CITY COUNCIL TO ASK AGREEMENT FROM FIRM TO REMAIN IN LONDON

Property of the McCormick Biscuit Works Appears To Have Been Favored at the Meeting Held To Select Site for a New City Hall.

COMPANY TO BE ASKED TO PLEDGE ITSELF TO EMPLOY 800 HANDS

Ald. Coles, Chairman of the Special Building Committee, Was Deputed to Approach the Company and Make the Arrangements.

After debating for two hours last night, the city council did not decide where the new city hall is to be built. The announcement was made after the meeting that another session would be held on Friday at noon, when the selection would possibly be made. In the meantime, Ald. Coles, chairman of the committee, was instructed to obtain further information regarding two Dundas street sites, and report to

According to information secured from the members of the council, six sites were placed before the meeting-the Spencer Block, the McCormick, property, the Eccles site, the southeast corner of Waterloo and Dundas streets, the southwest corner of Maple and Richmond streets, and the "V," Richmond street north.

The latter was bowled out early in the evening, none of the members considering it very seriously. It was found impossible to secure the Christian Science Church without expropriation proceedings, and these would be so expensive that the committee did not think it worth while to seriously consider it.

MOST FAVORED SITE.

Of the other five, the McCormick property was the one most favored. In fact, it was chiefly because of it that the committee adjourned until Friday. Ald. Coles announced that the company were willing to sell at a reasonable figure. They would agree to remain in

However, the committee thought that something more definite should be obtained. The property at the present time is unsuited to the needs of the firm, and they are desirous of obtaining more ground

AGREEMENT IS ASKED.

It was decided that Ald. Coles should obtain from the McCormick Company a definite agreement to remain in the city, erect a modern plant, and employ 800 people. If they would agree to this, the council would purchase the property.

In the meantime, he is to obtain information regarding the Spe cer Block, and the Waterloo and Dundas streets site. The prices and dimensions were not altogether clear to the committee, and further information was desirable, in the opinion of the aldermen.

OPTION EXPIRES FRIDAY.

One of the options secured expires on Friday night, and the committee will make an attempt to decide, so far as that site is concerned at least what location shall be selected.

"We laid the various propositions before the council," said Ald-"We adjourned until Friday noon, when further information will be presented to the aldermen. We did not do anything more than discuss the matter informally. We hope to make a selection

Further than that he would not commit himself. What site would be eventually selected he would not say,

Those present at the meeting were Ald. Coles, chairman; Ald. Richter, Ald. Spittal, Ald. Johnston, Ald. Bennett, Ald. Ashplant, Ald. Murphy, Ald. Rose, Ald. Moore, Ald. Blandford and Mayor Graham.

DIFFICULTIES MULTIPLYING FOR CITY HALL COMMITTEE

It Is Said To Be a Certainty That the Members Will Not Select a Site For New Structure at Meeting Tomorrow.

Difficulties are multiplying for the that, $35,000, covers all the land owned city hall committee, and it can be said by Dr. Eccles. with all assurance that the city council will not select a site on Friday at

Wording of the Bylaw. The wording of the bylaw raising $75,000 for city hall purposes is causing no little uneasiness among the aldermen at the present time. document explicitly states, that the bylaw is passed to raise $75,000 to "complete" the city hall. If the sum of $100,000 is expended for a site alone $75,000 will not go very far towards completing the building, and further money will have to be secured. claim is made that it will be illegal for the council to expend a very large sum of money on the choice of a location for the city hall. " These matters are creating no end of interest, and what the solution is to be is rather hard to discover at the present time. In any event, it does not appear likely that the choice of a site will be made within a day or

Big Cases of Glass Fell On Top of the Driver and He Was Pinned Under Load.

Oscar Hall, aged 20 years, who resides at 138 Bathurst street, was so badly injured Wednesday afternoon when the lorry he was driving toppled over and buried him under a heavy load of glass, that he is lying in Victoria Hospital at present at the point of death. TWO NEW SCHOOLS MAY BE ERECTED BY BOARD IN 1913

Question of Additional Accommodalion Will Be Taken Up at Once.

ABERDEEN SCHOOL AND ONE IN SOUTH LONDON

Latter Depends Upon Whether or Not the Bridge to Connect West London Is Built.

The question of additional school commodation will be grappled with by the board of education at once. From present indications, one robably two, new schools will be constructed next year. The board of education have declared themselves in favor of a new school to replace Aberdeen school. If the West London bridge is built next spring, another school will be erected in South London, in the northwest section. A new building at Aberdeen would relieve the congestion in the southeast section. The South London building would relieve West London and South Lendon, leaving matters in a fairly good condition for a year.

A Large Problem. "The problem of more accommodation is a large one, and we will have to face it at once," said Rev. J. Gibson Inkster, who has taken a deep interest in this matter. "In the first place, we must have a new school to replace the Aberdeen school. That is essential, and it is too bad that we have not got it started this year. I have been in favor of doing this all the time. but we could not get start-ed. We hope to have this matter settled right away. This would re-lieve that section, by a readjustment of the school boundaries a little.

In South London. "We did also talk of a new school for South London. The bridge connecting that portion of the city with West London was not constructed, and he plans for a new building there fell to the ground. That will have to be attended to, and that very soon. We have a number of other buildings, not equal to the needs of the city, but a thorough report will have to be made on these matters. We should erect a new modern school a year, the same as they have been ing in Hamilton and other cities, and we will soon have London good shape.

The Collegiate, Too. "And while we are talking of prob-lems, we have the Collegiate to think of. It has been condemned, and in a short time will have to be re-placed. We will, I anticipate, lay out a plan for the betterment of school conditions throughout the city. It will be scientific, based on accurate knowledge of conditions. We will then carry it, out in its entirety."

Though Coroner Maclaren will make no statement on the subject, it has been learned that William Schaefer, the London Rolling Mills employee who died in Victoria Hospital, after having been found in an unconscious condition, near the Walper House, on Talbot street, some days ago, committed suicide.

Those around the hotel, who first ran to the aid of the man were suspicious, but no traces of poison could be found at the time. Even at the hospital, there was doubt that Schaefer had spicided, and it was only when the mouth was opened very wide that traces of carbolic acid burns were found In order to clear the matter up, Dr. Maclaren ordered an inquest,

Conduit Tangle. CLUSTER LIGHTS ARE BEING HELD UP NOW

But Chairman Pocock Says the Legislature Will Pass Legislation To Be Asked.

The Provincial Government will pass egislation enabling the water commissioners to apply rentals to be received for conduits in reducing the frontage tax of the ratepayers, in front of whose property the conduits are laid. This is the reason the commissioners have not gene ahead and erected the cluster lights on Dundas street east and Richmond street north, although largely signed petitions in favor of that cours have been presented to the city. Chairman Philip Pocock stated today that the Government would undoubtedly eass such a law at the next session, and then the cluster lights here would be erected.

Under Frontage Plan. "The cluster lights on Richmond and Dundas streets now in use were laid under the frontage plan," explained Mr Pocock. "The property-owners along the street paid the whole cost, with the exception of a sum granted by the commission to cover the cost of poles. In these conduits are ducts which will in a short time be used by other companies -electric, telephone and telegraph. The city will receive a rental for them, and it was our opinion that the property-owners who paid the price should receive the money in order to reduce the tax to be paid by them. The conduits were much larger than the property-owners needed for their own personal use, and it is nothing but fair that they should receive some return.

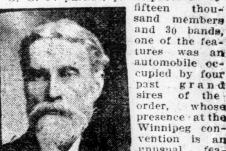

"When the petitions for the extension of the system up Richmond and Dundas streets were circulated, the petitions contained a clause to the effect that the rentals were to apply as in the case of the others. When the petitions were presented to the city council they were held up by Ald. Richter, who took the ground that the rentals should come back to the city. We could not see the force of this argument, as the ratepayers along the street, not the city as a whole, were to pay the cost. Ald. Richter had the law on his side, and as a result, nothing has been done

"A general law, we are informed, will be passed at the next session of the Legislature, allowing us, as well as other nunicipalities, to apply the rentals on the cost of the conduits.

"I am heartly in favor of the exten-sion of the ornamental lighting system. The successful lighting of the downtown sections is argument enough in its favor I expect that some day it will extend to the residential sections. Here it will

LONDON, THURSDAY, SEPT. 19.

THE EAST MIDDLESEX SEAT. The London Free Press protests that it had no intention of imputing land. "What we did charge," it says,

The charge was repeated after Mr. Sutherland's death, and after it had been decided to withdraw the petition dian horses in the United States, beagainst him. What right has the Free Press to level such an accusation? It knows nothing about the facts. It may have seen a list of charges in the election petition which has been withdrawn, but not one of them has been proven. The Free Press cannot show that one of them is capable of proof or has any foundation. It is easy for Mr. Sutherland's enemies to shout "corruption!" when they know they are in no danger of being asked to prove it in law. No attempt having been made to support these allegations, a tribute of silence ought in decency to be paid the memory of the late Mr. Sutherland, To say that he owed his election to corrupt practices without producing a tittle of evidence to warrant it, is a slur on the reputation of an honorable man who is in his grave and can make no reply or defence. It is a slur, too, on those many liberal-minded Conservatives in East Middlesex who were among Mr. Sutherland's prominent supporters. They have not been forgiven because Neely. They, too, are included in an Imperial defence policy carried on by delegations of the mother country of patriotism in the hog or the wheat learn that Mr. Borden has discovered The Manchester Guardian fears that and the dominions would be still more arbitrary and independent of popular control than the Foreign Office now is. A plea is made for an alliance rather than a federation of all the Britains.

No Englishman, says the Guardian, would now prefer a federation with the United States to an alliance with that nation. The pride of John Bull in his own beloved island, in London, the great commercial wonder and forcing bed of genius, in the Parliament and buildings of Westminster. and in the superior culture of Great Britain and Ireland, would repudiate a direction of his foreign affairs from Washington. Would he ever be more delighted to accept such a direction from Ottawa? The Guardian says:

"But though a formal federation between England and the United States would not be desirable now, even if it were possible, an alliance, formal or informal, might well be of the future development of the dominions, the same reasoning will apply to them as to the United States. Of the two ideals, a system of alliances between equal and kindred nations is ultimately preferable to a union which, if it were durable, would be subversive of local autonomy. The navy bill of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, whatever its imperfections of detail, envisaged the first of these alternatives. It is clear that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has not abandoned the ideas that underlay his bill. The organization of Canada's navy will presently be the chief issue in her politics, and it is most important that the English Government should not take sides with one party against the other. And not only does Sir Wilfrid Laurier hold by his old policy, but he repudiates the view of European affairs on which Mr. Borden's schemes are based. He does not believe in the German peril; there is place enough in the sun for say what he did mean and say. all, he said last week at Ottawa. It would be the last and the worst misfortune of our anti-German policy if we allowed it to rush England and the dominions into hasty schemes of union which, because they are hasty, we are convinced would ultimately make for dis-

Imperial federation on machine lines is only a romantic, half-waking dream. How many good ideas seem to come to one's mind between waking and sleeping in the dead of night. The dreamer; strives to impress the thought on his memory that it may be utilized on the morrow. With morning and senses all alive, the idea will not come back, or if it does, it looks so insubstantial as to be thrown aside at once with no more than a melancholy smile of regret.

Try to focus this idea of federation in the broad daylight of detailed possibilities, and it is seen to be the baseless fabric of a vision, As well expect to fly away with a fairy princess as to realize an imperial federation under the modern conditions of nationality and democracy. But imperial unity, based upon local autonomy, is an ideal already largely realized, though its final form has not been reached. It may be shaping toward an alliance of equal and kindred nations, as the Guardian hopes and predicts. In such an alliance the mother country would naturally be primus inter pares-first among equals. And the British crown would be the living link and symbol of union

A QUESTION.

The stupid assertion that because the United States is an exporter of wheat it offers no market for Canadian wheat is one of the stock "arguments' of the opponents of reciprocity Will these wiseacres explain why the United States bought $236,256 worth of album Canadian wheat last year in spite of duty of 25 cents a bushel? Or $10,-385,705 worth of Canadian farm products of all kinds? Or $10,063,544 worth of animals and animal produce? On their theory of trade not a dollar's worth of these things could have gone rom Canada to the United States. An elementary knowledge of the principles of commerce would have protected them against this error. It state is a trading concern, Individuals, not countries, buy and sell. Yet "is that Mr. Neely was defeated by in the trade returns the United States figures as an exporter of horses, and > surplus of horses!" It is the same with other commodities. Quantities of dairy products are shipped from Ontario to Michigan, Ohio, and Eastern States, because of the proximity of producer and consumer. Foodstuffs from the United States are shipped into the Canadian West for the same reason, and for the further reason that the Canadian prairies grow grain to the exclusion of these things. Soft wheat is exported from the United States to England. but Canadian hard wheat is in demand by United States millers.

"See, there is no market for Cana-

And now once again will these fiscal neophytes who say there is no market across the line for Canadian farmers explain how Canadian farmers sent over $20,000,000 worth of stuff there last year in spite of the duty?

Naturally Cobalt liked Laurier's silver tongue.

Top prices for cattle this week are $11 per hundredweight in Chicago, they refused to bow the knee to Mr. $9.75 in Buffalo, and $7 in Toronto. See what the Canadian farmer escaped these wholesale accusations. They will a year ago.

It was a great achievement of Laurier's to get on the right side of the two most important questions before that has been shown to Mr. Borden by two most important questions delote the people markets and the navy. His opponents got into office and into The Montreal Gazette seems to be deep hole at the same time.

The London commissioner of indusry asserted that in competing for new industries London was handicapped because the price of power was higher landlord. "You can see an heiress in than in places nearer Niagara Falls, and that a flat rate for power would greatly help the city. His statement was accurately reported in The Advertiser, and he makes no denial of it. It is only the Free Press that is trying to make out that he didn't mean and

The Conservative leaders and the Conservatives themselves want wider markets, and realize that an expanding country like Canada must have them. But they also realize this, that so far as the United States are concerned, their markets will be open to us much more freely in a few months than at present, and without any concession on Canada's part.-Kingston Standard.

The Standard is a double-dyed traitor — a traitor to its country and its party. Hasn't it heard that the American market is of absolutely no A Special Meeting of London use to Canada, and that if it were, it would seduce Canadians from their allegiance? If the Standard hasn't heard this, it has turned a deaf ear to every anti-reciprocity orator and organ in the country. The Standard is out of tune with the party chorus.

AN ENGLISH VIEW OF CANADIAN OPTIMISM.

[Manchester Guardian.] It might have been conjectured that roperty-owners and real estate agents in Regina would like to forget as soon as possible the windstorm that devastated the town on Sunday, June 30 and that they would also like the outside world to forget it as soon as possible. But there is no damping the enthusiasm—built on a cash basis—of the real estate boomers of Western Canada, and when one of the local newspapers of Regina issued an album of twenty-four large photogra-phic views of the wreck left behind by the windstorm real estate agents promptly ordered and paid for tens of thousands of copies of the album. Even the publisher was surprised at this demand, and asked why real estate boomers, of all people doing busi-ness in Regina, had any use for the

REFLECTIONS ON A HORSE

IBy Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

Today a horse seems an antiquated animal, a fit candidate for the limbo where live the ghosts of dinosaurs, hippogriffs, dodos and dragons. Just the same, the herse is much more poetic than a motor-car. This thought has occurred to me many times, but never so forcibly as it did the other day when I visited a fruit farm owned by a friend of mine, who indulges in visions of enormous plum crops on the shores of Lake Ontario, near Hamilton, On his 16-acre farm he has had one horse, but owing to the increase in the yield of cucumbers and tomatoes in this wet, succulent season, he has seen fit to buy another equine. As he did not have much money at his disposal, he bought a Hamilton horse, that had seen better days. I saw it the other day on the fruit farm. It was a very foggy day, and as I looked across the cucumber patch, the aged equine assumed a soft, poetic pose in that Scotch-Canadian mist .But there was no mistaking the raggedness of the sky-line of Napoleon Bonaparte, for such was the animal's name, and, from the manner in which he propped his weary frame against a chestnut tree, I inferred that he was both wind-galled and spavined. But his whole attitude was one of peacefulness and joy. In spite of the dirty weather I could see that the bony, old fellow was enveloped in a dream of peace, and was congratulating himself on having escaped from the rigors of city life to the lush grass and easy hours of a fruit farm. For him this little farm on the southern shores of Lake Ontario was Beu,lah Land

And as we went up and down the cucumber patch old Bonaparte dozed and dreamed, and anon cropped the plentiful grass with his yellow teeth. He was not thinking of me, but I was thinking of him. And the oftener I looked towards him the more poetic he seemed. I suppose this was why l asked my friend, the fruit-grower, if he had ever read "Childe Roland to the Dark Tower Came." He joyfully said no, and asked if Childe Roland was a new variety of cucumber. I took pleasure in informing him that "Childe Roland to the Dark Tower Came" was one of the finest and darkest poems that Browning ever wrote. When he inquired what connection there was between Browning and his cucumber patch, I pointed to the lean and pathetic silhouette of Napoleon Bonaa piece of tapestry," I said, "Browning might have used your horse yonder maple trees in regular lines on their as his inspiration for the sketch of the property. The council expected that animal in his Childe Roland poem." Needless to say, my friend was much pride was so strong at the time that flattered when I turned his thought to applications for the boxes poured in, Browning's description of a Napoleon Bonaparte equine, probably the best description of a horse that we have in to support and protect the young the language, unless it be Shakespeare's immortal sketch in "Venus and

Our correspondent informs us that the council of about forty years ago (during the term of City Eng William Robinson), agreed to Engineer William Robinson), agreed to give tree boxes to all, who would plant at the outside not more than 2,000 boxes would be needed. Instead, civic and, it is believed, more than 4,000 were issued to citizens. The boxes, which everyone will understand, were trees, cost 50 cents apiece, so that for $2,000 London began a tree planting movement, out of which came the vast park in which we are able to live sweet, clean and pleasant lives today. As an aid to public health the importance of the trees is inestimable, and as for their value as a civic asset, is not London known the world as a city of beautiful streets and homes, because the trees form a maze of cool leafy galleries in summer, a great cathedral wrought in red and gold tapestries in autumn, and an inspiring, mystic fairyland when the branches are touched with snow or frost? Dear Madam-On my return from Great Britain I received your letter of the 30th July last, It would be very difficult, I fear. for me to find an opportunity of addressing the Women's Canadian Club of London during the present year. An Excellent Club. The Women's Canadian Club of London has been organized but two or three years, but already its excellent work along educational and patriotic lines has made itself felt in the lives of women of the city. The policy of the club is non-political, non-sectarian, and any woman interested in social reforms, philanthropic movements, or the trend of modern events should lose no time in adding her name to the membership list.

PRESERVING FRESH EGGS

As it is many times impossible to get strictly fresh eggs, it is necessary to use some test. "Candling" is a common test. To candle eggs hold them up against a light; the fresh eggs appear clouded. If incubation has begun a dark spot is seen; a rotten egg appears dark colored.

The natural waistline having been decided upon, the popularity of the belt is assured. For the Convalescent

Here is the way one woman kept a convalescent child from feeling dull. Her ideas may telp mothers of sick children in their efforts to amuse the baties:

"First, I asked the little girl who was sick to cut those pictures that pleased her best out of a pile of old magazines," said the woman in telling "Then I placed these scraps up in a basket on a table and called up the invalid's sisters and brothers, and dealt ore picture out to each child in turn. The children sitting to the left of me (the dealer) looked carefully at the picture and began a story, bringing into it every-thing he saw in the illustration.

The Short Girl

Many young women write to know how they may be able to appear taller than they are.

There are a great many things which a girl may accustom herself to do which will add inches to her appearance. The first rule should be to keep the chin up. Dress the neck either low or with a very high, tight collar. The second rule should be to wear the hair dressed high on the head. Never wear a wide pompa-

Another rule is to wear rather high neeled shoes. The last and not the least important is to wear gowns with long lines. Short girls should affect trains on their gowns whenever the opportunity presents itself.

In adhering to the fashion in dress the short girl should avoid round trimmings, shoulder draperies, and plaits. Her jackets and wraps should be long and narrow. The line from never broken by trimmings.

Hair ornaments should be worn high and never large. Hats should be narrow, with some smart feather trimming-narrow and straight up in the air.

Any exercise which causes one to reach above the head, such as tennis and medicine ball will narrow the hips and lengthen the waist of a short Standing a great deal-well poised, not leaning against anything-will make one appear taller than one naturally is.

Some women believe that stripes are inclined to add the appearance of height to a short, stout figure. This is not true. In fact, wide stripes accentuate stoutness.

Colors are likely to add an appearance of thickness to a stout figure. White and black are both becoming, and with long lines from neck to foot neither one will add anything to the width of a figure. Gray is always a negative color for subduing stoutness. When worn loosely it assumes soft shadows which hide all

WEIR DEFEATED SABINE FOR QUOITING HONORS

Toronto Fireman Won the American Championship by Score of 61 to 58-Win Was a Big Surprise-Errington Captured the Lightweight Championship.

One of the biggest surprises in years at the Forest City Quoiting Club's tourney took place yesterday afternoon rington, London's oldest quoiter, defeatwhen Wm. Weir, the Toronto fire-fighter, defeated Robert Sabine, twice champion, in the finals for the American championship. The game was one of the best ever played on the Horter grounds and was the Horton street grounds, and was the peg every time, and he scored almos witnessed by a large crowd. Weir is a good quoiter, but no one conceded him a chance, against Sabine, who is considered the best in Canada. Weir got off to an early lead and he was never headed, although Sabine drew up to within a point of him on sev- Storey eral occasions.

At the fortieth end the score Storey v was 25 to 23, in favor of Weir, and at the fiftieth end Weir was still leading by the score of 31 to 28. Sabine drew up closer on the sixtleth end, the score at that stage being 37 to 35, and at the seventieth end the score was 44 to 42. Sabine was playing a great game at this stage, and he drew up still closer to his opponent, the eightieth end finding him only a point behind, with the score 50 to 49 in Weir's favor. On the ninetieth end, Weir had drawn up a trifle, and the score stood 57 to 55. On the next five ends Weir scored 4 to his opponent's 3, and the game ended with the score 61 to 58.

THREE POST-SEASON SERIES ONLY THIS YEAR

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, Sept. 19.-President Ban Johnson, of the American League, returned to Chicago last night from Cincinnati with the announcement that there would be only three post-season series between league teams. The one of greatest interest, probably, will be the series be-twen the Boston Americans and the New Pork Nationals for the world's champion-ship. The other series will be between the two St. Louis teams and the two

Chicago teams.
In making the announcement, President ohnson made the provision that these games would take place in the event that the Cubs fail to win the National pennant.

Johnson said it was evident that Pitts arg did not want to meet either the hiladelphia or Boston teams, and that there was no prospect of a meeting be tween the Cincinnati and Cleveland teams for the Ohio championship.

Mack Picks Red Sox to Win World's Series

[Canadian Press.]

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—Baseball fans here were somewhat surprised today to learn that Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Americans, had broken his hitherto invariable rule against making predictions, by picking the Boston Americans as the likely winners of the approaching world's series with the New York Nationals.

Here is Mack's opinion on the subject:

"The Boston Red Sox should win the world's championship of 1912 with as much ease as we captured it in 1911. "Some people seem to be under the impression that the Boston team are liable to waiver when the big games are staged. But there is not a cub or youngster in the line-up. All are tried and true, and will go through the series without a quivering."

NEWARK AND JERSEY CITY CLUBS OFFERED FOR SALE

New York, Sept. 18.—If men with money want to buy a leading minor league club, a chance will be offered on Oct. 1. The Newark club of the international League, will be placed on the market on that day unless certain things happen beforehand. The club is owned by four men.—H. Clay Smith, of Chicago; Joseph McGinnity, Charles H. Ebbets and Charles Solomon. Smith, according to authentic reports, has tired of his investment, and is anxious to sell.

According to a private agreement, if one of the Newark owners desires to withdraw, the three others must buy his stock within a stipulated time limit. If Smith, therefore, cannot get rid of his Newark stock within the next two weeks, the club as a whole will be for sale, and $75,000 is said to be the figure at which it can be secured.

The Jersey City club, too, is said to be on the market. James J. Lillis and Hugh McBreen, the owners, held several conferences here last week. It was admitted several weeks ago that the club would lose money, chiefly because of the location of West Side Park. If Lillis and McBreen decide to stick, it is said that new capital will be invested, and a new park built on the line of the Hudson County boulevard. The plan under consideration is to lease the new park to a certain money club, for Sunday games. If they do not come across, the dissatisfied shareholder has the right to sell the whole light to the highest bidder. BIG INGERSOLL FAIR

THE CITY IS BLAMED

It Is Claimed That the Estimates Presented by Local Department Did Not Cover All Repair.

The contractors who were awarded their share of the work in connection with the alterations and repairs at the courthouse, before it was discovered that the cost would exceed the estimates prepared by the architect, are pushing the job ahead as quickly as is possible under the circumstances The masonry, heating and carpenter work are now nearly completed. The addition on the south side of the building, which will include the law library on the second floor, the offices of Mr. E. Weld and Mr. Flock; the vault and lavatories on the first floor, and the engine and boiler rooms in the basement, is finished, with the exception of some carpenter work and the installation of the heating system, which has been held back on account of a large force fan, which was to assist in the ventilation of the building having become lost while being ship ped to London from Montreal.

Tiling the Floors. The cement flooting, upon which the tiling will be placed, is already laid, but as the contract for the tiling has not been awarded as yet, it is not likely that that part of the work will be completed for some time. Other contracts that have yet to be accepted are those for the plumbing, plastering and rough-casting. Engineer Talbot stated that even if the contracts ore awarded soon it will be next to impossible to have all the work completed this winter. To insure the completion of the work by the time the courts commence, the contracts should have been awarded some time ago,

The total estimate for the work. ronized by the citizens of the town and prepared by the architect, was $27,000 of which the city agreed to pay half This amount has already been expended In paying for the contracts that have already been awarded, and now the county son, of Toronto; George McNeil, the find that to complete the work it will be find that to complete the work it will be necessary to add nearly $15,000 to the original estimate. The city, when approached by the rural municipality in proached by the rural municipality in regard to their share of the additional expense, refused to consider the ques-tion, stating that the city agreed to pay half of the original estimate, and also intimated to the county that all the additional expenditures would have to borne by the county. At present matter stands in abeyance, and even the work that has already been commenced cannot be finished until the other work is completed.

Blame the City. The county officials state that all the estimates were made by the city en-gineer's department, and just because some of the work was never estimated upon it should not be up to the county to pay for the oversight of the city employees. It will be only a matter of a few weeks before all the work that can be done on the allotted contracts until the others are awarded will be finished. Some anxiety has been caused by the statement that the court room will not be in readiness for the coming assizes by the fact that the judge, if he deems that the court room is not in fit condition in which to hold a court, can order that the court be held in another building. County Engineer Talbot, however, is the authority for the statement that the court room will be in readiness for the sittings that commence in October.

Pottsville, Sept. 19. — A telegram received here from the acting secretary of the department of commerce and labor in Washington gives assurances that the United States Government intends to begin at once a detailed investigation of the causes of the short supply of anthracite in New York and New England. The investigation will be a part of the inquiry into certain other aspects of the coal situation now being conducted by the oureau of labor.

Local leaders of the United Mine Workers declare that there is no necessity for a scarcity of coal, and that large quantities of anthracite are now being stored in this region, particularly at Landigville, where there is to be enough coal piled to New York city all winter.

It is pointed out that the city of London on the city parks, and the water commission on Springbank Park, spent about as much money for maintenance as the present commission now has for all purposes, and it would appear that the dual system of caring for the breathing spots of London was not as successmal of any age in the roadster than was ful as the plan adopted this year track was very heavy, and fast time was ing one body to look after them all, impossible. No Cessation of Work at the River Park, Declared Chairman Marr to the Members of the Board.

The parks commission will be able to complete the work in hand this year without an overdraft in spite of the fact that City Solicitor Meredith prepared at once. refused to allow the city council to issue debentures to the sum of $15,000 for the purpose of making permanent improvements to the parks. The financial statement was submit ted at a meeting held on Wednesday afternoon, and showed that there was balance of $3,700 still unexpended. Practically $10,000 of the amount ranted last spring to the Commission, 13,750, had been paid out. Of this $2,600 was for the new road at Springbank, for which debentures were to have been issued if the commission had been given the $15,000 additional asked. The balance was expended for the upkeep and improvements to the various parks throughout the city. The sum of $600 has been paid up to date for tree trimming.

"I think we have sufficient money left over from our ordinary appropriation to complete the work undertaken at Springbank," declared General Manager Glaubitz. "We do not intend now to stop tree trimming, being of opinion that we can do it and still finish well within the half mill." Enough and To Spare.

STAFF TOUR WILL BEGIN BIG WAR

Western Ontario Is to Again Face the Scenes of 1812.

Western Ontario is to be plunged into Western Ontario is to be plunged into warfare paralleling the famous conflicts of 1812 within a few days, when the second divisional staff tour of the year will be held in the vicinity of Chatham. Among the officers who will be employed in the program will be Lieut.-Col. MacDonnell, Major Gordon-Hall, Major Shannon, Major McCrimmon, of the divisional staff, Capt. H. C. Becher and Capt. Phillip Pocock, of the Seventh Fusiliers; Major A. V. Becher, of the Sixth Field Battery; Major Brown, of the artillery unit of Aylmer; Lieut.-Col. Black and Lleut.-Col. Welch, two brigade majors, Major Dean, C. A. S. C., and Major Coles, of the non-permanent Army Ser-Coles, of the non-permanent Army Ser-vice Corps. Three militia staff course officials will also be in attendance, while Major Anderson, staff officer to Gen. C

B. McKenzie, of Ottawa, has also been invited to view the procedure.

The tour commences on Tuesday of next week, and concludes on Thursday, and as usual motor cars will be utilized.

According to the plan as laid out in the "general idea" prepared by the militia staff the Blue forces are supposed to staff, the Blue forces are supposed to have declared war on the Reds on Aug. 31, and to have invaded Redland in the Niagara Peninsula. The Reds were retired in a general action near Hamilton, and dropped back to the vicinity of Toronto. A Blue cavalry brigade is sent to clear the country from Windsor to Hamilton, in order to open up the resources of the dis-trict to the needs of the Blues, and the commander-in-chief intends to advance with reinforcements against the main army of the Reds on Sept. 24. The executive committee is as fol-ows: Dr. J. W. S. McCullough, resident; Major Lorne Drum, Dr. G D. Porter, Dr. John Amyot, Col. G. C ones, and Dr. C. A. Hodgetts. At the afternoon session an interesting paper was read by Mr. W. W. Lee, in charge of the immigration branch of the Quebec Y. M. C. A. Dr. J. F. Goodchild read a paper on "The Open Window. Immigration Problem.

"In the past undue influence has een placed upon the social and political aspects of immigration to the detriment of the medical and hygienic aspects," said Mr. W. W. Lee, in his "The only way," he said, "in which we can guarantee that the inspection of immgirants at our ports will be adequate is to take the im-migration administration out of politics and place it upon a civil service basis." In conclusion Mr. Lee said: Our efforts as Canadians must crease and our organization must be developed to the point where we can absorb and assimilate the immigrants into our industrial system without injury to the progress of native Canadians or older immigrant workers, and when this is done the mmigration problem will cease to Hodgetts, commenting upon Mr. Lee's paper, said that the "handoicking" of immigrants in Europe by Canadian inspectors would go far toward solving the immigration prob-lem. He pointed out, too, that it was the duty of Canadians to see that the immigrants were afforded proper housing on arrival here. "We hould," he said, "not take immigrants into this country than we can properly house."

6,000 Lunatics. Mr. Downey, superintendent of the ntario Home for Feeble-Minded at Orillia, gave some interesting statis-tics. "There are," he said, "at least six thousand feeble-minded people in Ontario. Of these probably one-third have been identified and are receiving some attention. But a great army remains to bear the penalties mposed upon them either in their own homes or herded with the criminal class for offences for which they should not be held either morally or egally responsible."

He urged the revision and strengthening of the present Ontario act. Only by training in an institution could an idiot be helped. Restoration ould an idiot be neighbor.
o normality was impossible.
"With the In conclusion, he said: well-to-do and well-developed pracising race suicide, and the paupers degenerates and dejectives reveiling in the doubtful pleasure of large amilies, there is some ground for the ugenics movement," Dr. W. H. Hill, director of the Institute of Public Health at London, Ont., attacked the idea that highlybred people or those enjoying the best of health were better fortified against the attacks of disease. The most pressing thing which public health work could do was to abolish infectious diseases.

At the business meeting the association took further action toward urging the Federal Government to aid in the fight against the pollution of sources of water supply, and the following resolution, submitted to the executive committee, was adopted: Water Pollution.

"That a committee of the following members be nominated to draw up a memorial to be presented to the Domonion Parliament representing as
