Britain Sends The Atlantic Fleet To The Dardanelles

Greatest Armada Ever There—Action Lessens Anxiety of People of Constantinople—High Men of Army and Navy in Conference With Government in Downing Street.

SCORES CABINET FOR CALL UPON THE DOMINIONS

London Daily Mail Attacks Lloyd George

Declares Proposed Military Enterprise is Designed to Cover Up Blunders of Premier—News of Action in Various Parts of Empire.

(Canadian Press.)
London, Sept. 18.—The Daily Mail is in full blast against the "cabinet plan for a great conflict with the Turks," and describes Premier Lloyd George's appeal to the dominions as the most appalling disclosure in an amazing declaration of the British policy. The Daily Mail accuses the premier of trying to play upon the emotion of the Australians by invoking the immortal name of the Anzacs. It says in Canada and South Africa the invitation to plunge into fresh strife has caused great surprise, and trusts the dominions will flatly refuse to be entangled in another military enterprise, which it says is being contrived for no other purpose than to cover up Lloyd George's irreparable blunders.

The Daily Telegraph, on the other hand, expresses the opinion that it has been well and wisely decided to lay the facts before the dominions and invite them to send contingents to defend the cause of victory which they paid dearly during the great war. The Telegraph says, however, that the overseas dominions well understand what is at stake on the shores of the Dardanelles.

Australia Also.

London, Sept. 18.—Premier W. M. Hughes of the Australian commonwealth, after consultation with his cabinet, announces that the Australian government is prepared to send a contingent to the Near East if necessary, according to a Reuter message from Melbourne.

W. Page, the leader of the country party in the Australian parliament, supports the proposal to send a contingent from Australia, but the leader of the labor party opposes it unless it be preceded by a referendum. His opposition is based on the ground that Australia has not yet recovered from the recent war. Military authorities at Melbourne say that good officers and men are ready for the proposed campaign.

New Zealand Ready.

Wellington, N. Z., Sept. 18.—Only one answer is possible when the British Empire calls its loyal citizens, declared Premier Massey in a statement with regard to New Zealand's decision to send a contingent to assist in the protection of the straits of the Dardanelles.

"I hope every man that will be averted," the premier declared, "but if peace is to be maintained, then the present difficulty has to be faced firmly and promptly, without delay. The Dardanelles must be kept open. Turkish forces from Asia Minor must not be allowed to concentrate in Constantinople."
"I had hoped the British Empire would have recovered from the last war before being called upon to participate in another. We don't want war, but duty comes first. The empire must be preserved, and whatever happens or becomes necessary, British citizens both in Great Britain and the dominions will rise to the occasion. When the empire calls there is only one answer possible on the part of loyal citizens."

IRISH AFFAIRS

Dublin, Sept. 18.—There was much shooting in various parts of the city last night. The officers of the Irish Independent, which are guarded by Free State troops, were attacked. Republicans invaded Orde House, the offices of the Criminal Investigation Department, and shot a detective dead.

Two men refused to halt when challenged by Free State troops and opened fire on the soldiers. A motor truck which arrived was attacked by other armed men in the vicinity. A lieutenant and sergeant of the Free State were wounded, and one irregular was killed and two captured.

Belfast, Sept. 18.—Figures given out here today on the fatalities in the Belfast disturbances since July 21, 1920, show a total of 438 persons killed, of whom, it is said, 189 were Protestants and 247 Catholics.

Since January 1, 1922, the figures give ninety-two Protestants and 133 Catholics killed.

Constantinople, Sept. 18.—The entire British Atlantic fleet is being sent to reinforce the Mediterranean squadron for the protection of Constantinople and the Dardanelles.

This undoubtedly will create the most formidable armada of warships ever assembled in an area of like size, embracing the most modern dreadnaughts, battle cruisers, destroyers, submarines and aircraft carriers.

British officials here feel confident that if the allied land forces are not sufficient to check an attack on the Dardanelles by the Turkish Nationalists, the combined fleet, together with French and Italian war vessels, will be more than adequate.

There is an increased feeling of security among the population of Constantinople as a result of Great Britain's energetic measures.

The allied commanders here are meeting today under the presidency of Brigadier-General Sir Charles Harrington to discuss measures for the defence of the capital and the straits. The meeting is expected to bring out the complete unity of the British, French and Italian forces.

It is now ascertained that only 20,000 Greek soldiers remain under arms out of the army of 250,000. These are in Thrace, retention of which territory by Greece is seriously doubted here.

General M. C. J. Pelle, French high commissioner, started for Smyrna last night to confer with Mustafa Kemal Pasha, at the latter's special request. It is assumed the Nationalist leader desires to ascertain the extent to which France intends to fulfill the obligations undertaken by her treaty with the Ankara government.

Downing Street Session.

London, Sept. 18.—The British cabinet held a conference today over the Near Eastern crisis. Significance was attached to the presence of Earl of Gavan, chief of staff of the army, Air Marshal Sir Hugh Macduff, and other prominent representatives of the admiralty, all of whom carried dispatches and maps.

RUSH MUNITIONS WORK IN ENGLAND.

Paris, Sept. 18.—The British government has ordered all small arms and munition factories in the United Kingdom to work twenty-four hours at full capacity in preparation for any Turkish emergency, according to news reaching private sources here today.

BEFORE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

Melbourne, Sept. 18.—Premier Hughes of the Australian commonwealth, has cabled Sir Jos. Cook, Australian delegate to the League of Nations requesting him immediately to bring the Near East dispute before the league with a view to securing peace.

London, Sept. 17.—Kemalist forces massed on a quay at Smyrna prevented an attempt by detachments of allied marines to land on Saturday morning, according to a despatch to the Sunday Express from Smyrna by way of Malta. The despatch says the Greek battleship Kilkis bombarded Smyrna's Turkish quarter.

A Turkish Threat.

Constantinople, Sept. 18.—The Ankara government has informed the Allies that if the remainder of the Greek army in Asia Minor is to be evacuated to the neutral zones of the Dardanelles the Kemalists will disregard the neutrality of the straits and pursue the Greeks into international territory. The Greek military mission has left Constantinople.

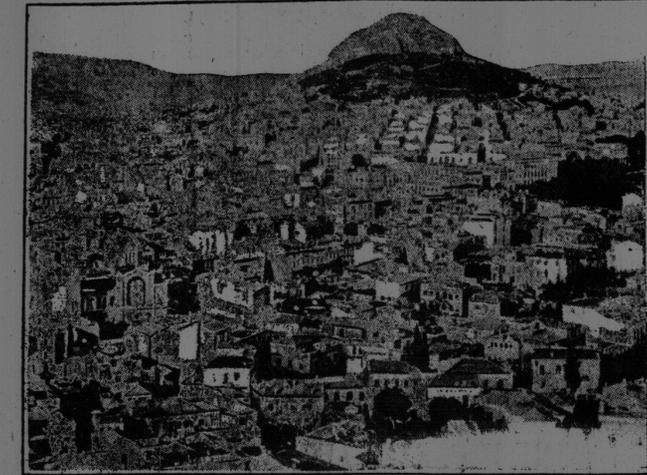

FORD WORKERS ARE IDLE TODAY

Magnate Renews Effort to Solve Fuel Problem—No Buying at Present Coal Prices.

Detroit, Sept. 18.—An industrial army of upwards of 100,000 persons today entered upon a period of idleness, and the mammoth Ford Motor Co. plants were deserted, except for caretakers, for the first time in months.

As many of the idle factory workers were casting about for jobs to tide them over, their employer, Henry Ford, renewed his efforts to solve his fuel problem. His task, Mr. Ford maintained, was to obtain fuel at what he considered a reasonable price. To accept coal at prices quoted him, Mr. Ford previously had declared, would be a "submission to profiteers."

ATHENS, A CITY OF UNREST

A panoramic view of the capital of Greece, looking across the modern section toward the Acropolis, a relic of ancient glory. Since the defeat of the Grecian armies in Asia Minor, Athens has been seething with political plots and counter-plots, and demobilized troops have been making threats against the monarchy.

WILLIAMS AND RUTH IN HOMERS

Former Now Has 38 and the Babe 32

Sisler, Back in Game, Breaks Ty Cobb's Record for Consecutive Hitting Games—Browns' Victory Over New York Yankees.

(Canadian Press.)
New York, Sept. 18.—Hub Pruetz's southpaw twirler succeeded where Urban Shocker's veteran pitching art failed and the batting St. Louis Browns were back today within a half game of the top as a result of their 5-1 victory over New York in the second game of the "little world series." The final contest between the rivals will be played today with Joe Bush and possibly Vandigler, who turned in a brilliant game against Boston last week, as the pitching opponents.

Ken Williams of the Browns and Babe Ruth of the Yankees, both demonstrated their favorite art in the second game, the former slugging out his 38th home run to break a tie for the major league lead with Rogers Hornsby, of the St. Louis Cardinals, while Babe busted off his 32nd.

George Sisler added another laurel wreath to his collection by hitting safely in his forty-first consecutive game, breaking Ty Cobb's modern mark of 40, set in 1911.

The Giants lost to Cincinnati, 4 to 3, in a battle of dropouts, Neph and Hickey and dropped a half game of their six game margin over the Pittsburgh Pirates, who were idle. If the Giants win half of their fourteen contests, the Pirates must take all of their thirteen to annex the pennant.

Osborne held the Dodgers and Chicago defeated Brooklyn, 6 to 3, in the only other National League game played. Summa, a Texas outfielder, and Boone, a rookie twirler, were leading factors in Cleveland's victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 2. Daus was hit hard and Washington dropped Detroit, 6 to 2, while a batting rally in the sixth propelled the runs that gave Boston a 3-2 decision over the White Sox.

PERE MARQUETTE BOARD DECISION

Recommendations in Matter of Dispute With Employees in Canada.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—That there shall be no discrimination against clerks and other employees on the Canadian section of the Pere Marquette Railway, that present rates of wages shall continue effective until Sept. 15, after which a mutual agreement between the railway and its Canadian employees is to be sought, failing which wages will revert to the U. S. standard, and that if the U. S. labor board increases the wages of this class of employees in the U. S. such increase shall automatically apply to Canadian employees, are recommendations of the conciliation board dealing with the dispute between the Pere Marquette and its clerks, freight handlers, express and station employees in Canada.

The board finds the U. S. labor board's decision in the matter of wages "just and reasonable" and that the amended scale of rates of pay is higher than for similar skilled workers in the same section of Ontario.

ASHORE ON COAST OF LUNenburg COUNTY

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 18.—Reports reaching here last night from the stranded American freighter Lake George, ashore on Indian Island, off Petite Riviere, Lunenburg county, are that the vessel was still hard and fast on rock bottom with her forepeak full of water. Unless a strong south wind springs up there is very little hope of re-floating the stranded vessel.

MUSTAFA KEMAL PASHA

Leader of the Turkish Nationalists, who have so decisively defeated the Greeks in Asia Minor. He is commanding the best equipped Turkish army that ever broke through the straits of the Dardanelles. He demands that the Allies hand Constantinople over to the Turks.

HAVE WON WAY INTO MINE WHERE MEN ARE PRISONERS

Rescuers Break Through Into Argonaut, But No Word Yet From Entombed Miners.

Jackson, Cal., Sept. 18.—Rescuers working from the adjoining Kennedy mine a little after five o'clock this morning penetrated the Argonaut mine, where forty-seven men have been entombed for 22 days. "Before we enter the Argonaut we probably will have to timber between the two mines," said V. S. Garbarini, superintendent of the Argonaut. He would make no estimate of the time required for this work.

The opening connecting the Kennedy mine with the Argonaut workings has been enlarged to the full size necessary for the passage of the rescue crews. This was announced officially at 6:45 a. m.

USE JOE BUSH TO STOP BROWNS

Championship May Hinge on Today's Game.

Pruett Has Made Ruth Fan Ten Times in 15 Trips to Plate—Wilde and Villa to Meet in Ring—New York Papers Back Up Mayflower Exclusion.

(Canadian Press.)
St. Louis, Sept. 18.—The 1922 championship of the American League hinged in a large measure upon the outcome of the final contest of a three game series between the Yankees and the St. Louis Browns here today.

New York possessed the slim lead of a half game over St. Louis. Each team has one game, the Yankees copying Saturday's, 2 to 1, when Shawkey subdued Shocker in a thrilling pitcher's battle, and the Browns winning yesterday, "Shocker" Pruett, southern school boy hurler, pitching invincible ball against Hoyt and Sam Jones.

Should New York win today, the visitors would increase their lead to a game and a half. That margin at this stage of the season with the Browns having only nine games to play and the Yankees ten, would go far in determining the ultimate winner of the championship.

Should victory perch on the Browns' banner, the locals would capture a lead of a half contest. This result, it is believed, would mean that the Browns have a favorable chance to beat the New York team down the stretch, as the Yankees appear to be facing a harder schedule to the finish than the Browns.

"Bullet" Joe Bush, the leading pitcher of the major leagues, was primed to hurl for the Yankees today. For the Browns the pitching selection seemed to lie among Davis, Wright and Kolp. There was some speculation that Shocker would try a comeback with only one day's rest.

Buffing the hard hitting Yankees, Pruetz increased to ten the number of times he has fanned Ruth in the fifteen times Ruth has faced him this season. The Babe hit safely twice and walked in the other times at bat against Pruetz.

Villa vs. Wilde.

New York, Sept. 18.—Jimmy Wilde, world's flyweight boxing champion, has accepted terms for a title contest in this country with Pancho Villa, Filipino sensation who captured the American flyweight title on last Thursday night by scoring a technical knockout over Johnny Buff, former title holder. This announcement was made last night by Dave Driscoll, match maker for the Ebbets-McKeever Company, which operates Ebbets' Field. Villa already has agreed to terms.

Villa, Driscoll said, also has signed an agreement to box Joe Lynch of New York for the world's bantamweight title, held by the latter.

New York, Sept. 18.—The New York World editorially endorses the stand of the trustees of the International fishermen's cup in excluding the U. S. schooner Mayflower, declaring that while it is true that the boat has made several fishing trips to Quebec for the contest, "no secret is made of the fact that she was built by New England yachtsmen for the race."

The Herald also endorses the position of the cup trustees, saying the idea of a schooner being especially designed and built to win the race was directly opposed to the thought which the donor of the cup had in mind in establishing the trophy. "What appeared to be a campaign of publicity on behalf of the Mayflower," which was started early this year by publication of various statements as to her trips to the fishing grounds and the value of her catches," the Herald says, "has failed to impress the Halifax trustees."

The Times says it would be unfortunate to exclude the Mayflower "if she can be called a bona fide fishing vessel" and declares that to the lynxman it would

Cabinet Meeting In Ottawa on the Near East Situation

Ministers Respond to Rush Call on Request of Motherland for Contingent to Turkey—Offers of Service Pour in Upon Premier and Minister of Militia.

(Canadian Press.)
Ottawa, Sept. 18.—A special meeting of the cabinet council, called to consider the situation in the Near East opened at noon. It is probable that the deliberations will last throughout the day.

Cabinet ministers arrived on the morning trains from various points where they have been spending the week end, having been summoned by telegraph. With the exception of those ministers who are either outside of the Dominion or beyond reach or Ottawa a full attendance was expected.

Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of militia and defence arrived from Brockville at 11:30 and went direct to the east block for the meeting. Ministers who have been spending the week end at Quebec points also arrived on the noon trains and went direct to the east block for their deliberations.

The official invitation to send a contingent was received by the prime minister a little after his return to the capital. It is understood, and the call to the cabinet ministers was at once issued.

Five of the ministers with portfolios were absent when cabinet met. These were Messrs. Fielding, Lapointe, J. H. King, Copp and Kennedy, the latter still being in hospital at Montreal. Hon. Hon. Senator Dandurand and Hon. T. A. Low, ministers without portfolio are both expected to reach Ottawa in time for part of today's meetings.

Many Want to Go.

In the meantime, before it has definitely been decided whether or not Canada will send a contingent of troops to the Near East, thousands of Canadians appear to have taken it for granted that an expeditionary force will be called for. Offers of service continue to pour in on the minister of militia and the prime minister's office. That there will be no difficulty in raising a force of any desired size is apparent from the requests from various centres to be allowed to raise battalions, brigades or army corps.

While the people are forced to await the decision of the government and possibly also of parliament, before knowing whether or not Canada will be represented in the defence of the Near East, the newspapers largely neglected since the end of 1919, have again become an attraction to pedestrians in the streets and new developments are being closely followed by people bound office-ward or homeward.

In addition to the information being received by the government through the regular channels it is expected that Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. E. Lapointe, who are at Geneva and therefore able to keep in close touch with European developments, will keep their colleagues at home advised of any new developments and will also be able to advise as to the needs of the moment. So far as can be learned nothing has yet been received from the ministers who are in California to supplement the other information in the hands of the government and it is expected that they will keep the prime minister in close touch with any steps likely to be taken.

MORE INFORMATION IS ASKED FOR.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—The cabinet adjourned just before 2 p. m., without reaching any decision regarding the British government's invitation. Members of the government will reassemble this afternoon. Premier King said there was nothing he could announce at present. As the message from the British government was marked confidential, he could not make it public without permission from that government. He stated that the official message had not contained sufficient information to form the basis for a decision by the government and that additional information was being called for.

seem serve to exclude her "if nothing but her style of rigging, which can be changed, stands in the way." However, the Times believes it would be unfortunate for the relations of the Canadian and U. S. fishermen if there should be no race, and concludes:—"There must be fishing schooners hailing from the New England ports that could give the best of the Canadians a race if the Mayflower were not allowed to sail."

Referee Knocked Out.

Toronto, Sept. 18.—If a warning issued to refractory athletes by Magistrate J. M. Jones, when he fined and imprisoned Franklin of the Y. M. H. A. soccer team of the T. and D., 4th division, for striking Referee Rose during the third division soccer game between Simmons and Memorial Institute on Saturday afternoon, when Referee of the Institute team struck Referee Lovell over the heart and rendered him unconscious for some time, is expected to bring heavy punishment upon the offender from the T. and D. council, if not from the courts.

Grand Circuit.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 18.—Four events are scheduled for today's opening Grand Circuit races at the Columbus Driving Park. The beginning of a two weeks' meet with thirty-nine events, calling for a total sum of $66,700 in stakes and purses. The meet will bring more than 400 horses to the Columbus track, followers of the sport said today.

Six starters will face the wire in today's feature event, the King stake, for 2,000 pacers. The Horse Review Futurity trot for two-year-olds has twelve entries.

MANY READY TO GO IF CALL FOR TROOPS ISSUED

Reports From Various Parts of Dominion

Offers of Individuals, Corps and Regiments—What the Newspapers of Canada have to Say About the Call from the Old Land.

Sydney, N. S., Sept. 18.—Col. A. MacDonald, D. S. O., officer commanding the artillery brigade here, has telegraphed volunteering his services and those of the 8th battery and the 26th battery for the Near East. Other Cape Breton officers have also telegraphed volunteering their services. Col. MacDonald commanded the 3rd brigade of the Canadian Field Artillery overseas and made a distinguished record.

Gloucester, N. S., Sept. 18.—"Where is this recruiting office?" asked a Gloucester Bay veteran this morning as he entered the post office. Three ex-soldiers had been reading the morning despatches with reference to Great Britain's invitation to the Dominion to send a contingent if additional troops were needed in Turkey. One of the three was an ex-member of the famous 28th. They seemed disappointed when nobody knew anything about the recruiting office.

In York County.

Fredericton, N. B., Sept. 18.—The York Regiment is available in whole or in part if Canada decides to send troops to the Near East. Major Allan Sterling, commanding officer, sent word this morning and it is understood telegrams have been despatched by individual officers offering their services.

Col. D. W. B. Spoy, C. B. E., in command of Military District No. 18, during the absence of Brig.-Gen. A. H. Bell, now in California, is said to have been asked by several officers of his company for permission to offer their services individually.

In Canadian West.

Saskatoon, Sask., Sept. 18.—A considerable number of men have applied at local military offices stating their readiness to enlist for service at the Dardanelles. No action is reported yet by any of the veteran organizations and it is expected to be taken.

Calgary, Sept. 18.—Alberta will respond to the call for troops for action in the Dardanelles at once, according to Lieut. Col. D. W. B. Spoy, C. B. E., in command of Military District No. 18, during the absence of Brig.-Gen. A. H. Bell, now in California. The number of telegrams and telephone messages and also personal calls already received at district headquarters there is a lively interest in the press reports and a contingent is being required Alberta will respond to the call in a surprisingly rapid manner.

In Amherst.

Amherst, N. S., Sept. 18.—Bulletins from this morning in the office of the Amherst Daily News telling of Britain's call to the dominions for military aid have aroused much interest. A number of calls have been received from those anxious to enlist.

St. Catharines, Ont., Sept. 18.—Major Baker, of the Tenth St. Catharines Field Battery tonight wired General Paquet, commander of military district No. 2, offering the entire battery for service overseas. The battery is said to have been the first volunteer when the call in 1914.

Canadian Editorials.

The Toronto Mail and Empire says:—"If France and Italy are totally in accord with Britain respecting the keeping of the Turk army from European soil, the issuance of an empire call seems hardly warranted from a military point of view. But it has an important moral and sentimental value. The immense sacrifice by Australia and New Zealand in the war against Turkey have been, however, laid upon the empire the responsibility for protection of their gains. The recurrence of the Turks is clearly an empire affair."

The Montreal Gazette:—"We have had enough of the Turkish menace while not adopting the pusillanimous policy of peace at any price, Canadians may reasonably require to be shown that conciliation cannot be obtained by concession and that the empire is menaced before they make necessary. If they sacrifice becomes necessary, it will be undeniably made." The Halifax Herald:—"The appeal of the mother country has now gone out to the dominions to join her in sending forces to defend the empire's interests. It is truly said that what the men of the Old Land fought for in the dominion also fought for; our interests were in common; and it would be surprising if we should not join hands in protecting those interests against the arrogant revolt of Kemal Pasha. We may not be more interested in the security of the vain-glorious Constantinople, but we must hold what was dearly won against an enemy that is rearing his head in defiance." FOUR TRAGEDIES OVER WEEK END

Bullet in Heart, Rose on His Breast

Roumanian Flag Winding Sheef of Montreal Suicide —Aged Woman Dies in a Burning House— Boy Drowned in Canal.

(Special to Times) Montreal, Sept. 18.—A woman of 86 years suffocated in a fire which destroyed her daughter's home, a boy of four years drowned in the Lachine Canal, a man dead from narcotic poisoning and a suicide is the tragedy toll in Montreal over the week-end.

With a revolver bullet through his heart, a rose on his breast, and his shoulders wrapped in the Roumanian flag, Nestor Federick, 28 years of age, of 423 Moreau street, was found lying on his bed on Saturday afternoon. His sister, Mrs. J. Butio, found him. A revolver was lying beside him. When the police investigated they were informed that Mrs. Butio had gone out of the house at 11 o'clock on Saturday morning. When she returned at 1:40 o'clock the door was locked and the front windows barred. She managed to get through a rear win-dow and found her brother lying dead. Federick had been arrested on July 18 last on charged of trying to take his life by drinking creoline.

Dies in Fire. Fire broke out on Saturday afternoon in the home of Max Rothschild, Clarke avenue, Westmount. Mrs. H. Bernstein, aged 86, mother of Mrs. Rothschild, was bedridden, a victim of paralysis. The nurse who was attending her, noticed smoke and notified the woman's son-in-law, who told the nurse to get Mrs. Bernstein out of the house. Meantime he tried to extinguish the flames with a blanket. The nurse, taking the invalid from bed carried her into the hall, but here the smoke was so dense that she had to drop the patient. Her own hands and neck already burned, the nurse was compelled to try for her own life and jumped through a window on the second storey, injuring her ankle in the fall. Rothschild also made an effort to carry his mother-in-law to safety, but was badly burned about the hands and had to give up the attempt. At 9 o'clock in the evening, after the flames had been ex-tinguished, the lifeless body of the woman was found by a captain of the fire brigade. Though her face and hands were badly swollen the aged victim was not burned, the swelling having probably been caused by scalding by water heated by the flames.

While playing with some other children on the edge of the Lachine Canal, a four-year old child, lost his balance and fell into the water. As the other children were about the same age they could lend no help to their little playmate who sank from sight as they looked on horrified. A call for the police was sent in but the little fellow's body was not found until Sunday afternoon.

Narcotic poisoning is said by doctors to have claimed another victim. On Saturday afternoon a man whose name was given as Jack Cochrane, aged 30, said to be long to New York, was taken into the hospital by another man who said he was a friend. The friend told the hos-pital authorities that Cochrane had been taken suddenly ill, while in a restaurant about four o'clock. At nine o'clock he died in the hospital, and the doctors at-tribute his death to morphine poisoning.

Articles in both places totalling about $25,000 were taken. The Carnegie home was entered and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dilworth. Chief of Police Lane of Southampton, who is investigating the thefts, believes that they were carried out by one man who gained entrance to the house in each case by climbing up a porch pillar and entering a window on the second floor.

The property taken from the Carnegie home included two gold mesh bags, a diamond ring, a ruby ring, a diamond guard ring and a solitary two watches, one a wrist watch, both mounted with diamonds, and other property valued in all at nearly $5,000.

No complete list of the property stolen from the Dilworth home is available yet, but it is said to be valued at about $20,000.

In both cases the houses entered are set far back from the road and are sur-ounded by bushes and shrubbery.

Mr. Carnegie is a nephew of the late Andrew Carnegie.

N. S. CHAMPIONSHIP GAME IS POSTPONED. Springhill, N. S., Sept. 17.—The first game of the series between the Spring-hill and Yarmouth baseball teams for the championship of the province, which was to have been played here yesterday, was postponed on account of rain and will be played tomorrow afternoon.

Use the Want Ad. Way

Victoria, Sept. 18.—Segregation of Chinese school children in this city is being undertaken from purely an edu-cational rather than a racial standpoint according to a resolution passed by the school board, and announced today. The question of the segregation of Chinese children was considered in camera.

The resolution made no mention of Chinese but states that certain school accommodation will be set aside for the teaching of classes of all pupils whose limited knowledge of the English lan-guage is causing retardation to themselves as well as interfering with satisfactory progress of other pupils in the same class.

No pupil will be admitted to the primary graded schools who cannot pass a satisfactory test in the English lan-guage, but such pupil will be assigned to the special classes. All junior grade pupils who have passed their sixteenth birthday, and all intermediate and senior grade pupils who have passed their sev-enth birthday, will be excluded from the graded schools except under special permission from the board of school trustees.

It is also determined that so far as possible the English language only be spoken at all schools and in play on the playgrounds.

It was admitted that the embargo which the Chinese have placed on the separate schools is fairly effective. While a few Chinese boys and girls are attend-ing the separate schools their number is not sufficient to keep the schools busy, and the present condition cannot go on for ever, it is admitted.

The argument of the Chinese against segregation is set forth in an open letter signed by two prominent Chinese mis-ters of the Gospel, who appealed to the school trustees to reconsider their action. It is felt, says the letter, that if the Chinese cannot mingle with other children, they will miss the opportunity of learning many customs of modern civilization. Chinese were taxpayers and should not be discriminated against. No-thing had been heard of segregating other non-English speaking children.

Chicago Undertaking a Cam-paign to Rid Windy City of Menace— Use Attractive Bait.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—J. L. Nichols, of Baltimore, known as the modern Pied Piper, who by his own confession has exterminated "billions" of rats, has in-spired out his plans for a three months' campaign against rats in Chicago.

Instead of luring the rats out of the city with enticing lures, as did the piper of legendary fame, Mr. Nichols and his staff of experts are to resort to the more scientific though less romantic method of poisoning the rodent population with barium carbonate, a tasteless and odor-less chemical which has been found effective.

Consequently the rat population of Chicago is to live on an epicurean diet during the campaign. From the ex-tensive menu which the government has prepared, including hamburger steak, sausage, crabmeat, fresh liver, bacon, cantaloupe, cucumbers, mashed bananas, baked sweet potatoes, cheese and peanut but-ter. Mr. Nichols has selected liver, cheese and tomatoes or cantaloupe, all seasoned with a dash of barium carbon-ate, as the diet of Chicago rats.

"Rats are very clever," said Mr. Nichols. "I have learned in my seven years' experience with them, however, that they can't count above three. Hence we use three different kinds of bait. A rat will not touch one kind of food which he finds in a different place from that in which it usually is found, but if you use three kinds you can get him."

The peril to the United States from rats today is greater than ever, Mr. Nichols said, while the economical dam-age done by them in this country in 1919 was $80,000,000, in 1922 it is estimated that it will amount to $1,000,000,000.

THE NEAR EAST

Great Britain is taking no chances in leaving Constantinople and the Dardanelles at the mercy of the Turks. Recent developments in the situation have apparently compelled the British authorities to change the attitude adopted last Friday when it was announced that no considerable reinforcements would be sent to the Near East unless the Turks gave evidence that they intended to cross into Europe.

The Mediterranean fleet has already been sent to protect Constantinople and the Dardanelles, and today comes word that the entire British Atlantic fleet is being sent to reinforce the southern squadrons. In the union of the two will result the most formidable armada of war vessels ever gathered in a similar area. It is felt that if the land forces are unable to restrain the Turks the combined fleet, together with Allied vessels of war, will be more than sufficient. A Sussex regiment has already landed on the Dardanelles to reinforce the Allied forces of occupation in Constantinople, and the Gordon Highlanders are on their way. It is estimated that thirty-three battalions will be required to defend Constantinople and the straits, but already the population of the area has expressed a feeling of increased security as a result of Britain's action.

Just how much further the British and other Allied nations will be compelled to go will depend to a great extent on the effect of the actions of the last few days on Mustafa Kemal Pasha. The French High Commissioner at Constantinople is now on his way to Smyrna to confer with the Turkish chieftain at the latter's request. Out of this conference may come a decision which will obviate the necessity of further Allied action. But if the Nationalist leader declines to listen to the warnings of the Allied powers, further serious preparations may result.

It is felt in some circles that, should the Kemalists be convinced that the Allies will act together, diplomacy should be sufficient to solve the questions. However, the next twenty-four hours are expected to bring some decisive action.

IMMIGRATION FROM HOLLAND.

In turning to Canada, in her search for a place where suitable homes might be found for her surplus agricultural population, Holland has paid a fine tribute to the Dominion. There is no question concerning the value of the opportunities for farmers which exist in this country, but other lands have material advantages of equal value to offer. Preference shown for Canada must be regarded as an expression of approval of our political, social and other institutions which contribute towards making Canada a more desirable place in which to live.

Canada is looking for immigrants of the right type, and the government has approved of a policy for the encouragement of carefully selected settlers. At the recent session of the Association of Canadian Clubs, Bishop De Fenester, of New Westminster, declared that: "Our motto for immigration should be that they must be white; they must be Christian, and British." The first two stipulations will receive general approval but the third, although eminently desirable in many ways, probably will be regarded as rather more exclusive than is necessary.

The Dutch farmers would pass the first and second tests and, if they are found to be the kind of settlers Canada wants and needs, it is not likely that they would be refused admittance because of their nationality. There are some countries from which settlers would not be welcomed, but Holland is not included in that class. The Dutch people possess many qualities which would make them desirable as citizens of Canada, and it is probable that they could be assimilated without much difficulty.

The would-be emigrants for whom the government of Holland is seeking suitable homes are not being encouraged to depart because they are undesirable, but the reasonableness of their desire to leave is recognized because of geographic and economic conditions. Holland is the most densely populated country in Europe; it has no room for an increasing population; the deflation of prices since the war has made the competition for a livelihood keener and has made it more difficult for the country to support its agricultural population. If they must go abroad in search of new homes, the government is desirous that the emigrants should find the most suitable country in which to settle, and a representative of the government, Baron Sandberg, now in Canada on that mission.

If Canada decides to encourage immigration from Holland, it is probable that the Dutch settlers would find no part of the Dominion more desirable as the location of their future homes than be Maritime Provinces.

The tang in the air of the early morn'g of approaching winter and makes us deeper grateful because of settlement of the coal strike.

Kitchener, Ontario, has grown rapidly under hydro. Previously there existed in Kitchener a state of industrial stagnation. With the introduction of hydro came industrial expansion and increased population. This is also true of a great number of other Ontario towns. St. John must get hydro, and distribute it at cost.

October 9 will be fire prevention day in Canada. Education of the people to caution in the handling of what is at the same time a blessing and a menace should not be necessary, but unfortunately it seems to be. It would be well if this subject were given special attention in the schools on that day, in fact frequently, as one method of reducing an annual loss that is far greater than it should be.

CANADA'S CURRENCY

Leading Canadian bankers are pointing out that of all the countries involved in the Great War Canada is the first to get back to normal so far as currency depreciation is concerned. More than one reason is advanced, and it is significant that financiers do not hesitate to express the opinion that business prospects are much brighter than they were a year ago.

Mr. E. L. Pease and Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor are quoted by the Toronto Globe in this connection. Mr. Pease, who is general manager of the Royal Bank, explains that the recovery of Canada's currency is largely due to the tourist traffic, the decline of Canadian purchases in the United States, and the policy of American manufacturers, especially in the automotive industry, in making Canada an export centre for distribution to other parts of the British Empire. Wheat sold in Europe is also financed through New York, and this provides Canadian funds in the American market. Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor says "It is not the balance of trade alone that has brought the Canadian dollar back to par. The influx of extraneous money has played a part. The public is reminded that United States investments and purchases in Canada total about $20,000,000 a month. The Globe declares these explanations have a special interest because of the certain adoption of the Fordney-McCumber Tariff Bill in the near future; and it adds:

"The pressure will further discourage Canadian exports to the United States already reduced greatly by the present Emergency Tariff, which has been in force more than a year. One result will be to transfer Canadian purchases from the United States to Europe, but even if the balance of trade between Canada and her neighbor inclines more sharply against this country, the inflow of American capital for investment will tend, as now, to support the Canadian dollar, and Canadian credits in Europe for the shipment of farm products will continue to be used, as now, for balancing our accounts with the United States. The necessity of large coal purchases across the line makes the present parity of exchange fortunate for Canadian coal consumers, a far more numerous body than Canadian producers who would profit by a premium on New York funds."

Canadian business men realize, of course, that there still is more than a little room for business improvement, but they are confident that the tide is again flowing strongly their way. The return of the Canadian dollar to its normal value is one of the most encouraging signs of better times ahead.

The Ships of Dawn. (Lena Williamson, in the Kansas City Times.) There, where a sea of azure dips, Whose charts have ne'er been drawn, I see a fleet of fair cloud ships, All floating in the dawn.

Their sails are rigged against the sky— Bright wafts of rose and gold— Their Jasper hulls at anchor lie, With dreams down in each hold. Fair hopes and dreams their cargoes are And at the day's bright dawn They loose their moorings, every spar A-quiver to be gone.

And some made trim for every tide, With strong hearts at the helm, The unknown seas shall bravely ride To some fair unknown realm. And some shall drift across the seas— Their precious cargoes being As blows each storm or vagrant breeze— Aimless and debaric.

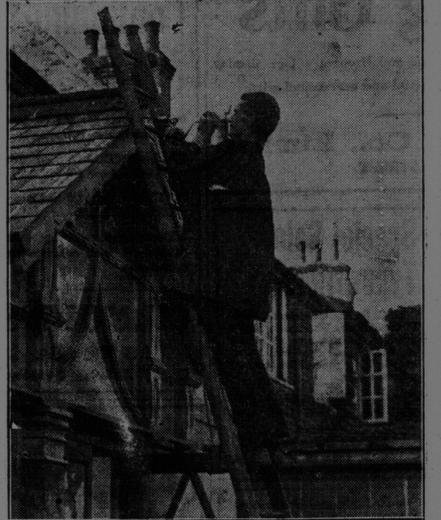

And somewhere in those morning clouds Floats my own bark of pearl, The high wind singing in her shrouds, With sails for me to fur.

God, teach me how to steer her far, Far through the seas of Time— Through storm and sun, beyond the bar, Where lies the port sublime!

An Obvious Need.

Premier Mackenzie King is on sound ground when he urges that "unity could be achieved by a spirit of goodwill." Unity between capital and labor is the obvious need. Unity must be demonstrated, however, to be worth while. The belief that the interests of labor and capital are opposed is foolish. So is the belief about opposed interests of city wage-earners and farmers. All are consumers. Practical action to increase consumption is needed to demonstrate it.

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

By Edward N. Davis Formerly Technical Electrical Expert For U. S. Government

Lesson No. 107. (RADIO DICTIONARY)

ZERO BEAT. A very sensitive adjustment in a receiving circuit whereby a locally generated current of radio-frequency is in phase with the frequency of the incoming signal, thus denoting the capacity of the cell of its ability to furnish the normal discharge current for a certain period of time.

HYDROMETER. A long glass rod having a bulb at one end filled with fine shot. When placed in a solution it sinks to a depth depending upon the density of the liquid. A scale on the glass rod registers the specific gravity of the solution in which the hydrometer is immersed. The amount of charge in a storage battery may be determined by the value of the specific gravity as registered by the hydrometer.

AMPERE-HOUR. A unit used to express the amount of current flowing through a circuit in the time of one hour. The rating of a storage cell is generally given in ampere hours thus denoting the capacity of the cell of its ability to furnish the normal discharge current for a certain period of time.

CLICKS. A type of static disturbance which is believed to be propagated in a horizontal direction and which causes interference with the reception of radio signals. Clicks are more noticeable during the cooler periods and do not cause as serious interference with the reception of signals as the type of static known as "grinders."

BALANCED CONDENSER. A type of variable condenser in which the fixed-movable metallic plates are so divided that half of each set is on either side of the rotating shaft. This arrangement of plates is so balanced that the condenser will remain in the setting to which it has been adjusted.

LOCAL ACTION. In a storage cell "local action" is caused by impurities in the cell and consists of a short circuit current which consumes the plate but produces no available energy.

HIGH FREQUENCY ALTERNATOR. An electrical generator which produces alternating currents of very high frequency for use in the transmission of radio signals. This type of alternator is used in the powerful stations which maintain transoceanic communication.

MODULATION. In radio-telephony the continuous or carrier wave is modulated or controlled by a message superimposed upon it the waves of the voice or music.

SPACE CHARGE. A charge of negative electricity formed in the space between the filament and plate of a vacuum tube by the small charges of negative electricity given off by the heated filament. The space charge resulting from the cumulative gathering of electrons repels other electrons emitted by the filament.

WOMEN ON JURIES

(London Times) —At the summer school of the National Union of Societies for Equal Citizenship at Oxford yesterday, Mrs. Ross, of Edinburgh, dealt with the subject of women jurors. She told how on going to a court in which the jury included women she was spoken to by the doorman, who, after commenting on the heat of the place, said with acerbity: "The jurywomen have sat here nearly a week and have never taken off their furs."

As to women being excluded from serving on juries owing chiefly to the nature of the evidence to be given, Mrs. Ross said she felt most passionately that that was a big blunder. She did not think a judge should be able to decide on whether a woman should sit or not. If an accused person was to have the right to object to a jurywoman, it should be under the same conditions, and not under special conditions. For a woman to hear cases in which, owing to their character, there was a certain amount of shrinking, was a contribution to justice and to its hopeful future. She did not think every jurywoman had a sense of the importance of her duty. Many said that what they relied on was what the judge told them to do. That was wrong, she said. The legal mind of a judge. Their business was to take an ordinary common sense view of the matter. Many difficulties about the sex question would disappear if they could get women to work together as judges and jurors. They would then raise the whole thing, and the level of our justice would stand higher even than it had stood in the past.

LIFT BAN ON CHILDREN OF MIXED MARRIAGES

Yokohama, Sept. 18 — The foreign school of Yokohama, which, unlike other similar schools of Japan, has rigidly excluded children of mixed marriages, has at last decided to lift the ban. This is the result of a long controversy in which veteran western merchants of Japan have been opposed by men with Eurasian families. The lack of money broke down the opposition of these children, their fathers, many of them wealthy men, having refused to subscribe to the funds of the school, which is supported by voluntary subscriptions, unless the children were admitted.

JACK WELSFORD ENTERAINED

Jack Welsford, a popular member of the staff of Baird & Peters, is to leave on Tuesday for Acadia University, where he will take up his studies in the engineering course. On Friday evening Mr. Welsford at afternoon tea in the stock room and presented to him a fountain pen and a gold eversharp pencil. J. A. Logan in making the presentation, extended the best wishes of his associates to Mr. Welsford and expressed their regret at his departure. The afternoon tea was attractively served and the decorations were of yellow and white.

VETERAN DIE AS HE IS RE-ELECTED BY COMRADES

New York, Sept. 16—James O. Smith was stricken with heart disease and died in Newark just after it had been announced at the annual convention of the Thirtieth New Jersey Volunteers' Veterans Association that he had been re-elected secretary of the organization. When Walter B. Douglas, the president, read the result of the vote, Mr. Smith, who was on the platform, collapsed. His death leaves thirty-one survivors of a fighting force which sixty years ago numbered 1,400 men. Mr. Smith was active in Republican politics in Newark and had served as president of the common council. He

It Looked Like Easy Money. (From the Toronto Star.) The London Express estimates that the sum of £380,000,000 has been paid to Germany by foreign investors for German marks which are now practically worthless. When the mark fell to two cents Americans bought heavily. It really did seem as though two cents was a minimum price for something worth nearly twenty-four at par. Germany would regain her prosperity. The mark would regain its value. And then the investors would reap a harvest. So, at any rate, the mark-vendors promised. It looked to be easy money. It had a something-for-nothing glitter about it that attracted the public. Canadians were among those who bit at the glittering lure. They bought marks at two cents apiece. Today it would be no bargain to get twenty-five for two cents. And the world has rushed into this folly to the extent of over $1,500,000,000. What Immigrants Bring. (Toronto Globe.) Immigration laws and regulations at their best are not much more than a rule of thumb, and too often attach more importance to the material than to the spiritual, which, after all, is what counts in the world. Michael Pupin, now Professor of Electro-mechanics at Columbia University, New York, and one of the most eminent scientists in the world, landed at Castle Garden forty-eight years ago as an immigrant boy of fifteen. He was without a penny and could not speak the English language, but he describes in Scribner's magazine what he brought with him to America. He was born in Idrov, in Banat, formerly belonging to Austria-Hungary, but he was of Serb nationality. His father and mother could neither read nor write, and as he looks back on his childhood days he feels that the cultivation of old traditions was the principal element in the spiritual life of the village people. A newcomer in that village was judged, not so much

R. B. Angus Dies
 At Summer Home
 Near Montreal

Capitalist, Former President of Bank of Montreal, Passes Away at Age of Ninety-two

Montreal, Sept. 17.—Richard B. Angus, past president of the Bank of Montreal, a director of that institution, of the Canadian Pacific Railway and many other large corporations, died early this evening at his country home at Scarsville near Montreal, in his ninety-second year.

Mr. Angus was born in Bathgate, Scotland, on May 28, 1831, and was educated at Bathgate. He married Miss Daniels on June 18, 1857. He was employed for several years by the Manchester and Liverpool Bank. He joined the staff of the Bank of Montreal in Canada in 1857. He was in charge of the Chicago agency of the bank in 1861 and was subsequently one of the agents of the bank at New York. He became local manager of the Bank of Montreal in 1863 and general manager, succeeding the late E. H. King, in 1869. He retired from this bank's service in 1879 and afterwards became a director and was elected president in July, 1910.

He entered a syndicate with Lord Strathcona and Lord Mount Stephen for the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway which undertaking was completed in November, 1885. He was a capitalist and has been rated by the Montreal Star as a millionaire. He made some handsome contributions of money and paintings to the Montreal Art Association of which he was formerly president.

He made contributions of money to McGill University, the Alexandra Contagious Diseases Hospital, Montreal, of which he was a governor and one of the founders; the Royal Victoria Hospital, of which he was president; the Royal Victorian Order of Nurses, of which he was vice-president; the Charity Organization Society, of which he was a director; the Montreal General Hospital, of which he was formerly a governor; and to St. Andrew's Society, Montreal, of which he had several times been president.

He was formerly chairman of St. James' Club and was president of the Mount Royal Club of which he was the founder. He was a governor of the Fraser Institute Free Public Library and in honorary member of the Numismatic and Antiquary Society, Montreal. Among other associations and companies with which he was at one time officially connected were: the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, the Laurentide Paper Company, the Dominion Coal Company, the Dominion Steel and Smelting Company, the Dominion Bridge Company, the Royal Trust Company, the Grand Falls Power Company, the Pacific Coal Company, the Canadian Salt Company,

NO PITY FOR GREECE.

(Calgary Herald)

It is not necessary for us to have sympathy with the Turkish Nationals in their successful drive against the Greeks in Asia Minor, to record a lack of sympathy with the Greeks in their disastrous defeat. Without having any particular feeling in the matter one way or the other it is impossible not to feel a sort of grim satisfaction in the overthrow of the Greek king.

Grece has no wonderful record to point to in connection with its international relationships for a good many years past. During the early days of the war there was more than sufficient evidence to prove to the Allies that she was

DETERMINATION OF ALLIES TO PRESERVE FREEDOM OF DARDANELLES EXPRESSED

Cabinet to Meet Today to Decide Policy in Connection with Invitation from Britain to Send Contingent if Required—Veterans Offer Services.

(Canadian Press Despatch.) London, Sept. 16—Great Britain has invited Canada and the other British dominions to be represented by contingents in the British force taking part in an effective defense of the neutral zone in the Near East, it was authoritatively reported today.

The British government has also addressed a note to Roumania, Jugoslavia and Greece asking their participation in the defense. The semi-official announcement of the invitation to the dominions said that they had been invited to participate "in the defense of those interests for which they have already made enormous sacrifices."

Sharon, Ont., Sept. 17—When advised of the announcement that Great Britain had invited Canada and the other British dominions to be represented by contingents in the British force participating in the defense of the neutral zone in the Near East, here today, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, premier of Canada, refused to make a statement bearing on the situation. "It is entirely a matter for the cabinet of Canada," he said, "and for them to take whatever action they deem necessary."

The cabinet meeting will meet on Monday, and it is very likely that the matter will be taken into immediate consideration. It is also probable that an extraordinary session of the Canadian parliament will be called to deal with the crisis.

London, Sept. 17—With British troops entrenched at strategic points on the Dardanelles, French and Italian battalions rushing to join them and from New Zealand word that an Anzac contingent will be despatched to the scene of their heroic sacrifices in the late war to assist in dealing with the Turkish Nationalists, there has been a swift carrying into effect of the Allied pronouncements regarding a firm determination to preserve the freedom of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus.

The British troops are supported by heavy artillery backed by the fleet and are confident that the combined Allied land and sea forces, which are declared to be already prepared for any eventuality, can hold Constantinople against all odds.

The Turks having bombarded the last departing Greek transports from the Chios peninsula, despite the British appeal for mercy on the ground that the Greeks were helpless and no longer combatants, Mustafa Kemal Pasha is now supreme over all of Anatolia, but has yet made no direct move toward Constantinople or the straits and the warnings which the Allies have voiced throughout Europe and the Near East may have served the purpose.

Smyna in Ruins. Smyna which last month was the center of Greek rule, is in ruins, with fire raging for three days continuing, but diminished in violence. Only the Moslem quarter has escaped. Up to Saturday evening the British foreign office had received no news of loss of life among British subjects.

Want to Complete Work. Constantinople, Sept. 17—"We loathe war and sincerely desire peace and reconstruction, but we cannot resign our rights as an independent nation," declared Hamid Bey, Kemal's representative in Constantinople today to a question concerning rumors of an attack by the Turkish army against the straits. "We have won a decisive victory, but our peace terms are unchanged. We have not been intoxicated by our successes."

The reconquest of the richest portions of Anatolia has augmented our resources, improved our finances, and our army, which suffered very little, and the Greeks nowhere fought a serious battle, is settling with a desire to complete the work of liberation of the homelands under enemy occupation.

Wants to Raise Battalion. Toronto, Sept. 17—J. V. Conroy, Ontario provincial secretary of the Great War Veterans of Canada, has forwarded a message to the Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, premier of Canada, requesting that the Toronto body of the Great War Veterans be given permission to organize a battalion of fully trained men for overseas service in the event of Canada deciding to participate in the defense of the Near East neutral zone by British forces.

ROBERTS TO BE TRIED TOMORROW. Yarmouth, Sept. 17—Omar Roberts, of Kentville, Yarmouth county, charged with the murder of Flora Gray on Aug. 28, will come up for trial at the session of the supreme court next Tuesday. His written confession of the crime was admitted at the stipendiary magistrate's court at Yarmouth on Sept. 6, when Roberts pleaded guilty to the charge. Mr. Justice Chisholm will be the presiding judge. J. J. Power, K. C., of Halifax, has been retained by the attorney-general's department to assist the crown prosecutor, R. S. MacKay, K. C., of Yarmouth.

THREE JAILED IN KING'S CROSSING CASES. H. W. Felkins, police magistrate, of Sussex, had a busy session in his court on Saturday and as a result Charles Kennedy, of Westfield; Andrew Aronault, of the parish of Watford, and Stephen McGuire, of the parish of Rothesay, are now in Hampton jail to serve a term for having either in their possession or on their premises a still for the manufacture of alcoholic beverages. Howard C. Hughes, of the parish of Axford, was also arrested and taken before the police magistrate, charged with the same offense and was fined $300. Mrs. Hughes on learning of her husband's predicament went to Sussex and guaranteed the payment of his fine, and Mr. Hughes thus escaped the company of his friends to Hampton.

PHENOMENAL DEMAND FOR TANLAC CONTINUES TO TAX LABORATORIES

Although Capacity of Plants Has Been Increased to 62,240 Bottles a Day, Still Almost Impossible to Keep Up With Orders.

30 MILLION BOTTLES SOLD IN EIGHT YEARS. Celebrated Medicine Endorsed by Best People of Every Community Has Become World's Leading Tonic Through Merit Alone.

During the first seven months of this year, 8,884,400 bottles of Tanlac have been sold, a new world record for a proprietary medicine is established. More than 80,000,000 bottles have been sold during the eight years Tanlac has been before the public, and to say that it has the largest sale of any medicine of its kind does not begin to tell the story. No other medicine has even approached the demand enjoyed by Tanlac, and it is expected that the sales this year alone will be more than 10,000,000 bottles.

Working diligently at full capacity, it is still almost impossible for three modern laboratories to produce the medicine in sufficient quantities to keep pace with the flood of orders. Carload after carload moves out from the plant at Dayton, Ohio, which has a capacity of 60,400 bottles a day, while the laboratory at Wainwright, Canada, with 7,200 bottles a day, and the Mexico City plant, 5,040 bottles daily ship large consignments.

But while the laboratories are striving to obtain quantity production, this endeavor is still secondary to the determination to make no sacrifice whatever that will endanger the high quality of the medicine. Tanlac's widespread and ever-increasing popularity is the strongest proof of its unquestioned merit. No product, no matter how extensively advertised, could continue to establish world records for sales year after year, if it did not produce actual and positive results.

Tanlac is composed of the most beneficial roots, herbs and barks known to medical science. The formula is ethical and conforms to all pure foods and health laws, and although Tanlac's popularity is abundantly supported by leading authorities, it is the people themselves who have made Tanlac what it is. Millions upon millions have used it and have told other millions what it has done.

Back of Tanlac's success in the world of commerce is Tanlac's success in the homes of the people, and that is why it continues to be the sensation of the drug trade wherever it goes. Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

HONORED BY FELLOW WRITERS. JOHN DUNN OF MONTREAL DEAD AT AGE OF 90. Blind 23 Years—Had Had One Auto Ride, and That was to Vote in 1917.

(Special to The Times) Montreal, Que., Sept. 18—John Dunn, who was in his ninetieth year, died on Saturday at his residence, 440 Lagache-tiere street, West. My his death Montreal lost one of its most aged residents. Although he experienced heavy blindness until a few months ago he had been blind for twenty-three years, an affliction which he had contracted in 1899. He had been confined to his residence, the last time he ventured out was in 1917, when he went to record his vote at the time of the federal elections, in favor of conscription. This event was a red-letter day in his life since he was driven to the voting booth in an automobile, this being the one and only time he entered such a vehicle, and he expressed his enjoyment at the victory in his church.

He was born in Wick, Cullineth, Scotland and came to Montreal in 1861, the same year in which King Edward, then Prince of Wales, visited Canada. He often commented upon the stormy seas he experienced while crossing the Atlantic in a small sailing boat which took about three months to reach its destination.

WHEN IS A MAN DRUNK? London, Sept. 16—(By Canadian Press)—The old question, when is a man drunk, has been settled by Magistrate Hay Hallett, at Lambeth police court, at least, settled so far as this particular magistrate is concerned. A taxicab driver was charged with being drunk during his employment. His counsel contended that the prisoner was not what one would call drunk and incapable.

Is Boosting Trade With Bermudans

Joseph J. Outerbridge, a representative of the Bermuda Department of Agriculture, was in St. John on Saturday looking over the trade situation. He has been on a tour of eastern Canada, going so far west as Toronto and east to Halifax. He called at the board of trade rooms on Saturday and interviewed several merchants who are engaged in trade with Bermuda. These merchants handle beets, tomatoes, onions, etc. The merchants are sympathetic with the movement to extend the Bermuda trade to Canada further. Bermuda has long bought heavily of New Brunswick potatoes, this trade having existed about half a century.

Mr. Outerbridge's slogan is "Trade within the Empire." St. John business men are willing to trade with Bermuda if prices are right. The S. M. S. P. line is giving good service.

YESTERDAY IN CITY CHURCHES

Ernest W. Appleby, soloist in the Church of the Intercession, New York, was heard in two numbers at Centenary Methodist church last evening. His fine tenor voice was heard to great advantage in "Seek Ye the Lord," by Roberts, with choir obligato, and in Harter's "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go." Mr. Appleby was born in St. John and was at one time a member of staff of The Globe. He is now connected with newspapers in the United States. He was warmly welcomed by old friends in St. John.

In several of the city churches yesterday visiting clergymen and the preachers and large congregations were present to hear their special messages. Rev. Dr. H. T. DeWolfe, principal of Acadia Ladies' College, was the preacher at both services in the German street Baptist church. Rev. W. D. Wilson, secretary of the New Brunswick Temperance Alliance, delivered the sermon in the Central Baptist church in the evening. Rev. Dr. J. G. Shearer, secretary of the Social Service Council of the Dominion, gave the address at the morning service in Centenary church and conducted the service in St. David's church in the evening. The morning service in St. David's church was conducted by Rev. H. A. Goodwin, field secretary for social service and evangelism for the Methodist church in the province. Rev. J. F. Denery, former Wesleyan missionary in British Guiana, who has been a member of the N. B. and P. E. I. Conference, and is stationed at Souris (P. E. I.), was heard in addresses at Exmouth street church in the morning and at the Portland Methodist church in the evening. Rev. C. B. Lumden, student of Newton Theological Institute, who is returning to Newton today to attend on the final year of his studies, delivered the sermon in the Charlotte street Baptist church in the evening. An exchange of pulpits was made for the morning service by Rev. Neil MacLachlan, of the Queen square Methodist church, and Rev. F. P. Bertram, of the Carleton Methodist church.

Rev. A. L. Fleming, rector of St. John's (Stone) church, who has been overseas for the greater part of the summer, returned home last week, and his parishioners gave him a cordial welcome yesterday when he conducted the services in his church.

The congregation of Exmouth street Methodist church enjoyed a musical treat last night when Arthur B. Hopkins, organist of Shaw Memorial church in Montreal, presided at the organ for the evening service and afterwards gave an organ recital. Mr. Hopkins is a former member of the Exmouth street congregation and is at present visiting his father, John B. Hopkins. He is a talented musician and his playing last night greatly delighted the large congregation.

The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. H. T. DeWolfe. The programme of the recital was as follows—Organ Sonata, No. 2, Mendelssohn; Echo Piece, from "Alpine Fantasia," Ashford; duet, Rev. Louis XIV, Ghys; Fugue in E flat, St. Anne by Bach. The choir rendered two anthems with splendid effect. The anthems were: "They that wait upon the Lord" and "The Lord gave the word."

The Sunday services at the Waterloo Baptist church were well attended yesterday and two eloquent and forceful addresses were delivered by the pastor, Rev. J. A. Swetland. In the morning his subject was "Why People Should Go to Church," and he gave the reasons as follows: First, to worship God; second, to be instructed; third, to receive communion; fourth, to get new impulses; fifth, to help maintain the church. In the evening he took for his subject, "Reasons Why I Am a Christian." He gave these reasons as follows: First, for a selfish reason, because I need salvation; second, for a business reason, it is. I thank you for this medicine and I ever come to this point again I do not want to be without the Vegetable Compound. I give you permission to publish this letter so that all women can take my advice."—Mrs. FRED MINER, Box 102, Churubusco, N. Y.

It's the same story over again. Women suffer from ailments for years. They try doctors and different medicines, but feel no better. Finally they take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you can see its value in the case of Mrs. Miner.

That's the truth of the matter. If you are suffering from any of the troubles women have, you ought to try this medicine. It can take you in safety by young or old, as it contains no harmful drugs.

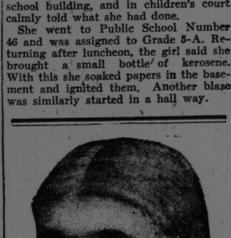

VISITORS FROM LONDON. Mr. and Mrs. George T. Steeves and daughter, of London, England, are visiting Mrs. Steeves' cousin, Mrs. J. B. Jones, 150 King street east. Mr. Steeves was born in St. John and is a son of the late Gilbert M. Steeves, who was a member of the firm of Steeves Brothers & Co., which carried on a shipping business in this city prior to the great fire of 1877.

Kenneth Jones, son of W. H. Jones, caretaker of the armories, met with a painful injury on Saturday afternoon at Epworth Park. He was using a hatchet when it struck him in the right leg below the knee, inflicting a serious wound. He was brought to the city in an automobile and taken to the General Public Hospital. This morning he was said to be progressing favorably, although suffering considerably.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt. Regulates the Stomach. $5,000,000 LOSS IN NEW ORLEANS FIRE. (Canadian Press Despatch.) New Orleans, Sept. 16—Five blocks of wharves and warehouses along the Mississippi River front were in ruins today following a fire which last night did damage estimated in excess of $5,000,000. The wharves and warehouses were erected by the federal government in 1918 and 1919 at a cost of more than $5,000,000, army officers said. About forty box cars loaded with merchandise were destroyed. Three government launches were destroyed. The fire broke out in a box car loaded with burlap baggies. Twenty-two cars of burlap were destroyed. No cause for the fire had been announced.

DISLIKED HER GRADE SET FIRE TO SCHOOL. New York, Sept. 18—Rather than remain in grade with pupils much younger than herself, Antonette, thirteen of Brooklyn, attempted to burn the school building, and in children's court calmly told what she had done. She went to Public School Number 46 and was assigned to Grade 5-A. Returning after luncheon, the girl said she brought a small box of matches in the basement and ignited them. Another blaze was similarly started in a hall way.

Portrait of Mrs. GOFF, of Beeches Cottage, Salsbury Ferry, near Chester, England, who writes: "For five years I suffered greatly from an ulcerated leg, which at one time was covered with open wounds from knee to foot, there being as many as 31 wounds in it at once. I tried all sorts of preparations, and attended the infirmary, but nothing seemed to do me any good, and I was sent away from the infirmary as incurable. One day my daughter saw 'Clarke's Blood Mixture' in a newspaper and read it to me, and I decided to give it a trial. Finding the first lot was doing me no good, I bought a second lot, and after having four bottles my leg was completely healed. All this happened some eight years ago, and I have had no return of the trouble ever since."

SUCCEEDS WHERE DOCTORS FAIL. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Often Does That.—Read Mrs. Miner's Testimony.

Churubusco, N. Y.—"I was under the doctor's care for over five years for backache and had no relief from his medicine. One day a neighbor told me about your Vegetable Compound and I took it. It helped me so much that I wish to advise all women to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all troubles and backache. It is a great help in carrying a child, as I have noticed a difference when I didn't take it. I thank you for this medicine and I ever come to this point again I do not want to be without the Vegetable Compound. I give you permission to publish this letter so that all women can take my advice."—Mrs. FRED MINER, Box 102, Churubusco, N. Y.

METAGAMA AT QUEBEC WITH 997

Some Maritime Province People Made Voyage.

Rev. Mr. Short Comes from China with an Interesting Report of the Progress of Missionary Work Among People There.

Quebec, Sept. 18.—The Canadian Pacific 12,450 tons steamship Metagama, Capt. G. C. Evans, O.B.E., arrived from Glasgow and Belfast on Saturday with 997 passengers including 480 cabin and 511 third class. There were in the cabin 198 and in the third class accommodation 86 returned Americans. There were aboard 198 children who were born in Canada but taken over to Scotland to visit grandparents and who had the line of their lives on the trip over the ocean. "Mother" Davison, mother of the U. S. army and navy forces in America, and who is a sister of the late Charles Froopman, famous theatrical manager, who lost his life on the Lusitania, sang by a German torpedo during the war, acted the mother to the kiddies on the way across and provided entertainments.

Among the prominent passengers on the Metagama were G. C. Cannell, octogenarian deputy minister of mines at Ottawa, who took an interest in the coal situation in England at the cost of shipping to Canada from South Wales which information he carried to the Canadian government; Col. John J. Wicker, Jr., in charge of a party of 504 of the American Legion; Prof. A. C. Ellice of Syracuse, N. Y., in charge of a party of thirty-eight Americans.

Among the returned Canadians in the cabin were Mrs. McElyre and two daughters, Halifax, N. S.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Paton, Charlottetown, P. E. I. After leaving Ireland a homing pigeon bearing the marks "111111" on an identity disc, took refuge on the Metagama. On the return trip the bird will be handed over to the homing pigeon society.

An interesting cabin passenger was the Rev. William Short, M. A. B. D., who has returned from China where he spent considerable time in connection with the English Presbyterian mission. He said that where he lived in China, there were three missions, one American and two Chinese. The American and the Chinese were originally two churches. They were merged by the two Presbyterian missions, Reformed American and English Presbyterian church, and the other founded by the London Missionary Society, but in 1918, said Mr. Short, at the desire of Chinese and foreigners alike these two churches were united. The result is that the church is self-governing and to a large extent self-supporting. Its organization and methods of procedure are no more copy of those of the mother churches, but have been evolved by the Chinese with the assistance of the co-operating missionaries. In sessions, presbytery and assembly the missionaries are simply fellow presbyters with the Chinese pastors and elders who have an equal voice in deliberation and are in the majority in each case. The result is that Chinese leadership has been developed throughout the church. Chinese Christians have shown themselves well able to bear responsibility. The Westminster College and secondary school at Chinciew, whose pupils have distinguished themselves at several universities has a Chinese headmaster with whom the foreign members of the staff work in foreign members of the staff work in the Yungchun higher elementary school was left to a graduate of the Chinciew school eighteen years of age. This youth has acted as headmaster during the last eighteen months, not only supervising the pupils' studies but managing the boarding department and bearing the full responsibility for discipline and order. Under his management the school has not only maintained its strength but increased its membership.

China was at present in a state of political confusion, but the churches were full of hope for the future, a testimony to the value of Christian faith as well as to the high capability of the Chinese people, to denote what a high place a Christian China might hold in the world.

Hsu Shih-chang's Resignation. (Asia Magazine.) The manner of Hsu Shih-chang's going was finally satisfying in some degree at least even to radicals and foreigners who yearned for direct action. Wu Peifu made up his mind that, as an obstacle to reunion, the self-styled president must go. Still loath to exercise his power and force the issue, he determined to wait until every element in the nation had had an opportunity to voice a demand for the old mandarin's removal. He wanted in the first place a popular mandate for any drastic action that he might have to take, and he desired in the second place to conform to Chinese standards of charity and decency and give Hsu a chance to resign gracefully and "save his face." Wu Peifu's position was clearly understood, and the country began to respond to his need by expressing through various mediums the conviction that Hsu Shih-chang was the greatest obstacle to unity, peace and progress in the country. Almost as soon as this campaign had opened, the old mandarin began sending messages to Peking to explain to Wu Peifu his continued residence in the presidential palace. On the morning of June 1, Wu Peifu was discussing Hsu Shih-chang's resignation with visitors and explaining that he could not order his eviction from Peking until the nation had expressed clearly a demand for his resignation and until Hsu Shih-chang had shown a disposition to ignore public feeling. A few hours later, however, presidential messages began to arrive through various mediums, each explaining why Hsu could not and would not resign and each differing from the others. One was to the effect that the diplomatic body demanded his retention, a statement having no foundation in fact. Another said that he could not leave his post until some solution to the complex situation was found. On an impulse Wu Peifu sent back word that the president's resignation was the only solution. Having committed himself to this extent, he went to work with characteristic energy to see that Hsu Shih-chang got out at once. The posts, the telephone lines and the telephone were all pressed into service to convey messages to all the old mandarin's friends and intimates, warning them that, if Hsu were not out of Peking within two or three days, he would be publicly ejected.

The following morning at 5 o'clock he had drafted his resignation. At 8 o'clock he announced to the cabinet members that he was going, and at three o'clock he was on his way to Tientsin.

The Use of Water Powers. (Toronto Globe.) Water powers, which are the heritage of the people, are utilized very differently in Ontario and Quebec. A despatch from Ottawa says that the Hull Electric Company has acquired the riparian rights to the Pangu Falls, on the Gatineau River, Quebec, about thirty-five miles from the two cities, and will establish there a hydro-electric plant with an ultimate capacity of 150,000 horsepower at a cost of approximately $10,000,000.

The power obtainable from the Pangu Falls is nearly equal to that obtained from three of the large generators at the new Chippawa plant, will be the property of the Hull Electric Company, and will be disposed of to the greatest profit of the shareholders of that corporation. The province obtains practically nothing for this great power, but hands it over to a private company which can extract from the consumers what the traffic will bear.

In Ontario the water powers are used for the benefit of the people, to whom they belong, through the management of the Hydro-electric Power Commission. The yearly reports of that commission and of its local subsidiaries show increased consumption, reduced rates, savings and sinking funds. During the last year the load on the Niagara portion of the "hydro" increased from 190,000 horsepower to nearly 210,000 horsepower. The annual report states that the increase in the demands of municipalities for power was caused largely by the increase in domestic load, brought about by the more liberal use of light, and also by the increased use of large current-consuming domestic appliances.

Mr. Advertiser:

Think for a minute about St. John and Ottawa, in connection with newspapers and advertising. The population of Ottawa (according to Might's Directory) is 143,402. The population of St. John according to the last census is 47,166 or, counting close suburban territory, say 55,000 to 60,000. The Ottawa Journal, morning and evening, has a combined circulation of 27,717. The Ottawa Citizen, morning and evening, has a combined circulation of 29,460. The Ottawa Journal and Citizen have the A. B. C. audit, which is accepted as the standard authority on circulation by all the agencies and leading advertisers in Canada and the United States.

The Telegraph and Times (A. B. C. audit) for the six months ended March 31, 1922 had a combined net paid circulation of 30,461.

Mr. Advertiser: Does not this strike you as a significant comparison?

The Telegraph and Times cover the city of St. John and the province of New Brunswick like a blanket, from the advertising standpoint.

Their circle of readers exceeds 100,000 people, practically all the live buyers not only in New Brunswick, but as far east as Amherst and including the Nova Scotia counties across the Bay of Fundy.

Please note that The Telegraph and Times are the only A. B. C. papers in New Brunswick. It is suggested to you that the Ottawa and St. John figures given above are worthy of a little study and productive of a little thought.

Advertising is the life blood of business. Circulation, particularly when it is well distributed among every class of buyers, gives advertising the pulling power that keeps the cash register and selling force busy. Advertising is a productive investment. It cuts your overhead by swelling your total sales.

The steamship Cardiff is unloading a cargo of Welsh coal at Long Wharf. She has on board 8,500 tons, the greater part is for a local merchant and the remainder to be sent over the C. N. R. to eastern points.

MORE WINNERS.
In the guessing contest conducted by the F. M. Merritt Co. at the St. John Exhibition, two people guessed the number printed on a slip contained in a fancy five-pound box of chocolates, and both have received a box. The winners were Mrs. Mae MacLellan and J. B. Dever.

ROTARY CLUB
Hon. R. J. Ritchie was the speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon held at Bond's at noon today. His subject was his trip to the Old Country and his interesting and humorous address was listened to with rapt attention by those present. Norman H. G. S. Adams occupied the chair.

MISSIONS
A three weeks mission is to be given in St. Peter's church starting on October 1. Three Redemptorists, Rev. Fathers Doyle, O'Brien and McCann will be in charge. Father O'Brien is expected to arrive in the city the latter part of this week from Toronto and will preach a mission in St. Rose's church starting on next Sunday.

PAUL WAS HERE TODAY.
Charles Paul, the popular pitcher of the St. Stephen baseball team, passed through the city today en route to his home in Springhill. He said that the fans in St. Stephen treated him like a prince and he would never forget his pleasant associations with a member of their club. He said that his battery mate Hall, would leave for his home next Wednesday.

BOXING BOUT.
It was announced this morning that negotiations are on for a boxing bout between "Battling" Christianson and Joe Irvine, both of this city. The former has been seeking a bout with the latter providing that he will make 150 pounds. It will be recalled that Christianson made his debut recently against Tommy Willis, and although he scored a technical knockout, lost the decision because one of his seconds jumped into the ring.

IS VERY ILL
Word from Moncton today was to the effect that there was no improvement in the condition of John McGillivray who is seriously ill there. There is little hope for his recovery. His brother, Frank, of New York, and sister, Miss Sarah of Boston, visited through the city on Saturday on their way to Moncton, and his son, Joseph, is on his way from Butte, Montana. Other members of the family are now with him.

TRAFFIC CASE.
The case of C. B. Williams, charged with falling to stop at the Mill street crossing when signalled to do so, was resumed this morning. Policeman McNamee brought as a witness Patrick Gorman, gateman at the crossing, who testified that he also had signalled the accused to stop as well as seeing the policeman signal him to do so, and that he had disregarded both signals. The gates had been out of order, and he had been flagging. The case was postponed for one week.

SEEKING CANADIAN TRADE
The St. John Board of Trade has requested a letter from Mr. T. W. D. Smith of the development department, City Hall, Cardiff, in which he states that Cardiff is most anxious to develop its import trade with Canada, and that there is a good market for Canadian butter, cheese, fruit and other food products there. He further points out that there are more than 10,000,000 people within a 90-mile radius of Cardiff. They are engaged almost entirely in industrial pursuits and rely very largely upon imported foodstuffs for their sustenance. At the present time Cardiff has a direct Canadian service in the summer from Montreal, and in the winter from Halifax by the Canadian Government Merchant Marine.

POLICE COURT
Ira Kierstead, charged with having liquor in his possession other than in his private dwelling, was told this morning that he was liable to a fine of $200 or six months in jail with hard labor. His case was laid over and in the meantime he made a deposit of $200. K. J. MacNee, appeared for the defence.

Seven men charged with drunkenness were before the magistrate this morning and fines varying from $8 or two months in jail to $208 or eight months in jail imposed.

A case against Florence Gorman, charged with cutting and wounding, was taken up in the police court this morning. The complainant alleged that he went into the store of the accused in Prince Edward street to buy some cigarettes, had some conversation with the accused, left the store, and when about sixty feet away he was struck on the head with a bottle, and on turning saw the accused walking away from him. The case was postponed until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock. E. C. Weyman is for the defence.

GAULT-McLAUGHLIN.
An interesting ceremony will be performed at six o'clock this evening in St. Luke's Anglican church when Miss Marion Louise, daughter of the late George H. McLaughlin and Mrs. Julia E. McLaughlin, of this city, will become the bride of Harold S. Gault, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gault, Douglas avenue. Rev. R. P. McKim, rector of the church, assisted by Rev. H. A. Cody, will officiate. The bride, who will wear a suit of navy blue serge with a black and silver hat and a seal stole and carry a bouquet of Ophelia roses will be given in marriage by her brother-in-law, B. M. Langille. She will be attended by Miss Retta Tapley, who will wear a suit of brown broadcloth with black picture hat and carry a bouquet of pink and white carnations. The groom will be supported by Herman Sullivan. The ceremony will take place under a floral arch and bell. The bridal party will be preceded up the aisle by the church choir, of which the bride was a member, singing "The Voice That Breath'd O'er Eden." Miss Lillian Bromfield will preside at the organ. The bride and groom will leave on the evening train for a honeymoon trip to New York and Boston and on their return they will reside at 149 Douglas avenue. Many beautiful gifts have been received consisting of china, cut glass, linen and silver.

MANY HERE VOLUNTEER FOR ACTIVE SERVICE

Names Handed in at Military Headquarters This Morning—Navy League and the Red Cross Prepared.

If Canada is to send a contingent to Turkey and if the response from the dominion is the same as that from the returned officers who are pouring into military headquarters here there need be no fear that the land of the maple will not be well represented. With just rumour of war as a cause, officers who served in France and Flanders have applied at the headquarters here for commissions in case their services are necessary. So many names are coming that it has been found necessary to make special arrangements to index and file them to keep them in order.

The president of the N. B. division of the Navy League of Canada, R. E. Armstrong, says that the league stands ready to extend its co-operation to the naval authorities or men of the navy in the event of war between Great Britain and Turkey. This morning a member of the naval reserve, who saw active service during the war, called upon the Navy League president for the purpose of reporting his whereabouts to the navy officials. His case was taken up with the proper officials.

THE RED CROSS.
The following letter speaks for itself: 160 Prince William Street, St. John, N. B., Sept. 18, 1922. To the Hon. W. E. Foster, Premier of New Brunswick:

Dear Mr. Foster,—The morning papers record the fact the province may again be called upon to furnish fighting men to uphold the prestige of the empire. The New Brunswick Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society stand ready and are well equipped at present time to furnish supplies for any detachments that may possibly go from this province on a hurried call.

The Red Cross Society also wish to place themselves on record as being prepared at all times to do anything they may be called upon to do in the line of duty.

Respectfully submitted,

ETHEL HAZEN JARVIS,
Secretary N. B. Division Red Cross.
Major Ronald A. McAvity, second in command of the 7th Canadian Machine Gun Brigade, has wired the minister of militia to the effect that Major Bertram Smith, commanding No. 1 company of the brigade and himself guaranteed to bring No. 1 company to war strength and offered themselves and company for service overseas. Major McAvity said that many of the present members had signified their willingness to enlist for war service.

WAR NEWS SENDS WHEAT PRICE UP

Chicago, Sept. 18.—War news resulted in a spectacular advance today in the wheat market. Prices made a sudden jump of more than four cents a bushel in the early dealings and the market showed broad activity. Big purchases of Canadian wheat for shipment to Europe were reported. Speculative traders who have been persistent sellers of late became urgent buyers. The opening, which varied from 1-2 to 1-8 higher, with Dec. 1921-4 and May 1918-4 to 107 was followed by a rise which was unchecked until December touched 106 after which something of reaction ensued. The alarm was from corn and oats went upward with wheat. After opening 1-4 to 5-8 cent higher, Dec. 57-8 to 86, the corn market scored moderate additional gains. Oats started 1-4 to 6-8 cent up, Dec. 35-8 to 86, and later continued to ascend. Provisions shared the tendency of grains toward higher prices. A small blaze around a chimney in a house owned by Duncan Webster, Adelaide street, gave the North End fire department a run Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock. The damage was from box 124. The damage was slight.

LOCAL NEWS

THE LATE STEPHEN NORRIS. Many friends will regret to learn of the death of Stephen Norris of Barnesville, Kings county, which occurred on Saturday, September 16, in the General Hospital, after three months of intense suffering. Mr. Norris for the last two years had been a resident of Dipper Harbor, where he had been a prominent fisherman. Besides his wife and son, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Albert Norris of Barnesville, and four brothers—Samuel of Benton, Carleton county; Albert of Garnett Settlement; Harry and Rufus of Barnesville; and four sisters—Mrs. W. K. Herrington, Mrs. W. Ward, Mrs. Roy Linton of St. John, and Miss Lena of Rothesay. The funeral service was held on Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. at Fitzpatrick's undertaking rooms, and was conducted by Rev. A. L. Tedford. Interment was on Sunday at Dipper Harbor.

STOCKS ON DOWN GRADE TODAY IN WALL STREET

New York, Sept. 18.—(10:30)—Taking as cue the unfavorable week-end developments in the foreign and domestic situation, bear traders launched a heavy attack against the entire list in the opening of today's stock market session. Railroad, steel, equipments, tobacco and oil shares were particularly hard hit, early losses ranging from one to three points. Breaking off of negotiations between the New York Central and the striking shopmen was held partly responsible for the selling of rail shares. A point or more being recorded by Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific and Lackawanna. United States Steel, Common, Gulf State Steel and Vanadium each declined a point or more, as did Baldwin, American Tobacco, United Retail Stores, Corn Products, U. S. Realty and National Enameling. The closing of the Ford plant was regarded as a contributing factor in the weakness of Studebaker, which fell nearly two points. Oils were freely offered, losses of one to two points being registered by Standard Oils of New Jersey and California. Mexican Petroleum, Cosden and Royal Dutch. New York Air Brake moved against the downward current, rising one point to a new high record.

CANADA'S TRADE IN AUGUST LARGER

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press)—An increase of $14,330,870 in the grand total Canadian trade for August as compared with the same month of last year is shown by the summary of Canadian trade issued by the department of customs and excise. Domestic merchandise exports during the month increased $12,000,000 over August of last year, or from $81,485,992 in August, 1921, to $93,485,992 during last month. Imports from consumption increased from $68,147,901 in August, 1921, to $67,354,780 last month. Merchandise, foreign exported in August 1922, was valued at $1,100,220 as against $877,000 in August last year. For the five months ending August, 1922, the grand total was $626,122,360 as against $602,915,998 in August, 1921.

MUST THERE BE LIGHTS ON THE BABY CARRIAGES?

Windsor, Ont. Sept. 18.—Windsor mothers will ask the city council for a ruling as to whether baby carriages must carry lights to comply with the latest by-law passed by the city fathers. The aldermen put their stamp of approval on a by-law which requires that "all moving vehicles shall carry lights." The motion will now ask: "Is a baby carriage when propelled by a mother a moving vehicle?" The aldermen will wrestle with the question at the next regular meeting of the city council.

WHY THE POWERS ARE ANXIOUS

Having cleared Asia Minor of Greeks, and won to the sea coast at Smyrna and other Aegean seaports, the Turks are now bent on clearing the Allies from the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles. This would close the sea road to Constantinople, which the Turks are also asking the Allies to quit. Bulgaria is reported making troops with the idea of attacking Greece on the mainland, while Yugoslavia and Rumania are said to be mobilizing to aid Greece if necessary, or to move to their own advantage should a new scramble in the Balkans take place.

G. W. V. A. HERE OFFER SERVICES WITHOUT RESERVE

G. Earle Logan, provincial secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association, has dispatched the following wire to the dominion president of the association: "Please tender the prime minister and minister of militia the services of the Provincial Great War Veterans' Association of New Brunswick in the event of the empire engaging in a war with Turkey. These services are offered without reserve. This wire sent by direction of acting president." The decision to adopt this course was arrived at after consultation over the long distance telephone this morning with members of the executive. Jule P. Bourgeois of Moncton, acting president in the absence of Major H. Priestman, who is in Montreal, directed that this wire be sent. Mr. Bourgeois said that the Moncton Branch was to meet tonight and would take a similar action. Lt. Col. J. J. NEW BRUNSWICK CONDITIONS TOLD BY DR. SHEARER

At the mass meeting in St. Andrew's church after the evening service last night, Rev. Dr. J. G. Shearer, secretary of the local service council of Canada, in a vigorous and outspoken address criticized present conditions in New Brunswick as regards the enforcement of the prohibitory act and the prevalence of gambling, and also enumerated the many advances made in progressive legislation in the domain of furthering social welfare.

Touching first on recent federal legislation Dr. Shearer declared the new laws evidenced an awakening conscience in the people and indicated that parliamentarians were increasingly favorable to legislation towards social betterment. This augured well for the country's good. The object of prison life should be reformation rather than punishment, he maintained, and when consistent with social well-being those convicted for the first time should be given a second chance. It was to achieve this that the new probation act was passed. This act gave power to the judge or magistrate to suspend sentence and put the guilty person under the charge of some individual who became the probation officer and found employment for the one under sentence. Payment for the work done by the one under sentence was either to go to members of his or her family or to be kept until supervision was discontinued. If he or she made good, the period of probation might be terminated at the will of the judge or magistrate. This law, Dr. Shearer predicted, would prevent thousands from becoming jailbirds and would also be a large economic saving to the country.

Three Amendments. Three amendments had been passed at the last session of parliament looking towards social betterment and he then mentioned in turn: First, there was the amendment to the Canada Temperance act, which provided that export liquor warehouses such as those in the city of St. John, which he considered a serious menace to the enforcement of the provincial prohibitory law, could be eliminated as soon as the provincial government invited the federal government to declare the amendment in force in the province. Then the warehouses must close their doors. The second amendment affected the criminal code, making it a crime for a male to have intimate relations with a female who was feeble-minded. The third amendment was to the opium and narcotic drug act, and increased the penalty for sharing in the drug traffic to seven years' imprisonment, adding whipping to the penalty when a juvenile was supplied with drugs. In the case of an offender who was an un-naturalized alien deportation was to follow after serving the sentence.

To refute statements that prohibition had brought an increase in the drug habit, Dr. Shearer quoted from government statistics regarding importation of drugs, giving the following figures:

Table with 4 columns: Drug, 1919, 1920, 1921, 1922. Rows include Morphine, Cocaine, Opium.

He pointed out how the drug habit was decreasing rapidly under prohibition, and said that if convictions were more frequent it meant there was a more rigid enforcement of the law. The number of convictions for the different provinces in the last year were as follows: Prince Edward Island, 0; Nova Scotia, 9; New Brunswick, 14; Manitoba, 15; Ontario, 66; Saskatchewan, 88; Alberta, 101; Quebec, 297; and British Columbia, 323. The west provinces, Quebec and British Columbia had 862 convictions, out of a total of 848 for the dominion, and Ontario, which had the same population as those two provinces, had only 66 con-

YOUNG BOY RUN OVER BY STREET CAR ON SATURDAY

A serious accident occurred on Saturday about 12:20 p.m., when Wilson Deloy, five years of age, was knocked down and his right leg run over by a street car at the corner of Britain and Sydney streets. He was rushed to the General Public Hospital and the leg was amputated at once at the thigh. His condition was considered still very serious last night. The street car was in charge of Motorman John R. King at the time that the affair took place.

It is said that the little boy had been to a nearby meat store and had just rushed out on his way to 222 Sydney street, where his mother, Mrs. Nettie Deloy, of New Britain (Conn.), was visiting her father, Wilson Dobbin. It was raining very hard at the time street car No. 114 was proceeding down Britain street and the motorman did not see the child who is said to have run in front of the car. Motorman King said that the first intimation which he had of the accident was when he saw the front of the car strike the boy. He informed the authorities that he was not positive then that it was a child that he had hit, but he immediately stopped the car.

FEW WOOD PRESERVATIVES Forest Products Laboratory Finds Most Substances Valueless

A list of the various substances that have been used or suggested for preserving timber from decay would include a surprisingly large proportion of those known to industrial chemistry, says a statement issued by the United States Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wis. By-products for which no use could be found have often taken their last stand as possible preservatives of wood. There have been sent to the laboratory for testing of their preservative qualities, the condensed fumes of smelters, the waste of liquors of pulp plants, the refuse of laundries, the skimmed milk of creameries and a wide assortment of compounds under trade names.

Very few materials, say the statement, have been found to have value as wood preservatives. Most of them lack one or more of the requirements which the Forest Products Laboratory has indicated as essential in a satisfactory compound. "To preserve wood against decay," the statement continues, "a substance must first of all be poisonous to wood-destroying fungi. Decay in wood is not due to direct chemical action or action of the elements, but is always the result of the activity of these plants which feed on the wood and thus destroy it. To prevent fungous infection the preservative must be able to penetrate and to retain its toxicity, or poisoning power, under service conditions. "Safety in handling and use is another important consideration. A wood preservative must not be a dangerous poison to men and animals, a highly inflammable substance, nor a material injurious to the wood. If it seriously corrodes iron, steel or brass its use is limited because of its action on the treating equipment and on bolts and metal fastenings in contact with the wood in service. Color, odor and effect on paint are sometimes of considerable importance.

"Provided a preservative meets these requirements, its cost, availability and uniformity will largely determine its usefulness. There are materials of established protective value now on the market which are both cheap and plentiful. The standard wood preservatives in the United States are zinc chloride and coal tar creosote. Their value has found evidence that the prohibitory liquor law was not being observed or faithfully or rigidly enforced. It has been customary to refer to the "wild and woolly west" but in regard to prohibition the west might well refer to the wild and woolly east. The law against gambling he found was flagrantly violated at all the great fairs in the province. He thought the authorities might be ignorant of the law in this regard and hoped that due publicity would be given to the amendments passed at the last session of parliament. They were three in number. First: It was unlawful to dispose of any money, property or valuable in any game of chance or mixed chance and skill. Second: It was unlawful to induce any person to stake, or bet money on any dice game, coin table, punch board or wheel of fortune. Third: It was unlawful to bet money on any sport or contest.

Dr. Shearer said he had touched on some of the subjects which are to be dealt with at the annual convention of the New Brunswick Social Service Society. Much would be considered at its sessions.

Strikes and Justice. (Los Angeles Times.)

It is not enough merely to settle the coal and railroad strikes; the point of overwhelming importance is to settle these strikes in the right way. Especially with regard to the relation between the men who quit work and the men who have remained at work.

The history of many strikes has been stained with bitter injustice in the final phase. The strikers have quit work, often to the severe suffering and danger of an innocent public. Independent workmen have come in, often at the risk of their lives, to carry on the work abandoned by the strikers.

Hope For Mexico. (Baltimore American.)

The department of commerce supplies the world with some unusual information. It is that baseball is supplanting bull fighting as a sport in the hearts of the Mexicans.

It is not much news of Mexico recently, and the impression seemed to be that stagnation had set in, but manifestly things are better than we thought. With baseball on the boom and bull-fighting on the slump, Mexico is headed for a hammer day.

Make That Vacant Room Pay Dividends!

If you have a vacant room for rent, you are virtually the owner of dividend-paying securities.

You can easily find a good tenant for the room by bringing or sending a Want Ad. to The Times. Then your room will yield a regular income with weekly or monthly dividends.

Want Ads. received before 10 a.m. will appear in The Times the same day.

Renting Vacant Rooms Is a Public Duty

Adequate shelter is one of the first necessities for man, woman, girl and boy.

The shortage of houses makes the question of shelter a matter for urgent public consideration.

Many well-to-do people are renting rooms to young men and women because they realize that by doing so they render an important service to the community.

Renting vacant rooms is highly profitable, but it is a duty as well.

An advertisement in the newspaper will find you tenants of good character. Bring your advertisement to the office today.

English Woman Wins

Toronto, Sept. 17.—For the second year in succession the ladies' Canadian open golf championship has been won by a player representing the English club. On Saturday afternoon Mrs. W. Gavin of the Huntercombe Club, England, won the final match by two up and one from Miss Alex Stirling of North Hempstead (N. Y.), in the presence of the largest gallery in the history of the Toronto Golf Club.

Woodstock Wins

Woodstock, Sept. 16.—The Riverside golfers played an all-day match with the local club on Saturday, twenty-four players of each side competing. The play resulted in a win for the home team. The visiting team were entertained at lunch and tea at the club house. At lunch, Dr. W. D. Rankin, vice-president of the local club, welcomed the visitors and J. U. HORSES AND HORSEMEN OF 30 YEARS AGO

Recollections Stirred by Reprinted Account of Botcher Race

Walter H. Millican Gulls from His Rich Store of Turf Knowledge Interesting Memories of the Horses That Took Part in Contests Referred to.

An article from the St. Croix Courier of thirty years ago reprinted in the Times on Saturday stirred the memory of horsemen of those days and was read by them with much interest. Walter H. Millican, a former Telegraph reporter, from whom comes more detailed recollection of the horses and owners of the nineties, furnishes the Times with the following out of his rich store of turf knowledge, written from memory after reading the Courier's reprinted account of the races of September, 1892:—

On the ninth page of your paper of Saturday last I was interested in reading a summary of horse races which took place in St. Stephen thirty years ago, and with a note appended stating the race were the most famous which ever took place on the St. Stephen track. The writer can assure you that, not only were the races referred to famous, but also the drivers and horses which participated were famous. Consequently a few comments might not be omitted.

The writer can remember the races referred to, as well as if they had taken place yesterday, and not only that, but can remember the positions in which each horse finished every heat. The three minute class was won by Arc Light, driven by C. W. Bell, who is today living and well, and is known as the dean of the racing fraternity of the maritime provinces. Arc Light was a son of Rampart and was owned at that time by Dr. Taylor of Hampton. He was a very fast, black in color, and was raced for years as a stallion and afterwards as a gelding. He went from here to Toronto when he became the property of Mr. Fraser of the firm of T. G. McMullin & Co.

Public, which horse won second position in the class, was a beautiful chestnut mare, by Melbourne King, and afterwards got a record of 2:17, very fast for those days. Her driver, A. L. Slipp, was certainly an artist in his line, and it is doubtful if there was ever a better race driver in the maritime provinces. Mr. Slipp was born on the St. John river, but was located in Nova Scotia for many years. Besides Jubilee, Mr. Slipp also owned her sire, Melbourne King, Helen and the three fastest mares on the continent at that time. He also owned Heck, Sea King, Freeman and many others. Mr. Slipp married a daughter of the late Messrs. Cowan of Fredericton. He was a frequent and welcome visitor to our city.

Favorite, which horse finished last in the race, was a small black mare by All-right. She was very speedy but a bad character, and at the time she was started to score her half mile every time she started while the other horses in the race waited for her at the distance pole until she came round.

The summary shows the 2:37 class to have been won by Rocket, owned by D. W. McCorkin, at that time proprietor of the Victoria Hotel in King street. Rocket was a big brown trotter by Olympian and out of Nellie Backman, owned by Chas. F. Backman of the celebrated Stonyford stock farm in Massachusetts. Rocket was a good trotter with a splendid set of going and was trained principally on Countyway Bay flats by Phillip Richard.

$47,550 PURSE WON BY SALLY'S ALLEY, TEN TO ONE SHOT

New York, Sept. 17.—With consummate ease, Sally's Alley ridden by Johnnie in the silks of William H. Kilmer won the thirtieth running of the Rich Puritany, a six-furlong sprint for two-year-olds and established a new record of 1:11 for the race at 14th present distance. The race was ridden by Zev with Sannie in the saddle as second, three lengths back and driven to her limit to withstand the running of Wilderness, of the B. Wilson colors ridden by Enos. Wilderness by closing fast, finished two lengths ahead of Cyclops, one of the favorites.

FOOTBALL SEASON TO START SOON

A football practice has been called by the St. Peter's club for Wednesday night at 6 o'clock and judging from the number of veterans and recruits who have signified their intention of turning out a strong team should be picked to carry the green and white colors. Some excellent material is expected by Coach Arthur McCuskey amongst the recruits and these with the former veterans of gridiron struggles will make the light for positions on the team a hard one. The St. Peter's park will be used for practice and all that is needed to make the initial practice a huge success is fine weather.

You Never Can Tell

Jack Dempsey will fight again next July unless another war should break out, in which case his country will call him to some shipyard.

The Special. Now we come to the special race between Edgardo, Speculation and Eddie Wilkes, three cracker-jacks. Edgardo, by Rumor, was owned by W. F. Todd, who was proprietor of a big stock farm near St. Stephen. It would be very easy to write books on Edgardo. He was wonderful, and was purchased by Mr. Todd, who the writer understood, gave $8,000 for him, quite a price in that day. At that time Mr. Todd also owned Camps and Elation, two famous stallions, also the famous English mare, Carrie R. Allen Blockwood and Daisy Hartston—and many others. Edgardo was a wonderful race horse and attained a record of 2:19 1/4, and as before stated he and Tom 2:10, were at one time the fastest sire and son in the world. Shortly after his race with Eddie Wilkes and Speculation, Edgardo trotted an exhibition mile, to lower the track record at Moosehead which he easily accomplished, covering the distance in 2:27 1/2. There was no horse at that time could go fast enough to pace Edgardo, so he was paced by Jim Watter's little running mare, Garry Gow. After Edgardo got through racing, he was owned by H. Turnbull of St. John, and later by the late Charles Gillespie, who raced him on the Marsh Road in winter for brush purposes.

Last but not least we come to Speculation, owned by Geo. Carvill, who is also a resident of St. John. Speculation was a beautiful dark grey stallion, an exhibition mile, to lower the track record at Moosehead which he easily accomplished, covering the distance in 2:27 1/2. There was no horse at that time could go fast enough to pace Edgardo, so he was paced by Jim Watter's little running mare, Garry Gow. After Edgardo got through racing, he was owned by H. Turnbull of St. John, and later by the late Charles Gillespie, who raced him on the Marsh Road in winter for brush purposes.

Lady Max, by Sir Charles, also owned by Mr. Carvill, and a stable mate of Speculation, equalled the maritime four year old record of 2:42, held by John Bright for sixteen years, and the following year Speculation came along and established a new record for four-year-olds, beating his stable mate's record, and covering the distance in 2:41. The meeting was held in the season of 1892. Speculation was raced afterwards by Lord Dufferin, a son of the great Endymion, and afterwards went to Riviere Du Loop, where he died.

INTER-SCHOOLASTIC SCHEDULE

The New Brunswick Inter-schoolastic Rugby League met here Saturday afternoon and arranged a schedule and agreed upon playing rules for the season. The meeting was held in the Y. M. C. A. building and was attended by delegates from Fredericton High, Rothesay Collegiate and St. John High schools. The schedule for the first game in this city between Rothesay and the local team on Oct. 7, providing that grounds can be secured here. If proper arrangements cannot be made the game is to be played at Rothesay. The arrangement of games is as follows: Saturday, Oct. 7—Rothesay at St. John. Saturday, Oct. 14—St. John at Fredericton. Friday, Oct. 20—Fredericton at Rothesay. Saturday, Oct. 21—Fredericton at St. John. Saturday, Oct. 28—St. John at Rothesay. Saturday, Nov. 4—Rothesay at Fredericton. The following were selected as suitable for referees: McNair and Burden, Fredericton; Cecil West and J. H. A. L.

Fortune to Street Singers

The money spent by New York for opera or symphony concerts is often cited as evidence of the city's love for music. Another proof heretofore overlooked, says the New York Times, is the fortune spent this way in the course of a year comes for the most part from the poorer neighborhoods, often the very poorest. A member of one of the city's social welfare associations, who has made a study of such conditions, estimates that the total collected by these street musicians in the course of a year is about $150,000.

Matrimonial Weather

(From the Boston Transcript.) A gentleman not long ago kept a meteorological diary of his wife's temper. Here it is: Monday—Rather cloudy; in the afternoon rainy. Tuesday—Vaporish; brightened a little towards evening. Wednesday—Changeable; gloomy; inclined to rain. Thursday—High wind and some peals of thunder. Friday—Fair in the morning; variable till afternoon; cloudy at night. Saturday—A foggy breeze; hazy; afternoon thick fog and a few flashes of lightning. Sunday—Tempestuous and rainy; towards evening somewhat calmer.

Why men call it "the Holder that Holds"

THE Williams' stick never gets loose—never wobbles—never breaks off or twists out. It holds. This is because it's held in by metal on metal. A threaded metal collar is put on the soap. The collar screws into the metal base. Neither changing climate nor hot bathrooms can loosen this dead-sure grip. Economical Re-Loads make it the perpetual stick—always yielding the rich, smooth Williams' lather that softens the toughest beard. Send 10 cents in stamps for a trial size stick in a full-size permanent re-loadable box.

POLICE MEETING DISCUSSED SALE OF ARMS AND DRUGS

U. S. Government Blamed for Indiscriminate Sale of Army Revolvers - Narcotic Squad's Work.

New York, Sept. 18.—Following the lead of the American Bar Association in favoring legislation to curtail the sale of firearms to all but military and police officers, the National Police Conference, assembled at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, listened to police officials who declared that the United States government was a great offender in the sale of firearms. It was asserted that the government flooded the newspapers throughout the middle west with advertisements offering for sale at army and navy stores revolvers for as low as $5 each, as well as trench knives and bayonets.

Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright, chairman of the conference, introduced the question of limiting firearms to those persons with a legitimate protective function. He described the efforts of the American Bar Association to limit by legislation the use of firearms and said that weapons of this character ought to be permitted only in the hands of police and military officers and persons protecting banks and organizations of a fiduciary character.

Another delegate said that there was an extensive use of sawed-off shot guns in the middle west and he hoped that the government would limit the sale of weapons.

The visiting police officials from various cities of the United States, Canada and Europe listened to a paper on "Criminal Narcotic Drug Addiction—a World-wide Police Problem," read by Special Deputy Police Commissioner Simon. At the conclusion of the discussion Commissioner Simon said that some detectives were outside with several drug addicts.

At a signal six addicts were led into the grand ballroom. They were unkempt and roughly dressed and several were handcuffed. On the platform they were questioned by Dr. Simon.

"Dago Pete" denied having in his possession some drugs when arrested at the Grand Central station. "The dick only got the needle," he exclaimed, pointing to his captor, who said that he found a package of drugs at the addict's feet when arrested.

"Red" Egan, a crumpled up little man, wearing an army shirt and torn trousers, began whining and complaining that he was being hounded from city to city, but admitted he had been a drug user for four years.

"These are typical slum addicts," announced Commissioner Simon to the audience.

Defenses in Disguise.

One of the prisoners, dressed in a blue truckman's blouse and cap pulled down over his eyes, said, "I've got a regular job. I work for Al Smith and the United States Trucking Corporation. After the prisoners had given their pedigrees, Dr. Simon informed the visiting police chiefs that the so-called addicts were detectives of the narcotic division.

"That is the way they dress up and go about the city to arrest addicts and peddlers of narcotic drugs," he said. "And that is why they have been so successful. If you do the same in your cities you will not doubt be just as successful."

In his paper Dr. Simon advocated the establishment of institutions for addicts who had undergone a number of institutional cures and whose relapse was traceable either to moral weakness or mental

BLACKHAND CASE SET OVER A WEEK

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Hull, Sept. 16.—Ervans Verboff, the Bulgarian scenario writer who was arrested yesterday afternoon in Point Pleasant Park, with a dummy roll of bills in his possession, which had been cashed by James W. Moir, wealthy candy manufacturer, in answer to a Black Hand letter, was arraigned in police court today and remanded until Thursday of next week for preliminary examination.

POLICEMAN'S GALLANTRY MAY COST HIM $500

Chicago, Sept. 18.—James A. Scott is a gallant cop. Just because he is like that, he is now cited before the Police Board and a demand for $500 has been made by a pretty woman. Scott was in an Irving Park restaurant. A handsome woman was dining at the next table. She arose to leave. A fine mink coat was on the next chair to the one she had occupied. Scott seized the coat, followed the woman to the door, handed it to her with a smile and a bow. She thanked him sweetly, beamed on him and walked away. Ten minutes later Mrs. Laura Stevens of Elston avenue returned from a retiring room and set up a screen, her mink coat was gone. It is still gone.

NOT AN AFRICAN, SAYS ENGLISH GIRL

If Born at Sea, Quota Law Would Have Made Her a Fish, She Contends—Released Pending Hearing.

New York, Sept. 18.—Phyllis Katherine Hosking, eighteen-year-old British girl, who has been detained at Ellis Island by the immigration officials since her arrival on Labor Day from England because she was born in Africa and she worked her case in London, contended today that she was not an African, but a white girl, whose father, James Hosking, in Bayonne, N. J. She has been released in the custody of her father pending a review of the case by the Department of Labor. The hearing before the Department of Labor which resulted in her release was obtained by United States Senator Walter E. Edge to whom her father's friends had applied.

A party of Mr. Hosking's friends greeted his daughter at the home of James Henry Dingle, 766 Broadway, Bayonne, where Mr. Hosking lives. Miss Hosking thinks that the quota law, as it works on her case, is foolish.

"While I was born in Africa," she said, "I am not an African. I am British. I suppose under the quota ruling that if I had been born at sea I would be a fish."

Miss Hosking is a graduate nurse and intends to practice her profession in this country. She said that she intended to become an American citizen.

Officials at Ellis Island, she said, treated her well, but nevertheless her stay there, she added, would always be a nightmare to her. At first she was frightened, and when she was placed with the second-class passengers, she declared at Ellis Island and found she was the only person speaking English she appealed to Commissioner Tod, who had her moved to better quarters.

Miss Hosking arrived aboard the Royal Mail steamer Orbita from England. Her father is an employe of the Pacific Coast Steamship Co. in San Francisco. He has been in this country for three years. His daughter was born in Africa and lived there until she was eight years old, and then the family moved to England. Her mother and her sister, Natalie, expect to arrive about Christmas.

The investigation by the Department of Labor will be completed in October, at which time it is probable that additional persons from Africa can be admitted under the law.

IRON, STEEL, METAL AND MACHINERY

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following comment in its September 14 issue:

Declining continuously in the last two months, the low point in pig iron and sheet production was reached at the end of August with respective records of forty-five and fifty per cent. of capacity. There has been a subsequent increase in production, as several mills in Pittsburgh district, the valleys and about Chicago have resumed operations. Of these plants, practically all had by-product coke ovens. Coal shipments, generally, will be severely limited by railroad congestion, nothing can be done to be taken for granted as to increasing production in coal or iron and steel industries. Offerings of pig iron in Canadian markets are continuing to be restricted, as scarcity of coal has made operation on a large scale impossible. Production for August will show very low levels indeed, with no improvement in sight. Algoma spot price is $39.30, while the Steel Company is out of the market for new Scotch pig iron. The market is not such large quantities as to be a factor in relieving marked scarcity should such develop.

August has been a good month with the dealers in the iron and steel business, as a whole. In some quarters it is reported that while the volume was large, it was not due so much to the number of orders as to the size, while other dealers declare that orders showed unusual numbers. Structural material has been an outstanding factor, but large importing interests state that their bookings represent considerable variety. A $350,000 month by one concern, with an advance from $165 to $170 in the basic price, was considered a remarkable showing for August. Still it is predicted that the price peak has not been reached and even in the more conservative quarters advances are being seriously considered.

For example, an advance of five cents in steel and iron bars represents unanimity in $3.40 as the maximum figure. Sheets continue to be a feature in the demand and prices show slight advances. Galvanized, No. 10, at $4.50, and black, No. 28, at $5.50. The market continues fairly strong for finished products. An advance has been announced in wood screws, the new discounts being, for flat head, bright, 60-p. c. off; flat head, brass, 75-p. c. off; flat head, bronze, 70-p. c. off; with ovals and rounds ranging from two to three per cent. below these figures.

Advances have taken effect in boiler tubes and there appears to be some difference between the Montreal and Toronto quotations. In the former, on a three-inch lapweld, the latest figure is $28.50 per 100 feet, while Toronto quotes $27.50; on four-inch the Montreal price is $42, Toronto, $39. On standard butt and lapweld pipe, the price remains firm, raw materials are very slow in shipment and coupled with this is the gradual increase to about $8 per ton for skip.

Demand is such that advances are being taken as an inevitable factor under present circumstances and there is little indication as yet that a conservative attitude is developing. The feeling is that with a shipping congestion in sight it would hardly be wise to curtail when the purpose has any urgency.

Montreal reports improvement in the scrap metal market, owing to continued scarcity of pig iron. Summer Scotch iron is the only kind available on that market at present and the stock is limited. Business generally is inclined to be spotty, some houses reporting improvement and other claim that the volume is not up to the market. Quotations on steel are firm and supplies are increasingly difficult. Deliveries are such as to restrict operations of Canadian mills. Demand for machine tools continues very light, although supplies are keeping up.

EMPLOYMENT IN JULY EXPANDED

The Reopening of Railway Car Shops Caused Greater Part of Increase—Pulp and Paper Quieter.

That employment in Canada during the month of July made further moderate expansion, is shown in the Bulletin of Employment Service of Canada, dated September 1, which record is published by the Department of Labor at Ottawa. In this upward movement employment followed the same direction as in July, 1921, but the expansion registered during the month under review was twice as large as during the corresponding period of last year. The re-opening early in July of the railway car shops, temporarily closed at the end of June, caused greater part of the increase, but further improvement was also evident in transportation, railway and building construction as well as in saw mills and in some other branches of the manufacturing industries. Employment on public highways, in logging and in textiles, on the other hand, declined considerably.

The upward trend that employment in pulp and paper products has evidenced since the end of March was checked during July and there were contractions involving the release of 814 workers. As the 464 firms making returns reported an aggregate payroll of 47,081 persons as compared with 47,545 on June 30, this represented a decline of over 1 per cent. Practically all the advances were registered in Quebec, the changes in the other provinces being slight. Pulp and paper mills were decidedly slacker and reduced activity was also reported in printing and publishing.

Volume of employment in the iron and steel group increased considerably on account of the re-opening of operations in several of the railway car shops, which had been temporarily closed down at the end of June. In addition, noteworthy improvement was recorded in the crude, rolled and forged division, supplemented by increased activity in a smaller scale in boiler, engine and hardware factories and in the production of structural iron and steel. On the other hand, steel shipbuilding was less fully employed. All provinces except British Columbia shared in the upward movement, but the expansion in Ontario was more pronounced than elsewhere.

The situation in coal mining continued to show only slight changes, on the whole, although there were contractions in different parts of the country. In Nova Scotia and British Columbia improvement was manifested, but reduced activity was noted in Alberta.

Another large increase in activity occurred in railways during July, 1,778 persons having been added to the staffs of the 125 concerns and divisional superintendents reporting. As the total payroll included 74,361 persons, this represented a gain of 1.5 per cent. All provinces shared in the upward movement to some extent, but the gains in Ontario and the Prairie Provinces together formed 80 per cent. of the entire increase.

ARRANGE SYSTEM TO STOP CROOKS' ESCAPE

New Provincial Police Recruits War Veterans.

Toronto, Sept. 18.—General Victor Williams of the provincial police has arranged a system for cutting down the escape of criminals, which he expects will be a factor in lessening crime in the province.

When a crime occurs at any place in the province, the local officer immediately wires the divisional officers and an arm of vigil is thrown out across the district. Then by a process of advances the entire district is surrounded and the work in co-operation to the point of the crime. At the same time all border points are notified, thus minimizing the chance of escape that way.

"All we need now to perfect our system," said General Williams today, "is a quota of motorcycles, and I think we will have these shortly."

Thirty new recruits for the provincial force, averaging six feet, and all returned men, will try their exertions at the 125 concerns and divisional superintendents reporting on Monday.

SEPARATED 17 YEARS, THEY MEET IN SUBWAY

New York, Sept. 16.—(By Canadian Press.)—A man and a woman, strap-hangers in a crowded subway train, chanced to bump, and, turning to apologize to one another, discovered themselves to be husband and wife, who had not seen each other in seventeen years, according to the story told Supreme Court Justice Gannon in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Helen Courtney of 324 Broadway, Brooklyn, the woman in the case, married George Beck in March, 1905, she said. They lived together only eleven days. Years passed and she believed Beck had died. In 1914 she married again. Mrs. Courtney asked the annulment of her marriage to Courtney on the ground that she was still the wife of Beck. Courtney made no opposition. Neither he nor Beck was in court. Justice Gannon granted the annulment.

NEWSPAPERS' DUTY TO REACH MASSES

News and Editorials Should Strike a Popular Chord—Terseless Desired.

(Montreal Star)

"There never was a time when it was so material that the newspapers should join together to give step to the march progress in this country," was a point strongly emphasized yesterday by C. A. C. Jennings of The Mail and Empire, in his address on "The Newspaper as an Organ of Public Opinion," delivered in connection with the short course in journalism being given in the Medical building under the auspices of the University of Toronto. A notable phase of the journalistic course this year has been the large number of women in attendance, they appearing to outnumber the men.

It was maintained by Mr. Jennings that Canada was faced with so much unrest and so many different theories in regard to the mending of matters that it was highly desirable the press should take the strong part it was capable of taking for the bringing about of accord in fundamental matters of national movement. This could be brought about only by appealing to the great mass of the people instead of to a certain class, this fact having first been realized by the late Lord Northcliffe. Previous to this many of the leading newspapers scorned those readers who would have difficulty in wading through their weighty editorials, while the news was "published in chunks and not headed in a way to give the reader an idea of the contents." The result had been that a large portion of the public were relying on getting information outside of the pale of newspaper service. Lord Harmsworth was to be given great credit for remedying this condition of affairs by appealing to the man in the street through his "Daily Mirror," the success of which forced other large newspapers to accommodate themselves to the requirements of what was considered the less intellectual public.

Standardizing Opinion.

The next great step to be taken by the press was in bringing about more uniformity in the national public. Now that newspapers had at last reached the point where they were read by everybody and dealt with every thing, the question of agreement among newspapers in bringing about this uniformity of opinion had come to the fore. Resistance must be made against attempts or irresponsible persons to excite public opinion in favor of revolutionary or "red" ideas, and the stampeding of the public permanently on speculative questions. If the social organization of the country needed mending, the best way of bringing that about would be by gradual conviction of the people which conviction the press was the main means of bringing about. It should be the function of the press to unite as much as possible into a great smoothing iron for smoothing public opinion, instead, as was only too apparent during the present period of unrest, the newspapers being so many branding irons of differing public opinions.

Style is Literary.

Professor P. A. W. Wallace, who gave an address on "Newspaper Style," pointed out that good literary style was to be found within the pages of a newspaper as well as in those of a book. The idea that newspapers were not of good literary style was a mistaken one. The newspaper man had to remember certain restrictions under which he was writing, but this did not necessarily spoil his style. It was to journalism that we owed the development during the last two hundred years of that clear, vivid, powerful style which characterized English prose. The chief restrictions which a newspaper man had to face in his writings were that he must write fast and steadily and that he was writing for the general public, but this encouraged a terseness in express which was commendable.
