Madam-It's Got to be Blended or You Can't Use it for Pastry as Well as for Bread

All this talk about western wheat flours being "pastry" flours, is just plain talk. Anyone, who knows anything about wheat, knows that western wheat flour cannot, will not and does not, make as good pastry as "BEAVER" FLOUR.

Any flour, which is said to be western wheat flour, and makes extra good pies and cake, will be found to be blended like "Beaver" Flour—whether it is sold as such or not.

A blended flour like "BEAVER" FLOUR is the only one that is equally good for bread and pastry. You will understand WHY.

Manitoba wheat has what the bakers call strength. It makes a big loaf of bread; but the bread is spongy or full of holes and lacks flavor.

Ontario wheat, blended with spring wheat, makes the ideal bread and pastry flour. By combining the two in just the right proportions, we have "Beaver" Flour—a flour that makes the real home-made bread and delicious light pastry.

In cities such as Toronto, where bakers have tried a blended flour, it was found that although a smaller appearing loaf was the result, the people refused the Manitoba flour bread in favor of it—and there is now no other flour used.

"BEAVER" FLOUR

is sold for what it is—a scientifically blended flour—the original blended flour—pure, honest, reliable.

Don't bother with two kinds of flour—don't put up with heavy pastry, or flavorless bread.

Order "Beaver" Flour—at your grocer's.

Dealers—write us for prices on Feed, Coarse Grains and Cereals.

CHAPTER IV.

Ottershaw smiled. He looked so handsome, so kindly, that Elizabeth felt her heart go out to him.

"My mother will only rejoice," he said; "she fell in love with you, Elizabeth. I know when I tell her that you belong to me, it will be a source of great joy to her. But," he added, quickly, "I understand your feelings, dearest, and when I come back from the north, then we will share our secret with her."

When she was alone Elizabeth stood and looked about her, with her hands clasped to her heart.

Slowly but surely the influence of joy died away. The remembrance of terror came back. She sank back, and her face grew pale.

"What have I done?" she asked herself; "how selfish I am! With this dark cloud hanging about me, what right have I to link my life to his? How do I know that the evil that will come to me may not work upon him also? Oh, why was I not stronger, why did I not tell him that I could not listen to love? And yet," was her next thought, "I am foolish—I have not yet proved that Lil, my own dear, childlike Lil, is base. I must be staunch to her till it is proved that Barostan had the right to come to me. Perhaps he was mad last night," Elizabeth mused on, letting courage steal back to her; "his brother's death must have gone hardly with him, poor fellow, and in some curious way he must have associated me with it. But then, again," she paused in this thought, and the light went from her eyes, and the color from her cheeks, "that letter," she whispered to herself—"that letter! Oh! I cannot endure this suspense. I will go to Lil this very day. I will drive there; the air may do me good. At any rate, I shall know no rest till I have seen her; and then, if I find that he was right—what then—what then?"

A groan escaped her lips, and she sat for a minute with her hands pressed to her eyes, then threw back her head and went hurriedly to dress for her journey.

An hour later Elizabeth left the house. For the first time in her life the beauty of the summer was dead to her. She shivered many times, as though the air had been bleak, not fragrant and sun-kissed, and at other times she found her hands so tightly clinched that the pressure was sharp pain.

It was a long drive through the country roads up to the quaint old Ottershaw manor house, and at another time Elizabeth would have been enchanted with the beauty of her surroundings. Now she saw nothing of all this. The remembrance of what was passing in David Barostan's home, of what threatened her own future, lay like a dark shadow upon everything.

As she reached the old-fashioned porch entrance, where the door was flung wide open, a man was just coming down the broad staircase. Elizabeth recognized him. It was a certain well-known physician, a friend of Sir Henry's, and a man who, she knew, had been attending Lillian's husband of late.

"Is anything the matter? Is Henry ill?" she asked him, as they exchanged greetings.

"Temporarily," answered Dr. Harlowe. "He drove out with Lady Garland in the phaeton this morning. The horses, it seems, took fright, and Garland overstrained himself and brought on trouble in the old wound, and is in a rather bad way. Of course your sister was greatly alarmed and sent a telegram for me. I came down at once. I am afraid this will knock their travelling on the head, for a time at least. I am very glad you have come, Miss Forsyth. I suppose they sent for you, too," added Dr. Harlowe. "But I fear you have upset yourself. You are looking pale."

"I am a little tired," said

Elizabeth; "it has been so warm to-day."

Dr. Harlowe chatted on easily.

He had sent a message by a manservant to announce to Lady Garland that Miss Forsyth had come.

"Your sister is lying down," he said. "She was inclined to be very hysterical just now, so I took upon myself to send her out of Garland's room. It is so necessary that he should be kept quiet, perfectly quiet." He held out his hand and said goodbye as he spoke.

Elizabeth's heart, that had been heavy enough before, sank a little more as he left her, and at that moment a message came for her to go to Lillian's room.

Her thought came back to her with a rush to the task that lay before her as she followed the servant up the wide oaken staircase to her sister's room.

At the door of Lady Garland's room Miss Forsyth was received by a maid, who showed her into a wide, spacious room and closed the door.

Lillian was crouched on a chair close to one of the open windows. She wore one of the prettiest of her trousseau tea gowns, her soft yellow hair hung loosely upon her shoulders. Her lips trembled and tears rushed from her eyes as she saw Elizabeth.

It was about the only time that Lil was honestly glad to see her sister.

"Oh, Beth, Beth!" she said. "I am so glad you have come! Is it not dreadful? I thought Henry was going to die! I—I have had such a shock—I—I feel so ill—"

Had she been less moved, less troubled, less sorrowful, Elizabeth could have smiled.

The personal note was so true, so natural.

But she did not smile; instead, she shivered slightly as Lillian came up to her and nestled closely against her.

"Dr. Harlowe says my nerves are all shaken. He gave me some anodyne. It made me sleep a little, but—I—I am not a bit better. Just feel how cold my hands are."

The cold that she complained of passed into Elizabeth's heart, and a sense of absolute hopelessness pressed upon her. How was it possible to execute her task in such circumstances? How expect this trembling, self-concentrated little creature to stand forward and share with her in what would come?

Unconsciously she fell back into her old ways, and ministered to Lillian.

She led the girl back to the chair and pinned up all that mass of fair hair.

"You must not agitate yourself," she said. "Remember, it is not you who are ill, but Henry, and he will have need of you."

Lady Garland shivered.

"I cannot go to him, Beth," she said. "I looked into his room just now, and oh, oh! it was dreadful. There is a nurse there already, and Henry is lying so stiffly and straightly in bed, just like an image. They have strapped him up, and will not let him move! Just fancy! I do think it is awfully unlucky! I thought I was going to have such a lovely time! And now Dr. Harlowe says we shall have to stay here for weeks and weeks! I don't know what I shall do with myself."

Elizabeth had drawn back, and had sat down in a chair a little way from her sister. Her eyes travelled with hardly conscious pleasure over the charming room. It was dainty and fresh, a typical old-world apartment.

In her imagination, Elizabeth could see some delicately-faced, picturesque-robed figure moving on the polished floor and standing amid the old-fashioned furniture. Lillian made a modern note, pretty, yet unsympathetic.

Elizabeth came back to the reality of things again as her sister went on speaking.

"Of course I am very sorry for Henry," she said, fretfully, "and I was very good to him, too. You should ask Charles, the groom. Why, I held Henry in my arms quite a long time, although I really thought he was dying!"

There was a prolonged pause. All at once Lillian turned and looked at her sister.

"Did somebody send you a telegram?" she asked.

Elizabeth grew a shade paler as she shook her head.

Lady Garland twisted herself in the chair.

"Then how did you know?" she asked. "Why—why did you come?" And then Lil gave a little start, and her cheeks became scarlet. She clinched her little hands together.

"I hope," she said, and her voice was hard. "I hope you have not come to worry me about anything else, Beth, I am sure I am not in a condition to hear anything annoying."

Elizabeth arose.

"Why do you anticipate anything annoying?" she asked in a very low voice.

She left her seat and walked to the window, where she faced Lillian.

Lady Garland tossed herself about.

"I know you so well," she said, fretfully; "I can see by your face that you have something disagreeable to say—that—that something has gone wrong, or why should you come here? Of course I thought at first that Henry had asked them to send for you."

Elizabeth stood and looked out over the sunlit gardens. Away in the distance some

The choicest cocoa beans from the tropics are used for Lowney's Cocoa. We could buy beans at much lower prices. They would make a very fair cocoa—but not Lowney's.

The beans are thoroughly cleaned. After cleaning comes the roasting. Cocoa beans from different localities are roasted in separate roasters. The roasting is carefully timed to bring out the full richness of the flavor.

The beans then go through a cracker and fanner to remove the shells. The product of this process is called "Cocoa Nibs."

Next comes the blend. The rich flavor of Lowney's Cocoa is largely attributable to skill and experience in blending cocoa beans from different localities.

The blended cocoa nibs are then ground into a semi-liquid.

Cocoa beans have a natural excess of cocoa butter. The excess butter is removed by a hydraulic process.

The cocoa, now dry, is ground again to a fine powder and sifted through silk to insure the proper fineness. The sifted powder is then packed in tins.

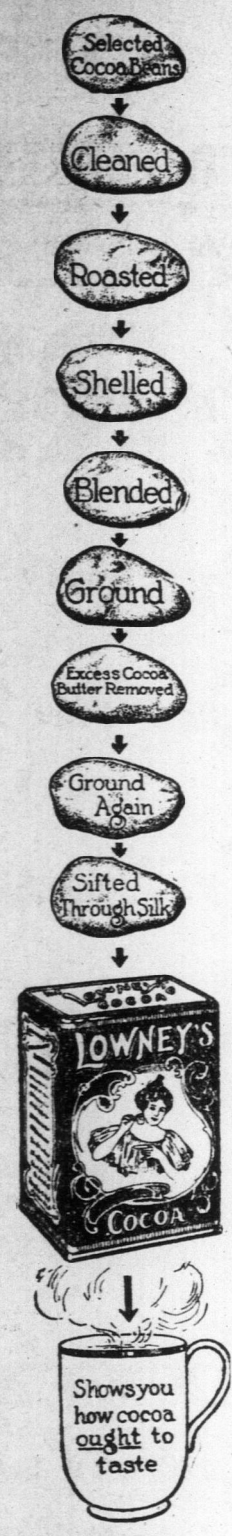

Each package, with the Lowney label, contains a blend of the world's choicest cocoa beans, thoroughly cleaned, skillfully roasted, relieved of excess cocoa butter and ground to a fine powder, which, in boiling, yields its full, rich flavor. It gives a beverage which, as we say, "shows you how cocoa ought to taste."

Our Montreal factory is in keeping with the cocoa it produces—a model for the cocoa business.

Schoolgirl's Exhausted Nerves

Headaches, Dizzy Spells and Weakness Overcome by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

At about the age that most girls are working hardest at school studying for examinations there are important physiological changes taking place which are an additional strain on the nervous system.

Mrs. J. A. Gallop, 135 Victoria Street, St. John, N.B., whose husband is a carpenter, states:—"We have family for nervousness, headaches, dizziness and nervous dyspepsia, and have found them satisfactory in every particular. My daughter, Beente, was going to school, and became quite run down in health. By the time she had used three boxes of this remedy her health was excellent and she was completely free from headaches and dizzy spells. We are more than pleased with the results of this treatment. More recently we used the Nerve Food for my granddaughter, who was out of school for nearly a year from nervous trouble, and noticed improvement in her condition at once." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c. a box, $ for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

in a dreamy way, Elizabeth could imagine some courtly figure passing through this quaint, well-kept pleasure. Suddenly she turned.

"Lil, dear," she said, "why did you never tell me that you knew Basil Barostan?"

For one instant it seemed as if the freshness in Lady Garland's face withered—that she shrank visibly and almost covered in her chair was certain; but she mastered her fear immediately, and laughed in a shrill fashion.

"Why should I have told you?" "Then you do not deny that you have known him, met him, encouraged him, and written to him?"

Lady Garland bounced up with a flourish.

"Oh, dear!" she said, in a hesitating way, "how miserable I am! Why do you want to come and cross-examine me like this—and at such a time? You are very inconsiderate, very unkind, Beth."

"Am I?" said Elizabeth. She stood with her head against the window and closed her eyes. There came before her once more at this moment the vision of David Barostan's face; she looked once again into his fierce, miserable, menacing eyes, and she shivered.

Lil looked at her furtively, nervously. In all the years they had been together, she could never remember to have seen her sister with such a drawn, white look.

She became suddenly frightened.

"Beth—do speak!" she said. Then Elizabeth raised her eyes and looked into Lillian's face.

HENRY BLAIR.

People Who Antagonize.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

A woman who had been very successful as one of the subordinates in a window-trimming department was hired away by another shop to head their department. She had been extremely valuable to her first employer because she was so full of original ideas and suggestions. In the second shop she was a complete failure and was soon discharged.

Why? Because, while she knew almost everything there was to know about window-trimming, she didn't know one thing about tact.

She went to her new position bristling with impatience to revolutionize the department. She hadn't been in office an hour before she told a man who had been in the business twice as long as she had that his ideas were all nonsense.

"Undoubtedly she was right in a good many of her criticisms, but little good it did her. She couldn't do all the work herself, she couldn't get her subordinates' co-operation; she simply succeeded in thoroughly antagonizing them, and soon so demoralized the department that it was necessary to let her go and to find someone who might not know so much about window-trimming, but did know something about tact.

How often one sees people like this woman, who are undeniably more competent than their neighbors and who are eager to share their superior intelligence with them, but whose kindness is always ungratefully declined because of their infuriating manner of offering it.

A neighbour of mine is a capable woman of superior intelligence and endowed with a really genuine desire to help her friends by sharing what experience and native intelligence have taught her. If she had a little more tact and a little more respect for other people's opinion she might do a world of good. But as it is she simply sets people by the ears the minute she tries to help them.

She comes to me sometimes and tells me how sad she feels because Mrs. R., who is a young matron, new at the business both of motherhood and home-making, will not profit by some of her experience. "I am so fond of her," she says sadly, "and I really want to help her, but she seems to take pleasure in going contrary to all my advice."

As it happens Mrs. R. also sometimes confides in me, and this is her way of putting it: "She comes in here and tells me that I don't know a thing about babies, and that I make my beds wrong, and I don't hold the broom right, and don't know how to run a sewing machine. Sometimes I know she is right, but she makes me so mad that I wouldn't do her way for anything on earth. So there!"

It is unfortunate to antagonize people when you want to help them, isn't it? But it is what the person who has no respect for other folks' intelligence always does.

The Tongue.

BY H. L. RANN.

The tongue is a small, restless article that is conveyed through which otherwise would evaporate. Some people use their tongues so much that there is no chance of evaporation or for anybody else to get a word in edgeways.

As generally located, the tongue is swung on a pivot in a handy place to catch the currents of thought from the vents of thought, it picks up anything that comes along and converts it into the kind of conversation heard in the smoking apartment.

The tongue is fastened at one end only, and this enables it to vibrate rapidly both pro and con and wiggle in a violent manner when turned loose upon some subject with which it is not familiar. Some of the most rapid gestures made by the human tongue are caused by a surplus of misinformation.

There are two types of tongues—feminine and masculine. On account of its length and tenacity of purpose the feminine tongue is spoken of in terms of severe condemnation by broken-spirited husbands, but it is an out-classed by the ministerial tongue, which can be started at 11.00 a.m. and run right through the Sunday school hour without stopping for oil or water. The masculine tongue is a short, blunt article, used mainly for political purposes, and is seldom dismayed by the facts.

The tongue is useful to man for other purposes than that of speech. It is handy to have during an argument over the back fence, as a woman can express some very soulful thoughts by merely running it out in the direction of a vindictive neighbour. It is also used as an organ of taste, but when it has been burned to a mellow crisp on hot soup it loses all interest in the menu and becomes an innocent onlooker.

The most expensive form of tongue is the opera singer type, which will not move out of its tracks for less than $2,000 per move. The best kind is that which forgets the gossip it hears and refuses to peddle anything but sunshine and good cheer.

WOMAN'S TRIALS.

The burdens a woman has to carry through life are many but they can be lightened if she will turn to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. A soothing and strengthening nerve—subduing nervous excitability, prostration, hysteria, hot flashes and the many symptoms which may be caused by distressing ills peculiar to women. For those "dragging-down" pains or distress and for the derangements and irregularities of the "Favorite Prescription" has had many thousands of testimonials from people living in every part of America. Another important thing to every woman is that this medicine is made from efficient medicinal roots, without the use of alcohol, narcotics, or any injurious agents. Full list of ingredients given on bottle-wrapper and sworn to by Dr. R. V. Pierce—who is President of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Every woman is invited to write to this Institute and receive confidential and sound medical advice, entirely without cost from one who makes the diseases of women his specialty.

"I can cheerfully recommend your remedies, especially your 'Favorite Prescription,' for all female disorders," writes Mrs. M. M. Morrill of Bluff City, Tenn., Route 2. "During the past seven years I suffered from pains in the back and ovaries. Tried many remedies but found only transient relief until I was persuaded by a friend to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After giving this remedy a fair trial I found that it would do just what it is recommended to do. I used in all seven bottles. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Pierce's remedies for all female derangements."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate liver ills.

Fashions and Fads.

All white mourning seems to have come to stay.

White fox is a strong rival to the favorite ermine.

Fans are more in demand than for a long while.

Among veils, leading colors are biscuit and cream.

Some of the new laces have jeweled medallions set in.

There seems to be no end to the rage for corduroy skirts.

Now and then leg-o-mutton sleeves are seen in coats.

Tiny rhinestone buckles are worn and they give good service.

The new low types of Robespierre collars are especial favorites.

Cream and butter shades are favorites among shadow laces.

Paris is giving special favor to yellow tones in dress and millinery.

The newest winter negligees of challis have accordian-pleated skirts.

The black hat continues to be the favorite wear with colored costume.

The new Medici collars usually have vest-like jabots of net or shadow lace.

A pretty combination costume is a bright blue velvet coat with a black dress.

Shades of bright Roman striped ribbon are pretty on blue serge dresses.

One of the new hats is the Queen Victoria—a small oblong hat with low crown.

In Paris they are wearing short coats of fur over draped velvet or moire skirts.

Plain black velvet with a satin and very supple is much used for smart gowns.

Lovely opera hoods are made of shirred white chiffon edged with swan's down.

Some of the new blanket bath robes are slashed at the sides like a Chinese coat.

The fine plain nets continue to be used for gumpies, almost to the exclusion of other sorts.

Many of the sleeves on evening gowns are nothing but bands or strings of brilliants.

Among the most luxurious of fur coats are the white ermines, fringed with little black tails.

Tiny edges of fur are seen even on the chiffon blouses. Ermine is a favorite for this use.

Brilliant golden browns, chocolate, mahogany, seal and sable are among the new shades.

The newest bags are of aluminum thread crocheted. Immense seal bags are outlined in ermine.

Black waists are holding their own. Many of them are used with colored suits trimmed with black.

A muff novelty is made of ostrich striped with fur. Ruche pieces to match are made for the neck.

Civet cat with white broadcloth is one of the new combinations. Fur bands on the skirts of such suits.

how much will you have accumulated at your present rate of saving? Most men will have little or nothing saved if conditions are at all similar to those of to-day.

Every prominent young man appreciates the wisdom of accumulating for his own benefit at least, and looks forward to an old age of comfort and enjoyment relieved from want and worry. And every thoughtful man endowed with manhood feels that a duty rests upon him to make some provision for others dependent upon him.

The safest, simplest and most profitable way to accomplish all this, and to be sure of a snug competency by the year 1932, is by investing in a Canada Life Endowment Policy for $5,000 or $10,000, according to your means and requirements. The policy can be bought on easy instalments and facilities are provided to assist in carrying and enjoying the insurance.

Moose in Newfoundland.

LARGE BULL KILLED BY TRAPPER, WHOM ANIMAL ATTACKED.

On Saturday last a young man named Pierce Francis, a trapper of Gander Bay, went up the Gander River to look after his traps, and when about three or four miles from the mouth of the river he was surprised to see a large moose deer, towards which he walked with the intention of driving it away, a proceeding which he thought he could take with impunity; but in this he made a mistake. When the moose saw him approach, the animal became irate and charged full at the man, who waited until it was within 30 yards of him. This he thought to be quite near enough if he was to avoid being gored to death by its huge antlers, and according to his statement, he was then obliged to shoot it to preserve his life. After the animal fell he took the antlers, head, head skin and carcass to Gander Bay and immediately telegraphed Mr. J. W. Mercer, the Secretary of the Game Board here, saying what he had done and that he was writing particulars. The Board instructed him to proceed to St. John's the first opportunity and to bring the carcass with him. He arrived here in the Fogota Tuesday night and brought all with him, delivering the same at the Game Board Office this morning. He is being dealt with by the Board. This incident goes to prove that the moose are propagating in the country. It is known that there is another of the animals in Gander Bay, as this particular moose has been driving cattle let loose to graze out to the water's edge. The animal killed weighed anywhere from 1,000 to 1,200 lbs. The Game Board have also reports that a number of the tracks of these animals have been seen by survivors in the vicinity of Bear Lake. The man who killed the animal showed his honesty of purpose by disclosing all the facts, though he killed it in the close season, and no doubt this will be a palliation of his infraction of the Game Laws.

INTERESTING LECTURE.—Capt. Saunders lectured last night before a crowded audience in St. Mary's Parish Hall, South Side, on reminiscences of a salvage expert. It was a most interesting address and was intently listened to. Rev. H. Uphill occupied the chair and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the lecturer. Mr. Ira Kennedy will lecture at the same hall shortly.

That Illinois was safely in the Wilson column was indicated early last evening, but California, which has been claimed by the Democrats, after the closing of polls wavered towards the Progressives. The popular vote has been roughly estimated thus far, but indicate combined vote for Roosevelt and Taft will be approximately one million more than the vote for Governor Wilson.

LONDON, To-day.
A Sofia despatch to the Standard says: The Bulgarians have dammed up the river Maritza so that the water is being forced back and flooded the town. It is expected this will compel an early surrender. A Gettenje despatch says: King Nicholas is annoyed at the protracted siege of Scutari, as Montenegro has occupied much less Turkish territory than other allies. It is feared this will have unavoidable effect when the partition of Turkey is made. The King therefore has ordered the commanders of other Montenegrin columns to push forward and occupy as many places as possible before Servians penetrate further west. Another Cetinje despatch says the whole country in grip of winter and the snow is two feet deep and the roads are impassable.

LONDON, To-Day.
The commanders of the Bulgarian invaders are said to have set Sunday next as the day on which they will enter the Turkish capital with their troops and will hold service of thanksgiving in the Mosque at Sofia. The Turkish fortress at Scutari, on the Montenegrin frontier (that Adrianople eastern sphere of operations), is still making a stubborn resistance against the efforts of the besiegers. Military critics who know the country well warn not to expect the early fall of Adrianople, promised by optimistic Bulgarians. The critics point out that the invaders will not get in reach of the line of forts around the city. Defenders of Scutari have successfully assumed offensive and have managed to keep the line open by which they can supply Tarakosch and other Turkish fortresses to supply Scutaria with provisions and ammunition. The antagonism of the Malisjev tribesmen to the Montenegrins is said to have checked the army of Crown Prince Danil, which has made several attacks on Tarakosch.

The rage for old fashioned things is marked, but no man wants to go back to the socks his mother used to knit.

Selling Bogus War Plans.

All Germany is laughing over the exploits of a man named Glitch, who, according to the Mittags Zeitung, has been earning a comfortable livelihood selling fake German war plans to foreign governments.

Although a civilian, Glitch was versed sufficiently in military science to be able, with the aid of ordnance maps and time-tables, to construct a plan of campaign for possible operations on the French frontier that looked like the real article. He sent it to the general staff of the French army with the explanation that it had been purloined from the offices of the German general staff by his cousin who was a German officer. The cousin had to meet a big gambling debt in a few days, and if he couldn't raise the necessary funds he was resolved to commit suicide. By returning to the story goes, Glitch received $10,000 more of the same kind of information. He not only accommodated the French with further plans, but proceeded to work out an elaborate plan for front mobilization against France, Russia and England, which he had the difficulty in selling to agents of the two latter countries.

Nfld. Schooner in Trouble.

Special to Evening Telegram. ST. PIERRE, Mq., Last Night. The Newfoundland schooner Utowana, fish laden, got in a dangerous position off Diamond Point, on the West coast of this Island, this morning. The captain and crew left and came here for a tug, the crew being unwilling to leave the captain alone without a boat. No tugs being available, they took a motor boat to return, other motor boats following. It is thought they could have towed her out. The tug arriving took the schooner in tow to St. Pierre, claiming $100 towage; motors also claim compensation.

Turk European Dominion Ended

London Papers See This in the Rise of The Balkan States. LONDON, Nov. 4.—The Daily News says: "The Turks are going, bag and baggage, at last, and Europe will breathe more freely as a result. The Balkan States will emerge a power henceforth to be reckoned with by Europe." The Daily Mail has the following comment: "Europe will act wisely if it accepts frankly the principle that the Balkan people must be permitted to work out their own salvation and dispose of the territory they have won."

The Daily Express says: "Everywhere the Turk is beaten and in three weeks the Balkan have come into their own." The Morning Post says: "Prompt agreement with the allies might preserve the Turkish empire with its capital at Constantinople and with both shores of the Bosphorus, the Sea of Marmora and the Dardanelles. A continuation of the war will destroy the chance of keeping so much." The Daily Chronicle says: "There is no way out for the Turkey but to surrender." The Times says: "The sword has decided that the Turks can never again fill the great place they have held in Europe for more than five hundred years. The weary problem of the Balkans has been fought over for the last time."

The "Vampire."

In addressing the constituents at Sprowston, Norwich, Sir Robert Price, Liberal Member for East Norfolk, referred to the abuse levelled at Mr. Lloyd George by his opponents, who attributed to him the cause of every class of misfortune, and amid loud laughter, he read the following lines, which a friend of his, Mr. Dundas Pillan, had written and sent to him:—

THE VAMPIRE.
 Who makes rain come down in sheets,
 And fills with noisome mud the streets?
 Who withers cauliflowers and beets?
 Lloyd George!
 Who cause forgeries of cheques,
 And prompts the suffragettes to vex
 Py clinging round policemen's necks?
 Lloyd George!
 Who robs the rich and guls the poor,
 By making all mankind insure?
 Who forces Pat to "take the fure"?
 Lloyd George!
 Who when the airmen soar on high,
 In desperate attempts to fly,
 Dashes them headlong from the sky?
 Lloyd George!
 And when beneath the azure main,
 The submarine to sing in vain,
 Who stops it coming up again?
 Lloyd George!
 Who makes the children squall at night?
 And dogs to bite and bark delight?
 Who goads the horses to take fright?
 Lloyd George!
 Who causes fear of bloody wars,
 And men to die 'neath motor-cars?
 Who poisons all the pickle jars?
 Lloyd George!
 Who makes life one demitition grind;
 And husbands surly, wives unkind?
 Who makes us bilious when we're dined?
 Lloyd George!
 Who, to sum up, is here through whom
 We seek the refuge of the tomb
 From lives of misery and gloom?
 Lloyd George!

Coastal Boats.

This is a Year of Prosperity

ARE YOU GETTING YOUR SHARE?

Skimping and saving might be a slightly good policy, but you'll agree that it is mighty poor fun. The unity that waits for "the seven lean years" has seven lean years while it waits.

Of course, you have gotten your share of prosperity but have you gotten your share of fun?

This paper is just filled with the advertisements of beautiful dresses, suits, and coats and furs. Have you gotten your share?

The shoe stores are advertising their new winter fashions and showing you new styles that will make your feet attractive as well as warm. Have you gotten your share?

The hosiery and underwear is pretty enough to be worn outside his year instead of in. Have you gotten your share?

The warm little hoods and coats and dresses together with a score of other comforts are asking you to let them protect the little ones. Have the children gotten their share?

Xmas is coming along with its brimming measure of good will and its big heart of gratitude. Will you have new china on your table and a new table to put it on. The prosperity of every family should first be reflected in its home. Is your home getting its share?

There is no country in the world to which the sun and the rain have been more kind this year than to our Island. And to all of us has come some measure of this good wealth.

So let us cash in now at the bank of Happiness. Let us wlay this prosperity as it comes and take a robber's toll of the pleasure in its fat old purse.

Turn to the advertising in this paper. Pick out those things you have wanted so much to have. Gratify your pleasures, supply something more than your rigorous needs, give rein to a few big wholesome, natural desires and you won't feel that life has been wasted at the end of your years.

Turn to this advertising now. Read every ad, big and small, and get something out of these pages for yourself, for your family and your home.

Presentation.

Rev. W. W. Clarkson, Rector of Grand Falls parish for the past two years, left for Trinity, his new mission, last week. The rev. gentleman during his stay here has made many friends and general regret is felt that he is leaving, and Trinity Mission is to be congratulated on securing the services of a good church worker and splendid preacher. On Thurs day evening a number of his parishioners waited on him at the Rectory and presented him with an address and a well filled purse, as a small token of the great esteem in which he is held. Mr. Clarkson was completely taken by surprise and in a suitable reply expressed his thanks for the kind words and gift, showing his appreciation of this kindness. After expressing his regret at severing his connection with the many friends in this parish, he wished them every prosperity and would long remember the great kindness shown him by the people of Grand Falls. As the address and reply will appear in the Diocesan Magazine we will not publish it here. Many of the people who find time to visit his friends here, where he will be always sure of a hearty welcome. Grand Falls, Nov. 5th, 1912.

LADIES ENTERTAINED.—The ladies who assisted the British Society in their social gatherings during the year were last night entertained by the officers in the Hall. A very enjoyable dance was in order after which refreshments were served and an impromptu concert given. After this dancing continued till 2 a.m. President W. Goodland presided at the affair which was heartily enjoyed.

Erik Returns.

The S. S. Erik, Capt. W. Bartlett, arrived back from her northern mission, which occupied three months, at 4.30 yesterday afternoon. Leaving here August 10th, the Erik went to Indian Harbor, Indian Tickle and Blanc Sablon with supplies for the fisheries at each place. She then went to Lance-au-Loop where Messrs. Reed and McMartin, two timber experts joined her. They had been brought there from Quebec, but their ship had met with mishap. The party were on their way north to Mud Lake, 100 miles beyond Rigolet, where they have timber limits. The Erik brought the prospectors to their destination, where weather conditions were very adverse. The party remained a fortnight and the ship waited for them taking them back to Sydney where she loaded coal for Fogo, after unloading there she was chartered by the Government to return to the Labrador coast and bring home all the remaining fisherman that were there. Going north the Erik called at Sloop Cove, Ragged Islands and Mecovic taking aboard crews including the wrecked man who lost their craft and cargo of fish at Mecovic. Coming south she called at White Pine Bay and Estle Harbor where she replenished her bunkers. She then proceeded to Carbonear, the run being made in a day and a half. All the crews for Conception Bay points were landed. The Erik brought along as cargo over two thousand quintals of cured fish.

On Second Thought.

By J. E. HOUSE.
The Iowa woman who shot a street car conductor should have shot a lakeman, thus winning public approval and making a heroine of herself.

Do not complain because people do not do more for you. Be thankful that they do not do more to you.

When a saloon keeper is proud of his place he calls it a buffet.

The ideal wife is one who does not expect her husband to arise from a comfortable couch for the purpose of replacing a burned match in the receptacle prepared for it.

Thank Beverly celebrated Thanksgiving with the turkey. Tank prefers his hash. Now that Hampton's magazine has suspended publication, who does your worry for you.

Contempt may be expressed in various ways. One of them is to buy a bottle of perfume and send it to a man.

Upset Stomach and Indigestion

Heartburn, Gas, Sourness or Dyspepsia ended in five minutes with "Pape's Diapesin."

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas, acid, or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapesin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest and most certain remedy in the whole world and besides it is harmless.

Millions of men and women now eat their favorite foods without fear—they know it is needless to have a bad stomach.

Please, for your sake, get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapesin from any drug store and put your stomach right. Don't keep on being miserable—life is too short—you are not here long, so make your stay agreeable. Eat what you like and digest it; enjoy it without dread of rebellion in the stomach.

Diapesin belongs in your home anyway. It should be kept handy, should one of the family eat something which doesn't agree with them, or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement at daytime or during the night it is there to give the quickest, surest relief known.

C.L.B. Outing.

C Company (Bishop Field College) Church Lads Brigade left here by special train yesterday afternoon and proceeded to Donovan's where they held their annual outing kindly afforded them by Hon. E. R. Bowring. In the afternoon the lads had sports of various kinds and an excellent dinner was served at 5 p.m. A toast list gone through which elicited some good speeches and the health of Mr. Bowring was heartily honoured. The lads who enjoyed themselves thoroughly returned to the city at 11.50 last night.

It is strong and powerful, yet so easily understood that any ten year old boy can run it. nov7,tf

Here and There.

TRANSFERRER HERE.—Const. P. O'Neill who was doing duty at Montreal for some months past, has been transferred to St. John's and is doing duty in the West End.

USING GILL NET.—Mr. John Murphy yesterday set a gill net off the Cape and on visiting it found it could not be hauled owing to the high tide ranging. The boys are sunk a few feet and it looks as if the net was filled with fish. Fishermen are watching this new departure with keenest interest.

NEW WATER MAIN.—Under the supervision of Inspector J. Donnelly a gang of the Council's men yesterday started to lay a new six inch water main on the South Side from Brown's Bridge down to Ford's Hill. Over 3,500 feet of piping will go down and if the weather serves the work will be finished this week. Hydrants will be set along the line at regular intervals.

GLENCOE'S PASSENGERS.—The S. S. Glencoe which left here at 6.30 p.m. yesterday took out T. C. Fitzherbert, W. J. Donnelly, Rev. C. Lynch, P. Curran, Capt. Talk, Rev. J. A. McDermott and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Judge, M. and Mrs. B. Lynch, G. Penny, W. S. Curran, Miss Lake, Miss Henderson, Miss Sexton, W. E. and Mrs. Kennedy and A. Thistle.

Fell Fifty Feet to Death

St. John, Nov. 3.—Falling forty feet through a hatchway in the Opera House, Bernard Cribb, aged 23, an employee of the Standard newspaper, was fatally injured soon after midnight on Saturday, and died to-night in the Public Hospital.

The young man was leaving the building and groping his way in the darkness fell headlong through the hatch, and falling into H. N. Demille & Co's. store, severely fractured his skull. Mr. Demille was in the store, heard the crash and found the man unconscious. He was immediately rushed to the Hospital.

Cribb is a native of Chatham. This is the second fatality that has occurred through the same hatch. Dr. George Hetherington being killed there a few years ago. An inquest will probably be held. Cribb was a well known ball player and runner.

Miraculous Escape.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 4.—Murray McQueen, eldest son of D. J. McQueen, local agent for the Michigan Central Railway here, has experienced all the sensations of a death by electrocution, and he is still alive to tell of it.

For the fraction of a second a current of 2,500 volts of electricity passed through McQueen's body—700 more than is used in the death chamber at Sing Sing. Then the circuit was forcibly broken as the young man fell from the ladder on which he was perched to the concrete floor, a distance of 15 feet. It was the fall which saved him from swift and certain death. This morning young McQueen, looking wan and pale, and exhibiting traces of the fearful experience he had undergone, left his bed for the first time since he was carried there in a death-like trance on October 23. His right arm has turned quite black from the shoulder to the wrist, while just below the right knee, where the deadly current emerged from his body, there is a round hole in the flesh as large as a twenty-five cent piece.

MOTHERS! DO YOU KNOW

That when you put a salve onto your child's skin, it passes through the pores and enters the blood, just as surely as if you put it into the child's stomach?

You would not put a coarse mass of animal fat, colored by various mineral poisons (such as many crude salves are) into your child's blood by way of the stomach? Then why do so by way of the pores?

Take no risk. Use always the pure heral essence provided in Zam-Buk. Zam-Buk contains no trace of any animal oil or fat, and no poisonous mineral coloring matter. From start to finish it is purely herbal.

It will heal sores, ulcers, abscesses, eruptions, varicose ulcers, cuts, burns and bruises more quickly than any other known preparation. It cataplectic, quickly stops the smarting of a sore or cut, cures piles, inflamed sores and blood-poisoning. It is a combination of healing power and scientific purity. Ask those who have proved it.

Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

Royal Baking Powder, exceeds others in leavening power, in purity and wholesomeness, and is used generally in families, exclusively in the most celebrated hotels and restaurants, by the United States Army and Navy, and wherever the best and finest food is required. Teachers of cooking schools and lecturers upon culinary matters use and recommend the Royal.

Royal is the only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar. It is admittedly the best and most healthful baking powder made.

When you know what is best, please ask for it.

End of Campaign

The long sad months of noise and shrieking come to an end, at Time's behest, and orators, worn out by speaking, can give their battered lungs a rest. How sweet to know an end of yawning at the worries campaigns mean! Now we can do our Christmas shopping on boyant legs, with minds serene. Now we can gambol through the city unhampered by the tariff bores, and wear a smile and sing a ditty, as glad as anyone outdoors. Relieved of all the hurly-burly, the screams of warring candidates, we'll do our Christmas shopping early throughout these wide United States. How sweet it is to go a-walking, and hear no wrangling, near or far, no arguments or tiresome talking of income tax or I. and R! How pleasant when the local daily prints something else than campaign junk! We'll do our Christmas shopping early, and buy enough to fill a trunk! How sweet to see men safely, sanely, pursuing tasks well worth their while, instead of thrashing "issues" vainly, dispensing language by the mile! Farewell, farewell to foolish yawning, to tiresome men with tiresome jaws; it's time to do our Christmas shopping and put in ticks for Santa Claus!

It is now over 300 years since the first boy was born in this island, and all our readers know that this "boy of a lad" was born in Cupids, in Conception Bay. The old chronicler in describing the event said that Mrs. John Guy presented John with "Lusty Boy." From that historic date down to the present day history has been repeating itself, and there are to-day thousands of lusty boys romping, climbing and up to every sort of fun and mischief. The most of them AND THE BEST OF THEM, are "bold, bold, bold," and the most difficult problem that a mother is called upon to solve is to get good, verifiable Suits for the boys. We have a special line of Boys' Suits, called the "Achilles Brand." These Suits are made from the strongest of cloths and are specially designed for their good wearing qualities. They are made in all sizes. JACKMAN THE TAILOR, LTD. nov7,31

The fleet which the European nations are assembling in Turkish waters comprises 14 battleships, 22 cruisers, 15 destroyers and auxiliaries. Admiral Milne, Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean Squadron, will be the senior officer of the international fleet, and is expected to take command should concerted operations become necessary. The British government, a month ago, ordered a strong squadron for a cruise in the Mediterranean, hence Admiral Milne will go into Turkish waters with the most powerful battle force which has ever flown the British flag east of Gibraltar.

The Balkan Allies will ask for the partition of European Turkey, leaving the fate of Constantinople to the Powers, according to Premier Paich of Serbia, in an interview to-day, with the correspondent of Le Temps at Belgrade. Serbia, the Premier said, wants the ports of Segorani and Medna, Alessio and Durazzo on the Adriatic Sea, which the Servian Empire possessed in the middle ages, and by which she was territorially related to the rest of Europe. Serbia has not received any proposal from Austria, but assuming that she has no territorial designs Serbia is quite willing to favour economic and commercial expansion in the Balkans. The Premier concluded by saying that the Balkan Allies desired Turkey to treat directly with them concerning peace, and not through the Powers.

Storm May Break at Any Moment.

Special Evening Telegram.
LONDON, Nov. 7.
The Constantinople correspondent of the Evening Chronicle says: At any moment the storm may break and involve us in red ruins of massacre and outrage. Soon Constantinople will be surrounded by all the discordant elements of the population, Turks, Armenian, Greek, Kurd and a heterogeneous mass of Europeans will be crushed together into seething congeries of panic-stricken humanity. All old hatreds will blaze into scorching flames. For five hundred years the Turk has lorded it over the infidel, and the last hour of ascendancy, it is feared, may be dyed in blood. We had a foretaste of what is to come in the news from Rodosto. Thither came bands of Nizam Pasha's Army, driven from Lule Burgas by the victorious Bulgarians. The thin veneer of European civilization vanished like mist in the morning sunlight. A scene of horror followed. The town was given up to massacre, outrage and pillage. It was set on fire in seven places, and children were hurled into the raging flames. In their agony and fear many tried to get to the open sea in boats, numbers from these human wolves. In some cases the boatmen massacred them, whilst in others those who trusted them found a merciful death beneath the waves. The victorious march of the Bulgarian Army results in similar scenes, wherever the Turks anticipate their coming. To show how easily disaster might arrive, an incident occurred last night near Galata Bridge. A Greek in a sailboat, was congratulating his companions on the Bulgarian victories. Suddenly a calque slid alongside. The Turk swung himself aboard the Greek boat, a knife gleamed and the Greek fell overboard dead. Then revolvers cracked, and the Turk and his companion fell. Immediately there was firing in all directions. Six Greeks and Turks were killed or wounded before the police boat arrived and quelled the disturbance. I believe that foreigners are not safe, but no government measures will suffice to protect the Christian Ottomans, in the event of an outbreak of rioting.

Household Notes.

Candles in glass candlesticks are the prettiest illumination for a dinner table, and with rose-colored shades the effect is most becoming. To make bananas perfectly digestible, bake them on a grid in a hot oven for 15 minutes. It should be eaten fresh from the skin with a fork.

When you want to match a bit of lace, simply pin the lace to some blue-ink paper, and expose to the sun. Take as many impressions as you need.

Anybody who owns a fireless cooker can make a beverage like chocolate at lunch time and have it ready to serve hot to her guests in the afternoon.

Instead of a single blade chopping knife, use a wheel with twelve sharp blades revolving on a single axle. These are to be found in up to date stores.

A Panama hat that is merely soft and not burned by the sun can be very satisfactorily cleaned by scrubbing with white soap and water in a large bowl or a bathtub.

Choose a kitchen stirring spoon that is perforated, rather than one of solid metal. It does the work more quickly and can be used for taking vegetables out of the water.

A collapsible hot bag for the traveller to take in her trunk is made of two large circular pieces of cardboard held together by the same thin material with which the cardboard is covered.

To make quince honey pare and quarter four quinces and four apples, put them through a meat chopper, add 1 1/2 quarts of water and 3 pounds of sugar and cook slowly for two hours.

To brighten a faded pink frock, put a piece of turkey red cheese cloth in the water and boil till the color is the desired shade. One-eighth of a yard of cheese cloth is enough for one dress.

Certain tall flowers—lilies among them—are best arranged in a wide-mouthed vase with a stem holder in the bottom. Or wire stem-holders may be had that fit over the top of the vase or jar.

Pumpkin pies should never be made from squash, nor should it be largely custard. The most important thing is to choose a good pumpkin and let it cook until it is very soft and the water all evaporated.

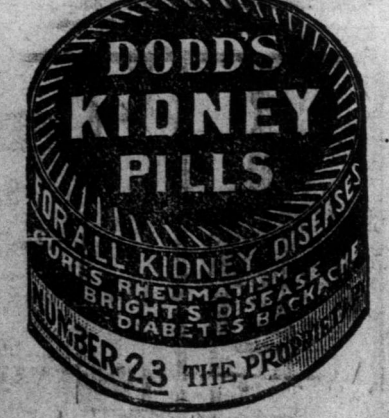

Muslins, calicoes, gingham and shirtings should always be shrunken before making up. Lay them in warm water with a little salt. Let stand half an hour, then wring dry and hang on line. Press when half dry.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Mr. John L. Oke, Secretary of the Harbor Grace Water Company, went to St. John's by yesterday's afternoon train on a business trip.

The K. E. B. are having a sociable at their armory to-night. This sociable will no doubt be like all its predecessors, very enjoyable.

Mr. Wm. Nichols has just removed his hair dressing saloon to the next tenement to the west of his old stand. The room is upstairs, is bright and comfortable, and all old friends and new will be welcomed by the proprietor.

The coal briquettes being sold by Messrs. Rutherford & Co. are favourably spoken of by housekeepers. It is in small eggshaped cakes, and burns brightly, giving a good heat. It sells at $7.60 per ton.

Mr. Henry Anthony, a poor blind man, Salmon Cove, held a concert in St. Paul's Hall here on Tuesday night. He was assisted by the following kind friends:—Miss Chafe, Miss Thompson, Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Collins, of Harbour Grace, and Miss Clarke, of Carbonar. Miss Hanrahan played the accompaniments. The audience was well pleased with the programme rendered.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John S. Taylor, formerly of this town, but now of Wilkesburg, Pa., on October 28.

Mr. Albert Rogers, of the Excelsior Wood Factory, met with a painful accident on last evening. He was engaged operating the planer at the factory when his left thumb came in contact with the rotating shaft. The thumb was taken off at the first joint. He suffered much pain last night, and got very little rest. Dr. Cron promptly answered the telephone call and attended to the injured hand.

Owing to the Missionary Meeting to-night, at the school, the Rev. E. B. Armoury, the Please U Co. decided not to have a show, but to re-open on Friday night. This is considered very thoughtful of the company.

Frenzied Bulgarian

Regiments hurled themselves in a solid mass against the Turks. Bulgarian officer's graphic description of the big battle.

VIENNA, Nov. 2.—The Vienna Reichspost, this morning prints a story sent by its correspondent with the Bulgarian army, Lieut. Wagener. It is dated from the Bulgarian headquarters Thursday evening, and says: "I have just returned with a train of wounded after having spent three days at the front. For three days and nights I have not been out of my clothes. My poor horse could not move another step because of exhaustion. The great and final battle entered the decisive phase Thursday morning when the Bulgarian left wing at Bumarchissar took the offensive with mighty impetus.

The prelude to the final crash at arms was a murderous opening engagement which last Monday resulted very favorably for the Bulgarians, especially on their right wing at Lule Burgas. On their left wing, where the Bulgarians offensive started the Turks by taking the offensive from Seria by the way of Visa against the Bulgarian left wing had attempted to meet the danger threatening their line of retreat owing to the Bulgarians' advance by the way of Seria to Chatalja. The Turks also already had succeeded in driving back the advance body of Bulgarians beyond Karsgederesel and Bumarchissar.

Tuesday morning when the mighty Bulgarians' counter-attack was delivered against their right wing from a line running from Uskup to Hadjifakli and the heights on Moustiridagh the Turks front ranks were simply run down by a startling assault executed with an unparalleled dash, yet they succeeded in sustaining the fight by continually bringing up reserves.

Bitter forest fighting raged throughout the day, in the course of which the Turkish main body degenerated into senseless masses without consistency or power of fighting. At the same time the Bulgarian right wing attacked the Turkish positions at Lule Burgas from Eski Baba and Yenikin and drove the Turks from their fortified positions on the Telandere, Adjablidore and Erkane River, back of Lule Burgas. The Bulgarian infantry was splendidly supported by artillery which at the critical moments succeeded in holding An Dowd to the Turks by an annihilating fire. With the help of the guns most of the Turkish positions were taken by bayonet assaults, some of them, however, were stormed and cleared without any preliminary action or artillery support. The dash of the Bulgarian infantry was unparalleled and like the tactical achievements resulting from it, surpassed all that could be believed possible.

Without the least concession to scruples of modern tactics it applied its battle cry. Now for the conditions of reality, that is to say, to its tactics. Four hundred paces and still further from the enemy's line whole regiments rose like one man and hurled themselves in one solid charging mass on the enemy without halting, still firing and despising all cover. Their officers were powerless against his burning frenzy to get at the Turk with the knife and bayonet. All attempts to hold the troops in leash were fruitless. One regiment hurled itself on the enemy on the order of a sergeant. Totally disregarding its officers' orders to halt and lie down. As Tuesday's fierce engagement had resulted successful for the Bulgarians both at Bumarchissar and Lule Burgas, yet they had struck no decisive blow, for the Turks had brought up the whole of their reserves and held their advance in check.

Early Wednesday morning strong Bulgarian forces were brought by forced marches from Adrianople and renewed the attempt to break through the centre of the Turkish position. The Bulgarian attack fell partly on the Turkish troops drawn up in the 'great region south of Kirk Kiliasch and the Viga road and partly in entrenched positions northwest of Lule Burgas. After heavy forest fighting and continually repeated murderous bayonet assaults the Bulgarians succeeded by noon in breaking through the Turkish position, and in co-operating with the whole Turkish wing. Here in the early afternoon began a general retreat on the line at Lule Burgas and Dadernika, along the railway and in the direction of Tchoria. The Bulgarians immediately took up the pursuit and continued to press the enemy throughout the night, the result being that the Turkish retreat degenerated into a wild flight, and on this wing the Turks became totally dispersed. Meantime on their own left wing, southeast of Bumarchissar the Bulgarians had completely stopped the Turks from the northeast.

Then dawn broke to-day (Thursday). A decisive attack upon the right flanks of the Turks was diverted from the line at Urana, Belli and Visa. Heavily shaken by previous fighting the Turks were unable to withstand the Bulgarians overwhelming flank attack, abandoning their line of retreat through Engara and Topolkoel directly south of Tchoria. Here also the Bulgarians had pursued the enemy by parallel and continual outflanking movements along the Turk's main line of communications through Seria, Torkel and the Charkosskema and sought to cut the enemy's retreat to the Tchatalja lines. The Turkish losses are enormous. Their line of retreat is traceable by a long trail of discarded weapons and equipment, and, sad to say, also by burning villages and the bodies of massacred Christians. The Bulgarians captured guns and many thousands of rifles.
