The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

I WANT to make myself the mouthpiece today, of what I believe to be the average shopper's approval of a new attitude on the part of many merchandisers.

And this attitude is the treat-you-decently-even-if-you-don't-buy-and-be-fair-to-our-rival-instead-of-trying-to-out-bid-his-throat attitude.

Yes, I know that hyphenated manner of expressing myself is decidedly uniterary, but I couldn't seem to think of any other clear way to put what I mean.

There was a time, when as soon as it became evident that you did not intend to buy, the saleswoman immediately became friendly and uninterested. That she did this with the approval of her employers, was evidenced by her omnipresence in all the shops.

Now I believe that this condition of affairs is rapidly changing.

In the first place, the saleswoman who acts as if she might do you personal violence, when you leave the shop without buying, is nowadays the exception rather than the rule.

Furthermore, in most of the progressive shops, you will even find many salesmen and women who, when they find they can't give you just what you want, will smile and say, "I'm sorry, I hope you can get it somewhere else," or something like that.

Again, and more marvelous still—at some shops when the sales people find they cannot fill your need, they will even advise you where to go.

An older woman who has been used to the cut-throat regime told me, with much interest, of an experience she had when trying to match some silk the other day.

After the salesman in a certain shop had told her that he could not match her sample, half in a spirit of desperation, and hardly expecting any advice, she asked him if he could think of any place where she might get it. "Where have you tried?" he asked. She told him, "Well," she said, "you might try C's and S's and if you can't get it there, you might as well give it up."

Evidently, the idea that it is bad business to mire one's own nest and good business to be obliging to a customer and fair to one's rivals is gaining strength in the business world.

Again, I went to a dyeing establishment with a gown I thought of having dyed. The price quoted was more than I wanted to pay and I said so. And yet the pleasant manner in which the saleswoman had unwrapped my parcel didn't change one bit. She wrapped it up again with great care, and smiled me out of the store with as much courtesy and kindness, as if I had ordered a hundred dollars worth of work.

One doesn't forget things like this. They leave one pleasantly disposed, not only towards the salespeople, but towards the shops they represent. Other things being equal, one's trade goes to that shop.

In saying this, I believe, as I declared above, that I speak for the average shopper, for I have heard a great many of them express the same sentiments.

The woman who found the silk salesman so obliging declares that henceforth she will always go to that shop first. And in this case, other things are not equal, for this shop is up four flights and most shoppers give a ground floor establishment the preference.

The new attitude pays. I suppose merchandisers and schools of salesmanship and salespeople know that already, but perhaps they will not spurn the reassurance of its value even from so humble a source.

THE MAN SHE REFUSED AND THE MAN SHE MARRIED

"A girl who will marry nobody but the ideal (and non-existent) man while she is young, dark-haired, and beautiful, is ready enough to marry the ugliest and most insignificant man imaginable when she is fair and forty. Women are warned not to be too scornful. Youth is brief, London Mirror."

La MARQUISE de FONTENOY

A Lost Will and an Attempt to Acquire the Property Devised by it—The Apothecaries Society of London

(Copyright, 1911, by the Brentwood Company)

Lord St. Leonard, who has just celebrated his coming of age, has many relatives on this side of the Atlantic, where he spent a considerable portion of his youth. In New York, New Jersey and elsewhere, he has many friends and acquaintances. He is a young man of high character and high intelligence, and he is very popular among his friends. He is also a very successful business man, and he has made a fortune for himself. He is now in London, and he is staying at the Hotel de Fontenoy. He is very much interested in the news of his relatives and friends in America, and he is very glad to hear that they are all well and happy.

The first Lord St. Leonard was created Lord St. Leonard, he was the son of a well-known baronet of Duke Street, St. James' London. He died full of years and honors, in 1813. He was succeeded by his eldest son, Henry, who had left two sons, the eldest of whom was Edward, the second Lord St. Leonard. The second son was Henry Suggden, father of the present and third Lord St. Leonard. The old lord high chancellor conceived during the closing years of his life, a most profound aversion for the two sons of his first-born, an aversion due to the constant scandals to which their behavior was giving rise and some time before his death he drew up a will, written in sixteen sheets of ordinary quarto paper, in his own handwriting, in which he bequeathed all his considerable property to his two elder grandsons, bestowing upon his second son, the Hon. and Rev. Frank Suggden, an upon his third daughter, the Hon. Charlotte Suggden, who for the last quarter of a century of his life had been not only his constant companion, but likewise his trusted confidante and amanuensis.

Will Was Lost

This will, to the existence of which the Hon. Charlotte Suggden and a number of other people were able to furnish conclusive testimony, could not be found on the death of the old lord high chancellor, and it was asserted in court, and generally believed that it had been feloniously destroyed. While the evidence was insufficient to justify the institution of proceedings to be instituted for the destruction of the will, yet it was sufficiently conclusive to cause the learned president of the court of probate, Lord Hanmer, to grant a decision in favor of the Hon. and Rev. Frank Suggden, and against the second Lord St. Leonard. Lord Hanmer, for the first time in his career, was successful in his attempt to bring the only time in the annals of the English court of probate, admitted to probate a will which no longer existed in writing, but only in the memory of the plaintiffs, and of their witnesses, awarding the whole of the property to the extensive landed estates, and some half a million dollars in money, to them on the ground that it was in that manner fulfilling the intentions of the testator, despite an attempt to frustrate them, through the felonious destruction of the will. This is a matter of court record. The case is one celebrated in the annals of British jurisprudence, and the case of the sector was taken to task and criticized by the leading English newspapers for neglecting to institute proceedings against the second Lord St. Leonard, based on the decree of the court of probate.

Not Long Daughter From Infancy

Not long afterwards, the wife of this second Lord St. Leonard, who was the daughter of an ancient and historic house of Dashwood, obtained a judicial separation from her husband on the ground that he was intemperate, and later on he was convicted of an assault on a poor servant girl, for which, despite his rank as an hereditary legislator, he was sentenced to a term in jail. He died, forgotten, despised and in poverty, in a remote Welsh village, in his sixtieth year, leaving an only daughter brought up by her mother, who he never saw after her infancy, and who is married to Captain Drury Lowe, of the Grenadier Guards.

He was succeeded in his peerage by his nephew, son of his brother, the late Henry Frank Suggden.

The latter, with his wife and children, spent several years in the United States, where indeed some of his younger daughters came to come from England to take her and the children home. Subsequently a reconciliation took place and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frank Suggden lived together until the former went into another career of drunkenness. During one of his drunken fits he had a battle royal with his wife which resulted in blows. The divorce court granted Mrs. Suggden the decree of judicial separation, for which she had petitioned, and at the same time confined the two children of the marriage to her custody. He died in 1889.

The aunt of the present Lord St. Leonard, namely, Emma Suggden, a baronet's daughter, of San Jose, Cal., and is by no means the only member of the house of Suggden who has found domestic happiness on this side of the Atlantic.

Young Lord St. Leonard has no brothers, and were he to die unmarried, the title, Leonard's peerage would fall to Frank Suggden, eldest son of that Rev. and Hon. Frank Suggden who was the principal beneficiary of the will of his father, the old lord high chancellor.

The New Lord Mayor

London's new thorough metropolitan Mayor, Sir Thomas Crosby, M. P., the first physician to hold that office in the thousand years of its existence, has just been elected to the office of the mayor of London. He is a man of high character and high intelligence, and he is very popular among his friends. He is also a very successful business man, and he has made a fortune for himself. He is now in London, and he is staying at the Hotel de Fontenoy. He is very much interested in the news of his relatives and friends in America, and he is very glad to hear that they are all well and happy.

Daily Hints For the Cook

LAYER CAKE. One egg and one cup of sugar. Stir until cream color, then add one cup milk, or milk and water, or all water, in which one level teaspoon of soda has been dissolved. Now add one and three-quarters cups of flour, and two level teaspoons of cream of tartar. Stir thoroughly, and steadily add three tablespoons of melted butter.

SOFT GINGERBREAD. One-half cup sugar and half tablespoonful of lard mixed well together, then add half cup molasses and half cup of sweet milk, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a little hot water, one teaspoonful of ginger, half teaspoonful of cinnamon. Mix well and add two and one-quarter cups of sifted flour; bake in a biscuit tin.

QUICK BREAKFAST PUFFS. One and one-half cups of flour, two rounded teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one tablespoonful of sugar, one-quarter teaspoonful of salt, one cupful of milk, one egg, one cupful of butter, melted. Sift the dry ingredients into a bowl; beat the egg thoroughly, and add to it the milk; stir this quickly and carefully into the dry mixture; beat, and add the shortening; beat again. The batter should not be stiff; well a little more milk if necessary. Butter tin pans, and fill them two-thirds full with the mixture; bake for about 15 minutes in a hot oven. This recipe will make a dozen puffs.

GREAT YEAR FOR BRUNETTES. Blondes Do Not Show to Advantage in Season's Modes

At a recent style show held in Washington under the patronage of a committee of society women the living models chosen were girls with brown hair and brown eyes. No matter how beautiful a girl of the blond type might be, she did not have a chance of being chosen for the show. The blonde girl is not in fashion this season, for she does not bring out the good points of the new "creations" and "divine" touches by the Paris dress-makers for the winter season.

Robert, the most daring of the Paris dress artists, still clings to the oriental in his latest models. He has finally acknowledged his "jupe pantaloon" or Turkish trouser skirt as a most employed at any of the big style shows held in the United States or Paris. Only the languorous beauties who suggest the mystery of the orient are in demand.

"DIVORCE RING" NEWEST FAD

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 15.—The "divorce ring" was disclosed to Chicago by Mrs. Marina Delgado Parke, divorced wife of Fred K. Parke, formerly secretary of the Board of Supervising Traction Engineers. Mrs. Parke was found at the Wellington Hotel wearing a plain gold band on the little finger of her right hand. The peculiar effect caused comment, and she said: "Why that's a divorce ring. Quite a few women are wearing rings like it and explaining its object to their friends. "Pretty soon everybody will know that a plain ring on the right little finger means its wearer is divorced. The divorce ring saves a lot of embarrassment. New acquaintances do not enquire about your husband and old friends who haven't heard of your divorce do not embarrass themselves with awkward questions."

THE SHOPPERS.

See the Christmas shoppers shopping! See them round the counters hopping. Hardly stopping, Gaily popping Here and there and everywhere Picking bargains up and flopping, Woolly lambs with ears a flopping, Dolls exceeding large and whopping. Toys that last and games that tear, See them rush and their forehead peering. As they hurry on their shopping, They are busy with their shopping. Buying books for Tom and Willie, Buying things exceeding silly. Things that no one has a use for, Things that father must "produce" for; With their endless lists clutched tightly, So that they may purchase rightly—See them! Watch them, hopping hopping, Flopping, popping, Never stopping, Till they're dropping, Worn with shopping, Dolls exceeding large and whopping. And go home with worn and weary, With a sorry sigh, "Oh, dear!" I forgot to buy a present, For my cousin's aunt—that's pleasant! And I fear I made mistake In those gloves for Uncle Jake— Papa a larger size he's taken! I'll be happy when it's through, For I'm tired out—ain't you?" Oh, the shoppers, Christmas shoppers! How they come financial croppers, Spending money that they need! Do they like it? Yes, indeed! For it comes but once a year, And they revel while it's here! Paul West, in New York World.

SICK HEADACHES!

Always trace them to lazy liver, delayed, fermenting food in the bowels, or a sick stomach. Poisonous matter, instead of being thrown out, is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that produces the obnoxious sickening headache. Cascarets remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the poison more and out and purifying the blood. This effect is almost instantaneous. Ladies who are especially subject to such headaches, need not suffer, for the Cascarets tonight will straighten you out tomorrow. A 10 cent box means a clear head and pure health in 10 minutes. Don't forget the children—their little heads need a good, gentle, cleansing, too. Childre glad to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

THE KAISER'S SONS

Berlin, Dec. 4.—The question whether the popularity or prestige of the crown prince has suffered as a result of his recent demonstration in the Reichstag is still a theme of interest, if inclusive, speculation. In public opinion, as a whole, has depreciated his action, the military and ultra-nationalist elements, of course, are inclined to regard it with sympathetic approval. The assumption is general, however, that for a time at least, the prince will keep out of the public eye and maintain a discreet reserve. The incident has evidently awakened the public to a new interest in the occupations, associations and inclinations of the Kaiser's sons. They are all now holding positions which impose at least nominal duties, and presumably provide an outlet for the energies. The crown prince himself, commander of the First Royal Hussar with headquarters near Danzig, has a military position which the average army officer cannot hope to attain until well advanced in middle age. An unfriendly newspaper suggests that ordinarily the command regiment affords quite enough work for a man. Prince Dietl Friedrich, the second son, commander of the first squadron of the Guard Hussars, stationed at Potsdam, Prince Adalbert, who lately commanded torpedo-boats, is in the Kiel Naval Academy, and the Princes Oscar and Joseph are in local regiments. Prince Angus Wilhelm, the civilian member of the family, is just completing a course of his training in the Potsdam Courts. According to a rumor long current, Prince Angus is ultimately destined to receive the post of governor-general of Alsace-Lorraine.

PORT ARTHUR AFTER THE WAR

(Times Special Correspondent.) Port Arthur, Dec. 3.—Bare steep hills, gashed the bones, to the living rocks, drifts of mangled steel and shattered concrete. Acre upon acre of hillside crushed to road-metal; never a tree, never a bush, valleys of death, here and there the crumbling foundations of house-walls, sparsely grassed valley, scarred and pock-marked at every few feet with bare, stony hollows; this is Port Arthur, seven years after the most terrible siege chronicled in history.

In most instances of modern times, no sooner has peace been declared between two combatants than steps have been taken to delete the traces of war. The scenes of fierce encounters and stubborn sieges in Alsace-Lorraine, in the Philippines and in South Africa have day by day little more than their artificial monuments to recall the past. Japan has other ideas about Port Arthur.

Beyond clearing away the dead, taking sanitary measures to purify the battlefields and shatter forts, the district, and occupying the strategic positions at either lip of the harbor mouth, she has done nothing to obliterate the grim traces of the price she has had to pay for her victory.

Reins of the fray lie on every hand—great steel gun-carriages, torn like discarded sardines; guns with burst breeches or sagging rests at the tips of their muzzles; shells and projectiles of every size and in every stage of crumpling, an unpleasant proportion, half-buried and unexploded, though a reward stands for the Chinese presents who report their location, and a few scattered leaden and nickel bullets, broken rifle-bullets, twisted leather boots, metal regional bones, mangled sword blades, and the bits of what were armor, and bleaching bones, with here and there a grinning skull.

Port Arthur, seven years after the siege in which perished a tenth of a million men, is today undoubtedly the most menacing lesson of the horrors of high-explosive warfare that exists on the face of the earth. One's first, and perhaps one's most striking, impression of the spot—always excepting a vivid consciousness of the horrors, mangled countryside—is the narrowness of the mouth of the long, spacious lagoon on a land-locked harbor. That gap of a couple of hundred yards of black, deep blue water between towering Golden Hill and the low, unimposing ridge of Tiger's Tail promontory seems so quiet and insignificant, if picturesque, a corner of lonely Atlantic coastline to have been for most of the year 1904 the principal point of interest for all the civilized peoples—Russia of the dream of a warm-water Pacific outlet from January to December. Port Arthur is a mountain of steel, a mountain of iron, a mountain of brass, a mountain of copper, a mountain of lead, a mountain of zinc, a mountain of tin, a mountain of silver, a mountain of gold, a mountain of platinum, a mountain of iron, a mountain of steel, a mountain of brass, a mountain of copper, a mountain of lead, a mountain of zinc, a mountain of tin, a mountain of silver, a mountain of gold, a mountain of platinum.

Clerks in McNamara's Office Will Appear Before Federal Grand Jury—Will Continue Until End of January

McNamara, a convicted secretary-treasurer of the organization, had his office.

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION

An analysis of the returns of any election will reveal at once how defective is the electoral machinery of most countries. In the British parliamentary elections of 1905 the Ministerial group had fifty-six per cent of the votes and elected seventy-two per cent of the members.

The evil has been aggravated in this country by the practice, so effectively introduced and used by the Conservative party, of manipulating the boundaries of electoral districts. In the Province of Ontario particularly they "hived the Grits," by applying what the Germans call the geometry idea to electoral districts.

A subscriber who has kept a record tells The Times that there have been twenty-seven civic investigations of one kind or another and that "nobody was ever fired or fined by the council."

The Board of Trade does well in dealing to boom immigration and to make the movement province-wide. There is a marked stir here in the east, greater this year than ever.

A New York orator told a story so funny that one of his auditors laughed himself to death. We hand out this amusingly told as a warning to those speakers who tell humorous stories at public or social functions in St. John. They ought to be careful.

The Lords today passed the Lloyd George insurance bill. Two things of importance are thus settled. One is that the work of social-political regeneration in Britain is fairly launched. The other is that the Peers have learned their lesson. The House of Commons rules the country.

The Standard this morning credits Alderman McGoldrick with certain un-Canadian-like remarks about The Times and the Telegram. Mr. McGoldrick today said that he did not give any such interview. The alderman and the editor of the Standard are hereby appointed a committee to clear the matter up. If it should appear later that The Times has a duty to perform in relation to either member of the committee this newspaper will attend to the job with alacrity.

Certain eager gentlemen who desire to become commissioners are canvassing quietly for pledges. It would be well for electors to see the whole list of candidates before selecting any. Commissioners should not be elected through sympathy, religion, politics, or spite, but because they will give the city honest, fearless, progressive service. This town wants a new deal from a fresh deck.

WILLING TO PAY. The morning had been long and the arithmetic lesson particularly severe. Little Tommy had laboriously worked his way through a fascinating maze of figures till his small head ached, and he now stood before his master with instructor, empty.

"Return to your desk and do it again," Tommy glared at the clock, glanced at the door, and then he looked at his instructor. "Please sir," he asked, "how much am I out?"

"Your result is two cents short of the correct total," was the reply. "Go and—"

Tommy's hand sought the pocket which contained his most valued possessions. Swiftly he separated two coins from a piece of string, some marbles and a pocket-knife. "Please sir," he said, "if you don't mind I'll pay the difference."

CLEVER YOUNGSTER. A superintendent of a city Sunday school endeavored to give the summer meeting added attractiveness. Upon a certain warm Sunday in August lemonade was served.

At the close of the service the superintendent announced that slips of paper would be passed around and the pupils allowed to make suggestions as to methods of making the meetings still more attractive. One youngster wrote: "Put more sugar in the lemonade."

WHAT WILL HE DO? Is the new finance minister a friend of the trusts? He has said that he is not. But the test is coming at once, a sharp decisive test that cannot be evaded, and the result cannot be concealed or misinterpreted. The Toronto Star tells the story very well in an article headed "A Chance for Mr. White." It says:

There is a law on the statute book of Canada providing that when a combine exists and unduly enhances prices, the duty may be removed or reduced. The idea of the minister of customs is that when a combine exists the duties shall be increased for its benefit. There is a lumber combine in the west, which removes the hat dollar out of the homesteader, or drives him to build his little house out of sods. This combine met in the city of Calgary in October, and decided to put an end to all competition. It was announced that dealers could buy only at the head office in Calgary, and at one price. It was easily seen, says the report, that independent owners will not have any chance against the association, which would put the lumber in at a cut price, and put independent men out of business in short order. Twenty 200 travelers were dismissed, for it takes very few travelers to handle a business in which there is an absolute monopoly.

The members of the combine then went

A BALLAD OF CASTLES IN SPAIN

Can't you hear the bells and knells, Your barons, blue of blood and old of line, Rich in the legends of a thousand fights, Nor those who dig their titles from a mine.

Not yet yet your country magnates avenge, Whose towers ancestral crown a proud domain, Founded on potted meat or tonic wine; I have a hundred palaces in Spain.

Some lift their pinnacles on sky-kissed heights, Frank to the sun their marble arches shine; Ancient are these, and built in fairy nights; The storms have pierced their roofs and undermined.

A staircase here and there: But do I pine? Bah! There are others that withstand Not six weeks old, of excellent design; I have a hundred palaces in Spain.

No coaches ever trespass on my rights; I have no need of trap or board or sign. I mount no snorting auto but recline On the swiftest wings of fancy; and I dine In Eldorado, or Olympus gain.

Dr. Reid overlooks the fact that much of the lumber which the combine is trying to exclude is not planned on two sides, but that on one side a fine saw is used. In every case where this is done the combine wants the importer worried by a sort of detective inquiry into the question whether the side is saved or planned, and the combine's interest is granted.

We think that Dr. Reid made a mistake when he shifted the whole responsibility upon the customs board. He missed a splendid opportunity to tell some plain truths to the combine. He could have told them that whatever the legal interpretation of the tariff might be the government had control over the tariff, could frame the tariff so as to relieve the farmer, and would do so.

However, the mistake can still be repaired. The government can change the tariff whenever it pleases, at all events while parliament is sitting. The minister of finance is Mr. White. We accept Mr. White's statement that he is not a friend of the trusts and combines, and we look to him to right this wrong, and to stand up for the western farmer against the greedy lumber combine.

The government ought also to bear in mind one of the arguments against reciprocity: that it would allow the Americans to make use of the great natural resources of Canada, especially its forests. This is a chance to beat the Americans at their own game and use their forest resources to keep the Canadian farmer and his family warm.

The snow storm mercifully hides the neglect of those who didn't clean the streets.

CAN'T DO IT ON $50,000

London, Dec. 15.—To be lord mayor of London and live on $50,000 a year, the official allowance for maintaining the high dignity of that office, is a problem which most chief magistrates find beyond them. It was with the object of obtaining inquiry into this financial puzzle that Curt Henschel moved at the court of common council meeting at the Guildhall that the general purposes committee should be instructed to consider and report "on the question of the expenses of the mayoralty." This matter, however, the court decided to leave in abeyance, at any rate, for a time, but agreed that the general purposes committee should consider sundry alterations and improvements at the Mansion House.

An idea of what it really costs to be lord mayor of London was given in an interview by Sir William Treloar, who held the office in 1908. "I have heard of a case," he said, "where a lord mayor spent $100,000 more than his allowance, and of others where an additional $50,000 was expended. I know myself perfectly well how easy it is to spend $50,000 above the allowance. More than that I cannot say, but I do not think it possible for any lord mayor to keep to his official $50,000.

A few of the chief items upon the expense side in the balance sheet of a lord mayor of London were supplied by an alderman who has passed sundry alterations. The approximate figures were: Half cost of lord mayor's show and banquet, the balance being paid by the two sheriffs, $10,000; official dinners at Mansion House, numbering eight to ten, $2,500; private dinner and luncheon parties for friends, $12,500; Mansion House balls, $6,000.

"Of course," said Sir William Treloar, "there is really no limit to a lord mayor's expenditure. It depends entirely upon his own inclination." Some of the other expenses that a lord mayor has to meet are the salaries of secretaries, the wages of the Mansion House servants, numbering between forty and fifty, and the upkeep of horses and carriages, apart from the state coach. Many, too, are the demands of charities upon a lord mayor, and it is estimated that it is impossible for a lord mayor to keep his expenditure below $65,000, or $15,000 above the official salary.

DISCOVERS MICROBE OF CATTLE DISEASE

Berlin Bacteriologist Makes Statement of Importance at Surgeons' Conference

Berlin, Dec. 15.—At the annual congress of the Prussian veterinary surgeons, a Berlin bacteriologist, Dr. Siegel, read a paper in which he demonstrated that he had discovered the microbe which caused foot-and-mouth disease. Dr. Siegel has been working at the subject for years, and his microbe, which he named "Cytorrhoeus," has stood all the tests based on Koch's law. The doctor said that he had found the microbe both in the blood and in characteristic blisters on the gums of animals suffering from the disease. He has also cultivated the microbe and discovered that animals which have been given the disease artificially by means of inoculation with his microbe are less liable than others not inoculated to catch the disease naturally by infection—that is to say, he claims to be able to render animals to a certain extent immune against foot-and-mouth disease.

The Prussian government has employed every means at its disposal for the last eighteen months to discover the microbe responsible for foot-and-mouth disease, but without success, and several representatives of the ministry for the interior were present when Doctor Siegel read his paper.

You'll Sleep More Soundly If You Keep Healthy With Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

The man or woman with a good appetite, sound digestion, and bowels and kidneys working right, is never troubled much with sleeplessness. It is when the bowels become constipated and the liver and kidneys sluggish that the trouble begins.

Lazy liver and constipated bowels quickly bring on biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, making a sound, refreshing night's sleep impossible. Or the excessive kidneys allow the blood to become loaded with uric acid, which causes rheumatism, with all its accompanying aches and pains.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, taken regularly, induce sweet and dreamless sleep, relieve all these troubles, the organs become healthy, the blood purified and perfect health returns.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been a favorite household remedy in Canada for over half a century, and they are in daily use throughout the world. Being purely vegetable they are safe for young and old. Made by W. H. Connerick Co., Ltd., Brockville, Ont., and sold by all dealers at 25c a box.

WAS 26 YEARS IN THE GALLEYS

Pardon for Good Conduct Comes to Man Who Committed Brutal Murder

Milan, Dec. 15.—One of the grimmest murder stories of modern times enters into the life history of Antonio Tozzi, a butcher from the Abruzzi Mountains, to whom the King of Italy has just granted a free pardon for good conduct after spending more than twenty-six years in the galleys.

Antonio, in partnership with his father, owned the principal meat depot in Montetorodone, where his pretty sister Carolina was being courted by a 19-year-old youth named Poggi. Letting the two families interested in the courtship a feud arose and waxed so fierce that Tozzi and his son dragged the victim by the hair to a suburban slaughter-house, on the pretext of showing him some fine animals recently killed. On hearing his father's footsteps in the rear Antonio, approaching his sister's sweetheart from behind, dealt her a terrific blow on the back of the head with a huge hammer used for filling bullocks. Poggi dropped unconscious and Antonio dragged the victim by the hair to a block, where he severed the head, the father holding the body overboard by the waist till every drop of blood had been drained into the path. The murderers then proceeded to mutilate the corpse.

Carrying away portions of the victim in a basket and burying the same at nightfall on the hillside proved their undoing. Evidence of the tragedy. The father died before the trial was finished, but Antonio, who had stoutly protested his innocence, made a clean breast of the crime after he had been condemned to lifelong imprisonment.

MOTOR CAR IN A MURDER MYSTERY

French Police Run Crows Down to Nothing—False Number Was Used on Car

Paris, Dec. 15.—A motor car bearing the registration number 701-S2 plays a prominent part in a strange murder mystery which the French police are now investigating. On Monday morning a gamekeeper patrolling a wood between Melun and Montfermeil, (forty miles from Paris) heard two shots fired, apparently on an adjacent road. Instead of finding the poachers he expected to encounter he made a remarkable discovery. A man wearing a motor cap and overcoat was heading over a big granite in the snow.

Near by stood a large motor-car with a steering wheel, disappeared at a furious rate. The gamekeeper, however, was able to note the number of the car.

The man on the ground had been shot and was at his last gasp, and all around him the snow was red with blood. On being transported to the nearest doctor he expired after murmuring a few words in Italian which those present did not understand.

The mysterious motor-car was subsequently found abandoned by the roadside in the village street of Mosay, a few miles away. The villagers saw the machine break down, and its occupant, whose description tallies with that of the man the gamekeeper saw, after vainly trying to start the engine, walked to the railway station of Leussaint, where all trace of him was lost.

It has now been discovered that the car bore a false number for 701-S2 belongs to a motor and cycle agent in Rouanne, on the road to Lyons, who was using his car at the moment that the abandoned machine was found. Nothing is known about the supposed murderer or the dead man. Inquiries at a Paris tailoring establishment, where the clothes found on the body were made, showed that the victim's name is Mandino, but nothing is known of such a person at the address he gave to the tailors. Robbery can hardly have been the motive of the crime, for nearly $100 was found on the body.

The police believe that the murderer was an anarchist who lived in Lyons and made a specialty of stealing bicycles and motor-cars, changing their appearance and selling them. Probably the men were accomplices and had brought off a coup and quarrelled over the plunder.

WIZARD EDISON SHOWS ARMY OFFICERS NEW INVENTION.

OFFICERS AND MARINES AT EDISON PLANT, ORANGE.

Thomas A. Edison and his engineering corps, at West Orange, N. J., were hosts a few days ago to two hundred men from the Brooklyn Navy Yard, who are in the electrical class there. The sailors saw demonstrations of the new storage battery for use in submarines, a recent invention by Mr. Edison, to prevent explosions in under-water craft.

The tests of the new device were conducted by William R. Hutchinson, chief engineer of the works and Mr. Edison's personal representative. Commander George P. Cooper, U. S. N., headed the delegation.

IN THE NATIONAL GALLERY

London, Dec. 15.—The King has lent to the National Gallery his panel of "Two Saints" by Pesellino, and also the portrait of "The Shipbuilder and His Wife" by Rembrandt. The loan will be extended until January 28.

The former picture is placed to the left of the "Trinity," by Pesellino's great altar piece. Above are two panels of angels, which also formed part of the original composition. That on the left has been lent by Lady Henry Somerset, and the right by the Countess Brownlow.

The group is hung in Room 11 at Trafalgar Square. The Rembrandt is placed in Room XIII. The "Trinity" (which is in the form of a cross) was purchased for the nation at the Davenport Bromley sale in 1893 for $10,000. The trustees have also accepted from Earl Cathcart the loan for a period of not less than two years, of his portrait by Romney of Louis Cathcart, Countess Mansfield. This picture has been hung in Room XXI.

Will power and won't power are much alike.

ALLAN, LARKIN AND O'BRIEN

Dublin, Dec. 15.—The anniversary of the execution of Allan, Larkin, and O'Brien was celebrated in Dublin by a procession through some of the principal streets to St. Stephen's Green, where a monument to the three men was unveiled. The monument is a cross erected. The procession was much larger than those of recent years, owing to the presence of a large contingent of the Irish Transport Workers' Union, who were accompanied by James Larkin, members of the A. S. H. Ribbonmen, the National Foresters and other bodies.

Having entered the cemetery the processionists filed past the cenotaph of Allen, Larkin, and O'Brien and graves of Stephens, O'Leary, McManus, and other Fenians, on which wreaths were deposited.

GREEK STORE COMBINE TO PAY CHURCH DEBT

Eighty-five Montreal Confectioners United to Buy Supplies and Donate Half Profits

(Montreal Herald) A remarkable combination has been effected among the Greek confectionery stores of the city, and manufacturers are viewing the innovation with amazement, very strongly tinged with respect.

The Greeks have formed an association by means of which they intend sending in lump orders for the goods used in their stores, placing the order with the manufacturer who can give them the best terms.

As there are eighty-five Greek confectionery stores in Montreal, many of them doing a big business, the extent of the scheme may well come as a surprise.

These stores consume about $400,000 worth of cream alone in a single year, so the interest of the supply men and manufacturers is easily understood. The fortunate firm that gets business on such a scale may well come in as lucky.

The order for cream has not been placed yet, but the order for cocoa has. It was placed a few days ago for 60,000 pounds, at a price of between $20,000 and $23,000. A Toronto firm got it.

The way in which the scheme began is a credit not only to the business ability of the Greeks, but to their devotion.

About a year and a half ago, they built a church in St. Lawrence street, behind Prince Arthur street, at a cost of about $25,000. This was being paid for mostly by the merchants. There was still about $15,000 of a debt, when some of the business men got together among them, Geo. Nicholas, H. Palos, Z. Demitri, P. G. Demitri and K. Metrolis and devised the following plan: They would buy supplies cooperatively, pocket half the reduction thus obtained, and use the other half to pay off the debt of the church.

The plan met with everyone's approval, and a committee was appointed to put it into operation. They found it worked so well that they have now formed an organization and will take out incorporation papers next year.

They will establish a sinking fund to meet emergencies, (failure among members, etc.) and practically all general supplies will be purchased by the association.

"We try as much as possible to patronize Canadian manufacturers," said Mr. Nicholas today.

The scheme is, I think, going to be a great success," added Mr. Nicholas. "We will not only pay for our church, but it is a most excellent business arrangement, which we intend to continue."

IRELAND'S FISHERIES

Dublin, Dec. 15.—The annual report on the sea and inland fisheries of Ireland just issued, states that the quantity of sea fish (excluding salmon and shell fish) landed in Ireland during the year 1910, was greater than that of any of the last eleven years, and amounted to more than 22,000 tons, of the estimated value of $1,282,500.

The salmon trade, which has been in a most unsatisfactory condition. The salmon at trout fisheries appear to have been even less productive than in the previous year. No sign of disease was observed.

GOVERNMENT PLANS

Military Projects Include Militia School Here - Hudson Bay Railway Change

Ottawa, Dec. 14.—Colonel Hughes is proceeding with his programme for the militia. In addition to the new barracks at Toronto he also is preparing to promptly carry out the plan of his predecessor, Sir Frederick Borden, for new militia quarters at Montreal, Ottawa and other centres.

At Montreal $300,000 will be spent on new barracks on the St. Lambert secured last spring by the late government. A permanent corps will be established there.

The minister has also inaugurated a reform in regard to the annual schools of instruction for officers and non-commissioned officers. Hitherto these schools have been held at a comparatively few fixed points through the dominion, and in some districts the men have to travel considerable distances to reach them. Under the new arrangement the instructors will do most of the travelling, and the schools will be held at the officers' most points instead of compelling the officers to leave their places of residence to go to the schools.

The first of the schools of instruction will open in St. John on January 1.

Lieut.-Col. Hardin has been appointed inspector of arms and ammunition for the dominion as a new office.

The government has under consideration the enlargement of the Hudson Bay railway scheme to include an extension of the projected line westward from LaPaz, the present starting point of the railway, through Milfort or some point in that neighborhood to Saskatoon. The late government had this in view and would have eventually constructed a through line from Saskatoon to Port Nelson.

The minister of railways, Hon. Frank Cochrane, and the western members of the cabinet are understood to be impressed with the desirability of having the western terminus of the line at a central point in Saskatchewan, such as Saskatoon, where all the western lines converge, so that all LaPaz which now is only the terminus of what is practically only a branch line of the C. N. R.

"SALT RHEUM"

Had It On Hands For Two Years.

ITCHED SO DID NOT KNOW WHAT TO DO.

Tried Three Doctors and Went to Hospital.

All skin diseases are more or less occasioned by a bad state of the blood, and no one can expect to be free from some form or other of skin trouble, unless the blood is kept in good shape. All skin diseases can be very easily cured by the wonderful blood cleansing properties of Burdock Blood Bitters.

This is due to the unexcelled purifying action of Burdock Blood Bitters on the blood, coupled with the thoroughness in which it cleanses and expels the impurities from the body.

Mrs. Richard Couture, White Head, Que., writes: "I have been bothered with salt rheum, on my hands, for two years, and it itched so I did not know what to do. I tried three doctors, and even went to Montreal to the hospital without getting any relief. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got three bottles, and before I had the second used I found a big change, and now to-day I am cured."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for about 35 years and is manufactured only by The T. Millbrae Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HOTEL LIQUOR CASE

Statements of Interest by Court in Imposing Fine of $5

That all barrooms must be exposed to full view from the streets was the judgment given by Magistrate Ritchie in the police court yesterday afternoon in which he found the Dufferin Hotel guilty of a violation of the liquor law in this respect and imposed a fine of $5. In giving his judgment the magistrate laid down the principle that the present liquor license law, unlike the old, made no distinction between an ordinary liquor saloon and a hotel bar. There was but one law for both and that law made it necessary for the bars to be so placed and constructed that citizens passing through the streets could get "not a half a quarter, a part, but a full view of them."

As the proprietors of the Dufferin Hotel were guilty of a technical violation of the law, said he would not impose the full penalty of the law on them but would make the fine $5. He pointed out that for every day a liquor license business was not conducted according to the law—that is, not having the barrooms exposed to full public view—the proprietors were liable to a fine of $5. The fines in the run of a month would aggregate $150. He said that in future those who did not carry on their business in accordance with the law would "have to look out."

"Why should there be a full view," the magistrate asked, in answering his question, he said: "The sensible, reasonable and legal answer is that in order that the father, brother, wife, sister and employer might be able to see the man, father, husband, brother or employee in the bar. Moreover, in order that an interested or drunkard may be seen in the bar, if that is the intention nothing can be accomplished unless there is a full view of the bar." The law was not passed for mere title curiosity. In addition to affecting the liquor dealer it also had a pathetic side to it, since it was in the interest of the home, order and sobriety.

In referring to this magistrate said: "Sometimes ago a liquor dealer sued a man in the city court for liquor purchased. The liquor dealer showed where the man purchased sixty cents worth of liquor one day, forty cents another day, and like amounts. I inquired of the liquor man if he knew whether or not the man had any income and he replied yes. I then asked him if his income amounted to $300 and he replied no. Well, I said, I receive $300 and I cannot afford to be spending money in rum. I trust then that a law will be passed making it impossible for a liquor dealer to sell rum on credit, or for a promissory note, or the like, to enforce the payment of it."

The case against Mrs. Elizabeth Cronin, charged with having two doors in her bar in German street was heard in the police court yesterday afternoon. H. D. Forbes appeared for the defense and A. A. Wilson for the prosecution. The matter was allowed to stand over until two o'clock to-day.

WHOLESALE PRICES WERE FIRM

The Canadian department of labor index number of wholesale prices for November shows that about the same level was maintained during the past month as in October, though prices are considerably higher than at the same time in 1910. The index is 100.8 for November, compared with 101.3 for the preceding month, and 122.0 in November 1910. Over two hundred and fifteen articles, carefully selected to represent the entire field of Canadian produce and consumption, are included in these calculations.

The numbers represent in each case percentage of the average price level prevailing during the decade 1890-1899, the period selected as the standard of comparison. The detailed figures show that the chief feature of the price movement during November was a continuance of the upward trend of grains and dairy products, with a drop in animals and meats. Miscellaneous foods, especially canned goods, flour and sugar, were higher, but textiles were slightly lower owing to a fall in cotton. Under paints and oils, turpentine dropped but linseed oil advanced. Pulp and rubber were lower.

SUSSEX ELECTIONS.

Sussex Record.—There have been no new developments in civic election matters during the last week. So far there is only one fight in sight, that for Alderman-at-large. It is hardly likely that there will be any further nominations for the ward seats or for mayor.

WHOLE TOWN UNDER A ROOF

Two Hundred Flats and 300 Bachelor Apartments and 1000 People

London, Dec. 14.—An immense building to be erected at Clapham Junction. This building is to be in itself a town, and the architect, J. S. Sibson, has explained the scheme to a representative of the London Standard.

There are two tendencies observable, he says, in the cities of today. One is for people to live in large groups in large tracts of country, the other is for them to be gathered together in immense buildings near their work. The Clapham scheme is to carry out the latter alternative.

There is at present no great distributing center for the south of London. People have at present to go to Covent Garden market. Clapham Junction, with all its converging railway lines, is an excellent spot for a center and the sub-basement of the building will be a great market that will serve the whole of South London. The London and North Western railway is to run a siding right into the building so that there will be every facility for the cheap and speedy centralization and distribution of supplies.

Above the underground market there will be an arcade running right round the building with large shops on each side. It is hoped that a universal store, such as Harrods, or Whiteleys, or Selfridges, may take the shop floor.

Above the shops will be five floors containing 200 flats, ranging in size from two to five rooms, and 300 bachelor apartments of one room each. Each flat will have its own telephone and its own bathroom. At the top of the building and covering its entire area, will be a glass-covered roof garden, with a skating rink, children's playground and band stand. The center of the building will be occupied by club premises for men and women, with restaurant, gymnasium, concert halls and other rooms. The rooms will be let furnished and the rents will include membership of the club, electric lighting and heating and the keeping of the rooms clean and in order by the building staff of attendants.

The rent will average about 22 shillings ($2.88) a room with a reduction in the case of the large flats. It is calculated that 1,000 people will live in this building, which will be commenced in about two months' time. The cost of the structure itself will be $800,000 but this will include the furnishing of all internal fittings. This is the first building of its kind to be erected in any city of the world.

C. P. R. DESPATCHING BY TELEPHONE IN WEST

Calgary, Alta., Dec. 14.—The entire Canadian Pacific railway, west from the great lakes to the Pacific coast, will be equipped with a telephone train despatching system within a short time, and before a few weeks have passed that portion of the line between Swift Current and Pelly will be operated by telephonic train despatching apparatus.

At the present time all the despatching on the main line between Calgary and Pelly (R. C.) is being done by telephone. The system is working splendidly and it is the intention of the company to project the telephone lines east, to Medicine Hat, where it will connect up with the link now in operation between that place and Swift Current.

Other links are now in operation in British Columbia, and the line between Swift Current and Winnipeg is being connected up, according to General Superintendent Price.

The Weak, Lame, Aching Back Comes From The Kidneys.

Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo.

On the first sign of backache Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken immediately so as to avoid years of suffering from kidney trouble.

They go right to the seat of the trouble, help the delicate organs of the kidneys and make their action regular and natural.

Mrs. Joseph Thompson, Upper Grand Butte, N.B., writes: "I cannot speak too well of Doan's Kidney Pills. For two years I was so sore and burdened, and I got up more tired than when I went to bed, and my back was so lame I could hardly straighten up. I took different kinds of medicine, but none of them did me any good until a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I did so, and to-day I don't know what it is to be tired, and my lame back is all gone. I can recommend them to any person suffering with lame back and that terrible tired feeling."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Millbrae Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

When ordering direct specify "Doan's."

WHY Fort Fraser, B. C. Is a Sterling Investment

FORT FRASER, B. C. is in closest communication with the four corners of the Province. It is situated 225 miles east of Prince Rupert, 225 miles west of Yellow Head Pass, 450 miles south of the British Columbia-Yukon boundary, 350 miles north of the British Columbia-United States boundary, directly on the old Telegraph Trail, which extends from Quesnel, B. C., to Dawson, Yukon Territory.

FORT FRASER, B. C. is the natural and only feasible western gateway for the outlet of the traffic from the great Interior country and the Northwest Territories.

FORT FRASER, B. C. will be the base of operations for the industrial and commercial development of over ten million acres of prospective agricultural land, adjacent to which are immediately rich mineral lands, including gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, iron and coal deposits; a total area large and productive enough to support a population of millions.

FORT FRASER, B. C. will soon be an advantageous location for the meat packer, the creamery or dairy man, the shoe, harness and saddlery manufacturer, the woolen mill, the tannery and steel plant, the saw mill, the cannery, the grain elevator and many other industries.

FORT FRASER, B. C., at an elevation of 2,200 feet above sea level, has a climate second to none; it has an inexhaustible supply of good pure water, and near by may be developed almost unlimited water power. The townsite is a beauty spot; surrounded by water on three sides. In the country round about wild game is plentiful, and the lakes and streams are alive with fish. The rainfall is ample, but not excessive. In summer the weather is dry and warm; in winter it is cold and calm, with a comparatively light snowfall.

FORT FRASER, B. C., has relinquished to the British Columbia Government, according to requirements of law, one-quarter of the entire townsite, which portion has been regularly deeded to His Majesty the King, and is now held as property of the Crown.

FIGHTING THE WHITE PLAGUE

(London Daily Telegraph.) Health, to supply such medical assistance, facilities, and articles as may be necessary for detecting pulmonary tuberculosis, for preventing the spread of infection, and for removing predisposing conditions. The local authorities are also empowered to appoint any necessary additional officers, and in considering in what ways they can best aid in the control, treatment, and prevention of the disease, they should carefully take account of existing agencies.

Proposals recently laid before parliament have, it is pointed out, considerably altered the financial aspect of the problem. Under the Finance and National Insurance Bill it is proposed that a capital sum of £1,500,000 should be made available for grants for the provision of sanatoria, and other institutions. The National Insurance Bill, if it is added, also makes provision for defraying expenses of sanatorium treatment of insured persons, and, to extend this treatment to the dependants of the insured.

POSITION OF PATIENTS Notification, it is acknowledged, is capable of association with disabilities and discomforts involving no hardship to an adult suffering from an infectious disease like typhoid fever, but limited want of intelligence, in many instances to phthisical patients. Tuberculosis of the lung is usually a chronic disease, not disabling the patient, it may be, from pursuing his ordinary work while the ability to convey infection is limited and intermittent, and the disease can be prevented by the patient himself, when not incapacitated, practicing elementary precautions.

It is this difference from the infectious diseases already made noticeable which is the basis of the board's administrative policy in regard to pulmonary tuberculosis. The fact that the patient may be trained to the point of ceasing to be a source of infection and thus be subjected to no disability, should be made clear to him in the interests of society and of himself; and it is for this reason the board say, that education must occupy an important place in the campaign against the disease.

The circular adds that it is unnecessary and undesirable that notification should involve publicity, and no doubt is entertained but that pain or annoyance to patients or their friends will be avoided in the measures taken by local authorities and their officers. Strong emphasis is laid on the necessity of regarding as strictly confidential documents for whose custody the medical officer of health is personally responsible, any records which may be kept in relation to persons notified.

The remainder of the circular deals with the directions regarding the duties of medical officers under the new order, which also makes provision for effective co-operation between sanitary and local education authorities as regards the inspection of school children.

The order, which is to be regarded as supplementary, and in some respects extending, the poor law and hospital regulations already issued, comes into operation on January 1 next.

Some men imagine they can get what they want only by fighting for it.

SCOTCH CURLERS

The Men of the Team and Some Facts About Each

(Montreal Star Glasgow Correspondent) Of the members of the team, the captain, Colonel S. G. H. Robertson-Aikman, deserves first notice. He is colonel of the 4th Battalion Highland Light Infantry, of which His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, is Honorary Colonel. He lives at "The Ross" Hamilton, is a member of the Hamilton Curling Club and has a record as a years.

Andrew Blair, who has done a great deal to organize the team, and is to act as secretary during the tour, is by profession a public works contractor in Glasgow, but he lives in Dunfermline, and is a member of Aberfoyle Club as well as of several others. He is one of the most popular and most capable of Scottish players and has been well-known, both at home and in Switzerland, for a long time.

A. C. Riddell, wine merchant, Glasgow, and of the Glasgow Northern Club, is one of the most familiar figures in Scottish curling circles. He has been at Switzerland every year since the International Bonspiel was instituted in 1905, and he assisted the Canadian rink which won the International Bonspiel at Villars in 1909.

T. B. Murray, farmer, Biggar, is a son of a famous curler, R. G. Murray, of Spilthorn, Biggar. He is one of the leading curlers in the Upper Ward of Lanarkshire, and he is a member of the Biggar club, but he is a great connoisseur, and as the Biggar is one of the most famous of Scottish clubs.

James Telford, a native of Moffat, though he is now a merchant in Newcastle, and is a member of the Newcastle Club. He is known practically wherever curling is known, and his rink has won on two occasions the Scottish National Club Championship at the Glasgow Ice Rink, in addition to many other honours.

Of Ex-Provost Gordon of Balgait, it is hardly necessary to write in a Canadian paper. He was exceedingly popular as a member of the Scottish team which toured Canada in 1907-8, and when the Canadian team visited Scotland in 1909 he set himself to play with them wherever they went, and to play with them against them, and to see that they were highly entertained. He should be a favorite in Canada this season.

Major Campbell of the 16th Lancers, may now be found at the Cavalry Barracks, Norwich, or at the mess of the Burton club, but he is a Scotch all rounder, and a good curler as well.

Robert Allan, estate factor, Whitburn, is one of the best known public men in Lanarkshire, and is a member of most of the public bodies in the county.

James Hamilton, James Kimmons was the leading player in "Donald of Kilpauers" rink, which won the Harrogate cup and other high honours at Glasgow last year.

Robert Wardrop, of Wishaw, a member of the famous ambulance club is a decided acquisition to the Scottish side of the team. While a first-rate curler, he is likely to be remembered also as a fine story teller and the kind of man who makes all in his neighborhood happy.

The two Patrick men, J. Guthrie Kennedy, contractor, and George Welford, wine merchant, have been leading players, both at home and in Switzerland for many years.

Along with Mr. Blair, the secretary, James E. Bell, farmer, Glenislag and W. J. Brewster Grant, civil engineer, Glasgow, may be said to represent Perthshire in the team. As players they would all be credited to any club.

The representatives of Grey Galloway, the country of Crockett and the Riders, are two worthy farmers, John Henderson and Hugh Solomon, both of Newton Stewart, and both members of the Penninghame Club.

William Brown, house painter, Glasgow, and Andrew Mitchell, master builder, Glasgow, are two of the best players on Glasgow's artificial ice rink. Both have been seen on the ice in Switzerland.

R. Connell, Master Joiner, Lockwood, and James Y. Keane, contractor and curling stone manufacturer, Johnstone, are a pair of first-rate curlers from Lockwood, such clubs.

Two players who have figured in many a contest and have taken high honours at Carabreck (the Scottish curling Mecca) on many occasions are Alexander Douglas, iron founder, Bathgate, and George Wolfe, manufacturer, Bathgate. They will assist Ex-Provost Gordon to uphold the honor of his town.

A quartette of good curlers—from the west this time—is John McLeod, auctioneer, Bridge of Weir; Belle Bennett, a worthy magistrate of the Burgh of Greenock; Alex. Aikhead, also a Greenock man; and Andrew Brown, of Hamilton.

Pie has also one representative—James Cameron, farmer, Glaston Main, near Largo. He is an able player, but he stands for a large curling county, and so will require to miss none of his opportunities.

John Lawrie, who signs himself as a member of the St. Moritz Club, but he is a real Scot, and one of the best of the curlers who go to Switzerland.

John F. Ross, hotelkeeper, Arrol, is another well-known Scotch-Swiss, and T. A. R. Sheriff is a well-known player in Glasgow, and a good curler as well.

This brings the strength of the team to thirty-two, which will allow the players to arrange themselves, for unofficial matches, of course, the team will play six rinks of five men each. Of the thirty-two men, eleven have been playing at different times—several of them every year—in the International Bonspiel in Switzerland.

And to wind up the team are to be accompanied by Pipe-Major William Ross, of Colonel Robertson-Aikman's regiment, so that they will have music wherever they go of the kind always associated with Scotland and Scotlandmen. Besides—and this had better be kept dark meantime—two of the team are to have their wives with them, and several gentlemen friends are to be of the party, so that, while we believe that they are to devote themselves wholly to curling, we may be pardoned for hoping that the dominion curlers need not cancel any of their social engagements just yet. They had better—in the immortal words of the British Prime Minister, "Wait and See."

NOW FROM THE NORTHLAND

Brewster Baxton, an Ontario runner who was sent down from Saskatoon to run in the St. Kitt's New Year's day race, is a strong moral.

St. Kitt's race so he is going to do his running at Burlington on Christmas Day.

Another good picture bill is promised by the Unique management for Friday and Saturday, consisting of comedy, drama, and western feature. The comedy shows a young Dutchman, who loses his bride a few hours after their wedding. The Three Bell Game is described as an unusual piece of a tramp's adventure in the west, dealing with his life love story and his dreams. The Five Rose Sisters, as the name implies, deals with the affairs of a team of dancing sisters, who left a leavely abandon the stage and attempt to find their identity and stage life upon a farm.

The comedy drama, "The Indian's Pride" in which the cunning of a treacherous band of rappers is pitted against that of a noble young man who has more than a thought. A domestic comedy, "Mother is Sympathy on Hyacinth" is very laughable in that it shows what may be done under hygienic influence with a rebellious husband and others. "Logging in Sweden," and "A Funeral in Aunam" are two instructive subjects, while in the Kaleidoscope, "A Framer of Mexico," with Miss Alice Joyce playing the leading role, a gripping drama of the south during the war time is depicted, intermingled with touching love scenes and ending in happiness.

THE STAR. A programme of pictures full of real theatrical spirit is announced for the theatre, north end, for the balance of the week. Miss Florence Lawrence, who has been a leading light in the moving picture shows will appear with the Lubin company in the picture entitled "The Rebellious Valentine." This is said to be a very funny comedy. Two dramas will also be shown by the Vitaphone and Essanay companies respectively: "The Quest for Gold" and "The Sheriff's Brother." Master Fairbairn, boy soprano, will sing the popular rag time number "Laugh out for Jimmy Valentine." A big matinee is promised for the children on Saturday when gifts suitable for Christmas will be given to every boy and girl with tickets. Monday and Tuesday the Star will show "The Tale of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company arrived from St. John last night. They left this morning by I. C. R. for Napadogan on an inspection trip.

SPORT NEWS OF A DAY; HOME AND ABROAD

Hockey

Sussex Record.—Two well known local hockeyists, Percy Courtenay and George Fenwick have accepted positions in Springfield and will reside there in future. Both are excellent stick handlers and played on the local team for a number of years. They will be greatly missed by the home team this winter and their leaving will make a big hole in the forward line and defence.

The Ring

Attell's Eye On Title. Striving for dual titles by fighters has become quite the fashion these days. Mike Gibbons started the craze. Now Abraham Attell is out for lightweight honors. Attell has beaten all the likely men in the featherweight class, and finds no more prospective victims in sight. Hence his recent signature to a contract to fight One Round Hogan on Dec. 15 at the Madison A. C.

"It may seem strange to fight fans that I have jumped the featherweight hurdle and landed among the lightweight class, but really there was no other move to make."

I consider the crop of lightweights, with the exception of Wolgast and McFarland, easy marks.

Baseball

Diamond Sparks. Nobody seems to be willing to state anything about the reports that George Moriarty may be secured by the Red Sox from the Tigers. Still it is common talk.

Fred Clarke has signed with Barney Dreyfus to manage the Pirates for three years. Fred announced that he will never play again, but will run his team from the bench.

Clarke Griffith wants to secure Jack Knight to play first base for Washington, and is ready to offer the New York club a good stiff piece of money.

Detroit has refused to waive on Kid Elberfeld.

Jimmy McAleer was red-hot after George McBride, but Griffith said that there was not a chance in the world of the great Senator shortstop getting away from Washington.

John Ganzel is hustling for new talent. He has sold nine of his champions to date. The Yankees got McConnell, Osborne and Simmons, while Washington has secured Foster, the ex-Yankee, Spencer and Moeller.

Charley Hemphill is acting for the Atlanta club, of which he has just signed as manager.

Charles Dooin says that he will not allow Horse Fogel to trade him. He says that he will carry case to the civil courts to prevent such a move.

The Lesser Evil

A medico tells of two physicians in a certain town, the one elderly, with a long record of cures, the other young, with his name still to come. The older doctor, it appears, was inclined to surrender some of his night work to the younger man.

"Very well," replied the doctor, thinking to put a convincing argument before them, "in that case my fee is two guineas, payable now."

"Whereupon there ensued a remonstrance on the part of the former; but the doctor was obstinate. Finally one of the men asked the other: "Well, what do you think I ought to do?"

"I think you had better pay him the two guineas," said the other. "The funeral would cost you more."

OF INTEREST HERE. La Marquis de Fautonomy, in the Times some days ago wrote of a coming wedding which turns out to be of interest in St. John, as members of both of the families are well known here. The bridegroom will be Edward Cowles, son of the late David H. Cowles, who was president of the Peppercorn Paper and Paper company, which owns large lumber tracts and operates three large mills in this country. The bride will be Miss Vera Elliott, daughter of Sir Arthur Bowtell Elliott Bart, who is a cousin of Captain Gerald O. R. Elliott, assistant marine superintendent of the C. P. W. who is here for the winter season. The wedding will take place in New York.

ENTERTAINED BY SENATOR ELLIS. The employees of the Globe assembly, at the house of Hon. J. V. Ellis last evening in order to congratulate him on attaining his fiftieth year as editor of that paper, and were entertained by Senator and Mrs. Ellis. A programme of speeches, musical numbers and recitations was carried out, and supper was served. As the guests were leaving, souvenirs in the shape of the Globe were presented to each of the Globe fifty years ago and at present were distributed.

WOULDN'T HAVE IT. A red-headed man met a bald-headed man in the street one day. The red-headed man said to the bald-headed man: "Huh! they don't seem to have much hair where you come from."

"Oh, yes," replied the bald-headed man, "there was plenty of hair, but it was all red and I wouldn't have it."

SAYS HE WAS ROBBED OF ROLL OF $700

Scotchman From West on Way Home for Christmas Visited Bars and Lost His Money

A young Scotchman, John Laird, who arrived in the city yesterday from the west, will have cause to regret his folly in visiting some of the "ret-shops" along Mill street during his visit, because in so doing he indulged too freely, and according to his own story, he awakened in the morning to find a vacant lot, supposed to be in Lower Cove, he was minus $700, his savings during three years he has been toiling in the prairie provinces. He was on his way to his old home across the sea, where a wife and three children were anxiously awaiting his home-coming, which would be just about Christmas eve. Laird told a policeman this morning that he first visited a cigar store, and then two bar-rooms in Mill street. In the latter he treated four or five loungers, who were gathered there, and became very friendly with them, and invited him to have a peep at the city before taking passage on the S. S. Empress of Ireland today. He recalls having been taken to a more respectable place, where he had more houses of liquid refreshment along the way, but remembers nothing more until his awakening late in the afternoon in a lot near a wharf when his roll was missing from his waist.

MRS. ALEX. R. TORRIE OF MONCTON IS DEAD; BRIDE OF SIX MONTHS

Was Only 20 Years Old—School Board Takes up Sanitary Drinking Methods in Schools

(Special to Times) Moncton, N. B., Dec. 15.—Mrs. Torrie, wife of Alex. R. Torrie, manager of the Grand Opera house, died last evening in the city hospital of pneumonia after a short illness. She had been married only about six months, and was only twenty years of age. She was a daughter of Geo. McEwen, of Moncton. She had a large circle of friends. The matter of sanitary drinking methods in the public schools is engaging the attention of the Moncton school board. A more modern system than the common drinking mug is being sought. The Moncton bankers' bank ball team returned this morning from Sussex, where they defeated the Sussex team last night 10 to 6. Work on the construction of the Moncton street railway has been stopped for the winter and Foreman Chit left this morning for his home in England. He will return in the spring.

GOLDBERGS FREED

Unexpected Ending of Case in The Police Court Today

Morris Israel and Hyman Goldberg, three members of the firm of M. Goldberg & Son who were arrested with reference to the case of their business as junk dealers as ordered by the law, were this morning freed from the Bank of British North America, C. F. Inches for the creditors and B. L. Gerow for the defence. F. R. Taylor at the beginning of the case informed the court on behalf of the counsel for the prosecution, that they decided not to proceed further with the case, as for the Bank of B. N. A. they had decided not to press the charge further. He asked that, as the free had been in jail some days, they be allowed their liberty on entering into their own recognizance. His Honor said that before the men were allowed to go A. P. Hasen manager of the Bank of B. N. A. and C. F. Inches, acting for the creditors, who laid the information, would have to sign a paper stating that they had no objection to submit in the case and that they were willing to allow the matter to drop. This was done and the three were allowed to go. The case was a very interesting one. The firm was doing a junk business at Rec's Point and about a month ago assigned for the benefit of their creditors. The case came up in the court and considerable difficulty was experienced in getting the witnesses sworn out for the arrest of the three. Hyman, the youngest of the trio was taken into custody in St. Stephen. Israel was arrested at Glace Bay, and Morris was arrested here. In addition to the ending of the criminal proceedings it is understood that there has been a general settlement of the firm's affairs with the creditors.
