From a Car Window. The elevated train always slowed up before it came to the curve. At this particular afternoon it came to a dead stop.

The janitor's story had strangely excited him, however. It was in an exalted mood that he sallied forth like a knight of old to the nearest florist.

Just then his glance reached a window on the level of his own and rested there. His face brightened, for the somber curtains framed a girl, an undoubtedly pretty girl.

Her cheeks were paler than usual and her eyes heavy from weeping. She, too, by her startled glance, recognized him. Philip started forward impetuously, but she drew back and leaned trembling, against the door as she met his startled gaze.

The janitor had discreetly withdrawn. Philip felt a pang of reproach as he looked at the shrinking girl. He had startled her too much. His voice was very gentle as he said: 'Yes, Miss Lambert, it is I, the man from the car window. You see I know your name. The janitor told me. And I've come to ask you whether you liked the violets. And oh, when I missed you from the window I could not stand it. I just had to come and find out what was the matter.'

The obscure Great Men. Through the pages we get glimpses of little known great men, such as a manufacturer of pots, named Wedgwood, as the inventor of this famous china described himself; of Flaxman, the artist, and his devoted wife; of Robert Dick, the Scottish baker, who was perhaps the greatest geologist of his day.

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., JUNE 3, 1904.

Acadia's Closing.

The closing exercises in connection with the educational institutions here, which took place this week, can only be fittingly characterized as eminently successful. The weather has been delightful and all that could be desired. The bright, fine, sunshiny days of this closing—contrast most pleasantly with the wet weather and murky skies which have attended one of late years, and on an occasion this kind of weather counts for much. Visitors from almost every village, town and city in these provinces have been in attendance, indicating an increasing interest in the work being done by Acadia College and affiliated schools.

Wolfville has looked at its best. The ornamental trees, without which no town can truly be called beautiful, now delight the eye with their bright fresh, green foliage, while the fruit trees, laden with the wealth of white and pink blooms, make up a picture that will remain long in the minds of visitors, and fill the air with delightful fragrance. The lawns, too, are looking well because every year the people of Wolfville are paying more attention to the outside appearance of their homes. This is as it should be, for strangers who come here for few or many days should go away with only favourable impressions of Wolfville and its people.

The record of the year is one which should fill the hearts of the friends of the institutions with encouragement. With a good attendance in all the departments excellent work has been done, as evidenced by the successful exercises of the week.

The exercises proper began on Sunday morning, when the

was preached by Rev. Prof. Calvin Goodspeed, D. D., of McMaster University. The service was held at 11 o'clock in Assembly Hall. D. Goodspeed is well known as a forceful and convincing speaker, a preacher of originality, a deep thinker, and a man of keen insight into the deep things of life and the spiritual nature. The day was a delightful one and the hall was crowded to the doors. President Trotter was in charge of the exercises and offered the invocation. Music was furnished by a choir of forty voices, under the direction of Prof. Maxim. The subject of the address was "Christian Strength" as suggested by 1 Cor. 16: 13.

THE ANNUAL FIELD SPORTS.

The annual inter-class field and track sports were held on the College Campus, Monday afternoon. The individual performances were of an unusually high order, but the class competitions were poor.

The Juniors overwhelmed the other classes in the struggle for the trophy and so this met lacked the intense enthusiasm and excitement of other years. A high wind made the races rather slow but in the field events three records went by the board. Jones, '04, broke his record in the shot put and hammer throw. Howe added a foot to his record in the broad jump and clipped two-fifths of a second from the hurdle record. The showing of the men in the various events gives promise that Acadia will make a remarkably good showing at the Inter-Collegiate meet in St. John tomorrow.

The list of events and winners is as follows:

100 yards—won by Lewis, '05, 2nd, Howe, '05, 3rd, Johnson, '05. Time 10:15 sec.

Running High Jump—won by Howe '05, 2nd, DeWitt, H. C. A., 3rd, Jones, '04. Height 5 ft 5 in.

HORTON ACADEMY.

The public exercises of Horton Collegiate Academy were held on Monday evening in college hall before a large and cultured audience. The faculty occupied seats upon the platform, marching in to the strains of Schubert's military march, played by the Misses Levinis Lewis and Ranice Haines. The principal, H. L. Brittain, welcomed the visitors in a few pleasant words and gave a short resume of the work of the year, attendance, etc. Two essays only were delivered, although each member of the class prepared one.

J. Melbourne Shortliffe, of Freeport, gave a well and thoughtfully prepared essay on "Nova Scotia, Her resources and advantages." The valedictory was delivered by John Geldert, Moncton, and was a touching farewell to teachers and classmates. The music was excellent. The piano solo by Miss Faulstich and a vocal solo, with violin obligato by Miss Evelyn Warren, were much enjoyed.

Rev. Dr. Sawyer then addressed the students, taking as his theme, "The Place of the Academy in our System of Education." After complimenting the management upon the efficient work of the year as shown by the evening's performance, he dwelt at some length in his usual clear and emphatic style upon the importance of thorough secondary education and the important work done by Horton Academy during its 75 years of continuous history. Not only has it been the principal feeder of the College since it was founded in 1828, but it has provided an intellectual equipment for hundreds of young men who are now occupying responsible positions.

The following prizes were awarded by the principal:

SENIOR CLASS.
1st Prize—John Geldert, Moncton.
2nd Prize—J. Melbourne Shortliffe, Freeport.

MIDDLE YEAR.
1st Prize—George E. Gleas, Grenada, British West Indies.
2nd Prize—S. M. Thurber, Freeport.

JUNIOR YEAR.
Prize to Bernard Trotter, Wolfville.
Bookkeeping Prize (fountain pen) awarded to Mable Hines, Acadia.
Short Hand—Medal to Miss Genie Stroppe, Boylston.

During the year, under the efficient directorship of Principal Brittain and his competent staff of instructors, the attendance has been 92. In the matriculating course, 42; business students, 31; manual training, 36; partial students, 31; prepared for college, 14.

ACADIA SEMINARY.

The year just closed, under the wise and efficient management of Principal DeWolfe and his competent instructors, has been the most successful in the history of Acadia Seminary. About 192 students have been enrolled, 100 young ladies have resided in the building. There are 16 members in the graduating class, 7 in the collegiate course. Four receive diplomas and one a certificate in piano-forte. Two receive certificates in voice, one in elocution, and one in domestic science.

The graduating exercises of this school took place on Tuesday evening in assembly hall, which was crowded to the doors, as this most popular affair of commencement week always attracts throngs of visitors.

The hall was artistically decorated with potted plants and class colors, cream and crimson, and as the sweet strains of Meyerdeer's Processional March, played by Misses Laura Rainforth and Helen Fowler, sounded out, there entered the hall a long procession of white-robed maidens, keeping step to the measure, followed by principal and faculty, who took their places on the platform. It was a very attractive sight, a vision of loveliness. After a vocal solo by Miss Heales, Miss Nora Ferguson, Charlottetown, delivered her essay, "England fifty years ago," in a clear and graceful style. She gave a vivid picture of olden time and showed the great advance made in the last half century.

Miss Sarah Elliott, of Clarence, gave in her essay on "Home Decoration" many practical suggestions, and evinced a thoroughly artistic nature, combined with training and observation. Miss Clara Daniels, Laurencetown, gave a very instructive essay on "Gothic Architecture" which prevailed in western Europe. The name was first used as a term of reproach, but now ranks as one of the highest styles of architecture. "The Clown in Shakespeare" was admirably treated by Miss Ethel Fitch, Clarence. Jesters are an old institution and were formerly kept in the household of kings and high officials to furnish amusement. These essays were of great literary merit and effectively delivered, and reflected much credit upon the writers.

The piano solo by Miss Lillian Strong, Wolfville, and the piano solo by Miss Edith Sparden, Fredericton, showed careful training and a thorough understanding of the expressed thoughts in music of the great masters, Joseph and Hoffman. The vocal solo by Miss Francis Burditt, Middleton, was exquisitely rendered and much appreciated by the audience.

Rev. Lewis J. Morse, pastor of the Wolfville Baptist church, gave the address to the outgoing class. After congratulating the school on its successful year, he spoke on the high vocation of women and their duty to the world as they went forth mentally equipped for great and noble work. His remarks were full of timely suggestions and lofty ideals, based on his spiritual ideals and convictions.

Beautiful bouquets of roses were presented to the fair graduates and added much to the festive nature of occasion.

The following prizes were awarded:

G. P. FAZANT PRIZES.

SEMINARY'S SENIOR CLASS DAY.
An interesting feature of the closing exercises is senior class day at Acadia Seminary, which was held in Alumni hall, admission was by invitation.

The hall, festooned with bunting, of class colors, was filled to its utmost capacity, and at three o'clock the graduating class, 16 fair maidens, wearing bunches of roses, the class flower, made their appearance, the president, Miss Florence Hickman, presiding with grace and dignity. In welcoming the guests, she referred to the approaching close of their school life, and paid a tribute of respect to the teachers of the school.

The following young ladies responded to the roll call, read by the secretary: Miss Helen Skene, Middleton, Frances Burditt, Middleton, Annie Clark, Moncton, Clara Daniels, Laurencetown, Sarah Elliott, Clarence, Harriet Faulkner, Hantsport, Ethel Fitch, Clarence, Nora Ferguson, Charlottetown, Gertrude Heales, Wolfville, Florence Hickson, Newcastle, N. B. Nita Shaw, Avonport, Pauline Price, Parrashore, Helen Skene, Penfield, N. B. Edith Sparden, Fredericton, N. B. Lillian Strong, Wolfville, Hazel Wortman, Wolfville.

As each young lady answered to her name a classmate rose and gave an apt quotation revealing some peculiarity of disposition, which caused much merriment.

After a piano solo, beautifully rendered by Miss Wortman, Miss Ethel Fitch gave the class history in which she took the audience, step by step, through the career of the close of '04, until she brought them triumphantly to Graduation Day. She successfully proved that even seminary girls in their non-like existence, experience a good many excitements and escapes from the grasp of justice. This address abounded in flashes of humor which delighted the audience. Miss Frances Burditt, always a favorite in recitation, gave with good effect "As the Moon Rose."

Leaving the past, the class prophecy took the audience ten years into the future. The fair prophet, Miss Helen Skene, visited all her classmates and disclosed to her expectant hearers many amusing situations, and many allusions engaged in by her former schoolmates. This paper abounded in witty allusions and judging from the frequent applause, was most thoroughly enjoyed. Miss Gertrude Heales gave with brilliant effect, an exquisite vocal solo, which was listened to with rapt attention. Miss Florence Hickson sobered the audience in her valedictory, by reference to the parting of school friends and classmates so near at hand, and in well chosen words and beauty of expression, thanked the principal and teachers for the interest and care always displayed on their behalf, and wished her classmates every success in the life's journey.

The president then gave her annual address on "Women's Work." This excellent paper was sensible, practical, and teamed with timely suggestions to the educated woman as she left the seminary to go out as one of the laborers in the great vineyard of the world.

An original feature of the programme found on the idiosyncrasies of the different members of the class, was a presentation of gifts, each one receiving a very tangible bit on some prominent peculiarity. Some of the gifts were: a package of breakfast food, a bottle of pickles, a bottle of Worcester sauce, a base ball bat, a fog horn, a trumpet, etc.

At the close of this most festive occasion, Miss Beatrice Oulton, of Boston, and Miss Mabel McDonald, Pettitcodiac, came to the platform and in behalf of the junior class, presented each young lady with a beautiful silver locket, engraved with monogram and Acadia Seminary. The graduates all joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne." The class motto is "Ad Astra per Aspera"

The weather continued fine on Wednesday when the commencement exercises of Acadia College took place. Assembly hall was packed to the doors long before the time to witness the graduation of the class of 1904. Flags were flying and the town was in a lull. The long procession of governors, senate, faculty and the members of the graduating class in cap and gown, is always an impressive sight as it files into the hall to the music of the processional march.

Dr. Trotter with the faculty, occupied the platform. The governors, alumni and senate on the side platform, the members of the seminary in the west gallery, the friends of the faculty in the east gallery, and the friends of the graduates in the south gallery.

The following members of the class were chosen to deliver essays: The first speaker was Francis Wayland Pattison, son of the late Dr. Pattison, of Rochester, New York. His subject, "University Settlements," was a most timely and interesting one, and his treatment of it shows a thorough knowledge and careful study of the subject. His delivery was excellent, and through his attractive personality, made a marked impression upon his hearers.

As the next speaker, John Walter Jones, Pownal, P. E. I., is celebrated in athletics, he knew what he was discussing when he delivered his essay "The Significance of Play in Education." He made many strong points in favor of athletics combined with literary work.

The next speaker, Leonard H. Campbell, Moncton, spoke on "Manual Education." He said the home, school and church were the three moral forces to develop the child, the youth and the man.

Miss Hsie McNeil, of Charlottetown, spoke on "Word Pictures," which she said were more potent than either painting or music. Painting combines color and forms; music, melody and harmony; while language embraces all these more vividly.

"The Sphinx's Riddle," by Roy Elliott Bates, of Amherst, attracted much attention by the unusual character of its diction—being written in blank verse and full of philosophical thought. This riddle he compared to life with its unknown mysteries and possibilities.

Dr. Trotter spoke on the highly successful year which was just closing and of the increased comfort and efficiency which has marked the work of the year, through the expenditure of $1,500 last summer by the board, upon the improvement of the buildings and appliances. He spoke at length upon the second forward movement with confidence and enthusiasm. He reported that $53,000 were already pledged, and that by the meeting of the Baptist convention in August, he hoped to be able to report $65,000. After the convention the way would be open to appeal to the churches, in a general canvass, but the balance would, without doubt, be made up, and the $100,000 be completed. One dollar for every dollar received, Mr. Rockefeller will add another dollar. Dr. Trotter outlined very important readjustments and enlargements to the curriculum. A course leading to the degree of bachelor of science is to be established, also an abbreviated science course. This policy has received the endorsement of the corporation of McGill university and definite recognition of the science work of Acadia by the faculty of applied science at McGill.

The Hon. Henry R. Emmerson, whose son is a member of the graduating class, in a few appropriate words thanked the university for the degree conferred upon him. Mr. Emmerson offered a prize of $25 for the best essay next year on the transportation problem.

Hon. J. W. Longley gave one of his characteristic speeches, full of humorous reminiscences of college days at Wolfville 33 years ago.

Class day at Acadia is one of the most enjoyable and best patronized of all the exercises of commencement week! The hall was crowded on Tuesday morning by those who came to hear and enjoy a hearty laugh, at the humorous and witty matter that has made this affair so popular in the past. The hall was decorated with bunting, light blue and russet, class colors. Outside in the sunshine gaily waved the class flag of blue and russet from the tall flag-staff and all nature was full of joy and gladness. The class motto, "Age Quod Agis," seemed expressed in the excellent programme. J. Howard Cunningham, Antigonish, class president, presided with dignity. He welcomed the visitors and spoke of the parting soon to come. Miss Rosamond Archibald, secretary, called the roll. The class numbers 22, of whom five are young ladies. Thirteen have dropped out since 1900 and as many added. The absent ones were responded for by the other members and were the recipients of humorous jokes at their expense. The class history by Roy Elliott Bates, of Amherst, was a masterpiece and won the admiration of his classmates and audience by the splendid diction and humorous recital of the joys and sorrows during which they had been together by bonds of friendship and mutual sympathy and occupation. The class prophecy, by Carol Charlton, of Middleton, revealed unexpected situations and laughable allusions, which caused much amusement to those who understood the sly bits and humorous side of the fortune teller.

In his valedictory, Gordon H. Baker addressed his classmates and audience by referring to the parting soon to come and the breaking up of the merry circle so long bound together by chords of love and friendship. The music by the class trio was enjoyed by all.

HEALTH FOR GIRLS.
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Make Strong Healthy, Rosy Cheeked Lasses.

"I was attacked with appendicitis," says Miss Fabiola Grammont, daughter of Mr. Charles Grammont, a prosperous farmer of Champlain, Que., "and while the doctor who attended me cured me of this trouble, it left behind almost impossible to recover. I grew weak and very pale; my appetite was poor; I suffered at times from severe headaches; and the least exertion left me completely worn out. I tried several remedies, but instead of getting better I was gradually growing worse. Any work about the house left me weak and dispirited, and I felt almost like giving up. At this time a friend who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with much benefit, strongly urged me to give them a trial. I got a box, and, as I did not feel any better when I had used them, I would have given them up but for the fact that my friend urged that one box was not a fair trial. I then decided to continue the use of the pills, and by the time I had taken three boxes I found my condition improving. I used eight boxes in all, and by the time I had taken them all my old time health had returned. My appetite had improved, I had gained in weight and the glow of health had returned to my face. I cannot too strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pills to all pale and weak girls."

Good blood is an absolute necessity, and the only way to have a constant supply of rich, red, health-giving blood is to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose helps to make new blood and helps to drive from the system such troubles as anaemia, languidness, neuralgia, dyspepsia, rheumatism, etc. You can get these pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail for 25 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 by writing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Knowledge always counts, but in the tea-tasting contest more than it does at the tea-taster's table, where the teas are bought and the formulas made up. It is because of this knowledge of the 'VIM TPA' experts, that Vim Tea is the Tea it is, a leader among the many.

A base-ball game was played on the campus on Wednesday afternoon, between the Phoenix, of Halifax, and the college team, resulting in a victory for the latter by a score of 30-0. The game was witnessed by a large number of spectators, but was not a very interesting one.

Mr. Hugh Fowler recently made a very successful fishing trip to the western end of the county. He reports good sport and brought home a fine lot of the 'speckled beauties.' The editor was among the friends of Mr. F. who enjoyed the fruits of the expedition, and begs to return thanks.

With the last issue of our bright contemporary, the Bridgetown Monitor, Mr. J. L. DeVany severs his connection as editor and manager. Mr. DeVany is a good journalist, and under his management the Monitor has continued to be one of our most valued exchanges. We understand that he has accepted a position on the Suburban, of Rockingham.

A blaze in the roof of the Royal Hotel occasioned an alarm of fire on Tuesday afternoon. The firemen quickly responded and soon had all safe. The fire was in the roof and was caused by sparks from the chimney. It was fortunately discovered in time to prevent what might have been a most disastrous conflagration, as all the conditions were right for a fire.

The property of Mrs. James Mitchell, at the west end, has been purchased during the past week by Mr. Jardine, recently of Trinidad. We understand that it is the intention of the purchaser, who is a man of large means, to acquire more land and go into orcharding on a large scale. The many friends whom Mrs. Mitchell has made during her residence in Wolfville will deeply regret her departure from our town.

The campus was gay on Tuesday afternoon with visitors and students to witness the tennis contest between Roy Bates and Avery DeWitt of the senior class, champions, having stood first in the finals last year. Theodore H. Boggs and Robie Tafts opposed them. The playing was good and the game well contested with much vigor and skill, and the excitement ran high; but Boggs and Tafts succeeded in carrying off the championship.

An Aggravating Cough Cured. A customer of ours who had been suffering from a severe cough for six months bought two bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy from us and was entirely cured by one and a half bottles of it. It gives perfect satisfaction with our trade.

Dr. and Mrs. Trotter were at home on Monday afternoon to the seniors and visiting friends, the faculty, seminary teachers, old graduates and a number of others, who availed themselves of the opportunity of meeting President and Mrs. Trotter in their hospitable home. Dainty refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour enjoyed in renewing old acquaintances and making new ones. Dr. and Mrs. Goodspeed were the guests of Dr. Trotter during the closing exercises, and their presence added much to the pleasure of the occasion.

Indications now point to a good fruit crop. The bloom has already reached a stage that ensures a high average of young fruit, which in most cases has already set. This has escaped any blight from frost or other climatic conditions and old farmers say that they do not remember a season when all the conditions were so favorable for a large yield of fruit. It is, of course, too early in the season to consider this by any means assured, but the tendency of the present time is to rejoice in the apparent promising conditions and trust the future for the rest. On the rainfall for the next month hangs the fate of the seasons crops, whether of orchard or field.

June Canadian Magazine.

A beautiful coloured frontispiece, entitled 'Sunset on the Bay of Fundy,' is a feature of the June 'Canadian Magazine.' The opening article is entitled 'The Building of a Railway,' by Hopkins J. Moorhouse, with some interesting photographs illustrating the newest methods in railway building, besides a full-page reproduction of the historic driving of the golden spike on the Canadian Pacific Railway in November, 1885. Equally conspicuous are two interesting articles on Toronto's Great Fire, illustrated with numerous drawings and photographs. These articles make this number one to be carefully preserved as containing the most complete record of an event which will always be prominent in Canadian history. 'The Antagonists of 1904' is described and illustrated by T. A. Russell, who clearly indicates the improvements which are being so rapidly made in this kind of locomotion. The editor describes the origin of the present struggle between Russia and Japan, reviewing briefly the events of the past fifty years. Haldane MacFall gives a graphic sketch of Thomas Hardy, the famous British novelist. The short stories are by Guy de Maupassant, W. A. Fraser, Marguerite Evans, and Edward F. Strasser. Walter S. Johnson pictures the pleasures of travelling 'By Canoe,' and Stanbury R. Tarr tells some curious stories under the title 'Amusement in Statistics.' Miss Helliwell, in her department, dilates on the beauty of Canadian scenery and the general indifference of Canadians to it. John A. Cooper, in 'People and Affairs' writes of Party, Fidelity, Prohibition, Woman and Universities, Mormonism and Immigration. The other features of the magazine are quite equal to the best that this publication gives each month.

Sunday, June 5: First Sunday after Trinity. In the Epistle for the day comes the message and the revelation, 'God Is Love.' In the Gospel Jesus draws the picture of Dives in the tortments of Hades. The Sermon for Sunday morning will trace the connection between the Epistle and Gospel for the day; and will try and interpret the Parable of Dives and Lazarus in the light of the Larger Hope.

Nothing Like Experience.

'One truth learned by actual experience does more good than ten experiences one hears about.' Tell a man that Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy will cure his cough, and he will most likely forget it before the end of the day. Let him have a severe attack of that disease, feel that he is about to die, use this remedy, and learn from his own experience how quickly it gives relief, and he will remember it all his life. Accident at South Waterville.

A serious accident occurred at Henry Loyd's mill, last Saturday morning. Douglas Loyd, a son, was up on a staging wheeling a wheelbarrow filled with long pieces for staves on a narrow plank. He went sideways and fell a distance of 25 feet into a pit which was used for throwing rubbish into. Dr. Middlemas was summoned, and when he arrived he pronounced him to be ruptured in his side and chest and there were internal hemorrhages. It was a very serious case, and the doctor was afraid of congestion of the lungs. Douglas never lost consciousness and it was a remarkable circumstance that there were no bones broken.
