POISONED CANDY, SARNIA GIRL, FIGURE IN DETROIT MYSTERY

Special to The Advertiser.
Detroit, May 14.—Detectives late today were obtaining samples of the handwriting of the man on whom their suspicions have centered as the sender of the box of poisoned candy to Miss Louise Havers, former Sarnia girl. His identity is withheld for the present.

“We have a better idea of the man's identity and his probable guilt than even Miss Havers herself,” said John V. Brennan, assistant prosecutor, to whom Detective Eugene Myers submitted his report of the case.

“An arrest will be made by tomorrow. I have told Myers to get samples of this man's handwriting, which are to be compared to the threatening letters Miss Haver received before the candy arrived. Also the typewriting on the wrapper of the box will be compared with writing from a machine we believe to have been used by this man.”

IS SARNIA GIRL Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Reporter.

Sarnia, May 14.—Louise Havers, a former Sarnia girl, figures in Detroit's latest mystery, according to word received here. Miss Havers received at her home, 3525 Cass avenue, a box of candy, which was subsequently found to contain a virulent poison. One of the most virulent poisons was used. The poison is not in general use, a fact which may make the hunt for the culprit a simple one. Among those who use it are entomologists' workers.

A year after she went to Detroit from Sarnia, Miss Havers became the bride of Alexander Papineau, a mill manager. She divorced him last October and was allowed to take her maiden name. The first of three mysterious letters she has received arrived a month after the divorce, both the others having arrived in the last month.

The box was received by mail on Friday. In the upper left-hand corner it was marked “Room 417, Charlevoix building,” purporting to be the sender's address. This at once aroused the suspicion of Miss Havers. The room number is the old address of the Mexican consulate.

The consul, Alejandro V. Martinez, and the vice-consul, Carlos Grimm, are acquaintances of the young woman, and both know she never eats candy, she says.

Enough poison to kill five persons was contained in each of the mutilated pieces, according to chemists at the Detroit test laboratories, where the candy was analyzed.

Barberis Thumbegia

JAPANESE BARBERIS—There is no shrub in existence so generally planted or more practical for all purposes where beautiful foliage effect is desired than this. It is dwarf-growing, uniformly bushy and rounded in form susceptible to formal pruning, with small numerous leaves densely covered with thorny twigs; as dainty in character as Maiden Hair Fern. The foliage throughout spring and summer graduates from brightest to richest green, while autumn makes them blaze with crimson, scarlet and gold, lasting far into the winter.

OIL LAMP EXPLODES, TWO CHILDREN DEAD

Would-Be Rescuer Nearly Loses Life in N. B. Blaze.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Bath, N. B., May 15.—Freddie Brook, aged 4 years, and his baby brother, Earl, aged 8 months, children of Gideon Brooks, were burned to death soon after last midnight when their home here, in which they had been left alone, was destroyed by fire.

Edward McSherry, who attempted to rescue the children, was seriously burned and overcome by the smoke. He was rescued by Robert Ryan, who dragged him through a wooded door to the open. A lighted lamp was in the bedroom with the baby. It is thought that Freddie went in with the brother and upset the lamp, for when the bodies were discovered they were both in the same room with the overturned lamp.

CROWDING NOT SERIOUS AT HAMILTON ASYLUM

Hamilton, May 15.—In its present

ment to Judge Evans yesterday the grand jury reported that there was some overcrowding at the hospital for insane, but that it was not serious. His honor thanked the jury for noticing this and speaking of disasters, such as fires, at public institutions, gave it as his opinion that there was no such thing as spontaneous combustion. A juror took exception to this, but his honor told him to fill his barn with hay, guard it and see how long it would take to catch fire.

LATER TRUCK SMASHED, FIREMAN BADLY INJURED IN COLLISION WITH AUTO

Hotel Building Damaged, Poles Knocked Down and Hydrant Broken.

CAR TOSSED 30 FEET

Fireman Norman Grover in Hospital—Leonard Mc-Cormick Also Hurt.

Collision between a sedan driven by Wilfred A. Harvey, 778 Dufferin avenue, and a large ladder truck of the central fire department in front of the Clarendon hotel, King and Talbot streets, last night, resulted in severe injuries to fireman Norman Grover, truck driver, and Leonard McCormick, passenger in the motor car.

The large fire truck, travelling at top speed in response to a fire alarm, swerved at the street intersection in an attempt to avoid the collision and hit a supporting post in the doorway of the hotel, ripping it from its position and causing the front of the building. The sedan was thrown about 30 feet, breaking a hydro light standard in its path and dislodging a fire hydrant.

Grover is in Victoria hospital with a broken rib and possible internal injuries. McCormick is at his home, 241 Oxford street, badly cut and bruised and suffering from a strained back. Harvey escaped uninjured.

The two men are reported to be slightly improved today. Investigation of their injuries reveal they are not seriously injured, although both will be confined to bed for some time.

The sedan was travelling north on Talbot street at a moderate rate of speed. The fire truck had proceeded two blocks along King street from the central street, and was about to give it time to accelerate.

Grover swung his machine to the right as he approached the intersection and saw the sedan coming from the left. The sedan was travelling at a high rate of speed.

Simultaneously Harvey swung his car to the left. Both machines crashed with terrific impact.

The motor car was driven over a curb against an electric light standard, which snapped off. It stopped with the rear end against the Hotel Clarendon and the front resting over a fire plug. The fire truck crashed into the doorway of the Hotel Clarendon and smashed a pillar supporting the front part of the building. It rested at right angles to the hotel, tightly jammed in the doorway. The right side of the motor section was crushed in, the right wheel torn off, the running-board twisted, and the right wheel broken. The sedan was similarly damaged. Repairs to both machines will cost several thousand dollars.

Norman Wright, fireman, steering the back part of the truck, jumped down and ran to the aid of the injured fireman, who had collapsed from the seat.

"I was driving slowly and none of us heard the siren on the fire truck," Harvey said soon after the accident.

Walter Tracey of St. Thomas, third occupant of the motor car, corroborated Harvey's story.

Guests in the Clarendon hotel were aroused. Precautions were taken to prevent the corner of the building from caving in. Police experienced difficulty in keeping a crowd of several hundred from pressing too near the damaged structure.

Lighting extinguished. Destruction of the electric light standard broke the circuit on downtown street lighting. Lights for several blocks on King and Dundas streets were extinguished. Police set a guard over exposed wires to prevent further accidents.

It was believed last night McCormick's hip was broken, but his physician, Dr. W. Thompson, stated this afternoon that he suffers from strained muscles in the back. His body is badly cut and bruised.

Grover made a statement at the hospital today, saying the accident was unavoidable. He made the sharp turn to the right in an attempt to avoid the crash, he said, jamming his brakes and stopping as fast as possible.

SCHOOL QUESTION BOUND TO REOPEN

Collegiate Accommodation Discussion Will Be Result of Cairncross Motion.

There is little doubt but that the whole question of collegiate accommodation will be re-opened for discussion in the board of education in response to the motion introduced by Vice-Chairman A. R. Cairncross yesterday afternoon.

Despite the fact that he is still wedded to the board's plan to build a new end of the Rectory street by tearing down the Rectory street public school, Chairman S. F. Lawrason agreed this morning that Mr. Cairncross could secure the necessary vote in the board to re-open the subject.

It takes only a cursory glance at the complexion of the board membership to indicate that Mr. Lawrason is not far wrong in his judgment. In fact it would occasion little surprise if two members of the board voted to reconsider the question. Mr. Lawrason, of course, is one of the two and Trustee Rev. R. D. Mess, M. C., is the other. Mr. Mess is opposed to re-opening the question, but has stated that once it is opened he reserves the right to take whatever stand he sees fit.

The speeches delivered at the east end meeting last night by Trustees Wm. G. Murray and John A. Rose gave some light on the question. Mr. Murray has all along stood for one central unit as the best and most economical solution, in Mrs. Rose's estimation this, under certain conditions, is far more favorable to a central unit of even greater significance.

Mr. Lawrason is likely to rule that since Trustee Mrs. J. Hunt's motion to make the manual training and household science courses optional in the first year of the collegiate institute, is not to re-open the question of the elimination of the two departments, the motion will not require a two-thirds vote of the members. A number of the members of the board are not inclined to acquiesce in Mrs. Rose's proposal.

The fact that the equipment is already installed and is to be retained in the central unit.

SHEEP-KILLING DOG IS KILLED BY FARMER

East London Citizen Sought As Owner of Airedale—
$15 Asked.

An Airedale dog owned by a London East citizen, caught in the act of killing a lamb on the farm of Charles Marshall, lot 4, concession 3, London township, was shot and killed by J. Smith, who was working in the neighborhood. Another dog, part husky and part terrier, managed to escape, but a good description of the animal was obtained. It is likely that he too will depart for the canine world.

The lamb was worth $15, and Mr. Marshall is looking to the owner of the Airedale for recompense.

Mr. Smith is turning over the reward of $10 offered by London township council to any person who kills a dog that is worrying sheep, to Mr. Marshall.

The dogs have been seen in London township on numerous occasions, but were never suspected of bothering sheep.

Let alone a number of valuable sheep were killed by dogs in London township, which led the council to offer a reward for each dog killed.

July First.

The Belvedere hotel at Dundas and Talbot streets has been purchased for $150,000 by a syndicate of five London business men who will take over the property on July 1.

"We intend to cut out the bar-room entirely," stated one of the new owners. "It will be turned into a store."

"We also intend to build an addition of 30 rooms at the rear and do away with the old stables that were turned into a garage. The hotel will be strictly up-to-date in every respect, but there will be no provision for the sale of 4.4 beer at tables."

John F. Casey, manager of the Parkview hotel, St. Thomas, will manage the Belvedere for the local owners, who have formed a limited stock corporation.

When Mr. Lashbrook purchased the old city hotel some years ago, he paid in the neighborhood of $70,000 for the building, which also included the Liggett drug store on Talbot street and the garage at the rear.

Mr. Lashbrook made extensive improvements, the hotel now having 22 rooms with baths. The hotel is one of the most up-to-date in Western Ontario.

UNDERGRADS OF UNIVERSITIES NEVER LACKING IN LOYALTY

Foreword in Western "U"
Year Book Written by Sir Arthur Currie.

IS WORK OF ART

Volume, Most Attractive Yet
Issued, Contains 167
Photographs.

"The undergraduates of Canadian universities have never been lacking in loyalty. There has never been a time when Canada could not look to them to serve her at her need."

So begins the foreword by "Sir Arthur Currie, G.C.M.G., K.C.B., principal and vice-chancellor, McGill university, Montreal, in the 1925 year book of the University of Western Ontario, which came off the Tablet presses today."

"A few years ago we saw the student leaving his university for the fields of France and Flanders," continues the introduction. "Today, although we hope that we are far removed from war, there is yet need for the same courage and self-sacrifice. There are too many within our borders who are filled with dark thoughts of failure, who wonder what Canada can do for the struggle for national progress and prosperity."

"We look to the youth of Canada to combat doubt and questioning with that high courage which inspired their elder brothers to face less insidious, but not more dangerous."

Beautiful Volume.

The Year Book is a beautiful example of the printer's art, and the most attractive volume yet issued by the university. There are 164 pages and 167 photographs.

Besides the foreword by Sir Arthur Currie, are editorials and brief articles by Grant Wiley, prefect; Leslie R. Gray, president of the literary society; the year play by J. McK. Doan; the history and political science club; Cecil L. Snyder, and other bodies.

There are group photographs of club executives including the Players' club, women's student Christian movement, winter sports club, Le Cercle Francaise, the Hepperville club.

The volume shows 57 graduates in arts from University college, four from Huron college, three from University college, Brescia hall and seven from St. Peter's school of philosophy, and two from Assumption college. The "Meds" number 21, with six in the faculty of public health.

Those Who Made It.

There are vaudeville acts by Dr. W. Sherwood Fox, dean, University college arts; Dr. H. R. Kingston, P. R. A. S., honorary president Arts 25; Dr. C. C. Waller, principal of Huron college; the Rev. Rev. D. O. Connor, B. C. L., S. T. R. C. M. C. St. Peter's seminary; Dr. Paul S. McKibben, B. S., Ph.D., F. R. S. E., dean of the medical school; Dr. H. W. Hill, Institute of Public Health.

FORKE DESERTED BY 14 WHEN GOVERNMENT GETS BUDGET VOTE MAJORITY

Progressives' Radical Tariff Reduction Move Is Lost by Vote of 110 to 33—Evans' Amendment Proves Disappointing Failure—Agrarian Split Remains.

PRESTON DENIES SHIPPING CHARGE

By E. C. BUCHANAN.

Special to The Advertiser by Staff Correspondent.

Ottawa, May 14.—Another attempt on the part of the Forke division of the Progressives to secure the cohesion of the other divisions and to make a showing in favor of radical tariff reduction and against the moderate policy of the Mackenzie King government met with failure tonight.

The government secured a majority of 77 votes on a vote of want of confidence brought on by the Forke group. Only 33 Progressives supported the resolution. Fourteen of them joined with the 11 Conservatives who took part in the division in voting for the government.

Stand By Government.

The fourteen Progressives who stood by the government were of the seventeen who voted to the same effect.

The vote was taken in the house tonight when the vote was taken. The majority of the Conservatives abstained themselves, and the party of eleven, led by Sir Henry Drayton, voted against the tariff reduction want of confidence motion on fiscal principle. The tactics on the part of the Forke group in submitting the Evans amendment proved disappointing to them. They had hoped to secure something approximating a united front from the agrarians in condemnation of the refusal of the government to pursue a sectional policy in favor of the west.

Confidence Shown.

The prime minister challenged the resolution on its submission. There was no need, he said for any further debate on the budget, and the sooner the government learned whether or not it had the continued confidence of the house the better he would be pleased. The adoption of the resolution, he announced, would mean that the government had been denied authority to continue in administration.

Taken at large, the vote tonight has little effect outside the Progressive party itself. It leaves them as divided as they were before the prolonged caucus of a week ago.

Tonight, the question on which all sections of the House have seemed of uncertain mind during the last six weeks, namely, that of export of power, came to an issue. Hitherto the matter has been approached in obvious hesitation. Now the Conservatives seem to have decided the export of power is an iniquitous thing, and they made Mr. Low's estimates an occasion for an assault on it.

Tory Lament Continues.

They proclaimed power a precious raw material that should be kept within the country. Hon. George P. Graham's recollection that they were of excess in rates and discrimination was based on complaints made in 1919, when rates were much higher than they are now. Mr. Preston told Mr. Montgomery that he had taken the conclusions of the McMaster committee of two years ago as adequate evidence of a combine, and had guided himself accordingly in his commission for the government.

FRENCH WIPE OUT RIFFIAN POSITION

Strong Sector of Tribesmen Destroyed in Day by Troops.

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, May 15.—General De Chambrun's men, in cleaning out a strong position of the Riffians on the heights of Bibane in Morocco, in a single day, are declared to have administered a salutary lesson to the invaders. In military circles it was said that it required close fighting with cold steel to dislodge Abd-el-Krim's followers.

It was said in official circles that the French have abandoned all thought of asking for authority to pursue the invaders into the Spanish zone, and that they will attempt to give the Riffians a powerful jolt every time they appear on the French side of the border.

There are political considerations in this decision of the French as well as diplomatic. The Communists in France are beginning agitation against the Riffs. They assert in manifestos that the campaign in Morocco has been undertaken at the behest of capitalists and imperialist elements. The workmen in France are called upon to demand immediate peace in the Riff, and to recommend fraternization by the French soldiers with Abd-el-Krim's men. The French government, it is understood, had decided to do what is necessary to keep the French zone clear of the rebels, but to go no further.

U. S. FILM STAR MENTIONED IN BRITISH DIVORCE CASE

Associated Press Despatch.

London, May 15.—Alfred Haxton, a businessman, was today awarded a decree nisi from his wife, Leah, on the ground of misconduct with Carlyle Blackwell, a film star from the United States.

Mrs. Haxton is the only daughter of the late Barnett Barnato, South African diamond magnate, who was credited with being one of the richest men in the world.

A decree nisi in British law is one of divorce which is not made absolute until the court so directs. This must be, if at all, within three months.

Young Married Women Need Mother's Advice—

A GREAT many women after childbirth get up too soon and, too weak to care for the child and perform their household duties, often bring on serious derangements.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid tonic to take at this time; it is an excellent restorative, contains no harmful drugs, and can be taken in safety by nursing mothers. Thousands of mothers advise their daughters to take this grand old root and herb medicine for such conditions because of their own favorable experience with it.

Following We Publish an Interesting Letter from Mrs. Steele of Warrensburg Which Should Interest Every Mother in the Land:

Warrensburg, Mo.—"When my second child was born I got up too soon as my mother wasn't able to do for my feet without being dizzy and my back would ache so badly that I would have to lie down at times through the day. My mother had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and had a bottle of it at the time, so she begged me to take it, which I did, and I cannot tell you how much better I felt after taking it. Then a year later my husband got back from overseas and we went to keeping house by ourselves and I got all run down again. I couldn't work long at a time but would have to sit down and rest. My husband kept begging me to take the Vegetable Compound again, so I have done so. I recommend it when I can as I know it is good for women's troubles and I thought you might like to know what it has done for me."—Mrs. PEARL M. STEELE, 203 Main Street, Warrensburg, Mo.

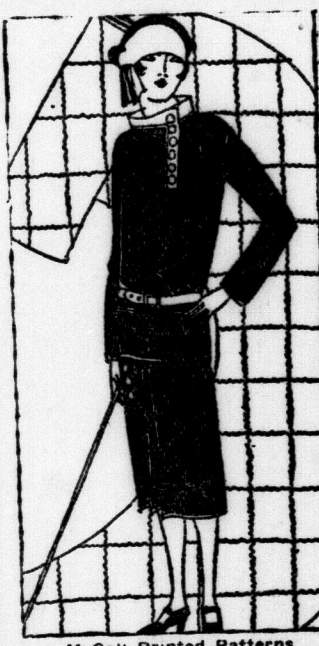

Ontario Woman's Interesting Case

Mount Forest, Ontario.—"I am proud today to think I have a fine big baby boy, as healthy as a trout, and I never felt better myself. Before I took your medicine I felt weak and miserable, and had pains all through me. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to get stronger and those pains all left me. I am glad I found out about this medicine. I think there is none other equal to it for women who have troubles of this kind. I cannot praise the Vegetable Compound too highly for the good it has done me. Whenever I know of a woman suffering I am glad to tell her of it."—Mrs. Wm. RIDGEMAN, R. R. No. 1, Mount Forest, Ontario.

News From City Churches

COLBORNE M. C.

The members of the mission circle of the Colborne street Methodist church took their clever play, "Rebekah's Triumph," to Byron last night, entertaining the patients of the sanatorium with the delightful production. Assisting the young women were Will Allison and Cecil Fletcher, who acted as stage managers, and W. F. Sherwin of the Y. M. C. A., who led the audience in a lusty sing-song prior to the presentation of the play. Miss Phyllis Cooper, pianist, and Miss Edna Marley and Miss Helen Gosnell, soloists, were the assisting artists of the evening, and following the play the entertainers were served with light refreshments.

ST. GEORGE'S GUIDES.

The Girl Guides of St. George's Anglican church last night tendered a banquet to their mothers in the parish hall of the church, where the tables were decorated with purple lilacs and blossoms, and the place cards of the mothers were marked by bunches of violets. Miss Edna Linnell acted as toastmistress, proposing the toast to "The King." Following this, Archdeacon Sage and Rev. Mr. Chapman spoke briefly on "The Church." This was followed by a reading, "Our Flag," by Miss Verla Vennier; a toast to "The Mothers," by Mrs. D. H. Wallace; a piano duet by Mrs. Brown; a piano duet by the Misses Merrill and Winnifred Brown; a dialogue, "The Indigo Bunting Parrot," instrumental, Miss Dorothy Linnell; a toast to "The Guides," Mrs. Linnell, to which Miss Verla Vennier responded; solo, Miss Nora Newman; a chorus; an instrumental number, Miss Laura Vennier; an attractive camp scene by the Orloge patrol. Mrs. K. M. Garrett, the captain of the guides, welcomed the mothers and asked for their cooperation for the rally on June 8. Special guests of the evening included Archdeacon and Mrs. Sage, Miss K. English, Mrs. Hunter Duff, Rev. and Mrs. Chapman and the Misses Edith and Daisy Johnston, former officers of the guides.

WELLINGTON STREET W. M. S.
The regular meeting of the W. M. S. of the Wellington street Methodist church was held yesterday afternoon. Mrs. D. H. Hoole was in charge of the devotional period and Mrs. E. Brady read a leaflet on "Untapped Resources." After which the following sources were read: "The Kingdom of God is Within You," by Mrs. H. Woollatt, Mrs. R. Jones and Mrs. Booth. Rev. G. T. Watts addressed the women on "Missions." Following the reading, the women adjourned to the parlour of the church, where afternoon tea was served. Those in charge included Mrs. J. Wallace, Mrs. G. Kerr, Mrs. M. Yorke and Mrs. A. J. Wood.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER BANQUET.

A happy event in Knox church last night was a delightfully-arranged mother and daughter banquet, when the C. G. L. T. girls of the church entertained their mothers to supper. The long tables were most attractively decorated with white, blue and white, and spring flowers, over which blue candles shed their soft light. The dainty favors were pretty blue and white baskets containing candles.

Miss Eleanor Pollock acted as toastmistress and proposed the toast to the King. A toast to the church was then proposed by Miss Anna Harris, to which Rev. T. A. Symington made the response, after which Miss Alia McLachlin toasted the mothers, and before Mrs. Hugh McEwing made the response the girls sang the chorus of the Mother song. The toast to the daughters was proposed by Mrs. Craik, and Miss Grace Rennie responded. A solo was then given by Miss Winifred Munroe, and Miss Jean Hynd gave a reading. A short address was tendered to the girls by Mrs. J. M. McEvoy.

A pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation of two tokens. The first went to Miss Macpherson, who has been in charge of the physical education of the C. G. L. T. groups for the past three years. Miss Rita Burrows read the kindly-worded address and Miss Norma Falls presented Miss Macpherson with a lovely bouquet of carnations. Miss Lois Falls, on behalf of the Kago group, then informally presented Margaret Craik, a past secretary of the group, with a bracelet. Miss Craik is leaving the city. During the supper hour, John Argo led the sing-songs. Following the banquet, an interesting contest was held, when the mothers and daughters competed in dramatizing a story from the Bible. Mrs. McEvoy acted as judge and decided that the mothers were the best actresses. Group games were then enjoyed. Mrs. G. Nightingale was the general convener of the successful event, assisted by Miss M. Kelso, Miss Florence Cole and Mrs. Jeffrey.

RIDOUT STREET W. M. S.

The regular meeting of the W. M. S. of the Ridout street Methodist church was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. C. A. Mann, Wortley road. The meeting which was largely attended, was presided over by the president, Mrs. Bickie, and the devotional period was in charge of Mrs. W. B. Scream. Reports of the year's activities were given, and showed an increase in every branch of the work. Four heralds were heard from during the meeting, including Mrs. E. M. Johnston, Mrs. Barnes, Japan, Mrs. L. Griffin, and moral reform. The financial report of the study book, China Revolution, was reviewed by Mrs. Maloney and Mrs. Deakin. A singing feature of the afternoon was contribution of two solos by Mrs. Hawkins. The meeting closed with prayer.

VISITORS CONFER I.O.O.F. DEGREE

Fifty Members of Stratford Charity Encampment Honor Local Oddfellows.

Members of Charity encampment, No. 6, I. O. O. F., to the number of about 50, journeyed to London last evening to confer the royal purple degree on a large class of candidates at Harmony encampment, No. 3. Promptly at 8 o'clock, Chief Patriarch H. S. Crowe called the meeting to order. After the business of the evening, the Stratford degree team entered and were welcomed by the members of the encampment. The team then proceeded with the exemplification of the royal purple degree, which is the highest and most sublime degree of patriarchal oddfellowship. Patri. W. Snelgrove, D.D.G.P., of London district, and Patri. Nichol, D.D.G.P., of Stratford, were present, and complimented the degree team, and told of the progress of the higher branches of oddfellowship in their respective districts. Patri. W. Snelgrove, Mount Brydges, D.D.G.P. of London district, then proceeded to install Patri. G. E. Shaw as chief patriarch of Harmony encampment for the balance of the year, this being necessitated by the departure from the city of the former chief patriarch, Dan. A. Black, who tendered his resignation some weeks ago. After the conclusion of the degree work, refreshments were served and a social time was enjoyed, featured by a humorous reading in the Dutch dialect by Patri. Hickmire, degree captain, also a reading on a Rib's History, by Patri. Strahler, and a pathetic recitation by Patri. L. W. Crawford entitled "The Last Degree." Stratford degree team tendered an invitation to Harmony degree team to visit Stratford to confer degrees in the near future.

Miss Isabella Mearns Taught in Public School Here Forty Years Ago.

Word has been received in the city of the death of Miss Isabella Mearns, for many years a teacher on the Toronto public school staff, who died yesterday in her 82nd year. Miss Mearns was educated in London, and later at Toronto normal school. She taught in London and Oshawa before joining the Toronto staff in 1875. Some years ago she retired owing to ill-health. She was an adherent of Broadway Methodist tabernacle, Toronto. She is survived by her sister, Mrs. Rhoda Mearns, her nephew, R. K. Mearns of Toronto, while in Chicago are three nephews and a niece, and in Kansas City another nephew.

FIRST LILACS BLOOM.
One of the surest signs that spring is rapidly progressing into summer is the fact that a purple lilac bush is blooming in London West. Mrs. Harold Parker, of Nelson street, has the distinction of reporting the first bush laden with the fragrant blooms, and used them last night to decorate a banquet table at St. George's Anglican church.

HOME BANK BILL
WITHIN FORTNIGHTPremier King Replies To Hocken's Question—
Answers Meighen.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, May 14. — Home Bank legislation will be brought down in the House of Commons "probably within another fortnight," said Premier King, in answer to questions by H. C. Hocken (Conservative, Toronto West) in the House of Commons this afternoon. When the question was first asked, Hon. J. A. Robb, acting finance minister, replied saying that the government wished to make progress with the budget resolutions first. Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, rose to point out that the session had lasted 3½ months and none of the important legislations had been brought down yet. The prime minister said he took exception to the statement, and declared that a deal of legislation had been before the House, and admitted that there was much more to be brought down, adding that the Home Bank legislation would come down within a fortnight.

Must a Married Couple Enjoy
Only Each Other's Society?

Dear Miss Dix—I am a married man and have a wife that I would not trade with any man living. She is just the kind of a woman she should be, but I find myself at times anxious for the society of some other women, not any particular woman at any particular time, but just the wholesome society of other women occasionally. Do you think a man should be allowed the privilege of going out with other women, provided he allows his wife the same liberty?
K. M. B.

Answer:

I think that the greatest mistake that any young married couple can make is to believe that they can be all-in-all to each other, and to try to live a sort of hermit life in their own home. No two persons, no matter how much in love they are with each other, are all sufficient to each other. They are bound to talk out. They are bound to get fed up if they see too much of each other and not enough of other persons.

Therefore, a wise wife draws about her a pleasant circle of men and women, in which she gets the society of other men, and her husband gets the society of other women, in a wholesome way, and instead of this alienating husbands and wives it draws them closer together because they take their pleasures together instead of finding them separately.

Nor does it lead to flirtatiousness. Many a woman never appreciates her husband so much as she does after contrasting him with the husbands of her friends, and many a man admires his wife the more, the more he sees of other women.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—You say the business girl makes the best sort of a wife. I married one, and here is my experience:

First. She is suspicious. Says she knows men. That she has seen her boss as lively as a cricket trying to act like a youngster, and when his wife walks in he appears as if he had had an awful trying day. She says it sickens and disgusts a fair-minded girl to see such stuff put over on an innocent wife, and she doesn't trust me any more than she does these men. Consequently when I come home I have to mind the baby and keep busy, as she thinks my day has been a lark.

Second. As to money, she is always throwing it up to me that she used to have $75 a month to spend on herself before she married.

Third. She is jealous, as she always imagines you are trying to make an old fool of yourself, trying to act gay with the girls in your office.

Fourth. She is no chum. Says she has heard enough about business to last her her lifetime.

Now my brother is married to a girl who has never worked, and she makes him an ideal wife, waiting on him when he comes in from the office, listening to him tell of his work, and never once thinking of the girl in the office as having any connection with her home. She has never had an allowance and is satisfied with whatever my brother gives her. This girl will never be suspicious of her husband, while the business girls are all suspicious, as they judge their husbands by the molly-coddles they worked for. R. S. T.

can't judge all business girls as one you married, any more than I can judge all home girls by your brother married. Doubtless your experience with men makes your business girls cynical, but, on the other hand, it broadens the mental horizon of many more.

Business teaches them the value of money, to be prompt and accurate, and it gives them a discipline that stands them in good stead when they embark on the career of matrimony.

Nor is the domestic girl invariably such a paragon as you seem to think your brother has got. There are women who never saw the inside of a business office who are jealous, who are extravagant just because they do not know how hard money comes, and who make slaves of their husbands.

GERMAN MILITANTS
CONDEMN DAWES PLAN"Incapable and Serious Menace," Says Officers' Federation.

Associated Press Despatch.

Berlin, May 15.—The national federation of German officers, in convention here yesterday, condemned the Dawes reparation plan as incapable of fulfillment and "of serious damage to German industrial life, besides the political razing and enslavement of the German people."

The convention criticized the government for not sending to the foreign powers a disclaimer of Germany's war guilt.

The federation opposed the security pact proposed by the government, because it means "not only the sacrifice of our nationals in the ceded territories, but voluntary recognition of the shameful treaty of Versailles."

THE NIGHT OF THE WEDDING

By C. N. and A. M. WILLIAMSON.
Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company.

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY.
EVELYN HASTE, beautiful and rich girl, who sits down at the piano on her wedding night—and mysteriously disappears.
KENNEDY HASTE, her husband, who suspects complicity on the part of his old war comrade.
SIR RAWDON WELLS, an amateur scientist, who has insisted on lending the couple Hidden Hall Court, his gloomy and mystery-ridden estate, for their honeymoon, and who is found after the disappearance in a secret chamber.
PANDORA, a gypsy-like girl, adopted sister of Kennedy and secretly in love with Wells.
MISS GILLET, an ex-war nurse, who fell in love with Haste in a hospital, and who is an intense person.
DAGON, youthful Scotland Yard detective, who has done glorified "spy work" in the world.
THE "HIDDEN" HALL, a Latin temple, though Canadian in training.

INSTALLMENT XX.
The "Hidden" Hall.
"Really, I must beg your pardon for answering you like that," she almost sobbed when she had got back her breath. "It isn't hysterics. It's only—oh, if you knew how quaint you look in those clothes and with that black stuff over your face! Exactly like a respectable scarecrow in a potato field. They never have any faces, you know, and they always wear happy hats and dug-out coats like yours."

"But there! I won't laugh any more. I'll listen to what you've got to say, and if you don't mind, I'll listen sitting down." (Her knees trembled a little, though her voice was steady.)
Her impudence took the enemy by surprise. At the word "scarecrow" he made a quick movement of anger, and Pan thought he would strike her; but after an instant's hesitation he changed his mind. "I can make you regret your impertinence if I choose!" he exclaimed still in French. Yet the girl guessed it was all he could do to control his voice.

"Of course," she said in a different tone. "You're master here. You can do whatever you choose—except control what I'm to do."
"I have not told you yet what I wish you to do," the Masquer reminded the girl so amazed by her manner that mechanically he altered his own. "You told me in your letter," said Pan, seating herself in the more comfortable of the two old chairs.

"You disregarded my wishes—my advice—expressed in that letter. Your answer consisted of the one word, 'No.'"
"It did. And it will consist of the same old word again if your wishes are the same!"
"Perhaps not—when I explain to you what the consequences will be if you are obstinate."
"I suppose you'll threaten to feed me to those beastly fishes with their bulging eyes and nasty, receding profiles! You can't do worse than that, anyhow. And you may keep your threat, before I consent to ruin Rawdon."

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK.

The wonder trip of the coming summer will be conducted by Dean Laird of Macdonald College, to Victoria, B. C., and back.
Inspired by the success of the trip to Victoria last year on the occasion of the Teachers' Federation meeting at that point, and filled with patriotic motives for everyone to see their own country, the dean has arranged for a special train of standard sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 29, visiting Port Arthur, Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver, the coast to Victoria.
Returning, the trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, the Kootenay Lakes, Windermere, Bungalow Camp, from which place the party will be motored to Banff, 104 miles over the newly-completed Banff-Windermere Highway, the most charming and awe-inspiring trip it is possible to conceive, with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion River, and Storm Mountain Bungalow Camp—another Port McNicoll, thence rail to Toronto, where the trip will terminate on Aug. 10.
Everything is included at the price of $255, from Toronto—transportation, sleeping cars, accommodation in hotels and bungalow camps, meals in diners, hotels and on steamers, sight-seeing tours at points visited, and all gratuities.
While appealing primarily to teachers, the tour is open to everyone desiring to go.
All will be welcome.
Fares from other points than Toronto will be named, and a descriptive illustrated booklet sent on application to Dean Laird, Macdonald College, P. O. Quebec—Adv.

don Wells! I'll try hard to disagree with the disgusting creature."
"I make no threats," the man retorted. "I shall simply tell you what will happen."
"Do!" said Pan. "But while you're telling me things, won't you tell how you got me out of my cell and brought me here? Oh, and by the way, I should rather like to know where 'here' is."

"You shall have both those explanations, if you decide to be sensible," was the reply.
"You seem to want everything for nothing!" exclaimed Pan. "Suppose, even that I gave you a written statement of all I know about—my brother Captain Haste's wife—what guarantee would I have that you would set me free, unharmed? The way you are got up you look capable of tearing out my tongue and cutting off my fingers so I could neither speak nor write, once you'd finished with me—the way people kept their promises and freed their prisoners in the Middle Ages. You'd better be more diplomatic. Make a concession or two, to begin with, if you want to win my confidence. Tell me about the prison—and tell me where I am!"

"Very well, why not?" said the man. "After all, to tell you what you ask can do no harm to me or any one—whatever becomes of you, Mademoiselle."
"The affair of—rescuing you from your cell was easy for me. I had the wardress and her policeman husband in my pocket. That made the letter business easy, too. And as for this place—can you not guess?"

"It's at Hidden Hall Court," Pandora gasped, on a sudden inspiration. "Of course! Where else should it be? You are in the 'hidden hall' itself."

"But," she stammered. "Don—Sir Rawdon told me once, when I asked if there were a hidden hall, that there was nothing hidden at all. It was only one of the family names in old days—'Hidden.' Surely, he ought to know. But if he had known, he wouldn't have fibbed to me!"

"Sir Rawdon ought to know, but the fact is that he doesn't," said the Masquer. "The secret was lost to the family for many years—ever since the days of the last Hidden or the first Wells. It was the Hidden who made the hall under the water—in the sixteenth century. In the eighteenth century the Wellses came to the court, and soon knowledge was lost of the play upon the old family name, which revealed, yet guarded, the secret. 'Hidden Hall'—Every one had heard of an old legend—but proof of the truth vanished. It has never been found again—till I found it—by accident."

"You?" echoed the girl, so deeply interested that she forgot her load of trouble. "Are you an architect? I know Sir Rawdon has had architects down to look after secret rooms and passages. They did come on a concealed door and a stairway leading to the cellar, but nothing else I ever heard of."
"I am not an architect," the man broke in. "And, if I had been, I should not have discovered the 'hidden hall.' Because this place where we are now is not in the house. There are no mysterious spaces to be accounted for by an architect, not even under the house, though the entrance is from that cellar you spoke of."

"Oh, then I know where it must be!" Pan cut him short. "Under the pool in the Persian garden. That's close to the house. One looks into it from the music room and—the tapestry boudoir. Good gracious, how little I thought when I gazed out of the window into that green pool, trying to see the old carp they say lives in it, that some day I should be down under the water trying to look up!"

"That is where you are," the Masquer informed her. "It is only through carelessness and lack of imagination that no one found the secret, though this last century and more, since the Hidden family died out and the first Rawdon Wells came, people had only to ask themselves why was that concealed stairway made, leading to the west cellars, if there were not some secret reason for descending into the cellar. Once when Hidden Hall Court was let to me, I asked myself that question, and I set myself to find the answer. It was not long before I did find it. And in so doing I found this room where you are."

"It's a strange story," said Pan. "And it's strange they should call this room a 'hall.' It's nothing of the sort. It's just a small room."
"The original hall under the pool has had partitions put into it, and several rooms made."

"Ah!" cried Pan. (This informed her of something she had been keen to know.) "And was that done in the old days?"
"No doubt. I found it as it is." "And you never told Don—Sir Rawdon?"

"Certainly not."
"Then who made the bathroom next door to this? That's not a hundred years old or anything like it, primitive as it looks."
"I ordered the bathroom made," said the Masquer. "It is primitive because I could employ only one workman whom I trusted to keep the secret, and because it had to be done quickly, while the house was mine."
"But," the girl persisted, encouraged by his readiness to answer, "what interest was it of yours to make a bathroom leading off a secret room in another man's house?"

where she had given Eve her wedding breakfast. Though Eve's disappearance was to be kept a secret for the present, the news had been broken to Mrs. Payntor by Kennedy Haste. She was Eve's only near relative; she had chaperoned the girl since boarding school days, and Ken felt that, hard though the blow would be, she must at once know all of the truth that was to be known.

To his surprise the pretty, delicate little woman had taken it well. She encouraged Ken, who had dreaded his visit to the Ritz with a sickening dread. She would not believe that anything horrible had happened to Eve. "No one would have the heart to hurt her," she said. "Eve's too pretty and charming. Even if a man meant to kill the child as some hideous sort of vengeance, when the minute came I'm sure he couldn't. It certainly looks as if Rawdon Wells must be responsible for the thing, whatever the thing is. But it will turn out to be a case of kidnapping—no worse. You see, Don was wildly in love and thought she cared—had a right to think so. I'm afraid. And the shock of being jilted for his best friend—that is, the best after his cousin—may have turned his brain."

Had Dagon not been informed on the way to town that this interview between Ken and Aunt Jean was to take place, he would not have dared present himself at the Ritz. As it was, he telephoned there, and reminding Mrs. Payntor of their acquaintance in the past, told her that he was on the Hidden Hall Court case for Scotland Yard. Might he call, and ask her a few questions?

The pleasant Southern drawl which he remembered answered through the phone, and gave willing permission. Ten minutes later Dagon was springing out of a taxi at the door of the Ritz.

"The Pearl Man!" exclaimed Mrs. Payntor, greeting him in her private sitting-room full of wonderful roses. "You know that's what I used to call you—though it should have been 'boy' instead of 'man'—and you don't look much older now. But what a strange coincidence that you should be working again for our family, here in England—trying to find my niece!"

"It seems stranger than it is," the detective said. "I took up the case partly because it concerned Miss Carroll, partly, too, because I happened to know that Sir Rawdon Wells was half Italian. I'm supposed to be an Italian."

"Oh, indeed!" exclaimed Mrs. Payntor, and Dagon, whose gypsy eyes never missed anything, noticed that she colored deeply under a thick though quite artistic layer of rouge and powder. "I am—very interested in Italians myself." As she spoke she glanced involuntarily toward the piano on whose embroidered Chinese cover stood many silver-framed photographs. There was one of Eve, and one of Kennedy Haste; others of officers, English, American and French; but the only Italian whom Dagon could see there was Paolo Magnani. There were three portraits of him all taken in different roles in which he had appeared as a screen star.

Point Pelee Life-Savers Were Forced To Stay Idle As Sand Boat Crew Died

Jury Recommends New Boats

FOLLOWS INQUEST

Blame For Lake Erie Tragedy
Is Placed On Dead
Captain.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Leamington, May 14.—Blame for the capsizing of the sand-sucker Kelley Island of Sandusky, which turned turtle off Point Pelee May 2, was placed by a coroner's jury at Leamington this afternoon on the skipper of the craft, Capt. William G. Stackford, who was drowned, with eight of his crew in the fatality. Negligence on his part in ordering sand-sucker hose to be disconnected before the aperture through which it was thrust could be covered in the lee side of a rough sea was given as the cause of the accident.

Several recommendations to the Canadian government were also contained in the jury's report. The government was asked to equip the life-saving station at Point Pelee with an up-to-date boat to replace an antiquated and unseaworthy craft, with a runway extending from one side of the point to the other so that the lifeboat could be used in quickly answering distress calls from either side, with a watch tower, and with a new bathhouse to accommodate the boat and the men.

Unable to Rescue. Learned that when the life crew saw the survivors of the Kelley Island standing on the keel of the overturned boat they were unable to go to their rescue and

Rum Fleet Sets Sail For Halifax

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, May 14.—Twelve of the sixteen rum vessels that have been anchored on "rum row," under the surveillance of the blockading coastguard, have put to sea in the direction of Halifax, officers of the coast-guard 17 patrol boat reported today when they put in at Staten Island. Two steamships and two schooners are the only liquor ships left, they reported.

take them off because of the rough sea. Captain James Wilkinson, in charge of the station, told the jury that he had repeatedly called the attention of the inspector of life-saving equipment at Parry Sound to the condition of the equipment without getting any action on the matter. Seven out of a crew of sixteen were saved when the Kelley Island capsized. The boat had finished loading sand and was about to clear for Sandusky in a rough sea, when water poured in the opening left when the suction pipe was removed. The rushing water flooded the pumproom and caused the boat to turn over.

Witnesses said that the Kelley Island listed badly in 1920 and on one or two occasions she had to be beached to prevent her capsizing. Dr. M. A. McKendrick of Leamington presided at the inquest. Many witnesses were examined by George A. Urquhart, crown attorney of Windsor. Four of the bodies lost have so far been recovered. The inquest was called to inquire into the death of O. Kraus, mate of the ill-fated vessel, whose body was the only body of the four viewed by the jurors.

Interest Great. In the proceedings was keen and the town hall, where the probe was held, was filled with spectators. The first witness examined was Dr. R. E. Sloane, a Leamington dentist, who took a number of photographs of the overturned boat as she floated bottom-up in the water about three miles off the point. These were passed around among the coroner's jury.

Curtis Brown of Sandusky, one of the survivors, explained the manner in which the hose outlet and clamps operated to close the three-foot opening in the side of the Kelley Island. Brown testified that he had on numerous occasions helped to place the plate over the opening left by the suction hose, and no trouble had ever been met with during those instances.

The plate, he said, was operated by block and tackle. When efforts to close the hole proved unsuccessful and the water was up to their necks, witnesses and his companions hurriedly left the job at Holder's orders, and went on deck at the ship's side.

"No use to try to get the plate any longer," Brown said. Holder told them the tug Flossie, which rescued the survivors, testified that in 1920 he had seen the Kelley Island listed badly on two occasions. Captain Fred Wilkinson, the officer in charge of the Canadian life-saving crew at Point Pelee, gave evidence that he saw the Kelley Island in operation as he was striding along the sandbox. Later one of his men came up and said what looked like an oil-tanker had foundered. Witness had looked at the wreck with a pair of glasses he had had in his possession for 30 years. He could make no attempt to rescue the survivors as the lifeboat was inadequate and unseaworthy. It was not until the sea had gone down on Sun-

Ships Pass By. Brown told of the confusion which prevailed when the Kelley Island turned, and how passing ships, which were close enough for the seven survivors to discern persons on the decks, paid no heed to distress signals which they waved. Later a tug arrived and conveyed them to land.

Brown recalled in answer to a question from the crown-attorney that before the accident occurred the vessel was steaming ahead full speed. To a juror, Brown said the suction hole was located about a foot above the water level.

Captain Stackford, Krause recalled, told him to go below and help put in the plates, and witness said he heard him say, "My God, it's too late to pull her around."

Krause could not recall when a lifeboat drill had been held, but he remembered hearing the boats swing out on several occasions. Witness said there was no time to swing the lifeboat out before the ship turned over. He and the other survivors tried to attract the attention of five boats that passed about three miles away, but without success.

William Lovelidge, the wheelsman, said, "I was in bed asleep at the time of the accident. My partner warned me that the boat was turning over. I grabbed a life preserver."

John Lemon, chief engineer of the Kelley Line and Transportation Company, said the Kelley Island was a seaworthy boat and the method of sand-sucking was an approved one. The boat had been inspected annually by the United States authorities, but not by the Canadian inspectors.

He admitted that the ship had listed over years ago.

day that his crew was able to reach the wreck. The lifeboat was nearly wrecked then coming back, landing half full of water. He said he had complained about the need of a new lifeboat to the inspector of the life-saving station at Parry Sound several times.

"We need an up-to-date boat," asserted Capt. Wilkinson. "A lifeboat with up-to-date equipment, powered by a gasoline motor. Our present equipment is hopelessly inadequate. For one thing, we should have a runway reaching to both shores of the point so that the lifeboat can be run easily from one place to the other in the case of a wreck."

Captain Wilkinson said his force of eight men was large enough. He told the crown-attorney that a new lifeboat had been ordered for the station, according to a message which reached him a few days ago. He did not know what type it was.

"I complained to the inspector of life-saving stations at Parry Sound many times that we needed new equipment, but nothing was ever done about it," said the captain. Members of the life-saving crew agreed with Capt. Wilkinson about the need of a new lifeboat. One of these was Morris Kenney. "We need a tower, a new boat, a bathhouse and so does the love of the childhood sweetheart," said Kenney. "The tower, he explained, should be at least 40 or 45 feet high and located near the top of Point Pelee. One of the other members who testified was James Whittle.

MOVE FOR PEACE IN N. S. IS LOST AT GLACE BAY

Sydney, N. S., May 14.—The first move on the part of any incorporated town to invoke the power of the industrial peace act to end the situation obtaining in the Nova Scotia coal industry as a result of the wage difficulty between the miners of district 26 United Mine Workers and the British Empire Steel Corporation was stated and for the present at least, finished, last night at Glace Bay when at a meeting of the town council a motion that the council hold a special meeting to discuss the advisability of applying for a board of arbitration was lost on the counting vote of Mayor D. W. Morrison.

AT THE THEATRES

CAPITOL THEATRE

Nazimova in "My Son."

Nazimova seems just as alluring and just as exotic in a mother role as when she typifies the younger generation of the twentieth century. Her flapper parts have been few of late, but the public will always remember them for their eccentricities.

"My Son," Nazimova's latest starring vehicle, opened at the Capitol yesterday for a three-day run. Jack Pickford plays the part of the boy who breaks his mother's heart and is redeemed through no fault of his own.

Three loves run through the story, which is laid in a "little Portuguese settlement along the bleak New England coast." Mother love triumphs and so does the love of the childhood sweetheart. The third love, which "finis" reduces to a strong infatuation, stirs up a lot of action with a New York wampas (the very latest in run-way both ways), said Kenney.

The tower, he explained, should be at least 40 or 45 feet high and located near the top of Point Pelee. One of the other members who testified was James Whittle.

LOEW'S THEATRE

"Man and Maid."

Elmer Glyn's production of "Man and Maid," which opened at Loew's theatre yesterday, has five distinct things in its favor. First and most important is the story, which is interesting, gripping and unusually well told.

The two leading roles, interpreted by Lew Cody and Harriet Hammond, the former playing a hero for the first time in many years, and the latter practically a newcomer to the screen, is one who definitely establishes herself as a beauty of rare charm and histrionic ability.

The supporting cast presents a number of comparatively unknown players, who register strongly as real "finds," as well as such well-known performers as Alec Francis, Carrie Clark Ward and Renee Adoree, who have important roles.

The sets are another feature which go toward making this production beautiful and worth seeing. Madame Glyn made this offering for Metro-Gwynn-Mayer, and supervised it herself, which means that it is artistically correct in every detail.

The "Mandarin Mixup," a Stan Laurel comedy, "Topics of the Day," and "Aesop's Fables," complete the picture part of an enjoyable program.

The three vaudeville acts are all satisfying. Hammer and Hammer present a contortionist act, well up to standard. Sherwood and Mohr in comedy, songs and talk, were well received, and put their act over the footlights with a great deal of vim.

STOTHERS NAMED FOR SCHOOL POST

Board of Education Appoints Bracebridge Man Assistant Inspector.

J. C. Stothers, M.A., B.Ed., of Bracebridge, was the unanimous choice of the board of education yesterday afternoon for the position of assistant inspector of the London public schools.

Mr. Stothers, who is at present public school inspector of Muskoka district, will probably not assume his new duties until the reopening of school after the summer vacation.

Having chosen the plan of balloting upon the full list of applicants, Mr. Stothers received six votes or a majority on the fourth ballot, on which also Robert H. Roberts, M.A., South London collegiate, secured three votes, and B. Brown, principal of Cayuga high school, two votes. On the fifth ballot the successful applicant was given eight votes, and Mr. Roberts three votes. The choice was then made unanimous on motion of Trustee Mrs. J. Hunt and Mrs. J. Rose.

Has Long Experience
Mr. Stothers has had 12 years' teaching experience in rural and public schools, six years as critic teacher at the Toronto Normal school and one and one-half years as public inspector in Northern Ontario. Mr. Stothers served overseas for three and one-half years during the war and for part of that time had charge of the 15th battalion school in Belgium and Germany.

Other applicants for the position, not already mentioned, the first three named securing at least one vote in the balloting, were: McGregor Easson, Ottawa; Hubert Galpin, Ryerson public school, London; J. H. W. McRoberts, Port Arthur; A. E. Atwood, Ottawa; W. L. Bowden, Port Rowan; L. D. McCamus, Trafalgar public school, London; G. R. Mikel, Ottawa; L. J. Pettit, Peterboro; A. B. Poole, Toronto; J. E. Wilkinson, Toronto; F. H. Grant, Windsor; L. P. Menzies, Strathroy.

In conversation with The Advertiser last night Administrator G. A. Wheable, B. A., M. C., expressed his great pleasure at Mr. Stothers' appointment because of his first-class qualifications, both in academic standing and personal characteristics. "Mr. Stothers stands very high in the opinion of the department of education," stated the administrator, "and by his energy has raised the teaching standard and greatly improved conditions during the period of his inspectorship in Muskoka."

WOMEN and THE HOME

PASTOR AND WIFE ARE REMEMBERED

Women's Societies of Robinson Memorial Church Make Presentations.

At a successfully arranged joint meeting of the W. M. S. and ladies' aid of the Robinson Memorial Methodist church held yesterday afternoon, Rev. W. L. Hiles and Mrs. Hiles were presented with tokens of appreciation for the splendid work they have done in the past four years, while Mr. Hiles has been pastor of the church, and also for their interest in the activities of the church.

The meeting was held in the schoolroom, with Mrs. W. J. Wray, the president of the W. M. S., and Mrs. M. McVicar, the president of the ladies' aid, presiding. Powell led the devotional period.

APPLE BLOSSOM TEA PLANNED AT HIGHLAND

Women's Executive Also Makes Final Arrangements For Flag-Raising.

Plans for an apple blossom tea were made at yesterday's meeting of the women's executive of the Highland Golf club, as well as plans for the field day on May 24, when the new flag will be raised.

The tea, which is to be held next Wednesday afternoon on the lawn of the clubhouse under the apple trees, gaily decked with blossoms, is to raise funds for a number of new things needed at the clubhouse. The members and their friends are requested to come. Mrs. A. O. Hunt is making the arrangements in detail. In connection with the 24th of May it was decided to have the flag-raising at 1 o'clock, when the majority of the players will be leaving the field after the morning match. In the morning there will be driving, putting and approaching competitions for both the men and women members of the club, and in the afternoon there will be mixed foursomes. It is also expected that many of the members will remain at the club for luncheon.

MRS. KENNEDY HONORED BY RYERSON MOTHERS

Retiring President Is Presented With Handsome Gouda Vase.

The election of president and vice-president for the Ryerson mothers' club was not completed at the annual meeting held last night in the school although the rest of the executive for 1925 was named. A tribute to the splendid work of Mrs. Arthur Kennedy, the retiring president, was paid when she was presented with a handsome Gouda vase, Mrs. Marshall, retiring vice-president, making the presentation, and Mrs. Ernest Tremmer giving the address.

Principal H. B. Galpin of the school referred to the excellent way in which the mothers of the district were co-operating with the school teachers. During April the ladies had numbered only four and the attendance was 92 per cent. So far this month there had been only one late.

Mrs. Alfred Drew, who presided over the election, gave an interesting outline of V. K. Greer's last message to the Union mothers' club.

Announcement was made that John Petherborough had again offered his playground to the Ryerson school for their field day on May 22 and this year chairs would be provided for the mothers. Mrs. George Peters is lending her home on Sherwood avenue to the club for a lawn social to be held in June.

The program last night included instrumental numbers by Mrs. Grant Harris, violin, and Mrs. Ed. Sherlock, piano.

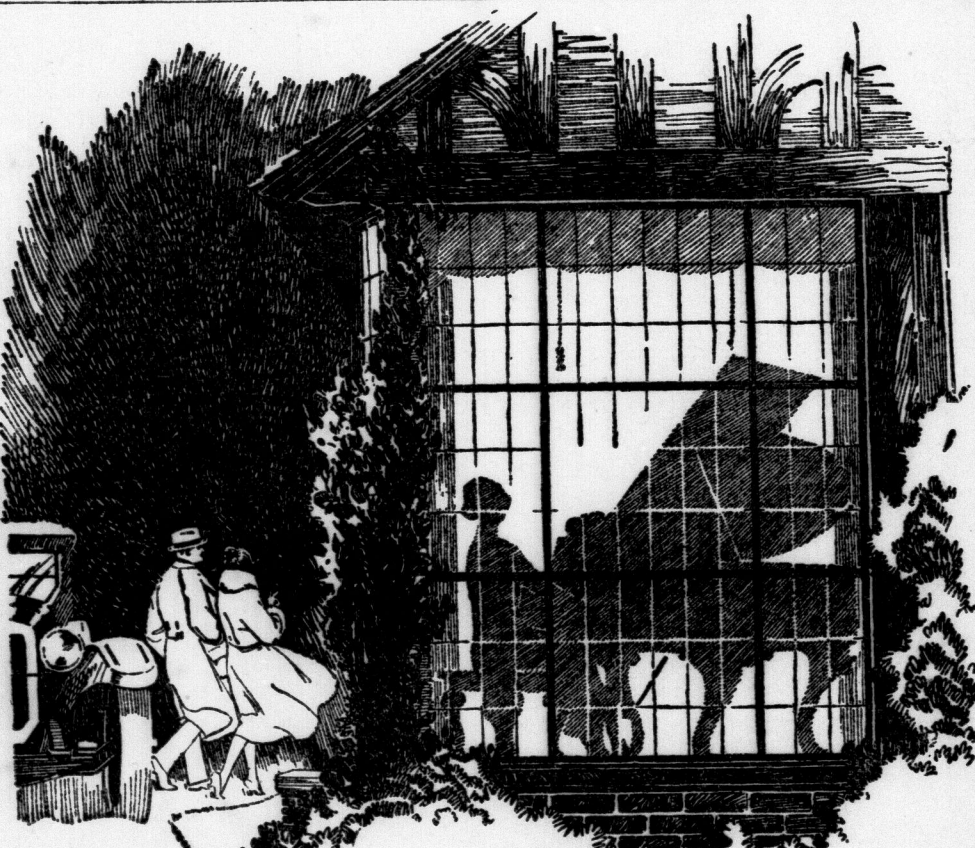

Officers for the coming year, elected at this meeting are: Second vice-president, Mrs. F. W. Gladman; recording-secretary, Mrs. Ernest Tremmer; assistant secretary, Mrs. R. Smith; treasurer, Mrs. A. Buchart; press, Mrs. J. F. Downing; pianist, Mrs. J. Ferguson; assistant pianists, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Harvey.

"Quality Street"

A canvass of homes on the finer streets of any Canadian City, would reveal a significant preponderance of pianos bearing the honored name of "Mason & Risch." In Montreal's Westmount, Toronto's Rosedale and on Shaughnessy Heights in Vancouver, this is the instrument most widely adopted as the home piano.

To successfully measure up to the critical judgment of those who dwell "on Quality Street", a piano must convey a very definite impression of supremacy. So definite is the tonal superiority of the Mason & Risch, so outstanding in beauty is its case-architecture and finish, that its established position in the hearts of cultured people has remained unassailed since 1877. It was then that the Mason & Risch standard of musical excellence was initiated—it was then that Canadians proved their ability to produce an instrument worthy to rank among that small and select group of the world's piano products that are entitled to the high acclaim of great musicians.

To-day—after years of association with distinguished homes, great artists and important musical events—the Mason & Risch finds its fame steadily growing, its appreciation by musical celebrities more freely acknowledged than ever, its adoption in artistic homes increasing at a rate that emphasizes its supremacy in the minds and hearts of all who love good music and can truly judge tone.

Popular Lambeth Couple Sixty-One Years Married

An interesting wedding took place in the Anglican church, Worby, Lincolnshire, England, 61 years ago today, when Miss Emma Robinson became the bride of Mr. Joseph Thomas, the Rev. Both are hale and hearty and together with their son, Ernest Thomas, are working a 67 acre farm.

Following their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Thomas resided in Lincolnshire for ten years. Then they made the big venture of their lives and crossed the Atlantic to find a new home in Canada. They settled at Mount Brydges and lived there for a number of years, later coming to Lambeth where they have lived for the past twenty years. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas subscribed for the London Advertiser when they first came to this country and have been enthusiastic readers of its columns ever since.

Surviving there are seven children: Mrs. John Foster of Delaware Township, Fred Thomas of Detroit, Albert Thomas of Westminster, Edward Thomas Mount Brydges, Mrs. William Pierce of London, Ernest Thomas at home in Lambeth and John Thomas in Tuxford, Sask.

Peter Finds Mrs. Teeter's Eggs and Unc' Billy Hears of Them

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Peter Rabbit had made a discovery just by chance. He had been over to the Smiling Pool to listen to that joyous concert. It was very early in the morning and he intended to stop for only a few minutes and then hurry home to little Mrs. Peter in the dear Old Briar Patch. But there he was, listening to that music and so many to see that time slipped away, as time will do, and when at last he decided to start for home he discovered that it was broad daylight and it wouldn't be safe to try to cross the open Green Meadows to reach the dear Old Briar Patch.

"Humph!" exclaimed Peter. "I suppose Mrs. Peter will be worried to death, but I can't help it now. I'm sorry. I don't intend to worry her. There's nothing to do but spend the day in the Green Forest." He tried to make himself believe that he felt badly about it, but the effort wasn't much of a success.

When at last he actually started for the Green Forest he didn't pay particular attention to where he was stepping, with the result that a most indignant small person flew up in his very face and startled him so that he jumped backward.

The indignant small person was little Mrs. Teeter. "Why don't you use your eyes and look where you are going, Peter Rabbit?" she demanded. "Another step would have been right on me!"

"Why didn't you get out of my way when you saw me coming?" asked Peter mildly. Before Mrs. Teeter could reply Peter's eyes opened very wide and he stared at the ground just ahead of him. "Oh!" he cried.

"Are those yours?"

"Whose would they be if not mine?" snapped little Mrs. Teeter, bobbing up and down in that funny way of hers.

"I don't know," confessed Peter. "My, they are pretty eggs!"

He hopped a step nearer for a closer look at the four creamy, spotted eggs in the thimble of nests on the ground.

"Look out!" cried Mrs. Teeter, rushing to cover them with her body.

"I'm not going to hurt them," declared Peter testily. "I didn't know you had a nest here, Mrs. Teeter, or I would have taken care not to frighten you."

"You are the first one to find it," declared Mrs. Teeter. "Oh, Peter, I am glad it was you and not Jimmy Skunk or Unc' Billy Possum or Blacky the Crow or some other egg-eater. Please promise me, Peter, that you won't tell anybody about this nest and these eggs."

Of course, Peter promised. He and the Teeters were old friends, and not for the world would he knowingly have brought trouble or worry to them. So he promised faithfully and then started off for the Green Forest, while Mrs. Teeter settled down on her eggs and looked so much like her surroundings that had you come along I am sure you would not have seen her until she moved.

Up along the Laughing Brook and so into the Green Forest went Peter. He was greatly pleased at having discovered Mrs. Teeter's home. He even tried to make himself think that he had done it through his own smartness, when all the time it had been by accident and he knew it.

"Really Delightful"

No rubbing—No scrubbing

Stubborn dirt just rinses out with Gillex. It dissolves the oil that holds the dirt particles to the fabric threads. When rinsed the dirt drops off, leaving the clothes clean, white and sweet-smelling as when new.

Gillex costs less than other cleansers, because at 15c a package, Gillex goes farther, equals in efficiency four to five packages of ordinary borax cleanser. A teaspoonful to a gallon of water is strong enough for most cleaning—add just a little more for hard water.

Gillex contains no grit or harmful acid. Use no more than quantities specified in directions.

Use Gillex not only for the laundry, but for pots, skillets, dishes, dairy cans. Clean paint, linoleum without streaking, bathtubs, toilets—in half the time with quarter the effort.

Peter's Record Smashed.

It was conceded at one time that Peter Smith had put on about as many new taxes as could very well be devised. Race tracks, amusements generally were all called upon to pay tribute to Caesar. When Hon. Mr. Price retained all these revenue-producers he found that he was still short of funds.

Then it was that he conceived the idea of starting in where Peter Smith left off. With the coming of the government he inscribed upon his daybook that it must bring forth $3,000,000 in new revenue. At the same time he decreed that the youngster with his bottle of pop should learn the joys of paying taxes.

Still it was not sufficient. A taste of new money is a dangerous thing for a man who has the power to levy taxes. So he turned to gasoline and entered another item showing where he anticipated another two or three millions from that source.

Now he is after the dance halls. They already collect a tax from the people who enter, but that is not enough. Mr. Price wants more revenue and he proposes the slogan, "The more you dance, the more you pay." The members of the legislature got a good fat increase in their pay in the face of a provincial deficit, so that money has to come from some place. So the fox-trotters and the one-steppers have been told to trot and step over to the government box at the beginning of each performance and help whittle down the provincial deficit.

The man who goes to a moving picture show and sits still, they've already fixed him—the man who gets in a car and drives around, he's been attended to—the thirsty soul who saunters down street to a 4.4 resort, he's marked for a tax—and now the chap who gets up on his feet and jumps around for a few minutes is in for a double dose. Compared to Mr. Price, Peter Smith was nothing but a bungling amateur.

What Makes the Tax Rate?

A correspondent who got his tax papers writes that he fails to see where there has been any reflection in his bill of economy talk that was going around at election time. He is inclined to believe that if the council "got down to business," as he puts it, there could be a real cut made in the annual tax levy.

The Advertiser believes that had it been possible to do so the council would have produced a lower tax rate. By so doing they would not only have pleased the ratepayers but made a lower levy on their own properties. A candidate may enter municipal service with every intention of doing his best to decrease the tax rate, but he soon finds that the great bulk of the levy has been decided for him before he takes office. We have no doubt the city council would be pleased to have definite proposals as to where a cut could be effected without making an inroad on the efficiency of the department concerned.

There is a table published on the back of the tax notices that gives a very accurate statement of what the taxes are for, and a perusal of that gives an idea of how much there is in the claim that there could be a substantial reduction "if the council got down to business." Based on each $100 of assessment the taxes for school purposes are:

Primary schools	$.97
Collegiate institute	32
Technical school	14

Total school rate$1.43

Included in the amount for primary schools is the cost of teaching staff, maintenance and sinking fund and interest on nearly all the public schools in the city. Very few of the debentures issued have matured yet. Looking over the records, it is found that in 1896 school debentures were issued for a 30-year term, so that now we are still paying for expenditures made that far back. This has been changed to 20-year debentures for buildings and 10-year for equipment. There are some eighteen schools that are being paid for now. The collegiate rate includes the year's payment on the central collegiate, provision for the same for the east end school and the addition to the technical school.

The city council exercises a very limited control over these expenditures, because the board of education is recognized by statute as an independent spending body. School rates, using $100 of assessment as the basis of comparison, take $1.43 of the total levy of $3.45, or practically 40 per cent.

Coming to departments over which the council has more jurisdiction, the rate per $100 is as follows:

Victoria and Memorial hospitals	$.25
Police department	15
Mothers' pensions	02
Board of health	03
Public library rate	05
Parks fund rate	05
Playgrounds	03
Provincial highways	03
County of Middlesex roads	03
Debtenture rate	 1.31
Other purposes	 1.03

The council cannot exercise its privilege of cutting in several of these because the amount to be paid is regulated by provincial enactment. The list to which this applies includes mothers' pensions, board of health, public library, parks, provincial highways and county of Middlesex roads. These items account for another 20 cents on the $100 assessment, which, added to the school levy, makes $1.63 uncontrollable.

Victoria hospital is not an undertaking that can have support given and withdrawn without consideration of the effect of such a move.

The public has no desire to see its hospital accommodation crippled, and the rate for that purpose is to a large extent not a controllable one. The same applies to the police department, which is neither over-staffed nor over-paid. These two levies bring the previous total up to $2.03 of the total $3.45, and it is difficult to see where the council could have made reductions so far, and that accounts for almost 59 per cent of the total levy.

The debenture rate amounts to $1.31 and "other purposes" to $1.08. There are receipts from frontage tax to pay 74 cents of the debenture rate, leaving 57 cents, and the council could not, even if they desired, touch that. The money must be in readiness to meet the payments demanded by coupons, and that 57 cents added to the previous total of $2.03 makes $2.60 of the $3.45 levy per hundred, or 75 per cent of the total tax rate.

"Other purposes" takes in departments that might be classed "controllable" to some extent, but how far? It includes fire department, civic salaries, repairs of streets, bridges, sewers and pumping stations, the city share of protection of railway crossings, street watering, oiling, and garbage. It takes in relief and work carried on as relief measures, $100,000 in all, street lighting $40,000, insurance on all city buildings, election expenses, grant to Western university $55,000, and the general conduct of departments. If one looks over the items given above it will be seen that they do not lend themselves to much trimming. The council met many times in an effort to get the figure down; members spent hour after hour of their time on the work, and they receive nothing for it.

The Advertiser has gone into these figures at some length in order to show that the statement about being able to make substantial reductions "if the council got down to business" was probably made without a very full knowledge of the facts. The council did very well to keep the rate at 34.5 mills.

When Doctors Work for Nothing.

The amount of service given by London doctors for which no remuneration is asked or expected would make a very substantial total. This work is carried on chiefly at the city hospitals. Figures from Victoria show that as high as 50 per cent of the patients entering there receive treatment in this way.

The non-paying patients have the advantage of consultations if necessary; when operations are performed they receive just as much skilled attention as those paying their own way. The demands on the time of many of the doctors run into hours per day, yet they receive nothing for the work and are willing to make this contribution and thus maintain the high standing of their profession.

This is a point that is not generally recognized by those who have had no occasion to make use of the hospitals. There are certain safeguards around the admittance of free patients to keep the privilege from being abused, but there are always those, and there always will be, who cannot pay for their care when sick. The doctors in London who give their time and ability to this work are making a very substantial contribution, and it goes directly to those who need it.

To Stop Smuggling.

Smugglers will be in for a bad time if proposed amendments to the criminal code become operative, whereby a smuggler will be sent to jail without the option of a fine.

Manufacturers have been following this business for years, and have collected statistics that are amazing, showing the extent to which the practice is carried on. Not only manufacturers, but merchants also have felt the competition of extended and petty smuggling.

The reason why it has been so difficult to stamp it out is that too many people do not regard it as any particular offence. They consider it is rather clever to be able to cross the border, make purchases, and get back without being held up by the customs authorities. The experience is summed up in a very common phrase, "I didn't have any trouble getting it across."

If there is some protection for the manufacturer and the merchant here in moving to stamp out smuggling, let them have it—they are entitled to it. The manufacturer and merchant who is conducting his business on the basis of paying his import duties and his sales tax according to the law, is entitled to have protection by that same force of law to see that others are doing the same thing. If he does not get that protection because of weak laws or their poor enforcement he can plead that he is being discriminated against.

We have endured and in a sense gloried in petty smuggling long enough.

Hindenburg's Start.

There may have been a hidden meaning behind the words of Paul von Hindenburg, now the elected and sworn-in president of the German republic, when he took the oath of office and delivered his first presidential message. If such was the case the disguise was well executed.

It may be the rankest sort of folly to judge Hindenburg in advance, but it cannot be denied that he played his part well when the ceremony was going on. As he took his place in the reichstag the communist members staged a hostile demonstration and marched from the premises. The movement was a waste of energy as far as its effect on Hindenburg was concerned.

During the day his addresses went so far as to pay tribute to the late president, Fritz Ebert, the man who drove the former kaiser into exile, crediting him with a sincerity of purpose in his service to the German people. Hindenburg's start is at least encouraging.

Note and Comment.

What's become of the old after-dinner speaker who used to start "Unaccustomed as I am to public speaking . . . ?"

The Columbia Record says long dresses didn't look well with bobbed hair, and then the editor shivers to think what would happen if the women took a notion to shave their heads.

Mr. So and So

He spent long years a-tellin' folks of how to map their youngster's life, his son he robbed the village bank and stole away his neighbor's wife.

One chap I've known for thirty years he's been before the public eye, and folks imagine many times he be a useful sort of guy. For he has made a specialty of tunin' up his waggin' tongue, advisin' people of the way to rear and train the risin' young.

We'll call him Mr. So-and-So so he won't have his feelin's hurt, nor bounce a scuntlin' on my dome when I be treadin' home from work. He's always been a specialist, he reads great books from lid to lid, and gathers up new lumps of thought on trainin' up the errin' kid.

If there was meetin's in the town why So-and-So would be right there, and tickled pink if he was asked to come and occupy the chair. When'er they talked of wayward youth or youngsters stayin' out at night, why So-and-So could draw a chart and start them on the way to right.

He loved to have the people come and ask his views on this and that, 'twas then he spouted like a pump and sprayed great words out through his hat. And if there was no meetin's home he'd go to some place far away, they'd advertise that So-and-So was one insarin' sort of jay. He loved to see his name in print, with joy it was that he had read, about the meetin' where he was and Mr. So-and-So had said.

Folks used to say he was a man, a model father for the young, and singin' of the praise of him they'd well nigh bust a feeble lung. His eldest son he grew up tough, he chewed tobacco and he drank, he licked the village constable and robbed the teller in the bank. He swiped a farmer's brindle cow and led a wicked sort of life, at last he came along one day and stole away his neighbor's wife. At last he ekipped from out the land and headed up a bandit group, they soaked him with a crowbar once and put him in the village coop.

Another son he bought a house, piano and a motor car, he had ideas, did this day, he hitched his wagon to a star. He wrote long checks to pay for them and then the neighbors heard him fall, the banker shook his head and said he had no funds in there at all. And folks around the town they say how So-and-So he is a chump, they ought to ride him on a rail and expose him 'neath the village pump. How that he told the world at large of trainin' children in the home, but hadn't time enough to spare to be a-watchin' of his own.—ARK.

To the Editor

Can't See the Economy.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—I suppose every property owner in the city got what I did today, a tax notice, and possibly two of them, and I fail to see where any of this talk about economy in election times is having its effect in our tax rates. It is all very well for them to come around when they want votes and tell us how they are going to keep down the expenses, but it is a different thing when we get the tax bills, for they are just as high as ever.

If the council would get down to serious business, and all the spending bodies do the same, they could make a cut in the rate that we could see, but although there is a fraction of a mill taken off this year I can't see it without a magnifying glass when I look at the tax bill. Yours for real economy, J. E. C.

Protest From Belle River.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—People of this village were angered at reading that a man named Tomlinson had appeared at Ottawa against the dock improvements at Belle River. He came here only three years ago, and I do not know that he has any right to speak for the people of this place. Wilfred Tomlinson does not speak for the people of this place, and he does not represent any one who has an interest in the welfare of the community. Why did not some of the local Conservatives make the trip to Ottawa?

It may be of interest to you to know that Belle River has the finest bathing beach in Western Ontario. With the dock finished Border Cities people will come here in Canadian-owned boats instead of flocking by thousands to American beaches. The completion of the work means a great deal to people outside of Belle River. LEO SYLVESTRE.

Belle River, May 14.

100 Years Ago

MR. DONNAN, teacher and minister, remained about one year at "English Settlement" in the year 1825. In the next year James Ferguson, an ordained minister of the Church of Scotland, brought his family to Westminster, and during the year 1826 preached at Westminster and at "English Settlement." There is no word in the records as yet of First church, London, or of London itself, unless "The Forks" can be recognized as the name of its emerging Forest City. Both Mr. Donnan and Mr. Ferguson had come as individual missionaries and without any credentials or authority from the Church of Scotland.

In the year 1822 three ministers of the Associate church in the United States, an offshoot of the anti-Burgher synod of Scotland, came to the province of Upper Canada, and one of them, Peter Campbell, came to the Settlement. These were the first accredited ministers to come, and under their direction a congregation was organized. All the Settlement was Presbyterian or Church of Scotland, though not anti-Burgher, and only a few of the families definitely attached themselves to the organized church, though all attended worship.

No presbytery or synod of the Church of Scotland as yet existed in western Upper Canada, and Ontario was not yet christened. As there was no Burgh in the unbroken forests of the land, and as Burghers were unknown, these earnest, God-fearing Christians of the early days accentuated the first section of their name. No frivolous hymns should be sung, the paraphrases of the old Song Book even found little favor. A tuning-fork was an implement of Satan. The physical attitude in prayer and worship must be this and especially must not be that. Reverently and zealously they must live up to their revered name—and Burgher there was none—in those days.

Another tradition may well close this sketch. A painstaking and exact singer—fore-runner of the many fine and beautiful singers of later days—had bought himself a tuning-fork to help him "lift the tune." A zealous brother spied this lurking-place of the devil lying innocently on the preacher's desk. With a couple of twigs, lest his own hands be contaminated in the touch, he carefully raised the fork and, bearing it forth, cast it into the wilderness. So did he save his church and establish her name. But that was long ago.

FOURTH LINE ROAD IS URGED AS BEST ROUTE TO SARNIA

Roads Minister Asked To Consider District's Interests.

IS CHEAPER MEASURE Advocate Leaving Sarnia Gravel Road Until Later For Paving.

Special to The Advertiser

By a Staff Correspondent.
Toronto, May 14.—A delegation, 70 strong, from Strathroy, Watford, Mount Brydges and Wyoming waited upon Hon. Geo. S. Henry, minister of public highways, this afternoon in No. 1 committee room, Parliament buildings, Toronto. Representatives urged upon the Hon. G. S. Henry that the Sarnia highway be connected with the Longwood road at Delaware and pass through Strathroy, Mount Brydges, Watford and other places on the way to London.

These towns are a unit in supporting the fourth line route, rather than the Sarnia gravel. The reasons urged upon the minister were that the road should be paved which would serve the most people in the best way, and that the fourth line route as compared with the Sarnia road would give a better local service, especially to the towns, would give a better service to through traffic by making the accommodation of the towns available, would be cheaper to both province and counties, and by leaving the gravel highway still available, rather than replacing it with cement, would increase the road service in the district much more.

Bellevue Road Needed.

The delegation was introduced to the minister by George Elliott, M.L.A. for North Middlesex. Their views were outlined by Mayor Lewis, Councillors Cuddy and Sam Oakes of Strathroy; Reeve Connolly and Mr. Jackson of Watford and Fred Bond of Mount Brydges.

Councillor Cuddy said that the delegation believed that a paved road would be necessary at some time to connect Sarnia with London.

Hon. Mr. Henry—The inception of the Sarnia road was a Sarnia, Stratford, Kitchener, Guelph, Toronto

Silence Brings Jail Sentence

Ellice Man Refuses To Tell Liquor Source.

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, May 14.—Alfred Heimpel of Ellice township pleaded guilty in police court to a charge of having liquor in other than a private dwelling. He declined to tell where he got the liquor, and was sent to jail for three months or until he does tell. On the charge to which he pleaded guilty he was remanded for sentence.

highway, and it hadn't an objective in London at all.

Councillor Cuddy—I understand that. Hon. Mr. Henry—Sometimes I imagine that in talking of this situation people overlook that fact. It was not a matter so much of hitching with London as carrying the traffic through to the other centres of this secondary road, if I may call it such, from the Michigan border across the province to Toronto.

Councillor Cuddy said he believed the necessities of traffic would require certain paying in the district he had mentioned, and before the time came for that being constructed the depot station desired to place before the minister the views of the small towns vitally affected. Such a road would give an efficient local service as well as a tourist service.

Mr. Connolly, Watford, stated that the traffic between Sarnia and London was increasing, and more tourists were travelling through the towns and villages.

Government Studies.

Hon. Mr. Henry, after stating he was making studies as to traffic, said he could quite appreciate that Strathroy, Mount Brydges, Watford, and all other centers would like to have a provincial highway passing through. "That is not a possibility," remarked the minister. "You cannot undertake to put a provincial highway through every center in this province."

Strong Delegation.

The delegation consisted of Mayor Lewis, Reeve Pike, Councillors Cuddy, Evoy, Wright, Smith and Wells, A. P. Malone, vice-president of chamber of commerce, President MacWaldell of the Lions club, Messrs. Sam

Oakes, F. Langan, A. Anderson, F. Anderson, H. Munroe, R. C. Rathwell, G. Stepler, John Norton, F. D. Brookes, F. W. Atkinson, F. Thompson, L. McCabe, A. Sutherland, E. R. Smith, Dr. MacDougall and MacFadden of Strathroy, Reeve Connolly and board of trade, Watford, the board of trustees, and board of trade of Mount Brydges, and Reeve Alex Wark of Wyoming.

WORTLEY CHOIR GIVES ORATORIO

"Spring," by Haydn, Presented For First Time in Fifty Years.

When the Wortley Road Baptist choir presented Spring, the introduction to the great Haydn oratorio, The Seasons, last night it was before an enthusiastic audience. This oratorio has not been presented in London for fifty years, so that it came with a fresh beauty to those who heard it. Directed by Miss Merlyn Pococke, both choir and orchestra presented a finished production.

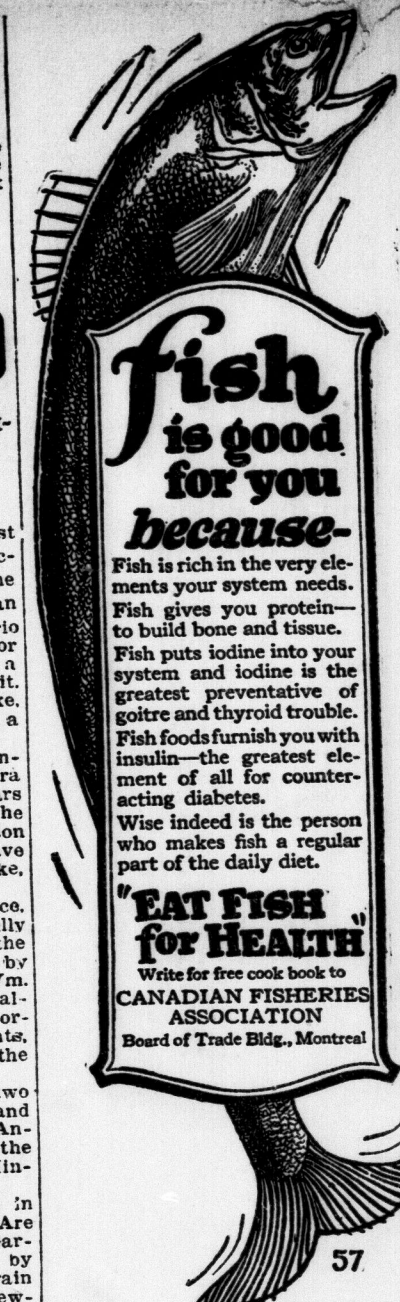

Interest added itself to the evening in the fact that the orchestra played from scores written fifty years ago by St. John Hyttenrauch, when he presented the London Musical union in the same number. The scores have been preserved by Roselle Pococke, who played in the old orchestra.

The choir was in excellent voice, each section coming out beautifully at the will of the conductor, while the solo work was effectively taken by Mrs. Walter Chalcraft, soprano; Wm. McFadden, tenor, and Walter Chalcraft, baritone. The well-trained orchestra of twenty-five instruments, formed a lovely background for the voices.

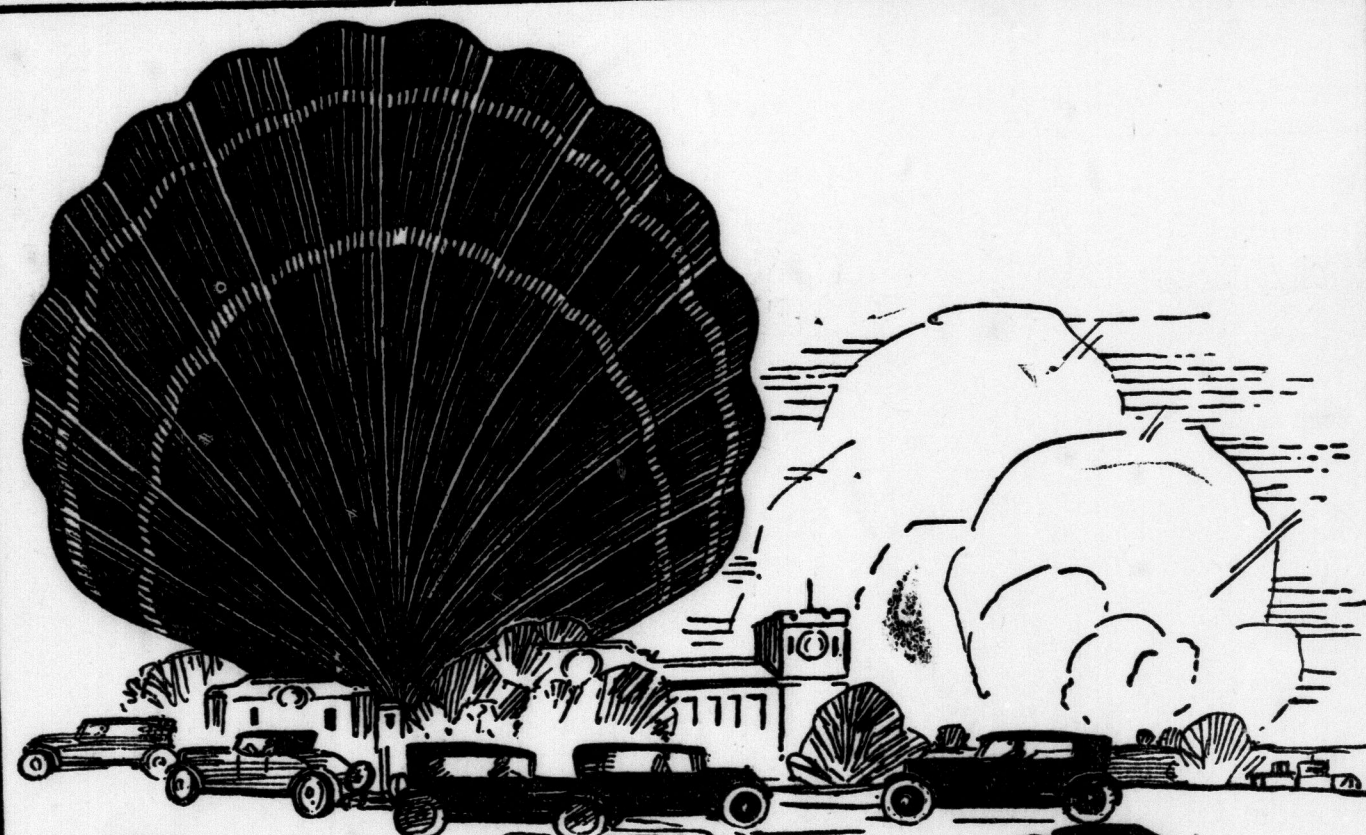

The orchestra was heard in two other very fine numbers, the first and opening number of the evening, Andante Religioso by Thome, and the second, Beethoven's delightful Minuetto, Op. 49, No. 2.

Miss Myrtle James was heard in two exquisite songs. There Are Fairies at the Bottom of Our Garden (Lehmann), and I Passed by Your Window (Brabe), and again with Miss Phyllis Gray in the Newton duet, In Springtime. Miss Gray sang alone Foster's beautiful Garden of Summer. It was an outstanding number.

Still another artist of the evening was Ed. W. Willmot, who gave a brilliant rendition of Mendelssohn's Concerto, Op. 64, Andante and Finale. Miss Helen Angus appeared at the piano.

Johnny Twice as Handy Now

EXCEPT Johnny himself, no one is so pleased that he has a bicycle as is mother.

When she wants an urgent errand done, Johnny does it in a jiffy. And it's really surprising how many messages there are for a boy to run. But Johnny can do twice as many as he used to and still have more time to play, thanks to his C.C.M. Bicycle.

Johnny doesn't have to leave quite so early for school either. Cycling is so much faster than walking or running.

And Johnny is so happy since he got his C.C.M. that mother and father are happier, too.

Father says cycling is a clean, healthy sport and attracts clean, healthy boys.

Johnny now chums around with the cycling bunch, the Boy Scout riders and other lads who love wholesome play and the great outdoors.

Think of the comfort it must be to mother and father to know Johnny is playing with the right boys instead of loitering on street corners or in lanes with a "gang".

If your boy hasn't a bicycle, it isn't because he hasn't asked for one—tested for one—planned for one. Every real boy wants one.

So take him down to the C.C.M. dealer's and get him one of the racy, sturdy, new models. There are sizes to suit all ages—including the Curved Bar Models, the bicycles the boys won't outgrow.

Prices Again Reduced

Prices are down to $20 to $25 less than the peak prices. The biggest values since pre-war days. The quality is even better. The C.C.M. Triplex Hanger, English Seamless Tubing, Drop Forged Crown, Extra coats of enamel, Nickel-plating over rust-proof copper, improved Hercules Coaster Brake are all included as regular equipment.

There are also C.C.M. Joycycles for little folks too young to ride bicycles—just as well built as C.C.M. Bicycles.

COLLECT BEVERAGE TAXES AT SOURCE

Brewers and Manufacturers To Make Returns On Their Sales.

"POP" CLASSIFIED

Special to The Advertiser by Staff Correspondent.

Toronto, May 14.—Under the beverage tax act regulations, which were approved this afternoon by the Ontario cabinet, collection will be made from the wine manufacturers, the brewers and the soft drink manufacturers. In places where any such beverages are not sold in bottles there will be imposed as an equivalent of the tax a license fee of $5 per annum, with $10 per annum additional on each draught arm, goose arm or similar device used in drawing carbonated water. It is estimated that there are between 5,000 and 6,000 places where beverages are not sold in bottles and which will be subject to this license.

Under the act exemptions will apply to purchases made from the board of license commissioners, to those made by manufacturers of proprietary and patent medicines, purchases of milk, buttermilk, tea and coffee, spring water or distilled water, and to purchase of wine from the manufacturer by a religious body for sacramental purposes.

Two Classes of Drinks. Provincial treasurer stated that there had been some difficulty in dealing with the soft drink business, because it was divided into two classes. There were the bottled drinks as well as those sold at soda fountains and in other ways. In regard to the bottled drinks, the manufacturer would act as the government's agent to collect the tax. In regard to the places where beverages were not sold in bottles there would be a license fee.

According to the regulations, every brewer and manufacturer of a beverage has to make returns on or before the 10th day of each month. The basis of taxation on beverages sold in bottles reputed to hold quarts, pints and half pints, respectively, when the tax is collected by the bottler and paid in cash, shall be as follows: Quarts, 1.79 gallons per dozen bottles; pints, 30 gallons per dozen bottles; half pints, 45 gallons per dozen bottles. When paid in stamps, 20 bottles containing more than five ounces and not more than eight ounces, or 10 bottles containing more than eight ounces and not more than 16 ounces, or five bottles containing more than 16 ounces and not more than 24 ounces, or four bottles containing more than 24 ounces and not more than 40 ounces shall constitute a gallon.

Every person contravening the act or the regulations shall incur a penalty of not less than $10 and not exceeding $100 for the first offence, and not less than $25 and not more than $200 for any subsequent offence.

Canadian Press Despatch. Hamilton, May 14.—Very Rev. Dean D. T. Owen, rector of Christ's church cathedral, was elected bishop of Niagara, succeeding the late Bishop Clark, on the first ballot this afternoon. Dean Owen secured 48 clerical and 44 lay votes. Archdeacon Perry, Welland, came next with 12 clerical and 11 lay votes. Archdeacon Renison, Hamilton, got 8 clerical and 3 lay votes, and Archdeacon McIntosh, Dundas, 8 clerical and 5 lay votes. The election was held under the presidency of Archbishop George Thornloe of Algoma, metropolitan of Ontario.

During the morning service was conducted at the cathedral, at which Archbishop Thornloe pronounced the absolution and benediction. Very Rev. Dean Owen officiated as celebrant.

The bishop-elect will have to be consecrated before he convenes the synod.

CHURCH MUST AID SCHOOL RELIGION

Administrator Wheable Declares United Action of Ministers Essential to Instruction.

Administrator G. A. Wheable, B.A., M.C., believes that religious instruction in the public schools can never be practicable until backed by the united effort of church authorities.

Rt. Rev. David Williams, D.D., Lord Bishop of Huron, is also fully impressed of the great need for co-operation amongst all church denominations if the full benefit of religious instruction is to be secured in the schools.

Trustee Rev. Roy D. Mess, M.M., is of the opinion that any move to have clergymen give religious instruction in London schools should first be made by the united action of the ministers by way of a request to the board of education to grant the required permission for such a privilege.

"Unless all the denominations agree on what instruction is to be given," declared Mr. Wheable, "the introduction of religious instruction in the schools would only be the first step toward separate schools for each denomination."

United Action.

"There is no one keener than I to see religious instruction and a greater knowledge of the Bible in the schools," continued the administrator, "but it must come as the result of united action. It can't come from within the board; it must come from the church and not from only one, two or even three denominations either. To adopt the plan of denominational schools would be a backward step to the middle ages, and it certainly would not be economically possible to conduct a denominational school system on as high a standard as the present public school system."

Mr. Wheable referred to the fact that the London public school system is one of the most advanced in the province with regard to religious training, particularly as to Bible reading courses, memorization of Bible passages and selected verses and the telling of Bible stories for historical and literary purposes.

"We are all very anxious to have as much religious instruction as possible in the public schools," asserted Bishop Williams, "but we must get together on the question, so that we will get it the right way. There must be no bitterness and no cross-pulling over the question. It will take time to bring about the co-operation needed, but in the meantime the ministers, as individuals, have the right to give religious instruction in the schools to those pupils of their own denomination."

Realize Situation.

"The clergy of the province are awaking to the situation," pointed out Mr. Mess, "and the question of religious instruction is permeating the whole educational system in Ontario. I think the ministers of the city should get together, take advantage of the new regulations and make application to the board under the terms of these regulations."

"I am strongly behind religious instruction in the public schools," concluded Mr. Mess, "and I feel sure that the board here is alive to the situation and that there would not be a great deal of opposition if approached by the clergy with any combined plan of action in the future."

Trustee G. F. Copeland stands ready to support a move for religious instruction in the schools and advocates the return to the Rose Bible and the use of the International Sunday School Association lessons.

Chairman S. F. Lawrason, too, is cordial to the proposal, and claims that greater use could well be made of the Bible in the schools. "There is no better text book than the Bible, either as to story material or literary composition."

Cairncross Moves To Have
Board To Reconsider Action.

SIMS GIVEN LEAVE

Attendance Officer Will Be Permitted Old Country Trip.

Vice-Chairman A. R. Cairncross gave notice of motion at the regular meeting of the board of education yesterday afternoon to have the whole question of collegiate accommodation reopened for discussion.

A special meeting of the board will be held on Tuesday to consider the vice-chairman's motion, together with the motion made by Trustee Mrs. J. Hunt to have the manual training and household science courses made optional in the first year at the collegiate institute.

A committee was appointed to take up the question of the establishment of junior high schools in London with the principals of the colleges and to report back to the board at an early date.

On motion of Trustees Dr. J. T. Bowman and E. N. Campbell the board amended the report of the executive committee, and agreed to permit Marcus M. Sims, chief attendance officer, to have seven weeks' leave of absence, dating from May 27, to accompany his wife to England on account of her continued ill-health.

After considerable discussion of the question the board adopted the recommendation of the executive committee that the representatives of the press be excluded from all meetings of the committee. Chairman S. F. Lawrason put it so strongly as a vote to sustain the executive committee that the board accepted the action, though not entirely approving of it.

School Picnic on June 5

The date for the annual public school picnic was set for Friday, June 5, and Chairman Lawrason and Administrator G. A. Wheable, were appointed to meet with the principals of the schools to complete the arrangements.

By practically a unanimous vote the board declined to accept the offer of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company to supply health pamphlets for distribution in the public schools. Recommendation of Principal E. A. Miller, M. A., to appoint Miss Jeanette Reddick, B. A., E. A. Hill, M. A., and O. E. Cameron, B. S. A., to the collegiate staff were approved by the board.

The motion introduced by Mr. Cairncross to have the collegiate building program reopened, including the erection of an east collegiate unit this year and the wrecking of the Rectory street public school, was as intimated in the Advertiser. There was absolutely no discussion on the vice-chairman's motion, nor did Mr. Cairncross disclose to the board the nature of the new plan which it is his intention to bring before the board for its consideration.

It was Mrs. Rose who singled out a recommendation in Mr. Miller's

GAS NEARLY COSTS LIFE OF PLUMBER

City Inspector Warns of Dangers in Testing New Installations.

Dangers of testing new gas installations have been emphasized alarmingly in a report just made to James C. Young, city plumbing inspector. Lack of caution nearly caused the asphyxiation of a plumber's helper the other day in a North London home. Only the timely appearance of his employer saved the man's life.

The plumber had just fitted up a small gas water heater. He tested the connections with matches and found no escaping gas. Then he opened the jets and permitted gas to enter the chimney flue. He left the heater for a minute or two and then returned to complete his inspection.

Before he realized his danger, the workman was practically overcome by escaping gas fumes. He managed to stagger to a partly-opened window in an effort to get fresh air, but collapsed inside the room. The report, "That, for the time being, all upper school work, with the exception of English, be confined to the central unit," and pointed out to the board that the adoption of such a recommendation meant practically the establishment of junior high schools in London. Mrs. Rose voiced her objection to junior high schools, but added that if such schools are to be established here then she will not favor the employment of as large a number of specialists in the units as is at present the case.

On Score of Economy

Mr. Miller explained that the upper school class of 35 students in the east collegiate, which is now taking all upper school subjects except chemistry, Greek and German, will not be disturbed. The principal stated further that the recommendation was made only on the score of an economical arrangement of classes, since the south collegiate will have to do with one less room in the Victoria public school this coming fall.

"I am sympathetic in retaining all the upper school subjects, or as many as it is economically wise to operate in the east and south units," affirmed Mr. Miller, "and in any case the plan proposed is only a temporary arrangement."

Trustee George F. Copeland then moved that a committee be appointed to consider the whole question of junior high schools and bring in a report after consulting with Mr. Miller, Principal T. S. H. Graham of the south unit and Principal A. E. O'Neill of the east unit.

The committee was named to include Mrs. Rose, Mr. Copeland and the chairman.

timely appearance of his employer saved the man from death.

Plumbing Inspector Young points out this case as typical of the danger coincident with lack of caution in making gas installations. In this case, the chimney flue had been stuffed up and gas fumes were backed up into the room in which the workman plumber was working. Mr. Young emphasizes the need for greatest care in handling such work. Many citizens are putting in small gas heaters now to take care of summer water heating needs. Unless caution is observed, serious mishaps are possible.

IRISH NIGHT ENLIVEN LIONS CLUB DINNER

Clay Pipes, Twist and Songs
Color Last Night's Gathering.

Last night was Irish night for the London Lions club. Last week the night was the second in the international series. Clay pipes, Irish twist and Irish songs and melodies gave an atmosphere of color to the dinner. Rev. R. H. Bowen, the speaker of the evening, gave an address on Canada. Mr. Bowen is a representative of the Bible society.

Plans are under way for raising the necessary funds for the Lions bandstand which the club hopes to build in Victoria park this summer. The dance and euchre held in the Winter Gardens recently was a success from a financial point of view, and the Lions believe that with one more effort they will be able to commence construction of the stand. They have the support of a number of influential Londoners who think a bandstand is a much-needed improvement in London.

AYLMER MAGISTRATE DIES, SERVED 13 YEARS

John R. Summers Passes Suddenly—Held Many Municipal Offices.

Special to The Advertiser.

Aylmer, May 15.—John R. Summers, police magistrate for Aylmer for thirteen years, died suddenly at his home on Queen street last night, following an illness of the past month from a heart trouble.

The late Mr. Summers was born on concession S. Malahide, in 1851. His grandfather, John Summers, came to Malahide township in 1811, and took up land near what is now Summers Corners, two and a half miles east of Aylmer. John R. Summers served Malahide as deputy reeve for three years and as reeve for another three years. He then dropped out of public life for a time. After leaving the farm he moved to Aylmer, and again entered municipal life, being elected reeve of Aylmer in 1906 and in 1909 was made warden of Elgin county, which office he filled with ability. He had been a resident of Aylmer for twenty-two years.

He was a member of the Baptist church and L. O. O. F. lodge. In 1881 he was married to Tillie Trim, who survives him with three daughters, Mrs. T. G. Winder of Lyons and Mrs. S. F. Ball of Aylmer; one brother, Glover Summers, Yarmouth, and three grandchildren, Helen and Doris Winder and John Ball.

NEW ZEALAND PAYS TRIBUTE TO MASSEY

Funeral of Premier Is Held Today—Sir F. Bell Temporary Leader.

Associated Press Despatch. Wellington, N. Z., May 15.—An impressive ceremony marked the funeral yesterday of the premier, Sir F. Massey, who died last Monday. Dense throngs lined the streets, bare-headed and silent, as the hearse and the attendant cars, passed from the parliament grounds, along the main street of the capital to Point Hazell, the place of burial.

After the funeral Sir Francis Bell, attorney-general and director of the legislative council, took the oath of office of premier, and will hold that position until the Reform party chooses a new leader.

W. Roseworthy was appointed minister of finance, a portfolio formerly held by Premier Massey.

VICTORIA WINS 'TISER HOBBY CUP

Obtains Highest Number of Points in Rotary Show—Praised by Watt.

Victoria school has won the Advertiser cup for the highest number of points in the Rotary hobby fair for 1925. This announcement has just been made by J. M. Watt, chairman of the hobby fair committee. Victoria ran up the record score of 1,870 points and was an easy winner in the competition. The cup is now being engraved with the name of the winning school and will be presented to Victoria next week by Mr. Watt. Last year the cup was won by Lord Roberts. It has to be won three times by any one school before becoming the permanent property of that school. Mr. Watt congratulated the winners on the excellent exhibition of work they sent in to the fair and on the excellence of each individual exhibit. He will tell them when he presents the cup to Principal J. F. Kirkwood.

FRENCH BIRTH RATE ALONE ON INCREASE

Has Greatest Jump of Any Country in Europe—Deaths Second Highest.

Associated Press Despatch. London, May 15.—The statement often made, that there are fewer babies born in France than in any other country is described by the Paris correspondent of the Manchester Guardian as a legend that is hard to kill. The correspondent declares that France alone among the European countries has had an increase in the birth rate in 1924, and that this is tending toward an increase.

Since the year 1915 the French birth-rate has risen from 191 to 194 per thousand of population, the Guardian's correspondent points out, and while the birth-rate in Germany is 209 per thousand, in Great Britain 197 and in Norway 189, none of these countries has a great increase as France.

The increase in the French rate of births, however, is more than counterbalanced by bad hygienic conditions, death rate in France, 107 per 10,000 the correspondent states, and the population is second only to Spain. France's birth-rate increase is attributed to her recovery of Alsace and Lorraine as a result of the war and the influx of Polish people and other foreigners.

TUBERCULOSIS WORK BEFORE CONVENTION

Twenty-Fifth Annual Gathering of Specialists Opens in Montreal Tomorrow.

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, May 15.—The twenty-fifth annual convention of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association began yesterday, and will be continued today. On the program are addresses in both French and English by prominent members of the medical profession, notably Dr. E. R. Baldwin, successor to Dr. Trudeau of the Saranac Lake tuberculosis hospital, who will speak on "Research on Tuberculosis."

Addressing the delegates in French, Dr. W. R. Soper of the Rockefeller Institute in France, will speak on the work of Professor Calmette, of Lille University, Paris.

During the convention forty workers from various provinces in the dominion will speak on the work accomplished in their districts. Last night the annual dinner was held, at which the lieutenant-governor of Quebec was in attendance. Following the dinner a public meeting was held when the speakers included Hon. L. A. David and Dr. E. R. Baldwin.

Today the delegates are scheduled to visit the Bruchesi and Royal Edward institutes.

COUNTY FAVORS SARNIA GRAVEL

Officials Disapprove Plan To Make Fourth Line Provincial Highway.

The fourth line road, urged upon Hon. G. S. Henry as the proper route for the proposed provincial highway from Sarnia to London in place of the present Sarnia gravel road, is not looked on with particular favor by Middlesex county officials and others interested in highway structure.

Granting that such towns as Strathroy, Mount Brydges, Watford and Wyoming would be benefitted in a business way county men point out that it would cost an enormous sum to put the fourth line in shape for paving. The road would have to be widened and an expensive process of foundation would be necessary.

"The Sarnia gravel road is the logical highway from Sarnia to London," declared one county man, "it has a good foundation, and is a straight road through. It hasn't much tourist accommodation, but the run is not a long one.

"The road might be diverted, as proposed, in Lambton county and through Watford to Strathroy. This would be a job of three miles south to the fourth road. It could then be diverted back to the main Sarnia gravel road, via the town line and Hickory Corners, and on through Lobo and Poplar Hill to Hyde Park and London."

"If the fourth line plan was carried out, via Mount Brydges and Delaware, this would give Caradoc township two provincial paved roads, running north and south and the other east and west. This would be absurd in my opinion. Surely the Longwood road, east and west, would serve the Caradoc district.

"By changing the road, Lobo township would not be looked after, and East Williams would be out of the picture altogether. Surely these townships are entitled to some consideration. Why should Caradoc have both paved highways?"

SHE SITS FOR HOURS AS HUBBY FORGETS

London Woman Left Stranded in Car As Husband Rides Trolley Home.

Hurrying home on a street car, forgetting that he had left his wife and his auto parked on a busy downtown street, a London business man yesterday afternoon gave the world a new wrinkle in male absent-mindedness.

The call of the garden boomed loud in the ears of Mr. Husband as he left his broker's office, so he just hopped on a trolley and went home. It was not until he was wallowing in his beloved soil that he remembered his car, deserted down town, two hours before.

The wife and the automobile were found where he left them. One did not say anything, the other—

Why didn't she drive home herself? She couldn't. He had never taught her how.

SASKATCHEWAN TO SEE 3-CORNERED FIGHTS

Thirteen Conservatives and Twenty-One Progressives Already Nominated—Election June 2.

Regina, Sask., May 15.—Dr. J. T. M. Anderson has announced that no formal conferences have been held between himself and Harris Turner, leader of the Progressive party, and that some three-cornered fights are already in sight for the provincial election, June 2.

To date the Conservatives have nominated thirteen candidates, and the Progressives twenty-one. In an election forecast yesterday, Dr. Anderson stated that he expected twelve Conservatives and twenty-five Progressives, or Progressives, would be elected. The number of Conservative nominations, he said, will probably total 25 by nomination day, May 26. A number of Progressive nominating conventions are scheduled for next week.

Chicago Shuts Out New York Yankees Twice in Row.

Associated Press Despatch. Detroit, May 14.—The Philadelphia Athletics won their seventh consecutive game today, defeating the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 2. Rommel pitched his sixth winning game, the contest being one of the fastest played on Navin Field so far this season.

YANKEES SHUT OUT.
Chicago, May 14.—Chicago shut out the New York Yankees two days in a row by blanking them today.

The game was a pitching duel between Lyons and Pennock, the former being allowed only four. Two of the local hits were bunched in the sixth inning with a stolen base sandwiched in between, which resulted in the only run of the game.

SATURDAY'S SOCCER BILL ENDS INTERCITY FIRST LAP

Rovers and Westminster and C. N. R. Garrison Provide Two Local Tills.

Saturday's soccer program will complete the first half of the intercity schedule and London will have two games, while the game at St. Thomas will be a local derby between the Calves and Vets.

The big game on Saturday will be the one at Westminster, where the Rovers are the visitors, and both teams are putting their strongest players on the field. The fans should get lots of excitement, as both will be out to win so as to keep in the running.

The kick-off is at 5:15 p.m., and F. G. Carr will be in charge of the game. The Medford home only lost one game so far and the Rovers' only defeat was at the Calves' hands, while last week they drew with Railroaders, so on form both teams are evenly matched and a splendid game should be the outcome on Saturday.

The game at the Heights, where the Calves are the visitors, should be a good game as the latter are steadily improving, and the Railroaders must have nothing to chance if they wish to maintain their clean sheet. The game is called for 2:45 p.m.

The game at St. Thomas between the Vets and Calves will be a local derby and as there is rivalry between these teams a record crowd should be on hand. All games will be refereed and the kick-off is at 5:30 p.m.

Thrills Always Bob Up Wossa Expects Its Share

Has Built Big Following and Should Set Attendance Mark.

SCHOOLS KEENER

With an entry list that has exceeded all previous meets, it remains for Saturday to show a new attendance mark for Wossa meets, and officials have no doubt that with any sort of good weather this objective will be reached.

The fact that the meet is being staged at the new cinder track at Western university offers an incentive, of course, to see the proposed stadium, of which the track is the first unit completed, and will be partly responsible for what is certain to be the biggest crowd ever to attend a Wossa meet. But quite aside from the chance of venue of the meet, the Wossa has been constantly building up a large following for track athletes.

Track meets make their own devotees. Their infrequency, the paradoxical certainty of the unexpected in the way of thrills, and the bustle and excitement of being in the thick of the track meets a surface appeal.

There is the desire of the real track and field enthusiast to be in on the discovery of budding Olympic talent. The crack of the starter's pistol, the form and style of the competitors, and the thrilling finishes are food and drink to him for one day.

The thrills are liable to be anywhere. The sprints and other track events are certain to give thrills, if only at the tape. But they come in the field events too, but in a less striking way. The hurdle race is a high wall hurdle was approached there were three men running neck-and-neck, and the last fifteen yards was a dash to the finish line.

Three men with the swiftness of a deer, breath held and all tense for the finish line, which determined the winner for an event which has become a classic, particularly to all Canadians. Since Earl Thompson, a Canadian, made a record which has stood for five years, and constitutes a close-up for the world.

During the past month the students of the secondary schools of Western Ontario have been training faithfully, and the competition will be of the keenest sort, these being the schools and 500 entries. All that remains, therefore, is a warm day and it is hoped that the weather will be kind in this matter.

Further information for visitors is being published. A Richmond car going north will take the visitors to University avenue, and a station in the bleachers is by admission tag. These are being sold at the University avenue. University bridge, and on the grounds.

1. The programs will be distributed at the time.

2. One o'clock is the starting time.

3. For dressing-room accommodation see the secretary of the meet, Dr. Geo. A. Smith on the grounds from 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

4. For weighing in it is absolutely necessary in the intermediate and junior series for all the contestants to appear on the track or before 11 o'clock, and have their entries filed.

5. The annual captain's and vice-captain's match will be staged at the Highland Golf club on Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

R. W. Glover, captain, and Alex. Calder, vice-captain, will make the draw. Members of the club are asked to turn out.

When You Can Be Well, Why Be Sick!
Why Suffer Delay and Grow Worse?
Enjoy Life—Health—Happiness
To Have No Back Pains, No Nervousness, No Kidney Disease, With Plenty of Life, Energy and No Blood Disease, Is the Wish of Every Young, Old or Middle-Aged Person.

To you—if you are sick—if you suffer—if you are afflicted with any ailments of MEN—if you are worn out, tired or failing, if you need medical advice—if you are not in perfect health—if life is a dragging, miserable existence—if you lack energy, vim and vigor that make life worth living, to you—rich or poor—young or old—you need my treatment at once.

Nerves and Blood Are Life
The lack of nerve force is found among men of all ages. This is true with men in all walks of life, from the day laborer to the mechanic or professional man. Many men of the clergy are afflicted with nervousness—no man is exempt from the ailment who has rebelled against nature's laws—so if you have the result of overwork, dissipation, sedentary habits or worry, and your vital organs are disturbed, remember, delay in seeing the right doctor makes it more difficult to overcome the symptoms, and you might reach an incurable condition beyond relief if you delay too long.

My Equipment
Is composed of the latest and best known agents in Electrical, Surgical and Mechanical Apparatus, and I am prepared by the knowledge of their use and the experience in prescribing them so as to set the greatest uniform results from them.

I Am Prepared to Give You serums, Bacterine, Vaccines and every all forms of treatment of this character that have been tried and proved a success.

YOUNG MEN—THINK OF YOUR FUTURE

How about it, are you qualified to face it—are you doing more and getting more out of life than you are? Find out, if you don't know already, what is dragging you down. No one can violate nature's laws and succeed. I have helped thousands physically, mentally, morally. I believe I (as I have thousands of other men), can help you. Just be frank and tell me all the facts of your health, strong nerves and a sound body once more.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN
Constitute a large part of my practice. At this time of life a most important physiological change takes place and men feel the need of an experienced doctor for men to not only treat them at this critical period but as well to advise them as to what to do and what to avoid to regain health, strong nerves and a sound body once more.

Will Celebrate Jubilee of Presbyterian Church

Special Service Planned in the King Street Church on Sunday.

HISTORY TO BE TOLD

Rendering of Gaul's Oratorio by Choir of 40 To Feature in Evening.

The jubilee of the Presbyterian church in Canada will be duly celebrated in King street Presbyterian church next Sunday by the holding of special services.

Rev. W. R. McIntosh, D. D., will tell the story at the morning service, of the history of the Presbyterian church in Canada since the union in 1875 of the Auld Kirk, United Presbyterian church and the Free church.

The pastor will give a review of the book just published by J. T. McNeil, professor of church history, Knox College, Toronto, entitled The History of the Presbyterian Church in Canada 1875-1925 under the direction of the general assembly of the church.

At the evening service, choir of 40 voices, under the direction of Miss Katharine Moore, as organist, will render Gaul's oratorio, Ruth. Prominent in the cantata are: Miss June Warren as Ruth, Miss Nora Bradley as Naomi, Mrs. A. J. Smith as Orpha and Walter Skinner as Boaz. Dr. McIntosh will speak on the subject of "Ruth, the Romance of a Great Adventure."

The request that the jubilee of the church be observed in some manner was made by the general assembly, the synod of Hamilton and London and the Presbytery of London and accordingly, as moderator of synod, Dr. McIntosh considered it fitting that he should hold special services in his church by way of celebrating the jubilee and meeting the request of the church courts.

STEVENSON'S BIKE BAN BRINGS CLUB RIDICULE

W. A. Godfree, Bicycle Club Secretary, Attacks Ex-M. L. A.'s Stand.

Considerable resentment has been expressed by W. A. Godfree, secretary of the London Bicycle club, at the views attributed to Dr. H. A. Stevenson, ex-M. L. A., on the question of bicycle riding in certain areas. Dr. Stevenson contended that on certain streets it should be prohibited and that a too liberal policy is the cause of many accidents.

"I am sorry to see Hughie, who once represented labor, turn against the labor man and his means of transportation," commenced Mr. Godfree. "Why has he changed his views? When he talks such nonsense he should talk to himself. Did anyone ever hear of a bicyclist driving while intoxicated? Can he tell me when an adult or a child has been killed by a bicycle in this city? Do we have motor policemen?—To restrict bicycle riders? No, indeed, to protect the public against speed maniacs who drive motor cars."

"I would the merchants welcome restrictions on bicycles? They would not. They know it is the man who rides a bicycle who pays his bills. Not the man who speeds more than he can afford on his automobile. "If the council would place adequate restrictions on motor parking it would go far to relieve the congestion of the main streets. Hughie might make better use of his time than talking rubbish to the newspapers. If he wants a debate on the subject, I am willing to meet him," concluded Mr. Godfree.

Mr. Godfree takes pride in the fact that he has ridden a bicycle for over twenty years and has never been in an accident. He has won many prizes for riding and is one of the best known cyclists in the Dominion.

MANHATTAN DANCE AT PORT TONIGHT

Club Event Expected To Attract Hundreds From District.

Disciples of the dance have declared Port Stanley open for the summer.

The Port's dance floor was officially reopened on Wednesday night, with the holding of the annual dance of the Talbot club, St. Thomas. Twelve hundred people went and broke all first night attendance records. The evening program was repeated last night, and tonight the Manhattan club dance is expected to attract hundreds from London and other points along the line.

The winter schedule continues on the London and Port Stanley railway, but road officials believe that the present trains will be adequate for the next month. The warm weather schedule will be introduced about the middle of June. General Manager J. E. Richards said this morning. Jack Pudney's orchestra is furnishing the Casino music for the season.

C. OF C. CROSSES FROM WET TO DRY

Old Prohibition Headquarters Now Houses Offices—Renovate Barroom.

The chamber of commerce left its happy home in the old Tecumseh hotel bar room today for quarters in the old Merchants Bank building at Queens avenue and Richmond street, used as headquarters for the "drys" in the plebiscite last fall. In other words the C. of C. is moving from wet to dry.

Moving operations commenced last evening under the supervision of President R. H. Dowling of the C. of C., and by three o'clock this afternoon the office staff was quite at home in new quarters. Carpenters are already busy turning the former bar room into a rendezvous for 4.4 beer enthusiasts. The expensive fixtures of the old bar, covered since prohibition with fling cabinets and C. of C. pamphlets, are having the cobwebs removed and the mirrors shined to pre-war sparkle. The click of the typewriter will soon be turned to the clink and tinkle of beer glasses.

NICKLE ALLAYS FEARS OF PROHIBITION MEN

Sees No Reason For Alarm Over Beer Restrictions in Certain Counties.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, May 15.—Rev. Ben Spence and Rev. John Bailey, secretary of the Ontario prohibition union, waited on Hon. W. F. Nickle, attorney-general, today in regard to the situation in Peel, Perth, Huron and Manitoulin counties, where the Canada temperance act was displaced by order-in-council when the 4.4 per cent beer was authorized. They expressed the opinion that the new beer would do away with the Ontario temperance act and these counties would have no restrictions. The attorney-general held that "there was nothing in their viewpoint." Rev. Mr. Spence commenting that Mr. Nickle "had not the same opinion of the 4.4 beer as we have."

Fast Time Plan Is Defeated

Associated Press Despatch.

Moose Jaw, Sask., May 15.—Advocates of fast time and proportional representation received a rude jolt yesterday when civic bylaws favoring these measures were defeated. A bylaw to provide $100,000 for the construction of a new school was carried.

MANHATTAN DANCE AT PORT TONIGHT

Club Event Expected To Attract Hundreds From District.

Disciples of the dance have declared Port Stanley open for the summer.

The Port's dance floor was officially reopened on Wednesday night, with the holding of the annual dance of the Talbot club, St. Thomas. Twelve hundred people went and broke all first night attendance records. The evening program was repeated last night, and tonight the Manhattan club dance is expected to attract hundreds from London and other points along the line.

The winter schedule continues on the London and Port Stanley railway, but road officials believe that the present trains will be adequate for the next month. The warm weather schedule will be introduced about the middle of June. General Manager J. E. Richards said this morning. Jack Pudney's orchestra is furnishing the Casino music for the season.

M'KAY HITS FIRE COMMISSION IDEA

Alderman Returns From Chicago—Thinks the Present System Satisfactory.

Ald. Frank McKay, who arrived back today from Chicago does not approve the mayor's suggestion that the London fire department be controlled by a fire commission. He thinks there are enough commissions already without creating more.

The mayor proposed a fire commission to consist of himself, Ald. McKay as chairman of the finance committee, and the provincial fire marshal, to administer the London fire department. The committee did not agree to this, and now Ald. McKay, who was absent from the meeting, joins with the other aldermen in condemning the suggestion as impractical.

"I think the present system of control by the city council is quite satisfactory and quite capable of taking care of the department," said the labor alderman today.

PERMITS TO BE READY IN ALL LARGE CENTERS

Thousands of Applications Have Been Received by Department.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, May 15.—Though all permits for the sale of 4.4 per cent beer will not be issued by May 21, the date set for the sale of the beverage, a sufficient number will be ready by that time for the sale to commence. Hon. W. F. Nickle, attorney-general, stated today. Mr. Nickle said the number of applications received was between 3,000 and 5,000.

It is understood that practically all applicants in Toronto and other large centers will have their permits on the morning the beverage can be legally sold.

SPRING FISHING.

By BARBARA BROOKS, Kellogg Company, Home Economics Department, London, Ont.

As ordinarily used the term "fish" includes besides the fish proper, many other aquatic animals such as lobsters, scallops, turtles, etc., but in trout season the term "fish" to the fisherman at least means trout and nothing else.

If your husband is an enthusiast over this sport, you realize that he really prizes the way the trout is cooked. To him the fish is good because it is freshly caught and he looks upon it as his own particular achievement. Nevertheless the method of cooking may make or spoil the freshest or rarest fish. Because a woman is a good cook, it does not follow that she is equally expert at cooking fish. The tendency is to over-cook fish, and many recipes give a time that is too long for best results. Cook fish until the meat separates from the bones and the fish looks plump—not shriveled. Large trout are delicious baked.

husband, Thomas Hardy, who died one year ago today, May 15, 1924.

I miss him when the night returns;
The shock was hard, the blow severe,
To part with one I loved so dear.
Ever remembered by his loving wife and children.

When a Scream Startles You —and your heart jumps up in your throat—and you know one of the children is hurt—run to the medicine cabinet for the bottle of Absorbine Jr.

Whether it is a cut hand or a gashed knee—a torn arm, burnt finger, sprained ankle, bruise or open wound—apply "ABSORBINE JR." full strength.

It may smart for an instant—but it will cleanse the wound, destroy germs, prevent infection, ease the pain and promote rapid and healthy healing.

For toothache, saturate cotton with "ABSORBINE JR." and place in the cavity in the tooth. Then rub the face with this reliable liniment—it stops the pain.

If the children get sore throat or tonsillitis, make a gargle with "ABSORBINE JR." You see how useful, how handy, how necessary it is to keep a bottle of "ABSORBINE JR." always in the house—it saves so much pain and suffering.

$1.25 a bottle—at most druggists—or sent postpaid by

W. F. YOUNG Inc.,
Lyman Building, Montreal.

Western Quits Social Whirl and Plunges Into the 'Finals'

University Day of Judgment Finds 700 Students Writing Exams.

"PLUGGING" NOW

Results Will Be Announced May 28—Score of Meds To Graduate.

Gone is all the talk of the dance and the class parties in the university halls. The examinations, the dreaded final examinations, day of judgment when each man must give an account of himself, is at hand.

Last Saturday saw the first of the finals. Since that time, there hasn't been much fun at Western. The students are studying for the papers to come and wondering if they made a pass on those they have written.

The two weeks of plugging torture will come to an end on Saturday, May 23. The results have to be in to be tabulated for presentation to the faculty on the afternoon of May 27. On the 28th the results will be issued.

Following the policy of the last two years, the details of the individual classes will not be published. The general proficiency standing in each year will be made public, together with the names of graduates, the winners of medals, scholarships and prizes.

In the graduating classes there are 11 honor courses as well as the general pass course, so that there will be medal winners in these cases. Added to these will be the honor philosophy group whose members will receive medals from their own school.

The medical school will send forth a score of graduates, it is expected. There will be no candidates for the diploma of public health. Some degrees of master of arts, master of science and certificates of public health to nurses will be conferred. Dr. K. P. R. Neville, registrar, said today that about 700 students are trying final examinations. All the students will finish about the same time. The papers are being marked at the present time.

THROWS ACID ON WIFE IN FIT OF DESPONDENCY

23-Year-Old Toronto Man Is Arrested—Girl's Face Is Badly Disfigured.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, May 15.—Admitting to the police that jealousy had prompted him to commit the deed, Arthur Wilson, aged 23 years, was placed under arrest last night on a charge of doing bodily harm to his 18-year-old wife, Dorothy, by throwing sulphuric acid in her face. The right side of the woman's face is badly disfigured and it is not yet known if her right eye can be saved. She is in the general hospital.

The couple were married last September, but lived only six weeks together. He threw the acid in her face after speaking a few minutes with her last evening, when she was returning from work. Wilson also admitted to the police that he had purchased rubber gloves to protect his hands when he threw the liquid. The acid, however, splashed about his neck and caused him severe burns.

TRAFALGAR STREET SCHOOL URGED AS EAST END SOLUTION

Could Be Taken Over As Collegiate Under $200,000 Scheme, Says Richardson.

NAME COMMITTEE

Public Meeting Held Last Night To Protest Rectory Demolition.

Interesting sidelights were thrown upon the involved collegiate accommodation problem by Trustees William G. Murray and Mrs. John A. Rose as the feature of the meeting held last night in the east end town hall to protest against the plan to demolish Rectory street public school.

East end citizens reiterated their disapproval of the board's proposal to tear down the Rectory school to make way for the new east end college, and appointed a committee to wait on the board at the meeting next Tuesday, when it is expected the whole collegiate question is to be reopened by the board.

Trustee W. G. Murray aired his hobby on the school proposition, one big central unit, and claimed nine rooms, can be added to the present central collegiate building at a cost of $103,000, and thus provide accommodation for about 600 students.

He contrasted this plan with the unit scheme, which calls for the erection of an east collegiate at a cost of $265,000, with $50,000 added in this instance covering the cost of demolishing Rectory school, and the erection of a south unit at approximately $300,000.

"If we can build wings on the Central collegiate to provide sufficient accommodation for our collegiate students, now and for the next ten years," declared Mrs. Rose, "then I am strongly behind the Central collegiate proposition. If they will sell the South collegiate site and use that money in a central unit I am satisfied to have one central collegiate. The child from the east would meet the child from the west, and the child from the north would meet the child from the south, and they would come from all over the city. It would be a liberal education and the students would not have a sectional outlook, but a city of London outlook."

T. B. Richardson suggested that the board consider the plan of taking over Trafalgar street public school as a collegiate and take care of the pupils from that school by enlarging the Ealing public school. This plan, which has been advanced all along by Trustee Rev. R. D. Mess, M. M., could be carried out, Mr. Richardson claimed, at a cost of approximately $200,000, at the same time providing for an addition to the Trafalgar school for collegiate purposes.

Mr. Richardson's query as to whether the board is building the east end collegiate for themselves or for the children of the east end was greeted by a storm of applause. Both Mr. Murray and Mrs. Rose answered innumerable questions fired at them by the 75-odd east enders who attended the meeting, which under the chairmanship of H. B. A. Swindall, was quiet and orderly. Mr. Swindall stated plainly that "the sticks and stones story of main force in surrounding the Rectory school with a posse was merely a paper story" and expressed the opinion that the east end ratepayers could settle their problem with the board of education in a gentlemanly manner.

The committee named to interview the board on Tuesday includes T. B. Richardson, Mrs. William Rawlings, H. D. A. Swindall, A. Buckingham, John Murray, John Wilson, Mrs. Stringer and W. C. Hawkins.

S. A. LIKELY TO EXCEED OBJECTIVE BY $5,000

$25,000 Mark Will Be Reached in Few Days by Campaigners.

At the rate donations are being made to the annual self-denial fund of the Salvation Army, which is being carried out in Western Ontario, the objective of $20,000 will be exceeded by $5,000, according to Commandant Hurd, financial secretary of the London division.

It is expected that the $25,000 mark will be reached in a few days. This means that approximately $1,000 will be collected from each of the 25 corps in this territory.

For some week Commandant Hurd has been visiting the cities and towns of the district, speaking before the councils, clubs and bodies interested in charities. He left for Stratford today, where he will speak at the Lions club dinner tonight. This will be followed by a mass meeting at St. Mary's.

Commandant Hurd will speak at Hanover tomorrow night. On Sunday he will fill the Methodist pulpit at Chesley in the morning. The same day he will conduct meetings at Walkerton and Hanover.

On Monday night a mass meeting will be held in the opera house at Mitchell. Commandant Hurd will return to London on Tuesday.

CHANGED DISPUTES ACT IS PRAISED

Clause Binding Employer To Arbitration Wins Labor Favor Here.

London Labor men differ on the amended Industrial Disputes Act which was passed in the federal house yesterday. They are particularly in favor of the clause whereby arbitration is binding on employer as well as on the employee, and the penalty is applicable to the employer as to the employee, but wonder how the conciliation board is to be constituted.

In the old Lameux Act there was no penalty on the employer who refused arbitration although there was for the men or women employed. In this respect, the amended act is, in the opinion of labor, an improvement. The new act does not make the decision of the conciliation board binding on either party which meets the views of all concerned. The Lameux Act also carried no obligation to carry out the recommendations of the board.

John Colbert, president of the London Trades and Labor Council says "The amendments to the old act are a great improvement, in my opinion. By making arbitration compulsory on both employer and employee and by fixing a penalty for the employer who refuses arbitration it is a real advance on the old act. In the old days the act was an invidious one, as a penalty could be inflicted on the workmen who refused arbitration but not on the employer who took the same position. I think the act should work well and be of great assistance to industrial conditions in Canada."

Arthur Mould, president of the London Labor party believes that the value of the act depends entirely on the composition of the Conciliation Board. He says "The right of immediate strike has been largely outlawed by the amendments. The whole thing depends on the makeup of the conciliation board. The chief advantage I see in the amendments is that Canada gains autonomy in her legislature and the right to make an act to suit her own conditions."
