sent season to secure for the butter trade of Canada a better footing in the English mar-ket than it has hitherto had. Of late years Canada a better footing in the English market than it has hitherto had. Of late years our exportation of cheese to the mother country has grown to immense proportions. Where but a few years ago a small quantity of our cheese found its way to the English market this trade has of late years grown to such an extent that over half the cheese now imported into Great Britain comes from Canada, while only about two per cent. of the butter imported is Canadian. The cheese trade has been developed largely through the assistance rendered it by the government. For several years the government has taken the output of certain of the cheese factories, at a given price, and assumed all risk of shipping it to England and placing it upon the market, returning to the makers the profit, if any, remaining after the expenses were paid. This policy has had the effect of introducing our cheese into the markets of the old country to a much section and the control of the proper ments of our abolts. The first clause was as follows:

The United States Government has once more been compelled to borrow gold in order to maintain the national credit. This makes the third time this has had to be done since the present administration took office just two years ago. In all something over $160,000,000 have been horrowed, and interest bearing bonds to that extent issued, thus adding to the permanent debt of the nation this large amount, within so short a time. This is certainly a remarkable change from This is certainly a remarkable change from to find itself with a surplus of about $100,-000,000 a year on its hands, and its officials F. L. Milner, J. On the contrary their difficulty has been to get a sufficient quantity of gold to redeem the greenbacks, s lver certificate and treasury notes presented for redemption, and to give the business world the as surance that the nation was able to redeem all its obligations in gold.

The Valley Telephone Co., Ltd.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of this company took place in Morrison's Hall, on Tuesday, 18th inst., at 3.30 p.m.

The president, Hon. A. W. Savary being absent, Dr. J. A. Sponagle, vice president, presided, and presented the Directors Report for 1894. This report shows that the company now own about three hundred miles of single line including the Trunk Line extending from Digby to Hantaport and the several branches or feeders extending to Torbrook, Port George, Margaretville, Canning, Kingsport, etc., and that 300 instruments are in place, ninety-eight of which were added during the year. Seventy miles of the line were constructed last year, and the Port Williams Company's line was purchased and added to the property of the company.

Owing to the cost involved in the additions referred to above, it was unanimously resolved to increase the capital stock of the company by $5,000, $4,000 of which is now available, to be offered to old subscribers only till the 23rd inst., after which the balance, if any, will be offered to the general public.

"Court Wilmot" was organized at Middleton the 10th June, 1993, with thirteen charter members. The membership has steadily increased, and at the present time forty names are enrolled.

The "insurance offered by the I. O. Foresters" is among the best, and is steadily growing in favor, and being a Fraternal Society as well, recommends itself to those contemplating a cheap, reliable, life insurance.

—One of the passengers drowned on the steamer Elle, off Holland, was Albert E. Lockhart, aged 25, of Boonville, N. Y., and son of a former Monoton lady, whose maiden name was Isabella Ritchie, sister of T.B. Bitchie, still resident there. The young man's father, Rev. W. E. Lockhart, was a Baptist clergyman who died while visiting Monoton in 1873. The family are well known in these provinces.

I went down stairs and found the body lying at the side of the shaft, with the head crushed by the 500 pound elevator weight. The weight was partly on the boy's head. Hyams accounted for the blood on his hands by saying that he had cut them lifting the weight. The elevator was an old-time hoist, and I know that Mr. Hyams had frequently warned the employes against getting too near it.

There are days in our lives when our hearts seem filled
With utter confusion and pain,
And into the darkness of heavy hearts
Comes naught but the fall of rain;
And the web of our lives stretches onward
In the tangled mass of threads;
And our God has forgotten and stoops not toward

The sad and bowed-down heads
Of his children helplessly calling, calling.

Hush! did I say forgotten—
Does the Father ever forget?
The web of our lives shall stretch onward
In perfect beauty, while yet
Sweet Faith keeps her foot on the treadle,
And Hope lifts her beautiful eyes;
For God's finger smooths out the tangles,
And lo! aloft in the skies,
Is the sun still cheerily shining, shining. A PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

The designs for the cups were left entirely for the members of the settled on a small silver-plated goblet hold-ing about a teaspoonful of wine. The pastor informed his flock that this style of cup would cost thirty-five cents each, while an eminently satisfactory goblet of glass could be purchased for four cents. Despite the difference in price, however, the congregation chose the silver cup and several doze of them were ordered. At the first service that these were used the cups, about a dozen of them on a tray, were passed around, and each member, after sipping the wine, laid the cup back on the tray. Building an Ice-house. The simplest kind of a structure will keep ice. A cheap board building with cracks battened will answer the purpose. For a permanent house it is well to build a brick r stone foundation, and to bed the sills in mortar. The walls should be double, and can be made so by using two by eight inch lumber for studding. Line both sides with paper, and board up tight, but do not fill in. Let the roof project on all sides, or build under the shade of a tree, or on the north side of a larger structure. Always leave plenty of ventilation at the gable ends. Have a drain at the bottom, extending out a considerable distance. Cover the mouth of this drain in the house with a wire screen, and then cover the whole bottom with layer of sawdust a foot thick. The keeping of ice depends quite as much on the packing as on the house in which it is stored. Sawdust or dry tanbark furnish the best packing material. The next best is chaff or cut straw, and after these, uncut

I. S. JOHNSON, ESQ. My Dear Sir:—Fifty years ago this month your father, Dr. Johnson, called at my store and left me some Johnson's Anodyne Liniment on sale. I have sold it ever since. I can most truly say that it has maintained its high standard and popularity from that time to this.

I have used your Johnson's Anodyne Liniment for more than fifty years in my family. Have used it for colds, coughs, sore throat, signed to every genuine bottle of sings, cramps, sore stomach, rheumatism, lameness, colic, toothache, neuralgia, etc., and found it always good every way. I would not let my house be without it. I am a man 71 years old. Johnson's Liniment is my family remedy.
