

CANADA AS A STATE SECOND REVOLUTION QUIETUS MADERO SECOND READING OF LOCAL BILLS

Witness in Contempt Sent to Tower

Miller Now Living on the Fat of the Land at People's Expense

Arraigned Before Bar of the House, Montreal Man Refuses to Answer Questions of Committee and is Promptly Ordered Under Arrest—Confinement Some-what of a Joke.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—For the first time in thirty years, Canada is entertaining a state prisoner. The order of the Speaker, following the motion of Mr. Middleboro, chairman of the public accounts committee, and with the concurrence of the government and majority of the house, R. C. Miller, of Montreal, former president of the Diamond Lighting & Heat Company, was committed to the custody of the sergeant-at-arms. The incident followed his definite refusal to answer questions put to him by the speaker.

When the house met this afternoon Mr. Miller was summoned to the bar of the house. Mr. Middleboro, who for the time being was seated next to Premier Borden, reported the refusal of the witness to state to whom he had paid his money. The order for the purpose of securing government contracts for his firm from 1907 to 1911. The witness had contended himself with the fact that the money was not paid to any minister, member or government official, and would go no further.

On his appearance at the bar, Mr. Miller requested representation by counsel, which the house granted. He was then joined at the bar by George Kidd in his counsel robes, and the speaker submitted the question of the witness's confinement.

"Mr. Speaker and members of the house of commons," replied Mr. Kidd, speaking in slow, distinct tones, "under the advice of counsel, my client refuses to answer the questions on the ground that such action might tend to incriminate him, and because they constitute an unwarranted interference with private business."

There was an awkward pause, and the government benches began to realize that they had a witness who could not be used against the witness in any other legal proceeding. He moved that the recalcitrant witness be taken in charge by the sergeant-at-arms, and that the speaker issue a warrant to that effect. "I'm not making this motion in the exact terms," he explained, "but I am prepared for it."

"Russia," exclaimed Mr. Gouvéan, amid more laughter and a chorus of "Noses" from the left. The motion carried on division. Whereupon the sergeant-at-arms led Mr. Miller away. He was housed temporarily in a room in the basement of the parliament building, standing guard at the door.

May Be an Expensive Guest.

Under a traditional power derived from medieval British custom, the witness can be sent to the tower, and there confined in the custody of the sergeant-at-arms all such time as he chooses to obey the order, or until the end of the parliamentary session. This is the extreme penalty, however it has been seen reserved to the history of Canada's parliament.

The tower room, designated primarily as an official dungeon, has through long years been converted into a committee room where the agricultural committee meets twice a week. It is a square room immediately under the tower with eight windows, and a door that opens to the windows, but the simple reason that they are not needed. Should a prisoner undertake to escape through them, he would have a stratagem for trying to get out of the cage of the pavement below. As a state prisoner, also, he becomes entitled to such privileges and comforts that he would have no inclination to leave behind us.

A state prisoner confined to the tower is accorded the special privilege of inviting a dozen guests to dine with him, and choosing his own men at the crown's expense. It is recorded that, some thirty years ago, Eugene Rouilland, in the public service at Quebec, was confined to the tower of the legislature for a similar offense. After two weeks, during which time he took full advantage of the privileges granted, he was released after the sum of $1,200 had been expended by the government in his entertainment.

A somewhat similar case was recently before the British house, in which a witness was asked to have a dinner with the members of the National Review, confined to the tower until he should divulge certain information in connection with the Marconi investigation. Premier Borden refused to have this done on the general principle that such a course was obsolete and would make the house ridiculous.

Miller Enjoying Himself.

Mr. Miller will sleep in the parliament building, but decline to discuss the parliamentary restaurant and spent some little time strolling around with his counsel, A. E. Harvey, K. C., of Montreal, and Capt. Bowie, the acting sergeant-at-arms, who has the custody of the recalcitrant witness and in accordance with tradition met all his requirements concerning accommodation, meals and privileges.

For some time this evening Mr. Miller and Mr. Harvey, who came down from Montreal to follow the case for his client, sat in the official gallery and listened to the debate in progress on the floor of the house. When interviewed, both gentlemen laugh and decline to discuss the case. "It is the government's next move and his bodies move slowly," commented the counsel with a smile.

Both Miller and his counsel appear to be enjoying the whole situation, and considerable speculation is going on as to how long parliament can and will now do a job of its own business.

CANADA WILL FIND HEROES IN PARLIAMENT

Gloating Tributes to Antarctic Expedition

Tuesday

LEMIEUX STARTS IT

Asks Premier, in Eloquent Words, if He Proposes to Join in Empire-Wide Testimonial—Premier Borden Cheerfully Acquiesces and Sir Wilfrid Delivers a Stirring Eulogy.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—Canada's parliament today paid appropriate tribute to the heroism and worth of brave Captain Scott and his comrades, who lost their lives in a scientific endeavor and research in the Antarctic region, and signified its intention of participating in the empire-wide response to the lamented officer's last message.

It was Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, the eloquent French-Canadian, who initiated the movement, and he was followed in brief and earnest speeches by Premier Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It was an impressive scene and when the old chief eloquently paid his glowing tribute to the great dead and touched with an inspiring gentleness the thought that British glory finds its most potent refuge in British sacrifices, every desk in the chamber rang with sympathetic applause.

"So we are proud, we British subjects," added Sir Wilfrid, "that in this day England is still the England of the past."

Hon. Mr. Lemieux.

Hon. Mr. Lemieux moved the adjournment of the house, under rule 39, which provided that the house may be taken for some matter of urgency.

"The world has been moved to its very depths," said he, "by the sad news which reached us a few days ago that Capt. Robert Scott and his brave companions had died in the unexplored solitudes of the south. The dainties of glory are no more, but the world honors the brave men and brave Britishers who found a glorious death in those unknown regions. The reverend Bible has been read to everyone with grief and pride, with grief because the sacrifice of worthy lives; with pride because the dearly-bought conquest bears tribute to the indomitable character of the British race, to the intrepidity, the resolution, the gallantry for endurance of the British people."

"The expedition of Capt. Scott, as the expedition of Franklin, was intended to be of service to humanity and I have no doubt that the records found, which served Scott as a pillow, will be hereafter of scientific interest to the world."

"We in Canada," continued Mr. Lemieux, "belong to the British Empire, and there is, I need not say, a feeling of solidarity and of fraternity between the component parts of the empire. We feel that the fate of the British Empire is our fate. French-Canadian I cannot forget that the British Empire participated in the tercentenary of another hero and explorer, the intrepid De Champlain."

Mr. Lemieux then read the house Scott's last appeal, and in a further eulogy referred to him as a worthy successor of Franklin, who had gone to point out to the British parliament through its prime minister had declared that that appeal would not fall upon deaf ears, and that the British parliament would be glad to help throughout the United Kingdom to help the bereaved families. He noticed by this stirring appeal and the noble and just declaration of the sergeant-at-arms, and he wished to suggest to the premier that Canada, rich and prosperous and oldest among the nations of the world, could well attempt to communicate with Diaz precipitated one of the ablest and most eloquent of the day. The fire from the rebel titles and machine guns was long sustained. It was by no means certain at that time that the coup which had been struck would be the afternoon of hostilities. At 3.30 in the afternoon the cannonading was on still heavier than before and the rattle of machine guns was heard. It was at that time that a man named San Francisco street was being cleaned by Huerta as he was executing an attack. A half hour later the battle was over.

Madero Overpowered.

A few loyal members of Madero's staff rushed into the room when Madero was men equal to the long line of heroes who had made the British navy famous all over the world.

He recalled the jibes which had been hurled at the British soldiers at the time of the beginning of the Boer wars. There may have been those who doubted if the British soldier of today would prove equal to the emergency which then confronted him," observed Sir Wilfrid, "but we are all glad and proud to remember that on this occasion the British soldier came up to the mark and proved himself equal to the high standard set by his forefathers, and then, when peace came, when the statesman had come in to bind the wounds, to efface the effects of that war, British statesmanship was found equal to the occasion and the problem which faced British statesmanship was solved in a manner which has struck the world with wonder by its magnanimity. So we are proud, we British subjects, to remember that, in this day, England is still the England of the past. (Prolonged applause.)

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that Mr. Lemieux had touched a chord which would be responsive in every Canadian heart. Next to the sense of honor naturally felt at the fate which had overtaken the Scott party, the one feeling, uppermost in the minds and hearts of all was that the bosom of the old Mother Country was not barren, that today and now she still produced existing circumstances, and it would appear that the government must incur a pretty bill at expense, or decide to relinquish the position."

"As I said nothing to parliament I hardly can be expected to talk to the press," Mr. Miller's smiling countenance said. He apparently quite determined that the house will make the next move.

Mexican President Arrested

Trusted General Seized Chief and Cabinet and Placed Them Under Guard—Plotted With Rebel Leader and Coup Was Carried Out—New Man in the Saddle and Fighting Has Ceased.

Mexico City, Feb. 18.—Francisco I. Madero has been forced out of the presidency. He was arrested at the National Palace before dawn, and this afternoon by General Blanquet, General Victoriano Huerta, commander of the federal troops, was proclaimed provisional president.

About the time Madero was seized by Blanquet, his brother, Gustavo Madero, the former minister of finance, was arrested by General Huerta, who was eating with him in a public restaurant.

All the members of the cabinet were promptly placed under arrest with exception of Enrique Madero, the uncle of the president, who held the portfolio of finance. He was apprised of the intentions of the government and managed to make his escape.

Notwithstanding the fact that some definite action was expected today, the coup d'état of the palace created a sensation and the exact status of affairs could not be ascertained for several hours.

Blanquet Plotted Against Madero.

The direct movement against Madero was the result of a plot which had been brewing since yesterday and which possibly existed with Blanquet for a much greater length of time.

From the first it had been known that General Blanquet was unwilling to fight. His men were not in the mood to help a command over them and it was not doubted that they would follow him in any adventure, which they did at the National Palace. The revolution, numbering 1,000 men, which arrived late yesterday, were sent immediately to the palace ostensibly to relieve the reserves there. The reserves were sent into the field.

An agreement between General Blanquet and Huerta was reached last night. The agreement was that Blanquet's men had of the new role they were to play was shortly before the successful stroke was made. "Blanquet delivered a stirring speech. 'This inhuman battle must end,' he said. 'The time has come when some dramatic means must be used to break the conflict in which father is killing son, brother is killing or fighting against brother, non-combatants are sharing the fate of war, and all the while the captive of one man.'

Blanquet then issued orders for the arrest of the president and assigned a detachment to that duty. Madero was soon a prisoner in his own rooms.

Joy Over Madero's Arrest.

One reason given for the attitude of General Blanquet from the beginning was the presence of his son in the ranks of Diaz. When the arrest of the president was made, a crowd gathered in the streets, through which they paraded, shouting "vivas" for Huerta and Diaz. A conference was held between the representatives of these two generals and an agreement was reached whereby the appointments of General Huerta to the provisional presidency was proclaimed.

Prior to this, however, Huerta's attempt to communicate with Diaz precipitated one of the ablest and most eloquent of the day. The fire from the rebel titles and machine guns was long sustained. It was by no means certain at that time that the coup which had been struck would be the afternoon of hostilities. At 3.30 in the afternoon the cannonading was on still heavier than before and the rattle of machine guns was heard. It was at that time that a man named San Francisco street was being cleaned by Huerta as he was executing an attack. A half hour later the battle was over.

A BRITISH MENACE

ALLEGED HEIR TO EVANS' MILLIONS DROPS DEAD

Highly Respected Business Man and Postmaster at Lorneville Passes Away Without Moment's Warning.

Wednesday, Feb. 19.

Robert Evans, postmaster at Lorneville, alleged to have been one of the direct heirs to the immense fortune left by Robert D. Evans, a rubber merchant, who died in Massachusetts some time ago, dropped dead about noon yesterday while he was talking to two friends. Mr. Evans was in the 61st year of his age, and was widely known throughout the lower provinces. For years he taught school in Lorneville and was known in the district as the "master." He had been in perfect health, it is said, up to yesterday, and he was considered a strong man. He is survived by his wife, four daughters and five sons.

Mr. Evans formerly belonged to Black River, but when he was a young man he settled in Lorneville. After giving up school teaching he opened a grocery store, and later he was appointed postmaster. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him and his sudden death came as a great shock.

Mr. Evans had worked as usual yesterday morning when he was found lying on the sidewalk in front of his store in company with Samuel Gibson and Samuel Cook. The three were just about to enter the store when Mr. Evans, who was walking up the road from his store in company with Samuel Gibson and Samuel Cook, without the least warning, dropped to the ground, dead. Dr. John McCarthy was summoned from Fairville.

It is believed that the cause of Mr. Evans' death was a heart attack. He was a man of a great personal bravery, and a friend of the elder Diaz. On account of his long services to the republic, he was highly respected by the army and well known throughout the republic. Felix Diaz, leader of the revolution, and General Huerta also had been good friends of the man who died.

General Huerta is described by attaches of the Mexican embassy as a military soldier of the type of former President Diaz, a man of great personal bravery, and a friend of the elder Diaz. On account of his long services to the republic, he was highly respected by the army and well known throughout the republic. Felix Diaz, leader of the revolution, and General Huerta also had been good friends of the man who died.

ST. JOHN BILLS

Among Them is One to Obtain Appointment of Police Chief

STAR CHAMBER WORK

It is Reported that the Government Will Do Most of Its Discussion of Measures in Caucus—Hamar Greenwood to Be Made New Brunswick Barrister by Special Act.

Fredericton, Feb. 18.—The house sat less than two hours this afternoon and adjourned till tomorrow. A number of bills were introduced and then the house went into committee on the rates and taxes measure, which is simply a consolidation of a lot of amendments to the act. It is a voluminous document and as the sections passed rapidly under the eye of the chairman there was an opportunity for new members to give an opinion or make a suggestion. There were but few minor changes made in the bill.

Hamar Greenwood, M. P. of England, is to be honored by the New Brunswick legislature by a special act creating him a barrister of the supreme court of this province.

The attorney-general, when introducing the bill, said some pleasant things about Mr. Greenwood, his ability, his Canadian birth and the promise that had been made by Hon. Mr. Hazen, when premier of New Brunswick, to specially honor him by creating him a barrister of the supreme court of this province.

The attorney-general, when introducing the bill, said some pleasant things about Mr. Greenwood, his ability, his Canadian birth and the promise that had been made by Hon. Mr. Hazen, when premier of New Brunswick, to specially honor him by creating him a barrister of the supreme court of this province.

The city of St. John is promptly on hand with its bill to vest the appointment of the chief of police in the hands of the city council of St. John. Mr. Tilley introduced the petition of the bill this afternoon, and if the standing rules permit, it is said, by the bill itself will come to the house tomorrow. There was a sort of understanding last year with the old legislature which the supporters of the commission charter rather insisted upon the appointment of its chief of police and recorder that if they dropped the chief of police section and found after a trial that they wished the appointment they could bring in a bill for that purpose.

Legislation by Caucus.

The great majority of the members of the house, some forty-six out of forty-eight, have spent far more time in private conversation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost seem as if the real deliberations of the government members are to be in private. One member expressed it tersely this morning when he said: "It is better to thrash out many things in caucus than in the assembly chambers. To have a consultation than in the legislative hall since the house opened. It would almost

PLEASE PUBLISH MY TESTIMONIAL

Other Sufferers Will Take Fruit-a-tives" and Be Red.

Heartfelt gratitude—prompted for Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

Madame Langlois writes as to "Fruit-a-tives" for restoring health and strength, that she glad her letter to be published.

AGRICULTURE

The Winter Care of Farm Machinery—A Problem Which Should Be Carefully Considered—Practices Which De-grade a Farmer.

The problem concerning farm machinery is not its initial cost, or the amount that should be maintained on a farm, but how long each machine lasts. The length of valuable service which a given machine renders is determined by the care given to it. The greater part of the loss sustained is due to neglect in caring for and housing the farm implements. If the exact loss in dollars could be given, it would be a great expense. The proper care for farm machinery while in the shop consists in having the machine in good repair and properly adjusted. All working parts should be well oiled and protected from dirt and rust, that are likely to find their way into the boxes and bearings.

The big loss of farm machinery, however, comes through maltreatment during the time the machines are not in use. Every machine before being put away for the season should be overhauled and all repairs and adjustments made. At this time it is always fresh in the operator's mind just what is needed for the next season's work. If it is impossible to do the work at once, at least make proper note of it. If this precaution is not taken, and the machine is stored, it is almost sure to be forgotten until wanted the next season. This means much waste time, when it can all be afforded.

Plow cultivators, shovels and the like rust out almost as fast as they wear out. The wear cannot be avoided but the rust can. Axle grease or grease of any kind is the remedy. All steel parts should be covered with this when they are put away in the autumn. Every farmer knows well enough how poorly the plow works when rusty, saying nothing about the economic loss. Any wooden parts of the implement should be given a fresh coat of paint. There is no reason why they should be replaced. They do not wear out, they rot out. Paint prevents this. Paint in sufficient quantity for this cost but a trifle and pays big dividends in the end.

Plows and harrows, and especially mowing machines left in the field where the owner neglected them, sheltered only by a snow bank, is a sure sign of winter. There can be no doubt that the depreciation in value of these machines, when neglected, is greater in the winter than the summer.

Every farmer can afford to have a storage house for the farm machinery. Such a house need not be over large or expensive. A tight roof and sides that will keep out the storms may be secured by the use of for schools and all the public services and the revenue must be increased somehow.

It may be that some use will be made now of the public domain set which has been upon the statute book since the days of the old government, but never taken advantage of. This provided for accurate survey of the crown land assets of the province with information in detail of the value of different tracts. It was intended to charge stampage according to the value of the lumber and its accessibility to streams, which was very close.

It is said that other sources of revenue will be investigated but the principal reliance is upon the forest. If the stampage is increased to $2 per cord, the lumbermen will pay sixty per cent more, or about $800,000 additional into the treasury of the province.

Last year the provincial revenue was the greatest New Brunswick has known. Report Practically Confirmed. The news which leaked out this morning concerning legislation affecting the lumber interests and the increase in the rate of stampage seems to be confirmed this afternoon by a semi-official announcement in the Clarifier, which is very close to the administration, stating that it not unlikely that the government will bring down a measure dealing with the Crown Lands of the province, which will have a direct bearing on present licenses.

The statement is further made that the present licenses have about six years to run and it would be more advisable to adopt a definite policy, ensuring permanency and enhancing security.

The statement is also made that the banks have been curtailing credits, because of the uncertainty, in regard to the renewal of the lumber leases and therefore the industry is being pretty severely hit. Under these circumstances, fresh capital will not invest in the lumber business, and the allied industries and it is therefore necessary to have a definite policy, having permanency as its basis.

A somewhat pointed reference to the recent consultations of the government members is made in these words: "The government's view as to the policy that will best serve the general interests has not yet been made known, although it is admitted that the present situation has been discussed, with the object of arriving at a reasonable solution. The public, however, can rest assured that the present government will give to every phase of the situation intelligent and thoughtful consideration, with the view of reasonably meeting the needs of an important industry. The government's first duty is the protection of the public interests in the proper conservation of the public domain, but the public domain must also do its share in assisting the wholesome development of our agricultural and mineral wealth, and our industrial activities."

Reference is made to a paragraph in the manifesto of Premier Fleming, last week, promising that the government would encourage the establishment of a large pulp and paper mill, in the province, and there is a hint that this may be done.

No long narrow building is not the best design for a machine shed. The implements are usually placed in some such as sheds are packed in a box. The machine would be sure to be the one farthest away from the entrance. Doors should be in evidence and kept closed. Wood handles and wagon poles were never intended as roof poles for pulp.

What advantage a farmer hopes to obtain from standing a machine under a spruce tree, in a leaky shed or on the side of his barn is not apparent. Such practices degrade the farmer, the farm and rob the farming industry of that dignity which should be associated with every legitimate business.

A long narrow building is not the best design for a machine shed. The implements are usually placed in some such as sheds are packed in a box. The machine would be sure to be the one farthest away from the entrance. Doors should be in evidence and kept closed. Wood handles and wagon poles were never intended as roof poles for pulp.

No farmer would allow a machine to turn a wheel with a broken ball in the bearing, if he could see inside just what happens. The farmer is the engineer for his own machines, and should exercise that same care and foresight that the engineer exercises in handling his engine. There can be no doubt that the improper care of machinery is one of the big leaks on the farm. There is no industry on the earth other than farming and farm pursuits, that maintain a livelihood for the people, and at the same time permit of the wasteful methods often permitted on the farm. This is only further proof that farming pays.

The provincial government, however, seems to favor the idea of the lumberman and as a result the cutting of pulpwood under the regulations is practically forbidden. Even in the northwest corner of the province, notably in the county of Madawaska, where the timber growth is small and stunted, permits to cut are refused, not because the wood is good but upon as of value for timber, but simply because it is feared that if once a start is made in cutting the pulpwood, it will be the thin edge of the wedge for the cutting of other lumber.

The result of this policy among the lumbermen will be to increase the price of pulpwood to an extent that will be a serious handicap to the lumber industry. It is not to be wondered at that the lumbermen are so anxious to have the rate of stampage increased to $2 per cord, and the pulp mill will last an annual $200,000.

It is not to be wondered at that the lumbermen are so anxious to have the rate of stampage increased to $2 per cord, and the pulp mill will last an annual $200,000.

It is not to be wondered at that the lumbermen are so anxious to have the rate of stampage increased to $2 per cord, and the pulp mill will last an annual $200,000.

It is not to be wondered at that the lumbermen are so anxious to have the rate of stampage increased to $2 per cord, and the pulp mill will last an annual $200,000.

It is not to be wondered at that the lumbermen are so anxious to have the rate of stampage increased to $2 per cord, and the pulp mill will last an annual $200,000.

It is not to be wondered at that the lumbermen are so anxious to have the rate of stampage increased to $2 per cord, and the pulp mill will last an annual $200,000.

It is not to be wondered at that the lumbermen are so anxious to have the rate of stampage increased to $2 per cord, and the pulp mill will last an annual $200,000.

It is not to be wondered at that the lumbermen are so anxious to have the rate of stampage increased to $2 per cord, and the pulp mill will last an annual $200,000.

It is not to be wondered at that the lumbermen are so anxious to have the rate of stampage increased to $2 per cord, and the pulp mill will last an annual $200,000.

It is not to be wondered at that the lumbermen are so anxious to have the rate of stampage increased to $2 per cord, and the pulp mill will last an annual $200,000.

Seven appointments to government positions have been recommended by the local patronage committee. The appointments are as follows: William G. Gorman, clerk; William G. Gorman, clerk.

Resignations from the government are not frequent but W. H. Brown has resigned his position as deputy collector of inland revenue in the Customs House and has accepted a position in the office of the Schofield Paper Company. There are several applicants for the position but it was said today that the chance of E. A. Job were the strongest.

The new post office building in Fairville was opened for business on Monday. The building is very attractive and the people of Fairville are greatly pleased with its general appearance. The structure is 45

The New Brunswick Guides' Association is making extensive preparations for their exhibit at the Sportsman's Show, which will open on Saturday 27, in Madison Square Garden, New York. President W. H. Allen, of Penikese, N. B., will have charge of the exhibit, and will have Charles Dennis, Adams Moore, assistant secretary, Pringle, also active in the association, assisting him. The association has been made a grant by the provincial government towards the expenses of the exhibit. It is said it will surpass the admirable exhibits of this association at previous shows.

The display will include heads of moose, caribou and deer, as well as pictures of hunting camps and scenes in New Brunswick. The association will also take along some live wild animals. New Brunswick is renowned as a hunting district, and the New Brunswick Guides' Association was always successful in having the province credentialed as a hunting ground. The hunters as a rule object to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

Seven appointments to government positions have been recommended by the local patronage committee. The appointments are as follows: William G. Gorman, clerk; William G. Gorman, clerk.

Resignations from the government are not frequent but W. H. Brown has resigned his position as deputy collector of inland revenue in the Customs House and has accepted a position in the office of the Schofield Paper Company. There are several applicants for the position but it was said today that the chance of E. A. Job were the strongest.

The new post office building in Fairville was opened for business on Monday. The building is very attractive and the people of Fairville are greatly pleased with its general appearance. The structure is 45

The New Brunswick Guides' Association is making extensive preparations for their exhibit at the Sportsman's Show, which will open on Saturday 27, in Madison Square Garden, New York. President W. H. Allen, of Penikese, N. B., will have charge of the exhibit, and will have Charles Dennis, Adams Moore, assistant secretary, Pringle, also active in the association, assisting him. The association has been made a grant by the provincial government towards the expenses of the exhibit. It is said it will surpass the admirable exhibits of this association at previous shows.

The display will include heads of moose, caribou and deer, as well as pictures of hunting camps and scenes in New Brunswick. The association will also take along some live wild animals. New Brunswick is renowned as a hunting district, and the New Brunswick Guides' Association was always successful in having the province credentialed as a hunting ground. The hunters as a rule object to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

Seven appointments to government positions have been recommended by the local patronage committee. The appointments are as follows: William G. Gorman, clerk; William G. Gorman, clerk.

Resignations from the government are not frequent but W. H. Brown has resigned his position as deputy collector of inland revenue in the Customs House and has accepted a position in the office of the Schofield Paper Company. There are several applicants for the position but it was said today that the chance of E. A. Job were the strongest.

The new post office building in Fairville was opened for business on Monday. The building is very attractive and the people of Fairville are greatly pleased with its general appearance. The structure is 45

The New Brunswick Guides' Association is making extensive preparations for their exhibit at the Sportsman's Show, which will open on Saturday 27, in Madison Square Garden, New York. President W. H. Allen, of Penikese, N. B., will have charge of the exhibit, and will have Charles Dennis, Adams Moore, assistant secretary, Pringle, also active in the association, assisting him. The association has been made a grant by the provincial government towards the expenses of the exhibit. It is said it will surpass the admirable exhibits of this association at previous shows.

The display will include heads of moose, caribou and deer, as well as pictures of hunting camps and scenes in New Brunswick. The association will also take along some live wild animals. New Brunswick is renowned as a hunting district, and the New Brunswick Guides' Association was always successful in having the province credentialed as a hunting ground. The hunters as a rule object to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

As explained in the last issue, which no fault should be found with the objects which the New Brunswick government had in mind when it framed its new timber regulations, yet serious complaint may be made as to the manner in which they work out, which is not to the best interests of the province as a whole. It would appear that the regulations have been made largely at the behest of important lumber interests, holding large areas of crown land. The lumberman as a rule objects to the cutting of pulpwood as the first step to the destruction of his industry, whereas, as a matter of fact, there is no reason why the small and the pulp mill should not flourish side by side. Comparisons are odious, but experience in other provinces serves to show that a pulp and paper industry, with its expert labor of various grades, brings in its train a development of much larger importance to this country at large than the average saw-mill.

WANTED

WANTED

A teacher (second class) for School District No. 4, Andrews, N. B. rated poor. For particulars write to James M. Miles, Secretary Andrews, N. B. No. 1, 1001-1.

WANTED

Immediately, reliable agents; good pay weekly; outfit free, exclusive stock and territory. Our agencies are valuable. For particulars write: Pelham Nursey Company, Toronto, Ontario.

AGENTS WANTED

SALESMEN WANTED for nursery stock and automatic sprayers, either or both; liberal terms. Cavers Bros., Galt, Ont. s.w.-9.

RELIABLE

representative wanted to meet the tremendous demand for fruit trees throughout New Brunswick at present. We wish to secure three or four good men to represent us as local and general agents. The special interest taken in the fruit-growing business in New Brunswick offers exceptional opportunities for men of enterprise. We offer a permanent position and liberal pay to the right men. Stone & Wellington, Toronto, Ont.

POULTRY

SUCCESSFUL lessons in poultry raising. Twenty complete lessons. The Successful Poultry Book. Treatise on the care of domestic fowls. We offer a copy of this book, with a special price, to those who will send us a list of names of the poultry raisers in their district. Dept. 4, P. O. Box 2983, Montreal.

We will have a hard time to beat last year's record, but will try to do it, and have already had a good start. Enter as soon as you can, so as to be ready for work as soon as the call comes. Our new catalogue gives our rates and just the information you need. Send for it today.

Carvell was dealing in his characteristic direct and determined way with the situation. The sturdy New Brunswicker resumed the debate with the Liberal today. Like other Liberal speakers he took strong issue with the Conservative and ill-advised wing of the Unionist party who mistake a voluntary agreement by the conduct of a military expedition against the Canadian people who were being harassed by the British Empire.

Carvell said that if there was any military, imminent danger, he would, as you like, no men would be more than the Liberal to take any action on an imperial basis. If the premier minister in authority would advise the parliament and the country, he would find no more ready assistance than the Liberal party. If it were a matter in which the country could not make a public declaration, he would find no more ready assistance than the Liberal party.

Carvell directed attention to the fact that the Liberal party had been back from England with a tale of woe and impressions. He noted the opinion of the London press, which recently said that the Liberal party in the matter of the navy was unfortunate as it tended to make the arrangement recently made necessary to keep the balance of fleet on the basis of sixteen British battleships and said that it was far better for Canada to go ahead with a navy of her own. This would be more useful and less inconvenient to man warships, and said that it was far better for Canada to go ahead with a navy of her own. This would be more useful and less inconvenient to man warships, and said that it was far better for Canada to go ahead with a navy of her own.

SHERLOCKING

Mr. Holmes—"I notice that you have a new kitchenmaid."

Mrs. Borden-Lodge—"I have. But I think it's perfectly wonderful how you can make such accurate deductions."

Mr. Holmes—"Quite simple, ma'am. I've been comparing the thumb-prints on the plates."

MUSIC TAUGHT FREE

Home Instruction

Special Offer To Our Readers

In order to advertise and introduce their latest study music lessons in every locality, the International Institute of Music of New York will give free to our readers a complete course of instruction for either Piano, Organ, Violin, Mandolin, Guitar, Banjo, Cello, Brass Instruments or Sight Singing. In return they simply ask that you recommend their Institute to your friends after you learn to play. You may not know one note from another; yet, by their wonderfully simple and thorough method, you can soon learn to play. If you are an advanced player you will receive special instruction.

The lessons are sent weekly. They are so simple and easy that they are recommended to any person or little child who can read English. Photographs and drawings make everything plain. Under the Institute's free tuition offer you will be asked to pay only a very small amount (varying 14 cents a week) to cover postage and the necessary sheet music.

No one should overlook this wonderful offer. Tell your friends about it—show them this article.

The International Institute has successfully taught others and can successfully teach you, even if you know absolutely nothing whatever about music. The lessons make everything clear.

Write today for the free booklet, which explains everything. It will convince you and cost you nothing. Address your letter or postal card to International Institute of Music, 85 Fifth Ave., Dept. 433M, New York, N. Y.

MARINE JOURNAL

PORT OF ST. JOHN

Arrived.

Monday, Feb. 17.

Str. Montfort, 4128, Davidson, London and Antwerp, C. P. R., pass and gen cargo, at Island.

Schr. Ravolt, 123, Morrill, Annapolis (Md.), J. W. Smith.

Str. Kat-Ora, 4168, McPhee, New York, J. T. Knight Co., to load for South Africa.

Str. Manchester, Irving, 2338, Linton, Manchester, Wm Thomson Co., gen cargo.

Str. Cape Breton, 1108, Kemp, Louisburg, Starr, with coal.

Str. Lousburg, 1182, Hardt, Louisburg, Starr, with coal.

Tuesday, Feb. 18.

R. M. S. S. Grampian, 6439, Williams, Liverpool via Halifax, Wm Thomson Co., pass and gen cargo.

Tuesday, Feb. 18.

Str. Ninian, 4668, Williams, Liverpool, C. P. R. gen cargo.

Str. Binghamton, 2422, Trinick, Liverpool via Halifax, Wm Thomson Co., gen cargo.

Coastwise—Star Granville, 49, Collins, Annapolis.

Wednesday, Feb. 19.

Star Sokoto, 1909, Pierce, Nassau, Havana and Mexican ports via Newport News, J. T. Knight Co., gen cargo.

Star Calvin Austin, 2366, Mitchell, Boston via Port, W. G. Lee, med and pas.

Star Amelia, 189, Geldert, Halifax via ports of call.

Cleared.

Monday, Feb. 17.

Str. Oruro, Bale, West Indies via Halifax, Wm Thomson Co., gen cargo.

Str. Cape Breton, Kemp, Louisburg, Starr.

Schr. Annie Lord, Meriam, Annapolis, C. M. Kerrison (bal).

Coastwise—Schr. Page, Hall, Dipper Harbor; Flora, Mawhinney, Chatham Harbor.

Tuesday, Feb. 18.

Star Lousburg, Newman, Louisburg, Starr.

Schr. Luella, Scott, Boston, C. M. Kerrison, 125,005 ft spruce lumber and 15,000 cedar shingles for Stetson, Cutler & Co., Coastwise—Star Grand Manan, Ingersoll, Wilson's Beach.

Wednesday, Feb. 19.

Coastwise—Star Granville, Collins, Annapolis; schr. Mabel Reid, McKell, Annapolis; Happy Home, Beatty, Beaver Harbor.

Sailed.

Monday, Feb. 17.

Str. Oruro, Bale, West Indies via Halifax.

Tuesday, Feb. 18.

Str. Wabana, Renie, Louisburg.

Str. Cape Breton, Kemp, Louisburg.

Schr. Ann Louise Lockwood, Tiltson, New York, A. W. Adams.

Schr. Annie Lord, Meriam, Annapolis (bal), C. M. Kerrison.

Schr. Luella, Scott, Boston, C. M. Kerrison.

CANADIAN PORTS

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 17—Arrd, str. Kurik, Lithuanian, Canada, Liverpool; Chester, Manchester, (in for coal going to New York); Sid, str. Grampian, St. John.

Halifax, Feb. 17—Sd, str. Binghamton, St. John.

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 18—Arrd, str. Oruro, St. John; Argonia, Hamburg.

Sd, str. Chester, Philadelphia.

Houaburg, Feb. 17—Sd, str. Hodelaga, St. John.

Halifax, Feb. 19—Sd, str. Aragona, New York; Heathcote, Louisburg.

BRITISH PORTS

Glasgow, Feb. 15—Sd, str. Saturnia, St. John.

Manchester, Feb. 16—Sd, str. Manchester Miller, St. John.

Belfast, Feb. 14—Passed, str. Manchester Corporation, Foale, St. John (N. B.), for Manchester.

Bermuda, Feb. 16—Arrd, str. Briandene, Falkner, Halifax; Hafnia, Berth, do.

Sd, str. bge Sirdar, McDade, Harand, Cape Town, Feb. 14—Arrd, str. Aragona, str. Kwaars, Davies, St. John (N. B.).

Pravle Point, Feb. 14—Passed, str. Kaurwin, Kollman, St. John (N. B.), and Halifax for London.

Liverpool, Feb. 14—Arrd, str. Devonian, New York.

London, Feb. 14—Sd, str. Pomerania, St. John (N. B.).

London, Feb. 15—Arrd, str. Kanawha, St. John.

Glasgow, Feb. 16—Arrd, str. Cassandra, St. John.

Southernport, Feb. 17—Arrd, str. America, New York.

Philadelphia, Feb. 17—Arrd, str. Manchester, New York for Liverpool.

Liverpool, Feb. 18—Arrd, str. Mauritanis, New York.

FOREIGN PORTS

Havana, Feb. 9—Arrd, schr. Hartney, W. Gulfport.

Newport News, Va., Feb. 14—Arrd, str. Rossano, St. John (N. B.), and sld for Gulfport.

Boston, Feb. 14—Cld, schr. Ida M. Barton, St. Andrews.

Portsmouth, N. H., Feb. 15—Arrd, schr. Ann T. Trow, from New York.

New York, Feb. 15—Arrd, str. Belle, from Liverpool; Kaiserin, Augusta Victoria, from Hamburg; La Provence, from Havre.

Philadelphia, Feb. 15—Arrd, str. Manchester, str. Mariner, Manchester.

Santon, Feb. 16—Arrd, str. Sellasia, Hatfield, from Antwerp.

Wineyard Haven, Feb. 17—Arrd, schr. William E. Litchfield, Jacksonville.

Salem, Mass., Feb. 17—Arrd, schr. Herald, Philadelphia; Lucia Foster, New York; Rebecca M. Wall, St. John.

New York, Feb. 17—Sd, schr. Wilens Gertrude, Halifax; Kenneth C. do.

Salem, Mass., Feb. 17—Arrd, schr. Herald, Philadelphia; Lucia Foster, New York; Rebecca M. Wall, St. John.

New York, Feb. 17—Sd, schr. Wilens Gertrude, Halifax; Kenneth C. do.

Havre, Feb. 18—Sd, schr. Lake Erie, St. John.

Salem, Feb. 18—Sd, schr. Herald, Calais (Me.); Rebecca M. Wall, New York.

Vineyard Haven, Feb. 18—Arrd, str. Wilens Gertrude, Kenneth C. do.

Portsmouth, N. H., Feb. 18—Sd, schr. Ann J. Trainor, Calais (Me.).

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Feb. 19—Arrd, str. Wilens Gertrude, Kenneth C. do.

DEATHS

McLOSKEY—Suddenly, in this city, on Feb. 16, John R. McCloskey, in the 64th year of his age, leaving his wife and two sons to mourn.

BELVEA—in this city, on Feb. 16, Sarah A. widow of Holly Belvea, aged 78 years, leaving one son, two daughters and a grandchild.

PERRY—in this city, on Feb. 16, Agnes E., wife of John Perry, leaving her husband, mother, two sisters and one brother to mourn.

HARRIGAN—in this city, on the 18th inst., Catherine A., widow of Patrick Harrigan, leaving three sons and three daughters to mourn.

KIRTLLEY—At Walsford, Quebec county (N. B.), on Feb. 17, 1913, John G. Kirtley, formerly of Newcastle-on-Tyne, (Eng.), aged 78 years.

TTUS—At Bloomfield, Kings county (N. B.), on February 16, suddenly, Dorothy L., aged 15 months, youngest daughter of W. W. Ttus.

MCCARTHY—Suddenly, at Spruce Lake, on February 16, James McCarthy, in the 81st year of his age, leaving his wife, two sons and two daughters to mourn.

EVANS—Suddenly, at Lorneville, on Feb. 16, Robert Evans, in the sixty-third year of his age. He leaves to mourn a wife and nine children.

BIRTHS

RAND—At Beach Point (P. E. I.), on February 19, 1913, to Rev. and Mrs. R. Rand, a son.

DEATHS

McLOSKEY—Suddenly, in this city, on Feb. 16, John R. McCloskey, in the 64th year of his age, leaving his wife and two sons to mourn.

BELVEA—in this city, on Feb. 16, Sarah A. widow of Holly Belvea, aged 78 years, leaving one son, two daughters and a grandchild.

PERRY—in this city, on Feb. 16, Agnes E., wife of John Perry, leaving her husband, mother, two sisters and one brother to mourn.

HARRIGAN—in this city, on the 18th inst., Catherine A., widow of Patrick Harrigan, leaving three sons and three daughters to mourn.

KIRTLLEY—At Walsford, Quebec county (N. B.), on Feb. 17, 1913, John G. Kirtley, formerly of Newcastle-on-Tyne, (Eng.), aged 78 years.

TTUS—At Bloomfield, Kings county (N. B.), on February 16, suddenly, Dorothy L., aged 15 months, youngest daughter of W. W. Ttus.

MCCARTHY—Suddenly, at Spruce Lake, on February 16, James McCarthy, in the 81st year of his age, leaving his wife, two sons and two daughters to mourn.

EVANS—Suddenly, at Lorneville, on Feb. 16, Robert Evans, in the sixty-third year of his age. He leaves to mourn a wife and nine children.

DEATHS

McLOSKEY—Suddenly, in this city, on Feb. 16, John R. McCloskey, in the 64th year of his age, leaving his wife and two sons to mourn.

BELVEA—in this city, on Feb. 16, Sarah A. widow of Holly Belvea, aged 78 years, leaving one son, two daughters and a grandchild.

PERRY—in this city, on Feb. 16, Agnes E., wife of John Perry, leaving her husband, mother, two sisters and one brother to mourn.

HARRIGAN—in this city, on the 18th inst., Catherine A., widow of Patrick Harrigan, leaving three sons and three daughters to mourn.

KIRTLLEY—At Walsford, Quebec county (N. B.), on Feb. 17, 1913, John G. Kirtley, formerly of Newcastle-on-Tyne, (Eng.), aged 78 years.

TTUS—At Bloomfield, Kings county (N. B.), on February 16, suddenly, Dorothy L., aged 15 months, youngest daughter of W. W. Ttus.

MCCARTHY—Suddenly, at Spruce Lake, on February 16, James McCarthy, in the 81st year of his age, leaving his wife, two sons and two daughters to mourn.

EVANS—Suddenly, at Lorneville, on Feb. 16, Robert Evans, in the sixty-third year of his age. He leaves to mourn a wife and nine children.

DEATHS

McLOSKEY—Suddenly, in this city, on Feb. 16, John R. McCloskey, in the 64th year of his age, leaving his wife and two sons to mourn.

BELVEA—in this city, on Feb. 16, Sarah A. widow of Holly Belvea, aged 78 years, leaving one son, two daughters and a grandchild.

PERRY—in this city, on Feb. 16, Agnes E., wife of John Perry, leaving her husband, mother, two sisters and one brother to mourn.

HARRIGAN—in this city, on the 18th inst., Catherine A., widow of Patrick Harrigan, leaving three sons and three daughters to mourn.

KIRTLLEY—At Walsford, Quebec county (N. B.), on Feb. 17, 1913, John G. Kirtley, formerly of Newcastle-on-Tyne, (Eng.), aged 78 years.

TTUS—At Bloomfield, Kings county (N. B.), on February 16, suddenly, Dorothy L., aged 15 months, youngest daughter of W. W. Ttus.

MCCARTHY—Suddenly, at Spruce Lake, on February 16, James McCarthy, in the 81st year of his age, leaving his wife, two sons and two daughters to mourn.

EVANS—Suddenly, at Lorneville, on Feb. 16, Robert Evans, in the sixty-third year of his age. He leaves to mourn a wife and nine children.

DEATHS

McLOSKEY—Suddenly, in this city, on Feb. 16, John R. McCloskey, in the 64th year of his age, leaving his wife and two sons to mourn.

BELVEA—in this city, on Feb. 16, Sarah A. widow of Holly Belvea, aged 78 years, leaving one son, two daughters and a grandchild.

PERRY—in this city, on Feb. 16, Agnes E., wife of John Perry, leaving her husband, mother, two sisters and one brother to mourn.

HARRIGAN—in this city, on the 18th inst., Catherine A., widow of Patrick Harrigan, leaving three sons and three daughters to mourn.

KIRTLLEY—At Walsford, Quebec county (N. B.), on Feb. 17, 1913, John G. Kirtley, formerly of Newcastle-on-Tyne, (Eng.), aged 78 years.

TTUS—At Bloomfield, Kings county (N. B.), on February 16, suddenly, Dorothy L., aged 15 months, youngest daughter of W. W. Ttus.

MCCARTHY—Suddenly, at Spruce Lake, on February 16, James McCarthy, in the 81st year of his age, leaving his wife, two sons and two daughters to mourn.

EVANS—Suddenly, at Lorneville, on Feb. 16, Robert Evans, in the sixty-third year of his age. He leaves to mourn a wife and nine children.

DEATHS

McLOSKEY—Suddenly, in this city, on Feb. 16, John R. McCloskey, in the 64th year of his age, leaving his wife and two sons to mourn.

BELVEA—in this city, on Feb. 16, Sarah A. widow of Holly Belvea, aged 78 years, leaving one son, two daughters and a grandchild.

PERRY—in this city, on Feb. 16, Agnes E., wife of John Perry, leaving her husband, mother, two sisters and one brother to mourn.

HARRIGAN—in this city, on the 18th inst., Catherine A., widow of Patrick Harrigan, leaving three sons and three daughters to mourn.

KIRTLLEY—At Walsford, Quebec county (N. B.), on Feb. 17, 1913, John G. Kirtley, formerly of Newcastle-on-Tyne, (Eng.), aged 78 years.

TTUS—At Bloomfield, Kings county (N. B.), on February 16, suddenly, Dorothy L., aged 15 months, youngest daughter of W. W. Ttus.

MCCARTHY—Suddenly, at Spruce Lake, on February 16, James McCarthy, in the 81st year of his age, leaving his wife, two sons and two daughters to mourn.

EVANS—Suddenly, at Lorneville, on Feb. 16, Robert Evans, in the sixty-third year of his age. He leaves to mourn a wife and nine children.

DEATHS

McLOSKEY—Suddenly, in this city, on Feb. 16, John R. McCloskey, in the 64th year of his age, leaving his wife and two sons to mourn.

BELVEA—in this city, on Feb. 16, Sarah A. widow of Holly Belvea, aged 78 years, leaving one son, two daughters and a grandchild.

PERRY—in this city, on Feb. 16, Agnes E., wife of John Perry, leaving her husband, mother, two sisters and one brother to mourn.

HARRIGAN—in this city, on the 18th inst., Catherine A., widow of Patrick Harrigan, leaving three sons and three daughters to mourn.

KIRTLLEY—At Walsford, Quebec county (N. B.), on Feb. 17, 1913, John G. Kirtley, formerly of Newcastle-on-Tyne, (Eng.), aged 78 years.

TTUS—At Bloomfield, Kings county (N. B.), on February 16, suddenly, Dorothy L., aged 15 months, youngest daughter of W. W. Ttus.

MCCARTHY—Suddenly, at Spruce Lake, on February 16, James McCarthy, in the 81st year of his age, leaving his wife, two sons and two daughters to mourn.

EVANS—Suddenly, at Lorneville, on Feb. 16, Robert Evans, in the sixty-third year of his age. He leaves to mourn a wife and nine children.

DEATHS

McLOSKEY—Suddenly, in this city, on Feb. 16, John R. McCloskey, in the 64th year of his age, leaving his wife and two sons to mourn.

BELVEA—in this city, on Feb. 16, Sarah A. widow of Holly Belvea, aged 78 years, leaving one son, two daughters and a grandchild.

PERRY—in this city, on Feb. 16, Agnes E., wife of John Perry, leaving her husband, mother, two sisters and one brother to mourn.

HARRIGAN—in this city, on the 18th inst., Catherine A., widow of Patrick Harrigan, leaving three sons and three daughters to mourn.

KIRTLLEY—At Walsford, Quebec county (N. B.), on Feb. 17, 1913, John G. Kirtley, formerly of Newcastle-on-Tyne, (Eng.), aged 78 years.

TTUS—At Bloomfield, Kings county (N. B.), on February 16, suddenly, Dorothy L., aged 15 months, youngest daughter of W. W. Ttus.

MCCARTHY—Suddenly, at Spruce Lake, on February 16, James McCarthy, in the 81st year of his age, leaving his wife, two sons and two daughters to mourn.

EVANS—Suddenly, at Lorneville, on Feb. 16, Robert Evans, in the sixty-third year of his age. He leaves to mourn a wife and nine children.

DEATHS

McLOSKEY—Suddenly, in this city, on Feb. 16, John R. McCloskey, in the 64th year of his age, leaving his wife and two sons to mourn.

BELVEA—in this city, on Feb. 16, Sarah A. widow of Holly Belvea, aged 78 years, leaving one son, two daughters and a grandchild.

PERRY—in this city, on Feb. 16, Agnes E., wife of John Perry, leaving her husband, mother, two sisters and one brother to mourn.

HARRIGAN—in this city, on the 18th inst., Catherine A., widow of Patrick Harrigan, leaving three sons and three daughters to mourn.

KIRTLLEY—At Walsford, Quebec county (N. B.), on Feb. 17, 1913, John G. Kirtley, formerly of Newcastle-on-Tyne, (Eng.), aged 78 years.

TTUS—At Bloomfield, Kings county (N. B.), on February 16, suddenly, Dorothy L., aged 15 months, youngest daughter of W. W. Ttus.

MCCARTHY—Suddenly, at Spruce Lake, on February 16, James McCarthy, in the 81st year of his age, leaving his wife, two sons and two daughters to mourn.

EVANS—Suddenly, at Lorneville, on Feb. 16, Robert Evans, in the sixty-third year of his age. He leaves to mourn a wife and nine children.

DEATHS

McLOSKEY—Suddenly, in this city, on Feb. 16, John R. McCloskey, in the 64th year of his age, leaving his wife and two sons to mourn.

BELVEA—in this city, on Feb. 16, Sarah A. widow of Holly Belvea, aged 78 years, leaving one son, two daughters and a grandchild.

PERRY—in this city, on Feb. 16, Agnes E., wife of John Perry, leaving her husband, mother, two sisters and one brother to mourn.

HARRIGAN—in this city, on the 18th inst., Catherine A., widow of Patrick Harrigan, leaving three sons and three daughters to mourn.

KIRTLLEY—At Walsford, Quebec county (N. B.), on Feb. 17, 1913, John G. Kirtley, formerly of Newcastle-on-Tyne, (Eng.), aged 78 years.

TTUS—At Bloomfield, Kings county (N. B.), on February 16, suddenly, Dorothy L., aged 15 months, youngest daughter of W. W. Ttus.

MCCARTHY—Suddenly, at Spruce Lake, on February 16, James McCarthy, in the 81st year of his age, leaving his wife, two sons and two daughters to mourn.

EVANS—Suddenly, at Lorneville, on Feb. 16, Robert Evans, in the sixty-third year of his age. He leaves to mourn a wife and nine children.

DEATHS

McLOSKEY—Suddenly, in this city, on Feb. 16, John R. McCloskey, in the 64th year of his age, leaving his wife and two sons to mourn.

BELVEA—in this city, on Feb. 16, Sarah A. widow of Holly Belvea, aged 78 years, leaving one son, two daughters and a grandchild.

PERRY—in this city, on Feb. 16, Agnes E., wife of John Perry, leaving her husband, mother, two sisters and one brother to mourn.

HARRIGAN—in this city, on the 18th inst., Catherine A., widow of Patrick Harrigan, leaving three sons and three daughters to mourn.

KIRTLLEY—At Walsford, Quebec county (N. B.), on Feb. 17, 1913, John G. Kirtley, formerly of Newcastle-on-Tyne, (Eng.), aged 78 years.

TTUS—At Bloomfield, Kings county (N. B.), on February 16, suddenly, Dorothy L., aged 15 months, youngest daughter of W. W. Ttus.

MCCARTHY—Suddenly, at Spruce Lake, on February 16, James McCarthy, in the 81st year of his age, leaving his wife, two sons and two daughters to mourn.

EVANS—Suddenly, at Lorneville, on Feb. 16, Robert Evans, in the sixty-third year of his age. He leaves to mourn a wife and nine children.

DEATHS

McLOSKEY—Suddenly, in this city, on Feb. 16, John R. McCloskey, in the 64th year of his age, leaving his wife and two sons to mourn.

BELVEA—in this city, on Feb. 16, Sarah A. widow of Holly Belvea, aged 78 years, leaving one son, two daughters and a grandchild.

PERRY—in this city, on Feb. 16, Agnes E., wife of John Perry, leaving her husband, mother, two sisters and one brother to mourn.

HARRIGAN—in this city, on the 18th inst., Catherine A., widow of Patrick Harrigan, leaving three sons and three daughters to mourn.

KIRTLLEY—At Walsford, Quebec county (N. B.), on Feb. 17, 1913, John G. Kirtley, formerly of Newcastle-on-Tyne, (Eng.), aged 78 years.

TTUS—At Bloomfield, Kings county (N. B.), on February 16, suddenly, Dorothy L., aged 15 months, youngest daughter of W. W. Ttus.

MCCARTHY—Suddenly, at Spruce Lake, on February 16, James McCarthy, in the 81st year of his age, leaving his wife, two sons and two daughters to mourn.

EVANS—Suddenly, at Lorneville, on Feb. 16, Robert Evans, in the sixty-third year of his age. He leaves to mourn a wife and nine children.

WANTS TO COME FROM THE WEST TO BUY FARM HERE

Practical Man Tells Why Conditions in New Brunswick Are Better—Mr. Gilchrist Gets Encouraging Letters from People Who Are Likely to Settle in This Province.

Thursday, Feb. 20.

The local immigration agent here, James Gilchrist, received a letter yesterday from an old countryman who is at present in the old country and who has a farm in British Columbia. The sentiments of the letter are in line with those contained in a good many letters which the immigration office has received lately, and which while not "knocking" the western provinces of Canada, intimate the writer's recognition of the conditions in farming communities in New Brunswick, and the many advantages the older rural life has over that in the newer west, in particular with regard to the schools, churches, roads, and the other advantages which the older settlements have earned in their longer period of existence.

The writer is an Englishman, who has farmed for several years in British Columbia with considerable success. He has a wife and family, and the problem of educating his children and the lack of social advantages have evidently been felt by the family, as he mentions his wife's strong desire to live in a more thickly populated community. The writer desires to take up mixed farming and Mr. Gilchrist has written to him giving a very full account of the possibilities, and also giving particulars as to several farms which would answer his requirements, so that the effect of the letter will probably be the addition of another farmer and family to the province.

Mr. Gilchrist says that the business of the office is steadily increasing, and the present staff is in receipt of a constantly increasing correspondence which taxes its capacity to handle.

The Farm Settlement Board, which is securing twenty farms in Gloucester county has concluded the purchase of several of these, and it is expected that before long all that number will be in the hands of the board.

NO PROOF.

"I can prove that I had nothing to do with this affair," said the indignant man to the judge at the time this crime was committed. My maid was coming my hair in my bodice."

"And where were you?" asked the judge mildly.

ENJOYS FISHING AND SHOOTING AFTER BEING INVALID IN BED

GIN PILLS Brought Strength Back Again To New Brunswick Sportsman.

Kidney and Bladder trouble may quickly bring you to the sad state Alex. W. Stevenson was in.

He was an invalid using a crutch and cane for sixteen months. In this state he sought and found relief in GIN PILLS. Now he goes shooting and fishing as usual.

The first attack leading to the invalid's bed may be the very time when you recognize the first symptoms of Kidney and Bladder trouble, when you have constant Headaches, Pains in the Joints, Swollen Hands and Ankles, frequent desire to urinate. It may be when you feel the urine hot and scalding or when you have specks floating in front of your eyes.

These are the times when the marvelous results of GIN PILLS are appreciated. These are the very periods when they should be used. Don't wait for repeated occurrences of these signs. Take GIN PILLS at once. Keep the invalid's bed as far away as possible. Get close to the health which allows you to enjoy your outdoor life, and which makes your indoor times also a pleasure.

Perth, N. B.

For two years I was an invalid, incapable of work of any kind, sixteen months of this time I was unable to move without the assistance of a crutch and a cane. During this time I was treated by our local doctor as well as taking treatment from a specialist in Chicago, but did not improve any, and had about given up hope of ever being of any use again, when a friend advised me to try GIN PILLS. This I did, and with a two months' treatment was as well as ever I was. This was four years ago, and I have had no return of my trouble since.

I still use a box or two a year as a preventative and am enabled to go fishing and shooting in the Spring and Fall and lay out on the ground at night without any inconvenience. It is a wonderful medicine and I take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers from Rheumatism.

ALEX. W. STEVENSON.

50c. a box—6 for $2.50—money back if not satisfied. Sample free by writing: National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto.

Consumption

Its Diagnosis, Treatment and Cure

FREE

TUBERCULOSIS

REAL ESTATE

Reports that the Eastern Trust Company was negotiating for the purchase of the Municipal Home and the land adjoining it, were confirmed last evening by the city commissioners. The facts as given yesterday were that the Eastern Trust Company has asked for an option on the property and a special meeting of the Norton council has been called for Feb. 25 to consider the matter.

MILL WORK

MR. MILL MAN: Get your Mill Repair Work done by the Sussex Manufacturing Co. We are fully equipped for all kinds and can guarantee satisfaction. Orders will be promptly attended to.

We also manufacture Trimmers; Mill Rollers in all sizes.

Arbors to order, Smokestacks, Frictions, Wood Pulleys, split or solid; Boxes in all sizes, Flanges, Set Collars, Couplings, etc.

Prices on application.

Sussex Manufacturing Co., Ltd.

Sussex, N. B. 1197-236

A $50 GOLD WATCH

CAN YOU WORK THIS PUZZLE?

G W O A
L O A F R D
R O G I A G E

Will be given according to conditions of Contest to somebody who succeeds in arranging the letters of the above through lines so that they will spell

THE NAMES OF THREE STATES IN THE UNITED STATES

ALSO A PRIZE OF $10 FOR NEAREST SOLUTION

TRY IT AT ONCE. IT MAY BE YOU.

Write the names of the States on a postcard or a letter, giving your Name and Address plainly.

IMPERIAL WATCH CO., Print Dept. [30] 1, MONTREAL, CANADA

OR $50 IN GOLD

FREE TO YOU.

The best premiums and biggest values ever offered. Moving Picture Machines, beautifully decorated Tea Sets, Liverworts, Accordion, Sewing Machines, Dressing Gowns and many other beautiful premiums given FREE for sending our high quality Gold Embossed Postcard Post Cards for us. Our cards are very latest designs in Floral, Birdland, Views, Comets, also Valentine, St. Patrick's Day, and many other designs. The quality of our cards is so high that you will have no trouble selling them. You can win any of these splendid Premiums by sending us your Gold Embossed Postcard Post Cards. We will send you a card and a card with a picture of a beautiful scene. We will give you an Extra Present of a Beautiful Diamond Scarf Pin which we will give you a package of cards and a card with a picture of a beautiful scene. We will give you an Extra Present of a Beautiful Diamond Scarf Pin which we will give you a package of cards and a card with a picture of a beautiful scene. We will give you an Extra Present of a Beautiful Diamond Scarf Pin which we will give you a package of cards and a card with a picture of a beautiful scene.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

are just the right medicine for the children. When they are constipated when their kidneys are out of order when over-indulgence in some favorite food gives them indigestion—Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills will quickly and surely put them right. Purely vegetable, they neither sicken, weaken or gripe, like harsh purgatives. Guard your children's health by always keeping a box of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills in the house. They will keep the Children Well.

ENTRANCE REPORT

IN FLEMING GOVERNMENT

Auditor-General's Report Shows Where Thousands Are Spent in "Fuss and Feathers" and Other Needless Things

Expenditures That Tories Condemned in Opposition Are Now Largely Increased—Where the Bridge Money Was Spent—Some Heavy Stumpage Payers.

Prediction, Feb. 18.—There was more money spent last year upon janitors, charwomen, soap, paint, hardware and many other things for the legislative and departmental building than was given to any of the counties in the province except one for the upkeep of the roads.

Table with columns for County, Amount, and Total. Lists various counties like Carleton, Gloucester, Kings, etc., and their respective expenditures.

The caretakers, janitors foremen etc., were paid the tidy sum of $2,198.75; the charwomen, $778.54; the janitors and departmental, $1,469.57; and the painters, $130.50.

There are many other items to be found under the heading "Legislative building and offices" and included in this amount of $13,906.18, which do not seem to have any place in such a column.

Table with columns for County, Amount, and Total. Lists various counties and their stumpage payments.

Albert county $3,402.00

TO DISCUSS BEST ROUTE FOR VALLEY RAILWAY INTO ST. JOHN

At a special meeting of the council of the board of trade held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of hearing reports on the best way for the Valley railway to enter St. John, a large and influential delegation was appointed to go to Fredericton and interview the legislators on the matter.

Hon. Mr. Fleming had assured the board of trade that he would be glad to discuss the matter with them and asking them to name a date for the meeting.

The St. John delegation will be: J. M. Robinson, banker and broker; C. W. Hallam, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce; J. B. M. Baxter, M. P. E. recorder of the city; A. E. Massie, manager of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber and Tire Co.; L. Manning, M. P. E. manager of the Maritime Dredging Company; John E. Moore, F. deL. Clements, Commissioner of Agriculture; Thomas Bell, J. A. Likely, H. Colby, J. W. White, S. H. Company, J. C. White, C. T. & Son, J. C. White, T. West, Alfred Watson, Alex. Watson.

OBITUARY

Frank C. King.

Chapman, Feb. 17.—The death of Frank C. King, son of the late W. O. King of Chapman, took place Feb. 17. He had been in poor health for some time and about two months ago went to Bermuda hoping that the warmer climate of the south would restore to him strength.

The announcement of his death came as a great shock to a large circle of friends. He was a member of the Baptist church in Chapman for a number of years, but a year ago when he moved to Edmonton he united with the First Baptist church of that place.

Mrs. Lucy Ann Phillips.

Woodstock, N. B., Feb. 18.—(Special.)—The death occurred this morning of Mrs. Lucy Ann Phillips, aged 65 years. Mrs. Phillips was born at Bates (now near Leeds, Yorkshire, England, on Nov. 28, 1847. She came to New Brunswick with her son in October, 1864.

Mrs. Catherine E. Harrigan.

The death of Mrs. Catherine E. Harrigan occurred Monday at her daughter's home in Bellevue avenue, after an illness of some weeks. She was a native of this city and was well known about North End, where she had many friends.

John D. Brown.

John D. Brown died at his home in Maple Road, Queens county, on Jan. 30, aged eighty-one years. For more than a year he had been in poor health, but he was able to attend to his duties until a few days before his death.

Timothy O'Sullivan.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 19.—Timothy O'Sullivan, a native of St. John (N. B.), died yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Catherine O'Sullivan, at the home of his late wife at 631 Tremont street, South End. The deceased was the eldest son of Dennis O'Sullivan, well known as a school teacher; the funeral will be held from the home of Mrs. O'Sullivan, and later at the Holy Cross.

David Power.

Newcastle, Feb. 18.—The funeral of the late David Power, a respected farmer of Canada, who died on Friday evening, Feb. 17, took place at Redbank Sunday afternoon, Rev. Father Duffy conducting the services.

Mrs. Richard Hinton.

Bathurst, Feb. 18.—Mrs. Richard Hinton passed away at her home here on Monday, the 18th inst., at the age of 82. She was the widow of the late Richard Hinton, a family of five sons and three daughters. They are: Thomas of Clinton, Iowa; William of Millinocket (Me.); George of Doaktown; Mrs. Fred Weston and Albert and Stewart at home. She also leaves two daughters, Mrs. Parker Read and Miss Mary Carter, of Boston, and four brothers, Hiram, of Millinocket, and Albert, Samuel and Edwin Carter, all of Bathurst. Her descendants include thirty-one grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. The deceased was a steadfast member of the Episcopal church and was beloved by all who knew her. The funeral took place on Wednesday and was very largely attended.

Thomas Morris.

Fredricton, N. B., Feb. 19.—Thomas Morris of St. Mary's died last night after a lingering illness. He formerly resided in Bright and was parish court commissioner. He was aged seventy-two and leaves several sons and daughters. One of the latter is the wife of Thomas Reaney of this city.

WEDDINGS

Linton-Sullivan.

An interesting wedding ceremony was performed last evening at the home of the bride's mother, Miss William, when Miss Alice Maud Sullivan became the wife of John Anderson Linton, of North End. Rev. H. H. Noble, of Victoria street Baptist church officiated. The marriage was performed under an arch of flowers, and the bride was escorted to the altar by her maid of honor, Miss Lillian Linton. The bride received a substantial check from her parents. The groom's present was a handsome pearl ring, while the other presents included a valuable assortment of silverware, cut glass and other useful articles.

Mrs. Lucy Ann Phillips.

A Calgary paper has the following: A very pretty but quiet wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hawkes, brother of the groom, at high noon on Wednesday, January 22, when Rev. H. H. Noble officiated.

Scott Lee.

A quite wedding took place last evening at 720 Colborne street, when Miss Leahy, 28 Sheriff street, when Elizabeth Scott, of Millville, and Edith Elizabeth Lee, of Greenwood, Kings county, were united in marriage by Rev. B. H. Noble, M. P. E. Mr. and Mrs. Scott will reside at 42 Millville avenue.

Granville Miller.

At the home of Barton McLean, 135 Bridge street, yesterday, Captain Norman Gifford Granville was united in marriage to Miss Agnes Alice Miller, of Cumberland Bay, Queens county. The bride was attended by Captain C. F. Granville, cousin of the groom, and Miss Ella A. Miller, sister of the bride. After the ceremony the bride's trousseau was taken by the large number of relatives and friends present. The bride received many valuable presents, amongst them being a milk fur collar and muff, the presents being more of a living world than a dead language.

CONDENSED NEWS, LOCAL AND GENERAL

The Canada Gazette contains a notice to the effect that Quartermaster and Honorary Lieutenant R. A. McAvity has been appointed honorary captain of the 62nd Regiment St. John Fusiliers.

The Canada Gazette contains a notice to the effect that Major O. W. Wetmore has been appointed to be lieutenant-colonel commanding the 74th Regiment, the Brunswick Rangers. The lieutenant-colonel C. H. Fairweather, who is retired, retaining rank on expiration of his period of tenure of command.

Although it is not customary for reputable business men to draw checks on a bank which has gone out of existence, this is the position of many clients of the Bank of Nova Scotia. There has been some delay in securing a full supply of new Bank of Nova Scotia forms for all their customers, and many Bank of New Brunswick checks are still being honored.

The Canada Gazette contains notice of the incorporation of the Eastern Hay & Feed Company with a capital of $100,000. The chief place of business is at Sackville. The incorporation is granted to James Leachman Dixon, Clarence Edgar Dixon, merchant; Frederick A. Dixon and Walter L. Dixon, farmers, all of Sackville; Edward Collins, trader, Dorchester; and John W. Fillmore, of Amherst. They will carry on a business of wholesale grocers.

A wedding of much interest to the people of St. John took place in the presence of a few friends at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. R. J. Hay, North Wood, Winnipeg (Man.), on Feb. 5. The bride was Miss Grace Carson, formerly of St. John, and the groom was formerly of St. John, and the bride is a sister of Mrs. Anderson, wife of Rev. J. H. Anderson, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have taken up their residence in Winnipeg.

The Empress of Britain, which arrived Sunday, brought with her twenty settlers for this province. The Government immigration agent, said Monday that these immigrants had all been placed with the exception of one or two, and there should be no difficulty in getting them to St. John within a day or two. Two families in St. John county are the latest acquisition of the Farm Settlement Board. These have been taken over by the board, and bought by the present tenants, who will pay for them in instalments.

FARMERS WANT CHEAP FERTILIZER

(Continued from page 1.)

Gloucester, Charlotte, Tully, Reid, Leavay, Gloucester, Ames, J. Eddy, Bathurst; Kent, Henry Berthel, Bioteche; Kings, Henry Sherwood, Upham, Madawaska, Dennis Doyle, St. Basil, Northumberland, Henry Gordon, Matthews; Queens, Thomas Harding, Wedderburn; St. John, R. G. Murray, St. John city, Sunbury; M. A. Smith, Roy; Victoria, W. W. Stevenson, Upper Kings, Westmorland, J. H. Swelling, Shediac; York, Edward J. Stanley.

PARLIAMENT ORDERS MILLER SENT TO JAIL

of the government, and I now state that I have given my recommendation of my kind wishes to any member of the senate, or of the house of commons, either directly or indirectly.

The withdrawal of the prisoner and his counsel was ordered and then Mr. Middleboro moved, after considerable opposition, to the order of proceedings, that the answer of the prisoner was not to be taken into account, and that he should be delivered on the speaker's warrant to the custody of the Carleton county jail till proclamation.

Dr. Lynde in paper on Drainage.

A Calgary paper has the following: A very pretty but quiet wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hawkes, brother of the groom, at high noon on Wednesday, January 22, when Rev. H. H. Noble officiated.

Government aid to drainage.

Government aid to drainage was divided by the speaker into free drainage surveys by the banks of agricultural drainage enabling farmers to borrow money to drain land, and by the introduction of traction-tillers. The latter, the speaker said, would be a profitable investment for an individual farmer.

Agricultural Education.

Andrew Elliott, of York, discussing the question of agricultural education, said it had been made necessary by the improvement of land as the result of incessant cropping and a realization of the need of more soil knowledge. Agricultural colleges were established, but have been found to furnish farmers with better knowledge. The farmers institute had followed and served to give scientific and practical knowledge to the farmer who did not have a chance to attend a college or university. The defect was not in the quality of education most, did not attend the institute meetings. A college short course and farmers institute school, lasting from three days to a week, followed.

Provincial Personals

Fredericton Daily Mail: P. J. Veniot, ex-M. P. of Bathurst, is a guest at Windsor Hall. A. W. Fairweather, a leading farmer of Sackville, is among the visitors to the city. Col. J. B. M. Baxter, M. P. P. of St. John, arrived in the city last evening, and is staying at the Barker, C. B. Lockhart, M. P. P. of St. John, arrived here last evening for the season and is a guest at the Queen. George L. Clark, of Rexton, is in the city. Walter S. Stephens, of St. Stephen, is the winter resident of Mayor James Lamb, of Sussex, in the city. D. McKenna, of Sussex, editor of the Kings County Record, is in the city to attend the Farmers' and Dairyman's Association. Dr. Bourque, M. P. P. of Richibouctou, is a guest at Windsor Hall.

THOSE WHO WANT A QUICK NEVADA DIVORCE MUST HURRY

Carson City, Nev., Feb. 20.—Governor Oddie today signed the Barnes amendment to the divorce law. It becomes effective January 1, 1914. After that date an applicant for divorce must have lived in Nevada a year instead of six months.

Advertisement for Lion Brand and Ermine Brand seed, featuring Timothy Seed. Text includes: 'THESE TWO BRANDS LIKE THE PYRAMIDS HAVE STOOD THE TEST OF TIME AND HAVE PROVEN TO BE THE VERY BEST YOU WILL MAKE NO MISTAKE IF YOU SOW THESE SEEDS FOR 1913'. Includes an image of a woman and a child.

GOOD WORKS DONE DURING THE LAST YEAR

Annual Meeting of the New Brunswick Society for the Prevention of Cruelty—The New Officers.

of the government, and I now state that I have given my recommendation of my kind wishes to any member of the senate, or of the house of commons, either directly or indirectly.

The annual meeting of the New Brunswick Society for the Prevention of Cruelty took place yesterday morning in the room of the board of trade. The report of the various officers were received and new officers elected for the coming year. Hon. J. V. Ellis presided.

The report of the president showed that the association had a successful year. That much had been done for the prevention of cruelty. It was suggested that some mechanical arrangements for the assistance of horses with heavy loads on the ferry boats should be arranged.

Pugsley Asks for Fair Play.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley, in opposing the motion, prefaced his remarks by the statement that he did not know Mr. Miller and he never heard of him in the matter. He was not personally concerned in the matter, but he was concerned that the regard should be had for the liberty of the subject. He did not think it was consistent with the dignity of parliament or British fair play to deal thus summarily with the case without giving the members of the public accounts committee an opportunity to look into the evidence or consider the statement just made by the prisoner's counsel, or the right which parliament had to commit any many to the common jail.

Dr. Pugsley noted that the question put by the speaker to the witness did not correctly summarize the evidence taken before the public accounts committee. Miller, according to the printed evidence, had sworn that he had paid out of his pocket to secure government business. All he had sworn was that he had received this sum from the company to get business and that he had never paid it to any member of parliament or to any government official, either directly or indirectly. It was not a party question and members on both sides were equally concerned in seeing that justice was done.

Mr. Crockett thought that the real issue of the case was a disputed and false statement by the witness as to the house and the members were asked to accept it without further examination. There was not one word in the evidence which justified placing the witness in custody. He was to be condemned for not answering a question which stated as a fact something which was not a fact.

NEW PRESIDENT RULES IN MEXICO

(Continued from page 1.) assassinate him (Huerta) and had held him a prisoner for a whole day. Looking backward, it is perceived that this was the reason that Ambassador Wilson was refused a conference with Huerta, except in the presence of Madero. Huerta being practically a prisoner at that time and under suspicion.

One of the small clouds in the otherwise clearing sky of the new regime was the action of the congress of the State of Coahuila in refusing a constitutional grounds to recognize the authority of General Huerta, preparing to arm troops to resist his authority, and appealing to the governors of other states to adopt a similar attitude.

When pale insertion has to be replaced in a waist, haste the new lace into position before cutting out the old.

GOOD WORKS DONE DURING THE LAST YEAR

Annual Meeting of the New Brunswick Society for the Prevention of Cruelty—The New Officers.

of the government, and I now state that I have given my recommendation of my kind wishes to any member of the senate, or of the house of commons, either directly or indirectly.

The annual meeting of the New Brunswick Society for the Prevention of Cruelty took place yesterday morning in the room of the board of trade. The report of the various officers were received and new officers elected for the coming year. Hon. J. V. Ellis presided.

The report of the president showed that the association had a successful year. That much had been done for the prevention of cruelty. It was suggested that some mechanical arrangements for the assistance of horses with heavy loads on the ferry boats should be arranged.

Pugsley Asks for Fair Play.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley, in opposing the motion, prefaced his remarks by the statement that he did not know Mr. Miller and he never heard of him in the matter. He was not personally concerned in the matter, but he was concerned that the regard should be had for the liberty of the subject. He did not think it was consistent with the dignity of parliament or British fair play to deal thus summarily with the case without giving the members of the public accounts committee an opportunity to look into the evidence or consider the statement just made by the prisoner's counsel, or the right which parliament had to commit any many to the common jail.

Dr. Pugsley noted that the question put by the speaker to the witness did not correctly summarize the evidence taken before the public accounts committee. Miller, according to the printed evidence, had sworn that he had paid out of his pocket to secure government business. All he had sworn was that he had received this sum from the company to get business and that he had never paid it to any member of parliament or to any government official, either directly or indirectly. It was not a party question and members on both sides were equally concerned in seeing that justice was done.

NEW PRESIDENT RULES IN MEXICO

(Continued from page 1.) assassinate him (Huerta) and had held him a prisoner for a whole day. Looking backward, it is perceived that this was the reason that Ambassador Wilson was refused a conference with Huerta, except in the presence of Madero. Huerta being practically a prisoner at that time and under suspicion.

One of the small clouds in the otherwise clearing sky of the new regime was the action of the congress of the State of Coahuila in refusing a constitutional grounds to recognize the authority of General Huerta, preparing to arm troops to resist his authority, and appealing to the governors of other states to adopt a similar attitude.

When pale insertion has to be replaced in a waist, haste the new lace into position before cutting out the old.

An appetizing change for breakfast: slices of dried-out bread quickly browned over a very hot fire, and eaten dipped in hot salted water.

RECIPRO TO BO

governor Sulzer Freer Trade

Says Canada and States Need B Other's Produ

Canadian Premier L

This Attack on t Interests" at Albarquet, and Content self With an Add the Value of Pe tween the Two Co

Canadian Premier L. B. Sifton, in a speech at Albany, N. Y., last night, attacked the policy of reciprocity between Canada and the United States. He said that the United States was not doing enough to protect its own interests, and that Canada was being treated unfairly.

Mr. Sifton said that the United States was not doing enough to protect its own interests, and that Canada was being treated unfairly. He said that the United States was not doing enough to protect its own interests, and that Canada was being treated unfairly.

Mr. Sifton said that the United States was not doing enough to protect its own interests, and that Canada was being treated unfairly. He said that the United States was not doing enough to protect its own interests, and that Canada was being treated unfairly.

Mr. Sifton said that the United States was not doing enough to protect its own interests, and that Canada was being treated unfairly. He said that the United States was not doing enough to protect its own interests, and that Canada was being treated unfairly.

Mr. Sifton said that the United States was not doing enough to protect its own interests, and that Canada was being treated unfairly. He said that the United States was not doing enough to protect its own interests, and that Canada was being treated unfairly.

Mr. Sifton said that the United States was not doing enough to protect its own interests, and that Canada was being treated unfairly. He said that the United States was not doing enough to protect its own interests, and that Canada was being treated unfairly.

Advertisement for 'GENERAL' DRUGS, featuring a portrait of a man and text: 'The woman who grieves... Fatal Quebec Acc... Quebec, Feb. 24.—A man it was instantly killed and an ambulance had a leg broken...'