June Forced To Take Second Position, While May Still Unpopular.

MANY JULY BIRTHDAYS

Greatest Number of Deaths Occur in London During March.

The superstition which prompted a sage of old to say: "Marry in the month of May, you will surely rue the day," has to this day many extreme observers. The month of May was regarded as unlucky by the Romans, owing to the celebration of the festival of the unhappy dead. which was held annually on the 9th 11th and 13th. This superstition has survived to the present day.

By surveying the marriage license book which reposes in the city clerk's office you will find that few Londoners took a chance during the past few years to marry in the month of May. May was decidedly the month

Contrary to general belief, how-ever, June of 1922 and 1923 did not score the highest for marriages. Al-though ancient lore declares June to be the luckiest month of the year for weddings, because it is governed by June, the classic goddess who pro-tects women, according to statistics. September was the most popular month for marriages locally. Evidently London brides believe in the ancient adage: "Marry in September's shrine, your living will be rich and fine." The modern maiden evidently prefers wealth to travel, for Crinoline girls generally married in the month of June, and the saying goes: "Marry when June roses blow; over land and sea you'll go." September Highest.

For May of 1922 and 1923, an average of 37 weddings took place. During June of the past two years there were nearly 70 marriages, but the month of September saw a de cided increase for weddings, an average of 81 being recorded. In recent years, September has certainly been the most popular month for marriages,

Although the "June bride" idea has to an extent been exploded by these figures, one custom which has always been popular among newly-married couples in Canada still prevails. According to the city ticket agents, Niagara Falls remains the popular place for honeymons. Each year during the summer months, hundreds in newlyweds agent their honeymons. of newlyweds spent their honeymoon

Incidentally, one-sixth of the number of deaths throughout the year are due to faulty hearts. Pneumonia is second, cancer is third. The automobile and typhoid fever get their greatest number in August. Cancer scores highest in September, tuberculosis in June, and Bright's disease in September.

MABEL NORMAND HAS A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Associated Press Despatch.
Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 3.—Miss Mabel Normand, motion picture actress, whose chauffeur Tuesday night shot and seriously wounded Courtland S. Dines, Denver oil operator and clubman, last night was removed to the Good Samaritan Hospital suffering from what her physicians said was a nervous breakdown.

The strain, excitement and worry growing out of the shooting of Dines in her presence last night caused the actress to break down, it was announced. She was permitted to see no one after her arrival at the hospital, where Dines also is a patient.

aroused in Australia in the scheme put forth by Sir Henry Jones, a prominent fruit packer for a company with a capital of $7,500,000 to control the distribution of Australia meat in Great Britain by the purchase of 1,300 retail shops on which options have been secured.

The shops, it is argued, would also be able to assist the sale of butter, fruit and other Australian produce. If the scheme is brought to completion, it is proposed to extend the organization to cover all Australian products which would involve an increase of the capital to possibly eight or ten million pounds sterling.

"I just love the part of Teresa," she said. "I have been in musical comedy all my life, and there is no other part I like as well as this one. You see, we are all pretty fond of music in my country, and I was always fond of singing. Then, the whole play, with its dainty numbers and play, with its dainty numbers and its lovely settings, appeals to me, and you know how popular it was when it ran at Daly's in Old London?"

Miss Walker is not afraid of the long journeys entailed by touring Canada. "In Australia, we had to go all the way from Adelaide in South Australia to Perth in West Australia, and that's five days in the train, so I'm not bothered as far as travelling is concerned." Of Athletic Type.

"The government should certainly come to our assistance," Mr. Buchner said. "In 1915-16 and '18 the government's attention was called to the condition of the Home Bank and a partial investigation conducted by them led people to believe everything was all right. Then when the banking act was revised Ottawa accepted the assurance of the Canadian Bankers' Association that the Home Bank was entitled to have its charter extended. This was equivalent to saying it was in sound shape.

"In the petition to be presented, however, no blame shall be attached to anyone, but we shall try to show that depositors acted in good faith on the assurance of the government that things were in good condition so far as the Home Bank was concerned," Mr. Buchner said.

Horse Runs Amuck.

No little excitement was caused here this evening when a horse hitched to Stephen's bakery wagon ran amuck on the main street. While the driver was absent the horse trotted off towards home. The cries of the driver and the people on the street frightened him and he commenced a fast clip. For a block the wagon more by good luck than good management, missed other vehicles. Finally it struck Buck's car.

In the re-bound/the wagon struck an electric light post with such force that the chandelier was jarred off and fell crashing to the ground. At this point the horse broke loose from the wagon and disdaining the use of the road, tore madly down the sidewalk, striking fire from its hoofs at every pace. For three blocks people ran into doorways for shelter, till after negotiating several difficult turns, the nag was finally captured on Mary street.

The Husband Who Can't Take a Night Off-The Orphan Girl Whose Uncle Makes Love to Her-The Girl Who Doesn't Allow Good Night Kissing.

Dear Miss Dix—I have been married two years, and my wife and I have many disputes because I think that I should have one night a week off. She will not hear to this, and during my entire married life I have never gone out by myself. Even a servant has one day off. Don't you think a husband is entitled to that much liberty? CHARLES S. Answer:

I certainly do, Charles, and if I were you I would take it, no matter how big a domestic rumpus it kicked up. There is no virtue in submitting to tyranny, and the more you give in to the despot on the hearth the more you will have to give in, until the time will come when you won't even dare to call your soul your own.

Of course, when I say that you are entitled to an evening off, I an presuming that you are going t spend it like a gentleman. If are going to use it to chase a ski or get drunk or gamble away mon ou can't afford, then your wife justified in locking you up in yo prison cell.

But if you just want to go to your club, or your lodge, or to a show, or have some real man-talk with men, or just get off by yourself and do as you darn please for a few hours, without having to consider anybody else's tastes and desires—and we all get like that sometimes-why, then your wife is most unreasonable to deny you this pleasure.

It is a pity that women can't understand that life is just as much grind for men as it is for them, and that men need relaxation and pleas and to have their thoughts turned into different directions just as much they do, and that the only possible time a busy man can get this relaxa is at night, for he is at his work all day

It is a pity that a woman has not sense enough to know that the more she forbids her husbands to go out in the evening the more he desires to go, and the tighter she tries to nail him a home the more he hates home and domesticity. Make a man free to go when he pleases and he stays. Bar the door, and he climb over the transom. For that is the contrariness of human natu

So take your evening off, Charles. It will freshen you up and de good. But play fair with the wife. Tell her that she may also take off a few days. The cast, with choruses, includes almost 150 people. At the close of the meeting the evening was else that diverts her.

> Home would be a cheerier place if both husband and wife spent an evening away from it every week, getting new ideas, a fresh fund of anecdotes and something interesting to talk about DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix-Please help a poor orphan girl. I am not twenty years of age, and I live with my aunt and her husband. They both very good to me and have promised to educate me. Recently uncle has begun to act very strangely toward me. He makes love to tian does not meet until next Wednesday at the Wellington Street Y. W. C. A., when much important one years of age.

I love my aunt devotedly, but I am afraid to tell her about my un as she has heart trouble and it might kill her. My uncle has been ve St. Joseph's Mothers' Unit is arranging a social to be held in the school, Wilson avenue, tomorrow evening. Euchre will be played

Your uncle is an unspeakable dastard and villain, my child. and your only safety lies in immediate flight. Leave his house, if you have to go to the poorhouse. Any girl of twenty can earn an honest living for herself in these days.

My advice is to tell your aunt the whole story, and get her to send ; to some place of safety. She is bound to soon sense her husband's attitu loward you, and the shock of finding out that you, to whom she has be kind and good, have acted traitorously toward her will be far greater th knowing that her own husband has been false to her and to every principal

For there is no other crime on earth equal to that of the man who takes advantage of the ignorance and the innocence, of the affection and dependence of a girl who is a member of his own household, to win her heart and to lead her into a life that can bring her nothing but shame and misery. Flee from him as you would from some venomous beast!

Dear Dorothy Dix—I go out a good deal with a young man whom like very much. We get along splendidly together except that, every tin the inevitable squabble about the good-night kiss arises. I hate to be d agreeable after the splendid time my friend has given me, but I can't see to make him understand that right and wrong have been schooled into n so well that I can't do what will belittle me in my own eyes just becar no one else will know. This young man does not believe that there are any girls who do n allow kissing, and he feels that I am stringing him, or trying to play the innocent. He tells me it is because I do not care for him. Why should expect to kiss me? Also, why should I tell him whether or not I care for him, just to satisfy his vanity? Tell me what to do about this fellow, a ne has not called for some time, and I do miss him. SAD BLONDIE,

Answer:

I think you are exactly right not to kiss the young man. A chap is a good deal of a cad who makes a girl pay for his attentions by doing a thing that both he and she know brushes the down from the peach. For a girl who lets every man kiss her and paw her gets to be a shopworn article with none of the delicate sen-sibilities, none of the freshness and innocence that should belong to maidenhood. If I were a girl, I would rather pay out my good, hard money for theatre tickets and automobile rides than to pay for them with kisses.

The only man who has a right to expect a woman to kiss him or tel him that she loves him is the one who has asked her to be his wife. Appar ently this chap has not popped the question. He wants you to kiss him and to give him your heart for the poor price of taking you out a few times which would be a bad bargain on your part.

Let him go. He isn't worth worrying over. And of one thing you may be sure. You may have lost his society, but you have won his respect, and if he had any intention whatever of proposing to you, your attitude will bring him to the point, for the unkissed girl is the kind of a wife that every man would like to have.

Tells Strange Story After Being Released From Halifax

OLD MAN IS ARRESTED

Canadian Press Despatch. Halifax, N.S., Jan. 2.-A virtual prisoner for five years in the hands of a 60-year-old man, is the story of 22year-old Bertha Potter of Bear River, N.S. The girl, who today walked in the sunshine for the first time in half a decade, alleges that William Lent, 62, had kept her incarcerated in a potential dungeon for the whole of that period. The girl, who was an orphan, had gone to live with Lent in 1915, when she was 14 years of age, according to the police, and in 1918 she passed out of sight. Lent was then living alone; his wife had been separated from him, and is now in Massachusetts. The release of the young woman came through the medium of an unknown letter-writer of an unknown letter-writer in the United States, who wrote to a citizen of Bear River asserting that he had seen the girl, scantily clad, in the home of William Lent in 1917. The letter was passed to Attorney General O'Hearn, who ordered an in-

Today police officials proceeded to Bear River, and there released the young woman. She was neatly and apparently in good She declared, however, that for five years she had not been outside the house, and the greater part of her existence had been spent in

THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1924.

Starving the Company The story is revived that the Ontario Legislature will be asked to take away from the London Street Railway the right to charge a fivecent fare and insist that the old supposed to be the last word in rate of seven and nine tickets for a quarter be restored.

This process, it is urged, will bring property at its own price.

by the London Street Railway, and ling tomb. there are 250 of them. It is a good is employing 250 men is not a good policy, neither is it a fair one.

Not only so, but it can have no bearing on the price the city has to pay. Bylaw 916 is the basis of the these giant air traps. agreement under which the street railway operates. If it were not for that agreement, the city could go to the manager of the railway and ask what authority he had for operating a single car in London. But 916 exists, and it has very definite provisions in case the city wants to acquire the road. The fact that it is getting a five-cent fare or a tencent fare, or carrying the people for nothing, makes not one bit of differ-

Clause 20, section 2, of bylaw 916 provides for arbitration, half the cost to be borne by the city and half by the company. As to what the arbitrators are to consider, the wording is

"In determining such value, the rights and privileges hereby granted, and the revenue, profits and dividends being or likely to be derived from the enterprise are not to be taken into consideration, but the arbitrators are to consider only the actual value of the actual and tangible property, plant, pavements, equipment and works . . . the best kind and system then in operation and applicable to the said That is very plain and very fair.

A new car, for instance, could be taken as a model, and the old ones would be put in as they measure up to that standard. All that would be bought would be the physical assets of the company, no franchise, no goodwill, simply cars, wire, tracks, pavement, power plant, etc.

The idea of starving out the company is not big enough to meet the situation. It is doubtful if many people would subscribe to the plan. If the company is forced to a point of bankruptcy the equipment will go down and the service will be worse. It is not a fair and honorable way to do business.

A candidate whose conceptions of the duties of a mayor of a city of Toronto's size were couched in such terms received his answer in the form of 4,370 votes to 44,089 for Mayor Hiltz.

From this distance it looks as though Toronto had chosen a very capable chief magistrate.

The Fallacy of the Air.

The great French dirigible Dixmude was a mighty craft. It was super-aircraft, and as its great engines roared it took with it 50 men on their last voyage.

It was not like the small aircraft the company to the point where it quick, able to go above or below air will lose so much money that it will currents that bothered it. The M. C. R. Shops.

A number of Michigan Central employees at St. Thomas are disturbed over the report that they may have to pick up and move to a new location. The policy of the M. C. R. has not been definitely stated, but it is said to be the centralization of its shops, possibly at Windsor.

The change would not be beneficial to either the men concerned nor to St. Thomas. Catching the Disease. The boy parliament of Ontario has been in session at Toronto. It had been hoped that these junior legislators would show the makings of a Joshua who would lead the com plaining Ontarians out of the land of high taxes.

But if they didn't go and favor the sale of a $6,000 bond issue.

Beating a Dog.

Visitor Saw a Scene in London That

Sir,-I was in London over the holiday, and I saw a scene on a street running from Dundas street east that made me wonder how it could be tolerated. I was in a street car my-self at the time, or I would have got off and taken a hand. A man came out of a house and a dog ran after him. The punishment for this was that the man took a broom that was standing against a tree, where someone had been sweeping the walk, and beat the animal with the handle un-til he broke it. He then grabbed the dog in his hands and slapped it around the head until it was quite done out. As a last resort he picked it up again and threw it about ten or fifteen feet and followed along to give it a kick. All this happened in less than a minute or so, and it was intended to teach the dog that it must not follow its lord and naster.

C. N. R., D. S. Perrins and Standard Drug were returned winners of three zestful clashes which opened the Manufacturers' League season st-night at the new Arena. Nearly 800 people saw the bill, which, while providing its portion of comedy, also gave the pewholders a vastly greater amount of surprisingly good hockey very close to the O. H. A. Intermediate brand at times.

C. N. R. Win. C. N. The C. N. R., with Goodman and Hindmarsh oh the defence and Gillies and Burgess on the front line, trotted out what looked like an O. H. A. team, and they gave the hampions bump for bump as the game grew warmer. Three McKay brothers constituted the firing line for McClarys, and with a fireworks defence like Bud Kelly and Buchanan always sputtering and starting something to the rear, the railwaymen had to earn their win. Roy McKay, who did a lot of nice checking in mid ice, and Pring were chased in the first period when they got into a tangle. Buchanan scored the first goal of game, a long shot from outside defence and Johnny Burgess enotted up the count seven minutes later on a solo effort. The second period went scoreless, McClarys having a slight edge of the play as the McKay family combined and checked fiercely. The third period was a wow to the accompaniment of a dizzy pace. Goodman turned aside some hot ones before Pring took a pass from Burgess and cut the knotted-up tie.

The druggists' team was the surprise package of the team was the surprise package of the night, From Baker out, the winners played a nice game. LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

As suggested some months ago from St. Marys sources, there will shortly be an attempt made to form a Western Ontario lacrosse association, in affiliation merely with the D. A. L. A. It may be the direct outcome of the deal St. Marys thinks it received from the Ontario governing body the past summer, but nevertheless that takes nothing away from the soundness of

"With a view to giving you ample time in which to prepare suggestions or to enable you to bring this question before members of your club, league, cup tie committees, societies or any organization interested in soccer football for the coming season, 1924, this letter is to draw your attention to the fact that the annual general meeting of the Lenders and Lacrosse needs rushing. Probably a localized organization with officials right on the ground may supply the lack which characterizes O. A. L. A. administration.

At any rate it's worth a trial,

One bill in the Manufacturers League has served to show London fans that the city possesses one vast number of hockey players, but the superiority that denotes quality is a hard thing to pick out. There are so many players that play about the same brand of hockey that a coach's job is more of a blind grab than anything else.

POOR BUSINESS INSTINCT.

It seems that Erminio Spalla has changed his mind and will go to uencs Aires to box Senor Luis Angel Firpo instead of going to New York to box Gene Tunney. Perhaps this is just as well.

Spalla did some fighting on this continent before he won the "heavyweight championship" of Europe. His last opponent in the United States was young Bob Fitzsimmons, son of "Ruby Robert." Young Bob never was regarded as much of a battler, but he got the decision over Spalla, one of the few decisions ne has won. The Spalla-Firpo bout will not be much to look at either. Firpo sho his return to South America seems to have grasped the North America idea of picking the soft ones, as they say. He has been paging wildly the crop of American horizontal heavies to join him in a bout in Argentina, but has not met with any enthusiastic responses, probably because of the small amounts he has been ready to guarantee. Mr. Tex Rickard is a bit saddened by the dereliction of Spalla. He bserves that if Spalla should be beaten by Firpo his pugilistic career would end abruptly. Which is by way of saying a mouthful. Signor Spalla seems instruction, etc. This point will also to be a poor business man.

SOUNDS LIKE GOOD ADVICE.

Mr. McTaggart, addressing Montreal Curiers at a banquet ended up flood of reminiscences of the days when winter meant red-blooded sport with: "I believe if there were less fussing round at tea parties and dances it would be greatly to the benefit of the youth of today and to the good of Ontario Curling Association's year the race. "Commend to your children not the latest form of jazz, but sports such as snowshoeing and ski-ing."

ETYMOLOGY.

Nate Goldman who beat Lew Tendler the other night is a forme rtar. Lew thinks that's how tar got into tartar.

IT GOES FOR OTHERS.

Boxing is beneficial to the community in that every time some fat spectator sees a beautiful physical specimen—trained and fit—step into a ring he determines to exercise. Of course he never does, but he exercises his brain thinking about it. Then, too, he exercises his voice telling what a date and if you desire any further fine athlete he was when he was young.—Walter Trumball.

> Two members of the Cadillac Polar Bear Club of Detroit put on a novel stunt to welcome the New Year. They greeted the cherub of 1924 from the icy waters of the Detroit River. They were not shipwrecked or thrown into water, but went voluntarily. These Polar Bears desired to welcome in the New Year from the element they love so well that they swim in the open river all year around, sometimes being obliged to break holes in the ice. The swimmers were Earl G. Adams, 3735 Ashland street and Roy McKinstry, 1787 Townsend avenue.

> Jack Dempsey, the well-known heavyweight, is on the high seas, some where off the Virginia coast, bound for Florida to undergo light training in that genial clime for a bout in defence of his title late in the spring. Mr. Dempsey's opponent probably will be Tom Gibbons, the young man who stopped 15 rounds with the champion at Shelby, Mont.

LONDON CURLERS'

Booklet, Combined Novel Schedule, Score Card and Directory Will Make Hit.

The committee of management and games of the London Curling Club decided to organize along somewhat different lines this season than those hitherto followed, and are retaining only those bonspiels and games which have proven popular in years gone by, these will be operated as before. For the surpose of playing club championship games the members will be divided into two sections—A and B, and from each of these groups will be drawn twelve rinks, which will, ice permitting, play eleven games together on the dates arranged on the schedule herein. The winning rinks in each section will then play off for the club championship and the Beattie Cup. Individual prizes have also been arranged for the two leading rinks.

There will also be an innovation in the way of a bonspiel to include only leads and second players for which suitable prizes have also been arranged: this feature will be a onethe lines of our Saturday afternoon bonspiels, and will give our younger members an opportunity to show their mettle.

This and other information is contained in a booklet issued by the ondon Curling Club and credited to President Charles White. The schedules are complete for the whole season of club championship games with room left opposite each date for the scores. The booklet will, therefore, be a score card as wel as a schedule. An excerpt from the book is also included, which gives hints to curlers. Even a code of signals is included in the book. The phones, business and house, of every member make the book a directory. It represents one of the most novel features introduced into curling in London for a long time.

LIONS CLUB OFFICERS

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, Jan. 2.-More than three hundred veterans of the late war, from all parts of Kent County, gathered at the local armories this evening for a big reunion arranged by the officers of the 24th Kent Battalion. A "sing-song" comprised popular songs, with everybody doing their share, during which the hits of London war-time musical comedies were favorites. Those not musically inclined, fought the battles over again. in group discussions, when several of the veterans related war-time experiences. There were smokes a-plenty and a lunch was served at the right

It is now semi-officially reported that Steel of Canada earned the common dividend in the first seven months of the year, and, judging from numerous favorable trade reports that appeared during recent months, there is no reason to doubt this statement. Consequently, it looks as if the company would earn a sufficient surplus over dividend requirements this year. This Hollinger milling plant is booked to undergo an increase from its present capacity of 4,500 tons per day to at least 8,000 tons.

This will mean an output approximating $19,000,000 per annum, and from statements made by officials of the company, a still further increase may mon dividend in the first seven months and 1922.

According to leading American steel authorities, this industry is assured of at least a moderate degree of prosperity next year, and such being the case, it looks as if the present 7 per cent dividend was assured for a considerable time to come. If this assumption be accepted, the stock under present market conditions should be selling around an 8 per cent basis, that is to say, between 80 to-85.

ATLANTIC SUGAR.

R. S. Kent of New York, consulting engineer of the Atlantic Sugar Refineries, is at present in St. John, N. B., and will supervise the work of overhauling the shutdown. Mr. Kent said that he believed one week would suffice to complete the work.

He said the year just closing had not been a very satisfactory one from the sugar refiner's viewpoint. Prices of raw sugar had ruled so high that the volume of business had been less because the demand had been less. Mr. Kent said that the new crop of Cuban sugar was being harvested at the present time, and that he believed it was a fairly average one, and better than the crop of last year. Last year some parts of Cuba were affected by drought, and the yield of the sugarcane was smaller in consequence.

He looked to see a better situation in the coming year, and, in his opinion, the price tendency for sugar would be downward. Mr. Kent said that no changes or improvements in equipment were contemplated in the St. John re

HOLLINGER'S PLANS.

Arthur E. Moysey & Co., in their year-end letter to clients, refer to the plans now under way in respect to Hollinger.

The Hollinger milling plant is booked to undergo an increase from its present. company, a still further increase may be expected. In other words, between the middle and the end of 1925 Hollinger may be crushing 10,000 tons of ore a day.

DOMINION IRON AND STEEL. DOMINION IRON AND STEEL.

The Dominion Iron and Steel Company has received an order for 56,000 tons of rails from the Canadian National Railways, according to an announcement made at the regular meeting of the Workers' Committee. The C. N. R. order calls for delivery in March, and rolling at the steel plant will commence early in January.

News of this large order is expected in Sydney to exert a decided effect for the better upon business in Cape Breton, as it is a practical guarantee of full operations at the steel plant for the winter months.

Associated Press Despatch.

Chicago, Jan, 3.—In the absence of any special demand, wheat trended downward in price today during the first part of the board of trade session. Goes Over Historical Documents Belonging to Dr. Solon Woolverton.

STUDIES BIOGRAPHIES

With regard to a new history of Chtarlo which is shortly to be published, Col. Alexander Fraser, the provincial architect, was here yesterday, examining the famous collection of historical books and papers in the collection of Dr. Solon Woolverton.

Dr. Woolverton's museum has attained fame throughout the province, and among its many departments is one which contains the early copies of historical provincial documents, handed down to the present holder by his father and grandfather.

Col. Fraser's brief stay in the city was occupied chiefly with examination of the records held by Dr. Woolverton of the life of Joseph Will-verton of the life of Joseph Willcocks.

This man's tempestuous career will always be a colorful spot in the history of the early days of Upper Canada. Willcocks came to this country as a young man, a member of a noble Irish family. He was a man of brilliant attainments, and shortly rose to an important post shortly rose to an important post with the government of the time. He became secretary to Peter Russell, who was administrator of Upper Canada in the first period of its settlement. Later he became em-broiled in political difficulties, and under what he considered extreme provocation at the hands of the government he fled to the United States and joined the American forces in the war of 1812, becoming a colonel. Whether Willcocks was not justified to a certain extent in this action is a point debated by some historians. During his stormy life, however, he became intimate with Dr. Woolhe became intimate with Dr. Woolverton's great-great-grandfather and with him left his cane, which is now in the present collection. Even more important than this, however, from the historian's point of view, is his diary, which has been handed down to Dr. Woolverton from his father and grandfather. The diary bears intimate reference to important happenings of the time, but its chief interest lies in the light it shows on the social relations of men who on the social relations of men who held posts under Simcoe and Hunter It refers to such public men as Dr. Baldwin, the father of Robert Baldwin, Charles Small, Attorney-General Allcock, Lieutenant-Governor Hunter, and the Surveyor-General D. W. Smith, the latter returning to England and was first knighted and then given a baronetcy. During this period, Dr. Woolverton's grandfather and great-grandfather lived in the street of the and great-grandfather lived in the Nagara district and were in close touch with the men of the day.
