

TODAY'S WEATHER
FINE, MODERATE TO LIGHT WINDS

The London Advertiser

H. G. WELLS' OUT-LINE OF HISTORY
ON PAGE FOUR

59TH YEAR. NO. 23447

LONDON, ONTARIO, THURSDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 21, 1922.

PRICE, THREE CENTS

NEUTRALITY VIOLATION WILL START WAR

OBJECT TO U. S. SEIZURES MADE BEYOND 3 MILES

British May Take Diplomatic Action On Prohibition Navy's Claim.

SEAS' FREEDOM INVOLVED

N.Y. Times Holds U. S. Courts Cannot Remake International Law.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—Unless the defendants take an appeal from the decision of the federal court in Boston Tuesday, and permit a higher tribunal to pass upon the claim of the United States prohibition navy to jurisdiction over the seas beyond the three-mile limit, the British government is expected here to take up the subject diplomatically with the state department.

Up to the present the British embassy has confined itself to requests for information as to the facts connected with the several seizures and searches of vessels under the British flag by prohibition agents, and has made no appearance in the resulting legal proceedings. A complete lack of sympathy with the operations of the rumrunners on the part of the British officials is said to have caused the assumption of this attitude, but now that cases have begun to emerge from the court dockets, throwing the weight of judicial decisions behind the claim of extended high seas jurisdiction, it is understood that there is to be a change in the course of the London government. It is the British contention that the issues raised by the court decision Tuesday in Boston, in the case of the British schooner Grace and Ruby, which was held for rum selling beyond the three-mile limit, are far more grave and important than any mere question of the punishment of a few smugglers, or the enforcement of domestic customs laws.

In the British view there is involved the greater question of freedom of the high seas. If it is possible for any nation to extend its jurisdiction beyond the old recognized limits at its own pleasure and without reference to the other maritime powers, it is regarded by the British as highly important that some understanding should be reached as to the extent of the powers claimed.

Secretary Hughes initiated negotiations to this end, and the British government has not responded to his invitation to seek a reciprocal understanding authorizing the search of vessels of either country within certain zones.

New York, Sept. 21.—By Canadian Press.—The New York Times this morning prints a pertinent editorial on the controversy over the seizure of British vessels by United States revenue officers beyond the three-mile limit. The paper holds that neither the United States political departments nor United States courts can remake international law and adds: "If the United States is so eager to seize whiskey-bearing craft beyond the three-mile limit, why doesn't it begin with the United States shipping board steam gin mills—Mr. Lasker's floating American islands of rum?"

ORDERS POLAND DRY FOR ELECTION

Warsaw, Sept. 21.—The order of the ministry of the interior, for a period of six weeks of prohibition throughout Poland, preceding the elections, has been received quietly by the public, but with violent protests from the ministry of finance, which foresees the loss of great amounts of revenue during the dry spell. It seems probable, therefore, that the period will be shortened to begin Nov. 1 and end after the elections for the senate, Nov. 12. The elections for the diet are set for Nov. 5.

THE WEATHER

FORECASTS.
Moderate winds; fair today and on Friday; not much change in temperature.

High pressure extends from the Gulf of St. Lawrence across the Great Lakes to the Southwest States, while the low which was on the South Atlantic yesterday is moving northeastward and increasing in intensity.

The highest and lowest temperatures during the 24 hours previous to 8 a.m. today were:

	High.	Low.
Victoria	60	52
Calgary	54	38
Winnipeg	54	34
Pt. Arthur	44	34
Toronto	58	45
Kingston	58	45
Ottawa	52	48
Montreal	58	48
Quebec	58	38
P. Point	58	28
St. John	58	28
Halifax	64	50

LOCAL TEMPERATURES.

The highest and lowest temperatures recorded in London during the 24 hours previous to 8 o'clock last night were: Highest, 64; lowest, 42.

The official temperatures for the 12 hours previous to 8 a.m. today were: Highest, 72; lowest, 50.

Barometric Readings.

Wednesday—5 p.m., 29.35.

Today—8 a.m., 29.42.

London West Protests Oxford Pavement

RESIDENTS DENY STREET PAVING PETITIONED FOR

Ex-Alderman W. Wilson Enters Arena in Defense of Ratepayers.

WILL OPPOSE TO LIMIT

City Engineer Holds Work Will Proceed as Scheduled.

Another war looms on the civic horizon, precipitated by the determination of the city council to proceed immediately with the paving of Oxford street west, and the removal of the street railway tracks thereon.

Contending stoutly that they have never petitioned for this pavement, residents of that street are preparing an official protest which will be submitted at the forthcoming session of the board of works.

For Regular Form Application was made to City Clerk Sam Baker Thursday morning for the regular form for this purpose, and the claim was entered that a sufficient number of the residents of the street in question will affix their signatures before nightfall.

Questioned upon the issue, the city clerk and his staff initiated an exhaustive search through the records, and announced that as far as they were aware, there has never been an actual petition for the contemplated work from the ratepayers of West London.

Ex-Alderman William Wilson, formerly one of ward 2's representatives in the city council, has intervened himself on behalf of the protesting electors, and declared at a public hall Friday morning that he was prepared to wage the battle to a finish.

"These people on Oxford street have told me that they do not want that pavement this fall, and I am going to see that they do not have it," Mr. Wilson declared. "Their wishes must be served, and the question will come up before No. 2 committee at the next session."

"It is a high-handed measure in any event," continued the ex-councillor. "Why should the council proceed with this paving and approve of the railway's removal of their tracks when the people on the street have not asked for such or been consulted."

Turn to Page 2, Column 2.

LEG FRACTURED WHEN BELL FALLS

Lawrence Arnott of McClary Manufacturing Company Suffers Injury.

Struck by a heavy brass bell as it toppled from an archway over a driveway in the grounds of the up-town plant of the McClary Manufacturing Company Wednesday afternoon, Lawrence Arnott, 20 years of age, of 512 Simcoe street, suffered a double-compound fracture of the femur and severe bruises to the head.

Mr. Arnott was quitting work at 5:30 o'clock when the accident occurred. He stepped beneath the arch just as the first pull was given to the bell rope. Without warning, the bell fell from its moorings, struck Arnott a glancing blow on the head, and then fell on his leg between the hip and knee, inflicting fractures.

The young man was given first aid by fellow employees and removed to the company's hospital, where he received medical attention. He was then taken to Victoria Hospital.

Arnott had been employed at the factory for three months, but he had been a member of the McClary Band for several years.

ALL EYES ARE TURNED TO SMYRNA

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 21.—Hope that the Turkish attack, if it takes place at all, will be retarded until British reinforcements can arrive, is based on the fact that a conference is being held in Smyrna between Mustafa Kemal Pasha and General Pelle, French high commissioner, to which Yussuf Kemal Bey, the Nationalist foreign minister, has been hastily summoned from Angora.

The cup shows a birdseye view of the town of Smyrna.

Sentenced to Hang

HARRY DENT.

BRANTFORD, Sept. 21.—Found guilty of the murder of Peter Egopian about April 25 of this year, Harry Dent was this morning sentenced to hang on Friday, November 24.

TRY TO RELIEVE CAN CONGESTION

Express Companies Ask the Chamber of Commerce to Co-operate.

Because many farmers and cream companies, shipping cream from villages and towns to larger points in the province, have developed the bad habit of calling for their empty containers when the station agents are off duty, the Express Traffic Association of Canada, comprising the American Railway Express, the Canadian National Express, and the Dominion Express Companies, are submitting to the board of railway commissioners, for approval, a plan whereby much of the congestion of cream cans at country stations may be eliminated.

The London Chamber of Commerce received a letter from the association Thursday morning asking for their co-operation in the matter.

The association claims that the consignees have expressed a desire from time to time of calling at a time most convenient to themselves for the empty cans and that certain farmers find it most convenient to call when the station agent is off duty.

In order to meet the wishes of these people, the Express Traffic Association of Canada suggests that a general receipt be taken from the shippers in lieu of having them sign an individual receipt for each can delivered.

The wording of the new form, which will be submitted to the board of railway commissioners shortly, and which the consignees of the cream must sign, states that the express companies will leave the empty cans on the station platform, so that the consignees may call for them at any time. By so doing, however, the express companies would not assume responsibility for any damage or loss to the cans while they were on the platform.

The association further states in the communication to the local chamber that it would be purely optional for the farmer to sign an agreement of this kind, and if he did wish to take advantage of the new plan, he would have to call for his containers when the station agents were on duty.

BERLIN RAISES DISCOUNT.
Berlin, Sept. 21.—The Reichsbank today raised its rate of discount from 7 per cent to 8 per cent.

PINE LAWN ROOF TANGLE TAKES SERIOUS TURN

T. Terry Balks at Choice of Judge Macbeth as Chairman.

EXPECT LEGAL BATTLE

Contractors Claim Third Member on Arbitration Body Unnecessary.

The battle between the London Housing Commission and the firm of Hayman & Willis, as to the alleged faulty construction of the city's houses at Pine Lawn, assumed a nasty turn for the worst Thursday afternoon, with the result that it may now be imperative to seek the services of the supreme court of Ontario to iron out the first difficulty encountered by the board of conciliation appointed to render a decision.

Balks at Appointment.
As Thomas Terry, local garage owner, and delegated as a member of the arbitration body by the contractors, refused absolutely Wednesday to agree with the appointment of His Honor Judge Talbot Macbeth as chairman of the proceedings, Major G. N. Weekes, attorney for the London Housing Commission, has served both members of the special body with a notice to appear at 10 o'clock on Friday morning to reach an agreement within seven days the question will go to the courts for a settlement.

In that event, the duty would devolve upon the court to select a chairman who would be deemed competent to act, irrespective of the wishes of the warring factions or their representatives.

Reaching the city Wednesday morning, H. Walton, building inspector of Sarnia, approached Mr. Terry on separate occasions in a fruitless effort to gain the approval of his suggestion that Judge Macbeth sit as the third arbitrator.

The contractors contend, it was explained Thursday, that there is no ill-will between the parties, and that the matter can be settled by a friendly discussion.

Turn to Page 2, Column 6.

British Sea Dog Defies U.S. Prohibition Navy

DEFENDS MARINE RIGHTS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—By Canadian Press.—Captain Shears, bound for St. John, N. B., from Nassau, Bahamas, in command of the yacht Onward, said to have been formerly owned by Henry Ford, and now flying the British flag, hurled defiance at Uncle Sam's "prohibition navy" while riding at anchor ten or twelve miles off the New Jersey coast, it was learned when the rum chaser Hahn returned to port yesterday.

The United States prohibition officials suspected that the Onward's cargo, which was listed as "assorted," consisted very largely of liquor, and they attempted to seize the yacht, but were forced to beat a retreat by the belligerent skipper.

Standing on deck, with his right hand in his hip pocket, Captain Shears turned the yacht's searchlight on his British flag, and then asserted that as he was beyond the twelve-mile limit he would shoot down the first man who attempted to board his vessel.

He was talking with First Officer Hahn of the Hahn and two customs inspectors, who had gone out to board the alleged rumrunner. The government agents insisted that the Onward was coasting ten miles out, while Captain Shears was equally insistent that he was twelve miles from the shore, and that he meant to use his revolver on any man who attempted to come aboard.

Meanwhile, the Hahn was standing nearby with her one-pound gun trained on the yacht. Beyond the three-mile limit the customs agents are in charge of the rum chasers, and when the master of the Onward raised the question of distance from shore further action had to be taken in accordance with instructions of the customs men. They decided that it would be advisable to turn back and let the Onward alone for the time being.

Acting Collector of Customs H. C. Stuart sent a telegraphic report of the matter to officials in Washington. The department then called upon the attorney-general for a ruling.

BLAME GIRL WHEN "DOPE" KILLS BOY

Montreal, Sept. 21.—Yvonne Desblens, alias Proulx, 20 years of age, was placed on trial yesterday afternoon before a jury in the court of King's bench, on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Alfred Fontaine, 19 years old, who died on June 28 from morphine poisoning.

The woman is alleged to have injected the drug into Fontaine's arm some hours before his death, in the course of a "dope" party in a house on St. Denis street.

Scientific Expeditions to Test Einstein Theory Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The Einstein theory of relativity will be on trial today. The test will be made by expeditions, which have gone to Australia to make observations during a five-minute eclipse of the sun. British, American, German and Dutch scientists are included in the several parties. The tract of the total eclipse is along the Indian Ocean and through the heart of Australia.

An expedition from the Lick Observatory, California, is on the West Coast of Australia. Others are on Christmas Island, west of Australia, and one has penetrated into the heart of Australia.

CONSIDERS SELF FAIR MATADOR

Mayor Wilson Claims Many Londoners Can Rival Senor Gallardo.

There may be a bull-fight in London after all.

Following the announcement, Wednesday, that Senor Francisco Gallardo, chief matador of all Spain, has petitioned Mayor Cameron Wilson for permission to locate temporarily in the Forest City for the purpose of staging "a series of bull-fighting bouts," comes the assurance from Senor Jose Garcia, secretary and confidential adviser for the champion, that he (Garcia) will arrive in the city Friday.

His Worship explains that he was on the point of replying to the first communication from the distinguished foreigners, inquiring why London should be so honored, when another letter reached his office, advising that the senor was not a trifle grieved that his kind offer had been treated with such evident scorn and ridicule.

Turn to Page 11, Column 5.

Declare Dominions Will Retain Entire Liberty On Turk Question

GENEVA, Sept. 21.—All the British dominions are declared by their representatives in the League of Nations assembly here to be favorable to submission of the Turkish-Greek affair to the League of Nations.

The Dominion delegations sent a joint telegram to Prime Minister Lloyd George urging submission of the question to the league, and it is declared among these representatives that the dominions will be disposed to retain their complete liberty of action on this question if the British government refuses to listen to their request.

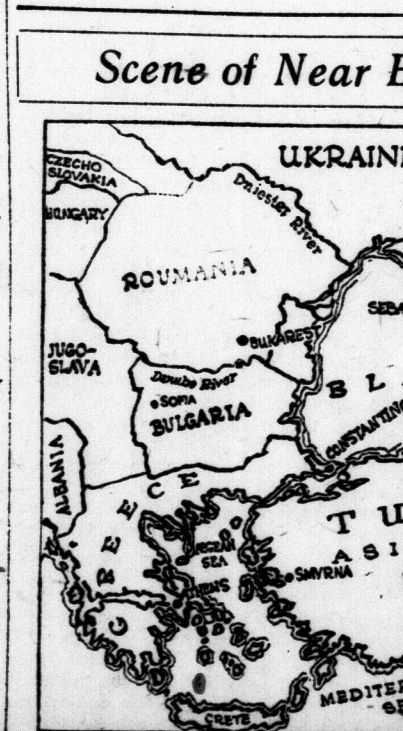

Want Money Collected.
Announcing Thursday his determination to carry the struggle to a more definite conclusion, Alderman Ashplant stated that the people had demanded that this money be collected, and he felt urged to renew activities in that direction rather than allow the issue to remain "in the air," as it were.

He believes that a large attendance at the contemplated mass meeting will denote the elector's interest in the fight and will justify a continuance of the same.

PROTEST CANADA AT WAR.
Calgary, Sept. 21.—Strong protest against Canada participating in any war at this time was voiced by members of the local branch of the Dominion Labor Party last night. A resolution to this effect was adopted, and a copy will be sent to Premier King and members of his cabinet.

TO TRY SIR M. ALLEN OCT. 2.
Montreal, Sept. 21.—Sir Montagu Allen, president of the Merchants' Bank of Canada, will be tried on Oct. 12 next. This morning, with his counsel, F. E. Meredith, K.C., he appeared before Chief Justice Deane and was remanded. The delay in the trial is due to the fact that ten days is necessary to produce exhibits.

Scene of Near Eastern Struggle

MAP showing the trouble area of Asia Minor, where Turkey overcame Greek forces.

WILL TRY TO FORCE CITY TO COLLECT TAX

Alderman Ashplant and Citizens Seeking Writ of Mandamus.

WILL HOLD MEETING

Problem Will Be Aired by the Ratepayers in a Few Days.

A writ of mandamus will be sought from the Supreme Court of Ontario to force the city council to collect school taxes from certain industrial firms located in the annexed districts of East London.

Definite assurance was given Thursday that a general meeting will be held within the next few days, at which all the ratepayers of the city will be invited to discuss the entire problem.

While the date has not been set, it is more than likely that the gathering will be held in the Masonic Temple. Activities halted.

All activities in this connection have been halted since the appeal, registered first by Ald. H. B. Ashplant, was first heard in the county court, when it was ruled that the proceedings should have been taken to a higher judiciary.

When this proposal was first introduced in the city council, it was estimated that the city was the loser by perhaps $20,000 a year by reason of the fact, as claimed by Alderman Ashplant, that since these sections of East London were annexed the city taxation department officials have failed to collect school taxes in proportion to those collected throughout the remainder of the city.

Alderman Ashplant, who instigated the fight that ensued for weeks, and finally ended abruptly by a deadlock in the courts, received but scant sympathy from his associates in the council when he first injected the question for debate.

It was only after a continued battle, during which Mayor Cameron Wilson and Alderman Ashplant frequently "locked horns" over legal squabbles, that the entire issue was finally passed on to the courts for an opinion.

As a matter of fact, the "annexed school question" and the attending controversies that ensued precipitated such a spirit of dissension among the Labor element of the city that Alderman Ashplant's two Labor confederates on the council, Alderman John Ashton and F. R. Watkinson, were eventually ousted from the ranks of their party because they failed, the labor chiefs adjudged, "to support Alderman Ashplant in this undertaking."

During the days that followed, the Aldermen Ashton and Watkinson were voted out of the I. L. P. and the London Labor party, while the former resigned from the executive committee of the Street Railwaymen's Union.

Want Money Collected.
Announcing Thursday his determination to carry the struggle to a more definite conclusion, Alderman Ashplant stated that the people had demanded that this money be collected, and he felt urged to renew activities in that direction rather than allow the issue to remain "in the air," as it were.

He believes that a large attendance at the contemplated mass meeting will denote the elector's interest in the fight and will justify a continuance of the same.

Scenes of Near Eastern Struggle

MAP showing the trouble area of Asia Minor, where Turkey overcame Greek forces.

City Man Honored

DR. GEO. McNEILL.

THE appointment of Dr. George McNeill of this city to the chairmanship of the Ontario division of the American College of Surgeons, brings a signal honor to London.

LONDON DOCTOR RECEIVES HONOR

Dr. George McNeill Appointed Chairman of Surgeons' College.

London and the medical profession of Western Ontario has been significantly honored by the appointment of Dr. George McNeill of this city, to be chairman of the Ontario division of the American College of Surgeons. Dr. McNeill, whose appointment was announced Wednesday night, succeeds Dr. B. P. Watson, formerly professor of gynecology at University of Toronto, now acting in a similar capacity on the faculty of the University of Edinburgh.

The honor accorded Dr. McNeill, who was selected to head the entire province of the Ontario group of American College of Surgeons, is regarded with satisfaction by his colleagues, and he is in receipt of congratulations from all parts of the province on the occasion of his appointment.

Dr. McNeill is a graduate of Western University Medical School, and is a London boy. He has practised his profession in London for several years, building up a sterling reputation, due to his ability as a surgeon and general personality. He is also a specialist in X-ray diagnosis and treatment.

As senior member of the staff of Victoria Hospital, Dr. McNeill is entitled to a large share of credit for the standard attained by that institution, as recognized recently by the American College of Surgeons. His appointment as chairman of the Ontario section is regarded by his many professional associates as a fitting reward for his good work at Victoria Hospital.

Dr. McNeill is a past president of the Western Ontario Association of Medicine, and is a member of the faculty of Western University Medical School. He has already taken over his new duties in preparation for the group meeting of the American College of Surgeons in Ontario to be held in London next month.

The American College of Surgeons membership is made up of selected surgeons in Canada, United States, Mexico and South America.

DENIES REDISTRIBUTION IN PROVINCE OF QUEBEC.
Quebec, Sept. 21.—In an interview with the Canadian Press Limited today regarding a Quebec dispatch published in Montreal this morning relative to a general election in the province in March, and a redistribution bill adding five new electoral divisions to the 82 now existing, to be announced in the speech from the throne, the prime minister, Hon. L. A. Taschereau, stated: "I regret that newspapers which pretend to be serious should be the vehicle for such silly gossiping."

TO TRY SIR M. ALLEN OCT. 2.
Montreal, Sept. 21.—Sir Montagu Allen, president of the Merchants' Bank of Canada, will be tried on Oct. 12 next. This morning, with his counsel, F. E. Meredith, K.C., he appeared before Chief Justice Deane and was remanded. The delay in the trial is due to the fact that ten days is necessary to produce exhibits.

LATE NEWS BULLETINS.

AUSTRALIA LABOR OPPOSES WAR.
Melbourne, Australia, Sept. 21.—The federal labor party of Australia has called the British labor party, announcing the opposition of the Australian labor organization to war without the consent of the Australian people.

TO REGULATE GRAIN FUTURES.
Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—The Capper-Tincher bill, providing for regulation of trading in futures on grain markets, was signed today by President Harding.

HARDING SIGNS TARIFF BILL.
Washington, Sept. 21.—President Harding today signed the tariff bill of 1922, making the new rates effective at midnight tonight.

COMMANDER OF BRITISH FORCES WARNS TURKS

Troops Remain On Asiatic Side of Dardanelles.

FACES PARTY TROUBLE

Belligerents and Pacifists Split Pasha Government.

BULLETIN.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 21.—The French and Italian detachments and flags were withdrawn today from the neutral zones of Ismid and the Dardanelles on orders from the respective governments.

Rome, Sept. 21.—Italy officially informed Rumania today that she will not permit any action by Bulgaria which would change the present status quo in the Balkans, and is ready if necessary to take recourse to military measures.

Constantinople, Sept. 21.—General Harrington of the British army, as the general officer in chief command of the allied forces, has issued a communique in which he declares that responsibility for the consequences of violations of the neutral zone will fall upon the authors of such violations.

There is no question of the immediate withdrawal of the British troops from Chanak on the Asiatic side of the Straits of the Dardanelles, it was authoritatively stated in British official circles today.

It is believed that the British are not in danger of attack in their present position, and there are indications that soldiers may remain in Chanak pending the peace conference.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha is now faced with two distinct parties in his government, the one warlike and demanding the immediate occupation of Thrace, and the other pacific and willing to remain in the present Turkish Nationalist positions in Asia Minor until the conference settles the peace terms.

It is believed that Kemal is supporting the pacific members of the government, and will be able to hold the army in check.

STRAITS MUST BE FREE.

Paris, Sept. 21.—Ferdinand Bey, representative in Paris of the Angora government, called at the foreign office this morning to explain information regarding yesterday's decision as to the calling of a peace conference. The Kemal government was informed by cable last night of the decision to hold the conference, and its reply is eagerly awaited in official circles.

When the meeting of allied representatives is resumed tomorrow afternoon, Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, hopes to be in a position to reach a definite agreement.

Turn to Page 2, Column 4.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY TO OPEN PLANT ON FRIDAY

Cancellation of Interstate Commerce Commission's Order Makes Coal Obtainable.

Detroit, Sept. 21.—The plants of the Ford Motor Company in the Detroit district, closed last Saturday because of the coal shortage, thereby throwing 100,000 workers out of work in different parts of the country, will reopen tomorrow morning, it was officially announced today.

Orders for the reopening of the plants were telegraphed here today by Edsel B. Ford, president of the motor company, who is in Cincinnati.

The telegram read as follows: "Cancellation of the interstate commerce commission's service order No. 23, has made it possible again to secure coal."

"Movement of coal to Detroit has started, and we feel justified in starting the plants tomorrow (Friday) morning."

"Post notices calling the men back to work and notify the newspapers."

TO REGULATE GRAIN FUTURES.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—The Capper-Tincher bill, providing for regulation of trading in futures on grain markets, was signed today by President Harding.

HARDING SIGNS TARIFF BILL.
Washington, Sept. 21.—President Harding today signed the tariff bill of 1922, making the new rates effective at midnight tonight.

TWO BANTING SPEAKS ON TREATMENT OF DIABETES

Former London Physician Explains New Discovery Is Not Cure.

W. O. ACADEMY MEETS

Dr. W. Edward Gallie Outlines Use of Living Sutures.

Marking the opening of its fifth year of activity, the Western Ontario Academy of Medicine held its first general assembly Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium of the new medical school, Ottawa avenue.

Dr. Charles A. Harris, president of the executive committee, acting as chairman, introduced Dr. W. E. Banting, who is now at the University of Toronto, he pointed to the fact that previous programs had always featured one Canadian and one American physician. "Today," said Dr. Harris, "we have two men on our program, both of them Canadians, and both authorities on the subjects on which they are about to speak."

Dr. Gallie spoke on the use of living sutures in operative surgery. He said the use of the body itself to make a repair of the body defects. The lecture was accompanied by a vivid description of experiments, with simultaneous lantern views illustrative of the experiments.

Method Never Popular.
The principles developed from this research are of great clinical importance, said Dr. Gallie. "For a number of years it has been known that the fibrous tissue could be transplanted with the expectation that they would live. And many operations have been reported in which the principle has been employed. The method has never become popular, however, owing to the frequency with which the operations have failed as a result of stretching of the scar tissue which forms the bond of union."

Dr. Gallie went on to point out some of the successes with which this method had met. One of the most suitable fields for the employment of this method was in the repair of injured ligaments for prevention of the paralytic deformities of insulin. The same technique was used in all operations which transplants have been united to bone.

"Four years ago," said Dr. Gallie, "we discovered during a study of tendon fixation in the infantile paralysis, that unless these precautions were taken a solid fixation rarely occurred. The same method has been applied to a variety of other conditions in which the transplants have been used. In a somewhat different manner," continued Dr. Gallie, "the method has been used successfully in recurring dislocation of the shoulder."

Dr. Gallie also pointed out that the transplantation of the insertion of nerves has always been more or less of a failure. By the new method, however, operations were performed with a marked improvement.

A local physician described Dr. Gallie's work as "an original contribution to surgical technique."

Explains Insulin.
Dr. W. E. Banting in his paper on the insulin treatment of diabetes, met with an enthusiastic reception. Members of the medical profession heard for the first time, at first hand, his method of treatment.

Dr. Banting drew the attention of the students to the fact that on graduating he sincerely hoped that they would look to the universities of the Dominion for their post-graduate work, and not depend upon the foreign universities. He pointed out the immediate commencement of activities by City Engineer Brazier's department, plunges the city councilors willy-nilly into another controversy now deemed unavoidable.

Ex-Alderman Wilson is determined, he assures, to carry the fight right into the city council for a "show-down."

Intimating that the work would proceed as scheduled, City Engineer H. A. Brazier holds that the city council would be quite within its right by such a move.

"The undertaking was duly authorized," he said, "and the people of the affected district were allowed the time to make the objection. This was not done. Understand, however, it is just a trifle difficult to determine at this moment just what will transpire."

Ald John May, commenting briefly Thursday upon the latest development, asserted "that is just what I feared, and that was what prompted my question at the last meeting of the council. There are certain men in their opinion as to this project."

Alderman May predicted further interesting developments.

Spend 91 Days Crossing Pacific Ocean in Chinese Junk.

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 20.—

After being tossed about by the giant waves of the Pacific for 91 days, Capt. Geo. W. A. Ward and his wife arrived here yesterday with the Chinese junk Amoy. Practically one continuous storm buffeted the little ship, and twice in typhoons she lost her rudder.

Then while Capt. Ward was guiding his craft through a dense fog outside Victoria early yesterday a great black form loomed dead ahead. Capt. Ward shoved the tiller hard over, and the steel hull of a Japanese steamer passed within four feet of the Amoy's stern.

ment. They can only treat a limited number at present, but hope in the near future, with the co-operation of other research laboratories, to put a product on the market which will benefit humanity.

Is Not a Cure.
Dr. Banting stated that this is not a cure for diabetes. The tissues which have been damaged are hard to repair, especially the islands of Langerhans, but that this is purely a treatment.

He pointed out that newspapers had given a very wrong impression of the work, and published this as being a cure for diabetes, when it is a treatment only. He emphasized this point, and added that it has increased their trials and troubles considerably.

Dr. Banting paid high tribute to all those who have assisted in this work. Especially did he call attention to Mr. Best's unfailing efforts and untiring work. Mr. Best has been Dr. Banting's assistant from the beginning. He made mention of the work being directed by Dr. McLeod, professor of physiology of the University of Toronto.

Seek Large Production.
A large scale production has been taken up by the Connaught laboratory, which is a part of the University of Toronto. Mr. Best is now in charge of production, and Dr. Banting has proceeded with the clinical investigations. Clinics have been formed in the Toronto General Hospital under the directorship of Professor Duncan Graham.

Several of the London doctors, discussing the paper, paid very high tribute to Dr. Banting's untiring work, and also to the fact of his giving so much of the credit for these wonderful results of insulin to those who have gone before in this field of research work. He took credit for nothing else except for the work which he was actually able to do in his research laboratories.

The attending physician at the meeting was the largest, it is said, of any academy meeting yet held in London.

DENY PAVING PETITIONED FOR

Continued From Page One.

The residents are ready and willing that the work should proceed next spring, but not this fall.

Mr. Wilson explained further that the ratepayers of the affected district had also voiced the fear that with the street torn up and the tracks removed during one of the worst periods of the year, the street car service would be completely disrupted and they would be compelled to walk an increased distance.

Unavoidable Controversy.

This sudden development, just as it was believed that all arrangements were completed with the Street Railway Company and nothing seemed to bar the way for an immediate commencement of activities by City Engineer Brazier's department, plunges the city councilors willy-nilly into another controversy now deemed unavoidable.

Ex-Alderman Wilson is determined, he assures, to carry the fight right into the city council for a "show-down."

Intimating that the work would proceed as scheduled, City Engineer H. A. Brazier holds that the city council would be quite within its right by such a move.

"The undertaking was duly authorized," he said, "and the people of the affected district were allowed the time to make the objection. This was not done. Understand, however, it is just a trifle difficult to determine at this moment just what will transpire."

Ald John May, commenting briefly Thursday upon the latest development, asserted "that is just what I feared, and that was what prompted my question at the last meeting of the council. There are certain men in their opinion as to this project."

Alderman May predicted further interesting developments.

LABOR CONGRESS
ELECTS CHAIRMAN

LONDON, Eng., Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press Cable)—J. B. Williams, general secretary of the Musicians' Union, has been elected chairman of the general council of the Trades Union Congress.

Nervous Applicants For Marriage Licenses Sit On Hats.

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—In their nervousness for one of the 31 applicants for marriage licenses at the city hall yesterday ruined their hats by sitting on them.

"First of all give me your hat before you take a chair," is today the cautious request of the kind-hearted officials when the prospective bridegroom enters the office where the licenses are issued.

DECRIES ENTRY OF ORIENTALS OF WESTMINSTER

Bishop of New Westminster Addresses Local Women's Canadian Club.

Denounces Invasion of Western Provinces As Menace to Canada.

Denouncing the rapid encroachment of Orientals in the western provinces as a menace to future Canadian citizenship, Right Rev. A. W. Du Pencier, D.D., O.B.E., bishop of New Westminster and president of the Vancouver Canadian Club, addressing members of the London Women's Canadian Club in the central collegiate institute, Wednesday afternoon, placed restricted immigration, the establishment of proper and Christian standards of living and co-operation, province with province, as the three fundamental things in upholding the traditions of Canada's past and providing assurance for her future.

Arrived At Nationhood.
"With the war," the bishop said, "Canada arrived at her nationhood. The Canadian dollar, leading the world's finance, is ample evidence of the heights which Canadian commerce has reached, and with the advance in commerce, every phase of Canadian life advanced equally."

He pointed out that upon their purity as a race and their glorious traditions manifested itself in their response to the Mother Country in the Great War; yet that war was in vain, and the suffering useless unless we develop in Canada the ideals of uprightness for which our men fought.

"Orientalism furnish the greatest problem with which Western Canada has to deal," the bishop said. "There are 17,000 Japanese in the province of British Columbia, with a birthrate of 69 to a thousand, as compared with the British birth rate of 18 to a thousand."

"The number of Chinese in British Columbia doubled within the last ten years, and now amounts to 38,000. 'Orientalism' by the hundreds are entering every branch of industry, the sold in the city of Vancouver is sold by Orientals, and the same business all along the Pacific coast is almost completely under the control of Chinese and Japanese."

Owed By Chinese.
"They have entered a wedge in every trade, and face Canadians and returned men with an alarming competition. In one instance, the only hotel in a certain town is owned by a Chinese, who employs a returned soldier and his wife to run the place."

Proceeding in his address from British Columbia to the Middle West, the bishop referred to the number of Ukrainians who are settled there, in communities too large and numerous to be assimilated into Canadian citizenship and life.

"One may travel for days among these people," he said, "without hearing a word of English spoken. They have no comprehension of the Anglo-Saxon ideal for which Canadians fought and died. Their women work in the field like cattle. Loyalty to king and country is unknown."

"These people, with their lowered standards of living and morality are not what we want as part of our Canadian citizenship. When the vast stretches of unused territory in Canada are utilized, it should not be by Orientals and men and women of the average Ukrainian type, but by settlers who are white, Christian, and British."

Share Canadian Blood.

Referring to the early settlement of Canada, which was mostly of soldiers, French and British armies who disbanded in Canada to take up a new life here, as well as the United Empire Loyalists, who had so large a share in the development of Eastern Canada, Bishop Du Pencier drew attention to the manifest fitness of those who returned men in the British Isles, who share Canadian blood, traditions and ideals.

"These are the men whom our country wants as citizens of whom Canada may be proud. Orientals and immigrants of a low type get a foothold in Canada because their standards of living are such that they can meet competition by low wages, but these are not the type of people we want. To uphold the standard of her citizenship, Canada must uphold the standard of her living, and men who share our standards are the settlers the country needs."

In preserving of the purity of Canadian life, restricting the tide of undesirable immigration, and in furthering the exchange of ideas between the provinces, Bishop Du Pencier said Canadian Clubs must play a large share.

Formed From Homes.
"Our standards of living are formed from our homes, and it is the women who influence the environment of the home," he said. "Upon them rest the responsibility of setting the standard of living."

Must Consider Self.
Referring again to immigration, which really formed the main theme of his address, the bishop said: "God made all men of one blood, yet our first consideration must be for our own homes, and if we allow immigrants to come here in greater numbers than can be assimilated or taken care of, we cannot Canadianize British Columbia and the Middle West, which means that the purity of Dominion life is impaired, and our ideals of a country, white, Christian and British cannot be reached."

The value of Canadian Clubs as a means of permitting, through speakers, an interchange of ideas, and allowing each province an insight into the problems which other parts of the Dominion must face was given particular emphasis.

Previous to the address, members of the Women's Christian Club executive met at a luncheon at which Bishop Du Pencier and Rev. Dr. Wm. Beattie, of the First Presbyterian Church, were the guests of honor.

Bishop Du Pencier and Col. Beattie were close associates in their work overseas during the past war.

The stories of ships being swallowed in the vortex of the maelstrom are simply fables.

TO WIDEN LAKE OF WOODS PACT

Interested Groups From U. S. and Canada Meet At Ottawa.

May Include Rainy River and Rainy Lake in the Treaty.

OTTAWA, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press).—The proposed treaty between the United States and Canada, providing for the control of the levels of the Lake of the Woods will, in all probability, be widened to include Rainy River and Rainy Lake, as a result of the round table conference between representatives of the interested groups, held in the prime minister's offices today.

The conference has been adjourned until November 15, when it is hoped final arrangements for the settlement of the difficulties will be made. At the conclusion of the conference this afternoon, the prime minister informed that a tentative treaty had been drafted, which he thought would satisfy all those interested.

He said that the problem presented by the Lake of the Woods was one of the matters dealt with when he and Hon. George Graham visited Washington, and at that time the United States authorities were favorable to the idea of a round table conference between Minnesota state representatives and officials of the Dominion government.

At the conference today, Minnesota was represented by Governor J. A. O. Preuss and his assistants, Canada by the prime minister, Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Hon. Charles Stewart of the Interior, Hon. Jacques Bureau, minister of customs, Hon. Charles Murphy, postmaster-general; Premier Durney attended for the Ontario government; Premier Bracken for Manitoba. Federal and provincial law enforcement experts were also in attendance.

EXECUTE BARRIE ON DECEMBER 14

Farm Hand To Pay Extreme Penalty For Employer's Death.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 20.—Maurice Barrie will be hanged here on December 14 for the murder of George Wesley Mout, his employer, at his farm in Tyendinaga, on June 20 last. The death sentence was imposed by the Ontario court at the trial of the prisoner, who was charged with the murder of Mout, a well-known farmer in the district.

The prisoner, who was charged with the murder of Mout, a well-known farmer in the district, was found guilty by the jury. The judge, in his remarks, said that the prisoner had been fairly tried and well defended, and expressed the view that the jury could not well have reached any other conclusion. Barrie did not change expression at all while the sentence was being read.

He had sat in court listening to the evidence in another case while the jury on his case was out and smiled now and then at testimony.

ROBERTS FOUND GUILTY.
TUSKET, N.S., Sept. 20.—Omar Roberts was this afternoon found guilty of the murder of Flora Gray and remanded for sentence until the end of the present session of the supreme court, probably Friday. The jury brought in a verdict after a deliberation of 23 minutes.

The confessions made by the prisoner were introduced in evidence. No witnesses were called for the defence.

BREAK NEUTRALITY AND START WAR

Continued From Page One.

ment with Premier Poincare and Count Sforza of Italy on the conditions under which the peace conference shall be held, and the question of the naval and military powers of the allies. While earnestly desiring peace, the British hold that the freedom of the straits must be backed up with military and naval force, in order to impress the Turks that the Allies mean what they say.

HOSILITIES CONTINUE.
London, Sept. 21.—While the allied powers are feverishly endeavoring to arrange a peace conference to clear the state between Turkey and Greece and prevent more fighting in the Near East, rumours of impending hostilities continue to come from Constantinople and the Dardanelles.

A relatively small force of British troops is holding Chanak, the key position on the southern shore of the straits, while the Turkish Nationalists, eager for further conquests after their overwhelming defeat of the Greeks, are concentrated outside the neutral zone at Lemni and Chanak, impatiently awaiting the word from Mustafa Kemal Pasha to advance.

The Kemalists, official French dispatches say, have available for use in such a drive 1,000 modern field guns, 5,000 machine guns and enough ammunition for a two years' campaign, which they captured from the Greeks.

If their spokesman in Constantinople is to be believed, the Turks are determined that the allies shall stand the path of their desire to recapture Thrace. An Associated Press dispatch quotes this spokesman, Hamid Bey, to the effect that the Kemal army will certainly demand that the British if they attempt to interfere with a movement across the straits. Much hope is based on the result of the conference in Smyrna between Mustafa Kemal Pasha and General Pella, French high commissioner to which Yusuf Kemal Bey, the Nationalist foreign minister, has been hastily summoned from Provincial Officers Seize Half Million Bottles of Beer At Windsor.

WINDSOR, Sept. 20.—More than half a million bottles of beer, ale and porter were seized by provincial authorities today, following a series of raids on brewery company warehouses in and near this city.

The raids were made under order of W. E. Roney, attorney-general of Ontario, who charges the brewing companies with failing to make proper returns of the liquor sent out of the country.

By actual count 536,424 bottles of beer, ale and porter were confiscated.

Angora. The calling in of Yusuf Kemal points to the discussion of important and delicate questions and the consequent delay raises hopes that the Turkish attack, if it takes place at all, will be retarded until the British reinforcements can arrive.

If fighting breaks out before that time the question of the safety of the comparatively small British force at Chanak will become an anxious one here. Marshal Foch is quoted as saying that the position is absolutely untenable, except if held by a very considerable force, while Field Marshal Plumer, who has been inspecting the British defenses, is said to have sent a message which Prime Minister Lloyd George communicated to the cabinet yesterday to the effect that he has great confidence in the results of the collaboration between Brigadier-General Harrington and Rear Admiral Brock. Opinion here for the moment is banking on the strength of the British naval forces in the Dardanelles, which is considered sufficient alone to hold any possible attack by the Turks.

No details are available of the burning of Pandemonia, on the southern shore of the Sea of Marmora, as announced in official French circles last night. It is stated, however, that the Greeks burned part of the town before leaving. According to the Times the Russian soviet government sees in the present Near Eastern situation an opportunity to obtain recognition from the powers. Russia proposes, the newspapers say, to get the part of mediator between the Turks and Greeks, hoping thereby to establish the popularity of the soviet republic among the peoples of Mohammedan Asia and compel the entente powers to revise their attitude toward her. Foreseeing opposition to this course, she has instructed her representatives abroad to make concessions.

The newspaper ascribes its information to a secret document which it says the soviet government addressed to its representative in Berlin, M. Karakhan.

COUNTS ON GREEKS.

London, Sept. 21.—An Athens dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph says the Greek premier on Monday granted an interview to a French minister, who told him that Great Britain counted mainly on the Greek army for the security of the Straits of Dardanelles.

General Polymenakos, the disingenuous, has taken up his headquarters in Adrianople, and the government has decided to call to the colors the class of 1923.

RIDERS OFFER TO PUSH STREET CAR

Conductor Disapproves Plan,
However, Fearing Reporter
Might Be Present.

Due to a break in the high tension wires on Dundas street, traffic was halted Wednesday afternoon for about twenty minutes. One of the cars delayed would have been able to proceed had it been about fifty feet farther east, as there is a different feed wire that comes in at this place.

Some of the passengers became impatient over the long wait, and someone suggested that the men passengers get out and push the car to the place where it would be able to go on its own power.

But the wise conductor refused to let the suggestion be put into effect, saying "there might be some long-haired fellow near who would see the affair, and he would put a nice story in the papers, roasting the London Street Railway System."

He didn't know that he was addressing one of those "long-nosed" reporters, and perhaps it is just as well.

The "juice" was soon restored and the passengers wended their way homeward, none the worse for their delay.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT MAY ABOLISH COASTGUARDS

Adoption of Recommendation of Special Committee Would Mean Saving of Over Million.

London, Sept. 21.—(Canadian Press).—If the recommendations of the special committee appointed by the government to look into and report upon certain admiralty matters are adopted, as just reported by the committee, the name coastguard will disappear and the British exchequer will save £270,000 a year.

In the place of the coastguard committee recommends three organizations, first, an admiralty force to man the stations necessary to conform to the naval requirements; second, a board of trade force, to be called the coast watching force, to perform duties such as saving life and obtaining salvage from wrecks, and third, a so-called coast preventive force, under the board of customs and excise, to take over the duties in connection with the protection of revenue. In case of an outbreak of war the first two forces would become a composite body under admiralty orders.

PATIENTS ENJOY SPORT PROGRAM

Athletic Meet At Ontario Hospital Wednesday Afternoon Attended By Success.

More Than 3,500 Spectators View Thirty-Fifth Annual Event.

One of the largest sporting events of the season was staged at the Ontario Hospital, Pottersburg, when over 3,500 spectators gathered to see the 35th annual athletic sports meet which was held on the hospital grounds Wednesday afternoon.

From the very start there was excitement for the spectators, and every event was a feature in itself. The W. O. R. Pipe Band was present, and supplied music for the occasion. The Little Johnson sisters presented Scotch dances, and their entertainment was well received.

The main feature of the day's program was the work of Robert Trenaman, slack wire performer. His stunts on the wire were new, and he did his work well, amid cheers from the spectators. Another main event of the program was the hat-trimming contest, in which the judges wore the hats after they had been trimmed by ladies. Misses Dorn, Misses Dorn, Rose, French, Thompson, Misses Dorn, Rose, French, Thompson, Misses Dorn, Rose, French, Thompson, Misses Wells, McLaughlin, Johnson, Newell.

Male patients—McLean, Skillings, La-bodde, Vodgan, Saxton.
Female patients—Misses Moore, Westman, Meyers, Bearley, Charback, Mrs. Heulton.

Three-legged race, employees and patients—Granham and Vodgan; Glover and Pond; McKinley and Brie program. Boxing in barrels, employees only—Glover 3 rounds, Beattie 2 rounds.

Clutch pin race, Misses Barker, Sartain, Mrs. Gumason, Misses Malsion, Harrison.
Wheelbarrow race, employees and patients—Newman, McLean, Vodgan, Beattie, Hunter, McLean, Newman, 100 yards, male employees—Newman, Beattie, Hunter, McLean, Newman, 100 yards, female employees—Misses Sartain, Sproule, Stapleton, Row, Barstoun.
Handicap race, male patients—Coutzen, Skillings, Bebe, Sartain, Elmore, Wild.

Sack race—Beattie, Trenaman, Benton, Wild, Newman, Granham.
Married employees, 100 yards—Newman, Hunter, Walker.

Hat trimming contest—Misses Sartain, Hoffman, Stapleton, Miers, Moore, Misses Sharpe, Bearley, Biers, Mrs. Ruston.

Blindfold race, lady drivers—Miss Sartain and Newman; Miss Sproule and Glover; Mr. and Mrs. Granham.
Consolation race, female—Misses McGowan, Ruston, Zavitz, Balgoid, Dickson, Killick.

Slam race—Newman and Granham; McLean and McKinley.
Tilting bucket—Newman and Jackson; Glover and Beattie; Thompson and Innes.

Quarter-mile race—Beattie, Marsh, Newman.
These judging the contests were: Ed. Ward, Wm. Rhodes, A. M. Hunt, W. H. Chittick, Chief, Aiken, T. W. McFarland, Capt. Thos. Robson, Sam Baker, W. M. Garshorn, J. H. Skay, Rev. John Hoste, R. D. McDonald, Rev. A. L. Beverly, L. F. Pearson, J. M. D. Reid, W. W. Turnbull, Rev. W. L. Reid, W. Moore.

The committee of management, which was responsible for the success, comprised of: Drs. Robinson, Stevenson, Cathcart, Colborne, Messrs. Lionel Burton, E. Webb, M. Walker, G. Armes, J. Stark, W. McFarland, M. W. Fenn, J. H. Skay, Hunter, H. M. Marshall, R. Dougall, F. Moffatt, W. H. K. Talbot, Sam Roberts, R. B. Heishway, T. McLaughlin, R. Beatty.

Neither Building Inspector Piper or H. C. McBride, architect, were in attendance at the Wednesday session. The former was in Brantford all day, while the latter had been retained by the commission during the past year.

Amies in Calculations.
Deplored the fact that the two members of the arbitration board have failed to agree upon the appointment of Judge Macbeth, D. J. Tallant, a member of the housing commission, declared Friday that the contractors or their representative are amiss in their calculations if they persist in their claim that a chairman is not essential.

"We have conducted inquiries in this matter," he explained, "and as far as we can learn there would be no board without a chairman. We suggested Judge Macbeth, because we felt that as a member we would not have to seek elsewhere or delay proceedings, as we would have adequate legal knowledge at hand."

Commissioner Tallant was decisive in his declaration that responsibility for the next move rested upon Mr. Terry.

"Our man has done his part and has approached Mr. Terry without success twice Wednesday afternoon," he pointed out.

RAILWAY SHOPMEN CONFER WITH PRIME MINISTER KING

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—Canadian Press.—R. J. Tallon, president, and Charles Dickie, secretary, of division No. 4, the chief officers of the Canadian Shopmen's Union, arrived in Ottawa today for a conference with Right Hon. Mackenzie King, the prime minister, in respect to some new aspects which have arisen in connection with the shopmen's conference with the employing railways. The conference is being held behind closed doors in the prime minister's office. Beyond the information that the shopmen's executive are meeting the premier concerning their negotiations with the railways, no statement as to the conference was available.

It Measures Up in Tea Quality
100% of its Selling Cost
"SALADA" TEA
"STANDARD" THE WORLD OVER

It's easy with ORINOCO
A little practice and you will soon become expert in rolling your own cigarette.....
Then you can enjoy the luxury of a fresh cigarette... and the economy of.....
43 Cigarettes for 15¢
A 15¢ package of ORINOCO CUTLINE will on the average make 43 cigarettes or 287 from a 1/2 lb. tin.

A good, pure, tasty Salt Century Salt
"The Salt of the Century," the purest, cleanest and whitest of all, you'd understand that there is a big difference in Salt, and the difference is all in favor of Century Salt. At your Grocers.
Dominion Salt Co., Limited, Manufacturers and Shippers, Sarnia.

Taylor's INFANTS DELIGHT
IT'S WHITE TOILET SOAP
A soothing fragrant powder is Infants-Delight BOTTLED TALCUM.
Smooth as velvet—fragrant and refreshing. Mild enough for baby's skin. Infants-Delight is surely the ideal soap for you.
JOHN TAYLOR & CO., LIMITED, TORONTO, CANADA.

SAXOPHONE SOLD
FOR SALE
SAXOPHONE, nearly new, used in band 3 months. C. model, snap, this week only.
Get the Want Ad habit of disposing of unused articles. No want or article too unusual for a Want Ad to dispose of.
The above ad. sold the saxophone after the first insertion.
CALL 3670
CLASSIFIED AD. DEPT.

Have You Sent an Item For
"I Spied Column?"

The London Advertiser

THURSDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 21, 1922.

New Advertiser Patterns in Greater Favor. Page 6.

LONDON UNIONS TO HEAR ROLLO

Minister of Labor Expected To Speak On Fair Wage Question.

Will Respond To Invitation of Local Trades Council in October.

Hon. Walter Rollo, minister of labor for the Province of Ontario, will attend the next meeting of the London Trades and Labor Council. A resolution proposing that he be invited was passed by that body at its last meeting, Wednesday, September 6.

In answer to this invitation, the minister of labor sent a communication to the Labor Council to the effect that he found it impossible to attend the meeting which was being held on September 20, but that he would be with them for the first meeting in October, and that he considered it an honor to be favored with the invitation.

Mr. Rollo is expected to speak on the fair wage question in answer to some charges which have been laid against him by several members of the above named council at former meetings. At the last meeting, when a communication was read from the minister of labor for Ontario, in which he stated that he had no jurisdiction in the fair wage question, a delegate to the council, E. W. Angles declared, "the minister is side-stepping and this council has a tendency to pass the buck" between here and Toronto.

Everything points towards the next meeting being a very interesting one. According to John McGuire, president of the council, any criticisms against the minister will be brought up at the next meeting when he is there to confront them.

In making a report to the council, Mr. McGuire stated that a dispute had arisen in one of the local tailor shops, in which union men had been employed, over a deal which was not within the laws of their union. "These men were turned out and non-union men were taken in," Mr. McGuire went on to say. "This firm has taken up several large civil contracts and will be very busy during the winter months."

"It is not a dispute over wages or the hours of work, and there was no reason whatever for these men being turned out. I would be very glad, Mr. Chairman, if this council would inform each of the local unions of the injustice which has been done. It would be much appreciated by our local, if this council would form a committee to investigate this matter, and also make it a prominent one," Mr. McGuire concluded by saying. "A motion was put before the council to the effect that they give the tailors' union all assistance possible in this matter. The motion carried unanimously."

Obituaries

EDWARD COLEMAN ROSS.
The death after a very short illness was announced Tuesday evening, September 19, of Edward Coleman Ross, aged 60 years, husband of Mrs. Emma Ross, at his late residence, 797 William street.

Mr. Ross has been known for many years as a market gardener of no mean repute, and the news of his death comes as a shock to his many friends, who held him in high esteem.

Besides his wife, Mr. Ross is survived by two sons and three daughters, all at home.

The service will be held from the family residence at 2:30 o'clock, the Rev. A. S. H. Cree officiating. The interment will take place at Woodland Cemetery.

MRS. KATHLEEN MCKEWAN.
Mrs. Kathleen McKewan died on Tuesday morning, September 19, at her late residence, 113 Maple street. She is the wife of John H. McKewan, who is well-known in the city.

Mrs. McKewan, who had been ill for some time, seemed to be improving slightly, when she was taken worse and passed away on Tuesday morning.

The service will be held at 2 p.m. at the family residence by Rev. Jean Norman L. Tucker, of St. Paul's Cathedral. The interment will take place at Woodland Cemetery.

KODAKS

Take a Kodak with you on your Vacation

STRONG'S DRUG STORE
184 DUNDAS STREET
ywt.

We Specialize in Photo Frames
The Danagh Studio
(Formerly Edy Bros.)
Fresh Meats of all kinds—Steaks, Chops and Cooked Meats.
Complete Stock of Groceries.
Phone your order 5534. We deliver.
Vining & Hobbs
60 DUNDAS ST.

Town Topics.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

There hath no temptation taken you, but such as is common to man; but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able.—1 Corinthians, 10:13.

THAT learning which thou gatest by thy own observation and experience is far beyond that which thou gatest by precept; as the knowledge of a traveler exceeds that which is got by reading.—Thomas à Kempis.

TWO SPECIAL PARLOR CARS.
one from Toronto and the other from Montreal, passed through the city on train No. 117, G. T. R., at 11:30 Thursday morning, carrying delegations to the Kiwanis convention, which opens at Windsor today. A large party of London Kiwanians also led on the same train for the Border Cities.

IN A NEW GRAND TRUNK
timetable effective Oct. 1, two trains passing through London are affected. No. 110, from Sarnia, due in the city at 3:40 p.m., will arrive after the first of the month at 4 p.m., and
No. 18, from Detroit, due in London at 4:10 p.m., will leave for the east at 4:25 p.m., the same time as at present.

THE BANK CLEARINGS for the week amounted to $2,853,611 in contrast to $2,905,73 for the corresponding week last year.

POLICE HAVE found no trace of the bandit who attempted to hold up Miss Rose Kaufman of Sterling street near Gurnage's green houses, Tuesday night last. The authorities do not believe that the description given by the girl is clear enough to lead them far, although they are working on clues.

MONDAY NEXT will witness the completion of all concrete construction in connection with the city's moving enterprise on the Hamilton road, from Egerton to St. Julian streets. Street car service will not be resumed, however, until after the new laid concrete has been allowed to set perfectly. The city's Dundas street paving project is still temporarily delayed, pending the arrival of rails needed for street railway operations.

REAL ESTATE sales, totaling $29,400, were made through the office of Bert Weir, local real estate broker, Tuesday, September 19. The property involved in the deals were:
M. White's 100-acre farm at Delaware, a business block in South London, Mr. Adam's residence on Bruce street, and six lots, the property of Mr. McFarlane.

ALLEGED CAR THIEF GETS DISMISSAL

Samuel Gratton Freed With Warning From Judge
Macbeth.

Lack of sufficient evidence saved
the situation, at least temporarily, for Samuel Gratton, who was charged with the theft of two automobiles at a special session of the judges' court Thursday morning. Gratton was at that time indebted to him in the amount of $40, and he had insisted on the payment of this amount before allowing Gratton to take the two cars. Gratton had told him that Wm. McCullum, a Glencoe automobile dealer, testified that early in the summer he had sold two cars to Gratton on the understanding that payment was to be made when he expected to sell the cars quickly.

McCullum produced a letter from Gratton, written about the 15th of June, in which Gratton stated that he had sold one car, but would not receive full settlement until the 15th of July. He had accepted $9 and a horse and buggy as part payment.

Crown Attorney Elliot contended that Gratton should have paid the $9 and the horse and buggy over to McCullum as soon as received. He pointed out that Gratton had seriously erred in omitting to "account for paying," and that if this section of the code did not apply in Gratton's case, a man could sell another's property, and be under no obligation to the party to whom the goods belonged, other than merely to account for them.

His Honor Judge Talbot Macbeth, however, held that insufficient evidence had been submitted. There was absolutely no evidence to show that Gratton had sold the second car.
In acquitting Gratton, Judge Macbeth warned him, however, that he was securing his freedom, mainly because the evidence did not show that he had broken his contract. "In the course of a few days, you may find yourself back in jail. If you have sold the other car, received the money, and not turned it over to McCullum, you had better settle with him right away."

Rent That Room

Your family is going to be smaller this year, now that the children are going to school? Why not rent a room or two to some pleasant folks? You'll not be half so lonely and it will help buy books and supplies for the children.

There are lots of lonely boys and girls in the business world who would be mighty glad to have the chance to live with you.
How to find them? Why, through the Advertiser Want Ads. Run an ad today, describing the rooms you have for rent, and you'll have desirable roomers in no time.

CLEAR DRIVER OF ALL BLAME

Jurors At Capitano Inquest Find Death of Child Purely Accidental.

No Recommendations Added To Verdict Regarding Western Fair Fatality.

"That Victor Capitano came to his death Monday, September 11, at the Western Fair grounds, by being run over by a horse driven by Charles Chapman. We exonerate the driver from all blame for the fatality."

With this verdict, announced by a jury following an inquest at the local police station Wednesday night, investigation into the death of the little seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Capitano, 202 Simcoe street, who was killed by a horse and wagon owned by Silverwood's Limited, was brought to a close.

To coronor Robert G. Ferguson and Crown Attorney J. C. Elliott conducted the inquest.

Evidence was given by Police Constable C. W. Nolte, who carried the little body from the scene of the accident to the emergency hospital.

He told the jury that the lad died soon after he was lifted from beneath the front and rear wheels of the wagon.

Two little sisters of the boy, Mary, aged 13, who told a very clear and connected story, and Theresa, aged 9, so small she scarce could be seen above the witness box, described the accident and the events that led up to it.

Describes Accident.
Mary said that she and Theresa were going with Victor from the cattle shed to the pure food show. The boy was a little way from them when she saw the horse coming. She looked up and heard a cry and saw her brother collide with the horse and fall beneath the wheels. The animal seemingly kicked the boy on the head, and then the wheel ran over him. The horse was walking quite slowly, she told the court.

Theresa gave very little evidence, but she had nothing to the story of the other sister.

Mrs. Gertrude Morgan informed the jury that she saw the child break from his two sisters. He seemed to be watching the goats and did not notice anything until the horse fell beneath the wheel the driver brought the vehicle to a stop so quickly the rear wheel did not touch his body.

She did not think the driver saw the boy, for at the time he was talking to her, and at the same time was watching some tubs on the rear of the wagon.

Harry Fountain, who was sitting by the cattle sheds when the boy was killed, saw the boy at the horse's feet trying to scramble to safety.
The wheel passed over his body, however, before he accomplished his purpose.

T. A. Frick and Charles O'Brien both saw the accident, but their stories added nothing to the evidence already given.

Driver Tells Story.
George Burt, who was with Charles Chapman when the accident occurred, could throw little light on the cause of the boy's death as he did not see the lad until he was taken from beneath the wheels. He was looking at the rear of the wagon.

Chapman told the jury that he had worked for Silverwood's for seventeen years, and this was his first accident. He had driven the same horse for eight years, and found it to be a quiet animal. At the time of the accident everything ahead and to one side of the wagon was clear.

He did not know where his sister was until he heard the scream. He immediately pulled up the horse.

The jury, consisting of R. Robertson, foreman; C. Finchamp, D. W.
Stark, A. Blay, J. H. Wilkins, D. W.
Forest, and M. Wilkins and P. R.
Ashton, was out only a few minutes.

No recommendations were made.

CITY BRIDE KILLED BY DETROIT AUTO

Mrs. Harris, Formerly Miss Margaret Scott, Dies On Honeymoon.

While on her wedding trip, following her marriage on Saturday last,
Mrs. Walter Harris, formerly Miss Margaret Scott, of 80 Becher street, this city, met a tragic death in Detroit Wednesday night, when she was struck by an automobile on Grand Boulevard.

A happy wedding occurred at her former home when she was united in marriage to Walter Harris of this city, by Rev. James Mackay of New St. James' Presbyterian Church. The wedding gifts still stood upon a table at home when news of the tragedy was received.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris left this city Saturday night, immediately following the ceremony, and were spending their honeymoon with Mrs. H. W.
Scott of Cass avenue, Detroit, an aunt of the bride.

Rev. Mr. Mackay received word of the death, and then broke the sad news to two sisters of Mrs. Harris, who live at home, and to Mrs. George Bolton, a third sister.

Mrs. Harris was struck by a car driven by Edward Granger, who is being held by the Detroit police. The car was owned by Horace Dodge, a son of the late John Dodge, millionaire auto manufacturer.

Immediately after the accident the young woman was moved to Providence Hospital, where she died at 7 o'clock, 30 minutes after being struck.

The body is expected to arrive in this city Thursday for burial.

1 SPED TODAY

PRIZE FOR BEST ITEM DAILY.

YOU must see something going on every day. Perhaps not a big thing, but interesting. The Advertiser wants you to send it for use in the "I Spied" column. Every reader a reporter is the idea behind the plan. The items must be written to "take a stab" at any person. If so, they will not be published.

In order to create interest in the column, the Grand Opera House has donated two seats each night as a prize for the best item of the day. Your name and address must accompany the item, and it can run with only your initial attached if you desire. The contest is on. Who wants to go to the Grand?

If "H. W." in Wednesday's "I Spied" column, will call at The Advertiser office today or to-morrow, she will be given two tickets for the Grand Theatre, Friday.

A WOMAN at a local theatre office taking her purse out of her stocking.—C. S.

A PROCESSION of noisy autos going west on Dundas street, the leading car carrying the sign,
"Just married—watch London grow."

A VISITING tourist girl at Dundas and Richmond streets staked in riding breeches and slouch hat. Several men standing on the corner said—on the corner said—

TWO CYCLISTS riding on York street, between Richmond and Talbot streets. One said to the other: "Say, Bill, is this street paved with corrugated iron?"—
F. Y.

A MAN NURSING one lone meatloaf, which he bought on the market. He was standing waiting for a Normal car at Dundas street. When one came he climbed on board with his melon, doing the balancing act very nicely.

AN ELDERLY LADY stepping in front of a rapidly moving auto as it was rounding the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets and being quickly pulled back to safety by a quick-witted young man who then escorted her across the street. The young man wore a returned button and had left one of his arms in Flanders.

ON DUNDAS STREET a car with tin cans tied on the back, also a large placard, "Just married." The number of the car was 70-044, and close behind followed another auto, the headlights of which kept playing on the placard of the bridal car. The procession went up and down Richmond street and then disappeared to the north.

A 15-YEAR-OLD LAD brought into police court because he had grown too enthusiastic and bolderous at a ball game played by St. Thomas and Niagara Falls at Tecumseh Park Saturday. The lad was lightly penalized and probably was rushed to an ice cream parlor afterwards, for his father is one of the city's most enthusiastic ball fans.

A SHADOWY FIGURE of no mean proportions in the uncertain light of the Grand Trunk platform disembarking with considerable difficulty and grunting at intervals from the parlor car attached to No. 15. The "mysterious stranger," who had scattered about his person seven sample cases, proved, upon closer inspection, to be that bane of moonshine peddlers, Inspector "Bud" Lucas.

—D. R. M.

A YOUNG LADY on Richmond street at 1 o'clock this morning, who asked me if she could walk down the street with me, as she was frightened. It happened that the young lady lived within a short distance of my home, so I escorted her to her residence.
Although we were not previously acquainted, she had heard about me, and I had often seen her in the neighborhood, so the conversation was entertaining and appreciation of company was mutual.—J. D. E.

Suddenly Remember Elections Are Again Nearing

CIVIC elections are on the homestretch again! This fact, arrow-like, pierced the minds of several citizens when Mayor Cameron Wilson and E. R. Seabrook recently exchanged their views on the chance for re-election to a second term of office.

"What's the word?" began Mr. Seabrook.
"Next year, if I've got anything to do with it, we are going to get the council to increase our representation," said Mr. Seabrook.

"Surely none of you," with an inquiring look at Mr. Seabrook, "are aspiring to a second term?" said the mayor.

"Why, yes; we are just like a large happy family," replied Mr. Seabrook.
"We go on famously, and we certainly have nothing to be ashamed of, considering the amount of money we have to work with."

"What about you, your worship?"
asked Mr. Seabrook.
"Well, it's too early to say," replied the mayor, "seeing the fact that probably it was information they were after."

CITY TO INSIST ON CAR SERVICE

Ald. Douglass Determined to Continue Fight on West London Agreement
Against Making Any Concessions to Street Railway Company.

The London Street Railway Company must adhere to its agreement with the city and furnish adequate service in West London, once all paving operations now contemplated, are completed.

Reiterating his contention Thursday that it was time that "the dog wagged its own tail," Ald. Dr. Douglass, in a fight for better streets across the river, voiced his determination to continue the struggle in the city council until a logical termination has occurred.

Grant No Concessions.
"Grant no concessions whatever to the street railway company," is his slogan, and he will not be swayed from his intentions he states decisively.

"How the company makes provision for this service is none of our business as a matter of fact," Ald.
Douglass contends, "whether they want trackless trolleys, street cars or wheelbarrows, as long as good service is maintained and their agreement with the city remains."

"It is none of the city's affairs whether the road is paving. That is not our fault, and I am strictly against the granting of any concessions whatever to them. London is not in the loan office business, and I was decidedly against the recent move, which practically amounted to a loan, when provision was made for the payment of East London and Hampstead road operations in three annual instalments."

If Ald. Douglass was allowed his way and the company was agreeable, he would see that all the West London trackage from the Dundas street bridge to Oxford street, via the Wharfedale road, was removed, the entire route be paved, following which the company could inaugurate a bus service for that section of the city. He believes that at this moment the company would be agreeable to the undertaking.

Claim Attention.
Although the Wharfedale road paving project has already been before the council, Ald. Douglass is of the opinion that it is unlikely that such new work could be accomplished or even commenced this year, as Oxford street, from the Wharfedale road east, will claim the attention of the city engineer's department until the cold weather sets in.

INVITE PASTOR FOR FIFTH YEAR

Ridout Street Methodists Urge Rev. J. A. Agnew to Remain.

Are Pleased With Minister's Work During Past Four Years.

The outstanding feature of the August meeting of the quarterly official board of the Ridout Street Methodist Church on Wednesday night, at the conclusion of the weekly prayer service, was the extension of a unanimous invitation to the pastor, Rev. J. A.
Agnew, to remain for a fifth year.

Rev. Mr. Agnew's four years of service at Ridout Street Church will not be concluded until June, 1923, but the board clearly indicated a desire to assure the pastor how much his unselfish effort in the building up of the congregation had been appreciated.

It is the general opinion that no minister in the city has worked more unselfishly in his constituency and has been responsible for more marked growth in his church than Rev. Mr.
Agnew. Coming to Ridout Street Methodist Church in 1919, he was met with a rather depressing condition of finances, but his energy, enthusiasm and keen interest in the welfare of the community have not only resulted in placing the church in a much improved condition financially, but have raised the church membership from less than 200 in 1919 to something over 500 at the present time.

From Every Angle. Rev. Mr.
Agnew has had offers from other congregations since coming to Ridout Street, but the officials of the church are most anxious that he remain for a fifth year, feeling that his work of the church would be best served by his remaining.

Thanking the board for their very kind invitation to remain, Mr. Agnew stated that he would be quite willing to do so, provided unavoidable circumstances, over which he had no control, did not intervene. He also took occasion to thank the officials for the cooperation which he had always received from them in matters affecting the welfare of the church.

Special committees of the official board were appointed to arrange for the anniversary services of the church, which will be held within a month of six weeks; and also to confer with the pastor relative to a series of special evangelistic meetings during the coming fall or winter.

PLAN CITY VOTE ON WARD SYSTEM

Council to Prepare Motion for Ballot of Ratepayers.

At the next civic election the ratepayers will be asked to express their opinion of the ward system for the election of city councillors as against the vote at large.

Definite assurance was given Thursday that the next session of the city council would witness the introduction of a motion that this question be sent to the electors in December for a final decision.

A close survey of the situation reveals the rough calculation that a majority of the aldermen are indeed favorable that the citizens hereafter select their representatives to the council by a vote at large, in lieu of the present scheme, now effective for several years—three councillors from each ward.

The present procedure does not meet with the entire approval, evidently, of all the ratepayers, and many have petitioned to members of the council and city officials for a return to the old form of election.

That a vote at large is always responsible for a sweeping change in the personnel of the council has been evidenced upon many occasions in past campaigns, when aldermen who finished among the leaders in the general vote were subsequently among the vanquished when the fight was centered in their own ward.

In short, some candidates are "mighty good fellows abroad," but "not thought so much of" in their own neighborhood.

DRAFTS PLAN FOR NEW CITY REGISTRY

Inspector Piper Makes Survey of Similar Structure in Brantford.

Plans and specifications for the city's new registry building, proposed for King street, just west of Ridout street, will be ready, it is anticipated, for final approval at the next meeting of the board of works.

It is planned at this moment that the actual operations commence Oct.
1. The cost will be in the neighborhood of $150,000.

City Building Inspector A. W. Piper returned to the city Thursday night following an inspection of the Branford registry office, and from his attitude it is assumed that the new London structure will be fashioned to a large degree from the building in the former community.

A tentative sketch of the contemplated building has already been approved by S. R. Heakes, provincial architect, who referred Inspector Piper to the Brantford office for suggestions.

"We have a good idea now of what we desire here," he explained Thursday, "and I am commencing without further delay to prepare final plans in readiness for immediate approval."

The inspector stated it had not been decided as yet whether the project would be undertaken by contract or day labor.

Zurich Raspberries Grow in September

INSPECTOR W. E. KELLY of the Children's Aid Society is in possession of a branch upon which several luscious raspberries may be seen, having picked it from a bush by the road in the vicinity of Zurich.

The berries are not of the wild variety, but are quite large. Inspector Kelly exhibited his find in his office Thursday.

SUGGEST CITY LIGHTING TEST

Officials Propose Practical Demonstration to Decide Best Method.

Believe Center Illumination Is Wrong System For London.

Four tentative outlines for more adequate street lighting in London have been prepared by City Engineer
H. A. Brazier and E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities commission, following their conference Thursday afternoon.

From Every Angle. The entire situation from every angle, and rather than recommend one particular plan for improvement, they devised a scheme whereby the city councillors will be enabled to see for themselves just what they can obtain for their money.

It is proposed to choose at random four blocks throughout the city and employ the same as sample streets.
Plan No. 1 will be a light on every pole in lieu of the light on every second pole as at present.

No. 2 will be as at present, a light on every second pole. No. 3 will be a light on every pole, but of a larger lights on every second pole, while No. 4 will be bigger lights on every pole.

Will Prepare Data.
The general manager in the meantime will also prepare data upon the relative costs of the four plans for the consideration of the aldermen, who will be asked to view the specially illuminated thoroughfares when they have been placed in readiness.

The officials also considered, while in session Thursday, other possibilities, which they finally rejected as impractical or inexpedient for this city, including the proposal to place lights on either side of the street or down the center of the street.

In the latter instance it was felt that while this would improve the street lighting by four, it would tend in the summer months at least to throw the sidewalks into comparative darkness. The authorities reasoned that the bulk of the electors would not appreciate this move. The walking public is demanding the increased light, while the motorists carry their own lighting facilities.

London Advertiser

Published by
THE LONDON ADVERTISER
COMPANY, LIMITED, London, Ontario.

MORNING. EVENING.

TELEPHONE NUMBERS.

3670 PRIVATE 3670

From 9 p.m. to 3:30 a.m. and holidays
call 77, Business Department; 73, Editors and Reporters; 174, Composing Rooms; 76, Circulation Department.

London, Ont., Thursday, September 21.

Paying the Price.

THE Los Angeles Times indulges in rather bitter comment over the sale of United States wooden ships to a bidder for $375,000. The Times says:

"When we went into the war, on the urgent recommendation of our allies our government spent $300,000,000 in building wooden ships to save Europe from starving. This fleet, all but ten vessels, has just been sold for $375,000. Yet the same allies who urged us to build wooden ships in their emergency are now plausibly protesting against the way in which Uncle Sam made money out of the world war."

There may have been, in the need of Europe at the time of the war, urgency for these ships, but they never carried food to Europe, and the suspicion always remained that interest in the United States saw in this feverish war activity the opening of an opportunity in days following the war to go out and compete for the carrying supremacy of the world, a position then and still held by the British flag.

Apart from that, is it well for a nation that has the wealth of United States to complain of the loss of some millions of dollars on the sale of wooden ships? Was United States scourged with whips that were withheld from the backs of other nations? Month after month, until the months ran into what seemed to be endless years, Canada paid the price of war. Day after day the dreaded little yellow message was dropped at homes here, there and everywhere in this Dominion. At first only a few, then more and more and today we see monuments, tablets, memorial parks and buildings all bearing silent but eloquent testimony to a sacrifice that could not be computed in terms of millions. And yet, through all that period of suffering, while the horrors of war sprawled themselves over the world, there was no complaint.

And what of Britain and Europe? What of France, whose land was torn, its fruitfulness destroyed, and of Belgium, the cockpit of wars, in the making of which she had no choice? Or even in enemy countries, such as Austria, bled white by her association with the central powers, today dumb, miserable, stripped, with hardly a shred of former greatness left, and with nothing on which to build or inspire hope for the future. Russia? What a spectacle of unselfish mystery and helpless dejection. What a price the war has wrung from this great land of the north! Honeycombed by treachery, her brave sons left in the ditches with nothing at times but empty hands and stout hearts to face the onrush of the enemy troops—her government seized by fanatics, some weak, some strong, the last and most powerful strong and heartless, and bent on carrying out execution a mad idea that would wipe her from the land all trace of power or resistance that was not to his liking.

Paying a price? Dear Los Angeles Times, let us say to you that the whole world paid a price—paid it with life, limb and heart-breaks, paid it in blasted hopes and shattered ambitions, paid it in hatred and paid it in love, paid it in broken family circles and orphaned and widowed, paid it in broken men who were shot and cut and made to inhale a gas that was worse than the vapors of hell.

Ah, yes, the price was paid. In fact your little fleet of wooden ships isn't worthy of a place in the ledger of memory or achievement.

Cheating the Tariff.

DOES the tariff make you rich? That used to be an old political catch question, but in this case it is being asked in a new way. The questioner is the National Magazine of Boston, and the heading of the story is "Import Tricks That Bled Your Pocketbook." The rest of the heading material goes on to say: "They say it's the tariff that makes imported goods high, but who gets the trim little profit after the duty's paid?"

The article is interesting because it comes to the support of the Fournier-McCormack tariff bill. Dealing with German-made goods, against which an export tax has been placed by the allies, the article goes on to show how the German does not sell direct to the American importer "if he is established and knows the game. He sends his agent to the United States corporation, or utilizes his relatives or partners here. The American merchant who cannot afford to have his own establishment abroad places his order at some agreed upon rate. Let us say that it is at the rate of $1.00 per dozen. The German manufacturer says: 'We will ship these goods to America and our agent there will bill them to you.' He then ships the goods to his agent in America and bills them at first cost, say 30 cents, thereby avoiding two-thirds of the export tax from Germany and two-thirds of the import tax into America. Our government is defrauded, but we have no means of ascertaining the whole sale value in Germany, and the item goes by on the invoice price. The German agent of the manufacturer then bills the goods to the American purchaser at $1. as per agreement. He keeps the seventy cents which belongs to the German manufacturer, and sends thirty cents back to Germany. This seventy cents multiplied by tens of millions remains in the United States of America, so that the German manufacturer with his money invested in our country and in every other country where he ships goods can snap his fingers at the reparations commission and escape taxation both as to exports and imports, and while wringing his hands in grief as to his poverty is really becoming rich at the expense of our allies, who are already bled white by his invasions."

AN excellent little game, no doubt. But of more interest to U. S. buyers is what becomes of the cheap imported material after it is unloaded? The National Magazine gives a few instances. The first is a set of dishes which sold for $21.50 in the first place—duty about 50 per cent—price to consumer in one of the largest New York stores, $134. Next a pearl necklace, the import price of which was $12.25, duty about 50 per cent—sold in the same store at $150.

Next came cutlery, bought at another store on 42nd street, New York, for $3.60 per dozen, for which 33 cents per dozen was the wholesale foreign price. Then a clock bought in Germany at $1.70, duty 30 per cent. A purchase slip from a Fifth avenue store shows it went to the buyer for $30.

From the standpoint of the consumer the Fournier method of dealing with much imports is much more adequate. Under it there is no chance of German goods being put past Canadian customs at any figure the German shipper may care to name. For instance, if a shipment of knives were to come to a Canadian revenue port, and the price was 33 cents a dozen, the authorities would simply take the value of a similar shipment from England, and that would automatically take the place of the German figure for revenue purposes. The idea does away with all the complicated figuring of trying to find out what real worth there is for foreign currencies, whose cheap labors could smother ours. United States might well consider the adoption of the Fournier plan to deal with the situation complicated and so thoroughly exposed by the National Magazine.

London Can Make Money.

COME, folks, gather around and see if we can't do something to reduce the tax rate in London. It's high, you know, and the assessment is also fairly stiff.

At the first of the season the mayor and several members of the city council were out for economy. They were going to secure it by hacking pieces off the salaries of all and sundry who happened to draw pay from the city. However, those who were about to be hacked drew themselves together in large bodies, and when the chief hacker saw what a multitude of votes were going to be hurt when he runs for parliament, he ceased to hack.

So no money was saved there.

Now, here's our idea. This paper received a letter from Jose Garcia, who writes on the stationery of the Biltmore Hotel, New York, an inn of no mean proportions, and of no small per diem charges. Garcia represents SENOR GALLARDO, champion matador of Spain. We pause here a moment to explain that matador means bull-fighter. Senor is anxious to come to London to stage a bull fight here. That is the proposition, and Garcia wastes no words in so saying.

Now for the finances. Garcia claims that bull fights draw bigger crowds than box socials or political picnics, or anything else. In fact, people will go to see a bull fight when they won't go to see anything else. The gate receipts he estimates at $500,000, these to be cut 50-50, so London can have $250,000, with an equal amount for the Senor, Garcia and the dead bulls.

So, citizens, there's your way out. If one bull fight could make us a quarter of a million a year, our red school house education leads us to believe that four bull fights a year would net the city a million, and if we got the thing going strong enough, we could have one a month, making $3,000,000 per annum, out of which we could pay a dividend to all the property-holders in London, as well as establish the reputation of being the greatest bull-fighting place on the North American continent.

SENOR and GARCIA, we thank you. At once will we look for a vacant lot whereon we can travel to prosperity by the bull fight route.

LITTLE 'TISERS

We don't like his language, but we sometimes admire a man who calls a bigger man a liar.

And in years to come nursery books will read: "Once upon a time when people got married for keeps

Will the shimmy come back? is a question asked by the reformer squad. Well, if the winter is cold, it may.

A man selling swamp whiskey is after a man who paid him in bogus money. Once more the pot calls the kettle black.

A woman in Boston threw her soup at the waiter. This is highly improper—she should have inhaled it through a straw.

Folks are like watermelons. They look quite the same on the outside,

H.G. WELLS' FAMOUS OUTLINE OF HISTORY

The Romance of Mother Earth

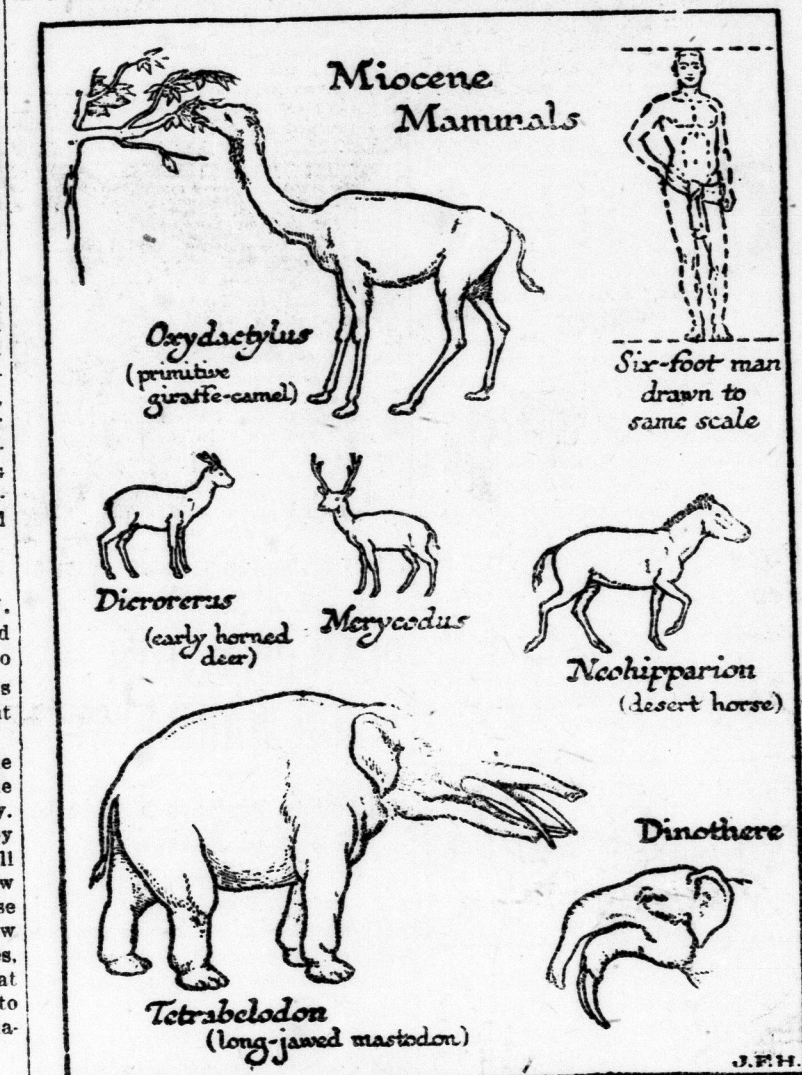

In the Days of the Dinosaurs.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT—10.

THE earliest known reptiles were well over a hundred feet! These greater monsters had legs, and they are usually figured as standing up on them; but it is very doubtful if they could have supported their weight in this way, out of water. Buoyed up by water or mud, they may have got along.

Another noteworthy type we have figured is the triceratops. There were also a number of great flesh-eaters who preyed upon these herbivores. Of these, tyrannosaurs seems almost the last word in "frightfulness" among living things. Some species of this genus measured forty feet from snout to tail. Apparently it carried this vast body of characters, which approach those of the mammalian skeleton, and because of this resemblance to the mammals (beasts) this division is called the theriomorpha (beastlike).

Another division was the crocodile branch, and another developed toward the tortoises and turtles. The plesiosaurs and ichthyosaurs were two groups which have left no living representative; they were huge reptiles returning to a whale-like life in the sea. Plesiosaurs, one of the largest plesiosaurs, measured thirty feet from snout to tail tip—of which half was neck. The mosasaurs were a third group of great porpoise-like marine lizards.

Long Beasts; Long Names. But the largest and most diversified group of these mesozoic reptiles was the group we have spoken of as kangaroo-like the dinosaurs, many of which attained enormous proportions. In bigness these greater dinosaurs have never been exceeded, although the sea can still show in the whales creatures as great.

Some of these, and the largest among them were herbivorous animals; they browsed on the ferns and bushes, or they stood up and grasped trees with their fore-legs while they devoured the foliage.

Among the browsers, for example, were the diplodocus carnegii, which measured 84 feet in length, and the atlasaurus. The gigantesaurus, disintegrated by a German expedition in 1912 from rocks in East Africa, was still more colossal. It measured but under the skin there's a heap of difference in them.

A policeman shot a robber in Cleveland. This is explained by the fact that there were no spectators around to soak up the bullets.

When you're real busy the day seems to slip past like a man in his sock feet. When you're killing time it thumps along like a set of hob-nailed boots.

The newspaper fraternity join in extending sympathy to JOHN W. Eddy of the St. Marys Journal in the loss of his wife, and also to LOUIE Eddy of the Walkerton Telescope in the passing of his mother. Father and son, both publishers, are bereaved.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is—PUSILLANIMITY.

It's pronounced—pu-sil-la-nim-i-ty, with accent slightly on the first and more strongly upon the fourth syllable.

It means—weakness of spirit, cowardice, destitution of manly strength and firmness.

It comes from—a combination of the Latin words "pusillus," meaning "very little," and "animus," "the mind."

It's used like this—"Editorial writers generally agree that the present serious situation at Constantinople is due mainly to the pusillanimity of the European governments' policy there."

Tomorrow—Exercise for the Wide-headed.

Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company.

from its hind edge. And these pterodactyls had no feathers.

The Beginning of Feathers.

Far less prevalent at this time were certain other truly bird-like creatures, of which the earlier sorts also hopped and clambered and the latter sorts skimmed and flew. These were at first—by all the standards of classification—reptiles. They developed into true birds as they developed wings and as their reptilian scales became long and complicated, fronds rather than scales, and so at last, by much spreading and splitting, feathers.

Feathers are the distinctive covering of birds, and they give a power of resisting heat and cold far greater than that of any other integumentary covering except perhaps the thickest fur. At a very early stage this novel covering of feathers, this new heat-proof contrivance that life had chanced upon, enabled many species of birds to invade a province for which the pterodactyl was ill equipped.

They took to sea fishing—if indeed they did not begin with it—and spread to the north and south poleward beyond the temperature limits set to the true reptiles. The earliest birds seem to have been carnivorous divers and water birds. To this day some of the most primitive bird forms are found among the sea birds of the Arctic and Antarctic seas, and it is among these sea birds that zoologists still find lingering traces of teeth, which have otherwise vanished completely from the beak of the bird.

The earliest known bird (the archæopteryx) had no beak; it had a row of teeth in a jaw like a reptile's. It had three claws at the forward corner of its wing. Its tail, too, was peculiar. All modern birds have their tail feathers set in a short compact bony rump; the archæopteryx had a long body with a row of feathers along each side.

Tomorrow—"The Mysterious Fate of the Reptiles."

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

HIGH blood pressure sometimes is due to over-wrought nerves or to emotional causes. In such cases deep breathing exercises may be employed to good advantage.

In ordinary breathing only about 10 per cent of the lung content is changed at each breath. In deep breathing a much larger percentage is changed, the whole lung is forced into action and there is more efficient circulation of blood in the abdomen, thus equalizing the circulation throughout the body.

Breathing exercises should be deep, slow, rhythmic and through the nose, not the throat.

High blood pressure may be temporary but should be watched and life should be regulated according to certain set rules. Avoid physical and mental over-strain. Eat little meat, avoid stimulants, tobacco and over-eating. Light meals at night should be the rule, rather than heavy ones. Get plenty of fresh air, exercise daily in the open but be careful not to over-fatigue your heart or circulation. Walking and a little hill-climbing are good if they do not cause pain in the chest or shortness of breath. If there is breathlessness, drowsy or dizziness, a physician's advice should be followed explicitly.

All damaged hearts should be examined once a year by a medical authority.

Irregular action of the heart is of no importance in some cases, while in others it is most serious. A physician's advice is needed to determine it.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

HERE WE HAVE ITEMS OF LOCAL AND DISTRICT INTEREST AS RECORDED IN THE ADVERTISER OF 1897.

SEPTEMBER 21, 1897.

Weather—Fair and warmer.

Ald. Bennett is acting mayor in London today.

W. Kipp has taken out a permit to build a frame cottage on Thornton avenue, to cost $600.

Willie Kershaw, the star pitcher of the defunct London team, was given a farewell by the Balmoral Club. A sumptuous spread was provided, and speeches were made by Mr. Dan Donaldson and others. Pipers Beaton and Johnston supplied good music. Mr. Kershaw left today for South Boston with the best wishes of London baseball enthusiasts.

G. T. R. advertises excursion to Niagara Falls from London for the opening of the new bridge, $1.75 return.

No. 6 Ward Liberal Club intend opening their handsome clubrooms on Monday, Oct. 1, with a social reunion. A committee is hustling the matter.

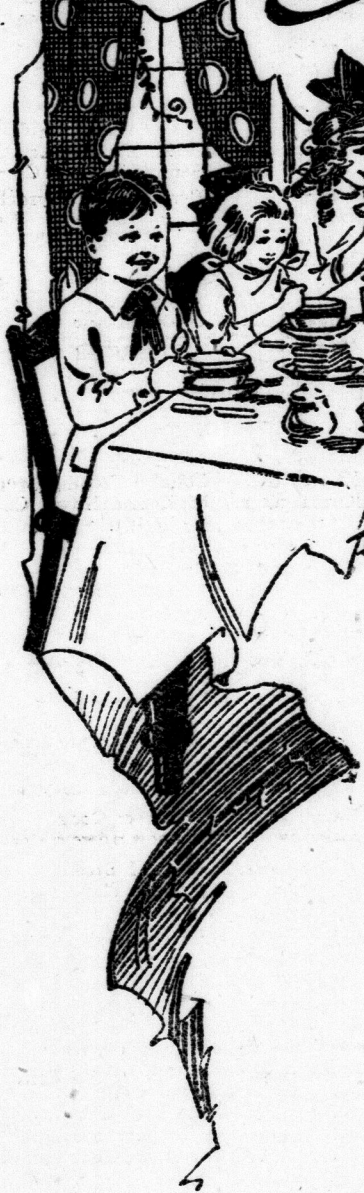

The first drill of the season of the Seventh Fusiliers was held last night, and the turnout was large, about 150 men attending. Quite a number were added to the strength of the battalion.

Brain Testers

A HENPECKED husband with a sense of humor was asked by a census taker how many there were in his family. "Ten," said he. When asked for their names, however, he said that his wife and himself made the ten in the family. "How's that?" asked the census man. Solution tomorrow.

Yesterday's Solution: The gardener has laid the trees out in a circle, so it was only 10 yards from the first tree to the last.

Back to School—back to the Oatmeal Breakfast

OUR children are back at school—healthy of body and alert in mind. The holidays have done them good, the change has fitted them for the strenuous days ahead,—but it rests with you to see that they KEEP FIT, that their little bodies are kept built up to withstand the rigours of fall and winter weather.

Fortify your children by giving them the right breakfast. Satisfy the appetites gained through the summer holidays with food which will nourish the brain and body and ensure vigorous health. In other words get the children back to that basic, simple food—Oatmeal.

Of all cereals the oat is the most invigorating, the most nutritious, and the easiest to digest. In fact to insure proper feeding for child and grown-up alike, one meal a day should be of oats—the supreme food. Your physician will tell you that oats do not produce fat—they produce bone and brawn.

But just rolled oats will not do. To be sure of getting oats at their best, buy the packaged kind, not the bulk.

Quaker Oats is the finest and most wholesome oat dish in the world.

Quaker Oats consist of rich, plump, queen grains only—the puny or imperfect grains are discarded. These large Quaker flakes absorb more moisture than small flours or broken flakes. That is why Quaker Oats makes the most, as well as the best, porridge. The most economical breakfast food too,—it costs less than one cent per dish.

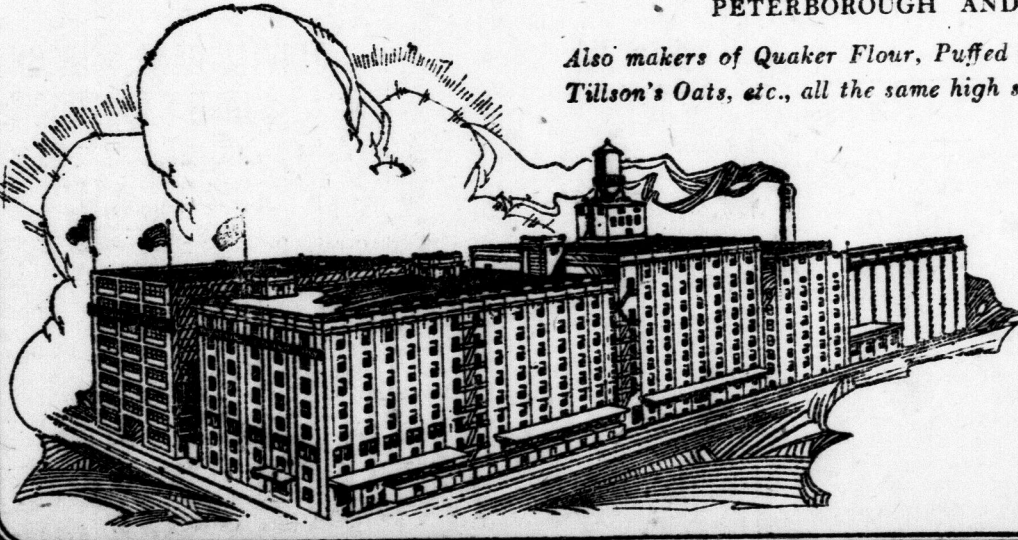

You will be ordering groceries to-day. Remember to include Quaker Oats on your list.

Quaker Oats

In Sealed Cartons Only

QUAKER MILLS
PETERBOROUGH AND SASKATOON

Also makers of Quaker Flour, Puffed Rice and Puffed Wheat, Tillsen's Oats, etc., all the same high standard as Quaker Oats.

The Quaker mills at Peterborough are the largest cereal mills in the British Empire and the most modern mills in the world—striking evidence of the popularity of Quaker Products. Visitors to the mills are always welcome.

Be Sure To Eat Plenty

If Troubled With Sour, Gassy Stomach Use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets After Eating.

Just because the stomach gets sour after eating don't scare yourself into starving. Sweeten your stomach with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The Big Fellows Who Do the Big Work Are No Stronger Than Their Stomachs.

one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and tackle the next meal without fear. The average person needs a lot of good food to supply his bulk with sufficient nourishment. And if the food sours from indigestion gives the stomach the alkaline effect it needs and you then keep up your strength. The big sturdy fellows who tackle the big jobs of life are no stronger than their stomachs, hence Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are really invaluable to anyone inclined to indigestion. Eat what you like, pie, cheese, sausage, pickles, fried eggs or baked beans and let these tablets keep your stomach sweet and comfortable. You can get a 50 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets of any druggist—Advt.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN SKIN AND BLEACH FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin. Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach, because it doesn't irritate.—Advt.

MAGNESIA FINE FOR ACID STOMACH

Quickly Neutralizes Acidity. Stops Fermentation, Sweetens the Stomach.

Nine people in ten, when food upsets the stomach causing distress, think they have indigestion. In reality they are suffering from "acid stomach." An excess of acid in the stomach causes gas, heartburn, bloating and sourness. To have a strong healthy stomach capable of easily and normally digesting three hearty meals a day you simply must keep these stomach acids neutralized and the stomach contents sweet. No artificial digestants are necessary. Just get a few ounces of Bismuth Magnesia from any good drug store and take a teaspoonful of the powder or two tablets in a half glass of water right after eating or whenever the slightest pain is felt. The result is amazing and you will be delighted with the almost instant relief it brings. This famous stomach sweetener combines Magnesia and Bismuth in desirable proportions and is not only splendidly effective but perfectly harmless. Its regular use keeps the stomach sweet, strong and healthy all the time. Bismuth Magnesia is well known to druggists everywhere. It is used annually by more than a half million people who now eat as they please, in reason with no more fear of indigestion.—Advt.

ONLY 1 in 5 ESCAPES

At the first sign of bleeding gums, be on your guard. Pyorrhea, destroyer of teeth and health, is on the way. Four persons out of every five past forty, and thousands younger, are subject to it.

Brush your teeth with Forhan's FOR THE GUMS. More than a tooth paste—it checks Pyorrhea. 35c and 60c in tubes.

Asthma

Asthma and hay fever, even of long standing and of the most distressing severity, are robbed of their terror by this reliable remedy. Two Sizes 25c and 50c.

Kellogg's Asthma Remedy

DROP CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER AGAINST DUPUIS

Kent County Jury Returns Verdict of Not Guilty.

OUT SHORT TIME

Accused Man Immediately Released by Mr. Justice Lennox.

Special to London Advertiser. CHATHAM, Sept. 20.—William Dupuis was found "not guilty" on a charge of manslaughter at the Kent county assizes here late this afternoon. He was immediately released by Mr. Justice Lennox, who presided over the case.

The able summing up of the case for the defendant by his counsel, J. A. McNevin, and the clean manner in which Crown Attorney Colonel H. D. Smith conducted the prosecution were outstanding features of the case. The jury was only out a short time to consider the evidence.

Dupuis was placed on trial on a manslaughter charge arising out of the automobile accident which took place in the city early this year, when Charles Edward Nanson received injuries which resulted in his death.

In a clear, level voice the prisoner pleaded "Not guilty" to the charge, following which the usual legal formalities were performed in forming the jury.

A large number of jurors were challenged by Colonel H. D. Smith, crown attorney, and by J. A. McNevin, counsel for the accused. The jury was finally selected and sworn in as follows: Archie Pangborn, Joseph Fairwell, J. A. McGregor, Bruce Bedford, William Gray, Philip Spear, Robert Young, Walter Marton, J. W. Hink and Ephraim Giroux.

On opening the case, Colonel H. D. Smith, crown attorney, asked that permission be given the jury to view the scene of the accident, the permission being readily granted by his lordship.

Later on in the morning, the jury, under the charge of constables, and accompanied by the crown counsel and counsel for the defendant, visited the C. P. R. level crossing at Raleigh street, after which a minute inspection of a section of the route traveled by the car which was driven by William Dupuis.

In his address to the jury, Colonel H. D. Smith briefly outlined the facts of the case which were brought out at the inquest, after which Dr. J. W. Rutherford, who had conducted the post-mortem, was called into the witness box. He testified that Nanson succumbed from concussion of the brain due to a possible fracture of the skull, the injury being caused by direct violence. The left shoulder blade was also fractured. Cross-examined by J. A. McNevin, witness stated that a great force was required for injuries such as those which had caused the death of Nanson.

SEEK 14-YEAR-OLD GIRL'S ABDUCTORS

Montreal Police Hunt For Men Said To Have Chloroformed Victim.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—The abduction of a 14-year-old girl from Point St. Charles, and a man-hunt for two men alleged to have taken her forcibly from the street, to have chloroformed her, and to have left her in the east end of the city, has set the police drag-net in motion for the arrest of the suspects, descriptions of whom were given by the girl.

From what the police were able to find out the girl was on her way home from a visit to relatives yesterday when she was accosted by two men in an automobile.

She was asked to take a ride, but continued on her way. Further along the street she was suddenly approached a second time, and one of the men shot his arm outward, pulled the girl to the side of the car and pressed a chloroformed handkerchief to her nose and mouth. The door of the auto was opened, and the girl was pulled into the car. She became unconscious, and had no recollection of where she was driven until she revived down in the east end of the city in a field at 9 o'clock at night.

Obituaries

WILLIAM NOBLE WOOD. The death occurred in Victoria Hospital on Tuesday, September 19, 1922, of William Noble Wood, aged 68 years. He had spent all his life in this vicinity. He is survived by two brothers, Staff Captain Samuel A. Wood of Cleveland, George H. of Indiana, and two sisters, Mrs. Adeline Van Sickle and Mrs. Hattie Westover of Toledo.

The funeral services will be in charge of the Salvation Army, with which the deceased had been connected, and will be held at the Oatman Funeral Home, corner of King and Colborne streets at 1 p.m. on Thursday, September 21, 1922. Interment will be made at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

STEAMER ARRIVALS. NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Colombo, Naples; Berengaria, Southampton; Celtic, Naples. SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 19.—Orbita, New York; Empress of Britain, Quebec. BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 19.—Western World, New York. PLYMOUTH, Sept. 19.—Paris, New York; Antonia, Montreal. ANTWERP, Sept. 18.—Finland, New York. MARSEILLES, Sept. 18.—Patris, New York.

London Motorist Ordered To Pay $20 For Killing Dog At Ingersoll

Special to London Advertiser. INGERSOLL, Sept. 20.—A division court case, of more than ordinary interest, heard before Judge Wallace of Woodstock, involved the killing of a dog belonging to Ewart Moon, Catherine street, by G. Mason of London, while driving in his automobile here on April 20.

It was contended by Mr. Moon that Mr. Mason had deliberately turned his car out to strike the dog, and that following the killing of the dog, he had expressed regret and, it was claimed, offered to make amends.

Several witnesses were called. The judge held there was no evidence to show Mason had been negligent. However, he claimed that in offering to make amends, he had indicated that the accident might have been avoided and he gave judgment for plaintiff for $20.

Many Chinese mothers dress their baby babies as girls in the hope of fooling the evil spirits.

CHILDREN PERISH AS HOME BURNS

Two Boys Lose Lives When Brother Mistakes Gasoline For Coal Oil.

SUDBURY, Sept. 20.—As the result of a fire which completely burned the farmhouse, at Sturgeon Falls, of a French-Canadian farmer named Saville, two of his sons are dead and one is lying in a serious condition in St. Joseph's Hospital Sudbury.

The father rushed downstairs and attempted to check the flames by throwing water on them, but this merely served to spread them and in a few minutes their home was a raging inferno.

Mrs. Saville and her brother, who was staying at the farm at the time, barely escaped with their lives, but it was impossible to rescue the two youngest sons who were asleep in bed, as all access to their rooms was cut off immediately the fire started.

According to available information the elder brother mistook a can of gasoline for coal oil and poured it on the fire, the resultant explosion severely burning him and setting the house on fire.

The father rushed downstairs and attempted to check the flames by throwing water on them, but this merely served to spread them and in a few minutes their home was a raging inferno.

Mrs. Saville and her brother, who was staying at the farm at the time, barely escaped with their lives, but it was impossible to rescue the two youngest sons who were asleep in bed, as all access to their rooms was cut off immediately the fire started.

According to available information the elder brother mistook a can of gasoline for coal oil and poured it on the fire, the resultant explosion severely burning him and setting the house on fire.

The father rushed downstairs and attempted to check the flames by throwing water on them, but this merely served to spread them and in a few minutes their home was a raging inferno.

Mrs. Saville and her brother, who was staying at the farm at the time, barely escaped with their lives, but it was impossible to rescue the two youngest sons who were asleep in bed, as all access to their rooms was cut off immediately the fire started.

According to available information the elder brother mistook a can of gasoline for coal oil and poured it on the fire, the resultant explosion severely burning him and setting the house on fire.

The father rushed downstairs and attempted to check the flames by throwing water on them, but this merely served to spread them and in a few minutes their home was a raging inferno.

Mrs. Saville and her brother, who was staying at the farm at the time, barely escaped with their lives, but it was impossible to rescue the two youngest sons who were asleep in bed, as all access to their rooms was cut off immediately the fire started.

According to available information the elder brother mistook a can of gasoline for coal oil and poured it on the fire, the resultant explosion severely burning him and setting the house on fire.

The father rushed downstairs and attempted to check the flames by throwing water on them, but this merely served to spread them and in a few minutes their home was a raging inferno.

Mrs. Saville and her brother, who was staying at the farm at the time, barely escaped with their lives, but it was impossible to rescue the two youngest sons who were asleep in bed, as all access to their rooms was cut off immediately the fire started.

According to available information the elder brother mistook a can of gasoline for coal oil and poured it on the fire, the resultant explosion severely burning him and setting the house on fire.

The father rushed downstairs and attempted to check the flames by throwing water on them, but this merely served to spread them and in a few minutes their home was a raging inferno.

Mrs. Saville and her brother, who was staying at the farm at the time, barely escaped with their lives, but it was impossible to rescue the two youngest sons who were asleep in bed, as all access to their rooms was cut off immediately the fire started.

According to available information the elder brother mistook a can of gasoline for coal oil and poured it on the fire, the resultant explosion severely burning him and setting the house on fire.

The father rushed downstairs and attempted to check the flames by throwing water on them, but this merely served to spread them and in a few minutes their home was a raging inferno.

Mrs. Saville and her brother, who was staying at the farm at the time, barely escaped with their lives, but it was impossible to rescue the two youngest sons who were asleep in bed, as all access to their rooms was cut off immediately the fire started.

According to available information the elder brother mistook a can of gasoline for coal oil and poured it on the fire, the resultant explosion severely burning him and setting the house on fire.

The father rushed downstairs and attempted to check the flames by throwing water on them, but this merely served to spread them and in a few minutes their home was a raging inferno.

Mrs. Saville and her brother, who was staying at the farm at the time, barely escaped with their lives, but it was impossible to rescue the two youngest sons who were asleep in bed, as all access to their rooms was cut off immediately the fire started.

According to available information the elder brother mistook a can of gasoline for coal oil and poured it on the fire, the resultant explosion severely burning him and setting the house on fire.

The father rushed downstairs and attempted to check the flames by throwing water on them, but this merely served to spread them and in a few minutes their home was a raging inferno.

Mrs. Saville and her brother, who was staying at the farm at the time, barely escaped with their lives, but it was impossible to rescue the two youngest sons who were asleep in bed, as all access to their rooms was cut off immediately the fire started.

According to available information the elder brother mistook a can of gasoline for coal oil and poured it on the fire, the resultant explosion severely burning him and setting the house on fire.

The father rushed downstairs and attempted to check the flames by throwing water on them, but this merely served to spread them and in a few minutes their home was a raging inferno.

Mrs. Saville and her brother, who was staying at the farm at the time, barely escaped with their lives, but it was impossible to rescue the two youngest sons who were asleep in bed, as all access to their rooms was cut off immediately the fire started.

According to available information the elder brother mistook a can of gasoline for coal oil and poured it on the fire, the resultant explosion severely burning him and setting the house on fire.

The father rushed downstairs and attempted to check the flames by throwing water on them, but this merely served to spread them and in a few minutes their home was a raging inferno.

Mrs. Saville and her brother, who was staying at the farm at the time, barely escaped with their lives, but it was impossible to rescue the two youngest sons who were asleep in bed, as all access to their rooms was cut off immediately the fire started.

According to available information the elder brother mistook a can of gasoline for coal oil and poured it on the fire, the resultant explosion severely burning him and setting the house on fire.

S. S. 9 WINS SILVER CUP AT LOBO FAIR

Special to London Advertiser. LOBO, Sept. 20.—At the recent Lobo Industrial Fair, S. S. No. 9 was the winner of the silver cup given by the Merchants Bank of London to the school securing the most prizes.

This school also secured two of the prizes given by the chamber of commerce for essays on "Urban and Rural Co-operation," and during the year did continuation work as well as entrance work, all pupils being successful.

Miss Teresa Switzer is the teacher and Messrs. Chris Daugh, Edgar Morris and Courtland Graham are the trustees.

LONDON, England, Sept. 20.—(By Canadian Press Cable).—At the annual meeting of the federal council of the Evangelical Free Churches in England, it was decided by an overwhelming majority that the Lambeth conference of the Anglican bishops on the subject of the reunion of the churches should be continued.

There is a dealer in your town who handles BIRD'S TWIN SHINGLES. His name is listed here.

Appin.....W. R. Stephenson Alvinston.....G. J. Parker & Co.
Arkona.....Otto Schmidt
Ailsa Craig.....Ailsa Craig Farmers Co-Op. Ass.
Aylmer.....Patterson Bros.
Auburn.....Hill Edw. Co.
Atwood.....John Roger Blythe.....Colin Fingland
Belgrave.....John A. Geddes Bothwell.....Bothwell Mfg. Co.
Brigden.....Smith & Sons
Brownsville.....J. Corbett
Brussels.....Ament Bros.
Belmont.....J. J. Grant
Blenheim.....T. C. Warwick
Clinton.....Hawkins & Miller
Centralia.....John R. Ogden
Credition.....Ed. Beaver Comber.....John Goathe
Chatham.....Service Ltd.
Courtwright.....J. W. James Courtland.....John House
Dashwood.....David Tienan
Dutton.....Wm. Saunders
Dresden.....Clark & Wilson
Durham.....Cross & Sutherland
Dublin.....W. Hill & Co.
Delhi.....H. S. Morgan
Exeter.....W. J. Heaman
Embro.....W. C. McClure
Essex.....Naylor-Osborne Co.
Elmira.....M. Weichel & Son
Forest.....Wm. Lawrie
Glencoe.....W. M. Cumming
Galt.....Galt Roofing Co.
Goderich.....Fred Hunt
Granston.....M. F. Clatworthy
Guelph.....Robt. Stewart Lbr. Ltd.
Hensall.....Bonthon & Drysdale
Harrow.....C. Richardson & Son
Highgate.....F. W. Scott
Hespeler.....L. Crill
Hepworth.....W. Kreutzweiser & Son
Hanover.....Cross & Sutherland
Hagersville.....D. B. Martin
Ilderton.....S. R. Prebble
Ingersoll.....H. Dunn
Inverness.....H. Gustin
Iona.....Fred W. Allen
Jarvis.....E. T. Carter
Komoka.....W. Noxell
Kilgusville.....Conklin Planing Mills
Kincardine.....McKenzie Hdwe. Co.
Kitchener.....H. Wolfhard & Co.
Kerwood.....A. Woods
Listowel.....Robt. Oliver Ltd.
Lucan.....Geo. A. Stanley Hdwe.

LONDON:

Clatworthy Lumber Co.
Cowan Hardware
Dymont-Baker Lbr. Co.
L. H. Martyn & Co.
Walter Scott & Son.

Learnington.....Lendon & Cook
Lucknow.....Lucknow Hdwe. & Coal Co.
Mt. Brydges.....Longfield Bros.
Milverton.....B. & N. Planing Mills
Mitchell.....Wm. Eizerman Monkton.....M. E. Bettger & Co.
Mt. Forest.....Bug. Murphy
Montreal.....Geo. W. Reed & Co. Ltd.
Norwich.....F. C. Bishop
Newbury.....Cecil T. Dobbyn
New Hamburg.....J. Berger & Co.
Oil Springs.....VanTuyt & Fairbank
Ottawa.....W. G. Edge Ltd.
Owen Sound.....J. E. Wilson & Sons Ltd.
Owen Sound.....Creep & Griffin Ltd.

Preston.....Geo. M. Fischer Palmerston.....J. B. Skelton & Co.
Pt. Burwell.....A. R. Wright & Son
Paisley.....A. E. Pickard Petrolia.....J. & J. Kerr Co. Ltd.
Pt. Elgin.....J. H. Kennedy
Pask Hill.....Brewer & Harrison
Pt. Stanley.....J. H. Burke
Pt. Rowan.....W. Howey
Paris.....D. Sinclair
Rodney.....D. Mistle
Ripley.....Duncan Munn
Ridgeway.....V. H. Goodhue
St. Marys.....St. Marys Hdwe. Co.
Sombray.....Hargrove & Doan
Stratford.....J. R. Myers & Son
Strathroy.....B. O. Parker & Co.
Springfield.....Clinton Young
Thedford.....D. L. Scriven
Tara.....Shannon Bros.
Tilbury.....Richardson Lbr. Co.
Teeswater.....Donaldson & Fraser
Thamesville.....Chas. Hubbell
Tilsonburg.....Pow & Wilcox
Walkerton.....W. J. Hermiston
Waterloo.....M. Weichel & Son
Windsor.....H. J. Gould
Walkerville.....Walker & Sons, Ltd.
Walton.....W. G. Neal
Waterford.....R. S. Robinson
Woodstock.....F. W. Karn
Wheatley.....Allan Lynn
West York.....McKillop & Ferguson
Worming.....John A. Rice & Son
Wallaceburg.....Wallaceburg Lbr. Co.
Watford.....John McKercher
Zurich.....F. Z. Kalbfleisch

Think well before you select THE ROOF

For it is one of the important items in your investment. Indeed, upon your decision may rest the life of your new home and its future value. Three essential qualifications go to the making of a satisfactory roof:

DURABILITY - APPEARANCE - COST

DURABILITY There is no roofing made that will wear longer than Bird's Twin Shingle roof. Because of the everlasting waterproof qualities of asphalt and because the slate surface is a shield against wear.

APPEARANCE Bird's Twin Shingles have the appearance of expensive tile. They are surfaced with crushed slate—red or green—and cannot fade. The color is the natural color of the slate. They retain all their original beauty everlasting; they enhance both the appearance and value of any home, large or small.

COST There is only one way to judge the cost of a roof, and that is not merely on the basis of original outlay. The cost of a roof is determined by first cost, years of service and absence of repair bills. Figured this way, there is no roofing made that can compare with Bird's Twin Shingles.

Bird's Twin Shingles are the only Twin Shingles made. Twin Shingles come in double widths making them easier to handle, halving the cost of laying and reducing by one-third the number of nails used.

BIRD'S

NEPONSET

Twin Shingles

Made in Canada by BIRD & SON, LIMITED, Hamilton, Ont.

Bird's Neponset Twin Shingles

For Sale By

Cowan Hardware, Limited

Carling Street, London. Phones 3461, 3462

WOMEN'S HOME AND MAGAZINE PAGE

Personals

Mr. Ted Hewardine left this week for Detroit.

Mrs. G. G. Taylor of Chatham, spent several days in town last week.

Miss Grace Hill was a recent guest registered at Highland Inn, Algonquin Park.

General Ashton, of militia headquarters, Ottawa, spent several days in London this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Nash are attending a special display convention being held in Detroit.

The public are cordially invited to attend the Westminster Hospital Field Day, taking place Friday, Sept. 22, at 1:30.

Members of the London Drama League are attending Eugene O'Neill's play, "The Emperor Jones," in a body.

Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong and son were visitors in Sarina last week, guests with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. R. Bell.

Mr. William Northgrave of Portland, Maine, is in the city the guest of his aunt, Mrs. S. J. McCue, Queen's avenue.

Miss Agnes Duffield, who spent the summer with her mother, Mrs. J. C. Duffield, returns to Castle-on-the-Hudson, New York, Monday.

Miss "Babe" McCormick, Mrs. Slattery, Mr. Frank E. Trimble and Miss Trimble are visiting Mrs. John T. Robinson, 44 Piccadilly street.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Leonard, Miss Leonard and Mr. Richard Leonard of Detroit, have returned home after a visit in London, guests with Mr. and Mrs. William Caven Barron, Alma street.

Another delightful shower for Miss Birds Tuckey, a popular bride-elect of this week, was given Monday evening by the Baptist young people of First Lobo Church, at Miss Tuckey's home in Hyde Park.

Mrs. W. M. Lowry, Dundas street, had as her guests last week her father, Mr. James Sharpe of Brussels, Miss Madeline Pugh of Sarina, and Messrs. Leslie Lowery and Edward Lowery of Brussels.

Mrs. Joseph Cortese, who has completely recovered from her serious illness, left Wednesday for Atlantic City, where she will spend several weeks. She was accompanied by her son Bobby, Mrs. R. M. Burns and Mrs. Thomas Coffey.

Mrs. W. B. Shuttleworth King, who spent the summer in England, accompanied by her son Master Richard, is sailing for Canada the end of the month and is expected in London October 10. Master Richard is remaining in England, where he will attend school.

In honor of Miss Birds Tuckey, a bride-elect of this week, Misses Kathleen and Eva Willets held a miscellaneous shower, Tuesday evening at their home, Richmond street. The attractive gifts were brought in on a wagon, decorated with streamers and a miniature bride, and drawn by Master Gerald Wyant and little Miss

Just One Application and the Hairs Vanish (Modes of Today)
A harmless, yet very effective, treatment is here given for the quick removal of hairy growths: Mix enough powdered delatone and water to cover the undesirable hairs, apply paste and after 2 or 3 minutes remove, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. One application usually is sufficient, but to be certain of results, buy the delatone in an original package. Mix fresh as wanted.—Adv.

Music With Meals
For lunch, dinner and special hours, McCauley-Basso Orchestra in attendance.
Wong's
431 Richmond Street.
"Where Appetite Meets Satisfaction." jw

Wong's
431 Richmond Street.
"Where Appetite Meets Satisfaction." jw

KopService
Made by Kops Bros. Ltd.
Toronto and sold by most better-class stores and shops.
Maude: How do you like my new Nemo Corset, Grace? It feels very comfortable—but how does it fit?
Grace: Fits you like a glove, my dear. Which reminds me, I must get a new one soon myself!
"Once try a Nemo and you'll never change"

Gladys Moore.
Gladys and aster were tastefully arranged throughout the rooms and were also used on the supper table, where covers were laid for thirty. Among the guests was Miss Alberta Willets, who has just returned from an extended visit through the West, visiting her mother in Moose Jaw, and also visiting in Banff.

Mr. Harold Jarvis, tenor, of Detroit, will assist Mr. Parnell Morris at his first organ recital Saturday evening next in Dundas Centre Church. The choir will render two selections, and Miss Grace Needham will sing the songs sung in the voice competition at Toronto Exhibition.

A delightful miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Madeline Jeffries, a popular bride-elect of next week, claimed Mrs. (Capt.) Roy Garrett as hostess on Tuesday evening. The tables of bridge were arranged at the conclusion of which a dainty supper was served. The guest of honor was then presented with many attractive gifts.

CLUB NEWS

What Women Are Accomplishing in London.

PRESENTS MISSIONARY PLAY.
A delightful missionary play was presented by the Junior Mission Circle of Askin Street Methodist Church at the second annual birthday party of the circle, held Tuesday evening, "Aunt Maria's Neighbors," was the title of the play, which was cleverly produced under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Childs.

Those taking part were: Adele Orchard, Minnie Dobbin, Marjorie Courtis, Ella Skuse, Bessie Goudge, Genevieve Mitten, Alfreda Courtis, Helen Baker, Herbert Childs and George and Jack Fraser.

The meeting opened with reports from the secretary, Miss Bessie Courtis, and the treasurer, Miss W. Paxman, followed by an address of welcome from the president, Miss Genevieve Mitten. The meeting was presided over by the honorary president, Mrs. James Brown.

Reports by the heralds were as follows: China, Elsie Courtis; India, Freda Dobbin; Christian Stewards, Helen Baker; and the Bible reading was given by Edith Copp.

Other interesting numbers of the program were violin solos by Marie Yeo, and solos by Bessie Goudge and Gertrude Clements.

Following the program a dainty supper was served in the basement of the church.

CLASS TWENTY-SEVEN MEETS.
Class 27 of Dundas Centre Sunday School met Tuesday evening for the first time this season. Various reports were given, including the treasurer's report, which showed that there was a balance of only $2.50 in the treasury, but that by special permission of the superintendent, the class has been permitted to use the special funds of the Sunday school, of which $110 still remains. The chief work of the class during the summer months was supplying five families with milk, besides giving help in various other ways. This work is done under direction of Miss Verna Vange, child welfare nurse, who is also a member of the class. The class welcomed Miss Mabel Buckle, a valuable member of the class, who has returned to the city after spending a year in the west. It was announced at the meeting that Mr. E. Perrin has consented to act as teacher until a substitute may be procured. Plans were made for the winter work, but nothing definite was decided upon. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. John Adams, the president.

PHYSICAL INSTRUCTOR ANNOUNCES CLASSES
Miss Wynne-Pryce Gives Program of Classes for Winter Months.
The physical instructor of the Y.W.C.A., Miss Wynne-Pryce, has announced an interesting program of classes for the coming season, including classes for women, children, senior girls, business girls and two dancing classes, senior and junior. Those who wish to take advantage of these classes may register at the King street Y.W.C.A., King street. An excellent exhibition of the work accomplished by Miss Pryce last year, was given at the grandstand performance at the Western Fair, also at the closing exercises at the armories, this spring.

Music With Meals
For lunch, dinner and special hours, McCauley-Basso Orchestra in attendance.
Wong's
431 Richmond Street.
"Where Appetite Meets Satisfaction." jw

Wong's
431 Richmond Street.
"Where Appetite Meets Satisfaction." jw

KopService
Made by Kops Bros. Ltd.
Toronto and sold by most better-class stores and shops.
Maude: How do you like my new Nemo Corset, Grace? It feels very comfortable—but how does it fit?
Grace: Fits you like a glove, my dear. Which reminds me, I must get a new one soon myself!
"Once try a Nemo and you'll never change"

PRESENT I. O. D. E. FINANCE REPORT

Members Hold Opening Meeting of Season in Cronyn Hall.

The following reports were given at the opening meeting of the Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E., held in Cronyn Hall Wednesday afternoon. In the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. C. T. Campbell, who is in Toronto, Mrs. F. J. Greenaway gave the financial report of the chapter from May to August, showing a balance of $212.80, and of the patriotic and benevolent committee, which has a balance of $1,902.85.

The financial report of the hospital committee for May showed a balance of $9,391.97, for June $4,143.11, and for August $7,220.54, including the $1,000 Victory Bond. The secretary's report for the summer months was also given by Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, who later gave the report of the national convention of the I. O. D. E., which was presented in a most comprehensive fashion.

The chapter decided that it was unable to hold Poppy Day on Armistice Day as it had done formerly. Mrs. Arthur Smith, who was appointed convenor in charge of a concert being presented by W. A. Bluthner the first week in October, in which Ellen McDougall and Miss Merlyne Pococke will take part, stated that the opening of the hospital would take place Saturday, October 28, and the hospital committee would invite the G. W. V. A. to tea at the hospital on this day.

Mr. Tustin, inspector of the Humane Society, gave a brief address, bringing before the members many pitiful cases which had come to his attention in the past month, and asking for their co-operation in this work, which not only covers London, but the rural districts surrounding the city.

Miss Bertha Smith, child welfare nurse, also appealed to the chapter, asking for assistance with the milk fund. Milk is supplied in the school by the Child Welfare Association. As much milk as the children can drink is given them, so in order to continue this splendid work Miss Smith asked for assistance.

Mr. J. J. Foote, on behalf of the publicity campaign in connection with the War Memorial Hospital, asked the women to offer their services to attend the fall fairs throughout Western Ontario with the publicity committee, and in this way advertise the work of the hospital.

COLORS.
Colors are having a night for supremacy right now. The latest report is that almost green is being supplanted in the Parisian's affections by petroleum green, which is more generally becoming and more neutral.

Fashions Forecast
Annela Worthington

4445
SLENDERING LINES FOR THE STOUT WOMAN.
Very becoming to the stout or full-figured woman are the lines of this smart day-time frock. The tunic-like effect and Tuxedo collar will be found most becoming. Made of crepe de chine at $1.50 per yard, the finished garment would cost about $9.75, and would only take about a day and a half to make.
The pattern No. 1445 cuts in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 15 yards, 38-inch material, with 15 yards 42-inch contrasting. Price 15c, stamps or coin (coin preferred).
Transfer Pattern No. 616—in blue only—15c extra.

Name
Town
Province
Age (if child's or miss's pattern)
Measurement: Bust Waist

DON'T THROW YOUR OLD CARPETS AWAY!
They Make New REVERSIBLE "VELVETEX" RUGS Send for Velvetex Leaflet. Canada Rug Co., London, Ont.

WITH THE BRIDES

McNAIRNIE—CRAWFORD.

The marriage took place quietly in London of Jean Crawford and William J. McNairnie, both of Wallaceburg. Rev. Mr. Mackay performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. McNairnie will reside in Wallaceburg.

HORNE—SOUTAR.

The marriage took place Saturday at high noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McWilliam, Windsor street, when Anna H. Soutar of the nursing staff of Westminster Hospital, formerly of North Bay, was married to Dr. F. J. W. Horne of Westminster Hospital. Following a honeymoon spent up north, Dr. and Mrs. Horne will reside on Tecumseh avenue. Rev. A. J. Agnew performed the ceremony.

HOPKINS—BEDFORD.

The marriage of Olive Bedford, daughter of Mrs. Bedford, Wellington road, to Christopher Gordon Hopkins, road, to Christ Church, Sept. 20, at four o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins will reside in London South. Rev. A. J. Agnew performed the ceremony.

WERDEN—PAULING.

A pretty house wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Pauling, Princess street, Petrolia, on Wednesday, Sept. 13, at high noon when their daughter, Frances Mary Pauling, was married to Emerson Burley Warden, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Warden of Alvinston. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. D. Richardson, in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom. After a dainty luncheon served by cousins of the bride, the happy couple left on a trip, which will include London, Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm near Alvinston.

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL-BOX

A HONEY BEE.

Dear Miss Grey—This is my first letter to your cosy corner. I hope I make a good one, as I respond with some girls about 14 years old. So long.

You did not stay long, Honey Bee. Your name is on our list, and any one wishing to write to you may have it.

WHAT WILL RESTORE COLOR?

Dear Miss Grey—I am another reader of your column, and like to read the letters very much. I wrote about a letter ago, but did not see my letter in print, but I don't blame you, Miss Grey, for I am such a poor speller and writer, that maybe you could not make it out. I am coming for a little help, but hope I can be of some use to you. How could the color of a green felt hat, the top of which has faded?

If your letter reached the Mail-Box it would have been printed, Bobbie's Mother. Are you sure you had it addressed correctly? I know of nothing that will restore the color to your hat. To clean a felt hat thoroughly brush with ammonia water. A sponge is best for this purpose. Use plenty of ammonia, and be sure that the surface of the hat is covered evenly to prevent streaking. Thank you for the hospital mite.

SMILES SENDS NAME.
Dear Miss Grey and Bobbie, Haven't we had a lot of rain. I guess you will think I'm a good time at sending my name. But, I hope you will pardon me, as I have been away on my holidays and had a good time.

Well, I guess I will step out and let someone else in my place. As ever,
I am glad to hear you had a nice time on your holidays. Smiles. Now that we have your name it has been graced on the family tree.

WHAT COLOR SHOULD I WEAR?

Dear Miss Grey and Bobbie, It is nearly a year since I wrote to your interesting page, but enjoy it, all the same. I am going to bother you with some questions. What is the style for a girl 13 years old to wear her hair this fall? What color of a dress would suit? I have brown hair and dark blue eyes. Please criticize my writing. I am 13, and am going to high school since 1st of September. Please forward the enclosed letter to "Tetten" for me. Will sign as before, CURLY.
Do your hair in the most becoming manner. There is no special style in hair dressing for a girl of your age. Any shade of blue would be becoming to you. "Curly." We usually wear shades that will bring out the color of our eyes. I have forwarded your letter to "Tetten".
Blinky—I am sorry, but your letter goes under the head of advertising, and I cannot print it. Thank you for remembering the hospital fund with a mite.

A PARCEL FOR T. I. P.
Dear Miss Grey, Will you please forward the enclosed letter to T. I. P., as I have unfortunately lost her address? Will you send me her address again, as I have a small parcel for her? Yours truly,
P. S.—Would you ask "Tetten" to send me a couple of songs, for which I am enclosing mite?
I am sending your request for songs to "Tetten," and you should receive them within a few days. Am also sending your letter on to "T. I. P." Thank you for the hospital mite, for the songs. "T. I. P." will be delighted to receive the parcel.

Interesting Styles for Fall and Winter---

Never were fashions more interesting than this season. Frocks, Suits and Coats are developed in rich velours and silks, and artfully embellished with delightful bits of fur, embroidery or lace.

COATS---
We have stylish Winter Coats in normandies, duvetynes and velours, embroidered, novelty stitchings, braiding, fringe with tassels, with collars and cuffs of almost any fur. Priced
$19.50, $25, $29.75 up to $85

SUITS---
Beautifully tailored, in broadcloths, velours and tricotines, novelty designs, belted models, slash pockets, beaverette and Persian lamb collars, well lined with heavy silk. Priced for quick selling, at... $35 $50

DRESSES---
Excellent quality, canton crepe, silk and satin Dresses, in navy, blacks, browns, novel bloused effects, beaded, novelty designs. This is an advanced showing of Dresses. Exceptionally priced at... $13.95 $32.50

FISHBEIN'S Ready-To-Wear
254 Dundas Street

We are selling Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets. Guaranteed against break, wear or tear, at prices from $1.25 to $4.95

TRY Laura Secord OLD TIME ORANGE CREAM

Flavored with the natural fruit

Summer Holidays and Fair Visitors Are Gone.

Fall House Cleaning Now Starts

You do not know what real-rug cleaning is unless you have tried our process. We start in where the other fellow calls a clean rug. Blankets, Quilts and Comforters are needed; our process takes away the mothball smell. It is different; some how we know how. A bundle from every home; a plan for every pocketbook.

SOME WAY AND SOME HOW. SHOULD BE YOUR Laundry
Launderers, Dry Cleaners, Dyers and Rug Cleaners.

The Biggest Sale
London Ladies Ever Knew

LARGE RANGE OF MANUFACTURERS' SAMPLE HATS

Best qualities. Latest designs. We are going to put on sale a great assortment of

Ladies' High-Grade Hats
At prices lower than the manufacturer's cost.

$1.25 to $4.95

Come and see our window display.

STORE OPEN FRIDAY MORNING AT 8:30. COME EARLY AND GET BEST CHOICE.

245 DUNDAS STREET
Next door east to Chapman's.

Don't Forget That When You Buy Groceries At

CLARK'S ECONOMY STORES
CASH AND CARRY

YOU BUY CHEAPER and in addition get the benefit of the CLARK GUARANTEE—money back if not satisfied with your purchase.

Clover Honey—New Season's Crop and Very Fine Flavor. 5-lb. pails, each75c 10-lb. pails, each$1.45 Friday, Saturday or Monday. Pastry Flour—Choice Quality. 7-lb. bags, each25c 12-lb. bags, each47c 24-lb. bags, each$1.00	Cream of Wheat, in bulk, 4 pounds for25c Oatmeal, fine flakes of Western Canada oats, 5-lb. pounds25c Peanut Butter, pound25c Domestic Shortening, 3-lb. pails $1.00 Pure Lard, 3-lb. pails55c H. A. Oleomargarine, pound24c Magic Baking Powder, 1-lb. tin 34c Hip-O-Lite Marshmallow Cream, jar35c Tomato Catsup, large bottles, 25c
---	---

SWEET POTATOES
5 POUNDS 25c
Friday and Saturday only.

Cornstarch, 2 packages15c Laundry Starch, 2 pounds18c Gorton's Custard Powders, 2 packages20c Bee Jelly Powders, 2 pkgs.20c Imperial Jelly Powders, 3 pkgs. 25c Pure Gold Salad Dressing, pkg. 10c	Seeded Raisins, pkg. 1lb; 2 for 35c Valencia Raisins, pound25c Seedless Raisins, pound22c Currants, pound15c Crown Brand Syrup, 2-lb. tins, 18c 5-lb. tins30c Burbank Plums, tin10c Green Gage Plums, 2 tins25c Certo, bottle35c
--	--

MACARONI SPECIAL
A very choice quality, made from Canadian hard wheat.
2 POUNDS 25c
20-pound boxes, each $2.25.

Eagle Brand Salmon, large tins 25c Red Sockeye Salmon, large tins 45c Brunswick Sardines, 4 tins25c Juliand Sardines, 3 tins25c Kipperd Herring, tin15c Herrings in Tomato Sauce, tin 15c Chicken Haddie, tin25c Snow Cap Pickled, large tin 15c	Ingersoll Cream Cheese 2 PKGS. 25c Friday, Saturday and Monday
---	--

COCOA SPECIAL
A strictly high-grade pure Cocoa, unsweetened, quality guaranteed.
2 POUNDS 25c

Rubber Rings, 3 dozen25c Zinc Rings for Crown Jars, doz. 25c Pickling Spice, 3 packages25c Wax Paper, for lunch wrappers, 6 rolls for25c Charm Washing Powder, 25c Domestic Matches, 2 boxes25c Laundry Soap, 10 bars for72c	CHOICE CREAMERY BUTTER Per pound38c
--	---

CLARK'S ECONOMY STORES
719 RICHMOND ST. 169 ADELAIDE ST.
764 DUNDAS ST.

Are You Proud of Your Piano?

When a friend asks what make of piano you have, do you hesitate to tell her?

A GERHARD HEINTZMAN PIANO will be a source of pride and pleasure to you for many years to come.

GERHARD HEINTZMAN LIMITED
222 DUNDAS ST. LONDON

"Canada's Greatest Piano"

Alias the Lone Wolf

by Louis Joseph Vance ©1922 International Magazine Company

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

For years the brilliant member of the English Secret Service had been known as ANDRE DUCHEMIN. Now to the woman he lived, EVE DE MONTALAI, he confessed that he was the notorious crack-man, MICHAEL LANYARD, known to the police of the world as the LONE WOLF. But the confession came only after Eve de Montalais had been robbed of her jewels while Lanyard was a guest in her chateau, recuperating from a bullet wound inflicted by the Apache from whom he had rescued Eve and her relatives.

Eve believes Lanyard innocent and accepts his offer to trace the jewels. His mind immediately leaps back to a strange visit to the chateau paid by a party consisting of WHITAKER MONK, his secretary, PHINUIT, the latter's brother, JULIES, who acted as chauffeur, and COUNTS DE LORGNES. They asked clever questions about Eve's jewels and warned her of the Lone Wolf.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XI
The Lone Wolf Takes the Trail.
EARLY in the afternoon Lanyard examined the safe without exciting comment in the household. He was nearly an hour thus engaged, but brought back to the drawing-room only a face of disappointment.

"Nothing," he retorted to Eve. "Evidently a gentleman of rigidly formal habits, our friend of last night—wouldn't dream of calling at any hour without his gloves on. However, I've been thinking a bit as well, I hope to some purpose."

"The woman nodded intently as he drew up his chair and sat down. 'You have made a plan,' she stated rather than inquired."

"I won't call it that, not yet. Assuming for the sake of argument that Mr. Whitaker Monk and his lot had a hand in this—"

"Ah! you think that?"
"I admit I'm unfair. But first they quarrel with my sense of the normal by being too confoundedly picturesque, too sharp and smart and glib. What right had they to make so many ambiguous gestures?"

"Leading the talk up to my jewels, you mean?"
"I mean every rive they made. Madame la Comtesse de Lorgnes—whenever she is—must get her feet wet, an excellent excuse for asking to be introduced to your boudoir, so she may spy out the precise location of your safe."

"Then—Madame de Lorgnes guiding the conversation by secret signals which I have accepted—somebody recognizes me as the Lone Wolf, and you are obligingly warned that, if your jewels should happen to disappear—it's more than likely the Lone Wolf will prove to be the guilty party."

"On the other hand, there's your ex-chauffeur—what's his name?"
"Albert Dupont. Is he one of them, their employee or confederate?"

"I fancy not. I may be wrong, but I believe he is entirely on his own—quite independent of the Monk party."

"And your plan of campaign is based on this conclusion?"
"That's the big name—Lanyard's smile was diffident, a plea for suspense judgment on his lack of inventiveness—for a lame idea. He hoped to shift suspicion on to my shoulders. Well, let them believe they have done so."

The waiting hostility developed in a sharp negative: "Ah, no!"
"You will observe," he continued, "that the Duke of Montalais, a man who will be accused, madame, not Michael Lanyard, never the Lone Wolf! For when I say he will disappear tonight, I mean it quite literally: Andre Duchemin will nevermore be heard of in this world."

She had a smile quivering on her lips, yet shook her head.
"Monsieur forgets I learned to know him under the name of Duchemin."

"If madame, in her charity, means to continue to know me, it must be as Michael Lanyard, whom she suffers to claim a little portion of her friendship."

"More than a little, monsieur, more than a little friendship only!"
"I know no way to thank you," he managed to say at last.

"For what?"
"For everything—kindness, charity, sympathy—"

"What are those things?" she demanded with a nervous little laugh. "Words. Just words that you and I use to hide behind, like timid children. . . ."

She rose suddenly and offered him her hand. "But I don't think it's any use, my friend, I'm quite sure that neither of us is deceived. No; say nothing more; the time is not yet—and we both can wait. Only know I understand. . . ."

Go now—her fingers tightened round his—but don't stay away any longer than you must, don't be influenced by silly traditions, false and foolish standards when you think of me. Go now—she freed her hand and turned away—but oh, come safely back to me, my dear!"

CHAPTER XII

Travels With an Assassin.
LANYARD, gray with dust and weariness, trudged into the sleeping streets of the town of Tournemire and purchased a ticket for Lyons.

"As the engine began to snort, a man darted from behind the tiny structure that housed the ticket-office, galloped heavily across the platform, and with nothing to spare threw himself into the compartment immediately behind Lanyard."

This maneuver was performed so unexpectedly that Lanyard caught barely a glimpse of the fellow; but Monsieur Albert Dupont, who had failed to assassinate the then Andre Duchemin more than three weeks ago, at Lyons fortune favored Lanyard. The station was well thronged, a circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

circumstance which enabled him to keep inconspicuously close to his victim. Furthermore, Dupont was obviously looking for somebody, and so distracted.

Presently a shabby, furtive little rat of a man nudged his elbow, and Dupont followed him to a corner. Lanyard secured a berth and went about his business profoundly mystified. Beyond shadow of fair doubt Dupont was up to some new devilment, but Lanyard would not be prised if its nature failed to develop on the train or at least upon its arrival in Paris the next morning.

It was no later than seven in the evening when he left a room which he had engaged in a hotel and left it a changed man.

The pointed beard of Monsieur Duchemin was no more. The rough

BASEBALL AND LATE SPORTING NEWS

ACES TAKE THEIR TIME AND GAME FROM HAMS

Miller Pounded Hard by Saginaw in Mint League Series—Swatfast Lasts Until Darkness Sets In.

HAMILTON, Sept. 20.—Hamilton and Saginaw traveled slower than the foot on wheels today, and used up two and one-half hours of the previous time of 2:15, when they turned out to witness the fifth game of the M. O. pennant series. Saginaw won by a score of 8 to 2, and it was only by good luck that the visitors were held down as well as that. They pounded Andy Miller's offerings all over the lot, a home run, a triple and a double being among the eleven hits made off him in eight innings. Miller made way for a pinch hitter in the eighth, and Dick Hughes pitched the last inning, when a triple and a single, along with two errors by Kuhn secured three runs.

Puzzle to Hams. Schreiber had the Hams' spellbound throughout the game, and one hit was all they managed to get in the first five innings. He was unsteady in the eighth and forced in a run, by passing Dugray with the bases filled. The Hams' other run came in the second inning, when Carlin walked and scored when Karpus made a wild throw of Dugray's ground ball, and Miller got a lucky hit by rolling a slow grounder past first that both Pike and Elliott tried to field.

Miller was never in better form than in the eighth, and helped to fill the bases on three occasions by leaving passes, but in each case he was unable to strike out the next man up and get out of a hole.

One Steal Bats. The visitors' first run was scored in the second inning on Dodson's infield hit, a wild pitch and Robertson's single to right. Rodebaugh's single, Kirby's double, Elliott's single and Dodson's hit, accounted for four runs in the sixth, and after that the visitors had clear sailing. It was quite a relief when the game ended, and the Hams had considerable trouble in finding suitable balls with which to throw the game, but any which way, near the bleachers, the game will play a rain tomorrow, and again on Saturday.

Team	AB	R	H	P	O	A	E
Hamilton	34	2	5	17	14	4	0
Saginaw	34	8	13	10	10	0	0
Pike, 2b.	5	0	0	4	2	0	0
Fultz, 3b.	5	0	0	4	3	0	0
Hunter, 1st.	5	0	0	4	3	0	0
Kuhn, 1b.	4	0	1	7	1	2	0
Carlson, c.	4	0	1	7	1	2	0
Oakes, c.f.	4	0	1	7	1	2	0
Carlin, s.	3	2	1	2	5	0	0
Dugray, c.	3	0	0	1	0	2	0
Miller, p.	4	0	0	0	0	0	0
Benton, p.	1	0	0	0	0	0	0
Hughes, p.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	34	2	5	17	14	4	0

Team	AB	R	H	P	O	A	E
Hamilton	34	2	5	17	14	4	0
Saginaw	34	8	13	10	10	0	0
Pike, 2b.	5	0	0	4	2	0	0
Fultz, 3b.	5	0	0	4	3	0	0
Hunter, 1st.	5	0	0	4	3	0	0
Kuhn, 1b.	4	0	1	7	1	2	0
Carlson, c.	4	0	1	7	1	2	0
Oakes, c.f.	4	0	1	7	1	2	0
Carlin, s.	3	2	1	2	5	0	0
Dugray, c.	3	0	0	1	0	2	0
Miller, p.	4	0	0	0	0	0	0
Benton, p.	1	0	0	0	0	0	0
Hughes, p.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	34	2	5	17	14	4	0

HEGEDORN MAKES DEBUT WITH LEAFS

Mint League Shortstop Moves Up With Faster Company.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 20.—Lehr, a Rochester semi-pro pitcher, twirled the tribe to an 8-0 victory over Toronto here today. The King George Challenge Cup, played shortstop for the Leafs. Score: Toronto, 000 000 000—0; Rochester, 001 000 000—8. Best: Townsend and Vincent; Lehr and Lake.

READING TRIMS NEWARK. Reading, Sept. 20.—Rookie pitchers took an important part in Reading's 2-0 victory over Newark here today. Carls had the Bears at his mercy early in the seventh and eighth innings, while Barnes had two bad innings. Score: Newark, 000 000 000—0; Reading, 000 003 000—7. Best: Barnes and Devine; Carls and Clarke, Hagerston.

HOME RUNS DID IT. SYRACUSE, Sept. 20.—Home-run drives by Bell and Jones in the fifth inning today carried Syracuse to victory over Buffalo, Stuart outpitching Werre and Llewellyn, and winning, 8 to 2.

Score: Syracuse, 001 000 000—8; Buffalo, 000 000 000—2. Best: Werre, Llewellyn and Bengough; Stuart and McCurdy.

KING GEORGE CHALLENGE CUP OFFERED TO CANADA

OTTAWA, Sept. 20.—(By the Canadian Press).—The much-prized cadet rifle shooting trophy, the King George Challenge Cup, will be offered for competition on any government-owned or insured rifle range in Canada, according to an announcement made today by the department of militia. This trophy was originally presented by his majesty in 1912 for competition by teams of imperial cadets, attending the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, but in order to encourage cadets from all parts of Canada to take an interest in rifle shooting under service conditions, thehibition have decided to place the trophy in the larger field. The directors have added ten prizes to the original medals to the trophy. Entries for this match must be made to the officer commanding the rifle district in which the cadet detachment has its headquarters, and for this year may be received until Oct. 25.

DUNLOP TIRES. Cheapest in London Imperial covers, $2.50; initial tubes, $1.25; Traction Tread covers, $3.50; Traction Tread tubes, $1.50.

BROCK'S The Sporting Goods Store of London, 111 Dundas St. corner of Talbot.

LONDON WOMAN IN GOLF FINALS

Mrs. F. Spry Qualifies For Championship Draw Thursday Morning.

Surprises Feature Ladies' Closed Golf Tournament At Toronto.

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—Surprise continued to feature the play in the championship fight of the Canadian ladies' closed golf tournament at the Lambton Club, and today's great reversal of form in the second round was the elimination of Miss Ada Mackenzie of the Mississauga Club, the Ontario champion, and former holder of the Canadian open title, by Mrs. Franklin Ahearn of the Royal Ottawa Club, the match going to the last hole, which was halved, and Mrs. Ahearn progressed into the third round, one up.

Another surprise for some, although the local player had many supporters, was the defeat by 2 and 1 of Miss Molla McBride of the Ontario champion, and former holder of the Canadian open title, by Mrs. Franklin Ahearn of the Royal Ottawa Club, the match going to the last hole, which was halved, and Mrs. Ahearn progressed into the third round, one up.

The game was close all the way, and was not decided until the 19th hole, and the former Ontario title was returned the victor over her younger local opponent.

Another match that necessitated an extra hole was that between Miss Willo Gage of Lambton and Mrs. Rowe of the Toronto Club, which was decided by a hole before being certain of advancement.

Miss S. Kennedy of Royal Montreal eliminated another Lambton player when she defeated Mrs. Thorne, the match ending at the sixteenth hole. The victories of Miss Marion Beck and Mrs. Whittington, both of the Toronto Club, over Mrs. Burns of Rosedale and Miss Langmuir of Mississauga were true to expectations.

Two defaults were registered in the championship consolation. Miss Robert Dodson, who defeated Mrs. More of Toronto deciding not to play. The first four matches resulted in comfort for the victors, but Mrs. Riddell of Scarborough and Mrs. Laird of Winnipeg had to play the whole hole before being certain of advancement.

DETROIT, Sept. 20.—The New York Yankees continued their march toward the American League pennant here today, winning the second straight game from the Tigers, 6 to 5. The winning run came in the ninth inning when Mousley drove the ball over the left-field wall for a home-run.

Stratford put the Yankees three and a half games ahead of the Browns.

Score: Yankees, 6; Tigers, 5. Hits: Yankees, 10; Tigers, 8. Errors: Yankees, 0; Tigers, 1.

Team	AB	R	H	P	O	A	E
Yankees	34	6	10	7	7	2	0
Tigers	34	5	8	10	10	0	1
Witt, c.f.	5	0	0	4	0	0	0
Dugan, 3b.	5	0	0	4	0	0	0
Jones, 2b.	4	0	0	4	0	0	0
Pipp, 1b.	3	1	1	7	0	0	0
Mussey, r.f.	4	0	0	4	0	0	0
Schaefer, c.	5	0	0	4	0	0	0
Ward, 2b.	2	0	0	3	1	0	0
Scott, s.	4	2	2	2	2	0	0
Shawkey, p.	3	0	0	0	0	0	0
Bush, p.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	34	6	10	7	7	2	0

GRACE LOGAN WINS 2:25 TROT AT STRATFORD FAIR

STRATFORD, Sept. 20.—The track was heavy from Tuesday's rain for the first day's racing at Stratford Fair. Grace Logan won the 2:25 trot in straight heats, and Miss Peter Bingen won three straight in the 3-year-old class. The summary:

2:25 Trot. Grace Logan (Red) 1:11. Lady Sphinxmore (Dochter) 1:12. Ruby Patch (W. Richardson) 1:13. King Delham (G. L.) 1:14. Watson Baron (J. Eason) 1:15. Time, 2:23.4, 2:23.4.

3-year-old class. Miss Peter Bingen (Pierce) 1:11. Monkey Todd (Hartman) 1:12. Victoria K. (Lawson) 1:13. Time, 2:31. 2:32.4, 2:27.

The officials—Starter, Frank Blair of Galt; judges, W. H. Groch, Stratford, and Frank Enticklen, Tavistock; timer, George McCall, Tavistock.

BROWNS DROP ANOTHER. ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20.—Washington shut out St. Louis, 5 to 0, and sent the locals three one-half games behind New York in the pennant race. It was the Browns' second straight defeat by the Senators.

Francis allowed only four hits, while the visitors ran up 17, Shocker allowing 15. It was Shocker's fourth straight defeat.

Score: Washington, 5; St. Louis, 0. Hits: Washington, 10; St. Louis, 8. Errors: Washington, 0; St. Louis, 1.

Team	AB	R	H	P	O	A	E
Washington	34	5	10	7	7	2	0
St. Louis	34	0	5	8	10	0	1
Judge, 1b.	5	0	0	4	0	0	0
Harris, 2b.	4	0	0	4	0	0	0
Rice, c.f.	5	0	0	4	0	0	0
Goslin, r.f.	4	0	0	4	0	0	0
Brower, 1b.	4	0	0	4	0	0	0
Gharitty, c.	5	0	0	4	0	0	0
Peckinpaugh, s.	3	0	0	0	0	0	0
Lamotte, 2b.	3	0	0	0	0	0	0
Francis, p.	4	0	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	40	5	10	7	7	2	0

DOUBLE WIN FOR INDIANS. First game: Boston, 000 000 000—0; Cleveland, 000 000 000—0. W. Collins, Russell and Ruel; Uhle and Sevel.

Second game: Boston, 000 000 000—0; Cleveland, 000 000 000—0. W. Collins, Russell and Ruel; Uhle and Sevel.

CHICAGO TAKES TWO. First game: Philadelphia, 000 000 000—0; Chicago, 000 000 000—0. Naylor and Perkins; Faber and Schalk.

Second game: Philadelphia, 000 000 000—0; Chicago, 000 000 000—0. Naylor and Perkins; Faber and Schalk.

BEHAN TURNS CUBS BACK WITH 7 HITS

Pirates Reduce New York's Lead by Home-Run Hitting.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—Philadelphia won both ends of a double-header from Chicago today, 9 to 8 and 11 to 1. Williams hit his thirty-fifth homer, the first game and Parkerson his twelfth.

In the second game Behan allowed his seventh hit, Parkerson hit another home run in the second contest.

Score: First game: R.H.E. Philadelphia, 9; Chicago, 8. Hits: Philadelphia, 21; Chicago, 12. Errors: Philadelphia, 0; Chicago, 1. Second game: R.H.E. Philadelphia, 11; Chicago, 1. Hits: Philadelphia, 10; Chicago, 1. Errors: Philadelphia, 0; Chicago, 0.

COOPER WINS FROM GIANTS. NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The Pittsburgh Pirates today reduced New York's lead in the National League to four and a half games, winning the first contest of a three-game series by 4 to 1. Pittsburgh, however, still has six more defeats than the Giants.

A burst of hitting late in the game decided the contest for Pittsburgh. With the score tied in the seventh, Biebes hit a home run in the eighth, and the Pirates won. Cooper hit another into the same stand in the ninth, and the Pirates won.

Score: Pittsburgh, 4; New York, 1. Hits: Pittsburgh, 10; New York, 4. Errors: Pittsburgh, 0; New York, 0.

DODGERS SPLIT WITH ST. LOUIS. BROOKLYN, Sept. 20.—Brooklyn and St. Louis divided today's double-header, the Dodgers winning the first game by 6 to 1 and the Cardinals the second by 13 to 7. Grimes pitched in the opener, and incidentally stopped Hornsby by after the latter had hit safely in 32 consecutive games. Hornsby resumed his slugging in the second game, making home runs in the first and ninth innings, hitting his total to 39.

Score: First game: R.H.E. Brooklyn, 6; St. Louis, 1. Hits: Brooklyn, 10; St. Louis, 4. Errors: Brooklyn, 0; St. Louis, 0. Second game: R.H.E. St. Louis, 13; Brooklyn, 7. Hits: St. Louis, 21; Brooklyn, 17. Errors: St. Louis, 0; Brooklyn, 1.

W. O. R. TEAM TO PLAY IN ST. THOMAS SATURDAY

Followers of Military Squad Proud of Season's Record.

RED TALK BOTH GAMES. BOSTON, Sept. 20.—Cincinnati took two games from Boston today, 9 to 3 and 6 to 5. Ponsness pitched four hits in the first game, and the Reds won. In the second contest, he pitched a complete game, and the Reds won.

Score: First game: R.H.E. Cincinnati, 9; Boston, 3. Hits: Cincinnati, 10; Boston, 4. Errors: Cincinnati, 0; Boston, 0. Second game: R.H.E. Cincinnati, 6; Boston, 5. Hits: Cincinnati, 10; Boston, 8. Errors: Cincinnati, 0; Boston, 0.

TAKE SEMI-FINAL IN LACROSSE FROM SARNIA

Toronto Mimico Get Seven-Goal Lead in First Game.

SARNIA, Sept. 20.—Sarnia Intermediates tonight failed to defeat Toronto Mimico in the semi-final of the Sarnia Intermediates Lacrosse Association. Toronto Mimico won the first half of the game, 7 to 0, and the second half, 7 to 0, and the total score was 14 to 0.

Score: Toronto Mimico, 14; Sarnia Intermediates, 0.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE.

WELL BOYS, I TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE LOW RATE OF EXCHANGE AND BOUGHT FIVE MILLION RUSSIAN DOLLARS FOR SEVEN DOLLARS—I WOULD ADVISE YOU TO DO THE SAME, FOR SOME DAY VALUES IN RUSSIA WILL COME BACK TO PAR AND YOU WILL POSSESS A TIDY FORTUNE!

GOSH, FIVE MILLION FOR SEVEN CLANKS? GUESS I'LL GET SOME AN' I'LL GO IN TH' PELL' HANGING GAME! I S'POSE IF YOU FLASH A NICKEL OVER THERE IN A PENNY ARCADE THEY'D MAKE CHANGE WITH A PITCH-FORK!

HA-HA-A GUY WHO'D BUY THAT STUFF COULD EASILY BE SOLD AN ICE ROUTE IN GREENLAND—WHY SAY, EVEN TH' GOATS IN RUSSIA QUIT EATING THAT PAPER JACK!

YEH, I'JUS AS SOON PUT MY MONEY IN A VOLCANO!—WHEN THAT DOUGH GETS BACK TO PAR THERE'LL BE A FIRE PLUG WHERE NIAGARA FALLS USED TO BE!

"PERFECTION!"

Package of 10 - 20¢ 20 - 35¢
50 - 90¢
100 - $1.75

THE MAJOR PUTS A DENT IN THE RUSSIAN TREASURY.

BASEBALL RESULTS

NATIONAL LEAGUE. New York, 8; Pittsburgh, 4. St. Louis, 13; Philadelphia, 8-1. Cincinnati, 4; Boston, 3-5.

Today's Games. St. Louis at Brooklyn. Pittsburgh at New York. Chicago at Philadelphia. Cincinnati at Boston.

AMERICAN LEAGUE. New York, 9; Detroit, 5. Cleveland, 6; Boston, 2-4. Chicago, 1-5. Philadelphia, 5; St. Louis, 0-2.

Yesterday's Results. Washington at St. Louis. New York at Detroit. Cleveland at Boston. Chicago at Philadelphia.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE. Baltimore, 10; Rochester, 10. Jersey City, 9; Buffalo, 9. Reading, 7; Syracuse, 6. Newark, 6; Buffalo, 2.

Yesterday's Results. Rochester at Syracuse. Buffalo at Newark. Newark at Reading. Baltimore at Jersey City.

WEST LORNE DEFEATS CHATHAM BRISCONS 12-6

Edwards Strikes Out Ten Maple City Batters in First Game of Series.

WEST LORNE, Sept. 20.—The first game in the series between West Lorne and Chatham was played here today. West Lorne won by 12 to 6.

Score: West Lorne, 12; Chatham, 6. Hits: West Lorne, 10; Chatham, 8. Errors: West Lorne, 0; Chatham, 1.

BELIEVED TO HAVE RUN UP WORLD'S GOLF RECORD

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Sept. 20.—Emmet French, local professional, made what is believed to be a world's record here by winning the Ohio open golf championship with a total of 274. His score over the par-78 course was 61-68-71-68-74, a total of 274.

TO HOLD MATCH OCT. 4. NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The middleweight boxing match between Dave Rosenberg of Brooklyn and Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul, postponed Monday night, because of uncertainty as to Mike's appearance, will be held on Oct. 4 at Ebbets Field. Rosenberg is standing as world's middleweight title holder, while O'Dowd formerly held the championship.

BY AHREN.

HAMILTON TAKES SUDDEN-DEATH GAME FROM GALT

Beaver Truck Team Wins Third Round of O. B. A. Intermediate Series.

QUELPH, Sept. 20.—The Beaver Truck ball team of Hamilton defeated the Galt Intermediates here this afternoon in a sudden-death game in the third round of the O. B. A. intermediate series by a score of 9 to 6.

Kress started on the mound for Galt, but only lasted two innings, as the Beavers picked him for five runs in the first, and he was wild and ineffectual. He was succeeded by McCarthy, a left-handed pitcher, who pitched a complete game, and the Beavers won.

McCLARYS CAPTURE BOWLING HONORS

Down St. Matthews in Inter-Club League Final Wednesday Night.

McClarys won the Inter-Club Bowling League championship and C. R. Summer trophy at the London Bowling Club greens Wednesday night when they trimmed St. Matthews' team by a score of 23 to 15, taking the rubber in the three-game series.

In doing so, the McClarys are now champions of the league, which number St. Matthews, Harriestville, Chatham, and Dorchester teams on the list. St. Matthews, winners of the first series, met McClarys, the second series, and after both teams won one game, the title was decided Wednesday night.

WALLACE CHALLENGES VILLA TO DECISION BOUT

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—Patry Wallace, first American boxer champion, for a count, when the Englishman brought issued a challenge to Pancho Villa, recently crowned American fly-weight champion, for a decision bout for the title.

SALES MEN WANTED

Six of them. Not necessarily with previous experience, but we must have men of good appearance and with strong personality. These men will be thoroughly trained by us in up-to-date selling methods before being sent out to sell.

Attached to the position is real remuneration for hard workers.

Apply, giving age and further particulars you feel we will want to know, to BOX 75N, LONDON ADVERTISER.

TERRIERS DRAW FIRST BLOOD FROM OAKVILLE

Galt Nine Make First Game of Semi-Finals Look Easy.

GALT, Sept. 20.—The Terriers moved up another rung on the ladder in quest of the Ontario championship when they trimmed with ease Oakville in the first of home-and-home games in the second round of the semi-finals, 11-3. The game proved a walk-away for the locals, who gathered a hita off Langway, Oakville's ace, and ran the bases at will. They were aided considerably by six errors on the part of the visitors.

Final Score 11-3 in Ontario Championship Series Contest Before 2,000 Fans.

WILBUR KRESS pitched for Galt, and turned in a very nice game, being best in the first of home-and-home games in the second round of the semi-finals, 11-3. The game proved a walk-away for the locals, who gathered a hita off Langway, Oakville's ace, and ran the bases at will. They were aided considerably by six errors on the part of the visitors.

GATHER FOURTEEN HITS

WILBUR KRESS pitched for Galt, and turned in a very nice game, being best in the first of home-and-home games in the second round of the semi-finals, 11-3. The game proved a walk-away for the locals, who gathered a hita off Langway, Oakville's ace, and ran the bases at will. They were aided considerably by six errors on the part of the visitors.

WALLACE CHALLENGES VILLA TO DECISION BOUT

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—Patry Wallace, first American boxer champion, for a count, when the Englishman brought issued a challenge to Pancho Villa, recently crowned American fly-weight champion, for a decision bout for the title.

SALES MEN WANTED

Six of them. Not necessarily with previous experience, but we must have men of good appearance and with strong personality. These men will be thoroughly trained by us in up-to-date selling methods before being sent out to sell.

Attached to the position is real remuneration for hard workers.

Apply, giving age and further particulars you feel we will want to know, to BOX 75N, LONDON ADVERTISER.

TERRIERS DRAW FIRST BLOOD FROM OAKVILLE

Galt Nine Make First Game of Semi-Finals Look Easy.

Final Score 11-3 in Ontario Championship Series Contest Before 2,000 Fans.

WILBUR KRESS pitched for Galt, and turned in a very nice game, being best in the first of home-and-home games in the second round of the semi-finals, 11-3. The game proved a walk-away for the locals, who gathered a hita off Langway, Oakville's ace, and ran the bases at will. They were aided considerably by six errors on the part of the visitors.

GATHER FOURTEEN HITS

WILBUR KRESS pitched for Galt, and turned in a very nice game, being best in the first of home-and-home games in the second round of the semi-finals, 11-3. The game proved a walk-away for the locals, who gathered a hita off Langway, Oakville's ace, and ran the bases at will. They were aided considerably by six errors on the part of the visitors.

MUSEMENTS, LECTURES

GRAND

TONIGHT 8:15

TOMORROW, 2:15, 8:15

THE MOST TALKED OF

PLAY OF THE CENTURY

THE RING OF PARADISE

BY RICHARD WALTON TULLY

AUTHOR OF "THE TEMPTER"

THE HAWAIIAN

HEAR SINGERS & PLAYERS

SEE THE WONDERFUL

PLAY OF A WOMAN'S SOUL

EVENINGS, 5:00, 7:50, 11:15, $1.50, $2

Mat., 2:15, 5:00, 7:50, 11:15, $1.50, $2

SEATS NOW ON SALE.

SATURDAY

Mat. 2:15; Evening 8:15

The Event of the Season.

A Guaranteed Attraction.

EUGENE O'NEILL'S GREAT PLAY

THE EMPEROR

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

JONES CHARLES S.

MEETINGS

First Hussars

CAVALRY.

Reorganization parade for fall training will be held on Thursday, September 21, 1922,

at 7:45 p.m.

All members of the regiment are requested to be present, and recruits will be taken on. Dress in full cavalry requirements. Apply Orderly Room.

HAROLD J. LAWSON, Captain.

440

EMERGENCY MEETING—An

urgent meeting of King

Solomon's Lodge No. 278, G.

will be held on (Thursday) evening,

Sept. 21, at 7:30 o'clock. Conferring degrees, etc. Wm. Wm. Nichols, secretary.

MEMBERS of Union, 380, and

sister lodge, are requested to

assemble at 506 Talbot St., 2:15

p.m. tomorrow (Friday) to attend the funeral of one late brother,

James Westbrook W. E. Rider, W. M.,

J. Ward, secretary.

BEAVER, L. J., 2101, meets tomor-

row (Friday), Sept. 22, at 8

o'clock, in Orange Hall, Market Lane.

H. M. C. P. and A. M. will be held on (Thursday) evening, Sept.

21, at 7:30 o'clock. Conferring

degrees, etc. Wm. Wm. Nichols, secretary.

MEMBERS of Union, 380, and

sister lodge, are requested to

assemble at 506 Talbot St., 2:15

p.m. tomorrow (Friday) to at-

tend the funeral of one late brother,

James Westbrook W. E. Rider, W. M.,

J. Ward, secretary.

BEAVER, L. J., 2101, meets tomor-

row (Friday), Sept. 22, at 8

o'clock, in Orange Hall, Market Lane.

H. M. C. P. and A. M. will be held on (Thursday) evening, Sept.

21, at 7:30 o'clock. Conferring degrees, etc. Wm. Wm. Nichols, secretary.

MEMBERS of Union, 380, and

sister lodge, are requested to

assemble at 506 Talbot St., 2:15

p.m. tomorrow (Friday) to at-

tend the funeral of one late brother,

James Westbrook W. E. Rider, W. M.,

J. Ward, secretary.

BEAVER, L. J., 2101, meets tomor-

row (Friday), Sept. 22, at 8

o'clock, in Orange Hall, Market Lane.

H. M. C. P. and A. M. will be held on (Thursday) evening, Sept.

21, at 7:30 o'clock. Conferring degrees, etc. Wm. Wm. Nichols, secretary.

MEMBERS of Union, 380, and

sister lodge, are requested to

assemble at 506 Talbot St., 2:15

p.m. tomorrow (Friday) to at-

tend the funeral of one late brother,

James Westbrook W. E. Rider, W. M.,

J. Ward, secretary.

BEAVER, L. J., 2101, meets tomor-

row (Friday), Sept. 22, at 8

o'clock, in Orange Hall, Market Lane.

H. M. C. P. and A. M. will be held on (Thursday) evening, Sept.

21, at 7:30 o'clock. Conferring degrees, etc. Wm. Wm. Nichols, secretary.

MEMBERS of Union, 380, and

sister lodge, are requested to

assemble at 506 Talbot St., 2:15

p.m. tomorrow (Friday) to at-

tend the funeral of one late brother,

James Westbrook W. E. Rider, W. M.,

J. Ward, secretary.

BEAVER, L. J., 2101, meets tomor-

row (Friday), Sept. 22, at 8

o'clock, in Orange Hall, Market Lane.

H. M. C. P. and A. M. will be held on (Thursday) evening, Sept.

21, at 7:30 o'clock. Conferring degrees, etc. Wm. Wm. Nichols, secretary.

MEMBERS of Union, 380, and

sister lodge, are requested to

assemble at 506 Talbot St., 2:15

p.m. tomorrow (Friday) to at-

tend the funeral of one late brother,

James Westbrook W. E. Rider, W. M.,

J. Ward, secretary.

BEAVER, L. J., 2101, meets tomor-

row (Friday), Sept. 22, at 8

o'clock, in Orange Hall, Market Lane.

H. M. C. P. and A. M. will be held on (Thursday) evening, Sept.

21, at 7:30 o'clock. Conferring degrees, etc. Wm. Wm. Nichols, secretary.

MEMBERS of Union, 380, and

sister lodge, are requested to

assemble at 506 Talbot St., 2:15

p.m. tomorrow (Friday) to at-

tend the funeral of one late brother,

James Westbrook W. E. Rider, W. M.,

J. Ward, secretary.

MALE HELP WANTED

BRICKLAYER WANTED, day work or contract. Apply R. H. Smith, 193

Whitcliffe Rd. S. Phone 29898.

HARD CANDY MEN wanted, two experienced. Apply timekeeper, McCormick Manufacturing Co., Ltd.

IF YOU WILL WORK and tell the truth I will pay you more money than you ever earned before. Come in and talk it over. Apply Room 307, Royal Bank Bldg., Mr. Jackson.

MAN wanted, to run vacuum cleaner.

Apply Tecumseh Hotel.

NIGHT ENGINEER, holding second or third class certificate, wanted, steady employment to good man. Apply

Borden Co., Ingersoll.

SALESMAN wanted; must have experience. 649 Colborne St.

UNUSUAL opportunity for clean-cut ambitious man to join large rubber tire organization with headquarters in Toronto. Will be trained for responsible positions in branch offices

now being established throughout the province. Opportunity may be given to acquire small amount of company's stock. Reply in confidence, Box 40,

Advertiser.

CAP OPERATOR, experienced, steady work. Apply Tip Top Cap Company,

Borden Co., Ingersoll.

COOK—First-class, references required.

Apply Mrs. Howden, 502 Waterloo St.

COOK wanted, first-class, no household or washing. Apply Box 143, Advertiser.

GENERAL MAINT. competent, at once.

Apply Mrs. A. M. Daly, 300 Prince avenue.

GIRLS WANTED—

For pleasant and candy departments.

For special arrangement with school authorities, we can employ girls under 14 years of age. Apply Employers, 1000 Dundas St. W.,

Manufacturing Company, Limited.

IRONER—Experienced, for laundry,

salary $55 per month. Apply foreman

Westminster Hospital Laundry.

LADIES are taking the business field

by storm and many find they are able to earn large incomes by connecting with reliable business houses. We have an opportunity for a capable individual lady. See E. P. Jackson, 307 Central Bldg.

MAID wanted to assist with general

housework. Apply Mrs. W. G. Murray, 195 Eldridge St. Phone 15847.

SMART GIRLS WANTED FOR

CHOCOLATE MACHINE, CHOC-

OLATE MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

MACHINES, CHOCOLATE

ROWAT'S TEAS

From the Better Gardens.
65c, 75c, 85c, $1.00 and $2.00 Pound.
T. A. ROWAT & CO.
280 Dundas Street. Phone 3051-1052

DIAMONDS

A Diamond for an engagement ring. Beautiful moiré set in Platinum, white, green and yellow gold.
Rings from $25 to $1,200.
C. H. Ward & Co.
Diamond Merchants, Jewelers and Opticians.
385 RICHMOND ST.
Phone 1084.

233 Dundas St. Phone 2351.
Two Doors East of Majestic.

English Rheumatism Capsules

For the quick, safe relief of rheumatism, lumbago and sciatica. They work quickly, and are harmless. Will not upset the stomach. 50c box. Sold in London by

TAYLOR'S DRUG STORE

390 RICHMOND STREET
Half Block South of Dundas.
Established 1862.
Mailed anywhere on receipt of price.

Western Fair Visitors Welcome To Our Store—Meet Your Friends Here.
WRAY'S Jewelry
LIMITED.
234 DUNDAS STREET.

N. J. GRIFFITH
FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER.
104 Dundas Street, London.
Residence on premises. Phone 453.

A. L. OATMAN
The Funeral Home
Cor. King and Colborne Streets.

J. FERGUSON'S SONS
176-178 KING STREET
Funeral Directors and Embalmers.
Handsome Motor Car or Hearse Equipment.
Day or Night Service.
Office 543. Residence 2056W-656J.

GEO. E. LOGAN
FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER.
418 Richmond St. Phone 1982.
Finest Motor and Horse Equipment.

The London Loan Company of Canada MORTGAGES AND REAL ESTATE AGREEMENTS PURCHASED
M. J. KENT, Manager.

MASTIN'S Vitamon Greatest Of All Beauty Secrets—

Puts On Firm Flesh, Banishes Skin Eruptions, Strengthens The Nerves and Increases Energy—Results Quick

So quick and remarkable is the action of MASTIN'S Vitamon that thousands of thin, underweight women everywhere are now turning to this simple way to increase weight, energy, clear skin and round out face and figure. MASTIN'S Vitamon—two tablets with every meal. Then weigh and measure yourself again and continue taking MASTIN'S Vitamon until you are satisfied with your gain in weight, energy, nerve force and improved appearance. Pimples, boils and many skin eruptions often seem to vanish as if by magic under the purifying influence of MASTIN'S Vitamon. The complexion becomes fresh and beautiful, the cheeks round and rosy instead of drawn and pale, the eyes bright instead of dull. For your own protection and safety you must stay MASTIN'S to get the Original and Genuine Vitamon Tablets, recommended by physicians and used by millions. You can get MASTIN'S Vitamon Tablets at all good druggists, such as Standard Drug Co., Cairncross & Lawrence, Liggett Drug Co.

THE UGLY BLACKHEAD UNHEALTHY SKIN

BEAUTIFUL CLEAR GLOWING SKIN

Or What You Are Beautiful Features If You Have An Ugly Skin. Flabby Flesh, Yellow Cheeks, Or a Sallow Neck. To Get New Health, Beautiful, Clear Skin and a Well-Rounded Face and Figure, start today take MASTIN'S Vitamon Tablets, recommended by physicians. The amazing improvement in your health and appearance.

if it isn't MASTIN'S it isn't VITAMON
The World's Standard—Used by Millions

DISTRIBUTORS: DUNCAN KERSHAW & CO.,
75 St. James Street, Montreal.

YOUR FAMILY'S BEST FRIEND—

PARNELL'S HOMESPUN BREAD

Nourishes and satisfies. Try it once and you'll know how good it is.

We have tried to fit all needs. Our flours are experts. $1.50 to $10.00. ANDERSON & WELLES, 268 Dundas St. ywt Quality Vulcanizing Only.

ART WILKES

London Tire Repair Depot, 354 WELLINGTON STREET,
Opposite McClarys. ywt

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage. Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musky mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. Adv.

URGES WHEAT BOARD AS AID FOR FARMERS

Peter W. Fair Describes Problems Confronting Growers in Western Canada.

HIGHER PRICES SOUGHT

Prairie Cultivators Frequently Have To Sell Crop At Sacrifice Prices.

That the farmers of the West are positively in need of some such assistance as a wheat board would bring to them, is the firm belief of Peter W. Fair of this city, who for some years farmed a half-section in Southern Saskatchewan, and whose son, Thomas Fair, is working the other half-section adjoining his father's. Mr. Fair went to the West in 1881, leaving a farm in Brantford Township, six miles from Brantford. "I have seen it many times," stated Mr. Fair to The Advertiser, "twice in the fall of the year a farmer would be visited by an agent, stating that it was necessary that he (the farmer) should pay off a note held against him by the banks or some of the implement people, at the same time stating that if this were not done the bailiff would be on the job. The farmer has bills to pay at a number of points—the provision man has been carrying him, and he has the banks and the machinery people to deal with.

Has To Sacrifice Crop.

"The result is that he is forced to rush his grain off to the market at a time when it is glutted and the price down. After it gets into the hands of the elevator men they have the necessary backing to hold it until the market is better. That is one of the curses of farming in Western Canada. It is a great country, and should be the greatest poor man's country on top of God's footstool, but it is necessary that we have some action to protect the man who is spending his life on that vast expanse, and see to it that he gets all that can be secured for him. The men out there do not expect that wheat board would be able to get $1.25 a bushel for wheat if the market price was $1, but when you see some of the conditions you will understand why it is so important that every last cent shall go to the man who grows the grain.

Long Way To Market.

"Down where my land is, we are some 18 miles from the border. We are 35 miles from a railway station, and it takes three days to draw the grain there to the elevator. When I was a boy on that section in 1913, we first went to the elevator. When we first went to the elevator at the end of the world, but I soon found out that there were men who had to travel with their loads for a day before they ever reached my place, and it took them five days to take grain to market. Then the threshing of grain takes money. The threshing outfits there for the most part feed and house their own men, and also draw the grain in from the fields. But the charge is 20 cents a bushel, and in the years of the war it was up as high as 25 cents in some districts. But it is a good district, for right next to me is a young Scotchman who went in there on a shoe string, and worked harder and longer than any man I ever knew. Last year he had 2,500 bushels of grain on 100 acres, while below us a bit were three big Swedes who took 7,500 bushels off 300 acres. So you see the land will grow grain, and it should go ahead rapidly if the conditions of marketing the produce were fair to the farmer.

Lost Out On Cattle.

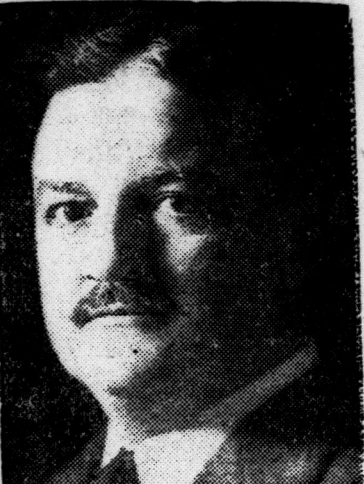

Mr. Fair relates an experience his son had with cattle following the war. "All the agricultural papers were pointing out that the cattle of Europe had been eaten up or killed during the war, and for that reason there must be a good market for cattle there for some years to come. The banks in the West were willing to advance money for this purpose, so my son went in, and before long had a herd of 25 of the finest steers you could see at any farm. When the time came to market them they were shipping cattle from Swift Current and other points to Winnipeg, and it was almost impossible to get enough to pay the freight on them, while the price was so low for cattle the men who were selling meat in Winnipeg seemed to have never heard that the war was over. There was a lot of money lost there, and we thought at the time the government, through its department of trade and commerce, should have been able to give us better advice, as we lost a lot of good money and a lot of hard work to boot."

Remembers the Rebellion.

Mr. Fair went West first with a surveying party headed by his brother from Brantford, in 1881, and laid out a number of town sites. "Some of them grew," laughed Mr. Fair, "and some of them have been growing grain crops since. At the time of the Reil rebellion we put our teams at the service of the government and were on the trail between several of the posts there carrying mail. He was also in the Crow's Nest Pass when the first C. P. R. line was being built there by Mann & Maddigan. Mann being now Sir Donald Mann.

Mr. Fair believes that any success—

Hon. W. C. Kennedy's Condition Critical.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—Hon. W. C. Kennedy, federal minister of railways, was operated on for the second time at the Royal Victoria Hospital here today. A consultation of surgeons following the minister's failure to convalesce from his earlier and minor operation, determined upon a second which was performed today.

Mr. Kennedy's condition is said to be serious, although every hope is entertained for his recovery.

Montreal, Sept. 21.—A report given out by the superintendent of the Royal Victoria Hospital this morning was to the effect that Hon. W. C. Kennedy, minister of railways, who is at present a patient in that institution, had spent a good night and was progressing favorably.

Hon. J. A. Stewart, former minister of railways, is also a patient at the Royal Victoria Hospital, and is critically ill.

DENT GUILTY ON MURDER CHARGE

Prisoner Displays No Sign of Emotion On Hearing Verdict.

Counsel For Defense Makes Stirring Appeal For Acquittal.

BULLETIN.
Brantford, Sept. 21.—Chief Justice Meredith this morning sentenced Harry Dent, Armenian, to be hanged on Friday, Nov. 24, for the murder of his landlord, Peter Egoian, on April 24 last.

BRANTFORD, Sept. 20.—"Gentlemen of the jury, what is your finding?" asked W. A. Holmstrake, K.C., of the jury, as the foreman stood to deliver the verdict in the murder of Peter Egoian.

"Guilty," said Foreman H. J. H. Williamson.

"Guilty of what?" asked Chief Justice Meredith as he sat forward in his chair towards the jury.

"Guilty of murder in the first degree," responded Foreman Williamson after a slight pause.

After being out of the courtroom for a period of 1 hour and 45 minutes, the jury returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Harry Dent for the murder of Peter Egoian on or about April 25, 1922.

Silent and emotionless sat Harry Dent in the prisoners' box, where he had spent many trying hours listening to the evidence.

Makes Stirring Appeal.

W. S. Brewster, K.C., his legal adviser, made a very stirring appeal to the jury for the acquittal of Dent.

Mr. Brewster, in addressing the jury, stoutly declared that the crown could not prove the fact that Egoian had been murdered, as was alleged. He on many occasions referred to the feud that was going on around the country at the present time, inferring that Egoian might have been the victim of the gang.

The crown had not shown any motive for the crime.

He declared there was nothing more against Dent than the cashing of the $200 check from the city. Mr. Brewster maintained that there was no other motive but this one, and that it was not sufficient to prove that Harry Dent had committed the crime. He commented very strongly upon Dent's war record in the Canadian English and Armenian armies.

He told the jury that he had seen evidence that were in Dent's possession, and wound up by making a stirring appeal for British justice for Dent.

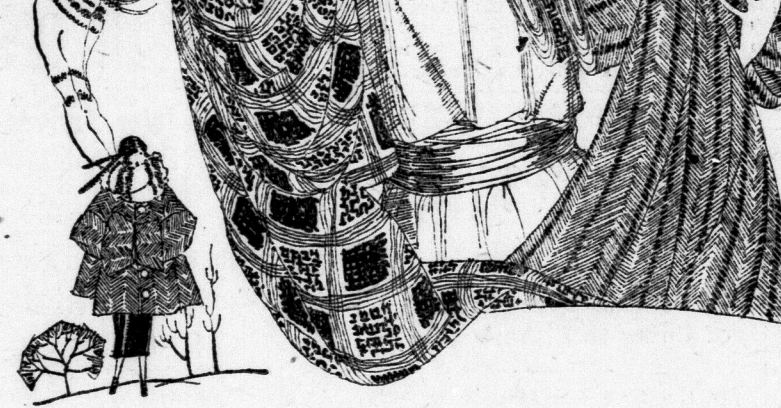

Sums Up Prosecution.

Sir William Hearst, K.C., in summing up the prosecution, spoke of the check being cashed by Dent at the Bank of Montreal. He did not credit Dent's statements about Egoian owing him (Dent) money. A strong chain of evidence had been welded around Dent link by link until it formed an unbreakable chain.

He made reference to the way that Dent had tried to bury or dispose of the remains of Egoian without giving them a decent burial. He commended the police very highly for their good work in presenting the case in the manner that they had during the trial. He did not credit the story of Dent that George Alexander had committed the murder, and he stated that it was a put-up job "to get" Alexander, because when the later appeared Dent denied that it was Alexander, and described a man who was totally different from the description given to Detectives Stanley and Boylan three days after the crime had been committed.

He did not believe that any man by the name of Bazonian existed, except in Dent's imagination. Sir William made reference to Dent's service overseas, but said that this should not be taken into consideration. "You have a solemn duty to perform and no matter what the cost,

New Fall and Winter Wool Dress Goods and Coatings At Saving Prices

BOYS! BOYS!

For your benefit we are giving a lecture on the "Fundamental Principles of Radio," along with constructional explanations, on SATURDAY, SEPT. 23, at 10 a.m. You are cordially invited. This is not a technical lecture. Bring your radio questions with you. Take West Elevator to Fifth Floor. Radio Department on Third Floor, where you will find in stock, all necessary parts for building your own radio set. Also complete Radio outfits. Free information on Radio at all times.

New Cosy Coatings That Are Smart, 54-Inch, $2.50 Yard

Exceptionally low price for lovely color coatings, pure wool and heavy quality.

Heavy Wool Coatings in Plaid Backs, 54-Inch, Special $3.50 Yd.

The kind of coating made up without lining; newest colors in rich tweed and donkey weaves, with plaid on reverse side; 54-inch. Special $3.50 yard

Pure Wool Suiting Tweeds, 56 Inches Wide, $2.50 Yard

An excellent quality and make for women's and children's wear; very stylish in pick and pick designs; two pieces to select from, one in dark navy ground with new brown blue worked in. The other nigger brown, with henna; 56-inch. Special $2.50 yard

Sheer Nainsook

Especially pretty for those dainty French undies, is this wonderful weave, a triumph of spinners' and weavers' skill to produce so sheer and delicate a fabric at so modest a price; 36-inch. Special 50c

Majestic Electric Heaters

QUICK CONCENTRATED ELECTRIC HEAT.

The Majestic will take the chill off an average sized room in a few minutes. It concentrates heat right where you want it. It can't make the room stuffy. It doesn't use up the oxygen of the air. The Majestic has a handy switch enabling you to turn heat off and on at will by simply pressing a button. SINGLE OR DOUBLE ELEMENT. See them in the Basement.

Hurlbut Cushion Sole Shoes for Children

Patent with dull calf tops, in lace or button. Sizes 5 to 7½. Price $4.00
Chocolate Calf Shoes, laced, for boys. Sizes 5 to 7½. Price $4.00
Hurlbut Pussy Foot Shoes for babies learning to walk. Sizes 2 to 5. Patent with dull tops, in button or lace, also white kid tops in button. Price $2.50 pair Tan Kid Shoes in button or lace. Price $2.50 pair
One-Strap Slippers in patent leather and white buck. Price $2.00 pair Hurlbut Soft Sole Shoes for infants. Sizes 1 to 2, in white kid. Prices $1.00 and $1.50 Infants' Dept., Fourth Floor.

Soda Fountain, Main Floor.
For Sundaes, Sodas, Light Lunches, etc.

SMALLMAN & INGRAM
LIMITED

Restaurant, Fourth Floor.
Quick Service.
Course Dinners, 40c and 65c.

Fresh and crisp, you will enjoy the particular flavor of

McCormick's JERSEY CREAM BISCUITS

TORONTO TO GET COAL SHIPMENT

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—Toronto got its first shipment of anthracite coal today mined since the strike was settled.

The shipment came to a Parkdale dealer, and is evidence of the intentions of the big coal concerns across the line to treat Canada in coal distribution exactly the same as the

MEIGHEN SPEAKS TO BELLEVILLE AUDIENCE

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 20.—Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the official opposition in the Federal House, was in Belleville today on a visit to relatives, and there he was the guest of E. G. Porter, M.P., at the Belleville Club, where a reception was held.

Following the reception, Mr. Meighen delivered a short address dealing chiefly with the political questions of the day.

We had forgotten about chestnuts ripening until we saw a worm going somewhere. Ninety-five per cent of all the business done in the United States is transacted by check.