Jones of Liverpool, distinguished orthopaedic surgeon. Mrs. A. E. Miller was appointed convener of arrangements, each organization represented on the hospital committee having the privilege to send one delegate to the bazaar.

The proposal to appoint a flower committee to carry bloom to the small patients each week was also made, and it was suggested that Mrs. William Gartshore be convener of such a committee.

The wording of the tablet, which is to be placed in the main corridor was decided on as printed above.

Offer From Old Boys.

Edwin Smith, representing the Old Boys' Association, came to the meeting with a request that the hospital committee co-operate with the Old Boys' Association in selling tickets for the reunion next summer, the hospital committee to receive 25 per cent of all tickets sold. He also offered the committee the collection proceeds of a sacred concert to be held in Queen's Park on that occasion, the concert to be given under the auspices of the committee. Both matters were referred to the "proposition committee" for consideration.

Smaller silver shields surround the larger one, ready for the names of the schools winning the shield each year. While above all is the coat of arms of the organization giving the shield.

At the Movies Last Night

"The Isle of Lost Ships."

Being little versed in the geography of the Sargasso Sea, it is beyond us to say whether the adventures of "The Isle of Lost Ships" at the Allen are impossible, improbable, or merely something that nobody happened to think of before.

It was an enterprising effort on the part of somebody to seize upon this untoward spot of the vast oceans as a means of establishing a romance. The fact that there is a Sea of Sargassa is impressed upon the mind with elementary geography but its romantic possibilities it remained for the movies to develop.

Upon this brief spot where the vastness of the oceans sends its wreckage, Milton Sills and Anna Q. Nilsson enact a most entertaining love affair. Walter Long complements with the unusual nature of his surroundings by being a villain who repents, doing it with quite an air of grace.

There is a considerable amount of excellent scenery, plenty of action, and above all the novelty of the conception of "The Isle of Lost Ships" as the birthplace of a romance.

ing picture sets. There is a certain romance, a certain allurements and a certain air of fearlessness about these swanky riders of the desert that, when screened, grip the average public, providing of course that the story is handled well and is realistically pictured on the silver sheet.

In "Under Two Flags" now playing at the Patricia there is Algerian action, swift and colorful, and it must be said that the picture is beautifully elaborate and novel.

Priscilla Dean in the role of "Clarette," the dashing "daughter" of a French chasseur troop stationed near Algiers, adds a touch to the picture that is indeed appealing. She is everyone's comrade, and when a solitary attractive Englishman by the name of Victor joins the regiment, and declines to be friendly, she is puzzled, and she bonds her efforts toward solving the mystery of the man.

A plot unfolds itself when Sheikh Ben Ali Hammud, who for years has defied French authority suddenly enters into a peace pact. The Arab chieftain is secretly collecting the desert forces and is but waiting an opportunity to strike. He admires the aloofness and the dormant leadership qualities in Corporal Victor, and tries to persuade him to join the Arab forces, since Victor once declared that he did not care off which side he fought.

An attempt is made to kidnap Victor, but he is saved by Clarette. Then follows a rapid-fire series of skirmishes and incidents with the Bursts All Windows of Harris Abattoir When Valve Blew Out.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 1.—A tank of 3000 cubic feet of hydrogen oxygen exploded in the generating plant of the Harris Abattoir, Keele and St. Clair, about noon today when a safety valve blew out and the gas ignited. Two other explosions followed in rapid succession, but no one was injured, although there were ten persons in the place, which is a separate one-story building. The fire-fighters were called and Chief Russell and District Chief Bell with west end sections responded. The damage was about $5,000.

Associated Press Despatch.
Brantford, June 1.—Property owners of Burford township are not worrying over the claims of Mrs. M. E. Stanbrough, 6009 Twelfth street, Detroit, for the entire Burford township. Mrs. Stanbrough is a granddaughter of Peter Martin, one of the early settlers of the township, and in a letter to ex-Mayor C. J. Parker, which was turned over to Mayor F. W. Billo, claims that the whole township was granted to Peter Martin in return for a loan to the British during the revolutionary war.

EDUCATION BOARD MEET TO APPOINT COLLEGIATE HEAD

E. A. Miller of South London Looked Upon as Logical Selection.

DECISION IS LIKELY
Resignation of Former Principal To Be Considered After Committee Meets.

A special meeting of the board of education will be held today to deal with the resignation of W. H. T. Mooney, as principal of the Central Collegiate Institute.

Working under serious handicaps, Mr. Miller in one short year placed the South London school on the academic map and inspired the boys along the path of achievement on the athletic field. Because of all this, South London, especially the students, will be loath to lose him.

SIXTH TERM LIKELY FOR REV. J. T. C. MORRIS

Conference Expected To Extend Tenure of Askin Street Methodist Pastor.

Although a precedent will undoubtedly be established, it is fully expected that the Methodist Conference now in session at Saratoga, will grant Rev. J. T. C. Morris of this city permission to remain at the Askin Street Methodist Church for a sixth term.

In fact unofficial reports reaching this city have stated that the committee in charge of drafting has already agreed to the request of the Askin Street congregation, which is represented at the conference by R. R. Smith, William Copp and Mr. P. Moorhouse.

Rev. Mr. Morris has been exceedingly popular with the members of the church from the very beginning of his charge, and instead of waning as the years pass his popularity seems to be increasing. The crowds during the past few Sundays have been the largest in the history of the church.

HOPE TO PROCURE ENOUGH EVIDENCE TO CONVICT "KING"

Release of Jailed Attorney May Unearth Charges Warranting Arrest of Ben.

INQUIRY CONTINUES
House of David Founder Will Be Sought If Criminal Evidence Found.

Special to The Advertiser.
Detroit, Mich., June 1.—The days of freedom for "King" Benjamin Purnell may be numbered. The leader of the House of David religious cult at Benton Harbor, for whom the state has been seeking a warrant the past six weeks may shortly be a real fugitive from justice.

Justice Harry Dingeman of this city, who is conducting the one-man grand jury at St. Joseph, investigating charges of immorality on the part of King Ben, the proclaimed seventh messenger, angel, and "younger brother of Jesus," said today that he had been promised the appearance of a witness who would give positive evidence against the king on which the state will base a warrant. This information will come from Attorney Walter Nelson, also of this city, who is spending a few weeks in jail at St. Joseph, held in contempt of court when he refused to bring before the state attorney-general the Bamford sisters, for whom a subpoena had been issued.

Resume Hearing.
Judge Dingeman, who is in the city today and who will resume his grand jury hearing at St. Joseph on Tuesday, said he had received a letter from Nelson, which was most satisfactory, and that it included a promise from Nelson that he would produce a girl who had left the colony and who would give evidence of a criminal nature against the leader, committed within the seven-year statute of limitation. This had been promised within the next week.

How the Stocks Closed Today

General List Affected When Steel Common Shares Go Lower.

By STUART P. WEST.
Special to The Advertiser.

New York, Wall Street, June 1.—Prices started in today on the stock exchange about where they left off the day before. Efforts to continue the campaign in specialties proved, however, only temporarily successful. When trade found these operations were not getting any following, they began to experiment with the short side again, and were rather surprised to find how readily prices yielded. Much stress was laid upon the fact that incoming orders on the books of the steel companies were falling more and more below the current production.

When steel common was driven down below 97, it was a signal for concerted pressure against the general list.

Coppers were sold because of the disappointing action of the copper metal in its drop to 14 1/2 cents after it had been up to 15 1/2 cents the day before. The close of last week with its rise from 14 1/2 to 15 1/2 cents.

Oil stocks paid no attention whatever to another half cent advance in the quotation on Midcontinent gasoline, although this price was expected to move higher the week after next. Market oil on Saturday was expected to be lower, and the stock appeared to be encountering better support than it had in the past. It is believed that the short interest in the Pan-American is very large and is trying to bring it down to a very low level. Support for this view was found in the fact that these stocks were sold on Saturday. The price of the semi-annual dividend selling "ex" the dividend was 12 1/2 cents. The price of the stock was 12 1/2 cents. The price of the stock was 12 1/2 cents.

WALL STREET FEATURES.
Colorado Fuel.—While there have been many rumors regarding the cause for the recent drop in the price of the stock, it became definitely known today that the company is actually drilling for oil in its property. The Colorado Development work has been made for the drilling campaign, and something of the nature of the work is expected in the near future.

Public interest at low level.—Despite the fact that the price of the stock had an average recovery of about 3 1/2 points from its low of two weeks ago, there is a general feeling of pessimism in the market now than there was when the price was at its low. The tendency was to sell on the first sign of a recovery, and to liquidate at the first sign of a recovery.

Special to The Advertiser.
Montreal, May 31.—The action of Laurentide and St. Maurice today fits in with the gossip current in the street to the effect that these two camps will become one. First of all, whatever certain formalities have to be complied with relating to the acquisition of the Belgo Company by Canadian interests, and a special meeting of the shareholders of the Belgo-owned concern has been called for June 15, the outcome of which will give the clear title to the new owners of the company. In the event of the completion of a four-cornered merger such as the street has so freely discussed, it will mean that the two camps will be merged into one, and will take months to complete. In the meantime the market widely expects Laurentide to be the first and chief beneficiary of the proposed plan, as the place, as the great bulk of the trading is centered on that issue.

It is freely asserted that acquisition by Laurentide of the valuable timber limits of St. Maurice will be a step definitely wished for, as for some years past associated Laurentide with the necessity of securing additional timber limits as a result of the fact that the desirable limits in the St. Maurice Valley having been long since pre-empted.

MINING NEWS
In commenting upon a New York report to the effect that McKinley-Darragh might buy the Mikado Consolidated Mines, Limited, which property is located near Kenora, Col. H. C. Machin, president of the latter company, states that while the Mikado has received offers to purchase their property, none has been made, so far as he is aware, by the McKinley-Darragh mine. Mr. Machin adds that the company is not entertaining offers, having endorsed the acquisition of the Mikado mine.

The winter output of silver ore will have been transported to the coast within six weeks if the present high water conditions continue in the Stewart River. The first 100 tons have reached Dawson en route to the coast, and over 300 tons have reached the mouth of the Stewart. There are 4,000 tons more to come. Ore worth $1,250,000 awaits this year's opening of navigation. With Klondike's prospective gold yield this year, this will give the Yukon an output of precious metals of $2,500,000, the most favorable showing in years.

Mining Corporation of Canada reports the following operations: March: From 57,578; operating costs, $3,290; capital expenditures, $103; development footings, 184,817 ounces; total, 242,393 ounces. Cable, May 9, Lorrain properties: Rich chute ore over 100 feet in length recently encountered on Wood's vein at 300-foot level; top of vein from 10 to 30 inches wide and very rich. Winze in chute down 100 feet, all the way. Rich chute ore, grade at bottom, 14 inches wide. Raising and sinking in ore still proceeding. Very wide and rich vein of 200 feet about 200 feet above diabase contact. Winze for large new shaft expected to reach 555-foot level about June 15.

UP FROM THE DEATH CELL

By JOHN W. KANE.

Kane Sets Himself To Secure Passage of New Law Granting Parole To Life Prisoners

SYNOPSIS.
In this life story, Curly Kane, a wild lad, kills two street car men in a Western state, in 1904. A second trial changes the death sentence to life imprisonment. He decides to redeem his life, wins advancement, studies law, and sets out to become a writer. After a year of failure, he sells three stories for $150 in all. Eight years after he was housed in murderers' row he cares for other men held there. An insane negro prisoner traps him, and is about to kill him. Help comes, and Kane's upward progress is permitted to continue.

CHAPTER XXXIV.
Throughout the latter half of 1913 and onward for many moons I continued to write with varying success. I wrote a little bit at most every thing—stories, articles, verse, tales, miscellaneous editorials, and the like—and the work appeared in scattered of 150 horsepower installed to take the place of steam power. The manufacturer has guaranteed that this engine can be worked at less cost than electric power. The oil will be shipped in tank cars, with a capacity of 3,000 gallons, and a tank is being installed at Matheson Station to take 3,000 gallons and another at the mine for 5,000 gallons. The property consists of 600 acres, and in the opinion of Mr. Cyril Knight of the Ontario department of mines, the Pailin Lake area is part of the Porcupine belt, which, he states, extends from east to west for an indicated length of about 70 miles. Rich ore was located on the 200-foot level, and sinking is now in progress.

It is proposed to sink a shaft on the property near Kirkland Lake where surface conditions are said to be practically ideal. The shaft will be 200 feet deep, and will be worked by a 150-horsepower engine. The property consists of 600 acres, and in the opinion of Mr. Cyril Knight of the Ontario department of mines, the Pailin Lake area is part of the Porcupine belt, which, he states, extends from east to west for an indicated length of about 70 miles. Rich ore was located on the 200-foot level, and sinking is now in progress.

First assays made from the high-grade ore recently encountered by Vipond Consolidated have given highly satisfactory results, according to reliable reports emanating direct from the mine. The ore is being made over five feet, and it is stated that the first assay, taken 15 feet from the cross-cut and over the full width of the working, assayed $28, while the second, taken 30 feet from the cross-cut, assayed $22 per ton. This is on the 300-foot level in the upward extension of vein 402, which on the 400-foot level gave average assays of $17.40 for 175 feet. It is accordingly claimed that this is one of the best ore bodies yet seen in the Hollinger section of the Porcupine camp. The statement is also made by those in close touch with Vipond that the output would be four times greater than at the present, but for the shortage of power. No immediate relief is seen for this situation until such time as the new Sturgeon Falls plant is in operation. Since the expanding production at Hollinger, Dome and McIntyre is absorbing all the power of power which the Northern Canada Power Company is at present able to supply, mining men in general deplore the fact that progress, not only at Vipond, but also at other smaller properties, is being hampered and delayed by inability to get needed power.

EGG MARKET REVIEW
Ottawa, May 31.—It is reported that difficulty is being experienced in making further sales of Prairie Province eggs since the advances in quotations. Lateral wires from Winnipeg quote eggs 25c, first 27c, second 19c, f.o.b. in used cases. Many dealers are now breaking records for freighting, and that is tending to relieve the situation with regard to undergrades.
Toronto—Unchanged; tone a little firmer for the better grades.
Montreal—Extra Jobbing 35c, first 32c, second 28c.
Manitoba—Dealers quoting 15c to 20c to country shippers, delivered; extra 20c to 25c, first 25c to 27c, second 21c to 23c.
Saskatchewan—Dealers are quoting the following: Grade first 17c, second 15c, cracked 10c, Alberta and British Columbia—Markets unchanged.
United States—Markets unchanged.

MANY ADDITIONS MADE TO UNLISTED SECTION
Montreal, May 31.—The Montreal Unlisted Section has broadened out its list of companies by adding the following: Beaver Consolidated Mines, Limited; Kirkland Lake Gold Mining Company, Limited; McIntyre Properties, Limited; the Ontario Consolidated Mines, the Ontario Mines Company, Limited; Lake Shore Mines, Limited; Winnipeg Mines Company, Limited; Wright-Hargreaves Mines, Limited; and Teck-Hughes Gold Mines, Limited.

any man had ever remained in that prison was nineteen years and two months, and that the average time first-degree life men remained was thirteen years and five months. Of course, that law precluded any thought of paroling such men, and the practice had been either to pardon outright or to commute their sentences.

Anyone with reasoning power and a little insight could see the grounds for an argument in favor of a sensible parole law in accord with the spirit of generosity and forgiveness peculiar to the great country of the intermountain west. The best way for trying out a man to see whether he could live as a good citizen would be to give him a parole or conditional release.

I Plan a New Law.
I thought much over that matter. I had read Spencer's works, remembering well his observations upon "Egoism vs. Altruism," and I felt that if I might be instrumental in setting in motion such thought as might eventually result in a law whereby others and myself might be benefited, then I would be taking a course that was in line with the good.

To be specific, I began to harbor a hope that I might be the very one who would set on foot a movement looking to the enactment of a more liberal parole law for life-time men. I knew that of all things none of the people at large ought to find out that such an idea originated in the state prison. But I did believe that for the most part things were made to happen. And I resolved in that year of 1912 that I would put forth a supreme effort.

That I was an unheard-of undertaking for a life-serving convict. It was truly a big job.

Early in my imprisonment I had discovered that the warden was so much of a man that he would be approached in just the right way, and above all at an opportune time.

That opportune time came with one of the visits to the place of Maud Ballington Booth, who, because of her splendid work among prisoners and particularly ex-prisoners—had won the sobriquet of "The Little Mother." I had never met Mrs. Booth.

She addressed the prisoners in the chapel at 1:30 p.m., and during her talk we were given to understand that she was to be the guest of the warden for two more days. After the meeting I was called to the front office.

To the Front Office.
That was the first time I had been outside the walled part of the prison since I entered there as a life prisoner. That does not mean that I was outside in the open, for I did not even so much as get a glimpse of the outside world, but was directed to pass from the office corridor just beyond the wall gate to the warden's private office. And there the head of the institution himself presented me.

"Kane here," the warden explained, "that he was to be the guest of the most highly intelligent man we have in the place." And then to me he turned:

"Mrs. Booth has not only read some of your writing, Kane, but she has received letters that a number of your friends have written her. And she'll tell you that they are, perhaps, just take that seat."

THE LITTLE MOTHER: CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE—SATURDAY.
(Copyright, 1923, U. S. and Canada, Great Britain and South America, by the North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

Among those presents were many books, all of which I sent to my old Missouri home later on; and now, as I write these lines, I may look up from the machine and across to where scores of precious volumes are smiling at me.

Some of the work that I did there saw daylight in one way or another without many persons knowing that my brain and hand wrought it. I wrote things from time to time that were published anonymously.

Moreover, because of having some intimate friends there, the guards got me to prepare all kinds of papers to be read in all kinds of places. Sometimes I would smile to myself when reading a paragraph that said Mrs. So-and-So had read a paper on such-and-such; and I would smile, because I myself had prepared that paper.

"My best reasoning told me that I ought to keep on making the friends through good service whenever and wherever I could. I knew that most of a man's former friends will gradually drop away and lose interest in him after he remains in prison for years, and, on the other hand, his enemies do not forget so easily—the more he files a petition for executive clemency, they will be up and doing whatever they can to keep him in prison. So, in one way or another, I kept on pounding away."

A Business Man's Investment

Every business contains certain elements of speculation. The business man, therefore, who has accumulated funds for investment should purchase obligations that will not be subject to the same industrial movements which affect his own business.

A textile manufacturer should so limit his investments in his own company and in similar enterprises that he will have a substantial sum invested in unrelated industries and Government bonds. The same applies to his employees.

Stories By O. HENRY

THE SENSITIVE COL. JAY.
The sun is shining brightly, and the birds are singing merrily in the trees! All nature wears an aspect of peace and harmony. On the porch of a little hotel in a neighboring county a stranger is sitting on a bench waiting for the train, quietly smoking his pipe.

Presently a tall man wearing boots and a slouch hat, steps to the door of the hotel from the inside with a six-shooter in his hand and fires. The man on the bench rolls over with a loud yell as the bullet grazes his ear. He springs to his feet in amazement and wrath, and shouts: "What are you shooting at me for?" The tall man advances with his slouch hat in his hand, bows, and says, "Beg pardon, sah, I am Colonel Jay, sah, and I understood you to insult me, sah, but I see I was mistaken. Am very glad I did not kill you, sah."

"I insult you—how?" inquires the stranger. "I never said a word."

"You tapped on the bench, sah, as much as to say you was a wood-pecker, sah, and I belong to the other faction. I see now that you was only knockin' the ashes from you' pipe, sah. I ask yo' pardon, and that you will come in and have a drink with me, sah, to show that you do not harbor any ill-feeling after a gentleman apologizes to you, sah."

SPRING.
A Dialect Poem.
Ah, dianna ye fash y' eel hinny. Varum kanst du nicht the thing see. Don't always be kicking, me darlint. Toujours le meme chose will not be. Tout le monde vill grow brighter, ye spalpeen. Und das zaid vill get better, ye bet. Arrah! now vill yez stop dot complainin'!

Und a great pig quick move on you get. Ach, Gott! Give de monka a pea-nutte! Und schmile some, for sweet spring is here. Gott in himmel, carrambo, das was zehr gut. Kase its purty nigh time fur bock beer.

Despaired of Life at 50 Strong and Well at 70

Mr. Jacob H. Macksey, 336 Midland Ave., Midland, Ont. writes:—

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for over 20 years and I feel that I owe my life to them. I suffered severely from rheumatism and heart failure. One doctor just gave me one year to live, and even told me I might be found dead at any time. A neighbor advised Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and I have been using them as needed ever since. I am now 70 years of age, weigh 217 pounds and can work as well as any young man."

The Secret of Good Health

Assist Nature back to normal action

Take

When Nature requires assistance, she will not be slow in conveying to you an intimation of the fact. Decline of energy, inability to sleep well, headache, biliousness, constipation, a general sluggishness of mind and body and any sign of digestive "unrest" should impel you to seek the aid of a reliable medicine without delay. There is no better—no surer—no safer—than this proven remedy.

A WOUND IS AN OPEN DOOR

Absorbine Jr. enables you to shut the door quickly.

The skin is Nature's own protection against germs. When it is bruised, broken or cut, that protection is withdrawn. The door is open. As quickly as possible Nature closes it by forming what we call a scab and renders you comparatively safe against infection. But this scab sometimes takes days to form and until it has fully sealed the wound, even until the wound has thoroughly healed again you must furnish the required protection yourself. A few drops of Absorbine Jr. in the water will give you an antiseptic wash that will kill all possibility of infection and help nature to heal the wound. As well as being a very powerful germicide, Absorbine Jr. will draw out the inflammation and bring instant relief. Absorbine Jr. is antiseptic, germicide and liniment in one container—handy to keep always in the house; easy to carry around if you travel. $1.25 at your druggist's.
