PEACE RUMORS BRITISH CRISIS DENIED

BOTH SIDES FIRM AS THIRD DAY OF GENERAL STRIKE NEARS END

Transportation Services Further Improved—Government Wins in Move in Parliament To Control Situation

NO COMPROMISE, SAYS GAZETTE

Edinburgh Mob of Several Thousand Clashes With Police; Five Constables and Several Civilians Injured, Five Rioters Jailed

LONDON, May 6.—The government won a victory in the House of Commons today on its proposed measures to control the strike situation. A labor amendment to a bill relating to the protection of property was defeated 317 to 95.

The situation was reviewed at a full meeting of the parliamentary Labor Party this afternoon in the House of Commons, under the chairmanship of former Premier Ramsay MacDonald. The executive of the Miners' Union was expected to confer with the parliamentary Labor leaders later.

LONDON, May 6.—(5.30 p.m.)—The evening of the third day of the great strike finds the British Government and the trades union congress steadily entrenching and fortifying their positions without an indication of a break anywhere.

The British Worker, the strikers' organ, in a bulletin issued at 5 p.m., declared the situation was unchanged, the workers holding on quietly but tenaciously.

The government is increasing its volunteer services, but the economic life of the country remains paralyzed.

The administration's new mouthpiece, The British Gazette, declared: "There can be no compromise of any kind. Either the country will break the general strike, or the general strike will break the country."

Notwithstanding the statement of the Premier that the general strike was a challenge to parliament and the road to anarchy and ruin, and his declaration that the government would not resume negotiations for peace until the workers withdrew their strike order, one of the rumors afloat is that Mr. Lloyd George is essaying the role of mediator. There is absolutely nothing to substantiate this rumor, and it may, like all kindred stories, prove without basis.

A. J. Cook, secretary of the Miners' Federation, asserted positively today that there was no foundation for peace rumors, and nobody who likely would know the situation, has been found willing to say anything to encourage such hope.

TRANSPORTATION BETTER

Meantime the third day of the general strike began without any apparent improvement over yesterday's situation. While the greater part of the country's business continues held up, and loss and inconvenience are widespread, the food supply and light and power services are, on the whole, being adequately maintained. Also, transportation is gradually improving, although it still remains far below the national needs. More trains and tram cars were operating today than the first two days of the strike.

The railway companies claim to be rapidly improving their services.

The London, Midland and Scottish Railway, one of the largest systems in the British Isles, announces that it ran 300 trains Wednesday and will run 400 today. Other companies made plans for numerous trains today and hoped for a daily increase in their number.

Early this morning, one London tube boldly announced "Full service." Another said it had enrolled 3,000 volunteers, enough for the present, and that it would not ask for more unless necessary arose.

NEWSPAPERS PROGRESS.

Twenty-five provincial and four London newspapers have announced that they will immediately print their ordinary number of emergency editions. In some cases it is believed police protection will be necessary to insure the safety of their staffs.

The British Gazette printed conspicuously today a notice to the printing trade, to say that when the strike is over, the government will take effective measures to prevent victimization by the trade unions of any men who remain at work and that no settlement will be agreed to that does not provide against reprisals. The newspaper also gives prominence to a statement reiterating the government's refusal to be intimidated by strikers' saying in part:

NO COMPROMISE

"As far as the general strike is concerned, there can be no compromise of any kind. Either the country will break the general strike, or the general strike will break the country. The government will not flinch from the issue. They will use all resources at their disposal, and whatever measures are necessary to secure in a decisive manner the authority of parliamentary government. All loyal citizens should range themselves behind the government and parliament in the task of defeating in exemplary fashion, the deliberate organized assault upon the rights and freedom of the nation. The authority of parliamentary government must be vindicated."

The government continues to take precautions against the disturbance of the constable severely injured. Five of the rioters were arrested.

Echoes of British Strike

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Financial as well as moral support was pledged striking miners of England by President Frank Parrington, of the Illinois Mine workers, in a cablegram to Secretary A. J. Cook, of the British Federation of Miners.

LONDON, Ont.—Moral and financial support to striking British workers was unanimously pledged by delegates to the London Trades and Labor Council here last night. President John Colbert was empowered to call an emergency meeting at any time when financial aid may be required by the British workers.

LE BOURGET, France.—Passenger service from the airfield here has been tripled owing to the British strike, and rates have been doubled. The greater part of the postal service is being routed by air.

BRUSSELS, Belgium.—The executive committee of the International Miners' Federation has been convened to meet Monday to determine its attitude toward the British strike. The Belgian Miners' Association will meet for the same purpose today.

ESSEN, Germany.—The miners of all nations, including the Christian Trade Unions have issued a joint appeal to the Ruhr Valley miners to prevent the shipment of fuel to England and to refuse to work overtime.

A victory by the English operators would have catastrophic consequences for the development of the world's coal market, as well as for the miners of all countries, the appeal declares.

MOSCOW, The executive committee of the Soviet Labor Confederation passed a resolution today to appeal all union members and workers in Soviet institutions to contribute one quarter of one day's wages to the striking British workers. In this manner $500,000 rubles will be raised. There already has been sent to the General English Trade Council 250,000 rubles.

VIENNA.—The Arbeiter Zeitung says the executive of the Austrian Metal Workers' Association has decided to send financial assistance to the British workers.

JERUSALEM.—The Jewish Labor Federation of Palestine was urged to lend its support to the general strike of the British trades unions in a message from the International Federation at Amsterdam.

SYDNEY, Australia.—Following the lead of the English miners, the coal mine employees of the State of New South Wales have given notice of their intention to go on strike on Saturday, May 8, owing to their dissatisfaction with the recent arbitration award. This will throw out of work 50,000 men in the mines of the metal trades affected by the dispute. The trouble has arisen over working hours.

THREE EXECUTED

Russian Trio Shot After Conviction on Conspiracy Charges

MOSCOW, May 6.—The political police announce that three officials of the Exchange Department of the Finance Commissariat have been shot following their conviction on charges of implication in a speculative conspiracy designed to cause the fluctuation of bonds and currency. Other participants have been sentenced to imprisonment.

North Ireland Parliament To Prevent Profiteering In Coal and Necessaries

BELFAST, May 6.—Parliament has passed the emergency powers bill through all its stages and obtained the royal assent to it. The measure was designed to protect the public against greed and profiteering in coal and other necessities.

The Association of Engineers is preparing a list of members who will volunteer for maintenance of the public services should the general strike spread to Ulster.

Negotown Breakwater Extension, Courtenay Bay Docks Are Considered

COMMISSIONERS J. H. FRINK, T. H. Bullock and Hon. W. E. Foster, who pressed the claims of Saint John's transportation requirements upon the federal government in an Ottawa conference, returned home today, and reported assurances which, if materialized, would see increased activity in a few weeks in the main harbor and its outlying facilities. They sat in lengthy session with Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works; Hon. Robert Donning, Minister of Railways and Canal, and Sir Henry Thornton, executive head of the Canadian National Railways. Dr. Murray MacLaren, M. P., and Thomas Bell, M. P., members from this constituency, were present, and throughout the discussion of Saint John's port needs the ministerial representatives of the government encouraged frank and detailed information, avowing themselves and the government as a whole to be interested in the development of this sea-gate as a national asset.

The net result of the delegations visit was:

REPAIRS TO DEPOT.

1st.—An assurance from Hon. Mr. Donning of the railways department that the estimates would contain a generous allowance for repairs to the Saint John depot.

2nd.—The Minister of Public Works, Dr. H. King, said that the matter of extending the Negotown breakwater was so pressing a matter in the opinion of his engineers that it was not improbable work would be commenced within a few days.

3rd.—The construction of another dock unit at the head of Courtenay Bay was uppermost in the mind of the Public Works official and if the Minister of Finance would cooperate in furnishing the funds this work would begin this year.

4th.—If the work proposed at Negotown Breakwater and that outlined for the head of Courtenay Bay interlocked, both jobs would proceed simultaneously.

FRINK'S STATEMENT

In a prepared statement given by Commissioner Frink, who was spokesman for the civil delegation, he said to a Times-Star reporter: "The question of assistance to the port of Saint John has taken a turn somewhat of the ordinary. The Minister of Public Works at Ottawa, through Hon. Dr. Foster, of our city, invited a roundtable conference concerning the necessities of our port. Commissioners Bullock and myself proceeded to the Federal capital to submit conditions to the minister and set forth our harbor's most pressing needs."

The Hon. Mr. Donning, Minister of Railways, assured us there would be funds provided for the repairing of the C. N. R. depot, Mill street.

Then our delegation made strong representations concerning the extension of the Negotown jetty breakwater. Minister King's reply was that this work was already under definite consideration and if everything proceeded as usual.

Figures In British General Strike

Strike Sidelights

The Prince of Wales, who called off his vacation in France and flew home in an aeroplane because of the strike, with his brother, the Duke of York, listened in the House of Commons to Home Secretary Jowson-Hicks intimate that troops would maintain services of vital importance if necessary.

The Norwegian government has banned the exportation of coal and coke.

Business firms in New York which have London connections, are keeping them informed of what is happening in England, owing to the suspension of the English newspapers. One firm has sent a cable of 600 words containing a resume of the news in England printed in New York newspapers.

It is reported the Mexican Religious Confederation of Labor is taking steps to curtail or prevent shipments of Mexican foodstuffs, petroleum and other vital products to the United States. The confederation is also considering financial assistance to the British strikers.

London's volunteer train crews are nondescript lot but apparently they know their business. In place of the regular uniformed guards are men in well dressed man who smoked his pipe complacently. He was a master engineer who probably is more accustomed to a limousine these days than the underground railway.

The Times, which yesterday was only able to publish a typescript leaflet appears this morning in its usual form but with only four pages. There are 15 columns of advertisements, the rest of the paper is chiefly devoted to strike news and the proceedings of parliament.

For the first time since the general strike began, mounted police were seen in the central part of London yesterday afternoon.

The Council of the Trades Union Congress yesterday expressed its cordial appreciation of the statement issued by the headquarters of the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress, which expressed full agreement with the principles of the British workers and pronounced them full support.

Attempts of strike sympathizers to halt the volunteer transportation services, gave rise to further rioting. Today the worst of the disorders were in Scotland, especially along the Clyde-side.

At Musselburgh, near Edinburgh, a train was attacked and passengers were injured by the smashing of the windows. In the Scotch capital there were sanguinary troubles during the night, with police welding their clubs in mass charges to clear the streets of rioting gangs which sought to stop the emergency tramway service. Buses were attacked at Paisley.

Mounted police were called into action in the southeastern section of London, at the "Elephant and Castle," a tavern and traffic centre, where strike sympathizers attacked and set fire to a motor bus.

Canadian Press TORONTO, May 6.—Although Premier Howard Ferguson stated he had no announcement to make at the conclusion of a meeting of the cabinet last evening, the Globe this morning credits Col. J. A. Currie, Conservative member for Southeast Toronto, with saying that for there is no general election in Ontario before the end of June, the legislature may be called about July 1 and legislation for government control of the liquor traffic passed.

ELMER DAVIS PLEADS FOR NATIONAL AMITY

Says Present System In Canada Handicaps Industry; Counsels Economy

Canadian Press HAMILTON, Ont., May 6.—The problems of the Maritime Provinces were referred to by Elmer Davis, Kingston, retiring chairman of the Ontario division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, at the annual meeting here this afternoon. He said the question was how Ontario and Quebec manufacturers could help the sister provinces.

"I think that they would be satisfied in a measure at least if a better demand could be found, not only for their manufactured goods but specially for their natural products, particularly fish and coal," he said.

URGES PREFERENCE

Giving preference to the product of the Maritimes, even if necessary at a slightly higher cost, was a splendid opportunity to contribute to national unity and development, he said. The annual bituminous consumption of Ontario manufacturers could go to the Maritimes, the added tonnage would solve their mine problem for both the operators and the miners, he thought.

Rigid public economy and a stable, dependable government policy were urged by Mr. Davis. Taxation as it existed in Canada handicapped Canadian industry in the competitive markets at home and abroad, he said. National obligations must be met. The necessity for economy applied to manufacturers as well as governments, councils, boards of education and the general public.

ENCOURAGING SIGNS

The year just closed had been one of continued readjustment and reconstruction in industry, Mr. Davis said, but the adversity of today would be the stepping stone to prosperity of tomorrow. The advance in the new-print industry, the favorable national trade balance, the vastly improved condition of agriculture was responsible in a large measure for the improved conditions in industry. The return of agricultural prosperity was not likely to prove a flash in the pan, either. There was reasonable grounds for hope that it would continue for some years.

Melville P. White, of Toronto, was elected chairman for the coming year.

SAINT JOHN'S OLDEST KNOWN PRINTER DIES

James Porter, Veteran of Craft, Passes Away At Age of 83

Death today claimed James Porter, oldest union printer in the city of Saint John, who passed away at his home, 237 Wentworth street, early this morning. He was born on November 27, 1843, and served his time as an apprentice with Christopher Smiler, who conducted the Temperance Telegraph here, long years ago. Mr. Porter was for several years connected with "The Daily Telegraph" and he helped get out the first issue of that paper. He was later foreman of the composing room of "Progress" for a number of years and after leaving that paper returned to the case on the Telegraph, and was with that paper until compelled, through meeting with an accident, to retire from the printing business some twelve years ago.

Since his retirement Mr. Porter had been on the pension roll of the International Typographical Union, and had been one of the best known printers and had been connected with the Saint John Typographical Union since 1857. He was proud to recall that he was a charter member of that organization. His wife, Josephine Porter, (nee Thomson) died some years ago. Mr. Porter in his young days took a keen interest in fire department matters, and had been a member of the old volunteer fire department on the corner of Broad and Wentworth streets. Mr. Porter was survived by his brother-in-law, Oliver D. Thomson, former fire chief and by Roy, Leslie, Harold and Ronald Thomson, and Arthur Dearness, nephews, and Miss Margaret M. Dearness of Saint John and Mrs. Cecil Norman of Toronto, sisters. He was a man of kindly manner, who always had the good will of his associates. The funeral will be on Saturday afternoon from Chamberlain's undertaking home, 145 King street east.

Ladies' Hats Ruined; Train Shed "Blessed"

If the general public, with its aptitude to let yesterday's happenings be forgotten in interest in those of today has chafed from memory a sudden rainstorm that came on last Tuesday at noon, there are at least two Saint John households in which that is not the case. Two ladies had occasion to be at the railway depot at the noon train time. They were prettily gowned as befitting their station and the sunshine of the morning. Dainty millinery creations formed part of the ensemble—but never more.

POLICE GATHERING IN UNLEASHED DOGS

The "blotter" at police headquarters this morning contained a warning to dog owners of the city as it recorded that a female foxhound had been found running at large in Old Carthagen streets and the Old Burying Ground, howling and barking and annoying the neighborhood. A woman made a complaint to Policeman Goy that she could not sleep and the dog was taken to the police station and later to the pound. It had no collar or license tag.

While much of the ice drifted to sea, a large sheet of ice drifted along the eastern side of the harbor and obliged tug boats moored there to seek shelter at Long Wharf.

SEVEN ARE OPPOSED AND FOUR DISPOSED TO SISSIBOO PLAN

Lengthy Session of Board Attended by Citizens of Two Towns

MEET ADJOURNED FOR VOTING TODAY

Decision Made For Repairs to Almshouse at Marshalltown

DIGBY, May 5.—This afternoon's session of the Municipal Council which opened here yesterday afternoon was taken up with the hydro question and from the remarks of the different councillors it looks as if the municipality of Digby will oppose the bill passed at the last session of the Local Legislature. A number of citizens from the town of Digby and the village of Weymouth were present at this afternoon's session and expressed their views of the possible development of hydro at Sissiboo Falls. The matter was brought to the attention of the councillors when Warden Saunders called upon H. H. Marshall, chairman of the committee appointed at the annual session in January, to present his report. At this afternoon's meeting four councillors spoke in favor of the scheme and seven opposed it. This morning the councillors visited the almshouse at Marshalltown and after looking over the property and investigating conditions, decided on certain repairs which will have to be effected at once.

BURDEN ON USERS ONLY Councillor Marshall also outlined plans whereby the town of Digby would take 50 per cent of the supply of power, the village of Weymouth 20 per cent and the municipality 30 per cent. "One fact must be borne in mind," declared Councillor Marshall, "and that is that the ratepayers in the outlying districts would not be called upon to bear any expense in connection with this development and only users of electricity would be called upon to pay their share."

OPPOSITION IN COUNTRY T. E. G. Lynch, of the Digby Board of Trade hydro committee, stated that certain opposition to the scheme was noticeable in the country districts and this was due to the fact that the people really believed that a tax would be levied upon them. Such was not the case as the proposition must be self-sustaining, otherwise nothing would be done. Several of the councillors called upon Mr. Lynch to explain certain sections in the bill as passed by the Legislature, which was done.

SAYS HYDRO POWER NEEDED Dr. A. F. Hogan, of Weymouth, said that Digby county was going backward instead of forward and the only salvation was hydro. If industries are to locate in this county there must be electricity to offer them, declared Dr. Hogan. The speaker said that Digby county was anxious to go into the scheme and the matter was up for discussion at this afternoon's session of the Council.

Dr. Pothier, of Weymouth, stated that Weymouth was behind the movement. Others who spoke on the proposition were Mayor Anderson, G. I. Lettney, Judge Taylor, Warden Saunders, before calling upon the councillors to express their views, stated that personally he was in sympathy with the movement and the reason why people in the districts were opposed to the movement was that they were not familiar with the matter. Councillor Cossaboon, who owns the Smith's Cove summer colony, was of the opinion that if we are to go ahead and expect people to come to this country we must have hydro and that very soon. He had a $8,000 Delco plant on his property but he was willing to scrap this as hydro would more than pay for his plant in three years. Councillor Cossaboon believed that if he did not get hydro he would not be able to make further developments of his property, which at present comprises 50 bungalows, a main hotel, two dwellings and a church.

SOME OPPOSITION. Councillor Lent, of Freeport, was opposed to the scheme because the people on the island would not be benefited and were opposed to any expenditure. He felt that he must fall in line with the people's wishes. Councillor Hankinson, of Weymouth, was in favor of the scheme and would give his hearty support. Councillor Fitzgerald also promised to lead his support in the development. Councillors Chisholm and Outhouse, while sympathetic towards the scheme themselves, were obliged to fall in line with the majority of the ratepayers of their district and oppose the development.

WANTS PLEBISCITE. Councillor Hillman, who until today had been a strong advocate of hydro development in this county, created a surprise when he opposed the bill. He had approached the Digby Board of Trade to give this development more publicity but they had failed to do so, favorable and if development took place at Sissiboo Falls no shortage of water would occur, as a surplus supply could be had. He stated that where a dam could be built at a cost of $7,000.

Canadian Vickers Turn Out Vessels From Their Montreal Yards

MONTREAL, May 6.—Before a large gathering of steamship officials and members of the engineering staff of Canadian Vickers, Limited, two large scows were launched from their shipbuilding yards Monday afternoon.

Mr. V. G. R. Vickers, a director of the Oka Sand and Gravel Co., Ltd., for whom the scows had been constructed, broke a bottle of champagne against the hull of one and cutting a cord, released the draggers holding back the moving launchways. Three rested on the permanent launchways, which had been well greased previously, and were now free to move.

At first the scows did not appear to make a motion, but gradually this became perceptible and, gathering momentum, they glided smoothly and magnificently into the Vickers Basin amid the plaudits of the numerous and interested spectators. The proceedings went off without a hitch and were highly commended on by Mr. Vickers and Frank M. Ross, managing director of the Oka Sand and Gravel Co., at the reception following the launching ceremony.

FLOWER DAY.

The Women's Hospital Aid, by means of Flower Day, on Saturday, will make an attempt to raise money to add a maternity wing to the General Public Hospital; and if ever there was a practical and truly benevolent and enlightened enterprise this is surely of that character.

However, better late than never. At present the only provision for free maternity care in hospital in this city consists of one or two beds at the Saint John Infirmary, when, mercifully, they are available.

The Evangeline Hospital takes only paying cases, and unmarried mothers who go there are required to pay for the services given them.

Let us give due credit to that quarter, but let us not think for a moment that because such a door is open we assume there is nothing left to do. The contrary is a very real case.

The children of today are the citizens of tomorrow. There is nothing more sacred than motherhood; there is little that is more inspiring.

Two many of our people, who are thoughtful about these matters, have a sort of loose idea that we should not be, as they put it, continually interfering with the laws of nature and the rules of economics.

Buy one flower anyhow, if, upon thinking it all over, you do not feel inclined to buy three or four, as you really should do.

ADVISING THE MARITIMES.

It is a good thing for the Maritime Provinces that the London Times on makes that one occasion has devoted editorial consideration to our problems.

Two major grievances remain for consideration: What can be done to divert Canadian grain traffic to Canadian ports in large measure, and how can more immigration be brought to the Atlantic Provinces? In these questions the Dominion as well as the Eastern Provinces has a deep interest.

It is interesting and important to find that through the Railway Commission, the Duncan Commission and Parliament, the principal causes of complaint we have, so far as they are governed by federal policies and by federal action, should be removed.

So far as that aspect of the case is concerned, it would appear that we may look forward with reasonable confidence to the findings of the Duncan Commission, and the judgments to be delivered by the Railway Board.

A GREEN brakeman on a Colorado railroad was making his first trip up Ute Pass. They were going up a very steep grade and with unusual difficulty the engineer succeeded in reaching the top. At the station, looking out of his cab, the engineer saw the new brakeman and said with a sigh of relief: "I tell you what, my lad, we had a job to get up there, didn't we?" "We certainly did," said the new man, "and if I hadn't put on the brakes we'd have slipped back."

AN OLD gentleman from the California hinterland, on his first visit to San Francisco, went to the Presidio, where he had his first glimpse of soldiers going about their mysterious affairs. His attention was caught by the spectacle of two sentries passing and repassing each other in silence. He watched them intently for several minutes, with growing compassion. Finally it was too much for his kindly instincts. He stepped up to them as they were passing once more and said, "Come on now, boys, why don't you make up and be friends?"

POEMS I LOVE

"Drake's Drum," by Sir Henry Newbolt.

IF YOU like a rousing ballad, as I do, here is one that has always set my pulses beating faster. It would make a splendid recitation. The master of one of our best boys' schools has taught it to many a youngster, and there isn't a manly lad, he says, who does not love the flowing lines.

Drake, he's in his hammock, an' a thousand mile away, (Capt'n, art thou the sleepin' there below?) Slung atween the round shot in Nombre Dios Bay.

An' dreamin' 'art the time o' Plymouth Hoe. Yarr'der looms the island, yarr'der lie the ships, W' sailor lads a-dancin' heel-an'-toe, An' the shore-lights flashin', an' the night-tide dashin'.

Drake he's a Devon man, an' ruled the Devon seas, An' dreamin' 'art the time o' Plymouth Hoe. "Take my drum to England, hang it by the shore, Strike it when your powder's runnin' low; If the Dons sight Devon, I'll quit the port o' Heaven, An' drum them up the channel as we drummed them long ago."

Drake he's in his hammock till the great Armada come, (Capt'n, art thou the sleepin' there below?) Slung atween the round shot, listen! for the drum.

An' dreamin' 'art the time o' Plymouth Hoe. "Take my drum to England, hang it by the shore, Strike it when your powder's runnin' low; If the Dons sight Devon, I'll quit the port o' Heaven, An' drum them up the channel as we drummed them long ago."

THE BEST OF ADVICE

By CLAUDE KINNAIRD

LIFE'S HAZARDS.

ONE of the most discouraging moments in a young person's life comes when he realizes that Nature punishes him just as severely for his mistakes as she does for his delinquencies. He seems to make no distinction.

A man may be sweet tempered, well meaning, honest, but if he is stupid and given in order salting his delinquencies, he will find it difficult to succeed. But isn't this largely a delusion? Isn't it true, as Randolph S. Bourne points out, that "the rich and poor, successful and unsuccessful, live from hand to mouth. We all alike find life at the beginning a crude mass of puzzling possibilities."

"In the homilies on success," Bourne says, "it has always been implied that strength of will was the only requisite. Success became merely a matter of the ratio between the quantity of effort and the full-power applied, and the number of obstacles to be met. If one failed, it was because the proper amount of effort had not been applied, or because the plans had not been properly constructed. The remedy was automatically to increase the effort or to rationalize the plans."

"But one does not have to live very long to see that belief in the power and the desirability of controlling things is an illusion. Life works in a series of surprises. One's powers are given in order that one may be alert and ready, resourceful and keen. The interest of life lies largely in its vicissitudes, and not in its susceptibility to orderly mapping."

"We are creatures of impulses and instincts," he avers, "at the mercy of great social laws that regulate our fortune for us, construct our philosophy of life and dictate to us our ways of making a living." There seems little room for our boasted freedom of will, but what little there is "seems for our human purposes. It must be our care simply that we direct it wisely.

"None can live my life but myself. And the life that I live depends on my courage, skill, and wisdom in experimentation," Bourne concludes.

A. O. SKINNER 58 KING STREET

THE MAIN STREET ATHEIST.

(New York Sun.) A generation ago every American hamlet had a village atheist as well as a village idiot. Until yesterday, when the news came that Mr. Sinclair Lewis had "defied the Deity" in a Kansas City church, we had believed that the roaring atheist of yore had become rarer than the idiot or in many cases shared a single identity with that unfortunate.

Needless to say, nothing happened to Mr. Lewis on Sunday, just as nothing ever happened to the village atheist of Sauk Centre who doubtless terrified the Sinclair boy with his mouth-lings in the early '90s. It was the habit also of the aggressive unbeliever of that elder Main Street to dare Providence to strike him down as he stood beside and shook his fist toward the coal oil hanging lamp.

Fabre does not tell us that insects have cosmic thoughts, but we can imagine a devastating and provocative cockroach creeping to the roof of a tenement house on a starlit night and defying Belzebuth or Aldebaran to come down and burn him up; and saying to himself when destruction did not ensue: "He didn't dare try it."

THE unemployment situation usually is relieved when the boss steps in.

To Be a Successful Husband, Don't Marry Until You've Finished Playing and Have the Price—Then Keep Your Wife in Love by Compliments and Appreciation—But if You're a Tightwad, Remain a Bachelor.

DON'T be in a hurry to marry. Take your time. The girl crop is one that never fails. There will always be plenty of wives to be had for the asking.

Don't marry until you are good and ready, and ready to settle down and be a frisky companion. As long as a man wants to roam and run with the boys, he should stay single.

Don't marry until you have the price. A family is an expensive luxury in these days of the high cost of living, and you want to be very sure that you can afford the upkeep before you set one up. Otherwise, you will regret it.

Don't marry a girl for one thing and expect her to be the exact opposite as soon as you get her home. There is no magic in the marriage ceremony that changes the character of a woman and that turns the moon into a blue stocking, the spender into a saver or the petter into a prude. What a girl was before marriage she is going to be after marriage, only more so.

Don't marry out of your own class. The happiest marriages are those in which the husband and wife have been brought up in the same school of thought in religion and politics and raised on the same kind of pie.

Don't forget that beauty fades, and that if you marry a woman just for her looks that you are bound to lose out in the course of ten or fifteen years. Maybe sooner.

Don't forget that kittens grow up into cats and flappers cease to flap, and that the cute little ways that are so entrancing when you see a little of them will get on your nerves if you have to live with them. Also that while Dumb Dora may be adorable as a sweetheart, she will bore you to tears as a wife.

Don't forget that every girl tips you off before marriage to just the sort of wife she is going to make. Any man with intelligence enough to be let out without a keeper can tell a nervous, neurotic shrew from an amiable, good-natured, easy-going girl. He can differentiate between a spender and a saver and get a line on whether a young woman is domestic or a jazzer.

Don't forget that a man's one best bet in a wife is good, hard, horse sense. If a girl has that she can acquire all the other domestic virtues. Don't forget that you pick out your own counsel. She represents your taste and judgment in women, and it is up to you to make the best of your selection.

Don't marry it all unless you have made up your mind to make just as great an effort to make your marriage a success as you do to make your business a success.

Don't take a girl out of a good home, where she has kind and loving parents, and brothers and sisters and friends, and where she leads an interesting and amusing life, and then drop her down in a bungalow or a kitchenette apartment and leave her alone.

Don't forget that a woman marries to get a companion, not a stuffed dummy that she can use with a newspaper in its hand all evening and out of which she gets only grunts.

Don't forget that a woman's work inside of the home is dull and monotonous, and that she has a right to expect some cheerful conversation from her husband of an evening. If men carried as poor a line before marriage as they do afterward, there would be mighty few wedding bells.

Don't cut out all of the lovmaking as soon as you are married. Matrimony does not cause a woman to shed her sweet tooth, even if she does cut her wisdom teeth on it.

Don't take it for granted that your wife knows that you still love her and that you think she is the greatest little manager and the best looking in the world, even if you never say her a compliment or tell her that you love her. Few women are mind readers or possess the gift of clairvoyance. There is nothing more pathetic than there are thousands of women breaking their hearts longing for their husbands to say to them the words they are too stupid and stingy to say.

Don't fail to show your wife appreciation. Compliment her upon her thrift when she saves your money and her skill in managing your home.

Don't gobble down the dinner she has spent hours in preparing for you without a word of thanks for her labor.

Don't forget that you are your wife's audience to which she is always playing, and that she likes to get the glad hand from you and to be told that her work is good, just as much as you like to have a few kind words from your boss or a cheer or two from the men with whom you are associated in your business or profession.

Don't think that being married to you is picnic enough for any woman. It isn't. Every wife is entitled to her evening off at least once a week, and every husband should make at least a hundredth part of the effort to make life pleasant for her after marriage that he did before marriage.

Don't marry unless you are willing to give your wife as liberal an allowance as you can possibly afford for her own personal use. She earns the money by her labor in your house. Don't make her have to corkscrew it out of you nickel by nickel. If you are a tightwad, be a bachelor.

Don't make home a dumping ground for all the nerves and temper and irritability that you dare not show the outside world.

Don't forget that your wife is a lady, even if she did marry you. Many a man says things to his wife that he would not say to any other woman who had an able-bodied brother.

Don't forget that the salve spreader is more potent than the hammer in dealing with women. As long as a husband will show any interest in holding one of his wife's hands she will cheerfully work the other to the bone for him.

Don't delude yourself into believing that you cannot lose your wife's love. Women love their husbands only as long as they are lovable. It will give many a complacent husband a jolt to know what his wife really thinks of him.

Finally, don't neglect the little courtesies, the little attentions, the little amenities of life just because you are married. Show your wife tenderness and appreciation, and that you are really trying to make her happy and she will overlook all of your sins of omission and commission and bless the day she married you.

Some Outfits For The Bride

By MME LISBETH
SATIN and tulle are the two materials favored by brides this season. Most of the bridal gowns are comparatively simple in design. The traditional sentiment about putting the wedding gown away and preserving it has gone out of date. It seems a large majority of the brides are practical minded and wish to wear their gowns for dances after the wedding.

The length of the wedding skirt differs with the bride's taste. Some like long trailing draperies, while some prefer the medium length frock, wearing it with a long trailing veil.

above. The gown in this instance is tulle-white, of course—with a long train. The lovely veil is of old valencia lace, gathered at the sides with small bunches of orange buds.

A trifle shorter is the skirt of the next model (centre), and the gown is cut in the empire mode. It is of white satin with an overskirt and veil of white tulle, and both gown and veil are edged and embroidered with pearls. The arrangement of the veil is very simple with a tiny wreath of flowers and the pearl edging close about the face. Jeanne Morgan posed.

The third model is an elaborate one imported, and costing around $2,500. Lace and satin are combined in the

IN NEW YORK SEE SAWING UP and DOWN BROADWAY

WHEREVER the "big tops" have been hoisted the name of May Wirth is well known.

May, who comes of a famous old circus family and who is a star of the "greatest show on earth," always visits when playing to New York, the family for the first cavalier to enter her life.

She was in Australia—oh, many years ago. A number of American cowboys had been signed up for trick riding with the Wirth circus. Among them was one Cherokee Bill.

May was almost an infant in arms. She had been all dressed up by her aunt and told not to go near the horses and other animals as she would be certain to get dirty. But, then, as now, May was fond of horses and, when no one looked, she ran to the tent where a circle of horses stamped nervously, waiting their turn to go on. One of them brought a heavy hoof down in a puddle of water—and farewell to May's clean dress!

Just then Cherokee Bill came up, ready to swing into the saddle. He found little May in tears. She told the big cowboy her troubles and he said: "Oh, I'll fix it up with your aunt."

And he did. May escaped a spanking and was truly grateful.

Years later May and Cherokee Bill met on Broadway. They were playing in the same theatre. Only Cherokee Bill had become Will Rogers and she was the great May Wirth.

SPeAKING of the circus gives us one more chance to weep for the poor New York youngster.

Remember how half the fun of a circus was prowling around the grounds buying peanuts and molasses popcorn and lemonade.

There are no such lots around Madison Square Garden. Instead one sees the peanut vendors gathered at the gaping maw of the nearest subway exits crying their wares.

Oh, well, the city youngsters don't know how to do it.

THANKS to the Italian restaurateurs the world is soon to know more about a certain vegetable called broccoli.

For generations it has been a pet dish among Italians and well known to those who patronize the nearest Broadway—Joe Bert's—to become a broccoli order. This vegetable is little known to the hinterland.

But now, it appears, Florida has just the proper climate for raising it. And one of the best known Broadwayites—Joe Bert—is to become a broccoli farmer.

With the farmers insisting on turning to the cities and the city folk turning farmers there seems still some hope for the "back to the land" movement.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

THE TWINS AT MRS. BEAR'S CAVE

"We haven't collected Mrs. Brown Bear's rent yet," said Mister Tinkling to the Twins. "It's a long way off, all most at the very end of Out-of-Door Land, the place where Mrs. Bear lives, but we'll have to go anyway."

"Does she live in a tree?" asked Nancy.

"Oh, ho! A tree!" cried Mister Tinkling. "I guess not. She lives in a cave—a big stony cave away back yonder in the hills. But come along."

So away they went to Mrs. Bear's house.

"I declare! Who do you suppose that is?" said Mrs. Brown Bear to Bunchy Bear, her little boy, when she heard the door-bell. "Look out of the window, and see who it is."

So Chubby ran to a tiny hole in the rock which the bears used for a window, and peeped out.

"It's a boy and a girl and a funny looking fat person in a queer little hat," he called to his mother.

"Oh, it must be the rent collectors!" said Mrs. Bear to herself. "I do wish they wouldn't come just when I'm so busy 'n' everything! I'll have to stomp my work and get Bruin's old sock where he keeps his money."

But then suddenly she had an idea, and she began to smile like everything.

Mrs. Bear did. "Why it's the very chance I've been looking for all week," she said to herself. "I guess I'm pretty glad they came after all!"

So she went to the door of her cave house, and opened it. And really you'd have thought she was saying how'd do to Santa Claus, the way she smiled and shook hands all around and said how very, very much obliged to them she was for coming.

"Just sit down in the parlor," she said. "And I'll go and call Bunchy in to keep you all company, while I go out and hunt up the rent money. Mrs. Bear, in general, are but great children—Napoleon."

It may take me a little time to find it as I don't know exactly which sock Bruin keeps it in."

In came Bunchy Bear in a minute or two, bringing with him his scooter, and his soldier suit and his slouch hats with bells on, and his bow and arrow and his drum and his sash and everything. He couldn't carry them all at once, but anyway he got them all in finally.

"Let's play," he said to the visitors.

"All right," said Nick. "And Nancy, you blow the horn and we'll pretend it's the fire-whistle."

"My! My! My!" cried Mr. Tinkling. "This is certainly a queer way to collect rent! And so much to be done, too!"

As for Mrs. Bear! What was she doing all this time?

You'd be surprised! She wasn't looking for the rent money at all! She was out shopping!

"I never can get any money to keep Bunchy," she said to Mister Bags, the store-keeper. "But some friends came in, so out I popped and here I am! I'll have six yards of that red calico, please, and two pounds of honey. And what's the price of that green sunbonnet, Mister Bags?"

"My goodness! You must have gone to China for that rent money, Mrs. Bear," grumbled the fairy landlord when she got home.

"Not quite, but nearly," laughed Mrs. Bear. "Here's your rent money, Mister Tinkling. I'm very sorry to have kept you waiting."

To Be Continued.

As for Mrs. Bear! What was she doing all this time?

You'd be surprised! She wasn't looking for the rent money at all! She was out shopping!

"I never can get any money to keep Bunchy," she said to Mister Bags, the store-keeper. "But some friends came in, so out I popped and here I am! I'll have six yards of that red calico, please, and two pounds of honey. And what's the price of that green sunbonnet, Mister Bags?"

"My goodness! You must have gone to China for that rent money, Mrs. Bear," grumbled the fairy landlord when she got home.

"Not quite, but nearly," laughed Mrs. Bear. "Here's your rent money, Mister Tinkling. I'm very sorry to have kept you waiting."

Baking beans in real ovens—the Heinz way—renders them tender and mealy so that each bean soaks up the rich sauce in which they come.

Thus, oven-baking develops flavor and prepares the way for this added goodness. Boiled, soggy beans could not do that. Look at the label for real Heinz Oven-Baked Beans. Beans cannot be labeled baked unless they are baked.

NEW SCHOOL IN MONCTON AGAIN IS DISCUSSED

Objections Are Raised On the Score of Added Cost To Taxpayers

TRUSTEES' SECRETARY SAYS BLDG. NEEDED

Hon. A. J. Leger Counsels Delay Until Conditions Are Improved

MONCTON, May 6.—At the special meeting of the Moncton School Board of Trustees in the City Building last night those present were: Chairman F. E. Dennison, Trustees Reid McManus, A. H. Fryers, Steeves, Sears, Mrs. LeBlanc, Miss Hattie Tweedie, and Hon. A. J. Leger, Provincial Secretary, and H. H. Trimble, secretary. Trustee J. Fred Edgett was unable to be present, being out of the city, but in a letter expressed the opinion that the proposed new school should not be built until this fall.

Trustee Fryers said he could see no reason why the building could not be proceeded with immediately. Chairman F. E. Dennison said the additional burden of $20,000 a year on the city taxpayers.

Trustee McManus said it would be advisable to procure the figures first to show there was the required number of children of age residing in the district to really make it necessary for the Moncton School Board to go ahead with the project.

Hon. A. J. Leger said he thought this matter should be looked at from a business standpoint, leaving sentiment out of the matter altogether. If the proposed building was erected, it would mean an added burden to the taxpayers of the city, and if the matter could be left over for another year, conditions might be so improved that the school could be built.

Secretary Trimble said the schools were overcrowded now. He said that there should not be more than 30 pupils to a room, where now there was often 40.

The secretary also called attention to a boy who had attended school for the past seven years, and yet could not read or write. He stayed out overnight by all night and was under suspended sentence. He believed this boy exercised a bad influence on the school. It was suggested that the chairman and secretary interview the boy's father, and endeavor to arrive at some arrangement whereby this pupil might be more of a credit to his class.

MONCTON GIRL IS WEDDED IN STATES

Miss Eveline O'Neill Bride of J. E. Ramsden of Saint John

MONCTON, May 6.—A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Sacred Heart church, Montreal, N.B., April 11, when Miss Eveline O'Neill, formerly of this city, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Neill, was united in marriage to James E. Ramsden, of Saint John, N. B. The bride was attired in a pretty taupe crepe gown, with hat, shoes and prayer book; the bridesmaid, a cousin of the bride, wore a sunset blue crepe, with hat to match and corsage bouquet. Immediately after the wedding the party repaired to the home of the bride's uncle, where a wedding dinner was served to the immediate relatives and friends, after which Mr. and Mrs. Ramsden left on the afternoon train en route to Brooklyn, N. Y., where they will take up their residence, the groom being an employe of the N. Y. and Albany Railway.

The wedding gifts included two substantial checks, cut glass and linen, and just prior to the bride's departure from Saint John, she was the recipient of a chest of silver and was guest at a number of showers given by her girl friends. Charles and William O'Neill of the C. N. R. are brothers of the bride.

The Last Word In Summer Hats

By HENRI BENDEL

NEW YORK, May 5.—Millinery for midsummer leaves no doubt in the skeptical mind—The large hat is the winner.

Last season women wore the wide brim at resorts or with the more elaborate type of afternoon frock, but this summer it will be worn with everything including the simple tub silk for morning and sport wear.

To be sure, the conservatively dressed woman, most influenced by the Parisienne's taste, will keep to the small hat for practically every costume but her summery chiffons, for the small hat is beloved by the Parisienne, but generally, I believe the large model will prevail.

That we are a bit tired of severity, is apparent by the general style trends, and the small, untrimmed hat is austere with the picturesque and individual type of gown that will rule this summer.

Clothes follow their own inevitable destiny, no matter how much designers may try to force issues. After a period of practical attire, we swing back into the picturesque. After curt and abbreviated brims and no brims at all, we welcome back the sweep of fabric or straw that gives a background and an illusion.

I am showing three typical summer hats today, on Chalonette Foster, the charming young actress, who wears them so well. These I consider typical midsummer models, perfect for the young face.

The two large models are quite different in purpose and treatment, though of almost identical size. The transparent brim is ideal for the summer frock in color—one of the most flattering background shades you can find—and is trimmed with a wreath of grass and

Former Bookkeeper Tells of Informing Customs Department

VALUES ENTERED BELOW PRICE PAID

Witness Clashes Sharply With Lawyer at Ottawa Investigation

OTTAWA, May 5.—Investigation of the John W. Gaunt Company before the customs inquiry committee took a new turn this afternoon when Mr. Gaunt was replaced on the stand by M. J. Mann, a former bookkeeper of the company. It was through information given by Mr. Mann that the customs department first became aware that the Gaunt Company had in its possession blank certified invoices. Mr. Mann told the committee that he went to the customs department taking with him copies of some of these invoices because he had become nervous about a $5,000 loan which he had obtained for John W. Gaunt. He was not satisfied that these invoices were being properly used.

There were some sharp exchanges between this witness and O. S. Tyndale, counsel for Mr. Gaunt, when the latter was trying to find out where Mr. Mann obtained the invoices, copies of which he showed to the customs. Mr. Tyndale asked where the invoices were obtained and pressed his question repeatedly.

WITNESS RELUCTANT
"Were they not taken from the offices of the Gaunt Company?" he asked the witness. "Where did you get the invoices?"
"That's none of your business," Mr. Mann finally replied.
"Don't answer that way," intervened Chairman Paul Mercier decisively.
The witness finally admitted that the copies might have been obtained from the office, but said that such copies were frequently thrown into the wastebasket.

TOLD TO MAKE ENTRY
Mr. Mann, at the outset of his evidence, stated that he had been employed as accountant by the John W. Gaunt Company from October, 1921, to the spring of 1923. He was asked why he had entered in his first balance sheet an item of $23,000 for "merchandise on hand and in transit Sept. 1." He replied that Mr. Gaunt told him to do so. He could not remember that there was any merchandise on hand or in transit at the time.

Customs Officer Hurson, of Montreal, another former bookkeeper of the John W. Gaunt Company, told the committee that the value entered by the company for clearance of goods through customs was invariably less than the price actually paid the manufacturer.

ENTRIES NEVER TRUE
"There never was a true entry made," he said, in answer to a question by Hon. H. H. Stevens in regard to the customs entries of the Gaunt Company. Manufacturers' invoices were not presented to the customs, but invoices signed by Schneider, Gaunt's agent in Germany.

In earlier evidence, Mr. Gaunt denied that he had ever undervalued his goods for customs purposes. The committee adjourned until tomorrow.

GIVES FURTHER FACTS.

John W. Gaunt, head of the Montreal firm of John W. Gaunt Company, gave the customs inquiry committee further information in regard to his importation of German dolls and toys this morning.

O. S. Tyndale, his own solicitor, examined Mr. Gaunt.

The witness admitted that he had been arrested on the charge of having blank certified invoices. He had pleaded guilty to this charge because he thought so doing would facilitate the conduct of the case. Mr. Calder interjected that in addition to the charge of having the invoices, there was a complaint against the witness that he (Gaunt) was using blank certified invoices to defraud the customs department.

The witness denied knowledge of this complaint.
"Was there any arrangement between you and the customs department that if you pleaded guilty to the first charge they would settle up the other?" counsel asked Mr. Gaunt.
"No sir, none whatever," was the reply.

In earlier evidence, Mr. Gaunt denied that he had ever undervalued his goods for customs purposes. The committee adjourned until tomorrow.

GIVES FURTHER FACTS.

John W. Gaunt, head of the Montreal firm of John W. Gaunt Company, gave the customs inquiry committee further information in regard to his importation of German dolls and toys this morning.

O. S. Tyndale, his own solicitor, examined Mr. Gaunt.

The witness admitted that he had been arrested on the charge of having blank certified invoices. He had pleaded guilty to this charge because he thought so doing would facilitate the conduct of the case. Mr. Calder interjected that in addition to the charge of having the invoices, there was a complaint against the witness that he (Gaunt) was using blank certified invoices to defraud the customs department.

DENIES ARRANGEMENT.
The witness denied knowledge of this complaint.
"Was there any arrangement between you and the customs department that if you pleaded guilty to the first charge they would settle up the other?" counsel asked Mr. Gaunt.
"No sir, none whatever," was the reply.

The eighth who has been in court on previous occasions was remanded until tomorrow for sentence.

S. S. PRINCE ARTHUR ON DIGBY ROUTE

DIGBY, May 6.—The steamer Prince Arthur started on the Digby-Saint John route yesterday, the S. S. Express going into dry dock at Saint John for repairs.

WITNESS RELUCTANT

"Were they not taken from the offices of the Gaunt Company?" he asked the witness. "Where did you get the invoices?"

"That's none of your business," Mr. Mann finally replied.

"Don't answer that way," intervened Chairman Paul Mercier decisively.

The witness finally admitted that the copies might have been obtained from the office, but said that such copies were frequently thrown into the wastebasket.

TOLD TO MAKE ENTRY
Mr. Mann, at the outset of his evidence, stated that he had been employed as accountant by the John W. Gaunt Company from October, 1921, to the spring of 1923. He was asked why he had entered in his first balance sheet an item of $23,000 for "merchandise on hand and in transit Sept. 1." He replied that Mr. Gaunt told him to do so. He could not remember that there was any merchandise on hand or in transit at the time.

Customs Officer Hurson, of Montreal, another former bookkeeper of the John W. Gaunt Company, told the committee that the value entered by the company for clearance of goods through customs was invariably less than the price actually paid the manufacturer.

ENTRIES NEVER TRUE
"There never was a true entry made," he said, in answer to a question by Hon. H. H. Stevens in regard to the customs entries of the Gaunt Company. Manufacturers' invoices were not presented to the customs, but invoices signed by Schneider, Gaunt's agent in Germany.

In earlier evidence, Mr. Gaunt denied that he had ever undervalued his goods for customs purposes. The committee adjourned until tomorrow.

GOSSIPS STILL CHOOSING BRIDE FOR THE PRINCE

Daughter of Queen of Holland Latest To Be Named

PRINCESS IS NOT YET 18 YEARS OLD

News Topics of Empire Interest In Letter From London

Correspondence of The Times-Star LONDON, April 22.—There is no rest and no peace for a bachelor here apparent. Surely no "single gentleman" within the Seven Seas that girl Britain has been so persistently "engaged" as the Prince of Wales. Ever since he returned from the W. Western Front with the Guards, rumors of some projected matrimonial alliance on his part have come "like ghosts to trouble joy." Even amidst a pleasant golfing respite, H. R. H. has heard of another of his betrothals. This time the gossip has fastened on a pretty little Dutch princess, Juliana of the Netherlands, daughter of the Queen of Holland. She is a most attractive and healthy little lady, but not yet quite 18. When that birthday arrives next year, she will be proclaimed Princess of Orange, and "come out" in the royal sense. And there possibly we get the only reason d'être for this latest rumor of the Prince of Wales' "engagement" with its interesting historical suggestion of a new alliance between the English throne and the House of Orange.

KING GEORGE'S MOUNT

Strolling in Windsor Park I came across the King and one of his courtiers riding, I believe for the first time this season, and apparently thoroughly enjoying the exercise. My attention was attracted also to his charger, in which I recognized the familiar Delhi. As the same suggests, Delhi came from India. A handsome bay, he came under the notice of His Majesty when he visited India for the Durbar. He was then the property of an officer in the Indian army, and was sent to His Majesty for the ceremonial parades and reviews. Delhi behaved himself so creditably that the King expressed his desire to buy him. Delhi has a competitor for the King's favor now in the grey charger which some two or three years ago His Majesty obtained from the horse ranks at Aldershot.

A HONEYMOON IN JAIL!

Mrs. Helen Keahey, 18, was arrested shortly after her wedding and hid in the House of Detention at Dallas, Texas, branded "Queen of the Texas-Louisiana auto thieves' ring" by District Attorney Caldwell. snow-white hair, will be missed sadly at London's gay theatrical first nights. He rarely missed a show, and his advent was a familiar yowl to the stalls and the gallery. It may be doubted whether, in respect of manner, dress, deportment, outlook, and mode of life, there is now anyone left who so perfectly typified the Victorian gentleman. Sir Squire never appeared, from his comfortable apartments in the Albany, otherwise than "in the pink." He must have been a fine advertisement for the West End tailor. And his ways were as graciously polished as his appearance. He was a delightful talker, who never talked too much, and who avoided "smartness" as one of the seven sins. He survived for nearly a decade every other member of the famous company of 30 well known actors, whom, as Prince of Wales, the late King Edward died at the Garrick in 1882. Yet he was the eldest actor present on that occasion.

SILK AND COTTON

A diminution of £10,000,000 in our cotton exports during January, February and March of this year, compared with those for the same quarter of last year, looks very bad. A diminution of £18,000,000 in our imports of raw cotton over the same period looks worse. Some people who see our silk imports increasing and read of ten new mills for artificial silk being established in England, may even ask "is cotton doomed?" Certainly artificial silk is booming, and must in part at least replace cotton, but the outlook for the latter is not so bad as the Board of Trade's figures would suggest. We are entitled to take heart from the knowledge that the supplies of raw cotton available in the world are abnormally large, and if British firms have not bought as heavily as usual it is because they were waiting to see the price fall. Of course there is also a bad diminution in the world demand for cotton goods. India and the Far East are also waiting to see prices come down and reach a stable level. India is also awaiting a possible stabilization of the rupee, while China has her unending civil war to disturb her merchants' calculations.

MILITARY UNIVERSITY

The future of Sandhurst College and Woolwich Academy, which has exercised the minds of a number of people lately, has, I am authoritatively informed, caused no anxiety to the general staff of the army council, inasmuch as a central university has never been a practical proposition to the soldier. There is no chance of obtaining, were it desired, a suitable location that would serve the purpose of training all the young cadet officers of all the units. What is feasible at Woolwich, for example, to complete the courses necessary for "gunner" and "sapper" officers could only be found in the centre of the ordnance life of the army where the technical training of these officers admits of no other more suitable place. Sandhurst, on the other hand, while ideal for infantry and cavalry, would never supply this requisite. To imagine, therefore, that infantry, cavalry, air force, gunners and sappers could all be accommodated in a central university is to comply with the varied training requirements of our young officer cadets.

LONDON MOVES ON

Flushed with its success in establishing gyratory traffic centres in Parliament Square and at Hyde Park corner, the Ministry of Transport has suggested that Hammersmith Borough Council should agree to the same innovation in Hammersmith Broadway. The Ministry of Transport's proposal shows that Whitehall expects Hammersmith to become a greater traffic centre before long. When the new 10th road is completed, long distance traffic through Hammersmith Broadway is sure to increase vastly. In addition some may challenge that in 40 or 50 years Hammersmith Broadway may challenge or replace Piccadilly Circus as London's theatrical and pleasure centre. They see the office quarter of London now spreading west through Kingway to Piccadilly. They note how the ceaseless roar of motors and the ceaseless rise of rents have ended Piccadilly's history as a residential street, and may in course of time convert Park Lane into a shopping thoroughfare. Devonshire House is a portent. So is the diminished vogue of the Strand for restaurants. The wealthy population of London tends to live farther west, and does not like to go far east for its amusements.

LESS MUD

One of the biggest changes in London has been the diminution of its mud. Twenty-five years ago broken weather like the present would have set every respectable man, or his valet, brushing off mud splashes by the score from trousers and overcoat. Today even a meticulous man can walk London all day and have no qualms about his apparel. As for getting a splash of mud on the nose from a passing bus or cab, the young Londoner has never a period of annoyance on a rainy day. But, though the London streets are less muddy nowadays, there is still some mud, and the light stockings of London women have borne testimony to the fact this week. In Bond Street, in the city, and in the suburbs alike one saw mud splashes on light stockings. But the queer thing is that one saw no Russian

More People Ride on Goodyear Tires than on Any Other Kind

FOR so many years was this true of fabric tires that Goodyear Tires became the accepted tires in practically every country in the world. Then cord tires were developed—higher-priced as well as higher-mileaged. And again we were able to say

More People Ride on Goodyear Cord Tires than on Any Other Kind

For the same engineering skill, the same manufacturing and selling policies which made Goodyear fabric tires the world's greatest value were applied to cord tire building. Now has come the balloon tire. Again Goodyear pioneered in tire development. Again Goodyear can say

More People Ride on Goodyear Balloons than on Any Other Kind

Inherent in every tire bearing the Goodyear name is the quality and value which has made this world-wide favor. Built into each tire is special material, special construction to meet the particular needs of some one class of motorists. BEHOLD THE MIGHTY CHEMIST!

DRAWING upon the boundless laboratory of Mother Earth, the Chemist stays wind and rain and sun that destroy our property.

In war the chemist wrought instruments of destruction. Today he has become the scientific protector of man's achievements.

Everyday paint and varnish, beneath his touch become a magic potion that heals the ravages of time and saves our dollars spent for things permanent.

In every paint factory in Canada the brains of the chemists are governing processes of compounding, investigating, testing, searching always for new means to more cunningly save the surfaces of Canadian property.

Their work helps to develop other industries that provide the raw materials for paint and varnish and these in turn must call more and more upon Canada's vast natural storehouse of chemical and mineral resources.

This scientific betterment of paint and varnish assures Canadian buyers the finest products in the world and justifies their faith in those true words: "Save the Surface and you Save All."

WAGES OF MINERS DIFFER IN VARIOUS BRITISH DISTRICTS

In Northumberland Area Six Days' Work Would Net About $15

COAL ALLOWANCES GIVEN HOUSEHOLDS

Owners Contend Present Pay Was Fixed in Prosperous After-war Period

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, May 5.—The whole question of the miners wages under the post-war agreements from which the present dispute between the mine owners and workers arises, is so complicated that the general public has very little knowledge of the actual details.

Under the existing wage agreements the product of the mines is distributed in certain percentages between wages and profits. This distribution gave, roughly 33 per cent. additional to the standard rates of the miners wages in operation before the war. The rest of the wages said the miners differ considerably in different districts, according to the quality of the mines.

$15 FOR SIX DAYS' WORK

In one of the best districts of Northumberland, for instance, hewers were paid ten shillings and fourpence per shift. If the men worked six days weekly, this would mean a weekly wage of 62 shillings (approximately $15). In this case the owners proposed a reduction to seven shillings and seven pence per shift, reducing the weekly wage on a 6-day basis to 45 shillings 6 pence, (about $11).

Generally, however, the miner gets only five days' work per week, thus still further reducing his pay, but he receives certain allowances of coal free of charge to his household. As an offset to this concession, he generally has a number of incidental expenses, such as tools, etc.

The unskilled laborer in the same district would, under the owners' proposals, get four shillings and nine pence per shift, against the present wage of seven shillings and seven pence per shift. In South Wales laborers were getting 48 shillings weekly for five late shifts, and the owners proposed to reduce this to 42 shillings. Hewers in Scotland received nine shillings four pence per shift, which the owners proposed to reduce to seven shillings six pence. The miners working hours are regulated by the parliamentary seven hours act. When the owners were unable to obtain the miners' consent to their proposed reduction on a 7-hour basis, they consented under pressure from the government to a compromise proposal. This was that, if the men consented to an 8-hour day the owners would agree to a smaller reduction in wages, which should be fixed at 20 per cent. instead of 33 added to the standard wages of 1914.

The contention of the owners, which is partially supported by the government, is that the present wages were fixed in the prosperous period after the war, when the high cost of living was considerably higher than it is now, and that with the present lower cost of living, the miners ought to be willing to suffer some diminution of wages in order to help get the industry re-organized on a more solvent basis.

Throughout the entire program which the talented reader presented to a large audience she showed artistic qualities and the results of the careful training and attention under Miss Orah Tombs, head of the department of expression. A young lady of much personal charm, Miss MacEcheron is to be congratulated on the splendid demonstration of talent which she gave last evening.

BALDWIN BRANDS TIE-UP ROAD TO RUIN

Again Calls on Citizens to Stand Behind Cabinet in Crisis

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, May 5.—The general strike is a challenge to parliament and is the road to anarchy and ruin. The British Prime Minister, Stanley Baldwin, thus characterizes the vast labor movement in support of the miners' strike, in a message printed by the official government paper, The British Gazette.

He calls upon all good citizens to stand behind the government to preserve the liberties and privileges of the people of the British Isles.

In the House of Commons the Prime Minister made this unequivocal declaration that the general strike order must be withdrawn before the government would resume negotiations for industrial peace.

$30,000 Liquor Seized In Car at McAdam Jct.

McADAM JCT., May 5.—The seizure of a carload of liquor was made at McAdam today by the Canadian customs. The car was billed as laths from Penfield, N. B., to Toronto and the estimated value of the shipment is about $30,000. The liquor was in vats, each holding about 10 gallons, and 216 vats were in the car. The liquor was shipped in Canadian Pacific car No. 151770. The consignment was transferred by the officers to another car and will be disposed of according to word from Ottawa. The only marks on the kegs were C. S. B. Co. and a serial number. The car was about quarter full of laths and was billed as holding $8,000. No cases were in the shipment.

International Electro-Technical Commission, which was in Toronto on their way to Ottawa.

"Why not?" Prof. Chatelein added. "People are striving to accomplish these things, and though success may not be exactly in sight as yet, it is sure to come."

Prof. Chatelein was not so sure about the discovery of a "death-ray." Science, he said, was not so zealous in the business of murder as in productive activity. Prof. L. Lombardi, of the Technical Engineering College of Rome, who is a world-famous authority, was more reluctant to prophesy. "Pocket telephones that one can receive with are easy," he said, "but to transmit with them is a different thing. I hardly think it feasible, or television either. As for wireless transmission of power, the resistance of the atmosphere is great and there is the problem of concentrating your power in one direction. I think it just as probable that we shall learn to harness the sunlight and draw on that as our future source of power—but that is a long way off."

The appeal expresses appreciation for the sympathetic attitude of the German miners and declares the miners' international is a real living body which will strive for international regulation of the hours and conditions of work.

Strong as a Bear! Swift as a Deer!

(Some Bike)

DID you notice the group of boys around the bicycle store as you came by? The new C-C-M's are being shown. You ought to see them. The C-C-M' Bicycle for 1926 is a "bear" for strength and a "deer" for speed.

Ever listen to a bunch of boys around the fellow with a new C-C-M'? "Gee, let's try it around the block, Bill," is the oft-repeated request. The C-C-M' is certainly a handsome-looking wheel, with its lustrous enamel and its flashing "20-year" nickel. Its clean, racy-looking lines and its narrow tread give it the appearance of speed. It looks the part of a good wheel and it is a good wheel. Made in Canada for 27 years.

Your Boy Knows That C-C-M's Are Best

Don't keep your boy looking in the bicycle dealer's window off and on all season. He knows other boys with C-C-M' Bicycles. You know C-C-M's by their reputation. He knows them personally and in detail. Ask him about the C-C-M' and accept his judgment.

He can tell you how the enamel and nickel are put on so carefully as to last for years. He will call attention to the English seamless tubing which means strength, and the new improved Hercules brake which means safety. He knows how the C-C-M' Triplex Hanger makes easy pedalling. He will mention the Gibson Pedal, light and strong with aluminum frame. To his frank mind a C-C-M' is the best of them all. "Sure, it's some bike", is the boy's clinching argument.

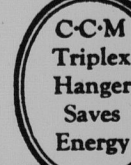

See the Bicycle Your Boy Cannot Outgrow

Your small boy wants a C-C-M' Bicycle. It seems a shame to keep him waiting any longer. You can get him a boy's model with a curved top bar that allows the saddle to be placed low enough for him to reach the pedals in perfect comfort. And each year as he grows taller, he simply has to raise the saddle and adjust it to suit himself.

See the new models at the C-C-M' Dealer's. Investigate the easy payment plan.

MODERN beauty culture starts now at the wash basin. Leading skin specialists urge the use of a certain type of soap to cleanse the pores and free the skin of blemish...

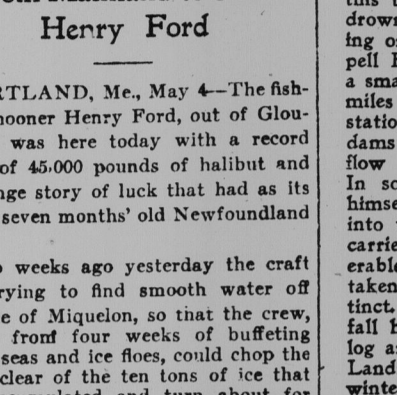

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on overnight. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and pimples often follow. Just do this and your skin will be clean, soft and lovely—wrinkles will be less of a problem as the years advance.

MOTOR SHARES TENDED HIGHER ON N. Y. MART

Stock Prices Drifted in Narrow Trading Area Today At the Opening

STIFFENING OF RATES CURTAILS ACTIVITIES

Trading On Montreal Market Dull, Few Issues Making Appearance

NEW YORK, May 6.—Stock prices drifted within a narrow trading area at the opening of today's market, with yesterday's late stiffening of money rates curtailing activity. Motor shares tended higher and fresh buying support was attracted to some of the oil issues, but initial changes mainly were limited to fractions. United States Industrial Alcohol declined a point.

MONTREAL, May 6.—Trading on the local stock exchange during the first half hour this morning was a dull affair, few issues making their appearance on the board. Brazilian was particularly inactive, opening firm at 85 1/2 for a gain of a quarter point. Bell was the weak spot, selling at 125, for a loss of one point.

Other changes included: Steamships preferred up a quarter at 68; Breweries off a quarter at 58 1/2; and Winnipeg Falls up three-quarters at 16. The rest of the list was quiet and unchanged.

Brokers' Opinions

NEW YORK, May 6.—Josephthal & Co.—"We would buy sound issues when under pressure, but not overload."

Block—"We do not think the market will run away and on the strong spots would take profits with a view to replacing on dips. Bulls and bears are generally favored."

Housman & Co.—"Before the market indicates its ability to carry through further there will have to be a spread of activity to other groups. In our opinion rails and oils offer the best opportunities for the spread of such activity."

Hornblower & Weeks—"The next that seems in prospect for the next few days is an irregular market of minor swings, with such trend as may be indicative of an upward direction. We would rather look to individual stocks for trading profits than to expect any uniformity of trend in the market as a whole."

Morning Stock Letter

NEW YORK, May 6.—The stock market yesterday showed a falling attitude. Trading was the duller since October 1924. The only thing that could be said about the market was that stocks met good support whenever they were offered and there was not the slightest sign of any fear. The technical position of the market is not bad, with a short interest, which is not as large as some months ago, and with brokers' loans down considerably. Oil stocks continue to show as much life as any group and at times in a dull market "rally" there was a comparatively lively demand for them. This group should work higher, mainly Shell, 80, N. J. Mariand, and P.M. We think rails can be bought on any slight weakness, mainly No. 1 below 119. The leading issues, in our opinion, are apt to rally from this level as soon as the situation is a little clearer. General Motors and Steel should be the leaders. Radio Corporation seems a good purchase for a long run.

Denied Pay, Think Hurls Flatiron At Grandfather

Police Dig Him Out of Basket of Clothes; Take Him To Jail

BOSTON, May 6.—Yee Fang, 58, was taken to the City Hospital, his grandson, Yee Yen, 26, was arrested and trolley car and other traffic was blocked by hundreds of people as a result of a row between the two Chinamen in the laundry which the former conducts at 409 Blue Hill avenue.

Yee Yen, younger laundryman says that his grandfather owes him wages and refused to pay. Yen is accused of smashing his grandfather's skull with a hot flatiron and hammering the victim in the face with the weapon. Fang, covered with blood, ran shrieking to the street, his cries collecting a great crowd.

POLICEMEN C. F. SMITH and John Egan, of the Dudley street police station, sent Fang to the City Hospital and arrested Yen, whom they found hiding in a basket, covered by a heap of freshly washed clothing. It was necessary for the police to disperse the crowd before traffic could move.

SELFRIDGE SEES STRIKE ENDED BY WEEK-END

Big London Store Head Says People Will Crush It

TRADE SUFFERS

Labor Declared Casting Ironical Shadow On Campaign To Sell British Goods

Labor is casting an ironical shadow over this week-end strike, before the situation becomes critical, I will be surprised if it outlasts the present week.

The strike was fostered by a few leaders who were attempting to further their own interests. It came before they expected it and they were utterly unprepared for its consequences.

The minor disturbances which have resulted are like those of hoodlums at a circus parade. They will have no effect.

TRADE SUFFERING

The retail trade is suffering acutely, but this is a mere detail when considered with the possible country-wide damage. Labor is casting an ironical shadow over this week's campaign to sell British goods. Retail reports indicated sales have been decreased by one-third since the beginning of the strike.

A revolution is impossible because of anti-strike convictions of the people, who realize that their rights are not infringed as a result of the controversy between the miners and operators.

British opinion will break the strike. The mechanical staff which left my store wished to continue work. The workers declared the spirit was not in the strike.

United Church Sunday School, East Saint John, Has Enthusiastic Meeting

The annual Sunday school meeting of the United Church in East Saint John was held last evening with a good attendance. The reports presented showed that excellent work had been accomplished.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Superintendent, J. W. Flewwelling; assistant superintendents, M. J. Morrison and George Elliott; treasurer, Mrs. Willis McIntyre; secretary, Raymond Ellinger; cradle roll, Mrs. W. J. Bevis; assistant, Miss Eva Matheson; pianist, Miss Ellen Magree.

The number of scholars in all departments was reported as 108. The financial condition was reported to be very satisfactory. A social hour was enjoyed after the business session and refreshments were served. Plans were discussed for the summer and an outline of future work was made and the outlook was considered good. Mr. Flewwelling presided at the meeting, which was characterized by enthusiasm and interest.

English people will crush the strike, before the situation becomes critical, I will be surprised if it outlasts the present week.

TRADE SUFFERING

The retail trade is suffering acutely, but this is a mere detail when considered with the possible country-wide damage. Labor is casting an ironical shadow over this week's campaign to sell British goods. Retail reports indicated sales have been decreased by one-third since the beginning of the strike.

A revolution is impossible because of anti-strike convictions of the people, who realize that their rights are not infringed as a result of the controversy between the miners and operators.

British opinion will break the strike. The mechanical staff which left my store wished to continue work. The workers declared the spirit was not in the strike.

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK

"Marvelous beyond conception" aptly describes the glories of Canada's Rockies. To be fully appreciated they must be seen. To start out on a trip by one's self into this unfamiliar but fascinating paradise-on-earth, to many appears quite a task. Realizing this, Dean Sinclair Laird, of Macdonald College, a well-known Rocky Mountain Traveler, for the third year in succession, has undertaken to conduct a party through this glorious wonderland.

A special train of dining, standard sleeping, and observation compartments has been chartered, to leave Toronto on July 19 via the Canadian Pacific route. Stops will be made at Port Arthur and Fort William, which together form Canada's greatest grain port; Winnipeg Beach, the popular summer resort for Winnipeggers; Winnipeg, Canada's third largest city; Calgary, Alberta's largest city; Banff, the world-famous mountain resort, by automobile for 104 miles over the Banff-Wanderer Highway, the most spectacular drive in Canada; through Kootenay Lake to Nelson, the commercial centre of Southern British Columbia; then through the Doukhobor country to Pentticon; along lovely Okanagan Lake, and to Vancouver thence by steamer to Victoria.

Returning the trip will be by the main line of the Canadian Pacific, through the great canyons of the Fraser and Thompson Rivers, and through the Selkirk and Rockies, affording scenery such as can be found nowhere else on earth; Lake Louise, the Pearl of the Rockies; the most perfect gem of scenery in the world; another day at Banff, Edmonton, the capital of Alberta; Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, the city of optimism; Devils Gap Camp, on the Lake of the Woods, near Kenora, thence to Fort William where one of the fine Canadian Pacific steamers will be used across Lakes Superior and Huron to Port McNicoll, then rail to Toronto, where the trip will terminate.

The trip is included in the price of $850.00, from Toronto; transportation, sleeping cars, accommodations in hotels, and bungalow camps, meals in diners, hotels and on steamers, and sight-seeing tours at points visited.

The trip is open to all, and applications for accommodation, are now being received.

Fare from other points than Toronto will be named and descriptive illustrated booklet sent on application to Dean Sinclair Laird, Macdonald College, Fort St. John, Que.

SECESSION MOVEMENT MAY COME TO HEAD AT C. A. A. U. ANNUAL MEETING HERE THIS SUMMER

DOMINION BODY TO HOLD MEETING HERE THIS SUMMER FOR FIRST TIME IN HISTORY

Sentiment Quietly Growing That Provinces Could Better Handle Affairs Separately Than Through Union As Advocated By Halifax Wanderers

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN HISTORY the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Association will be held in Saint John in September of this year and the suggestion is put forward that no better time for overhauling the entire sport situation in the Maritime Provinces with particular regard to the break-up of the M. P. B. and grant the three provinces authority to conduct its own business by its own provincial association will be had than at this gathering.

NO RESPONSIBLE amateur leader has yet come out with a definite statement in regard to this matter but to date none of them have come out strongly condemning such a course. On the contrary, it is believed most of them favor such a course in the best interests of amateur sport. What the real feeling behind this movement which is originated in Nova Scotia is not known but apparently one of the most influential clubs in the Maritime today is an organization that in the last few years has staged several big meets, notably the Dominion track and field championships and which always has been looked on as a leader in Maritime sport, is not satisfied with the way the ship is being run and a change of captain and crew in their opinion seems desirable.

RADICAL CHANGE The change is a radical one and it is made more so by the fact that the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, which, it so happens, will hold its annual meet in Saint John this September. "The case for the Maritimes" to borrow a political phrase, if it is to be presented at all, should be made ready for presentation at this meeting and if there is concerted action, it seems reasonable to suppose that the request will be granted. Undoubtedly, there would be opposition to such a change and the upheaval, if it really will cause considerable adjustment.

THE EVENTS There are to be ten events for the meet as follows: 100 yard dash, 200 yard dash, 400 yards, four hurdles, Running broad jump, Standing broad jump, Running broad jump, Shot put, six pounds, Basketball throw, 600 yard relay race in 220 yards, 110 yards, 220 yards and 110 yards.

YANKS ARE SLIPPING Philadelphia and Washington Slowly Getting Back Into Fight NEW YORK, May 6.—Washington and Philadelphia, regarded as first division success in the American League race this season, now are making the fight expected of them, while the New York Yankees, who have been leading the early season games to slug their way to a pennant, have taken a turn for the worse.

YANKS GOING GREAT The New York Yankees are sure making a fine mess of the sport this year. They remind old timers of the famous Philadelphia Athletics of years ago with the right amount of veterans and youngsters mixed. In the present-day Athletics, however, they will meet plenty of opposition.

TO TRY AGAIN Johnny Miles could run races every day in the week if he accepted all the offers that have been hurled his way since he won the Boston Marathon. But Patie Miles, who is a pretty wise old himself, says, "Nothing doing."

ANTI-DUMPING DUTY ORDERED PAID ON AUSTRALIAN BUTTER

Vancouver Importers Who Handled Product Stand to Lose Heavily

$84,000 IS DEMANDED BY CUSTOMS OFFICE

Dealers Operate at One-Cent Margin and Are Asked to Pay Six

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 5—Butter importers have just been notified by the customs department that they must pay six cents a pound anti-dumping duty on all butter which they have imported to Canada from Australia since January 1 of this year.

It is estimated by one of the importers that approximately 1,400,000 pounds of butter have been brought in from Australia in the last four months. Six cents a pound dumping duty on this represents $84,000. Most of the butter already has been disposed of.

Dealers state that in handling this Australian butter they were operating on a one-cent margin of profit. They imported at a time when there was not adequate British Columbia or Prairie supply on hand to take care of home requirements, and the butter was not stored with any purpose of breaking the market.

Under the Canadian-Australian trade treaty the regular duty on butter from Australia is one cent a pound, and in view of shortage of supplies in Canada and the new duty regulations under the Canadian-Australian trade treaty, the importers say they proceeded in good faith to bring in a commodity which the public required.

Representations are being made to the minister of agriculture and to the minister of customs to have the extent of the anti-dumping duty modified. No definite reply has been received from Ottawa.

A considerable quantity of the butter went east to Toronto. The view of the government is that the butter was bought in the country of origin at a price less than the cost of production. Most of it came from New South Wales, where there is a producers' pool.

Red Gap?

Like Pa Pettingill of Red Gap, famed in fiction, Mrs. T. C. Primm of Meridian, Tex., is a veteran rancher, superintending all the work on a 1,000-acre cattle ranch. She is also president of the Study Club in Meridian and takes an active part in civic work.

GAS PRICES RAISED CENT.

TORONTO, May 5—Gasoline retail prices in Toronto and district today advanced a cent a gallon, to 22 cents, on account of a "seasonable advance" in crude oil prices.

The view of the government is that the butter was bought in the country of origin at a price less than the cost of production. Most of it came from New South Wales, where there is a producers' pool.

BUDGET DIVISION LIKELY ON TUESDAY

OTTAWA, May 5—Debate on the budget again drifted through another sitting with prospects of a division on Tuesday next.

C. R. McIntosh, Liberal, of North Battleford, stressed the point that since Confederation only eleven budgets had shown a decrease in Canada's debt and seven of the budgets had been Liberal budgets.

MRS. JACK ROSSLEY is now prepared to give lessons to older boys and girls who would like to learn stage dancing. These dancing lessons are not for stage work, but to build up and make young bodies strong and graceful, unless parents wish their children to take up a stage career. The younger children already enrolled are learning quickly and just love the work, even the tiny tots, who think it is all play, take a great interest and on two lessons are shaping well.

Annual Report Gives Review of Much Done During Year

FINANCES GOOD; LIABILITY LOWER

Endowment Fund Established—Review of Year in Departments Given

The 30th annual report of the Y. M. C. A. will be read at the annual meeting at the "Y" building, starting with a supper at 6:30, followed by a business meeting at 7:30. It shows 1,100 members on April 30 and states the year has been very successful in the work and in finances.

The chief speaker of the evening will be Harry Ballantyne, of Toronto, general secretary for Canada.

YEAR REVIEWED
The annual report, signed by the president, W. R. Pearce, and the secretary, A. M. Gregg, records changes in the building, including the enlarging of the billiard room, the installation of a new lighting system in the rotunda and a considerable amount of painting.

Dealing with the boys' department, it says that many of the leaders today are men who as boys went to the boys' department and participated in its activities. The "Find Yourself Campaign" marked the beginning of a group of 25 boys of a process of orientation with an adult of experience. Many boys received real definite help. The annual camp was attended by 30 boys. Equipment was provided through the efforts of the Y's Men's Club which proved a great asset to the Recreational and educational events and Bible study had been conducted through organized groups. While the boys' department yet functioned a foundation was being made, which made it easier each year.

RELIGIOUS WORK.
It has been the constant aim to keep before the membership the fact that the work of the Y. M. C. A. is definitely a religious work. No matter whether it be physical, social, educational or of definitely spiritual nature, all four aspects of the program tended to help boys and men realize this. The year opened with a religious work conference of a group of the directors and the staff at the Cedars. The Sunday evening Fire-side Home Hour was continued each Sunday after the church service. The Y's Men's Club has provided special soloists while the Other Y's Club have been the welcoming committee and looked after the refreshments.

In Sunday morning services very definite progress had been made. The average attendance had been 55 an increase of 50 over three years ago and 10 over last year.

MENTOR'S TRAINING GROUP.
In co-operation with the Boys' Work Board, a training class had been held weekly with Rev. F. B. Burman as instructor. While the attendance had been small, each member of the class was actively engaged in study, pool work and therefore the influence was felt by a larger number than it would seem.

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT
The most important events had been the school boy athletic meet, the free swimming campaign, the gymnasium exhibition and the New Year's regatta program. The free swimming campaign enrolled 240 boys. The school boy athletic meet had 115 entries. The New Year's day display was the most largely attended for many years. For the annual exhibition more than 1,000 tickets were sold.

The track team had continued to do honor to the association and at the Dominion Day meet at Sussex won the Pedlar trophy for the third successive season. This cup now becomes the permanent possession of the association. The association was also represented at the Maritime championships of Charlottetown and the Canadian championships at Halifax, as well as the June 3 sports at West Saint John and the indoor championships at the Arena during the fall.

Y'S MEN'S CLUB
The Y's Men's Club completed its first year of service in March. Its service activity had included Sunday services and concerts at the County Hospital, the providing of a camp equipment for the boys' camp, the entertainment of the new boys assisting in the financing of the track team, helping in providing music for the Y. M. C. A. orchestra, arranging for the special musical features for the Sunday evening sing songs, the beginning of a fund that will permanently establish the boys' camp, the conduct of the membership campaign. Thirty-one of the 37 members were canvassers in the recent finance campaign. There have been a large number of club activities outside of the weekly luncheons.

OTHER Y'S CLUB
In January a new service club which had taken the name of the Other Y's Club, was organized through the efforts of a committee of the Y's Men's Club. This club is composed of young men from 18 to about 25. Their objectives are similar to those of the Y's Men's Club, that of service. The organization, however, is more elastic, there being no classification. Although organized only four months, it had already proved itself worth while. Among the service tasks accomplished had been the welcoming of strangers at the Sunday evening home hour service and looking after the refreshments, the holding of a rummage sale, the carrying out of an athletic night for the South and East End boys' clubs, and the building of table tops for use at large supper gatherings.

Dealing with work at the winter port the report says that 27 steamers, with a total of 18,807 passengers were met and 286 introductions were sent to associations in other places.

FINANCES OF "Y"
Touching the financial aspect of the work it says:

"Probably no other year has been so outstanding in connection with the finances of the association. The annual campaign for funds was carried on March 10, and as a result a total of $7,831.75 in cash has been paid in, with $1,943.00 in pledges, a total of $9,774.75. Of this amount still to be collected, most falls due during May and June. This accomplishment in face of the continued financial depression we feel is a most outstanding feature and enables us to close our year with all bills paid, including $1,000 on our accrued liability, and to have a balance to the good of $161.51. In conveying this fact it takes but a very few words to express it, we hope, however, that all will realize the hard and careful work that has made this possible.

ENDOWMENT FUND.
"We are also very glad to be able to record that in addition to the above splendid financial accomplishment the long talked of endowment fund has been created. This has been made possible by the bequest of the late Wm. Crawford, who left the association the sum of $2,000. In creating an endowment fund with this amount we are following the expressed wish of Mr. Crawford.

"The accrued liability which in May 1922 was $6,729.39, has been reduced to $2,000 which we feel is a very creditable showing, especially as the last four years have been difficult ones in the business life of the country.

To the Ladies' Auxiliary thanks was expressed for the many acts of service during the year and to the National Council for sending outstanding men here during the year.

The membership of 1,100 is made up as follows: Sustaining, 56; honorary, 37; business men, 108; seniors, 238; young men, 83; limited, 188; life members, 9; business college, 2; boys, 392.

Campaign To Increase Membership Success, So Far, Report Today

"We will get more than the 200 new members aimed at during the campaign if all the teams have as good success as the few who have completed their work and turned in their reports," A. L. Foster, chairman of the membership committee, of the Board of Trade said at noon today when asked how the campaign was progressing.

He said that a few of the canvassers would be unable to complete their work until tomorrow. The men all reported having met with a cordial reception and they found the great majority ready to join hands with the Board in its efforts to aid the city and to encourage in its citizens a true community effort.

F. MacIure Scanders, commissioner, said last night that he believed the Saint John Board of Trade was the only one on the continent that had existed for 13 years without an annual membership campaign and the fact that it had been able to carry on for that length of time with no membership drive, he held to be indicative of the real spirit of loyalty to the city which he has found animated the people of Saint John.

"What grumbling is done he has found is grumbling at the adverse conditions affecting the maritimers which the Board of Trade is persistently combating with steadily growing success.

NEW SPIRIT OF UNITY.
As an indication of the new spirit of unity to be found in the three Maritime Provinces, Mr. Scanders spoke of having received a telegram from the Board of Trade yesterday informing him that a message had been sent to the recently formed Dominion Board of Trade from Halifax urging that the first convention of the Dominion organization be held in Saint John.

While today will be the final day for the Board of Trade membership campaign in Saint John, Mr. Scanders did not expect that the full tally of the membership roll would be made up before Friday of this week as some of the canvassers might have "clean-up" work in revisiting prospective members who had not been in their offices when first called on.

outstanding in connection with the finances of the association. The annual campaign for funds was carried on March 10, and as a result a total of $7,831.75 in cash has been paid in, with $1,943.00 in pledges, a total of $9,774.75. Of this amount still to be collected, most falls due during May and June. This accomplishment in face of the continued financial depression we feel is a most outstanding feature and enables us to close our year with all bills paid, including $1,000 on our accrued liability, and to have a balance to the good of $161.51. In conveying this fact it takes but a very few words to express it, we hope, however, that all will realize the hard and careful work that has made this possible.

ENDOWMENT FUND.
"We are also very glad to be able to record that in addition to the above splendid financial accomplishment the long talked of endowment fund has been created. This has been made possible by the bequest of the late Wm. Crawford, who left the association the sum of $2,000. In creating an endowment fund with this amount we are following the expressed wish of Mr. Crawford.

"The accrued liability which in May 1922 was $6,729.39, has been reduced to $2,000 which we feel is a very creditable showing, especially as the last four years have been difficult ones in the business life of the country.

To the Ladies' Auxiliary thanks was expressed for the many acts of service during the year and to the National Council for sending outstanding men here during the year.

The membership of 1,100 is made up as follows: Sustaining, 56; honorary, 37; business men, 108; seniors, 238; young men, 83; limited, 188; life members, 9; business college, 2; boys, 392.
