THE GRAND FALLS PROJECT

(Fredericton Mail)
 The policy of the government with respect to the development of the great water power at Grand Falls as announced in the Legislature by Premier Veniot will meet with the hearty endorsement of the people of New Brunswick. Of this there is not the shade of a doubt. H. G. Acres, an Ontario hydro expert employed by the government to investigate and report on the proposition at Grand Falls has prepared a report favoring the undertaking which was tabled in the Legislature Wednesday afternoon.

The Premier in his speech on the address referred to this document and amidst great applause from his supporters and announced that the government was prepared to go ahead with the work of development in the interests of the people. His announcement was perhaps the most momentous made in the Legislature by any Premier since Confederation. He was most emphatic in declaring for government ownership and operation against private development and control. In this connection his utterances were in marked contrast with those of Leader Richards who on the previous day was inclined to halt between two opinions. Possibly as intimidated by the Premier, the action of certain people in Woodstock in declaring in favor of A. R. Gould of Valley Railway fame as a fit and proper person to handle the Grand Falls proposition may have caused Mr. Richards to hesitate in declaring himself; but whether or not this is the case, he certainly failed to do himself justice on a question of such paramount importance to the people of New Brunswick. If the hands of the opposition leader have been tied by party considerations, he might as well come out flat-footed and say so and not try to quibble in regard to the matter. The question is of too great importance to the interests of the province to permit of halting between two opinions. Premier Veniot has committed the government to a policy of public ownership with respect to Grand Falls power and the public expect the opposition leader to be equally frank in stating his position.

Undoubtedly the development of Grand Falls power is the biggest scheme ever designed for the good of the people of New Brunswick. It is true that it will cost a lot of money, but Premier Veniot, staunch democrat that he is, has given his pledge that the people will be given a pretty fair idea of the cost before a blow is struck in the work of development. He has also given a most emphatic assurance that there is a market in sight for all the power that can be developed, and that the work can be carried on without the addition of a single dollar to the burden of the people of this province.

According to the plan outlined by the Premier in his great speech every section of New Brunswick will share in the benefits which are bound to come from the harnessing of the great cataract at Grand Falls. Transmission lines will be run north and south and every city, town and hamlet in the province, in addition to the farming districts will be in a position to share in the glorious boon of cheap lights and power. A more comprehensive scheme for developing the resources of New Brunswick was never designed by the mind of man.

It will mean the dawn of a new era for the people of this province and all will heartily welcome it.
 Premier Veniot is undoubtedly the right man to carry out the development of this colossal undertaking. As Minister of Public Works, he has given the province the best roads in its history and the people who make use of them are not slow to sing his praises. He is a man of dynamic energy and just the one to take hold of and carry through the big project which he outlined in his speech in the House yesterday. The Premier stands ready to do his part and it is up to the people of the province, those who have faith in it and its wonderful resources, to do theirs. If the plans of Premier Veniot are carried out as we believe they will be, the end of the next decade should find the people of New Brunswick enjoying abounding prosperity with a population close to the million mark.

What a Ragamuffin Did on Christmas Morning

By F. A. MITCHEL

Dr. Tourniquet, the famous surgeon, was sitting before his desk on Christmas morning looking over his accounts, though his principal work was making up his bank account. When the door was opened a little ragged boy entered.

"How did you get in here?" asked the doctor.

"The door was open and I walked into the house. Then I opened the next I came to."

"Well, what do you want?"

"Me mudder is next door to dying. Me fadder sent me for a doctor. I seen the sign and came in."

The doctor pushed aside the pile of checks before him and, swinging around in his chair, said:

"Your father didn't tell you to come to me?"

"No, sir. He said to go to any doctor I could find that would come. I've been to three before you. They axed me if I had any money to pay, and when I said no they showed me out."

The doctor continued to gaze at the boy meditatively, then took up a telephone transmitter and ordered his car brought along. Telling the boy to "come to the door," he got into the car and directed his chauffeur to drive to the address the child gave. He found a wretched home, wretched on account of poverty, on account of the woman being ill, but especially wretched to the doctor, whose patients usually lived in luxurious homes. He pictured houses he had visited the day before and the preparations for Christmas he had seen.

The woman was in a state of collapse, but a little treatment brought relief, and she was told that her trouble would disappear and was not likely to return, though the doctor left some medicine for her to take. This done, he took up his cases and was going out when the boy stepped up to him and holding out a handful of coppers and nickels, said:

"Here's my pay, doctor—me savin's for Christmas. I reckon I'll have to let Christmas go till next time."

Again the prosperous man looked at the ragged boy. What was the doctor thinking of? Was he picturing the drench of his clients who were loaded down with gifts on that Christmas morning, denied nothing, while this poor boy was handing him his savings for that anniversary which children love best? Did he take in his mind's eye the pile of checks he had left on his rosewood desk, his office? Did it occur to him that he was going back to his home to finish getting ready those checks to send to the bank in the morning, to dine sumptuously, leaving this family without a morsel of Christmas comfort?

Diving into his pocket, the doctor brought out a roll of bills and without counting them said to the invalid, her husband and their boy:

"Why it is that I am given so much and you so little is one of the great mysteries of the world. Take this, and buy whatever you need for your mother, your father and yourself. Remember this is Christmas morning. It's late to provide, but do the best you can."

"Oh, doctor," exclaimed the sick woman, "how good you are!"

"Good! Don't call me good. You don't know me, I'm selfish and mean. I live on the top wave of prosperity. I visit only those who are prosperous as myself. I'm not called on by the poor. I am considered too mighty. Had not some one left my front door ajar your boy would not have effected an entrance to my resplendent presence. Had he rung the bell my butler would have turned him away."

"We must all take care of ourselves, doctor," said the man. "If we don't nobody will take care of us."

"Some of us who have more than we need are in duty bound to take care of those who are suffering. I take care of no one."

"But you are kind and generous with your children, doctor?"

"What credit is that?" I once shot a bear's cub. The mother bear showed as much grief at the death of her offspring as I ever saw in any woman, and I have seen hundreds of parents at the deathbeds of their children."

"But you have begun to be good to the poor this Christmas day and will?"

The doctor turned away and went out without hearing what he would do in future. He knew he would do nothing. He believed it was his duty to do that which he and the world considered practicable. Suppose from that moment he should devote his time to those who could pay nothing for his services? Where would he be by next Christmas? His children were growing up in luxury. There must be a sudden cutting down of the family expenses. They must move out of their palatial residence. If he told the world why he made these changes, it would consider him demented. If he did not, the world would infer that he had lost his grip. He would no longer be called to the homes of the rich. He would lose caste with his fellow medical men. In time not only he, but his family, would be reduced to poverty.

Nevertheless, the ragamuffin's visit made a change in Dr. Tourniquet. "If I can't do these things myself," he argued, "there are others who can." After that the doctor was a giver to those associations that do the work of ministering to the poor.

Mrs. Heuben Shaw, mother of Kirby and Murray, was 91 years of age on Feb. 10, but a very feeble. She resides with the latter son, at East Brighton.

A Lewiston, Me., correspondent writes: "The people of the Gospel Mission surprised Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Smith by copying to their home one evening and presenting them with a handsome dinner set and other gifts. Refreshments of cake and ice cream were served in abundance and music was enjoyed by the people. Mrs. Smith was formerly Mrs. Susan L. Pelkie of Gordonsville."

Health—A Live Subject At Afternoon Teas

It is under such circumstances that experiences are exchanged and women tell one another what treatments have been of most benefit to them.

It is a pretty safe guess that in these teatime no medicine is so frequently mentioned as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and there is a very good reason why.

Any physician will tell you that most of the ailments which most bother women are due to lowered vitality.

In these days of surgical specialists the operation is too frequently the first thing recommended, whereas in many cases restored vitality would enable nature to restore the natural functions to the deranged organs.

Lowered vitality may come from the strain of irregular hours, loss of rest and sleep, too much excitement or worry.

It may also result from lack of proper nourishment, from over-eating or from sedentary habits.

When vitality runs low there is no end to the troubles that may arise and you are an easy prey to colds, pneumonia and all sorts of germ diseases.

Restorative treatment is demanded and because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has proven to be the greatest of restoratives of the blood and nerve force is why it is so greatly appreciated by women everywhere.

At this season of the year particularly, almost everybody is in need of such assistance as is found in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Put this popular restorative to the test when you find yourself nervous, irritable and sleepless or suffer from indigestion, headaches or tired, depressed feelings.

You will soon be convinced of its merits and will realize then why so many thousands of women find a joy in telling their friends of benefits received.

You will notice that while the price of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been increased to 60c, the box now contains 60 pills instead of 50 as formerly.

Likewise Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are 35c, a box of 35 pills, instead of 25c, for 25 pills. Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

What Will You Put in the Pot?

When you drink tea every cup should be a delicious refreshment—a distinct pleasure. But this demands good tea in the pot. You cannot possibly get satisfactory results from inferior tea.

Now consider the small cost of a cup of King Cole Tea—a mere fraction of a cent. Surprising isn't it? But its secret is in the rich liquoring King Cole blend which yields so generously in the number of cups to the pound. It makes King Cole the truly cheap tea. From whichever point you view it—economy—quality—or the wise combination of both, King Cole Tea claims your preference.

ANSWER TO MR. WAUGH

Dear Editor:

In a column of the last week's edition contained an opinion of where the proposed road from Campbellton should terminate, and the selected place being St. Leonards. If this road is being put through just for the fun of spending money St. Leonards is the place. As for being level land so is the Desert of Sahara. This level land has its draw backs, more so than up hills and crossing head waters of different rivers. This level land is owned and operated by an independent company, which means that the parting with this level land would in all probability take a large amount of money; and building a road 20 or 25 miles through unsettled timber land has also its draw backs. No road either summer or winter! Why not build this road over Government lands (people's rights) with prospects of, while crossing waters, seeing saw mills, with flourishing little villages sprouting up around this mill. And most all these road lands can be utilized into farms. The day is close at hand when farming will have to be practised more than today, or starvation will be staring us in the face. What is more pleasing to the eye than when on top of a high hill see spread before you green fields, or see the waving harvest that looks like molten gold? This is a sight that will be seen if this road terminates at Edmundston. If it terminates at St. Leonards, 20 or 25 miles mud in summer; snow in winter.

Yours truly,

A Subscriber.

The Complete De Luxe Beauty

THERE'S style in every line of this Jewett touring car. Japanese blue finish, matched by hand-crushed Spanish leather, is set off smartly by the flash of full nickeled trimmings and equipment. Its thousands of owners are proud of its appearance. And there's nothing to buy for this De Luxe beauty. Equipment is beautifully complete.

Thrilling Performance

In the New Jewett modest cost buys thrilling 50-horsepower performance—a light-footed nimbleness that outshines far more costly cars. The New Jewett shows best up hard hills. Takes hard hills in high, easily, that most cars "rush" to make. It even picks up on hills! And Jewett's power is flexible. You can drive from 2 to 60 miles an hour, or more, in high. It picks up from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 7 seconds, in high.

Jewett's cylinders are 3 1/4 x 5 inches, giving 249 cubic inches piston displacement. Jewett's motor stays good because it is high-pressure oiled, like the big Paige.

Convenient chassis size permits Jewett to park in but 16 1/2 feet at the curb. Turns around in a 42-foot street—enters or leaves your garage on but a 14-foot alley or driveway. Yet Jewett's bodies are as roomy inside as larger, cumbersome cars.

Delightful for Women

Women marvel at the easy handling of this powerful car. Gear-shifting is rarely necessary—and then how simple! Move the lever fast or slowly, with rarely a "miss" or clash. Clutch pressure is gentle—depress it with your hand to prove this. Jewett steers easily, due to ball-bearing steering spindles.

In all the world no car like this! Jewett Six combines mechanical superiorities and advantages found in no other car. Jewett is equalled mechanically only by cars costing $700 to thousands more—and then at the sacrifice of convenience and economy.

Drive this De Luxe beauty. Come in today for just the kind of a demonstration you want.

How Jewett Six Outclasses "Light" Sixes

Weight tells sturdiness. Jewett weighs 2800 lbs. "Light" sixes weigh 2550 lbs.—2545—2420—2300. No further evidence of Jewett's sturdiness is needed! As to power. The word "horsepower" is not a reliable guide. Cubic inches piston displacement indicate power. Jewett has 249 cu. in. piston displacement. The same "light" sixes have 207—177—171—169—from 20 to 40 per cent less than Jewett. Not one but will be sluggish compared with Jewett. Prove this by driving the Jewett. The difference will amaze you!

JEWETT SIX

PAIGE BUILT

OTTAWA, the political centre of Canada, and practically designated by the late Earl Grey as the possible centre of the British Empire of the future, never dreamed of the brilliant destiny in store for it when the Bank of Montreal established a Branch there 81 years ago.

Canada at that time was in many respects a terra incognita, consisting of half a dozen provinces with differing laws, tariffs and currencies. And Ottawa was only a lively little lumber camp called Bytown.

Today Ottawa is not only the name of a beautiful city, but is also a synonym for the voice of a nation—like Downing Street and the Quai d'Orsay.

The name of the Bank of Montreal, too, has enlarged in significance in the intervening years. It is now recognized as the title of a nation-wide institution ranking among the leading banks of the world.

PROPOSED CHANGE IN LAW WOULD RUIN POTATO MARKET

In condition. "We believe the present Act, meets the requirements and would be very pleased to try and carry same out, but once you change this Act, as outlined, you will find the Act will not be lived up to because it is impossible and is too big a hardship on the potato growers of this country and moreover, we do not believe it is asked for by the people that are consuming potatoes."

"We pointed out to you the U. S. grade law and their grade one is the same grade as the grade B asked for in this request. We would strongly urge against any action on this part."

HATFIELD & CO., LTD.
B. F. Smith Urges No Change
In his prompt reply Hon. B. F. Smith said:

"I have been handed a copy of the Resolution which was submitted by the Canadian Horticultural Council."

"I cannot conceive why any such amendment should be passed. It is impossible to discover where the benefit would be derived, and on the other hand it would certainly inflict a great hardship on the shippers and growers of the Maritime Provinces."

"I cannot believe there could have been any general demand for change in this from the Maritime Provinces, at least, and I would suggest that if such change is to be taken seriously by the Department, that the very fullest publicity should be given to all who are interested, also an opportunity to voice their protest."

"B. F. SMITH."
Over the telephone A. D. McCain stated that the proposed new grading act would be disastrous to the potato industry and he said he had at once voiced his protest to the Commissioner and had also written to T. W. Caldwell, M. P., to get after the matter.

G. F. Gallagher could not at the time of going to press give the answer he was making in exact words but he was emphatically opposed to adding new burdens to the farmers and practically killing the potato market, which would be the result of the resolution. He told The Observer his protest could not be voiced in terms too strong.

SALIENT POINTS IN THE PREMIER'S STATEMENT ON GRAND FALLS DEVELOPMENT

That every care be exercised in obtaining the necessary data on which to base a decision.

That the Government has taken the decision to enter as soon as circumstances will permit upon the development of the water power at Grand Falls.

That the initial work will be designed to take care of the development from 120,000 to 140,000 horse power.

That the Province will be divided in two sections, Northern and Southern.

That the entire Province will receive the benefit of the power development.

That the Southern transmission line will run from Grand Falls to Woodstock, Fredericton, branching off to McAdam, up to the Nashua and Miramichi Valleys, also a line from Fredericton to Miramichi and Chipman.

That hydro development will be the salvation of New Brunswick.

That the work can be carried on with success without costing the exchequer of the Province one dollar. That it will be self-sustaining and at the maturity of the debt will be a valuable asset.

That there is no need of being fearful of a market for the development of at least 120,000 horse power. That other water powers of the province, of little value as separate units, can be linked up with the main system.

That the Government is in touch with parties who desire to invest capital in the establishment of new industries to be operated by hydro power.

That the development will be carried out by the government in the interests of the people.

Full details of the project will be submitted to the people before action is taken.

SEVEN YEARS OF TORTURE

Headaches and Indigestion Ended By "Fruit-a-lives"

The Marvellous Fruit Medicine

Like thousands and thousands of other sufferers, Mr. Albert Varner of Buckingham, P.Q., tried many remedies and went to doctors and specialists, but nothing did him any good.

Finally a friend advised him to try "Fruit-a-lives"—now he is well. As he says in a letter:

"For seven years, I suffered terribly from Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas, bitter stuff would come up in my mouth, often vomiting, and was terribly constipated. I took Fruit-a-lives, and this grand fruit medicine made me well."

BROTHERS DIE SAME DAY

CLARENCE NICHOLSON

The community of Connell was shocked and saddened on March 3, when the news flashed over the telephone that Clarence Nicholson, a respected and lifelong resident of Connell had very suddenly passed away.

He went out to do his customary chores and being gone longer than usual his friends became anxious and his next door neighbor, C. F. Miller, went to the barn to look for him. There he found his lifeless body just as he had fallen off the bench while in the act of milking. Although he had been in poor health for some time and subject to fainting spells, none of his friends thought of any immediate danger.

His wife predeceased him five years ago and as they had no family, his nearest surviving relatives are his nephew, Tyson Nicholson of Middle Simonds, and four nephews and three nieces in Vancouver. He was a good neighbor and will be greatly missed by his friends. The funeral services, which were held in the U. B. church, were conducted by Rev. H. V. Braden assisted by Rev. K. M. Vallie. Interment was in Garrison Hill cemetery.

EDWARD NICHOLSON

On Tuesday morning, Mar. 4, Tyson Nicholson of Middle Simonds received a telegram containing the sad news of the death of his father, Edward Nicholson, which occurred on Monday, after a few days illness at his home in Vancouver.

The late Mr. Nicholson was formerly a resident of Connell, having lived here the greater part of his life. He was a good citizen, kind-hearted and genial, and was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

Therefore it was with a deep sense of sorrow that his old friends and neighbors learned of his passing away, and heartfelt sympathy goes out to his bereaved and lonely widow, who was truly a loyal and loving helpmate through the journey of life which they have travelled together for nearly sixty years. Since they went to Vancouver fifteen years ago, where four of their children had preceded them, they have twice returned to their native land, where they were joyfully received, not only by their three children who remained here, but by their neighbors and many friends throughout the country and province.

Last summer their many N. B. friends who now are residents of Vancouver held a picnic at Central Park in honor of their fifty-ninth anniversary, which the worthy couple were fully able to enjoy and which was only a small evidence of the esteem in which they were held.

Besides his wife the deceased is survived by four sons, Vernon, Augustus and Edward of Vancouver, and Tyson of Middle Simonds, and two daughters, Mrs. Fred Holmes of Vancouver, and Mrs. Wesley Atwaters who removed to Vancouver hardly a year ago; also twenty-one grandchildren, and one great grandchild. The sincere sympathy of friends in the homeland is extended to the bereaved widow and children.

It is a notable coincidence that the deaths of the two brothers whose obituaries appear above occurred on the same day and so nearly as can be reckoned at the same hour; their funeral services also being held at the same time.

The John M. Nevers' farm at Coldstream, four miles from Hartland, containing 80 acres, mostly cleared, house if repaired would make a comfortable dwelling; good barn with concrete floor; wagon shed, woodshed, etc. This can be secured at a great bargain. Apply to E. W. Leakey, Hartland, N. B.

same time. The brothers, Edward and Clarence, whose ages were 57 and 47 years respectively, were the oldest and youngest and last surviving members of a family of seven children born to the late John and Eliza Nicholson, the late John Nicholson being a United Empire Loyalist, whose father and family figured prominently in military circles in the early years of the nineteenth century. He, who was one of the pioneer settlers at the mouth of the Big Presque Isle, now known as Connell, erected his home on the hill overlooking the St. John river just below the promontory where a garrison was once stationed to defend the country from the enemy, should they attempt to come up the river. There he reared his family until they were well grown when they began to scatter; two sons and one daughter going to the American West where they died many years ago; two sons to the Canadian West one of whom is the late Edward, and the other two, a daughter who has also been dead many years, and the late Charles, remained on their native soil. Their remains with those of their honored ancestors lie in the old Garrison Hill cemetery, where many of the noble dead are buried.

Commencing at the junction of the Becaguine River with the St. John River on the south side of the said Becaguine River, thence running southerly along the eastern bank or shore of the St. John River to the southern line of lands owned by W. W. Mellin, thence running the said easterly direction along the said W. W. Mellin line, crossing the main highway road leading from Hartland to Lower Brighton, the Canadian Pacific Railway track and the old highway road (now called High Street) or its prolongation southerly, to a point distant two hundred feet east from the easterly side line of said High Street, or its said prolongation, thence in a northerly direction and parallel to the said side line of said High Street to the said Becaguine River and thence following the various courses of the last mentioned river down stream to the place of beginning.
