THE Rev. A. E. DuPlan, rector of Alvinston, preached an excellent sermon in Trinity Church, Watford, on Sunday evening taking for his subject the words "That Disciple whom Jesus Loved." Owing to the inclement weather the attendance was below the average.

SUNDAY was the autumnal equinox and the weather prevalent at the time of the sun crossing the line is said to prevail to a greater or lesser degree for six weeks. The fulfillment of such a belief this year, judging from the sample of weather we had on Sunday, means a prevalence of rain and high winds till well on into October.

THE Fair Night Concert to be held in the Lyceum October 10th promises to be the best and leading concert of the season. There will be no less than seven live entertainers. The Harmony Boys and the Jazz Orchestra are worth the price alone, to say nothing of Jack Ballantyne, the noted comedian, and the Bally Hoo Band of six pieces. See-bills later.

ATTENTION is directed to an advertisement of the Ontario Fire Prevention League in another column. Thursday, October 9th, has been set aside by the Under Secretary of State as a day to be observed as Clean Up Day, and to consider means of preventing fires and loss of life. Canada's losses by fire are far greater per capita than those of any other country and individual responsibility rests upon the citizens of Ontario to do their part in preventing this terrible waste.

OWING to the large number of voters on the Watford voters' list for the coming Referendum and Provincial Elections it will be necessary to have four deputy returning officers and four poll clerks instead of the usual number of two as in previous elections. It is expected that the present polling booth will be partitioned off and arranged so that in each subdivision one set of officers will take the vote of those on the lists whose names commence with "A" to "M" and another set of officers those from "N" to "Z."

THE Strathroy District Epworth League convention convenes on Friday of this week in the Methodist church here. The evening session will commence with a song service, led by Rev. G. W. Dewey, of London, who will also give an address in same session on "The League and Personal Evangelism." Every person is welcome and invited to any or all of the sessions. Come, you will be interested and helped.

A PORTLY Dutch woman applied at the post office for a money order to send to her son in the Far East. She told the clerk she had left her son's letter at home, but said he was "some place out by China dot sounds like der nose an automobile makes." The clerk smiled and turning to another near by he said: "What kind of a noise does an automobile make, Joe?" "Honk, honk!" the other suggested. "Yah, dot's it," exclaimed the woman, her face brightening. "Honk, honk, dot's der place." So the clerk made the order payable at Hong Kong, and the woman went away happy.

Lucy was visiting her aunt in the country. It was the joy of the four-year-old to hunt for eggs in the barn. One day she brought in a very small one, presumably laid by a bantam. "Auntie," said the little maid, showing it, "the hen that laid that egg didn't have the right recipe."

Mass Meeting of Conservatives

A mass meeting of Liberal Conservatives of East Lambton will be held in the Lyceum, Watford, on Saturday, Oct. 4th at 2 o'clock p. m. to select a candidate to represent the Riding in the Provincial Legislature. ## THE REFERENDUM BALLOT

There seems to be considerable diversity of opinion as to voting on the coming Referendum. There is an impression prevalent that voters must answer each of the four questions on the ballot must be answered with four "yes's" or four "no's" or the ballot will be spoiled. This impression is not correct. You can vote "yes" or "no" to the four questions, but you must vote "yes" or "no" to all the questions, otherwise your ballot will be counted as spoiled. As an example—a person may vote "no" on question 1, "yes" on question 2, and so on.

TO IMPROVE THE CEMETERY

Arrangements are being made to improve the Watford cemetery by gravelling the driveways and walks. As almost every family in the district is interested in having the cemetery put in better condition Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons of next week have been named to hold a bee to do the work. Farmers are asked to help by drawing gravel from Mrs. Brayford's pit on those days. Will you kindly bring your team and help. Others from town will be on hand to assist with the work. Let us endeavor to put the resting place of our dead in better condition.

The End of Romance.
Engagement breaking is in season. "The marriage arranged between Capt. X and Miss Y will not now take place." That cold point end to romance can be read any day now in the society columns of the papers. It is becoming a habit.

Experts who study these matters declare that the percentage of broken engagements has never been so high, and they set down several reasons. The main one is:

The great khaki illusion. (a) The woman: "You would not believe how different he looked in his civilian suit, my dear. I simply couldn't do it." (b) The man: "She was awfully charming as a driver in the Women's Legion, but when I saw her in one of the new evening gowns—well, it just couldn't happen."

The house famine is given as another cause. Two young people who believe themselves to be twin souls go out and try to find a future home. It is physically impossible for any person's temper to stand the strain of present-day house-hunting. They quarrel, and there is another broken romance.

Our Federal Government.
The teacher of a little rural school in Grey county was trying to acquaint the youthful mind with all the workings of the Federal Government, its bodies and their duties. Having covered the lesson, she began her review, asking, "How many houses of Parliament are there?"

Answer—Two.

Name them.

Very promptly and without malicious intent, one little girl piped up: "The House of Commons and the House of Refuge."

Everybody who has heard the story thinks she hit the nail upon the head.

Prosperous Fisheries.
An increase of over $800,000 in the total value of sea fish taken during the month of May this year, as compared with the same month a year ago, is shown by the monthly statement on sea fishing results, issued from the Naval Department. The total value of sea fish at the point of landing of both the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts during May this year was $3,085,050, while in May, 1918, it was $2,229,877.

A SIMPLE METHOD TO REMEDY RHEUMATISM

AGE DOES NOT INTERFERE IF TREATMENT IS PROPERLY FOLLOWED

Many persons contend that there is no sure remedy for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Neuritis, or their kindred diseases, but don't be biased; draw your own conclusions from the proof submitted.

Over two years ago, William Nesbitt, of 113 John St., Toronto, Ontario, was attacked by Rheumatism. Mr. Nesbitt was 53 years of age at the time and he feared the worst. After trying many remedies and prescriptions without obtaining relief he took a friend's advice and used Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules. Result—to-day Mr. Nesbitt says, "He hasn't lost a day's work since nor fears Rheumatism any more."

Mr. Nesbitt gives the entire credit for his recovery to T.R.C.S. Profit by his experience. Try them.

Insurance Records Prove Moderate Drinking Increases Death-rate 35%

LIFE Insurance figures prove that the excess of deaths among moderate drinkers over abstainers runs from 11% to 74%. It is the business of Life Insurance Companies to know the risks a man takes when he uses liquor. These Insurance men have no theories to prove and no doctrine to preach. Their figures are as cold as ice, and they make you pay for the risks you run. To them it is simply business—a matter of dollars and cents. But to you it is a matter of life and death.

Actuarial Comparison of Death Records

40-50	6,246	10,861	74%
50-60	13,056	18,524	42%
60-70	29,078	34,568	19%

Are You Willing to Die Before Your Time for Sake of Booze?

THE number of deaths among moderate drinkers averages 35% higher than among abstainers.

If you have habitually taken two glasses of whiskey per day or the alcoholic equivalent in beer, your chances of dying before your time are double those of total abstainers.

It has been costing total abstainers yearly millions of dollars in premiums to help to pay for excessive deaths among drinkers! Can we afford such waste of life and money in the face of the war losses of money and men?

Distress in Europe, as far as food grains are concerned, will disappear after the present harvest, according to John D. Shanahan, of the United States Grain Corporation, who arrived in New York Tuesday after an official tour of the grain-producing sections of Italy, the Balkans, Poland, Russia, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Germany, Belgium, Holland and Northern France. At least 90 per cent of the tillable acreage of Europe is planted. Mr. Shanahan declared, and despite a lack of fertilizers, and unfavorable season in some sections, this vast planted area will help drive away the "real distress" now existing abroad because of food shortages.

Farmers Buy Ford Trucks Because

they save labor, save time, save money.

The Ford Truck is the most general-purpose implement on the farm.

The farmer can get his breakfast at home, take his produce to market, and be home again for dinner.

He can command the highest prices for his vegetables and fruit because he gets them to market while the dew is still on them.

He can take his hogs, sheep and other stock to market, as well as haul roots, potatoes and apples from the field.

The Ford Truck brings the city to the farmer's door.

It solves the problem of the shortage of labor.

A saving in horses, a saving in men.

Oh! Such Pain! dizzy—dragged-down? With dull headache, backache—racking with pain here or there—poor woman, she's one of many. On those days each month, when in other circumstances she would go to bed, she must still be at the desk or counter, or struggle through the day as best she may with her household or her family cares. Usually she who feels those dragging-down or dizzy symptoms, and other pains caused by womanly disease, can be cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the cause of these pains. Faded, jaded, tired, overworked, weak, nervous, delicate women are helped to strength and health by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. In liquid or tablets.

CHATHAM, ONT.—"Being a nurse, I have had occasion to use 'Favorite Prescription' quite a lot. I recommend it to my patients and it has been a wonderful help to many of them. I never knew of a case where it failed. I have a patient who is using it now and is doing fine. I have taken it myself and got the very best results. I consider it the best medicine there is for women who are ailing."—Mrs. Edna Moore, 80 Devere Street.

The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which never fail to regulate the bowels and stomach, thus driving out constipation and indigestion; colds and simple fevers. Concerning them Mrs. Gaspard Daigle, Demain, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets have been of great benefit to my little boy, who was suffering from constipation and indigestion. They quickly relieved him and now he is in the best of health." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dougal McKellar who conducted a dry goods store in Strathroy for many years, died Sept. 11th.

KERWOOD

St. Paul's church, Kerwood, which has been closed for the past ten weeks for repairs, painting, decorating, rearrangement of pews, etc., will be reopened on Sunday next, Sept. 28th, with three services, at 11 a.m., 3 p.m. and 7.30 p.m. The preacher at the morning and evening services will be Rev. Prof. T. G. A. Wright, B.A., of London. The afternoon service will be a Children's Rally, to which the adults are also invited to attend. The chief speaker in the afternoon will be Miss Armstrong, of Strathroy. Rev. Mr. Wright will also give a short address. The interior of the church now compares favorably with the best churches in the vicinity. The rearrangement of the pews and furniture was done by Mr. Silas Cook and was accomplished in a satisfactory and workman-like manner. The painting and decorating is most pleasing and artistic and reflects great credit to the workmanship of Mr. V. M. Varley, of Parkhill, as a master artist in church decorating. A large attendance is anticipated at all the services. The offering will be for the church improvement fund.

DELCO LIGHT
The Complete Electric Light and Power Plant

Lights the Home

Pays for Itself

Pumps the Water

ANY one of over 75,000 users will tell you that Delco-Light pays for itself.

In money.

They will tell you that the pleasure and comfort of Delco-Light cost you nothing.

CHORES are non-productive work. Cut down chore time and you can do things worth money to you. Wm. Schneekloth says the electric power from his Delco-Light plant saves him 8½ hours a week on the churn, separator and washing machine alone—over 40 working days in a year. Think of the money he can make in those forty days.

On the Helms farm at Belleville they use Delco-Light power for the chores—in milking and feeding stock, in pumping water, in ironing and washing—and save 19 hours a week, or about three months of one man's work in the year. Here's a hired man's work for three months which Delco-Light does. The cost of operating Delco-Light is less than the cost of oil for oil lamps.

But operating the small machinery around the farm is only a part of the work which Delco-Light does for you. Take the question of pumping water; with Delco-Light you can have water under pressure at taps anywhere on the farm. You can water stock easily and quickly. You can have hot and cold water in the house. S. W. Cooke & Son, of Maysville, have a big herd of Holsteins. Delco-Light has pumped the water and done the milking for three years. They figure that their saving is not less than $1,800. As Mr. Cooke says, they could pretty nearly afford a new Delco-Light plant every year. And remember this saving does not include the convenience and comfort and saving of electric lights.

J. H. Lackey raises Polled Jerseys and Poland China Hogs. He, also, needs a lot of water. His Delco-Light outfit enables him to get along without two men he formerly hired.

AROUND the house there is a great big saving of time and work for your wife—time she can very well use for her chickens or her garden or her dressmaking. A. F. Hinnenkamp tells us that Delco-Light saves his wife 416 hours of housework a year by operating an electric iron, a vacuum sweeper and a washing machine. Besides—no lamps to clean, no matches to use, no danger of fire, lots of light.

C. F. Tressin adds in the time saved from cleaning lamps and makes a total of 547 hours a year. Think of all the things your wife could do with that extra seven weeks. And then you have electric light. You can't know the joy and comfort of electric light till you have experienced it. Just press a button and release a flood of bright, clean, safe light. No matches. No lamps. No danger. Delco-Light gives four times as much light from a gallon of coal oil as a lamp gives.

Delco-Light does work on the farm. Saves time for more productive things. Its electric power will, in most cases, save enough time to pay for the complete Delco-Light plant in three years.

The electric light you get free.

DELCO-LIGHT is a complete electric light and power plant, easy to install and easy to care for. It will give twenty-four-hour-a-day electric light and power service.

Delco-Light is direct connected. There are no belts to slip, break or be replaced.

It is self-cranking. Pressing down a lever starts the engine.

It is air-cooled. There is no water to carry, to freeze, or to boil away.

There is only one place to put oil.

A simple mixing valve regulates the fuel supply. There is no complicated carburetor.

Ball and roller bearings cut down friction to a minimum.

Long-life batteries mean economy.

You need to know more about Delco-Light. We have fully illustrated literature showing Delco-Light in operation. Write your nearest distributor for it.

Throughout this advertisement we have quoted from letters received from Delco-Light users. Each of these letters is accompanied by an affidavit. We have prepared a folder reproducing some of these letters, and with photographs of some farms where Delco-Light is used. Your nearest distributor will be glad to send this book to you.

IN MISERY FOR YEARS

Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I know it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."

—Mrs. LIZZIE COURTNEY, 108 8th Ave., West, Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such letters as this are continually being published? Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

CHAPTER XIV. The Air Battle.

Sudden was our onslaught that they had no time to prepare for it. It was as unexpected as lightning from a clear sky. Every phase of my plan worked splendidly. Our huge ships moved their way entirely through the line of their battle craft; then the V opened up and a broad lane appeared, through which the transports leaped toward the temples of the therns, which could now be seen glistening in the sunlight. By the time the therns had rallied from the attack 100,000 green warriors were already pouring through their courts and gardens, while 150,000 others leaned from low swinging transports to direct their almost uncanny marksmanship upon the thern soldiery that manned the ramparts or attempted to defend the temples.

Now the two great fleets closed in a titanic struggle far above the fiendish din of battle in the gorgeous gardens of the therns. Slowly the two lines of

Now the Two Great Fleets Closed in a Titanic Struggle.

Helium's battalions joined their ends, and then commenced the circling within the line of the enemy which is so marked a characteristic of Barsoomian naval warfare.

Round and round in each other's tracks moved the ships under Kantos Kan until at length they formed nearly a perfect circle. By this time they were moving at high speed, so that they presented a difficult target for the enemy.

Broadside after broadside they delivered as each vessel came in line with the ships of the therns. The latter attempted to rush in and break up the formation, but it was like stopping a buzza with a bare hand.

From my position on the deck beside Kantos Kan I saw ship after ship of the enemy take the awful, sickening dive which proclaims its total destruction. Slowly we maneuvered our circle of death until we hung above the gardens, where our green warriors were engaged.

The order was passed down for them to embark. Then they rose slowly to a position within the center of the circle.

In the meantime the therns' fire had practically ceased. They had had enough of us and were only too glad to let us go on our way in peace.

But our escape was not to be compassed with such ease, for scarcely had we got under way once more in the direction of the entrance to Omean than we saw, far to the north, a great black line topping the horizon. It could be nothing other than a fleet of war.

Whose or whether bound we could not even conjecture. When they had come close enough to make us out at all Kantos Kan's operator received a radio-aerogram, which he immediately handed to my companion. He read the thing and handed it to me:

Kantos Kan—Surrender in the name of the Jeddak of Helium, for you cannot escape. ZAT ARRAS.

The therns must have caught and translated the message almost as soon as did we, for they immediately renewed hostilities when they realized that we were soon to be set upon by other enemies.

Before Zat Arras had approached near enough to fire a shot we were again hotly engaged with the thern fleet, and as soon as he drew near he, too, commenced to pour a terrific fusillade of heavy shot into us. Ship after ship reeled and staggered into uselessness beneath the pitiless fire that we were undergoing. The thing could not last much longer. I ordered the transports to descend again into the gardens of the therns.

"Wreak your vengeance to the utmost," was my message to the green allies, "for by night there will be none left to avenge your wrongs."

Presently I saw the ten battleships that had been ordered to hold the shaft of Omean. They were returning at full speed, firing their stern batteries almost continuously.

There could be but one explanation. They were being pursued by another hostile fleet. Well, the situation could be no worse. The expedition already was doomed.

No man that had embarked upon it would return across that dreary ice cap. How I wished that I might face Zat Arras with my long sword for just an instant before I died! It was he who had caused our failure.

As I watched the oncoming ten I saw their pursuers race swiftly into sight. It was another great fleet. For a moment I could not believe my eyes, but finally I was forced to admit that the most fatal calamity had overtaken the expedition, for the fleet I saw was none other than the fleet of the Black Pirates that should have been so safely bottled up in Omean.

What a series of misfortunes and disasters! What awful fate hovered over me that I should have been so terribly thwarted at every angle of my search for my lost love! Could it be possible that the curse of Issus was upon me; that there was, indeed, some malign divinity in that hideous carcass?

I would not believe it, and, throwing back my shoulders, I ran to the deck below to join my men in repelling boarders from one of the thern craft that had grappled us broadside. In the wild lust of hand to hand combat my old hopefulness returned, and as they then went down beneath my blade I could almost feel that we should win success in the end even from apparent failure.

My presence among the men so greatly inspired them that they fell upon the luckless whites with such ferocity that within a few moments we had turned the tables upon them, and a second later as we swarmed their own decks I had the satisfaction of seeing their commander take the long leap from the bows of his vessel in token of surrender and defeat.

Then I joined Kantos Kan. He had been watching what had taken place on the deck below, and it seemed to have given him a new thought. Immediately he passed an order to one of his officers, and presently the colors of the Prince of Helium broke from every point of the flagship.

A great cheer arose from the men of our own ship, a cheer that was taken up by every other vessel of our expedition as they in turn broke my colors from their upper works.

Then Kantos Kan sprang his coup. A signal legible to every sailor of all the fleets engaged in that fierce struggle was strung aloft upon the flagship.

"Men of Helium for the Prince of Helium against all his enemies," it read.

Presently my colors broke from one of Zat Arras' ships; then from another and another. On some we could see fierce battles waging between the Zodangan soldiery and the Heliumetic crews, but eventually the colors of the Prince of Helium floated above every ship that had followed Zat Arras upon our trail. Only his flagship flew them not.

Zat Arras had brought 5,000 ships. The sky was black with the three enormous fleets. It was Helium against the field now, and the fight had settled to countless individual duels. There could be little or no maneuvering of fleets in that crowded, fire split sky.

Zat Arras' flagship was close to my own. I could see the thin features of the man from where I stood.

His Zodangan crew was pouring broadside after broadside into us, and we were returning their fire with equal ferocity. Closer and closer came the two vessels until but a few yards intervened. Grapplers and boarders lined the contiguous rails of each. We were preparing for the death struggle with our hated enemy.

There was but a yard between the two mighty ships as the first grappling irons were hurled. I rushed to the deck to be with my men as they boarded. Just as the vessels came together with a slight shock I forced my way through the lines and was the first to spring to the deck of Zat Arras' ship.

After me poured a yelling, cheering, cursing throng of Helium's best fighting men. Nothing could withstand them in the fever of battle lust which enthralled them.

Down went the Zodangans before that surging tide of war, and as my men cleared the lower decks I sprang to the forward deck where stood Zat Arras.

"You are my prisoner, Zat Arras!" I cried. "Yield and you shall have quarter."

For a moment I could not tell whether he contemplated according to my demand or facing me with drawn sword.

For an instant he stood hesitating, and then, throwing down his arms, he turned and rushed to the opposite side of the deck. Before I could overtake him he had sprung to the rail and hurried himself headforemost into the awful depths below.

Thus went Zat Arras, jed of Zodanga, to his end.

On and on went that strange battle. The therns and blacks had not combined against us. Wherever their ship met ship of the Black Pirates was a battle royal, and in this I thought I saw our salvation. Wherever messages could be passed between us that could not be intercepted by our enemies I passed the word that all our vessels were to withdraw from the fight as rapidly as possible, taking a position to the west and south of the combatants. I also sent an air scout to the fighting green men in the gardens below to re-embark and to the transports to join us.

My commanders were further instructed that when engaged with an enemy to draw him as rapidly as possible toward a ship of his hereditary foemen and by careful maneuvering to force the two to engage, thus leaving himself free to withdraw.

This stratagem worked to perfection, and just before the sun went down I had the satisfaction of seeing all that was left of my once mighty fleet gathered nearly twenty miles southwest of the still terrific battle between the blacks and whites.

Our plan now was to attempt to make a combined assault upon Issus at dawn of the following day.

Tars Tarkas, with his green warriors, and Hor Vastus, with the red men, guided by Xodar, were to land within the gardens of Issus or the surrounding plains, while Carthoris, Kantos Kan and I were to lead our smaller force from the sea of Omean through the pits beneath the temple, which Carthoris knew so well.

I now learned for the first time the cause of my ten ships' retreat from the mouth of the shaft. It seemed that when they had come upon the shaft the navy of the Black Pirates were already issuing from its mouth.

Fully twenty vessels had emerged, and, though they gave battle immediately in an effort to stem the tide that rolled from the black pit, the odds against them were too great, and they were forced to flee.

With great caution we approached the shaft under cover of darkness. At a distance of several miles I caused the feet to be halted, and from there Carthoris went ahead alone upon a one man flier to reconnoiter.

In perhaps half an hour he returned to report that there was no sign of a patrol boat or of the enemy in any form, and so we moved swiftly and noiselessly forward once more toward Omean.

At the mouth of the shaft leading to Omean we stopped again for a moment for all the vessels to reach their previously appointed stations; then with the flagship I dropped quickly into the black depths, while one by one the other vessels followed me in quick succession.

We had decided to stake all on the chance that we would be able to reach the temple of Issus by the subterranean way, and so we left no guard of vessels at the shaft's mouth. Nor would it have profited us any to have done so, for we did not have sufficient force all told to have withstood the vast navy of the Black Pirates had they returned to engage us.

FROM AMERICA TO EUROPE.

Did Primitive Canadians "Discover" the Old World?

In a recent issue of Nordisk Tidsskrift (Stockholm) Prof. Oscar Montelius had an article in which data concerning communication between America and other parts of the world before the time of Columbus were collated and discussed. On the basis of these facts the professor raises the question of the early cultural links between various parts of the world and whether these threads of communication could have had any demonstrable influence on cultural development.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the Vikings and other Scandinavians discovered and visited America long before Columbus. It is less generally known that there are data that point to peoples having journeyed, many centuries before Columbus' time, from the American continent to Europe. The direction of ocean currents facilitates such a journey. Floating wreckage is occasionally washed up on the west coast of Europe with marks of identification that show it has come from America.

A couple of mediaeval authors tell of "Indians" who came to the German coast. A few decades after the birth of Christ Pomponius Mela tells how the pro-consul in Cisalpine Gaul received from a German king as a gift some "Indians" who had come to Germany's coast, scudding in their vessels before a westerly wind. Pliny, too, refers to the event. That these strangers who could not themselves explain whence they came should have been supposed to be "Indians" is, in view of the period's geographical knowledge, very natural. The supposition that these "Indians" were, in reality, American Indians was confirmed in a notable way by an archaeological find of about a century ago.

In the Louvre is a Roman bronze head, cast about the time of the birth of Christ, that plainly represents an American Indian. It is hollow and has apparently been used for a holy ointment. At the back of the head is seen the beginning of the tuft of hair which the Indians to this day have worn there. This bronze head is distinguishable from all that one is accustomed to see of Roman art, but it offers all the characteristic features of an Indian head.

With a Time Saver Electric Washer you can easily get all the washing done in your own home. It saves three whole hours on wash day and makes the day an easy one. Both washer and wringer are driven by electric power and run for 2c. an hour. It is moderate in price. It pays back its cost in a year in the saving of laundry bills or washer woman's wages. HAVE UNION OF RURAL SCHOOLS
"The solution of better education in rural districts is the consolidated schools," declared Hon. Dr. H. J. Cody Minister of Education, before the Ontario Municipal Association, Friday. The Minister declared that while in his opinion rural Ontario would never entirely get away from the little red school house he saw a gradual getting away from the system of five or six small schools to a district.
"We have carried on the campaign for consolidation in several districts," continued Dr. Cody, "and consolidation is under way in quite a few. But I don't believe in trying to force it on the people. That is not democratic. But in order to encourage consolidation we are going to give a grant of from $800 to $1,200 towards the erection of a central school for each district and also from 10 to 40 per cent. of the cost of conveying the children to and from the schools.
"The plan will not necessarily reduce the cost of maintaining the schools. The attendance of children would probably largely increase. While there was an attendance of 75 children at five schools there would probably be a total attendance of 125 children at the central school. Regulation of attendance, where ever consolidation has taken place, has greatly improved.
In addition to the school facilities Dr. Cody pointed out that in these central schools there could be a social hall and public library for the benefit of the district adults.
Better teachers could be obtained and agriculture taught to better advantage. Referring to necessity for highly trained teachers, the minister said the department was determined to increase the salaries to the highest level to which the Government could be induced to raise them.

He also had on exhibit excellent samples of wheat, oats and barley, grown, matured and threshed this season, 500 miles north of Toronto. Samples of spring wheat were on exhibit which had been grown and threshed inside of 59 days. Mr. Farrell gave a number of lectures during the day and distributed 1500 pounds of literature. ## A MOTHER'S TRIALS

Care of Home and Children Often Causes a Breakdown.
The woman at home, deep in household duties and the cares of motherhood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls, while hurried meals, broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through weakness, headaches, backaches and nervousness. Too many women have grown to accept these visitations as part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple and the cure at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one always unflinching way to get this good blood so necessary to perfect health, and that is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills make new blood abundantly, and through their use thousands of weak, ailing wives and mothers have been made bright, cheerful and strong. If you are ailing, easily tired, or depressed, it is a duty you owe yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. What this medicine has done for others, it will surely do for you.
Mrs. Robt. Arnold, formerly of Forest, died recently at Napanee, Man.
