At the Mouth of the Treacherous Pit
STORY OF LOVE, INTRIGUE AND REVENGE

CHAPTER XXVII.

"Take this first letter," continued the detective, "written by the lady to Sir Karl. She does not write as though he cared for her—not in the least. She wants him to do her a favor, and does not wish his wife to know about it. He evidently— from all you tell me, Miss Allanmore—dislikes it, yet he goes, and is never seen again. The supposition of every one is that the lady persuaded him to do with her. There can have been no previous arrangement—that is quite clear from the tone of the writer's letters. Now consider this second letter, which every one seems to have taken as proof conclusive. I do not believe that Sir Karl was with the person who wrote it. It reads to me as though it were intended to suggest that idea, but that is all. She does not write, 'Sir Karl is with me'—perhaps she dared not—she writes: 'You will never see Sir Karl again. I have had my revenge.' Who knows what her revenge was? She may have murdered him. She may have hidden his body. She may have had him kidnapped and locked up in a lunatic asylum. She may have done any thing and every thing except the one thing which I am quite sure she did not do—persuade him to run away with her. Who can tell what shape or form her vengeance took?"

Gertrude listened with wide open eyes. "Those are my ideas exactly," she said, "and those are the thoughts that came to me when I read the letter."

"I should say myself," continued Mr. Shaw, "that the quickest and best way of learning the gentleman's fate is to search for the lady."

"To search for the lady!" they repeated.

"Yes. I am sure the key of the mystery lies with her. If any one has thought that all these years Sir Karl has been wandering about with her a happy man, they have made a mistake. Taking all things into consideration, together with the fact that the gentleman has never drawn one farthing of his income, I should rather say that he was dead than living, and I should rather say that the lady had in some mysterious fashion made away with him than that he had run away with her."

They listened to him breathlessly. "If the case is left in my hands,"

CHAPTER XXVIII.

From that day mysterious advertisements began to appear in the journals—advertisements that puzzled the readers. They were all addressed to Lola, and were variously subscribed; but no answer to them ever came.

The bankers with whom Madame de Ferras had invested her money were discovered; and, when urged, as a matter of life and death, to tell what they knew of the whereabouts of Miss de Ferras, they had but one fact to reveal. It was this—that the account had been closed soon after madame's death, and that they had not the least notion as to her daughter's place of residence or the state of her affairs—in fact, they knew nothing at all about her. There was therefore no intelligence to be gained from that quarter; nor was there indeed from any other. Yet Gertrude's brave young heart never quailed. Dolores wrote, imploring her to come back, and give up what was after all but a chimera, a fancy, a will-o'-the-wisp, a delusion that would wear away her heart and life. But never did one thought of yielding, one thought of giving up the hope of her life, came to Gertrude.

When every inquiry had been made, every means exhausted, the council met again.

"Our task does not seem so easy now as it did when we first met to consult together," Gertrude said, "but we shall accomplish it as surely as the sun shines in heaven. Many things have failed us, but our courage and perseverance are not among the number."

Her listeners assented warmly, it would have broken her heart had they not done so.

"My dear mother has written, and wants me to return to her; but I cannot—I must not. I will finish my task or die over it."

No one had any further suggestion to make. Mr. Shaw owned that he was baffled, but that he did not despair, and was by no means inclined to give up the case, though more fully convinced than ever of the difficulties with which they would have to contend.

"If we had any clue, however small," he said, "if we only knew whether Miss de Ferras was living or dead, it would be some satisfaction."

"It would be much easier to discover if she were dead than to find any trace of her living," declared Lord Fielden. "If she is dead, and has been buried, some one must know something of it. We can take action so far. Let us advertise in the French and English papers that any one who can give proof of the death of Mademoiselle Lola de Ferras, shall receive one hundred pounds reward."

"One hundred pounds," cried Mr. Shaw.

"Yes," answered Lord Fielden—"double that amount if it be needed. If the news be worth it. Why, I would almost give the last farthing I had for the purpose."

And the beautiful eyes thanked Harry with one of those glances he loved so well.

It was agreed that the advertisement should be sent to all the leading Continental journals and English newspapers. It could hardly fail to bring about a good result. If Lola de Ferras were living, and any one knowing her wrote to say so, they would be able to find out her whereabouts; if she were dead, they would know that further efforts in that direction were useless.

"If she be dead," said Gertrude, slowly, "what has become of my father?"

"We must be patient," said Lord Fielden.

The next thing was to send off the new advertisement. In due course there came many answers; but they all bore but little upon the matter in hand.

Lord Fielden's own idea was that Lola had taken refuge in France; it was most probable for many reasons, and he spent some weeks in Paris. The Paris officials began to grow interested in the search; even the Russian detective service had been drawn into the business; and no news that the telegraphic wires could have flashed from one end of the world to the other would have given greater satisfaction than the intelligence that, living or dead, something was known of Lola de Ferras.

Then Lord Fielden had another idea; he believed that it was very probable she would be found in some religion house, in one of those institutions where wearied hearts find rest. So in England and France the strong arm of the law was brought into force; but the search in this direction was equally futile. The dark, beautiful face which had brought ruin and desolation to Scarsdale remained undiscovered.

Airmen's Terrible Predicament

The British round-the-world flyer, Major A. Stuart McLaren, had the unique choice of diving into a herd of Siamese elephants, ten feet below him, or losing his way in a chaos of clouds and mountain peaks.

He had just an eyewink of time to make the decision, and he chose the hazards of the skies, from which he finally emerged, with, as he said, ten years taken off his life by the harrowing experience.

Leaving Bangkok, Siam, on his journey round the world, McLaren and his mechanic climbed 7,000 feet trying to surmount the mountains in the region of Thak. The clouds were so thick they could see nothing below, and were afraid to ascend, lest a mishap should force a disastrous landing.

Service—A Jewett Feature

In these days of motoring, comfort as well as dependability is necessary. A striking feature of the Jewett is its roomy tonneau. Along with the mechanical correctness of the Jewett the Paige engineers have designed ample room for the passengers in the front as well as the rear compartment. The pitch of the seats, extra long springs, and deep upholstery are of such design as to make long overland trips in a Jewett a pleasure and a comfort. It has always been the aim of the Jewett works to build in such a manner that the user shall be served with more than is expected. It is this surplus service that has so endeared the Jewett to the motor car owner.

Circling and searching they suddenly saw a cloud hole below and with a shout of joy they dived through it, but their rejoicing was premature. There was an opening in the jungle, covered with swamp grass, but it had been pre-empted by a huge herd of elephants, water buffaloes and other beasts, suddenly revealed in the rushing panorama of earth and sky.

There was not alone the problem of the trumpeting, milling herd of elephants, in the swift flash of perception, which doubtless held the issue of life and death. McLaren saw that here was an inescapable jungle trap. He could never hope to rise from this jungle grass. Action outran thought. Before he knew it he had leaped into the sky again and was lost in the clouds. The swamp, the beasts and the tourney with death had been a few seconds interlude in a white wilderness.

Wandered in the Clouds.

They wandered half an hour in the clouds, fearing every instant of crashing into a peak, they decided to climb and trust the compass. When their altimeter showed 9,900 the white mass suddenly seemed to drop away from them and they were in the sunshine. Below there was no sign of land, just clouds. They steered a compass course toward Vinh, and after looking over the machine, resumed the fight to Halphong, which they reached at six o'clock at night.

After a night's rest they continued the fight through heavy rainstorms, reaching Hong Kong at seven a.m.

"I want to come back some day and find the spot in the jungle," said Major McLaren. "In addition to the elephants and buffaloes, there were hundreds of deer. It's a bully shooting country."

Besco Decides to Reduce Wages Throughout the Service

French Chamber Give Herriot's Message a Cool Reception—Status of High Commissioners Fixed—American Airmen Start on Atlantic Flight.

BESCO CUTS SALARIES. SYDNEY, July 29. All salaries of officials and employees of the British Empire Steel Corporation, from President R. M. Wolvin, and members of the directorate, down to the lowest paid clerk, will receive a wage cut of ten to twenty-five per cent, on August 1st, according to announcement made at Besco headquarters here to-day. President Wolvin and the directors of Besco will get a 25 per cent salary reduction, while the new schedule provides for graduated reduction for all other officials, low paid employees now on monthly pay getting a ten per cent slash. The salary cut is part of the Besco policy of retrenchment during the depression period, which has brought about a curtailment of the work at the steel plants in Sydney and Trenton and at the coal mines on the mainland, Cape Breton. The salary cut will effect every official of Besco in Nova Scotia, including those employed at Halifax shipyards and Trenton and New Glasgow plants, as well as Cape Breton officialdom.

BESCO MANAGER RESIGNS. SYDNEY, July 29. Archibald McCall, General Manager of Besco operations on the mainland, has resigned from the corporation. Official announcement of Mr. McCall's resignation was made at the Besco head office here on Tuesday. Mr. McCall is one of the best known steel and coal officials in Nova Scotia, and for many years was prominent in the affairs of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company. He has always been located at New Glasgow.

STATUS OF HIGH COMMISSIONERS. LONDON, July 29. The question of the Status of the High Commissioners of the Dominions and India, in England, has at last been settled, after a long period of doubt. J. H. Thomas, Colonial Secretary, made an announcement of the matter in the House to-day. Henceforth, on ceremonial occasions, the High Commissioners will take precedence immediately after the members of the Cabinets of the British, Dominion and Indian Governments, Mr. Thomas stated. When no members of the Imperial Cabinet or Cabinets of the Dominions or India are present the High Commissioners will take precedence immediately after that accorded to the Secretaries of State by the table of precedence.

DOMINION REPRESENTATION TO BE CONSIDERED. LONDON, July 29. The British Government has determined to alter the entire system of Dominion representation, J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Colonies, declared to-day in the House of Commons, during the discussion on the vote for the Colonial Office. He said that the system of Dominion representation at the present Inter-Allied Conference was not satisfactory, and that the government had decided to invite the Dominions to send representatives to such as had tried to stab the nation in the back, surprising the Government while it was intensely bending its efforts to reconstruction. The President has also to consider the question of dealing with foreign governments, with reference to damage suffered by the property of their nations, as well as the killing of foreigners owing to the revolt. Although estimates of the total damage are not yet available from official quarters, it is believed it will run into many millions of dollars, and that the number of soldiers and civilians killed or wounded will reach many hundreds.

WILL SEEK RECIPROCAL TRADE. SYDNEY, Australia, July 29. Negotiations will shortly proceed, with a view to Australia obtaining reciprocal trade with Canada, New Zealand, South Africa, so Austin Chamberlain, Federal Minister for Trade and Customs announced in a speech to-day.

FROM SYDNEY TO ROME IN 15-FT. CANOE. SYDNEY, N.S., July 29. From Sydney to Rome in a 15-foot canoe, is the avowed ambition of G. H. G. Smyth, of Toronto, who pushed off from Galbraith's boat house here at 10 o'clock this morning, on the first leg of his venturesome journey. He plans to proceed down the coast via Halifax, St. John, and American ports to New York, where he will ship himself and canoe on board a steamer for England. Then he will attempt to paddle across the English Channel, and if successful will glide up the Seine for a visit to his mother who resides in Paris. Thence he will follow the river stream of Central Europe to a point where a short portage will put him in streams which will carry him down to the Riviera, from there he will coast along the shore of the Mediterranean to Rome.

RAIN RELIEVES CROPS. WINNIPEG, July 29. Heavy rains of the past week throughout the Prairie Provinces were supplemented by further precipitation to-day. A generous downpour was reported from points in Saskatchewan which had suffered from the protracted drought. These districts report that the rain is urgently needed for summer fallow, and that it will materially relieve the crop and food situation. Light rain was general in Manitoba, but sufficient moisture has already fallen in the Province for the crop in its final stage of growth.

U.S. FILTERS OFF AGAIN. BROUGH, Eng., July 29. The United States round the world aviators will take off at Kirwall at 5 o'clock to-morrow morning, according to present arrangements.

PRICE OF BREAD INCREASED. SASKATOON, July 29. Bread retailed here yesterday three loaves for 27 cents, instead of three loaves for 25 cents. The increase is due to the upward swing in the price of flour.

HARD ON THE INNOCENT.

The innocent always suffer for the sins of the guilty.

That is an ancient and true truth. We are having a demonstration of it lately.

I refer to the difficulty anyone who is stalled on a lonely road has in getting any motorist to stop and help him. Five or six years ago when we were passing at night along a lonely highway some motorists who were beside the road apparently having trouble with their engine signalled us to stop. I remember how surprised I was when the man at the wheel refused to stop. "Been too many holdups," he complained. "I don't like the looks of this place."

I was surprised then, for he was not a man one associated with ideas of caution. I wouldn't be surprised to-day. And I don't believe anyone would. One would be more surprised at any man who would take the risk of stopping under such circumstances. For the automobile holdups, which were something new and unusual then, afraid it might be a plant. Finally a true good Samaritan went for help and with reinforcements went into the bushes and rescued the sufferer. One admires his combination of altruism, courage and common sense; and feels duly thankful that he wasn't treated as he might have been if the cry of distress had been merely a lure.

Good Samaritanship Takes Pluck. Even being a Good Samaritan is a more difficult thing in these days when the man who was apparently set upon by thieves may turn out to be a thief or a murderer.

And the Good Samaritan turn out to be the victim. Truly the innocent suffer with the guilty and if there is anything we can do to stamp out this plague of bandits either by reporting all suspicious circumstances to the police, or by doing what we can do to stop the breeding of moral morons, we surely ought to do it.

Living Within Our Means

The review of the financial in the Budget Speech is comprehensive and illuminating, and in so far as it refers to the work of the former administrations, it is not pleasant reading. The Minister in his comments has not hesitated to express frankly his opinion of the effect of the mismanagement, and has made it apparent that unless stringent measures are applied and more businesslike methods adopted, difficulties of the most serious nature lie in front.

In dealing with the industrial outlook he showed that a change for the better had taken place, and that by practicing frugality in every direction, and by judiciously fostering our trade and industries we should gradually recover from the effects of the period of stress through which the country has been passing.

The repeal of the Civil Service Reduction Act is the removal of a hardship which should never have been imposed upon those officials. Their salaries in the majority of cases are not in keeping with their responsible positions, nor have they been conducive to efficiency. It is also gratifying to note that the irregularities which have been permitted in the case of a favoured few to supplement their salaries by means of overtime payments have come to an end.

The Minister's suggestion that a new policy is to be instituted in connection with the building of roads, and in the encouragement of tourists indicates that we are at last about to tap a source of wealth to which little or no attention has been given in the past, and in conjunction with this movement more effective measures are to be taken to preserve our game. Frequent reference has been made by the Telegram to the necessity for such action, and we are convinced that the results will be of the greatest practical benefit.

In spite of the heavy responsibilities which the previous administrations have bequeathed to the Government, there is a note of optimism in the Budget Speech which is not visionary, but is supported by facts, and there is no mistaking the intention of the Minister to leave no stone unturned to conduct the affairs of the Colony in such a manner as to keep expenditure within the limits of the revenue.

Sir P. T. McGrath's Statement

In the Legislative Council yesterday the Hon. Sir P. T. McGrath made a statement with reference to his work and remuneration in connection with the Labrador Boundary Dispute. It indicates fully the nature of the work performed and the vast field of research covered in order to obtain documentary evidence bearing on the case and it also explains how the amounts credited to him were expended.

We are glad to call attention to this statement, which appears in this issue, in order that both sides of the story should be given the same publicity.

Last Night's Proceedings.
The members of the Newfoundland Highlanders met together at Headquarters last night and headed by Pipes and Drums paraded to the Curling Rink where the race boat "Nellie R." was removed to Quidi Vid Lake and placed in the Boat House. The members carried the playing of the bag-pipes and great enthusiasm prevailed. The "Nellie R." was given a thorough overhauling by Mr. R. Sexton, and with such an organization behind her, she is bound to be heard from in the near future. A thing to remember is that the crews will be very likely be placed in the water to-day, and intending crews will have an opportunity of having a spin. We wish the management of the Boat Club every success in their endeavours.

Young Lad Struck by Motor

About 8.45 last night a young lad named Wm. Freitag, aged 12 years, was knocked down by a motor car owned by Mr. W. H. Christian on Atlantic Road, and received such injuries that he was hurriedly removed to hospital. The lad it appears was playing ball with other boys in the middle of the road, and in attempting to cross over he was struck by the mud guard of the car and thrown to the ground. An examination at the hospital this morning showed that no bones were broken, and it is quite possible the little chap will be able to get around again within a few days.

2,000 Laborers at Humber on Strike

Yesterday word was received in the city stating that the laboring men employed at the Humber had gone on strike for an increase of wages. The first information received by the Government stated that 500 men employed at Corner Brook, were involved. Last evening the Prime Minister received a message stating that about 2,000 men were out. A further message stated that the strikers had brought out all skilled labor using intimidation.

The men are demanding 30 cents an hour. At present they are getting 25 cents an hour, so that there is asking a 20 per cent. increase. The Company takes the position that they cannot grant the increase under present conditions. Their attitude in the matter being similar to that of March last when a strike was on. At that time the men submitted their grievances to the Government and the then Prime Minister acted as Mediator. The grievances were under the following heads:—
1.—Low wages.
2.—High board.
3.—Bad shack accommodation.
4.—Unsatisfactory methods of oyster wages.
5.—Poor hospital accommodation.

So far the Government has not been requested to take any action. The Company, if it understood, has asked for police protection and yesterday Constables along the line were picked up at the various stations and taken out by the express. Other policemen from the city will go out by the express at 1 p.m.

A Case for Sympathy

There will be widespread sympathy with Mr. J. O'Grady, the Labor member for Southwest Leeds, in England, whose official appointment as Governor of Tasmania is held up because he does not possess a private income sufficient to enable him to augment the official salary of some $12,000 a year attached to that post. But this sympathy will be tinged with a certain measure of surprise, particularly in view of the fact that Tasmania is in the model democracy of the British Empire. We seem to have heard a good deal in recent years of the full-time of gold lace and the trappings of office. It will occur to most people who read that the Labor party, indeed, the entire ranks of Radicalism, have held up the world as part and parcel of their creed the usefulness of uniforms and the extravagance of epaulettes.

Yet we have a case in which a Labor M.P. finds himself unable to accept a job at twelve thousand dollars a year. Surely Mr. O'Grady is prepared to undertake the duties of Governor of Tasmania as a working man's position, entailing a certain amount of labor throughout his tenure of office, and it might reasonably be expected that he would bring to bear in the discharge of his duties those fine democratic principles which hold the mere decorative part of high office as worthless. In such an event, it seems that the sum of twelve thousand dollars a year is a pretty tidy little income for a stalwart advocate of the doctrine of Radicalism.

There are Governors of various colonies and dependencies in the Empire bigger than Tasmania who manage to get along quite comfortably on very much less than Mr. O'Grady's salary would not suffice. Five thousand dollars has proved sufficient for a good many competent administrators who have managed to survive and to avoid bankruptcy thereon.—Montreal Star, July 23.

Sent to Prison

Yesterday morning an incorrigible woman was arrested under warrant by the police near Smithville, and placed in the lockup. In the afternoon she was arraigned before Mr. McCarthy J.P., and charged with being a loose and disorderly person. The evidence of several witnesses showed that the woman has been in the habit of frequenting Reenie's River where she acted in a very unbecoming manner. Several attempts have been made by the police to make her change her ways, but to no purpose. In order to protect the public and save herself from injury, Mr. McCarthy had no other alternative than to send her down for thirty days.

A Film of Unusual Appeal

When Anna Katherine Green wrote her famous society novel, "The Mayor's Wife," she, of course, visualized the characters enacting their drama—for every story is drama. Undoubtedly she must have had a mental image of Betty Blythe before her at the time, for, as she so closely approximates her heroine than does Miss Blythe. Of entrancing beauty, of rare physical perfection and possessing a face which gives expression to every emotion with an ease which bespeaks intelligence, she does not act the part of Olympia Brewster but lives it. She is Olympia Brewster in the pictorialization of the novel which has been presented at the Nickel Theatre under the title "His Wife's Husband." The adaptation and direction are credited to Kenneth Webb, and he is deserving of mention for the splendid production he has given in the story. His characters are convincing, Hanley Gordon, leading man, is a difficult role, splendidly interpreted. A splendid foil for the star, George Fawcett is, as usual, all that could be desired. In setting and in photography, the production ranks A-1.

"His Wife's Husband" unfolds the story of a college-bred girl of rare physical charm who married for convenience, left her husband for dead, and married again. It would not be fair to reveal the plot further. There's a touch of mystery which holds the spectator's interest to the very end—in fact, it keeps one up to a high pitch of excitement throughout.

Fire at New Melbourne

FIVE FAMILIES RENDERED HOMELESS.

Yesterday the Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Mines received a message from Fire Ranger Howell, Port Blandford, stating that a forest fire, raging in the vicinity of New Melbourne, had destroyed a quantity of pit props and that houses in the vicinity were in danger of destruction. A message to Mr. W. W. Halfyard, M.H.A., from Elisha Button, J.P., gives the following further particulars:—"Distasteful fire raging here since yesterday. The house and outhouses of Luther J. Mansfield, Joshua Goodwin, Wesley Goodwin, and William Goodwin totally destroyed with all crops, etc. Others are still in imminent danger. Prompt assistance required. Please act at once. Am investigating with others in authority." Mr. Halfyard got in touch with the Colonial Secretary, and arrangements have been made with the Inspector General to send some members of the police force by this morning's train to investigate and render all assistance possible.

Giuseppe Caruso Proves Himself a Wonder

When the Star Movie announced in this paper a short while ago that they had booked in this talented dramatic tenor, the legitimate successor to the famous Enrico Caruso, many people in this city termed this somewhat "far fetched," but doubting Thomas' word they to attend the different performances at this popular theatre and hear the different numbers rendered by Mr. Caruso, they would unquestionably have all doubts set aside, for this gentleman has since his first appearance made a name for himself that has probably never been equalled by any artist yet appearing before our footlights. He has all that goes to make a singer of the highest qualifications, and he has before him a big future. Few of the hundreds of his nightly admirers realize that he has yet to reach his twenty-fifth birthday, so that he is practically a mere lad, and as one with such talent, in the course of a few years he will reach the position he has set himself to attain—the successor to Enrico Caruso. Last week he sang E. Lucevano in the Stelle, from Rigolotto, and this was such a wonderful piece of work that one of our leading musicians came to his dressing room to offer him his congratulations on his work, saying: "It was faultless to a note." This was followed the same night by Quiseta O'Quella, from Rigolotto, and the applause at the finish was deafening, the audience demanding more and more. This was sung with the greatest of ease, thereby showing that Mr. Caruso is a master of his art. To miss hearing this talented artist is to miss a musical treat that only comes to us once in a century, and that he is appreciated by the music loving people of this city is fully evidenced by the large audiences that greet him each night in spite of the warm weather.

The second reading of the logging bill was then taken up. Mr. Hallford made a brief address in support of the bill...

The Minister of Justice said he rose for the purpose of proposing an Amendment to the motion that the Bill be read a second time. He did not propose to be critical or question the good faith of those who were responsible for the Bill...

Mr. Sullivan seconded the amendment and considered the Bill objectionable in many respects. One feature of a minimum wage was the danger of the Companies making it a maximum wage...

Mr. Hallford supported the Amendment as he thought it was the best way out of the difficulty. Mr. Linegar supported the Amendment as he was convinced that better results would be had from a Commission of enquiry than by passing rash legislation without enquiry.

Legislative Council

OFFICIAL SYNOPSIS. TUESDAY, July 29. House met pursuant to adjournment.

Hon. D. A. Ryan asked the Hon. the Leader of the Government: (1) If Doctor Mooney has completed the building of his Pulp Mill at Harbour Deep...

(2) If Mr. H. J. Crowe has completed the erection of his Pulp Mill at Hampden (White Bay) or what has been done according to the terms of his contract.

(3) What amount was paid to Mr. K. Brown, M.H.A., monthly as Inspector of the Logging Camps, Winter 1923 and 1924.

(4) What amount was paid to each person of the Committee appointed by the Government to pay back the Export Tax of ten cents per quintal on fish shipped from the Labrador Coast, year 1922; the name of and amount paid to each person.

The following reply was tabled by the Hon. Mr. Morine: (1) The agreement between the Government and M. J. Mooney, dated August 9th, 1923, provided that Mr. Mooney should, on or before the 30th of November, 1924, commence the erection of a mill capable of producing one hundred tons of mechanical pulp per day...

(2) Mr. Crowe has not completed, so far as the Government is informed, a Pulp Mill in White Bay. The agreement between the Government and Mr. Crowe, dated August 9th, 1923, does not provide that Mr. Crowe shall erect a Pulp Mill in White Bay...

(3) The amounts paid Mr. K. Brown M.H.A., as Inspector of Logging Camps during the winter of 1923-1924 are as follows: 6 months salary $250.00 per month, Travelling Expenses $1,500.00, Total $1,750.00.

(4) In answer to the question I beg to lay on the Table of the House a statement showing items paid for services and expenses in connection with the Export Tax Refund, showing the amount returned to be $9,106,850.10 and the way in which such amount was made up.

Hon. Sir P. T. McGrath said he distinctly remembered that the principle objection of the Select Committee at the last session in putting the Crowe Bill through was the 10 year term clause. The Premier Mr. Warren, during the time the Bill was under consideration, and in order that it would pass the Council, gave the assurance that the Bill would be amended at the next session and the period of ten years reduced to five years...

Hon. Mr. Morine explained that once a Bill passed the Council, and capital had been floated for a project, it would be a very dangerous matter to amend such a Bill, for the reason that it might damage the credit of the Company engaged.

Hon. Sir P. T. McGrath remarked that Mr. Crowe had undertaken to abide by Prime Minister Warren's suggestion. Hon. Mr. Morine said that it was all well if only Mr. Crowe were interested, but a different matter where a company was interested.

Hon. D. R. Ryan remembered that Prime Minister Warren had asked the Council to pass the Bill containing the ten year clause and promised that the Bill would be amended next session. Mr. Warren went further, he said and informed the Council that if Mr. Crowe did not agree to this he would cancel the contract.

Hon. Mr. Morine drew attention to the following despatches between Mr. Crowe and Prime Minister Warren during August last, when the Bill was under discussion.

From Prime Minister. "Bill ratified by Lower House now before Upper House. Your telegram 14th reached me after Bill had passed to-day. Period altered to ten years."

From Mr. Crowe. "I do not know whether you have received my telegram of the 14th inst. I do not intend to fabricate the hands and can be used for cleaning everything. Ask your grocer for Pearline and experience a great relief from labor when washing in this toll saving compound—July 29th."

From Mr. Crowe. "I do not know whether you have received my telegram of the 14th inst. I do not intend to fabricate the hands and can be used for cleaning everything. Ask your grocer for Pearline and experience a great relief from labor when washing in this toll saving compound—July 29th."

From H. J. Crowe. "Will undertake carry through White Bay deal with period reduced to ten years. Making arrangements to commence operations earliest date."

Mr. Morine tabled further correspondence between the ex-Prime Minister, Mr. Warren, and Mr. H. J. Crowe, also correspondence in connection with Dr. Mooney contract.

Hon. Mr. Gibbs thought there was probably some mistake about the wording of the telegram of Mr. Crowe. The Bill, according to his recollection, passed the Council with the period would be altered to five years at this session.

Hon. Mr. Ellis said he remembered quite clearly that the term was to be altered to five years at the next session, and that some of the members suggested a three year period. The only reason for extending the period was to get the Bill through, so that employment could be found during the winter of 1924.

Hon. Sir P. T. McGrath expressed opinion that if Mr. Warren were still Prime Minister the Contract would be amended this session, and suggested that the present Prime Minister consult his colleagues and see if the matter could be dealt with without interfering with or hampering Mr. Crowe's industry.

Hon. Mr. Morine considered that the contract and the circumstances surrounding it were a little bit loose. He thought it possible, however, that something may be done to change what is a very disastrous form of contract.

Hon. Sir Patrick—I feel I cannot let you go back to Newfoundland without a word of thanks for all your help in the Boundary Dispute. Your work, both in the discovery of documentary evidence and in the collection and arrangement of the map material has been absolutely invaluable.

With many thanks, I am, Yours very sincerely, (Sgd.) WALTER MONCKTON.

For nearly three years I have given my best efforts to this task, devoting practically my whole time to it, both week days and Sundays, for while I was here at home Mr. Warren and I spent most Sunday afternoons at it, as he could not in his office on week days give the time needed for the consideration of the problems it involved.

Statements published in the newspapers show amounts paid to me in this case in three years as $19,800 in all. But, as a matter of fact, I have only received $8,000 of this sum for my services.

Another $3,000, in round figures, represents payments to me for out-of-pocket expenses. For instance, I pay my stenographers, (of whom I sometimes have to employ two) from week to week, and get repaid every six months. I do the same with typewriting, supplies and all other minor outlays.

The remaining $9,000 covers travelling expenses for three trips in connection with this case. In the autumn of 1921 I was away for over three months, going from here to Ottawa, then to Winnipeg, back to Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, New York, Philadelphia, Washington, back to New York, Harvard University, near Boston, Brown University at Providence, Rhode Island, etc., back to Ottawa, Quebec, and then home. In the course of this trip I interviewed and obtained statements from every white man then alive, who had been in the interior of Labrador. In 1922 I left here in July and was absent six months. I went as far west as Detroit, back to Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, Boston, and New York, crossed to England, and on the return trip revisited Washington, Ottawa and then returned home. My stay in London of nearly four months was prolonged partly because Sir Richard Squires and Mr. Warren were engaged in negotiating the West Coast paper mill contract and also because a general election occurred in England, which put us out of touch with Sir John Simon for six weeks, as he was in London.

of such an undertaking was yourself. As I had opposed the Squires party 18 months previously, I felt that, to make my position clear, it would be only right to lay the matter before some of those with whom I had been associated in the election of 1919. I should and they saw no reason why I should refuse this work, so I agreed to take it on.

Secondly, this was not a political job. There was never any suggestion either directly or indirectly by Sir Richard Squires, through whom my employment was arranged, or by Mr. Warren, under whose directions my work was carried on, that this was a political job, or that any party service was required of me.

Thirdly, every feature of my work has had to stand the scrutiny of Sir John Simon, K.C., the leader of the English Bar, who is our senior counsel, and of Sir Thomas Berridge, an ex-President of the English Law Society, who is our Solicitor; and I think I am entitled to take pride in the fact that it has been satisfactory to them and the other legal gentlemen in England engaged in the case.

For the expenses of these trips, totaling 15 months, I have been paid $9,000, which works out at about $600 per month or $620 per day, out of which I have paid my hotel bills, railroad fares, transatlantic steamer tickets, and all other expenses. I leave it to Hon. Gentlemen of this House, who are accustomed to travelling extensively, to say if this is an excessive figure.

On December 17th last, following on the English General election of December 8th, Sir John Simon gave us a special conference to enable us to leave for home next day. At this final conference he approved of this Colony's case for exchange with the Canadians, who were to hand us their case in return. This exchange was to take place on December 31st, but the Canadians were not ready then, and I do not think they will be ready yet, though I have lately had assurance that they will make the exchange in October. After that the preparation of a counter-case has to be undertaken. This, it is hoped, will not take longer than a few months, and then the matter will be ready for trial. It will, I presume, be submitted to the Privy Council at the first session of that body after that exchange is made.

I do not make this explanation as an apology because I do not feel that I have anything to apologize for. In my work on this case I have given the best that is in me, and I do not think that any fair-minded person will claim that I have been guilty of any "grafting" or "profligate" in regard to it.

Hon. Mr. Gibbs in moving the second reading of Bill entitled "An Act to amend Chapter 3 of H. George V., entitled "An Act of Authorization" (the Montreal Trust Company to do business in the Colony of Newfoundland), said that the object of the proposed amendment was to give to the Montreal Trust Company the same powers as those exercised by the Eastern Trust Company. The Bill was then read a second time and ordered to be referred to a committee of the whole House on to-morrow.

The House then went into Committee of the whole on Bill entitled "An Act to amend Chapter 86 of the Consolidated Statutes (Third Series), entitled "Of Stipendiary Magistrates and Justices of the Peace," Hon. Mr. Milley in the chair. Hon. Mr. Morine briefly pointed out that the object of this Bill was to give Stipendiary Magistrates and Justices of the Peace jurisdiction over the whole island, the necessity for which had at an early date been submitted to the Hon. Members. The Bill was passed without an amendment and on motion was read a third time, passed and ordered to be sent to the House of Assembly with the message that this House had passed same without an amendment.

A message was then read that the House of Assembly had passed the following Bills entitled:— (1) An Act for the Encouragement of Shipbuilding.

(2) An Act concerning payment of certain fees and charges by stamps, excepting Nos. 4 and 5, if it were the pleasure of the House a second time also as they involved no new principle and by doing so it would expedite matters.

The Bills were read a first and second time. Hon. Mr. Morine then said that the Bill referring to the Milling Company was more important, and the members of the House may prefer having it stand over. He stated that the Company asked for the privilege of being the only one to erect a flour mill for a period of twenty years.

Hon. Mr. Morine moved that all these Bills be read a first time, and excepting Nos. 4 and 5, if it were the pleasure of the House a second time also as they involved no new principle and by doing so it would expedite matters.

An argument in favour of the Flour Mill outside of the large amount of labour which it will afford our men is the benefit this country will derive from the many by-products in the form of feeds for cattle and poultry which we would otherwise have to specially import. Grain can be loaded at the head of the lakes and imported much cheaper than under the form of flour.

The only serious point of objection that one could find in the Bill is in the section regarding the Company's monopoly for a period of 20 years. But it is evident that if a company puts up a flour mill, properly equipped, it is not likely that any other concern would start in opposition. As far as the provision for a protection of 25 cents a barrel is concerned it is really very insignificant when we consider the advantages to the country in possessing such a mill.

The Bill as it now stands has been slightly amended from the form which it held under the previous Government. The Bill was read a second time and ordered committed on to-morrow.

Hon. A. R. Morine said with reference to the Printing and Stationery Department Bill that he would briefly outline the main principles of the Act. It was the Government's intention to appoint an official in the Colonial Secretary's Department who would have the control of all printing and the purchase of stations for all Departments. This man is to be one with a practical experience of about ten years and it to be known as the King's Printer. In some quarters it was said that this would necessarily entail much expenditure and in reality the only person needed outside of the official himself would be a competent stenographer. Then again, as this department would be connected with the Colonial Secretary's Department, the aid of the officials there could be utilised when necessary. The work at first will not doubt be somewhat arduous but when things become standardized it will not be so hard. A competent man is to be had for $2,000 and although no one has been definitely decided on enquiry has led to one who could not doubt completely fill the position. A stenographer can be obtained at $900.00 a year so that the expenditure all told will be about $2,500.00 a year.

Stationery will be stored in the various departments as it is now but will be under the key of the King's Printer and not the Department officials. At the present time each Department has the care of ordering its own printing and as it is bought in small lots and not ordered by experienced printers, the cost is very great. A printer may come into any department and request that he be given some work to do and in all probability his request is acceded to. This kind of thing will be done away with and the various classes of printing for the different Departments can be calculated for the exact year's requirements. The printing of the Statutes and the Statistical Books of the Legislature have for many years been done separately by political supporters and no attempt whatsoever has been made by competing bids to find the lowest cost available.

When commenting on the Bill in the Lower House the argument used was of this nature "You can show us what the cost of printing will be but you cannot show what the savings will be." How could you. But he was of the opinion that a Bill putting all the work to put up to tender and contract, what would happen? The Government would ask for tenders but who was there in the Departments concerned competent to say if the price were low enough. A track will be kept of the various departments by the King's Printer, billing each Department separately and he in turn will tender for the lowest orders and the Departments will apply to him.

Last year the printing bill, although in his opinion it was by no means the largest, was— Printing $71,748 Stationery $24,207 giving an expenditure of over $96,000. There also there are the special charges for elections and the census which amounted to $38,000.

As one with a large experience of printing, Sir P. T. McGrath said that it would no doubt result in a large saving of money if carried out in the spirit in which it was introduced. This was not the first time that such an experiment was tried, as in 1917 a purchasing agent was appointed, but the system didn't last long. It was his firm hope that this would be of longer duration. Three or four years ago the census was taken and ever since this time people are being steadily paid in connection with work for same, and he had no doubt but that this would probably go on until the time comes for a new census. A great saving could be made here and also in connection with the Hansard, which he heard was published last year but which up to the present he hadn't seen.

He also expressed regret at the manner in which the reporting of debates was carried on. It had been the intention of the Government at the opening of the session to have an Official Synopsis made each day for if the debates are to be of any value to the people they should be published the next day, and he was sorry this was not continued. When the Hansard was introduced in 1909 it was based on a principle then in vogue in Nova Scotia. There were two papers in Halifax supporting different political parties, and they had an arrangement by which each paper would publish so much of the debates for each day. Sir Edward Morris had endeavoured to get the Daily News and Evening Herald to come to an agreement similar to this in 1909 and as the type was set it was put aside for the publication of the Hansard, but the first thing he found was that he had to meet the opposition of the Printer's Union. He thought the debates should be published next day in the form of an intelligent condensation and was therefore strongly in favour of the Official Synopsis, which given competent men to do it was very satisfactory.

The position now was that the papers give at their own expense a synopsis of the Hansard, not published until after the House closes. The Bill was read a second time and ordered committed on to-morrow.

House then adjourned until Thursday next at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Linegar presented a petition from the Boiler-makers' Union asking that protection be given to the journeyman boiler-makers in repairs to boilers on ships and other places.

Mr. Moore supported the petition. The Minister of Marine and Fisheries tabled the report of his department for 1923-24.

The second reading of the logging bill was then taken up. Mr. Hallford made a brief address in support of the bill...

The Minister of Justice said he rose for the purpose of proposing an Amendment to the motion that the Bill be read a second time. He did not propose to be critical or question the good faith of those who were responsible for the Bill...

Mr. Sullivan seconded the amendment and considered the Bill objectionable in many respects. One feature of a minimum wage was the danger of the Companies making it a maximum wage...

Mr. Linegar supported the Amendment as he was convinced that better results would be had from a Commission of enquiry than by passing rash legislation without enquiry.

CARPENTIER KNOCKED DOWN Four Times in 10th Round, Makes Valiant Endeavor.

Tunney Wins in 15th. With Carpenter, Writing in Pain, Claiming Foul.

NEW YORK, July 25—Georges Carpentier, (173 lbs.), won the plaudits of the crowd of 40,000 people at the Polo Grounds last night as he left the United States champion, but declared the winner in the 15th round, scoring a technical knockout.

Carpentier got the crowd with him after the tenth round, in which he was knocked down four times, but gamely came back and carried the fighting.

Carpentier made one of the gamest and most valiant endeavors ever made by a fighter to combat a superior foe. Knocked down four times in that hectic tenth round, battered into virtual submission by an attack which threatened to break the very ribs which shaped his tottering frame, Carpentier stood up to his punishment as only a game man can, displaying the white flag of defeat only after a blow, which he alleged was foul, doubled him to the floor in writing pain and made further participation impossible.

The goddess of victory never once smiled upon the plucky brow of Carpentier during these 14 furious rounds of milling. Yet, even in the face of certain defeat, Carpentier kept driving on intent upon making his last endeavor one to be remembered.

At the opening of the tenth Tunney knocked Carpentier to the floor with a right. He was up at the count of six. He went down again for a similar blow but was up at one. The Frenchman appeared unable to defend himself and Tunney was trying frantically for a knockout. He showed him with rights and lefts. The referee attempted to stop the fight but Carpentier brushed him back and flew at Tunney. They mixed it furiously. The Frenchman was punch-drunk, but he kept boring in. A right dropped Carpentier again, but he was up at the count of eight. Carpentier fell to the floor as the bell sounded. The crowd cheered Carpentier as he went to his corner.

In round eleven Tunney staggered Carpentier with a left and followed it with a right. His left to the body forced Carpentier to hang on. Carpentier landed a left to Tunney's jaw, and then Tunney rushed Carpentier to a corner with a left to the head. Carpentier stumbled to the floor but was up immediately.

Carpentier however fought strongly in the 12th. At the outset he landed a pretty right to Tunney's jaw. Tunney was warned for hitting low. Carpentier landed a right to Tunney's jaw but Tunney countered with a harder right to the Frenchman's face, and then Carpentier stopped Tunney with a left to the face. Carpentier was warned for hitting low in the 13th round; he staggered Tunney with a right cross and the American countered with a right that shook Carpentier's head. They were fighting furiously at the bell.

Tunney rushed Carpentier at the opening of the 14th, but the Frenchman ducked and lifted Tunney clear of the floor, swinging him round in mid-air. Tunney landed a right uppercut and Carpentier's mouth was bleeding. Tunney landed to Carpentier's body, and the Frenchman yelled foul. His seconds dragged him to his corner as the bell rang. Descamps, Carpentier's manager, attempted to argue with the referee, but Griffin ruled the blow legal.

Carpentier, doubled up from apparent pain, came up for the 15th, and attempted to renew the battle from a semi-crouched position. He groined around the ring, attempting to find Tunney.

Referee Griffin waved Tunney to his corner with the idea of stopping the match. Carpentier rolled to the floor of the ring unable to stand.

The ringside was a bedlam of confusion. Handlers of both fighters rushed into the ring. Descamps, with arms waving, rushed to the referee, yelling "Foul! Foul!" Griffin waved him away, while Joe Humphries, official announcer, lifted Tunney's arm in token of victory, terminating the match after fourteen seconds of the fifteen round, in which not a blow was struck.

Many of the spectators thought the blow which terminated the fight, was foul, and boomed the decision. They cheered Carpentier to the echo as the Frenchman left the ring.

Carpentier rushed Tunney in the first round and peppered him with lightning blows. Tunney however scored in the eight and near the end got over a hard right to the Frenchman's jaw, and Carpentier held on. Tunney beat Carpentier to the punch in the second, and cut the Frenchman's right eye. Both clinched considerably in the third, and Carpentier reeled when Tunney's right caught him on the jaw when he was off his balance.

Carpentier got over the best blow of the fight in the fourth round, a terrific right to Tunney's head, which spun the United States champion half way around. He crossed with his left to Tunney's head, but Tunney came back with a stiff right that forced Carpentier to back away.

Carpentier excelled Tunney at the outset of the fifth, but at the finish a short left to Carpentier's jaw dropped him to his knees, but he was up immediately. The Frenchman, however, stopped Tunney with a wicked right in the sixth. Carpentier's right found Tunney's jaw again, but Carpentier stumbled and fell to his knees in a neutral corner.

Carpentier complained in the seventh that Tunney's left to the body was very low.

Tunney landed his left to Carpentier's jaw in the eighth, the Frenchman retaliating with a shower of rights and lefts that drove Tunney to the ropes. Tunney missed a right; Carpentier also missed a right, and stumbled to the floor.

At the opening of the ninth Carpentier stung Tunney with a vicious right that drove the American to the ropes. Tunney landed a weak right to the jaw, and Carpentier landed a right and left to the jaw but the bell interrupted his advantage. Then came the tenth, in which Tunney scored three knockdowns.

YOUTHFUL CHAMPION.
Desmond Burke, Ottawa, Winner of King's Prize, Is But 19 Years Old.
LONDON, July 21.—King George has sent his hearty congratulations to Private Desmond Burke, of Ottawa, winner of the King's Prize at Blisley. The Prince of Wales was amongst the first to congratulate the winner.

Private Burke's achievement in winning the blue-ribbon Blisley Prize in competition with 868 other marksmen from all parts of the Empire, has made him the hero of his nation.

He is only 19 years of age. He was also the winner of the bronze medal awarded for the top score, in the first stage. He is the fifth Canadian to

BABE LEADS BATTING.
CHICAGO, July 19.—Babe Ruth has crashed into the battle leadership of the American League, with an average of .384, leaving Falk, of the White Sox, a leader a week ago, in second place, with .369.

Ruth has clouted the ball for the full circuit 29 times already this season. He hopes to make 60 home runs before the season is out.

BABE RUTH.
Probably every reader of the "Weekly" has read or heard of Babe Ruth, the famous home-run king and the idol of all baseball fans. It will be news, however, to many that Ruth's wife is a product of Newfoundland. Mrs. Ruth's maiden name is Nellie Woodford, a daughter of Joanna and the late Michael Woodford who came to this country from Harbor Main some thirty years ago. Mr. Woodford, who was an engineer, died recently at his home in East Boston, aged 86.—Newfoundland Weekly.

NO FIGHT BEFORE AUGUST.
Word was received from London this morning that the Bloomfield-Gibbons fight will not take place until August. The rumor circulated around town that Bloomfield had knocked out Gibbons in the 4th round is incorrect.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO MOUNT CASHEL TO-DAY.
Preparations are all finalized for the making of Mount Cashel Garden Party, which takes place this afternoon, a successful one. Bro. Ennis has taken special interest in the sports end of the programme this year. The three mile race has a long list of entries, and promises to be the classic event of the day. The course will be the same as measured out accurately by Mr. Noel last year, viz: eight laps to the mile; and there should be no dispute as to the winner's time recorded over this route. O'Toole was the winner last year, having covered the course in 16 min. and 22 seconds. The ponies will race over the old track, which has been greatly improved upon, and to avoid crowding, the committee has deemed wisely in having the course properly roped off. The music during the afternoon and night will be furnished by the C.L.B., C.C.C. and Igit, but not least, the talented musicians of the Orphanage.

SPORTS PROGRAMME.
The order of the events will be:
8 p.m.—Football Fives, first round:
(1) C.C.C. vs. Star.
(2) B.I.S. vs. Saints.
(3) C.E.L. vs. Guards.
(4) Felidain vs. C.L.B.
4.15 p.m.—Pyramid Exhibition C.L.B. Relay Race Junior Football League.
8 Mile Race.
5.15 p.m.—Football Fives, 2nd Round:
(a) Winners of 1, vs. Winners of 2.
(b) Winners of 3, vs. Winners of 4.
5.45 p.m.—Pony Race, Preliminary Heats.
Interval For Teas.
7.15 p.m.—Football Fives, final:
Winners of (a) vs. Winners of (b).
7.30 p.m.—Pony Race, final heat.
8.30 p.m.—Dance in Play Hall.
At night a dance will be held in the Play Hall, for which the Mt. Cashel Band will render the music.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.
When serving cold meat, try to have at least one hot vegetable, or hot drink.
The coolest of colors should be selected for the interior of the summer cottage.
A little cornstarch sifted with the salt will make it shake easily from cellars.
When preparing stuffing for a shoulder of lamb, add a few finely-chopped nuts.
Cream cheese and currant jelly are a delicious combination for a sandwich filling.
Fill pastry shells with fresh, sugared berries, and garnish with whipped cream.
A vegetable platter introduced by a cool aspic makes a delightful summer menu.
Garnish toasted chicken sandwiches with bits of pickled beet salad and dill pickles.
Oatmeal is nice cooked with chopped dates and served with brown sugar and milk.
Cornmeal or English muffins are nice split, toasted and served with jelly at breakfast.
Except for canning, small fruits and berries should be bought only for immediate use.
A little grated onion and chopped green pepper are nice in the pimento cheese sandwich.
When selecting fresh peas, be sure that the pods are crisp, and snap when they are opened.
Vegetable timbales can be prepared in the cool of the morning, and reheated just before serving.

A Lovely Daughter of Terra Nova
In the Picture Section of the New York Times, of June 29th, are shown the photographs of several beautiful girls who are performing at the Apollo, in George White's "Scandals." Among them is a strikingly beautiful portrait of Pauline Clarke, and if a comparison were not invidious, we would say the most beautiful.

Miss Pauline Clarke is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Clarke, formerly of this city, but now of Brooklyn, N.Y., and grand daughter of Mr. Chas. Flood Parsons, of the Torbay Road. It may be mentioned here that Mr. Parsons is the only surviving son of the late Robert John Parsons, Esq., the silver-tongued orator, who represented the people of the East End for nearly half a century in the House of Assembly, and was delegate to London in the early fifties for Responsible Government, and Speaker of the House in 1860. Miss Clarke is only 17.

Nature's Danger Signals
Nervousness, melancholia, headache, and pain in the side are all nature's danger signals which indicate some ailment peculiar to a woman. When such warning symptoms appear women may avoid much pain and suffering if they will rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as its tonic, strengthening influence speedily removes the cause and restores the system to a healthy, normal condition.

UPS AND DOWNS.
Said Mr. Ups to Mr. Downs: "You've lived in fifty-seven towns; you always were inclined to roam while wiser people stayed at home. To keep on moving was your plan, to far Beersheba, then to Dan; no useful job could hold you long, though you were capable and strong; the lure of villages remote still summoned you, and got your goat. Now both of us are growing old, the silver hairs displace the gold; we lack the pep we used to have, and we must rub our joints with salve. But I have koeksies placed in brine; I need not murmur or repine; in summer heat or winter blast I do not need to stand against. But you are busted, Mr. Downs; you have no store of minted crowns; your plan of life I don't endorse; you surely suffer keen remorse." Said Mr. Downs to Mr. Ups: "You surely had me, bitter cups. Had I been blessed with prudent dome, I should have stayed right here at home, improving all the precious time, and saving now and then a dime. But I have journeyed east and west, at Gaffer Wanderlust's behest, and old age finds me, as you say, without a ruble put away. But I have memories, my friend, that are a solace without end. I've seen the Panoramia, Life; I've played a hand in noble strife; I've played a grand in thrilling games, I've known great men and splendid dames, while you collected cobwebs here, in sad old Panktown-by-the-Weir. Though on poor fare the roamer sups, he may be happy, Mr. Ups."
