Old Fashioned Talk. Dr. Goss, an English Catholie Bishop, in a recent address made some talk which has a very old-fashioned sound.

Having spoken of the evils, meral and physical, resulting from overcowded dwellings, and the trightful consequences of indulgence in drink, he that he had been seen at La Guayana, and had but I will frightful consequences of indugence in druk, me referred to parental neglect of children. To this source he attributed much of the gross immorali-ty prevailing in our large towns. Many children were spoiled and ruined by having their own way.
