GREENBUSH REUNION

The lawn social and Old Boys' Reunion held on the spacious lawn of Mr Byron W Loverin, Greenbush, on Tuesday evening proved to be a great success in every respect. The grounds were beautifully arranged and the tables seating 200 were filled three times.

The "old boy" feature was duly recognized, and among the former residents of that section present were G. F. and C. H. McKimm, coming in automobile from Smith's Falls; Lew Poul-in and son, coming in automobile from Ottawa; A. M. Pasterson and G. H. Lewis, Brockville; H. Nichols and wife, Toledo; Rev M. J. Bates and wife, Bath; B. Loverin and wife, Charleston.

An interesting game of baseball between Greenbush and North Augusta teams took place.

Following the refreshments, Dr Bourns of Frankville presided very acceptably over a pleasing programme which included addresses by A. E. Donovan, M.P.P., and a large number of the "old boys." An excellent musical and literary program was presented by Mr F. L. Tooker and Miss Dixon of Brockville, Miss Gertrude Forth of Forthton, Mrs Percival of Addison, and other entertainers.

It was a thoroughly sociable gathering, in which the many old people present were able to live again the days of long ago. Among these Mrs Norris Loverin, aged 89 years, was the oldest person on the grounds.

Every feature of the social showed careful management and its success is highly creditable to the committees in charge.

PUBLIC SCHOOL BOARD

The regular meeting of the Athens public school board was held in the council chamber on Monday evening. Action taken by the finance committee in borrowing money and by a special committee in re-engaging teachers was endorsed.

On motion, Mr James Slichter of New Dundee was engaged as principal at a salary of $550.
At a previous meeting of the board a motion had been passed requesting Mr C. R. Mackintosh to furnish the board with a statement of receipts and expenditures in connection with the various entertainments he had held for the benefit of the Athens Model School, and at this meeting a letter from Mr Mackintosh was read stating that he had no money belonging to the school board.

The matter of procuring a supply of coal for next winter was left with the property committee.

HARDY—HUGHES

The Methodist parsonage, Kemptonville, was the scene of a very pretty wedding Wednesday. Miss Edith A. Hughes, second daughter of Rev and Mrs S. J. Hughes became the bride of Mr W. H. Hardy of Bowesville. Rev Mr Hughes performed the pleasing ceremony, while her eldest brother, Mr Wilfred P. Hughes, gave away the bride.

The bride was attired in fillet net over white silk and carried a bouquet of white roses and maiden hair fern. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Marguerite Hughes. The bridesmaid's dress was of cream albatross and bouquet of pink roses and maiden hair fern. Mr F. H. Armstrong of Ottawa, assisted the groom.

Mr and Mrs Hardy left on the evening train on a trip to Newport, Vt., Old Orchard, Maine and other points of interest on the Atlantic. They expect to return the latter part of this month and will be at home to their friends after Sept 15th. The bride's going away suit was of navy blue Rajah silk with hat to match. The young couple are very highly esteemed as was shown by the numerous gifts showered upon them. Mr Hardy is a prosperous farmer of Bowesville.
Miss Hughes was deservedly popular with a wide circle of friends in Athens and they will join most heartily with the Reporter in extending best wishes.

PLAYED CARRIE NATION

Brockville Times (Monday): A great deal of interest centered around the police court session this morning in anticipation of the hearing of certain charges against Rev G. S. Snell, Methodist minister at North Augusta. The crowded court room suffered keen disappointment as the matter was disposed of at a private audience before Justice Murphy in the office of Chief Burke.
At a certain picnic held recently near North Augusta, Mr Snell, came into prominence by taking possession of two boxes of cigars from a refreshment booth, in charge of Ezra Dales, and smashing them to pieces. The incident resulted in a spat between the clergyman and a spectator named Vout in which reflections were made on both sides.

The upshot of the affair was that Mr. Snell was summoned to appear in Brockville police court on two charges one of wilful damage to property, and another of using grossly insulting language toward Mr Vout. Mr Snell also had an inning, for on Saturday Mr Vout answered a summons returnable before T. H. Weatherhead, J. P., North August, charging him with the use of insulting language at the time of the cigar incident. Vout was fined $5 and $6.50 costs.

Before the hour for holding court this morning the clergyman and two complainants got together and arrived at a basis of settlement which was approved of by Justice Murphy in private session. Besides making an apology to Mr Dales and Mr Vout, he paid $1.25 for the cigars; Dales' costs, $5.35; Vout's costs $4.00; their solicitor, $5.00; and $5.75, half the costs imposed on Vout by Justice Weatherhead, making a total of $21.35 lifted, or "brandished." After this Saul never lost the idea that David was the God-ordained king. This purpose he resolved to defeat, and, accordingly, made several attempts on his life.

Vs. 12-16. 12. Was afraid of David. Saul became sensible that he was fighting against God; this caused terror and continued to disturb him more and more. Because the Lord, etc.—When God is with us we are certain to succeed, but when the Lord forsakes a person he is equally certain to be defeated. The Christian is mighty only "through God" (2 Cor. 2:10). 13. Removed him—He was afraid to retain David longer as an immediate attendant. Captain—It is not certain that this was the same appointee referred to in vs. 5, but it is quite likely that it was. "Saul probably made David chief of one of the principal towns of Judah, each containing, roughly, a thousand men. Saul did this partly to get David out of his sight, and partly (vs. 17, 25) in the hope that his dangerous rival might be killed in battle. The people who loved David would consider this an honor paid to the national hero; otherwise they would have been angered by Saul's action. Went out and came in—God being with him in all that he does, he is not only kept from retaliating on Saul, not only kept from all devices of getting rid of one who was so unjust and unkind to him, but he is remarkably obedient, remarkably faithful, and by God's grace remarkably successful in the work given him to do. It is a beautiful picture of David's life—the most blameless and beautiful of all. The object of unmerited hatred, the victim of atrocious plots, the helpless object of a despot's mad and unprovoked fury, yet cherishing no trace of bitter feeling in the work given him to do. It is a beautiful picture of David's life—the most blameless and beautiful of all. The object of unmerited hatred, the victim of atrocious plots, the helpless object of a despot's mad and unprovoked fury, yet cherishing no trace of bitter feeling in the work given him to do.

14.—David behaved, wisely. David conducted himself with great discretion. "His whole course was marked by wisdom, by which is meant both piety and prudence. And in this he is an object lesson to us in proof of the point much to be insisted upon, that the Lord's interventions in our behalf do not suspend our obligations to be both prayerful and careful." The Lord was with him—in every darkness which cast its shadow around him the light of the open heavens penetrated; and after every storm that raged against him there followed the gentle breathings of divine consolation. To this day wherever "the melody of his psalms sounds and echoes in the heart, the shadows of sorrow and sadness are scattered, and courage and peace and joy return and take possession of the soul.—Krummacher. 18. All... loved David—That is, the large majority, all who came to know him, loved him. That is they loved him because he was discreet and wise in all of his movements among them.

19.—Saul attempted to kill David (vs. 10, 11). Saul commences the record of these persecutions by which, during the rest of Saul's lifetime, the conqueror of Goliath was continually harassed. It forms a suggestive period of Israelitish history, and presents in striking contrast the development of Saul's great wickedness on the one hand, and David's many excellencies on the other. These persecutions, however, were a most useful discipline for the psalmist king.—Whed. Com. 20. Evil spirit—A demon like those mentioned so frequently in the New Testament. "The very next day after he conceived malice against David the evil spirit seized him, and those that indulge in evil practices in envy and uncharitableness give place to the devil and prepare for the re-entry of the unclean spirit, with seven others more wicked."—Henry. From God—Sent by permission of God, as Satan in Job 2:7. Came upon Saul—He re-appeared into a state of demonic possession. See chap. 16, 14. Proposed—rather, "raved."—R. V., margin. "The word 'prophecy' describes an ecstatic condition due to supernatural influence, good or evil; the result in the one case being prophetic inspiration or religious enthusiasm, in the other raving madness."—Cam. Bib. Saul was at first inspired by the Holy Spirit, but now that Spirit has left him and a foul demon occupies his place, and accordingly, instead of hallowing his religious exercises, he is now the frantic ravings of a madman. He falls prostrate on the floor and breathes forth his inner ravings like one holding communion with an unclean world.—Terry. As at other times—See chap. 16, 23. There is a wonderful power in music to soothe a troubled soul. A javelin—The javelin or spear was the emblem of regal authority. In ancient times kings used a spear instead of a diadem.—Clarke. They always had it at hand, and in ancient monuments they are always represented with it.

21. Cast the javelin—Saul, now thoroughly infuriated, determined to make an end of the shepherd boy. Some think that at this time Saul did not actually cast the spear as he did later (chap. 15: 10), but that he merely brandished the weapon and that David escaped before it was actually cast. you would not like God to find you. 5. Read no book of which you would not like God to say, "Show it to me." 6. Never spend your time so that you would not like God to say, "What art thou doing?" 7. Of every doubtful thing always ask, "What would Jesus do?" VIII. Wise.—David showed himself wise in all his ways" (vs. 14). He was circumspect in his walk and careful to do nothing to inflame Saul's jealousy. 1. He was patient. He did not insist that Saul's daughter should be given to him as his right, though she had been promised to the one who should slay Goliath (1 Sam. 17:25). He waited. 2. He was modest. Very humbly he replied to Saul's proffer of his daughter (v. 17). He did not reproach the king when he demanded another display of valor. 3. He was generous. He brought a double measure of the dowry exacted from him, thus proving his love for her and his generosity toward the men who sought his life, the genuineness of his victory over the Philistines and the greatness of his character (vs. 25-27). 4. A worldly man will score a margin for himself, but a spiritual man can always afford to do more than is exacted of him. 4. He was respectful. When Saul's servants spoke lightly of the offer made to him he replied, "Seemeth it a light thing to be the king's son-in-law?" (v. 22). 5. He was not the king he should have been; he had treated David most unkindly, but he was the king and as such David would respect him. The true Christian is always courteous and reverential to the aged and to those in authority. VII. Beloved.—"All Israel and Judah loved David" (v. 16). Men like David are sure to have the love of the people. A nation can but look up to and admire such men as Washington, Lincoln and Garfield. God will see that they receive a crown who have borne the cross for him.

Saul's history affords an example of the downward tendency of sin. It is like virulent poison that, commencing at one small spot, rapidly eats its way in and until it consumes the whole body. His first act is one of negative disobedience, his second one of positive disobedience, his third one of rebellion. He begins his animosity against David with a jealous thought; then follows a jealous habit; next an impulsive effort to kill; afterward a deliberate plot to kill. The longer he pursues his purpose the more devilish it becomes. "Jealousy is the rage of a man; therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance" (Prov. 6:34). "A sin is always attended by infinite peril. It cannot become so encysted as to become harmless. Sins hunt in packs. Admit the first and a second comes prowling behind it, and then a third and a fourth, snarling and pushing, until the whole soul, filled by them, has become a veritable wild beast's den." Joseph Parker says: "We are apt to think that Saul did all the mischief and David suffered for it. This is an incomplete view of the case. Saul was the aggressor in the torment. All his peace was destroyed. There was bitterness in his wine; the charm of sleep perished; the bloom of summer had faded; there was a cruel serpent gnawing at his heart. "The way of transgressors is hard" (Prov. 13:15). Better be a martyr than the oppressor. Read Saul's inner life, anger, envy, madness, murder, evil scheming, chagrin, hell."

EXPLORER DEAD.

Erichson Met His Death in a Snow Storm in the North.

Two of His Companions Also Perished—Esquimaux Dying.

Copenhagen, Aug. 10.—Mylius Erichson, the Danish explorer, has met his death in the far north. According to information just received in a telegram to the committee of the Denmark-Greenland expedition Erichson and two of his companions that sailed for Copenhagen with him on June 24th, 1906, to the coast of Greenland, perished in a snow storm. The three men were on an expedition over the ice when disaster overtook them.

The exploring party has mapped out large tracts of unknown land and chartered the entire northeastern coast of Greenland. Erichson and his companions were on an ice flow when they were overtaken by the snow storm. The ice drifted out to sea. The provisions of the explorers soon became exhausted, as they drifted for some days, growing weaker and weaker. Erichson, finally driven back to land the three men did not have sufficient strength to return to the shore. They must have perished on the shore. The Esquimaux who brought in the news of the disaster arrived in a condition, and succumbed immediately after making his report.

THE AIRSHIP.

Emperor William Sends His Regrets to Zeppelin.

Friedrichshafen, Aug. 10.—The King of Wurtemberg called on Count Zeppelin at his hotel here to-day and conveyed to the aeronaut the personal regret of Emperor William over the destruction yesterday of the count's airship at Echterdingen. The Emperor expressed: "I have heard with the deepest regret of the destruction of your balloon in a storm, and I wish you to know of my cordial sympathy in your misfortune. All the more since I and all Germany thought we had every reason to believe you would be successful in your flying machine realization of your splendid epoch-making achievement. Nevertheless, what you have accomplished must be recognized as of the highest order and this must be a comfort to you in this catastrophe."

Zeppelin's history affords an example of the downward tendency of sin. It is like virulent poison that, commencing at one small spot, rapidly eats its way in and until it consumes the whole body. His first act is one of negative disobedience, his second one of positive disobedience, his third one of rebellion. MILKED COW.

Lord Minto's Daughter an Accomplished Dairymaid.

Ottawa, Aug. 10.—Lady Violet Elliott, daughter of Lord Minto, now visiting at Government House, gave a unique demonstration yesterday of her ability to take a useful place on the farm. While visiting a dairy farm at Deschênes yesterday with a Government House party, Earl Grey jokingly remarked to her, "I wonder if you can milk a cow." Lady Violet promptly showed him that she could. The cow was milked, the milk put through the cooling process, and then bottled by the daughter of India's viceroy.

A CRUEL MOTHER.

Sets Fire to Child's Hands to Make It Confess.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 10.—Confessing that she had bound the hands of her four-year-old child with oil-soaked rags and set fire to them, Mrs. Helen Nagy was to-day sentenced to serve three months in the workhouse and pay a fine of $50 and costs. The mother, with a three-week-old baby in her arms, stood in court that she had suspected the older child of stealing the last quarter they had for household expenses, and hunger and desperation had caused her to endeavor to make the child confess by this punishment. Neighbors rescued the child before she was very badly burned.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

The Song of the Hair

There are four verses. Verse 1. Ayer's Hair Vigor stops falling hair. Verse 2. Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the hair grow. Verse 3. Ayer's Hair Vigor cures dandruff. Verse 4. Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the scalp healthy, and keeps it so. It is a regular hair-food; this is the real secret of its wonderful success.

The Grand Trunk Passenger Department are in receipt of a letter from a prominent New Yorker, complimenting the road on their excellent dining car service. He says: "My wife and I left New York on your train at 5:40 p.m. last Monday; yesterday morning we had breakfast on your dining car and everything was so superior—food, cuisine, service and attention—that I think it my duty to compliment the road on this branch of the service."

On Tuesday of last week Mr. Henry Whiting of Brockville, while visiting his daughter at Carthage, N.Y., was stricken with paralysis and died in a few hours. Besides his wife, whose maiden name was Miss Logan, a native of Roxborough, Ont., he is survived by one son, Harvey, of Pinkney, N.Y., and one daughter, Mrs. L. B. Kerr, of Greenbush, and by two brothers, John of Toledo, and William of Barritt's Rapids, and by three sisters, Mrs. J. Chapman, Harlem; Mrs. Lasell, Carthage, N.Y., and Mrs. Nichols.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this, druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation, or falling Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. With in 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by All Dealers.

Abolish The Bar

The report to be presented to the Anglican General Synod, to be held at Ottawa, beginning Sept. 23rd, have been issued with the convening circular. That of the temperance committee is attracting attention. The recommendations are:

"In glancing over the several provinces of the Dominion it is manifest that there is a great consensus of opinion concerning the bar under our present license system, viz., that it is a public menace, and your committee would urge upon the synod that it is the duty of every man to endeavor to further the efforts to abolish the bar."

Several here who knew Carl Lee and family express deep regret at his death.

As we saw a man on his Massey-Harris Binder, we thought it a far more wonderful and useful chariot than ever King Pharaoh owned.

A light green worm (quite hard) has been stripping the maples. Twelve years ago the caterpillar did alarming mischief, and the following winter something happened, for he disappeared the next season, but is now slowly returning.

The Honey Crop

Advices from the provincial centre of the honey industry indicate a short age in the crop that will have a tendency to boost the price at the close of the season. Local apiarists report only about half the yield of a good season.

Mr. M. B. Holmes, Athens, interviewed on this subject, said that while the yield was comparatively small the quality this year was superior. He ships large quantities as well as filling local orders, and those of our readers who wish to obtain a supply should order at once. There has been a great falling off in the number of beekeepers in this section in the last three years, due to various causes, and in consequence, Mr. Holmes finds the local demand at his extensive apiary becoming an increasingly important factor in his business.

Suburban Notes

Mr. T. I. Earl has just adorned his residence, Temperance Lake, with an attractive coat of paint.

Mr. Bennett Cavanagh has a fairly good crop of potatoes.

Dog Astray

His Opinion. "What do you think of trial marriages?" asked the philosopher. "I am against them," replied the emphatic lady.

"Still," chimed in the old bachelor, though nobody had asked for his opinion, "I had understood that all marriages were trials."

Sure Enough Hogs. Mose, the darky cook of a party of surveyors in eastern Texas, was greatly annoyed by the razorback hogs that roamed around the camp. One evening while he was at the spring a particularly ravenous band of these "piny woods rooters" raided the cook tent and ate up everything that was edible and some things that weren't. For several moments after his return from the spring Mose could find no words to express his feelings. "Waal," he finally exclaimed, "de good Lawd shtabtyly knowed his business when he named hawgs 'hawgs'! Dey sho' is hawgs!"

Amenities of the Fair Sex. Mrs. A.—I thought Mrs. C. was a friend of yours. Mrs. B.—And so she is. Mrs. A.—Well, she isn't. She's a hypocrite. Mrs. B.—How do you know that? Mrs. A.—Because she tried to get me to say something mean about you. Mrs. B.—She did? How? Mrs. A.—Why, she asked me to tell her what I really thought of you.

His Qualifications. "He's talking now of becoming an actor." "Why, he hasn't any qualifications, has he?" "Oh, yes; a friend of his died recently and left him a fur lined overcoat and high hat."

Slow Mover. Blobs—See that messenger boy reading the dime novel. He hasn't moved for an hour. Slobbs—What an ideal chess player he would make.—Philadelphia Record.

The Grand Trunk Passenger Department are in receipt of a letter from a prominent New Yorker, complimenting the road on their excellent dining car service. He says: "My wife and I left New York on your train at 5.40 p.m. last Monday; yesterday morning we had breakfast on your dining car and everything was so superior—food, cuisine, service and attention—that I think it my duty to compliment the road on this branch of the service."

On Tuesday of last week Mr Henry Whiting of Brockville, while visiting his daughter at Carthage, N.Y., was stricken with paralysis and died in a few hours. Besides his wife, whose maiden name was Miss Logan, a native of Roxborough, Ont., he is survived by one son, Harvey, of Pinkney, N.Y., and one daughter, Mrs L. B. Kerr, of Greenbush, and by two brothers, John of Toledo, and William of Barritt's Rapids, and by three sisters, Mrs J. Chapman, Harlem; Mrs Lassell, Carthage, N.Y., and Mrs Nichols.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this, druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation, or falling Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. With in 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by All Dealers.

Abolish The Bar

The report to be presented to the Anglican General Synod, to be held at Ottawa, beginning Sept. 23rd, has been issued with the convening circular. That of the temperance committee is attracting attention. The recommendations are:
"In glancing over the several provinces of the Dominion it is manifest that there is a great consensus of opinion concerning the bar under our present license system, viz., that it is a public menace, and your committee would urge upon the synod that it is the duty of every man to endeavor to further the efforts to abolish the bar."

Portland, Feb. 8, 1908

Mr. W. A. Singleton, Crosby, Ont.

Dear Sir—In the winter of 1905 I was laid up with La Grippe and unable to get relief from several other patent medicines. I was convinced by several of my neighbors to try St. Regis Lumbago Cure, and I can thankfully say it was the first thing that gave me immediate relief. Since that time I have never been without it in my house, and cannot speak too highly of it, especially for children, as it will break up a cold at once. I have also found it a sure cure for lame back.

You are at liberty to use my name for reference if you wish to publish it for the benefit of others. I am yours truly,

C. A. VANKOUGHNET.

If your dealer does not keep this medicine kindly send him to order same for you as any sized order will be filled promptly.

First order, freight prepaid.

SOME RAILWAY GHOSTS

MEN ON THE LINE HAVE MANY QUEER SUPERSTITIONS.

Lucky and Unlucky Trains—Uncanny Celebrities on Scotch Express—Engine Said to Be Haunted—Bad Omens For Engineers—Sinister Influence of Human Skull—Kindly Disposed Spooks Who Help.

The recent extraordinary accident on the Great Central Railway, England, in which a whole train was derailed, and several of the coaches smashed to fragments, without a single passenger suffering any serious injury, probably will strengthen the widespread superstition among railwaymen as to there being both lucky and unlucky trains and locomotives.

An uncanny sequence of calamities once befell the old established Scotch express which starts from Euston at 8 p. m. Between August, 1873, and July, 1896, this train—popularly known as the "tourist" was involved in four serious accidents, the first being a collision with a passenger train, followed by loss of life, as well as in several minor mishaps.

Certain engines have sinister reputations, far more so than trains. Not so long ago the Northwestern Railway had a goods locomotive with the reputation of being bewitched. During its early history it earned a bad name by being continually concerned in slight mishaps, and by getting its driver and stoker into trouble for mysterious breakdowns. Then, in 1886, this engine met with an accident, in which the driver was killed. A year later it had another smash, fortunately unaccompanied by loss of life. When retrieved from this second "accident"—which, like the predecessor, was inexplicable—this haunted engine was relegated to the scrapheap; otherwise it would have been impossible to find men to take charge of it again.

Another common belief is that some engines have an insensible thirst for blood. Four years ago the Southwestern had a shunting engine nicknamed the "Destroyer." It ran over four sections trespassing on the line, and on another occasion killed a fireman and the driver of a passenger train. A Great Western engine was notorious for slaying station masters. It killed two successive holders of the office in shunting operations. The third station master, knowing his evil reputation, gave it a wide berth, but at last he grew ashamed of his prejudice, and mounted the footplate for a ride through the yard, fell off and was killed.

There are a few well known superstitions pertaining to the railway. It is unlucky to start a new engine out of the shop on a Friday. It is unlucky to step on to an engine with the right foot, and to go forward to oil from the right-hand side. An engine must be turned on a turntable "with the sun"—i. e., in the same direction as the hands of a clock go around. It is a very bad omen for a driver, should he be so unfortunate as to run over a dog.

Navvies have always possessed the reputation of being superstitious folk. When the Northwestern Co. were constructing a line from Whaley Bridge to Buxton, the foundations of a particular bridge constantly gave way, to the perplexity of the engineers. The cause was attributed to the sinister influence exerted by a human skull, known as "Dickie," which was preserved in a farmhouse near by.

This grim relic, said the villagers, objected to railways. The navvies soon heard of the local tradition, and they declined to repair the bridge until some means could be discovered of appeasing "Dickie." Finally a Lancashire poet expostulated with "Dickie" in rhyme, and the skull saw the error of its ways. At any rate, the navvies performed the task over again and this time their work stood firm.

However, it must not be supposed that all railway superstitions are connected with death or disaster. There are kindly disposed railway spooks, as well as bad. For example, a curious story is told of an accident which occurred outside Waterloo Station some years ago. A passenger train was derailed by a light engine, and a collision with a steam train was averted in the nick of time by the timely though mysterious application of the automatic vacuum brake. It is a fact that no one could discover how this brake was applied. So railway men tell back upon the hypothesis that there was a ghost on board the train.

The Khedive's Private Railway.

The Khedive of Egypt has a private railway from his palace at Res-El-Tin in Alexandria to his country residence at Bouharaz, and when he goes from one place to the other he drives the engine himself. The line is ten miles long, and he seems to get keen pleasure out of the excitement of running an engine at full speed. During his last visit to France he rode on the cab with the driver of the express from Calais to Amiens and handled the levers himself.

Other royal personages have sought diversion from cares of state at various times in engine driving. The King of Spain is very expert and fearless as a locomotive engineer. Before his marriage he used to ride on the footplate of the royal train with the driver and take lessons in managing the engine.

Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria is another royal engine driver. Recently he drove the express from Abbeville to Paris under the superintendence of the engineer.

The Marquis of Downshire vies with royalty in following this pursuit. He has a private railway at Hillsborough and an engine which he drives himself at a speed of forty miles an hour.

Ancient "Dogtongues."

Preserved in the cathedral of Bangor, Wales, is a pair of old "dogtongues," which were used for ejecting quarrelsome dogs from church during service. A similar pair is preserved at Llanynnos, Wales, and bears numerous teeth-marks.

WORLD'S OSTRICH SUPPLY.

Removing the Feathers is Not a Painful Operation.

The world's total supply of ostriches is now said to be about 300,000 birds. All but 20,000 of these are in Africa, the native country of the biggest birds.

The stock is not decreasing, for it is one of the good fortunes of the ostrich that to take his feathers does not cause his death. The feathers would drop off themselves if not removed, and there is nothing painful about the latter operation, though the vanity of the bird at being robbed of its chief ornament makes him resent the process.

The ostrich is too valuable a bird to be allowed to die, and the feathers are worth $300 per pair, and each one will produce some $50 worth of feathers every year. Hence it will be seen that the owner has the strongest motives of self-interest to take care of the birds. The feathers are never plucked till they are ripe.

But the feather and its cost depend more on its width, and the length and thickness of its fine or strands than on the length of its quill.

To some extent every feather is made of the handwork of the bird, identified with two additional feathers underneath, making three layers in all, and five or six layers are sometimes needed to get the tip the very thick, luxuriant effect so much admired.

A single ostrich feather is very scant and slim, indeed, and no worker would look twice at one. Preparing the feather is everything.

From first to last an ostrich feather passes through nearly 100 different hands before being delivered to the miller.

African merchants estimate that the industry brings into Africa every year some $15,000,000, hence it is hardly to be wondered at that they oppose shipping of the birds to the parts of the United States. In fact when the first experiment was made by an Englishman in California, he had to pay as high as $1,200 a pair for his birds.

Along the Salt River Valley in Arizona, the development of the ostrich industry is steadily progressing. The average compare favorably with those shipped from Africa. The stock is probably not as fancy as some of the special brought out by the more experienced breeders of South Africa, but the size of the ostrich is increasing and the health is all that could be desired.

Ostriches need a hot, dry climate, and alfalfa is the best food, though the big fellow is not particular, and will eat most anything. Indeed the humorists say that he enjoys nothing better than a hearty diet of stones.

"Hecla" Furnace

Means Perfect Heating without Gas, Dust or Smoke.

The "Hecla" Furnace is the only Furnace with Fused Joints.

These Joints are made by fusing the steel and cast iron parts together at white heat making an indestructible joint. Fused Joints are permanently airtight. Even after 20 years' use they will not work loose or leak. They insure absolute freedom from dust, smoke and gas.

The Steel-Ribbed Fire Pot used on the "Hecla" Furnace has three times as much radiating surface as any other style of fire pot. It will save fuel for you and give you more heat. It extracts from the fire, heat that would otherwise go up the chimney.

Let us show you the 1908 "Hecla" and explain all the latest improvements in detail.

THE FINE ART OF DIVING

Diving is a sport which is taking up much of the time of American swimmers nowadays and in which they have made great advances during the last three or four years.

The graceful and spectacular work of the few metropolitan divers upon this occasion, chief among whom were Thos. O'Callaghan, Walter Lee and Fred Wenck, caught the fancy of the spectators and diving was an established feature upon each programme of swimming events thereafter.

Rules were then adopted by the A. A. U. to govern diving contests, defining the standard dives, and now this branch of sport is as firmly established as if it had been followed for years.

The regulation dives altogether number five—the plain front, the plain back, the front jackknife, the back jackknife and the one and a half dive.

The front jackknife is executed by jumping a few feet in the air, turning sharply and descending so that the feet enter the water not more than six feet beyond the edge of the platform.

The last of the regulation dives, the one and a half, is the most difficult, and few even of the most expert divers often succeed in performing it perfectly.

It is on this point that arises the difference between the diving experts of American and those of the continental countries. Americans hold that the very essence of the dive rests upon a clean entrance, head first, with the least possible disturbance of the water.

The American performers followed with a great deal less fuss and even grace, jumped far into the air and entered the water head first, at times with such skill as scarcely to cause a ripple.

Knicker—It is a completely equipped house. Book—Yes, it has a cyclone cellar, food roof and a campaign porch.

The highest yield of any one cow was 1,030 pounds of milk testing 3.50. The poorest herd was one of 13 cows that averaged only 392 pounds of milk and 16 pounds of fat.

At Warsaw, Ont., in June, 118 cows gave an average yield of 929 pounds of milk, 3.2 test, 29.9 pounds of fat. The best herd average was 1,042 pounds of milk, 3.23 pounds of fat from a herd of 26 cows.

THE HISTORY OF ORIGIN AND DEVELOPMENT OF THE PAPER INDUSTRY

BRIGHT SIDE OF FERNIE FIRE.

Heroism of Train Men Who Saved Train Load of People.

Old Lady Gave Up Chance of Escape to Three Children.

Extent of the Disaster—Lots of Help Being Tendered.

Winnipeg despatch: Capt. Partington of the Rocky Mountain Rangers reached Winnipeg to-day after passing through the great fire in the Crow's Nest Pass, and brings a most interesting account of his thrilling experience. He says: "The fire made a complete sweep and experiences were more terrible than can ever be imagined by those who were not actual witnesses of the scene. People may talk of heroism in war and life-saving generally, but probably never before in the history of this country, and the continent, for that matter, was there more displayed than in connection with this awful conflagration. Voluntes would be required to describe individual instances. I cannot do more than refer to a few of these."

"Railway men certainly did noble work, taking great personal risks. The engineer and fireman of the Great Northern train were heroes, and the same may be said of other bands on this train. I do not know the names of any of them. We will never know how many lives they saved. At the risk of their lives—and they certainly faced death in its most horrible form—they saved a train load of people, and it was a miracle. Not only were the cars packed with their human freight, like sardines in a box, but clinging to cars in every possible point where a foothold could be secured were men, desperate in their efforts to save their lives, as the train passed through avenue after avenue of burning timbers in heat so terrific that they could scarcely bear it or keep their foothold. It is said that some went insane and were destroyed. I cannot say anything as to this, but it is reasonable to believe that the report is true, as many were severely burned on their arrival at the place of safety."

"This train load of people were saved just in the nick of time. Five minutes later and all would have been lost. As it was, how the train passed safely over the rails twisted by heat and burning bridges almost appears to have been miraculous. "I could relate many pathetic stories of the fire. One lady tried to save herself to be assisted. "I am eighty years of age," she said; "there are three children behind me; save them first." Her advice was taken and she evidently perished, as she was not seen again by her would-be rescuers."

"The spirit of the people in such a calamity was, to my mind, remarkable. I had often heard of the display of selflessness in cases of danger at sea, but there was no such demonstration there. "One woman sat in the water, stood in the water of the Elk River from the time the fire became dangerous about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, until 6 o'clock in the morning, until she was rescued. Many women and children slept on sand bars, beside the water of the river, dipping in occasionally to soak their clothing and so protect themselves from the intense heat. "Another case I heard of was of a young married couple. They were escaping from their new home when the husband suddenly remembered something they would need to take with them. The young man went back to the article, but so quickly did the fire travel that before he could leave the house it was enveloped in flames and he never came out."

FERNIE RELIEF SYSTEM.

Erection of Shelters the Most Pressing Work.

Fernie despatch: The question of giving necessary relief to thousands of homeless men and women continues the principal concern of Fernie. Money and supplies have flowed in from all parts of Canada and several points in the United States, but more is needed. Total cash contributions so far amount to $47,638. In addition there are offers of large amounts from two or three cities, made up in cash and supplies. The generosity of the people in the large cities and towns of the Dominion has been in evidence since the news of the disaster went out, and this applies particularly to the western communities. Merchandise, including provisions, flour, bread, fruit, clothing and such, has been coming in every day, and more is on the way. Practically all western Canada is covered in the list of communities making contributions. Cities and towns farther east asked what form their assistance should take, and the reply has been sent that cash would be most acceptable.

The procedure is to devote the money as far as possible to assisting the people in establishing roofs over their heads as the first step in securing new homes. Goods are distributed as fast as they arrive, and several carloads have already been absorbed. Every applicant is required to show he is in need, and it is a subject for congratulation that very little imposition has been practised. Most of the stiff has gone where needed, and there have been no complaints of anyone having been overlooked. With the weather as warm as it is now little concern is felt about clothing, and etables have the first call. The women and children are beginning to come back now, which means that bedding and other sleeping accommodation must be provided. It is likely that until homes have been erected for the majority of the working population women and children will not be encouraged in the desire to return. Nearly all those who were sent away during the fire excitement were directed to Cranbrook, and that hospitable town has done wonders in looking after them. If they can be kept out of the way for a short time longer the work of restoring the town will likely proceed more smoothly.

Work of Rebuilding.

Hundreds of workmen have been busy to-day clearing away the wreckage and preparing the ground for re-building. This is particularly noticeable in the business section, where merchants and others are determined to lose no time in resuming operations. The Canadian Pacific has built a large temporary station near the site of the station, and many of the leading concerns have made arrangements to put up structures at once. There are nearly 200 tents in various parts serving as homes, stores or offices. The relief department has moved from the Coal Company's offices and grounds to the school property, where temporary buildings have been erected. Relief work is expected to continue for two or three months yet, but the heaviest part will be over by the end of August. One satisfactory feature of life in Fernie since the fire has been the preservation of excellent order. There has been little or no trouble, and with a mixed population this means a great deal. One reason, of course, has been the fact that every citizen has taken an active part in the work of overcoming the difficulties which followed the disaster. With more than two hundred energetic men directing their whole attention to distributing relief it is scarcely a matter for surprise that great results have been accomplished.

Prohibition Enforced.

Another factor in the maintenance of order has been the introduction of a drastic prohibitory law. The city soon after the fire occurred passed an ordinance cancelling all the liquor licenses and interdicting the importation of alcohol. The entire stock in Fernie was destroyed by fire, and for five days the citizens have gone dry. Nothing shows that anyone has suffered. On the contrary, the work of restoring the city has proceeded without interruption of any kind, and the citizens who discuss the situation agree that the prohibitory ordinance has been a good thing.

Carpenters Want Big Pay.

There is a likelihood of trouble from the union carpenters, who are about to reap a harvest. They have demanded a scale of fifty cents per hour, with an eight-hour day, time and a half for overtime, and double time for Sundays. They also demand that every man who works on the erection of buildings shall join the union, the fee for which is $25. Many men who are constructing their own buildings look upon these terms as too steep, and declare they will not pay them. There is a movement on foot to deport any man who will not work, but the more moderate method is to ask for two weeks' time, during which the carpenters must work at normal wages. In this period it is hoped to erect enough shacks to furnish homes for the majority of those who require them.

The carpenters are meeting to-night to discuss the situation. If they insist on the terms which they have asked there will be an opening for plenty of outside carpenters.

Frankly Charred Bodies.

A Frank, Alberta, despatch: The spot which marked the beautiful little city of Fernie is now a desolate waste, and the order which the citizens' organization has brought from the chaos of the past few days but emphasizes the calamity. The systematic search which is now being carried on is steadily swelling the death list. Thirty charred and unrecognizable bodies are being recovered from the ruins, and it is feared further search will augment this materially. Mayor "Bill" Tuttle is the hero of the hour, and his effectual organization of committees for all branches of necessary work is generally clearing the remains of the city of refuse. Half, or perhaps more, of the carcasses of buried animals were cremated to-day.

Assistance in all forms continues to flow in, and while credit cannot be given to all the people are unspcakably grateful. Too much cannot be said for the officers and men in running their trains into the jaws of death to rescue people from the doomed city. Instances of personal bravery which will never be known to the world could be told of the crews of both roads, but no names are obtainable.

While the death list is somewhat reduced from the first reports, the property loss is almost complete. Six per cent. is a conservative estimate of the property remaining, and where there were formerly more than eleven hundred buildings and residences now there is only one business block.

Mr. Lindsay's Report.

The following message was received in Toronto yesterday from the President of the Crow's Nest Coal Company: "Fire area is about thirty miles long and from two to ten wide, and still burning in many places at the outskirts, but Michel is safe, except in case of high wind, and may be even then. Hosmer is quite safe, and Coal Creek may be said to be almost certainly safe. "About fifteen hundred women and children from Michel are at Frank, but beginning to come back. About thirty-five hundred women and children from Fernie are at Cranbrook, Elko, Nelson and other points, but are beginning to come back. No further danger at Fernie. Sixteen bodies recovered up to date. Ford, one of our miners, his wife and two children found in a well at West Fernie. An old lady found in Fernie annex. "Bound two women dead in Fernie proper. Several lumbermen on the C. N. R. were found dead north of the town and two on the C. P. R. It is not improbable that there are more deaths in the woods, as some men are missing there, but not likely any more from the mines or city. "Plenty of food coming in, and most of the people now under canvas. All will be by to-night. Few are without blankets, and there is plenty of food. Nobody need be apprehensive about loss of friends or relatives. Children have got separated from their parents, but are getting together as quickly as possible. The generosity of the outside world has been splendid, and is quickly placing all here beyond the point of anxiety.

"The loss of the Crow's Nest Pass Company, owning mines at Coal Creek and Michel, will be $200,000; the C. P. R. will lose $300,000; the Great Northern Railway will lose about $250,000, and the lumber companies not less than a million. The loss of timber to the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company will be not less than a million. "The loss to the City of Fernie will be not less than two millions. "G. G. S. Lindsey."

King Expresses Sympathy.

Ottawa despatch: Earl Grey has received the following cables of sympathy for the fire sufferers in British Columbia: "London, Aug. 7.—His Majesty the King has learned with deep regret of the devastation and loss of life caused by the fire in British Columbia. I am commanded to express His Majesty's heartfelt sympathy with the bereaved and the homeless, and his earnest hope that the danger is now past. "(Signed) Crew."

A Sydney despatch: On behalf of the people of Australia, I desire to offer the deepest sympathy with the bereaved and sufferers from the disastrous fire. "(Signed) Northcote."

GOT $15,000.

Death of Old Lady Who Was in a Lucky Compact.

St. Louis, Aug. 10.—Mrs. Margaret Castens, 94 years old, who received $15,000 three years ago as the result of a unique compact entered into by fifteen girls in a German convent school more than seventy years ago, died at the home of her daughter in this city last night.

Seventy years ago Mrs. Castens was a pupil in a convent near Stuttgart, Germany. The girls agreed just before they graduated to pay a certain number of marks a year into a Berlin bank, the entire amount was to go to the last surviving member of the class. Three years ago Mrs. Castens found herself the only one of the class remaining. She wrote to the bank, believing she would receive a few thousand dollars. She received more than $15,000.

G. T. PACIFIC.

Nearly 700 Miles of the Road Built West From Winnipeg.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 10.—Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, Government consulting engineer for the National Transcontinental Railway, reports that in a week or so the Grand Trunk Pacific will be ready to open a regular traffic service from Winnipeg to fifty or sixty miles west of Saskatoon. Some 675 miles of the road are now completed from Winnipeg westward. The road will be completed from Winnipeg to Edmonton by November, and the first 70 miles west of Edmonton will be completed by Christmas. East of Prince Rupert 700 men are now working on the 100 mile stretch now under construction.

MUSIC WAS OBJECTIONABLE.

Italian Fined for Assaulting Man Who Made Protest.

Toronto despatch: The music of Frank Pinto's grind-organ disturbed the quietness of Bartlett avenue last Wednesday, and the doctor attending Mrs. Robert Mackay, who was ill, said the din would have to be stopped. Mackay went out and told the Italian that he would have to move away, but the vendor of music did not think that "Love Me and the World is Mine" disturbed anyone. He moved his hurdy-hurdy across the street and continued the performance. Mackay came out the second time, and caught Pinto by the arm. The Italian took a metal hammer from the front box of the organ and struck Mackay over the head. Miss Pinto assisted in the assault by using her cash-box. Mackay threw Pinto down, but before doing so he had received a bad cut on the forehead. Magistrate Denison fined Pinto $5 and costs or 30 days.

DEATH NOTICE FOR DOGS.

Announces Demise of Little Anna, Sweet and Lovely Companion.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—The loss of little Anna, a toy-poodle Boston terrier, which had been the winner of many first prizes in dog shows in various parts of the country, has so affected Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thomas, 3029 Michigan avenue, the owners of the animal, that they have been unable to sleep or eat regularly since the death of the canine July 20th.

Yesterday Mr. Thomas placed the following advertisement in The Tribune to inform the public and the friends of the dog of his death: "LITTLE ANNA, ONE OF THE MOST beautiful Boston terriers in the country, died of heart failure Sunday evening, July 26th, 1908. She was a sweet mannered and lovely companion. Her master is deeply grieved at his loss. Many offers made for her. She was priceless and not for sale."

SEEKS PARIS GREEN FIELDS.

Man Says, "I Can Be No Hotter Wherever I go!"

Waterbury, Conn., Aug. 10.—Leaving a note in which he said, "I am not afraid to die, because I can be no hotter wherever I go," Clayton Marsh, thirty years old, laid down his reins while driving a hay wagon in Teryville township this afternoon and took Paris green. The horses ran a mile before they were stopped. Clayton was taken before the Medical Examiner's deputy and became violently nauseated. His sweetheart, Eva Anderson, a Woodcot dairymaid, ran excited into his arms when he recovered, and now they are to be wedded Sunday, with music, song and a clam-bake to sixty friends.

IMPORTING WORKMEN.

Three Hundred Workers in Winnipeg C. P. R. Shops.

Western Trains Were All Very Late Yesterday.

Men Are Nearly All Out in Maritime Provinces.

A Winnipeg despatch: The striking machinists of the C. P. R. are conducting the strike in a quiet and orderly manner, absolutely devoid of any demonstration against the company. Passive picketing was instituted this morning, when about seventy men were detailed to watch the shops in the interest of the unions. This action was taken after it was learned that the company was putting strike-breakers to work, rumor having it that three carloads had been brought in from the south. There are 300 men now in the roundhouse, the majority of whom are said to have come from Chicago.

There is still a persistent rumor that the trainmen, that is, the switch crews, brakemen and baggage-men and part of the conductors, will strike on Saturday. McVeigh denied this, but other members of the committee and strikers declared that such assurances are in their possession. McVeigh is unwilling to make a statement as to the strike pay of $5 to $6 per day in hand, but said the unions were in good condition for the struggle. He stated that the headquarters of the strike were necessarily at Montreal, and that each point had its local committee as at Winnipeg. The company were employing a number of Japs in all the western shops, but these were not mechanics, and could not be classed as such.

The C. P. R. officials continue their policy of silence, but one of them incidentally pointed out that reports of a sympathetic strike of the Federation of Operating Employees was idle talk unless an ironclad agreement is violated. He also pointed out that the apparent in the running of the passenger trains to-day, all of which are very late and continue to lose time at divisional points for lack of inspection.

North Bay Situation.

A North Bay despatch: From conversation with prominent members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Firemen and Trainmen there does not seem to be any immediate likelihood of these being ordered to join the strike of the federated trades, although trouble is likely to ensue later if the men are asked to take out locomotives not in repair or repair trainmen consider cars not carefully inspected and cared for. At present there are indications of the strike spreading. The C. P. R. officials here are positive that the fire which destroyed the coal warehouse early this morning was incendiary, the work of strike sympathizers. Four freight-handlers were discharged to-day for refusing to do work formerly performed by the strikers. This action on the part of the company is very unfavorable commented on by railroad men of all departments and has given rise to a keen feeling of resentment.

Down by the Sea.

A St. John, N. B., despatch: The greatest amount of work done on the C. P. R. in this division is at McAdam Junction. All the members of the union there are on strike, about 120 men having quit work. In St. John there are some twenty mechanics employed in the St. John and Bayshore yards. These are members of the McAdam union, and all are out. At Woodstock, St. Stephen and other points the three or four mechanics on duty have struck, and it does not appear that any of this class of men have remained on duty. All are out.

At Brownville Junction a dozen men are idle, and all told about two hundred men are out. In the winter time some 1,400 men are employed on this division in the mechanical department, but in summer the number is reduced to the minimum. Car Foreman Woods is on duty inspecting the cars. The company says they have ample rolling stock in this section, and do not expect any serious trouble, unless the strike is long drawn out.

Ran Engine Into Pit.

Kenora despatch: This morning at 11:45 a locomotive was run into the turntable pit here, and it is claimed that the act was done by one of the striking shopmen. A hoister had brought a locomotive out of the shop and it had been turned over to the engine crew, who had placed it on a siding in readiness to take out an eastbound train. While the engine was absent for a few minutes in the shops, getting something which he had forgotten, someone sneaked up to the engine and opened the throttle. The siding leading to the turntable was open and the engine ran into the pit. The damage was only slight.

Quietly Settling Down.

Montreal despatch: Both sides have been quietly settling down for a steady fight to-day in the strike of the C. P. R. mechanical unions. The strikers have done nothing during the day, though the leaders have been conferring with Mr. Bell Hardy, the union chairman, who is in charge of the strike, while pickets have been watching the various entrances to the Angus shops, and doing what they could to persuade other employees of the car department to join their ranks. The main features of the day were that a number of the strikers have already applied for reinstatement, while a large number of idle men have also asked for work. At the same time the C. P. R. has been looking abroad for men to take the places of the strikers, and has received assurances by wire from various agents that they could be supplied with all the mechanics and roundhousemen they needed. It is not expected that the strike will interfere in any way with the handling of the western crops, even though it should last until the wheat starts to move, which is not expected. The western wheat will not start to reach the railroad in any volume for five or six weeks yet, and the C. P. R. has been making steady preparations for handling it. It is estimated that the crop will require about sixteen thousand box cars, and of these there are already fifteen thousand in the west, with a corresponding supply of engines. The rest will be sent on as freight offers and kept in the west until they are required. Under these circumstances it is not thought that the strike can affect the handling of the wheat, no matter how long it lasts.

Mr. Bell Hardy stated to-night that he was well pleased with the way in which the men had responded to the strike call so far. According to his information practically all the union men had gone out, while during the day a number of other non-union men and employees of the car shops had also followed suit, so that the strike, in his opinion, had proved more extensive than was at first anticipated. Mr. Hardy stated that so far as he knew none of the strikers had applied for reinstatement, and all were prepared to play out until a final settlement was reached. So far as the Canadian Pacific is concerned it is still pursuing its policy of masterly inactivity. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy when asked to-day what effect the strike would have upon the handling of the western crops merely reiterated his statement that the C. P. R. had nothing to say regarding the strike.

Support From Vancouver.

Vancouver, B.C., despatch: At a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council this evening a delegate from the Machinists' Union, speaking of the C. P. R. strike, stated it was reported that Mr. Bury, of Winnipeg, had recently visited the labor organizations inside of five years. The Council agreed to support the strikers in every way possible.

TWO MEN KILLED.

Crushed Beneath Cement Drain—Pinned by the Legs.

New York, Aug. 10.—Crushed beneath a heavy cement drain which had fallen upon them while they were at work in the yard of the St. John's Orphan Asylum in Brooklyn to-day, Thomas Roche and John McLaughlin were instantly killed, and Charles Timony was injured, probably fatally. The men were digging beneath the floor of the drain to deepen it. Timony was held fast by the great weight upon his legs, and surgeons from the hospitals gave him stimulants to keep him alive while the members of a city fire company dug frantically to release him. He was conscious while the rescue work was going on.

A NEW IDEA.

IMPERIAL GEOGRAPHY TO BE INTRODUCED IN SCHOOLS.

Mr. A. Hugh Fisher Has Come to Canada for the Purpose of Preparing Illustrations and Descriptions for the New Lessons.

Ottawa, Aug. 10.—The imperial movement, started some years ago by representatives of the Colonial and Indian Office to introduce into the schools of the empire a system of elaborately illustrated geography lessons dealing with various parts of His Majesty's dominions, has now reached Canada. The committee which was formed, with Lord Meath as chairman, and which has the active support of the Colonial Office authorities, chose two years ago Mr. A. Hugh Fisher, a distinguished London artist, to take charge of the preparation of an elaborate series of lantern slides, photographs, etc., illustrative of the geographical, social and commercial features of all the component parts of the empire.

These are to be published under the supervision of the central committee, of which Mr. H. J. MacKinder, a prominent British educationist, is chairman, and sold at the bare cost of reproduction to the schools of the empire. Mr. Fisher, after spending a year in India, where he has prepared a splendid collection of color sketches, photographs, etc., has now come to Canada to continue the work. During the past week he has been in the capital consulting with Mr. MacKinder, who is now on a visit to Canada.

The plan of campaign for the preparation of a most comprehensive series of Canadian pictures has been mapped out, and Mr. Fisher is now going to the west to portray for the benefit of the school children of the British Isles and other parts of the empire a graphic series of geography lessons on the resources, physical features and general characteristics of the "granary of the empire." In the autumn he will return east and continue his sketches in eastern Canada.

To illustrate the views a series of lectures is being prepared by Mr. MacKinder. Lantern slides and the accompanying lectures descriptive of the mother country will soon be published for distribution among the schools of Canada and the other colonies.

A fund of $20,000 has been raised by private subscription, headed by the Princess of Wales, to cover the preliminary cost of publication.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

G. Z. Johnson Committed for Trial at Kenora.

Kenora despatch: G. Z. Johnson, the man who on Tuesday, July 28th, so brutally inflicted such injuries on Mrs. Ackerman, who died a few days later, appeared in the Police Court to-day and was committed for trial for murder. Mrs. Humphreys, his other victim, who has since been lying in the hospital in a serious condition, is beginning to show signs of improvement, and it is now expected that she will recover. The other persons hurt in Johnson's onslaught, namely, Mrs. Wolesey, Arthur Jarvis and James Humphreys, are slowly recovering from their injuries.

AUCKLAND NOW READY

To Entertain the Members of the U. S. Squadron.

Auckland, N.Z., Aug. 10, 10 a. m.—The supply ship Culgoa, attached to the U. S. Atlantic fleet, from Honolulu, July 21, arrived here to-night. She received the following wireless communication from the fleet: "Yesterday and to-day (Aug. 6 and 7) there was a fresh breeze to moderate gale, with a rough sea. This morning the weather was the heaviest encountered since leaving Hampton Roads. The ships are pitching heavily. The spars were knocked down at 8 a. m. We will increase our speed to 11 knots, and expect to reach Auckland on scheduled time. There will be no fleet evolutions to-day on account of the weather. The vessels keep their formation and distance easily. Distance from Auckland, 360 miles."

Already the city of Auckland is ablaze with flags in honor of the fast approaching American fleet, and interest in the visit of the warships is running high. Parliament to-day adjourned for a week in order to enable the members of the two houses to devote themselves to the entertainment of the visitors. Only two members, both Maoris, objected to adjourning. They explained that the Maoris were in no way enthusiastic over the much heralded arrival of the fleet, "because of the attitude of the Americans on the color question." The Premier, Sir Joseph Ward, deprecated such speeches, and declared it was only a handful of extremists who had objected. The welcome to the fleet, the Premier said, would be practically unanimous.

"BOBS" CHEERED.

FIELD MARSHAL LEAVES OTTAWA ON RETURN HOME.

No Formalities Observed—Drove in Auto Without an Escort Along Circuitous Route, Which Was Gaily Decorated—Thousands Saw Him Off.

Ottawa despatch: The citizens of Ottawa gave a splendid send-off to Lord Roberts to-night. The hour of departure had been fixed for 7:30, and long before that time the streets along which the Field Marshal was to pass were crowded with spectators. There were no formalities in connection with the departure of "Bobs." A guard of honor was dispensed with, and there was nothing in the nature of an escort. Three bands were stationed at different points along the route, and played while the crowd waited. His lordship left Rideau Hall at 7 o'clock in Mr. Ned Grant's auto, with him being his daughter, Lady Bileen.

The route taken was by Sussex, Wellington Bank and Sparks streets to the central station. There was a liberal display of bunting, and the cheering all along the route was of a very hearty character. The Municipal Band played "Auld Lang Syne," as Lord Roberts passed the Parliament building. Sparks street was a mass of cheering humanity, and it was with difficulty that Mr. Grant steered his machine through. The arrangements at the station, which were in charge of the Dominion police, were perfect. As the auto with Lord Roberts and Lady Bileen entered the station yard, 3,000 people cheered the veteran soldier to the echo. In the roped enclosure on the platform there were present to say good-bye Lady Sybil Grey, Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier, Sir John and Lady Hanbury-Williams, Lord Leaselles, Major Scott and a score of other distinguished people.

Accompanying Lord Roberts and Lady Bileen on the Empress of Britain tomorrow is Lady Violet Elliott, youngest daughter of the Earl of Conness, Minto. The train pulled out sharp on time. As it started, Sir Wilfrid led the cheering, and once more the earl heard the strains of "Auld Lang Syne." He stood on the rear platform bowing his acknowledgments right and left, and is now being held awaiting action by the Canadian Government.

Marino, the dead man, was generally credited with being the leader of the Black Hand Society in Montreal. He had, it is alleged, collected $200 from Alagna, and it was the latter's refusal to return the money when demanded that brought death to him on the spot. Alagna shot him in the stomach, and then disappeared.

CAUGHT IN ITALY.

Montreal Slayer Sought Refuge in His Native Village.

Montreal, Aug. 10.—A letter received to-day by the parents of Vincenzo Marina, who was shot to death a couple of months ago, tells of the arrest of the alleged murderer, Francisco Alagna, alias Ceccagna, alias Carlo Torto, in his native Galabrian village, Perilizi, on July 20. Through correspondence, the authorities of the town were made aware of the facts of the murder, and when Alagna, who disappeared from Montreal immediately after the murder, made his appearance, he was immediately arrested by the gendarmes, and is now being held awaiting action by the Canadian Government.

DRIVEN CRAZY BY HEAT.

Two Men Committed Suicide at Brooklyn—Many Prostrations.

New York, Aug. 10.—Probably crazed by the heat, Robert Turnbull, formerly a professional pugilist shot and killed himself in his home at Brooklyn to-day. Another suicide attributed to the effect of the heat was that of Morris Lubrisky, who hanged himself from a port pole in his home in Brooklyn to-day. There were a number of heat prostrations to-day, but these were chiefly due to the oppressive humidity.

One week ago 8,000 mechanics on the C.P.R. went on strike. The company is quietly meeting the situation, saying absolutely nothing, and this silence is having a disquieting, depressing effect on the strikers. Unless the other railway unions join in the strike it looks as if a settlement of the trouble might be speedily reached.

The new residential centre that has formed on the estate of the late Wm. Hicks at Charleston Lake has become one of the most attractive parts of that popular resort. A friend of the late William Hicks, who visited the point a few days ago, was greatly impressed with the neat appearance of the cottages and the natural beauty of the surroundings. He thought that the name "Shacktown-on-the-Lake" (which some had sought to apply to it) ill befitted such a beauty spot, and in memory of its founder he suggests the more euphonious name of "Hicksville."

Smith's Falls News: Mrs Fred Scovil of Lake Elvada district who is the guest of Mr and Mrs J. "CAMP HADES" is the rather torrid name given to the camp of Kenneth McClary, Glenn Earl and Roy Parish at Derbyshire's Point. The boys are having a red-hot time and are leading the echo at High Rock a strenuous life. Visitors are given a warm reception. Harold Wiltsie started from Cedar Park to make a descent on the boys' larder, but his agricultural instincts led him to follow a cow-path which, after a toilsome journey, brought him back to the place from which he started. On Sunday Claude McClary and Harold Jacob visited the camp and led in the song service. Corn roast Monday night. On Tuesday evening, Messrs Willson, Davis and Denyes joined the boys in the corn roasts.
