

Charles Gibson's Sentence is Commuted to Life Imprisonment

Gibson Will Not Be Hanged

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 7.—(Special).—Charles Gibson will not be hanged on Thursday for the murder of Herman Rosenthal. Announcement was made after the cabinet meeting late this evening that the death sentence had been commuted to life imprisonment.

Millionaire Was Lost in Bush Three Days

J. B. Fraser of Ottawa, With Companion, Had No Compass, Lost Their Way and Lived on Berries Until Found by Search Party of Friends.

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—(Special).—J. B. Fraser, one of Ottawa's millionaires, head of the Fraser-Byson Lumber Co. and a director of the Bank of Ottawa, who has just arrived here, had the closest call from death that any lumberman has had since the industry was started in the Ottawa Valley. His cousin, Robert Chamberlain, of Detroit, shared the same experience.

Aeroplane Dips Killing Woman

Her Sister Probably Fatally Injured and Several Others Hurt During Exhibition Near Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 7.—(Can. Press).—Miss Ruth Hildreth, daughter of W. E. Hildreth of New York City, was killed and her sister, Dorothy Hildreth, probably fatally injured this afternoon in a Hammondsport when Lincoln Beachey lost control of a 100-horsepower aeroplane, and it swept a number of spectators off a platform from which they were watching the exhibition. Ruth Hildreth fell upon an automobile and her skull was fractured. Among those slightly hurt were Lieut. Richardson and Bellinger of the U. S. navy aviation corps, and Beachey.

The accident occurred near the head of Lake Keuka, where Beachey is said to have planned to execute a somersault in the air. A big crowd had gathered for the exhibition, and to gain a good view Misses Hildreth and the navy officers climbed to the top of a small building used as headquarters by naval aviators.

Beachey recovered the aeroplane and dipped his machine in salute. They were in the air, the aeroplane went to the end of the field, turned and came back. When it was over the heads of the Hildreth party the machine was seen to dip. The aeroplane came so close to the party as to sweep all to the ground. The aeroplane careened wildly and plunged to the earth, upsetting the aviator and wrecking the machine.

The few minutes which Mr. Fraser fortunately had in his trouser pocket enabled him to kindle a fire each night and this led to the discovery of the lost ones.

For three days and three nights the two men wandered in the woods without any food except the wild berries they found at different points. Just when they were about "all in" they were found by one of the search parties sent out from the headquarters of the company.

Baseball, Seen by De Wolf Hopper

Famous Comedian, The Pro-Justiced in Favor of the Giants, Says Yesterday's Was a Great Game—People on Tenterhooks and Thousands Watched Every Move.

Complete stories of the world series will be found on page 10 daily.

(By De Wolf Hopper—Copyrighted.) NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—A hit in time saves nine.

Brother fans, of course you don't expect a disinterested expert opinion from me. I am a rabid fan, pure and simple—or at least a rabid fan—and I am first and for all time for the Giants. I could not write from any other viewpoint.

I thoroughly appreciate Connie Mack and the splendid lot of fellows working for him. One of them, Mr. Baker by name, did that trick of his again—another home run. In the sweetest possible spirit, if that man should wake up tomorrow morning with the mumps I would exude a little halibut.

The epitome of it all is just this: We made as many hits as they did; we didn't make any errors, and their marmalade infield was guilty of one. The fact that they made three longer hits is offset by that. By far the best pitcher they have didn't win their game. Again that man Baker with his home run bubbles to the surface. Having got rid of Bender, I am sitting back to enjoy the rest of the series with infinite satisfaction.

What a game! It is thousands of people were in the grounds on tenterhooks every instant, and thousands more were outside who could not get in. And every inch of this broad continent is as interested as New York. And yet our English cousins say the game is like their rouncers. Yes, it is. Just as much like it as Lillian Russell is like John Bull.

All the players seemed pretty well in possession of themselves in spite of the awful tension. Bender seemed particularly cool. This was recognized and appreciated by the Quaker parsons, but the Brave wouldn't even look up at the grand stand when the inmates applauded. That was his Indian reservation.

Golly, that was a ballless feeling when Baker hit that home run to the grand stand. It's a long hit that has no fielder.

It was unfortunate Snodgrass could not play, thus necessitating a shift in the line-up. But the Giants are particularly fortunate in such contingencies. For McGraw really has a wonderful lot of understarts. If would

People of Dominion Are Carrying Out Vast World Progress Thru the West

British Postmaster-General Much Impressed With Making of Canada—This Country No Appendage of the Empire—Going Ahead in Moral Force and Intellectual Advancement.

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—(Can. Press).—The presence of Right Hon. Herbert L. Samuel, British postmaster-general, drew a crowded attendance at the Canadian Club luncheon in the Chateau Laurier. Several ministers of the government were present. Mr. Samuel made a very favorable impression as one perfectly sincere in his views, a student of political history and an administrator thoroly alive to the responsibilities of office and anxious to use its opportunities to the best possible advantage. A fluent and incisive speaker, he was listened to throughout with the closest attention, and while he was making his peroration with all the emphasis at his command on the home rule question, declaring that the Liberal government would not and could not abandon its policy, the stillness was almost dramatic.

After expressing his sense of the obligation under which he stood for the kindness that he had received as the guest of the Canadian Government during his tour with Mr. Pelletier, Mr. Samuel said he had been profoundly impressed by the making of the west. During the last two hundred years, he supposed, the most conspicuous feature in the world's history was that the peoples of Europe had assumed control of the two Americas, Australia, New Zealand, the greater part of Africa and a large part of Asia. That extension had been of great advantage to mankind at large, chiefly because it had opened up fresh sources of supply. They in world progress in the west, Canadians above all were engaged in producing the food of the peoples and the raw materials of the world.

He had not intended to touch upon this topic in his speech in London—that the dominions had come to manhood and enjoyed unfettered control of their own destinies, it seemed to him so obvious as not to be worth mentioning. But a remark that he had made in the west attracted a great deal of attention which he found to his astonishment that there still lingered in some parts of Canada the notion that the spirit of Downing street, of fussy and unnecessary interference in the domestic affairs of the dominions, still prevailed.

"Now that our constitution," said Mr. Samuel, "is almost wholly democratic and our politics almost equalitarian, we recognize heartily that Canada is not an appendage of the empire but as much an integral part of the mother country, and if we cherish the

Municipalities Will Decide Where Hydro Radial is to Be Laid, Said Adam Beck Last Night

"Who has authority to say that the line will not go thru Stouffville?" In these words Hon. Adam Beck, M.L.A., the Hydro-Electric head, disposed of the fears expressed by the board of trade of that municipality that they would not be included in the route of the Hydro-Electric radials which is projected thru Markham.

In an interview with The World at the Queen's Hotel last night, he stated that the commission to lay out plans of the projected radials. These plans were now ready and would be submitted to a delegation of those who want them. These men are to meet the commission today and it is expected that the Hydro-Electric route taken. Even when an agreement has been reached the line cannot be built until the various municipalities affected have passed by-laws ratifying its passage thru their territory. The raising of the necessary funds for its construction will be another matter the municipalities will have to face.

Speaking of the doubling of the transmission line from Dundas to London, Mr. Beck said the work of doing this was now being pushed forward rapidly. More than this, he was able to announce that a double transmission line would be laid right thru to Windsor by this coming spring.

Manuel's Bride Off to England

Reconciliation Has Been Effected and She Will Accompany Her Husband Next Month.

Special Cable to The World. Copyrighted by The Toronto World and N. Y. World.

MUNICH, Oct. 7.—The Dowager Princess of Saxewelm, the grandmother of former King Manuel's bride, returned to Sigmaringen today from Munich, where she has been in attendance on the princess, who has been ill. The dowager princess looked ill and worried as the result of her anxieties of the past fortnight. She was the chief factor in the reconciliation of the new married couple, securing the Princess Augustine Victoria's promise to accompany Manuel to England early in November.

It is now expected that the couple will go to Sigmaringen at the end of the week. Manuel motored to the neighboring lakes yesterday, visiting his bride later.

Mail is Held Up by Lack of Sorters

Congestion at the Toronto Postoffice Causes Delay in Distribution of Local and English Mail and Clerks Claim They Work Overtime Too Much.

Conditions at the postoffice have, during the past week, become so congested that extra help will have to be engaged immediately or the citizens will be obliged to accept their mail two and three days late until after Christmas.

For the past week the night sorters have been compelled to work from half an hour to two hours overtime in an effort to get the mail sorted, so that it can be delivered through the city. The congestion, it is understood, is entirely due to the authorities refusing to engage extra help. The mails, both local and English, have been extra heavy for the past week, and as a result the business houses and residents have been getting their mail more than two days late. About 2500 English letters and papers arrived Thursday, and it was only last night that the last of these were sorted and sent out on the deliveries.

The sorters on the night shift have made repeated demands to the authorities for extra help, but so far have been unsuccessful.

Fifteen Men Needed. The night sorters are required to go on duty at 7 o'clock and leave at 2:30 a.m., but Monday morning was the first time they got away at the regular time. They were forced to work overtime every night for the past week. Many complaints were made by the men, and on Sunday, after having worked for a half-hour overtime, as they were requested, they went home, leaving some mail unsorted. Monday morning the entire staff had to appear before Postmaster W. B. Rogers, who imposed a fine of a day's wages for their neglect to stay at the office until the entire mail was sorted. This action on the part of the postmaster has angered the men, and they have decided to press their demand for extra help, as it is impossible to get the mail out with the present shortage on the staff. It was stated last night by one of the employees at the postoffice that it would require 15 more men to handle the mails properly.

When it was learned by the authorities that the congestion could not be prevented without extra help being engaged, orders were issued by them to the men warning them not to mention anything outside the office of the state of affairs which existed.

BOOK REVIEWS BY CHESTER FIELD

FEAR OF LIVING

Henry Bordeaux's novel, "The Fear of Living," has a noble and sane purpose. Briefly his philosophy is that the fear of living is a new and deplorable evil among us. We value our peace above everything, we wish to keep it at all hazards, however dearly we must pay for it. We shun responsibilities, avoid risks and chances of struggle, flee from adventure and danger, seek to escape from every-thing that makes for the charm and value of life. We no longer have any faith in the future, because we no longer have faith in ourselves. This is one variety of the "fear of life." But there is also another kind—the keen desire to satisfy our passions and ambitions in place of lazy selfishness, they have substituted ruthless selfishness. To spare oneself all kinds of boredom or to procure oneself the greatest amount of pleasure, these are the only two conceptions they commend to us. Mr. Bordeaux contends that to live does not mean to bury oneself in a corner nor yet to amass money and wear oneself out with pleasure. He thinks that a life in which one has suffered, struggled and worked for others, that a life whose years are counted by emotions, sacrifices, devotions and renunciations is a "well filled life." He outlines two classes of those who are "afraid of life." Those who live "without praise or blame" and those who think that "life is a green table which amuses only when the stakes are high." It is "the fear of life" which makes a man choose a profession in which his future is assured. It is the "fear of life" which leads men to prefer a "comfortable, selfish, practical, bachelor's life" or brings about marriages of convenience. The author's aim is to increase "the will and the courage to live." The story is pleasant to read because it presents no sordid episodes and gives no meaty details. Guiter, the principal woman character, displays in a most simple and graceful way many of the noble female virtues. She suffers intensely, to be sure, but she has lived worthily, and finally attains peace and is able to look back on her life with satisfaction. I have loved life itself, and I can die even alone, even if strange hands close my eyes. God has made my lot a very beautiful one and I shall find me obedient and resigned." The novel has already gone through eighty-three editions, and is an example of French fiction at its best.

CONCEPTION OF ART

The days when a shroud of mystery surrounded the artist's profession, the days when there was a little distinction between a magician and a technician, have passed. In this day we hear more about the technical side of art laws of optics and theories of color. Books on the technique of color have been written by the score dealing with the preparation of materials and the durability of pigments. In these books great differences of opinion have been expressed. For instance, John La Farge and Albert Bonnard have given us very different ideas of light and color. Rodin has bravely attacked and tried to explain verbally various problems of modeling. Then, too, the Futurists, Post-Impressionists and Cubists have given us their theories of psychological expression. Henry Rankin Poore in his new book "The Conception of Art," guides us in the direction of the best that is known and done in art, and he emphasizes the fact that art is "addressed to the intelligence." He insists that "art must be logical." Its purpose is to give intellectual pleasure. "Art selects her materials, logic directs their form, for logic is the science of the laws of thought, and art is the form of that thought expressed thru natural elements." He contends firmly that the "body, soul, intellect and spirit" of man and the material, emotional and spiritual qualities of a work of art are analogous. Relative aesthetic values are also given much attention. He invites his readers to refer to the amount of art to be found in it; to discriminate between the gold and the dross, not merely in different works, but in different parts of the same work. The whole tone and spirit of the book is one of sympathy with intelligent and well-regulated effort. The threads of his arguments are often broken in an unexpected manner, his discussion sometimes wanders. Nevertheless, one interested in his subject can obtain much pleasure in the reading of such a comprehensive treatise on art.

MYSTERY

This poem is chosen at random from the volume, "Debes of Memory," by Albert Furlong, who is now residing in Toronto. MYSTERY. I'm looking down where an arm of the sea, 'Is encircling the land, And I hear its sweet monotony. As it moves o'er the sand, And its deep mournful voice comes up to me. Even up where I stand, I can see it pour its waves on the shore And hear its sad moan, its deep monotony. Saying: 'Mystery, mystery, mystery. Lives in the sea, dwells here with me, Comes and goes, ebbs and flows, Mystery, mystery, mystery. I'm looking up where a rift in the clouds Is revealing the sky, Where the mad wind is unfolding the shrouds, And see them drift back like frightened crowds. With a mutter and a cry: Then the lightnings flash and the thunders crash And the storm comes down upon sea and town. All is mystery, mystery, mystery. In sea and sky, in air and earth, Mystery, mystery, mystery. I'm looking into a fast breaking heart, Like a cloud rent in twain, When the tempest has torn it apart And the thunders of agony start. Like the pushing of rain, I tremble and sigh: I marvel and cry: All is mystery, mystery, mystery. Souls come and go; Seas ebb and flow; One struggle more; Back again to the shore, Clutch your white hand Into the sand. But when the waves go back They'll wash out the track Where your hands were set, And the world will forget, O, mystery, mystery, mystery.

FATHER RALPH

Gerald O'Donovan, in his "Father Ralph," relates the tragedy of a soul who finds nothing but disappointment where he had expected to find strength. The opening chapters give us a peep into the boyhood of Ralph O'Brien, a gentleman's son, whose Catholic mother had dedicated him to the church from his birth. The lad has noble aspirations and faith in the greatness of his vocation. He commences his education for the church in a seminary. Here he finds all sorts and conditions of young men. He finds that many of them are coarse and are entirely incapable of drinking in the higher spiritual things which make such a strong appeal to himself. Ralph changes his school and goes to Maynooth, hoping for an improvement in his surroundings. At last he is consecrated to the priesthood and goes out into the great work for which he believes himself to have been called, to face greater tragedies than he has ever dreamed of. He goes to Bunnah, where he finds many things that offend his conscience. He sees the bishop of the diocese working as a politician to build up the temporal power of the church. He sees that the ecclesiastical buildings loom large upon the horizon the people whose

A MESSAGE FROM A WOMAN TO WOMEN

Every Woman Should Take "Fruit-a-tives."

LAKELAND, Ont., May 12th, 1911. "Kindly publish this letter of mine if you think it will benefit other women who might be afflicted with the diseases I have had in the past, but am now thanks to 'Fruit-a-tives,' completely cured of. It is my firm belief that every woman should take 'Fruit-a-tives' if she wants to keep herself in good health. "Before taking 'Fruit-a-tives' I was constantly troubled with what is commonly known as 'Nervous' or severe 'Nervousness.' This 'Nervousness' brought on the most violent attacks of Sick Headache, for which I was constantly taking doctors' medicine without any permanent relief. Constipation was also a source of great trouble to me and for which the doctor said I would have to take medicine all my life. 'Fruit-a-tives' banished all these troubles and now I am a well woman."

money has gone into them become more and more poverty-stricken. His hardest blow comes from a club that he has organized for the purpose of the laboring class is denounced because it does not uphold the political views of the bishop. He is asked to renounce his modernist views. He refuses to obey the church's command and in consequence leaves the Roman Church. His mother forsakes him, refuses even to see him, and the estate that should be his slowly passes into other hands. He leaves Ireland and begins life anew. It is this latter life that holds the greatest interest for the reader. "Father Ralph" is written with striking sincerity and conviction. His argument, and should be looked upon as a worthy contribution to the literature of modern writers.

DAUBER

In John Masefield's story-poem, "Dauber," he tells the simple story of a man's life, but it is simply yet vividly told. It is not a story of his outward, visible life, but of the life within—the life of the soul. It is the story of a man who is a born artist, but who seems to have no intelligible means of expressing his ideas. He has a wealth of hope, however, that is constantly springing up and urging him on to greater efforts. It is a pathetic picture. His home of misery, his stern, heart-broken father, his estranged sister, the artist in the boy that could not yield to the common duties of his family thought he should occupy himself with—were faithfully portrayed. He runs away, but only to more misery. He dreams of his home and the sorrow he has caused his father and sister, and he says: "I saw her all day long and half the night. Bitter as gall, and passionate and wise. 'Joe, you have killed your father, there he lies. You have done your work—you, with our mother's ways.' She said it plain, and then her eyes would blaze." Finally the boy takes to the sea and goes on a voyage round the Cape. Here, as a painter, he is given the chance of Dauber, but only to meet the rough crew. The ship encounters terrific gales. Dauber suffers with the rest of the crew. But in it all he sees a chance of winning the respect of his mates. He sees a chance, too, of knowing the sea in all its moods. "Rolled till she clanged—rolled till the brain was tired. Marking the acme of the heaves, the pause While the sea-beauty rested and re-spired, Drinking great draughts of roller at her hawse. Flutters of snow came amiss upon flaws. 'Look up your paints,' the mate said, speaking light, 'you'll join my watch tonight.'" The story is terrible in the very simplicity of its telling. The reader shrinks from the human agony of it, so vividly it is painted. Yet the poet carries Dauber thru is transmitted to us. He wins out. Even the roughest mate admits: "Why, holy sallow, Dauber, you're a man!" The storm comes up again. Dauber is the first man in the rigging. The sail is wrenched from him, he falls, Dauber has won out. "It will go on, he cried aloud, and passed. The whole poem is an appealingly beautiful word-picture, and the author as one of the really great poets of the day.

Will Stock Show Injure Exhibits? Debated Point to Be Argued Today Before Three-Fold Commission. What buildings will be available for the National Fat Stock Show, to be held in Exhibition Park next month, is to be settled this afternoon at a conference between the board of control, the executive of the Canadian National Exhibition and Aid, Anderson, chairman of the parks and exhibitions committee. Aid, Anderson had been notified that the executive of the Canadian National Exhibition had decided strongly to the utilization of the transportation building for a horse show. The objection is based on the interference with the costly booths erected in the building by the regular exhibitors and used from year to year. To destroy the booths would be to annoy the exhibitors who own them, say the managers of the great and only show. "Just watch R. J. Fleming get over-very in the to bust the National Fat Stock Show," said J. G. Anderson, yesterday who knows R. J. and the others.

MUNICIPAL TOPICS TO BE DISCUSSED

At Municipal League Convention, Which Will Be Held Here in November.

"A year ago the city invited the National Municipal League of the United States to hold its 1913 convention in Toronto, and the invitation was accepted," said F. S. Spence, who presided at a meeting in the city hall yesterday afternoon of representatives of various leading organizations of the city. The business of the meeting was to arrange the entertaining of the delegates during the convention, which will be held on Nov. 12 to 15. The convention will open with a mass meeting in Convention Hall, with Lieut.-Governor Gibson presiding, and Sir James Whitney, Mayor Hocken and President Falconer giving addresses of welcome. A Canadian session of the convention is to be held at which Hon. Adam Beck will make an address on municipal control of electric light and power. Other subjects for discussion will be municipal acquisition of street railways, canal development along the St. Lawrence River, provincial control of municipal finances, better housing in slum areas, internal waterways improvement, Ontario's system of municipal government, etc. Several civic functions were decided upon for the social entertainment of the delegates.

MORE BRANCHES CANADA'S NEED. J. E. Walsh Says There Are Enough Railway Trunk Lines Now. That Canada had already sufficient trunk lines, and that the railroads should build more branch lines, was the solution of the high freight rate problem offered by J. E. Walsh, chairman of the transportation committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to the Toronto Ad Club at their regular weekly luncheon yesterday. "Taking it on the basis of population, Canada has the greatest railway mileage per capita of any country in the world. This, therefore, constitutes a luxury, and high freight rates are the only natural result. Mr. Walsh pointed out that the present need was more branch lines to feed the trunk or main lines. In this way, new country would be developed and the resulting increase in the amount of freight carried, would bring down the rates. Referring to the Panama Canal now nearing completion, the speaker said that if the proposed toll of $2 per ton was levied, Canada would not benefit to any appreciable extent, but if it were made free, both the Maritime Provinces and the Pacific coast would benefit. In touching upon the new Hudson Bay Railroad, he said that in his opinion it was not necessary, and he did not think it would in any way alter the course of grain movements. JAUNT TO SCARBORO. Commissioner Harris took the board of control to Scarborough Bluffs yesterday afternoon on the tug Geary to see the plant which has completed boring holes to find the best location of a tunnel for the projected waterworks plant in the east end of the city. The plant is to be large enough to supply the whole city in an emergency.

Jackson Three Great Models for 1914. No Hill Too Steep No Sand Too Deep. THE twelfth year of Jackson automobiles brings us three great models, ranging from a really wonderful four-cylinder value at $1,800 to a big, high-powered "Six" at $3,000. By every basis of comparison these three models are leaders. Consider their size, power, unusual comfort and their elaborate equipment, then consider the long Jackson record of superior mechanical construction, and you will understand why the 1914 Jackson leads the way. A typical Jackson value. The "Olympic Forty" $1800 Electric Cranking and Lighting with Complete General Equipment. Look at the "Olympic's" size—115-inch wheel base. Look at the power—a full 40-horse motor. Look at the spring suspension—full elliptic, both front and rear. Look at the equipment—every detail that you would expect to find on any car. Then, besides, there's the highest grade electric cranking and lighting system! All for $1800, with honest value and honest workmanship in every part. For quiet running we would put this "Olympic Forty" against the field. You can hear it running if you listen, but it is just that sweet purr that you get from the highest price cars ever built. Notice the long, clean running board, the graceful curve of the fenders, and the sweeping lines of the car as a whole. The bodies are made in the Jackson factory, from high-grade lumber seasoned in our own kilns, and finished in the Jackson paint shops. And they are finished. On every body there are nineteen separate and distinct operations in the paint shop. It is old-fashioned, you know, to finish bodies that way, but it's the method that gives the deep, rich, permanent finish that critical people so much desire on their automobiles. Full elliptic springs, both front and rear, give real ease of riding. Wide seats and deep cushions add a wealth of comfort. Big tires, 24 x 4, help, too. Equipment includes mohair top, top hood, ventilating windshield, speedometer, gasoline gauge on dash, Firestone demountable rims, extra rim, the holders, foot rail, coat rail, pump, tools and jack, electric cranking and lighting system, electric horn. Jackson "Majestic" $2450 Long stroke, four-cylinder motor, 4 1/2 x 5 1/4, 45 horsepower, electric cranking. Wheel base 124 inches, tires 26 x 4. Full elliptic spring suspension front and rear. Full floating rear axle. Extra roomy body. Wide seats, wide doors, 10-inch cushions. Completely equipped. Jackson "Sultan" $3000 Long stroke, six-cylinder motor, 55 horsepower, electric cranking. Wheel base, seven-passenger, 132 inches, five-passenger, 122 inches. Tires 36 x 4 1/2. Full elliptic spring suspension front and rear. Full floating rear axle, ball bearing throughout. Completely equipped. Seven-passenger model, $3200. ASK US FOR DEMONSTRATION Jackson Car Co. of Ontario, Limited 338 High Park Avenue, Toronto. Phone J. 264. Listen!

Have you heard about Pepp? Pepp is a new scientific preparation put up into tablet or pastille form, which provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds and lung and throat troubles.

There is no connection between the lungs and the stomach.

Suppose something were wrong with your stomach—say indigestion, or ulceration—would you think of taking some medicine which went not to your stomach, but to your lungs? Certainly not!

Why then, when your lungs and chest are affected, should you dose your stomach—an absolutely separate organ—with medicine? Is it not far better to treat the ailing organ direct?

Pepp provides a direct treatment for coughs, colds, bronchitis, and all lung troubles. You get a Pepp on your tongue, and it slowly dissolves, these volatile essences burn into vapors.

Pepp BRATTLE the remedy to your sore ailing lungs direct—not swallow it to your stomach, which is not ailing. (See diagram.) The healing fumes, thus breathed down, bathe the delicate, inflamed membranes of your breathing tubes and pass right on to the tiny passages of the lungs—a course no liquid or solid medicine could possibly take.

Pepp fumes are healing and anti-septic. They heal sore tissue and kill disease germs. Pepp brings pine-forest fumes to your home, instead of you going to the pine forest!

For that cold, that night cough, that touch of bronchitis, don't dose your stomach! The trouble lies in your lungs. Pepp goes to the lungs direct and will cure you.

All druggists and stores 50c. box. Write for free sample to Pepp Co., Toronto, or 62 Prince St., Winnipeg. Send only 1c. stamp for postage and enclose this advertisement.

RACE MONEY STAYS IN THE COUNTRY

Unique Defence of Pari-Mutuels Offered in O. J. C. Case.

CLUB IS NOT GUILTY

Of Conducting a Lottery, Finds Judge Morgan—Defence Not Heard.

Judge Morgan yesterday afternoon found W. P. Fraser, secretary of the Ontario Jockey Club not guilty of conducting a lottery in connection with the operation of pari-mutuel machines. The charge was laid at the instance of Jack Scully, a well-known race-track man.

Crown Attorney Greer, in prosecuting, described the operation of the machines as providing a little rake-off for the club to match the same manner as rake-off is given to the keeper of a gaming house, to provide heat and light.

In giving evidence, Mr. Scully said he was in the speculative business. He admitted that he was a former bookmaker and had been refused admission to the Woodbine track. He said the public had more chance with the old system arranged by the bookmaker than they did with the machines. He claimed that the machines were installed to make profit for the club.

Better Conditions Now. A. E. Dymont said that the people were once the prey of bookmakers, and that the hotels and other buildings were filled with bookmakers and touts during race time. Now it was all different. The machines had done this, Mr. Dymont claimed, that with bookmakers they took the money with them, but with the machines the money remained in the country.

Judge Morgan took the case from the hands of the jury and gave his decision without hearing the defence.

GERMAN PERIL AN ABSURDITY

Bernard Langdon-Davies Thinks So—Addressed University College Men.

"Public opinion will finally solve the question of international peace, as it settled the practice of duelling, religious persecution and many other evils which flourished until the stamp of popular disapproval removed them."

So declared Bernard Noel Langdon-Davies in the course of an address to the University Literary Society in Convocation Hall yesterday afternoon. Conviction that this high ideal will ultimately be attained was expressed by the speaker, also he believes that many mistaken ideas now held by the nations will have to be done away with before this great reform can be finally obtained.

In introducing the speaker, Principal Hutton of University College said that of the five great institutions working directly or indirectly for the obtaining of peace relations between the world powers, the institution of Manchester, England, which Mr. Langdon-Davies represented was one of the most prominent.

The tendency towards increasing armaments of the various nations, declared Mr. Davies, "is becoming marked to a degree which has lately assumed alarming proportions, and the great expenditure entailed has been draining the very life blood of the nations of Europe. They are nearing a state of bankruptcy."

In a recent speech Winston Churchill was quoted as saying that the only way for England to be safe was to be so strong that no other nation would dare to attack her.

A German statesman a little later made the same identical statement and it was apparent that the tactics of both nations would result in a great expenditure of money by each power. A tendency felt by every power was that every other power was threatening to attack them.

The fear that the Germans or any other people would capture Canada was pointed out to be ludicrous by the speaker, who stated that the only advantage to the Germans in Canada if the flag of their country was floating over Canada would be that they would have to undergo the military training which they heartily detested.

The effect of war, or even a rumor of it, upon the money market of the world was referred to as disastrous. The theory that the most warlike people were the most virtuous was also explained as it was a well known fact that the manhood of France has not yet recovered from the effects of the Napoleonic wars.

SPEEDING TRAIN MISSED DISASTER

Warned by Track Depression, Crew of C. P. R. Express Applied Brakes.

The C. P. R. Winnipeg train which arrived at Toronto more than 24 hours late yesterday, narrowly escaped meeting with disaster on its run from the west.

When the first section of the train was about 70 miles east of Port Arthur, it ran into a slight hollow caused by a washout, and the passengers were thrown about in the coaches. The brakes were immediately applied and the train stopped just in time to prevent it going over into a gully about 50 feet deep, where the bridge had been washed away.

HARD LESSON FOR PROUD SOPHOMORES

Freshmen at Royal Dental College Won Out at Annual Melee.

Freshmen downed the sophs in the annual "scrap" which was held at noon yesterday at the Dental College. More consideration than usual was shown by the members of the class of '16, for they gave the freshmen warning that they had to fight.

After attending a lecture at 11 o'clock, the freshmen received notification that the members of the next coming class were to be welcomed to the profession of teeth pulling. Repairing to their rooms the two-score warriors laid aside their outer garments, and settled forth to do battle to their undecorating. A dab of red paint graced each freshman's forehead in order to make identification simpler, and the sophs wore a streak of black paint.

After a preliminary exchange of compliments the battle started in deadly earnest, and the combatants could not be distinguished. The first year men had the advantage of superior numbers, and proved that they had fully as much brawn.

Bad Complexions Are Now Easily Discarded

(From the Beauty Seeker.) Every woman has it in her own hands to possess a beautiful and youthful complexion. No matter how yellow, faded or coarse the cuticle, ordinary macerated wax will actually remove it, and Nature will substitute a skin as soft, clear and lovely as a child's.

The action of the wax is not drastic, but gentle and agreeable. Minute particles of scarred skin come off day by day, yet no evidence of the treatment is discernible, other than the gradual complexional improvement. The ounce of macerated wax, procurable at any drug store, suffices for most cases. It is put on at bedtime like cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water. It is certain method of discarding freckles, liver spots, moth patches, blackheads and pimples.

Wrinkles can be treated with benefit by bathing the face in a lotion prepared by dissolving 1 ounce powdered borax in 1-2 pint water. In instantaneous results are secured.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCT. 8

THE GLOBE AND THE WHEAT TAX.

The Globe of yesterday has an article on "Tax-Free Food for Canada." It says: "The proposal to remove the duty upon wheat entering Canada from the United States so that Canadian wheat may enter the United States duty free is the big problem of the moment." It gives The World credit for demanding the removal of the Canadian duty, but it says The World wants free wheat, not because it believes that the taxation of foodstuffs is inexpedient and unjust, but because it will force down the freight rates of the C. P. Railway for the benefit of the wheat grower of the west.

We have freedom of opinion in this country. The World has a right to discuss the duty on wheat from the point of view of freights as well as the point of view of free food. We have no objection to free wheat coming into Canada on the score of free food if The Globe thinks it will make it cheaper; but if the price is higher on the other side of the line, as we believe it is, and as The Globe believes it is, it will make food dearer if we have free wheat and have to pay American prices, and we suppose we will have to pay American prices, as the net result of free interchange is equality of prices. So The Globe can have it either way it likes, we are neither apologists for the tax nor defending it, but are asking that it be taken off for the main reason that we believe the removal of our duty on American wheat will allow Canadian wheat to go free into the States, where it will get a better price; and if it gets into the States, the carriage to the sea and across the ocean will be less; and in consequence the price that the Canadian will receive will be still further improved; in other words, we want the Canadian farmer to get a better price for his wheat and lower rates on its transportation. All we see that The Globe is advocating is that the Canadian consumer be made to pay more for his wheat and bread under the guise of tax-free food. We await The Globe's answer with some pleasure. Tax-free food can be dear food, at times.

But let us come back to The Globe on freights. Here is its deliverance on this question:

The World wants free wheat, not because it believes the taxation of foodstuffs to be expedient and unjust, but because it is out against the "Canadian Pacific octopus" and thinks the company's freight rates would be forced down by the removal of the duty. There can be no sure foundation for a great economic reform in the desire to "get even" with the C. P. R. or to curb excessive freight rates. The railway commission has absolute control over freight rates, and until its members show that they are not to be trusted to deal justly with the complaints of shippers, the commission should be left to determine the question of freight rates on its merits.

What we have to say to the above is this: The railway commission is not giving and has not given relief to the farmers and it has been two years on the job of trying to get a decision on western wheat rates. It has no order from parliament to uphold the equality of freight rates as between east and west, and it is under the bulldozing arguments of counsel of rival roads that if the C. P. is made to reduce its rates, they will be ruined in consequence, as they cannot stand it. We also say that if we have free wheat and Canadian wheat could go into the States, we would have lower freights, because Canadian wheat could go to the ocean on American rails, which carry wheat to the sea at rates lower than the Canadian railways, and on Atlantic ships from American ports at lower rates.

Where is The Globe on this question of lower freights? We tell it frankly that we have no objection to free wheat for food purposes and we have no objection to free wheat for freight rate reduction purposes. Where is The Globe on lower freight rates for the Canadian farmer of the west? Why has it been mum? Why does it seek to get under the skirts of the railway commission? Why does it "dodge the issue" in its own words? Why does everyone both in and out of parliament dodge this issue of better freight rates for the Canadian farmer? The World is straight on both questions. The Globe does not know where it is on the most important one and The Globe does not yet know whether the duty off will result in dearer bread for the Canadian consumer and the Canadian working man, who it says has to pay "one-half of his income for food." We think The Globe will have a hard case showing the working man that he is going to get cheaper bread under the change and cheaper beef.

NO HASTY JUDGMENT.

Another week or two only remains before the complete details of the proposals for the purchase of the Toronto Street Railway and the Toronto Electric Light Company will be laid before the possible purchasers. The citizens have been very patient, and the city council has, in this respect, been a model body thru the long and tedious months over which the negotiations have been carried on. Very early in the proceedings Mayor Hecken stated the sine qua non of his position. Perhaps for the benefit of The Telegram we had better say that this means there would be nothing done unless he got what he wanted. As Mayor Hocken kept repeating his sine qua non it is reasonable to suppose that he has now obtained it or the proceedings would not be in the advanced stage they are reported to be. After the admirable months of patience, so far displayed by those chiefly interested, it will not be difficult to wait a few days longer.

While the city council, and the citizens, most largely concerned, have been willing to wait, our hasty and impetuous contemporary has rushed in where others have feared to tread, and then accused everyone else of folly and treason for not rushing in also. We all expected wiser things of The Telegram, but Controller's Church's advice has no doubt been followed, and the result has been what invariably occurs when the editor or proprietor of a paper permits an outsider to dictate the editorial policy. Controller Church has not advised The Telegram wisely. What he gleaned when he hastily read or glanced thru a document provides quite unsafe grounds on which to start a public campaign. We sympathize with The Telegram, and write for a few days the sympathy may be rejected, sympathy is not a bad thing when one finds oneself "in wrong" and reason for not rushing in also. We all expected wiser things of The Telegram, but Controller's Church's advice has no doubt been followed, and the result has been what invariably occurs when the editor or proprietor of a paper permits an outsider to dictate the editorial policy. Controller Church has not advised The Telegram wisely. What he gleaned when he hastily read or glanced thru a document provides quite unsafe grounds on which to start a public campaign. We sympathize with The Telegram, and write for a few days the sympathy may be rejected, sympathy is not a bad thing when one finds oneself "in wrong" and reason for not rushing in also.

But under Killiam and Maybee alike it was a "one-man commission," and its time was largely taken up with controversies among the railways, between the railways and their employees, and between the railways and the municipalities. Individual cases of hardship were redressed, extortionate rates were modified, but no attempt was made to establish uniformity in passenger and freight rates, or to do away with the tangled skein of classifications, special rates and differentials which makes railway rating a mystery instead of a business proposition.

We see no reason why there should not be nine members of the railway commission, all of them first-class men. The position should be one of such distinction that men would seek it if it almost any sacrifice. We think the members of the commission should be independent of the government of the day, and retire on full pay. We think they should be appointed from both parties as are the federal judges in the United States. We think every man on the commission should have enough force and ability to hear and dispose of all ordinary complaints, and that local masters should hear complaints and dispose of routine matters every day in the year at centres like Montreal, Toronto, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Vancouver, etc.

Finally, parliament should standardize railway rates by fixing a two-cent passenger fare, by making freight charges the same in all parts of the country, and by a simple classification of freight, which everyone could understand. With the policy of the government announced, let the commission carry out that policy, inflicting summary punishment on the wrongdoers. It may be that the commission will become known as the public utilities commission, and that all stock and bond issues of public utility corporations will be placed under its control. If so, then it is more than ever important that the best men in the country be placed on the commission. The best men can be obtained without paying extravagant salaries. No man should seek to get on the commission because the salary looks big, or decline to serve because it looks small. Surely we have not arrived at that stage of political morality when no one will serve his country unless his country is the highest bidder in cash for his services. Select really big men, guarantee them independence and the opportunity to be useful to the community and they will not haggle about their pay.

OFFICIAL DENIAL GIVEN. Report of King Frederick's Assassination Unfounded.

DRESDEN, Oct. 7.—(Can. Press.)—Official denial was given today to the rumors published in the United States that an attempt had been made to assassinate King Frederick August of Saxony while he was hunting in a forest. At the palace it was said that the rumors were without foundation.

NABBED AFTER CHASE. After a wild chase around Victoria, Richmond and Jarvis streets yesterday afternoon, George Taylor, colored, was arrested by Detective Miller on a charge of receiving stolen property.

Taylor no sooner saw the detective approaching him on Victoria street than he bolted down the street, turned on Richmond, up Bertie and was making good his escape up Jarvis street, when a spectator tripped him. Before he could get going again the police had him.

The Philosopher of Folly. HIS MOTTO. In the glad and verdant springtime, while his neighbors plowed and sowed, he sat and watched. He viewed them as they hustled round their thriving farms like him, and he had a hat a notion that he, too, had best dig in; then he thought, "Tomorrow morning I will tumble out at three and never come. In the sizzling heat of August, as his neighbors made their hay, he observed them at their labors and he said the same old say; as he saw each busy farmer ply his shiny snickers, he remarked, "Tomorrow morning I will tumble out at three and I'll follow their example"—but he didn't just the same; he waited till tomorrow, and tomorrow never came. When he's old and bent and feeble, if he doesn't get some sense, he will doubtless be a fixture in the house of providence, where he'll tell the other inmates that he never had a chance—that his Christian name was Jonah and his other name was Pance. But that isn't what he'll end up with; the salubrious and the bumper motto is "Tomorrow" and tomorrow never comes.

THE MARQUARD'S FAILURE TO MIX HIS CURVES TELLS THE STORY

Rube Tried to Fool the Athletics With Speed, But It Didn't Work—Jennings Looks to Tesreau to Win His Game—Schafer's Mistake a Big Factor in New York's Defeat

(By Hugh Jennings, Manager Detroit Tigers.—Copyright.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The Giants went down to defeat, but this does not mean that McGraw's team is routed. Big Jeff Tesreau, the Ozark Bear, showed wonderful form in the two innings that he faced the Athletics, and when the Little Napoleon is ready to send Jeff back at Mack's team, I believe that the Ozark Bear will have little trouble in fooling the American League champions.

The opening clash was a free-hitting game. In former years it has been the pitching that has won a game, but today was a terrific battle of Mack's sluggers that routed the Giants and gave them the first game by the score of 6 to 4. It was the great batting of Eddie Collins, the Columbia boy, and Baker that saved Chief Bender. The J. Franklin person was up to his old tricks in the fifth inning, when he lifted the ball into his famous spot—the right-field stand—for a home run, scoring Eddie Collins ahead of him.

The turning point of the game—the Giants' defeat—came in the fourth inning. The Athletics had just tied the score and Strunk and Barry were resting on the paths, with two out. Walter Schang, the Athletics' young catcher, drove a long liner to center field. Tillie Shafer, who was shifted out to the outfield on account of Shograss being out of the game, misjudged the ball at first and then tried to make a spectacular one-hand catch. The result was that Tillie lost the ball, while Strunk and Barry scored, and Schang went to third. This put the Athletics out in front, and Baker increased their lead with a home run. Then the Giants began a game-uphill fight to overcome Mack's team's advantage.

In the fifth inning McGraw's team was down to left field for two bases on the first ball pitched to him. Bender grabbed Herzog's walk with one hand and caught Burns' second and third. Fletcher made second, while the Athletics were retreating. The St. Johnsville boy, Murphy, dived to the left of the bag. Bender hit a short fly to Oldring in left. Murphy dived for the Athletics in the fifth and went out. Marquard to Merkle. Oldring also hit to Marquard and met the same fate. Collins drew a base on balls, the first one of the game. The Columbia boy then stole second, Meyers' throw to the left of the bag. Bender with the count one and one, lifted a terrific drive into the right-field stand for a home run, just beating out Fletcher and the Giants out of a run.

Felled to Mike McGraw's choice to triumph over the Athletics in the first clash, Rube tried to fool the Athletics with his speed instead of making his curves. The Athletics took positive delight in the fact that Rube's ball to all parts of the ground. Marquard showed poor judgment in the two innings that he pitched. It was not until the fifth inning that the southpaw really used his slow ball. Then McGraw's team lifted Bender for two home runs, just beating out Fletcher and the Giants out of a run.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—While the game, considered as a whole, seldom touched the high spots of sensational playing, the scene incidental to the gathering of the spectators were worthy of reproduction by the brush of a great artist. The flocking of the fans began at midnight Monday, and as the hours of darkness slipped away and dawn changed into the grey light of a sunless day the waiting grew from hundreds to thousands until when the gates were opened at 9 o'clock there were fully 5,000 of the faithful in the first-run for the choice seats in the hardwood sections of stands.

PHILADELPHIA FANS WATCHED BOARDS

Business at a Standstill in Quaker City While Fans Followed Athletics' Doings.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—Business was practically suspended in the center of the city today, while the game between the Athletics and Giants was in progress. The crowd surrounded the Polo Grounds, and in front of the newspaper offices of the game were given play by play. More than 10,000 spectators watched an electric score board from the city hall plaza, while others viewed the game in the court room, all of which had arranged to show the game on screens as quickly as a play was made.

Home Ownership

Apply business principles to the purchase of a home. Our plan of financing enables you to make a small cash payment down, the balance being paid in monthly instalments, so that you own your house free and clear in from three to ten years.

W. N. McEachren & Sons LIMITED

70 King Street East, Toronto

A judicious home investment is more profitable than a lifetime's savings. It has advantages over a savings bank in that your present rent as well as your savings are accumulated for your own benefit in an absolutely safe investment, returning interest in the form of increased value.

Silk and Velvets

Brocaded Designs are in evidence everywhere, in silks, satins and velvets

Charmeuse Brocades, in particular, are strong in demand for day and evening wear, the beautiful colorings and soft finishes making possible many different drapes and combinations with other fabrics.

Soft Crepe de Chine in plain and brocaded effects make effective evening gowns.

The New Fall Satins are most comprehensive in weave and color ranges. Satin Duchesse, satin charmeuse, satin meteor, satin grenadine and shot Duchesse satin vie with each other in beautiful effects.

Charmeuse Brocaded Velvets and Crepe Velours are the most beautiful of combined fabrics, the grounds being of the finest Liberty charmeuse, ripple crepe de chine, silk nylon and French silk velours, with flowered contrasting designs, in bold relief. Our velvet sections are crowded with novelty effects, with serviceable cord velvets, beautiful dress effects, rich chiffon velvets and elegant brocades.
