Letters from the Front

Another Very Interesting Letter from Ollie Horning

55th Battery, C. F. A.
France, May 21, 1918.

Friends:—
For the past two weeks we have been out of the line on rest in a small town in the midst of a good farming district about six hours' march from the front line. Have our horse lines in an apple orchard, which were in full bloom when we arrived, but have fallen now. Am sitting under an old English cherry tree writing this, which is loaded with half grown cherries.

The inhabitants here are of a better class than we have been used to seeing in the forward areas, but they certainly treat us fine, far better than the English ever did. Of course there is only women and old men and kids left. The towns is all farm houses, as the farmers all live in villages in at least all of France that we have seen, and work the land for miles around. Have no fences except in the towns.

The women, of course, do nearly all the work in the fields, and I guess did the most of it even when there were plenty of men about. It is certainly great to hear the crows and chickens in the mornings once again, and better still to get some milk and eggs to eat once again. They all milk their cows three times per day here, and we have a great time helping the Madam-elles milk the cows, as we are billeted in the different barns. But have been sleeping out under the trees for the past week, as it has been quite warm. There is a small lake near the town and we go out for a swim every night.

All the Canadians have been out of the line, really training for open fighting and storming troops. We are at it from five in the morning till four in the afternoon, taking our dinners with us, so that the work has been harder than we often get in the line.

Cecil Cummings was down to see me last week. He is with the 4th Pioneers as batman to a Major.

Edgar Richards and Harold are at present in towns about six miles from here, but have not had a chance to see them.

We are going back in the line tonight or to-morrow. Have to be all packed ready to move by nine to-night, so I guess our rest is over for a time.

Have not heard from Harry for over a month now. Got a letter from Moll yesterday, and she has moved her abode in London, taking our kits with her.

Have been playing ball nearly every night with other batteries of the brigade. Have split about even in hard ball, but trimmed them all at indoor.

Well, Mary, this is about all to write about, so will ring off for now. Give my best regards to all and write when you can.

As ever, your brother,
OLLIE.

May 27, 1918.

Well, Mary, have not had a chance to post this, so will add a few lines. We have been in the line for four days now. Were two days on the road. We have a very good position, in a deep cutting, not far from — We are supporting Scotch troops, the very best in the Imperial army.

I am down at the wagon lines for a change. Expect to be down for a couple of weeks unless some of the boys go west. It is a pretty good life at the wagon lines in the summer time. Get three half holidays per week, provided the horses, harness and wagons are kept in good shape.

Had rather a hard march up here, as it was so warm and dusty the first day, but it rained all the second day and we landed here pretty well all in.

Had a game of ball with the 4th Battalion this afternoon. Score 5-3 in their favor.

Well, will try and get this away this trip. Do not expect much doing unless the Germans start it, for some time yet. Of course, the guns on both sides keep pounding away, and the aeroplanes are making good use of the moonlight nights. Have two large navel guns right beside our horse lines which keep pounding away all night.

With these few remarks will say good-night.

OLLIE.

Farmers Trip

Twenty-five cars, carrying more than one hundred farmers from every township in the county, gathered at Rockton at 9.30 Wednesday morning. The interest shown throughout and the large numbers who took advantage of this outing were most gratifying to the committee which had charge of the arrangements. The party arrived at John Brown's, Preston, where the Wentworth farmers were welcomed by A. R. G. Smith, president of the Waterloo Board of Agriculture. Mr. Smith and a large delegation of Waterloo farmers accompanied the party throughout the county. This act of courtesy was appreciated by the Wentworth farmers.

After lunch in Kitchener all the cars proceeded to the court house, where the delegation from Wentworth was formally welcomed to the county by the warden.

E. Lee responded on behalf of the party and expressed his pleasure at the welcome extended the delegation. He extended the County Council and the farmers of Waterloo county an invitation to visit Wentworth county, assuring them that a royal welcome will attend their visit.

At the farm of Mr. Brown the prime baby beeves were seen. Mr. Brown explained how these calves were fitted for the early market, so as not only to get the very best prices, but also how to turn over the greatest amount of stock.

On the farm of George Tilt two cars of uniform cattle, one black and the other red, were seen grazing of the flats near the River Speed. These cattle are fatted on the grass and sold as prime steers for the home or export trade.

The magnificent herd of John Robson, of Ayr, consisting of 132 prime steers, was a picture, as these animals grazed over the hills of a modern eastern ranch.

The pure-bred Shorthorn herd of James Douglas was much admired by everyone.

The Holstein herd of J. H. Hallman, of Breslau, president of the Waterloo Holstein Breeders' Association; Mr. Pullman's and George Schelles, of Woodstock; the Oak Park farm at Paris, and George Richardson's, of Caledonia, were examined. These herds contained many good individuals.

Special mention should be made of the herd at Oak Park farm, which was in excellent condition. The Jersey herd of Mr. Baird, of New Hamburg, was a sight which will be remembered by everyone. Mr. Baird is producing No. 1 butter for the best markets.

A gentleman living in the village reports the loss of several of his valuable chickens, and naturally suspicion fell on his pet angora cat. Unfortunately this four-legged quadruped was not well balanced, not having a tail. He at once decided to end the animal's existence, and adopted the following novel way of accomplishing his purpose: He tied it to a tree by the hind-quarters and shot it to death. The matter will be reported to the Royal Humane Society.

C. S. BURNS,
Secretary of Committee.

Physician. III.—For four years I suffered from irregularity, weakness, and nervousness. I tried many remedies, but they did not help me. I then read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I decided to try them. I had not long taken them before I began to feel better. My irregularity disappeared, my weakness and nervousness were cured, and I was able to do my usual work again. I am now in perfect health and feel that I owe my recovery to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

TANKS IN RAID ON FOE LINES FOR THE FIRST

Successful Operation by the British Near Bucquoy Sunday.

REVERSE FOR FOE

When He Attempted to Take British Positions.

With the British Army in France, Cable — An enemy attempt to capture some British positions on the high ground east of Strazeele this morning was met with a complete reverse. The attack was a local one, and was preceded by a heavy bombardment. The enemy was repulsed and was maintained with great difficulty for a considerable time.

At the conclusion of the artillery preparation, the German infantry along a narrow sector surged forward for the assault, but as they pushed up the incline which led from their own trenches to the more elevated British positions they encountered such a tornado of machine gun and rifle fire that, after struggling ahead a little they were forced to retire.

During the night the British conducted a raid near Bucquoy with tanks, which had never been used for raiding purposes before. The big engines went over the top shortly before midnight, followed by infantry.

The riflemen met with strong opposition and were held up by a heavy machine-gun fire, but the tanks proceeded on their business and for two hours trundled about the enemy territory, leaving the mark of their guns wherever they went. What casualties were inflicted on the enemy are not certain, but the tanks did good execution and prisoners were brought back.

Two successful raids also were made into German positions near Morlan-court during the night, although this is not uncommon, for the Australians, who are in this sector, are always baiting the Boche.

On the Belgian sector, King Albert's troops carried out a raid northwest of St. Julian that resulted in a hot fight at a strong concrete blockhouse. The Belgians stormed this position and cleared it out, capturing eight Germans, who appeared to be all the men left alive in the fort.

The usual harassing fire was continued by the enemy in Flanders yesterday.

ITALIAN FORCE MAKES GOOD.

Very considerable German forces last night attacked the Entente allied positions at Bligny, eight miles north of Rheims, and succeeded temporarily in gaining a footing in the allied trenches. A vigorous counter-attack, instituted by Italian troops, however, quickly ejected the enemy and re-established the line in its entirety.

The enemy also attempted raiding operations in the vicinity of Belloy, south-west of Montdidier.

They were repulsed, says the War Office report. Similar operations undertaken by the enemy in upper Alsace were equally unsuccessful.

Raids by British troops in the region east of Amiens and in sectors of the Flanders front are reported by the War Office to-day. Prisoners were taken and casualties inflicted upon the enemy.

BRITISH REPORT.

London Cable — Sunday morning's War Office report said:

"Yesterday evening a strong local attack delivered after a heavy bombardment upon our positions west of Merris was completely repulsed.

"A number of prisoners were captured by us during the night in successful raids in the neighborhood of Morlan-court and at Bucquoy.

"Hostile activity was active last night in the neighborhood of Aveluy Wood."

Sunday night's report read: "There is nothing of special interest to report."

FRENCH REPORT.

Paris Cable — The War Office announcement to-night says:

"The day was calm along the whole front."

The Sunday morning report read: "French troops last night executed a number of raids between Montdidier and the Oise, returning with a number of prisoners."

"Between the Marne and Rheims the Germans attacked Mount Eligny, where they succeeded in obtaining a footing for a moment. Italian troops by a vigorous counter-attack ejected the enemy and secured a number of prisoners. Our line was completely reestablished.

"The night was calm on the rest of the front."

It needs no testimonial other than the use, and that will satisfy anyone as to its effectiveness.

CANADIANS DECORATED

For Gallantry and Dash in Battle.

V. C. to Lt.-Col. Pearkes by King.

London Cable — Lt. Col. George Pearkes, Mounted Rifles, was invested with the Victoria Cross in an open air investiture at Buckingham Palace. The cross was won at Passchendaele. Pearkes when wounded in the thigh, continued to lead his men and maintained his objective against repeated counter-attacks although both flanks were exposed.

The following were gazetted as obtaining the bar to the Distinguished Service Order:

Lt.-Col. Donald John MacDonal, cavalry, led a reserve squadron of his regiment to attack, continuing to direct operations though suffering acute pain from a wound in the ankle, it led his men till the position was finally secured, which could not have been held for his outstanding courage, skill and dash. Macdonald also holds the Military Cross.

D. S. O. GAZETTED.

Major Maurice Burbank, railway troops, completed two bridges in ten hours, under heavy shelling and bombing and superintended the withdrawal of a large quantity of railway material across the river, showing magnificent skill and dash in a most difficult situation.

Major Leslie Moyer, railways, showed great skill and judgment in handling his company amid intense fire, and kept the lines open till ordered to withdraw. He then brought back all the railway stock and stores.

Lt.-Col. Herbert Irving Stevenson, cavalry, led a charge with great skill, when our line was temporarily pierced, driving the enemy back and establishing a new line though heavily outnumbered, thus allowing two infantry battalions in danger of being cut off to be withdrawn.

STRIKING EXHIBIT

Visualizing in a striking manner a large number of the diverse natural resources of Canada, the Canadian Pacific Railway has just opened to the public an exhibit at the Windsor street station. This exhibit, which is situated in a room immediately adjoining the main entrance to the station on Osborne street, has been prepared by the collaboration of the Quebec Government and the C. P. R.

One-half comprises the Quebec exhibit, consisting of samples of the resources of the province—lumber, asbestos and other minerals, grain, maple sugar, fur-bearing animals, such as the ermine, marten, mink, fox and beaver, and fish and game birds.

The C. P. R. exhibit has been gathered from the entire Dominion. A splendid display of grains produced in the fertile fields of Western Canada is a special feature. Supplementing this is a big collection of fruits, forestry products and minerals. A number of colored transparencies show the methods used in developing the forest resources of Canada, from the primary state to the finished product, such as wooden ships. Other transparencies illustrate some of the summer resorts along the company's lines. Complete and recent statistics of all the country's resources add conviction to the display. The exhibit is installed in handsome showcases, brilliantly lit; and it is interesting to know that all the material used in the construction room is Canadian material exclusively.

It is false economy to use cheap, inferior tea, for it yields so poorly in the teapot. Use only the genuine SALADA to secure the maximum number of cups to the pound, and, in addition, you will enjoy the unique flavor.

HAMILTON LEADS AS USUAL

What promises to be a matter of most vital importance to Canada, as outlined by Mr. Thompson, Chairman of the Canada Food Board, has had its origin in Hamilton. This important matter is in connection with edible foods of a high standard that are practically being wasted owing to the lack of education and the matter was brought to the attention of the Food Board by Mr. J. W. Duvall, General Manager of the Local Plant of Armour & Company, who recently came here from the United States where these products are in great demand. There is no question as to the coming popularity of the different items referred to by the Food Board and in view of the statements made by different doctors regarding these articles, there is no doubt whatever but what heretofore appears to have been a willful waste, will now become an economical and healthy food.

This is just another instance of the many facts that have come to the people of this country through the war.

BRITISH SKILL WON THE BATTLE

German Lies On U-Boat Campaign Refuted.

Methods in Use Are Proved Effective.

London Cable — (Reuter dispatch)—interesting narratives from reliable sources completely refute the German assertion regarding the alleged ineffectiveness of depth charges and other British methods of destroying submarines.

One bright moonlight night a British patrol boat noticed a submarine half a mile distant, apparently recharging. The captain immediately ordered full speed in the direction of the U-boat, with the object of ramming her before she was able to submerge. The U-boat succeeded in submerging, but the patrol boat came up and dropped six depth charges and then fired a shell at the centre of the visible disturbance. Large quantities of oil came to the surface and cries for help were heard. Only one survivor was found.

Besides the case of the German submarine cruiser torpedoed by a British submarine near Cape St. Vincent on May 11, other instances have occurred.

A British submarine espied and charged and successfully rammed an enemy submarine. The British boat cut through the enemy's plates and remained imbedded. Both craft endeavored to extricate themselves. The enemy, through using his ballast tanks, almost came to the surface, bringing the British submarine along.

Then the U-boat drew away in great difficulty, apparently frantically endeavoring to keep afloat, but it subsequently sank.

Two cases of successful torpedoing of German submarines are mentioned, one in which the opposing craft were engaged in deadly attempts for half an hour to obtain a favorable position. Superior British navigation won.

It is a Liver Pill—Many of the ailments that man has to contend with have their origin in a disordered liver, which is a delicate organ, peculiarly susceptible to the disturbances that come from irregular habits or lack of care in eating and drinking. This accounts for the great many liver regulators now pressed on the attention of sufferers. Of these there is none superior to Parma's Vegetable Pills. Their operation though gentle, is effective, and the most delicate can use them.

NO PRIZES FOR HEIFERS

Our readers will note by advertisement of the Toronto Fat Stock Show, which appears in this issue, that they have eliminated classes for female cattle.

At a time when beef is so badly needed by all the allied countries, the management decided, although heifer classes have always been well filled, not to offer prizes which would be an inducement to slaughter female cattle, which should be utilized for breeding purposes.

CAFETERIA IN OLD LONDON

Government to Undertake Serving of Food

At Prices Far Below Restaurants.

London Cable — The war has brought the cafeteria idea to London. This plan of serving food to the public at minimum prices is to be undertaken by the Government, and will be known as the Ministry of Food's Model National Kitchen and Restaurant.

The Director of National Kitchens announced recently that he hoped by this new method to be able to supply good, wholesome food at less than one-third the prices charged at the popular tea shops and restaurants in London, and not only pay rent and all establishment charges, but also to clear a profit of 25 per cent.

All food is to be prepared and cooked within plain view of the public, windows separating the kitchen from the dining room proper.

It is also proposed to deliver food at offices in the neighborhood at an additional charge of a few cents. The food kitchen officials say the table napery, cutlery and crockery will compare favorably with that used in the good London restaurants.

The restaurant is to be New Bridge Street, Blackfriars, not far from Fleet Street. If the demand from night workers in the newspaper offices and other shops in the neighborhood justifies such action it is planned to keep the State restaurant open all night.

IRISH APPEAL.

Recruiting Council Warns of World Feeling.

Dublin, June 23.—The Irish Recruiting Council, in issuing its manifesto calling for soldiers, emphasizes the difference between this appeal and a similar effort along the same line. The council points out that this campaign is being conducted by Irishmen among their own people and in their own way.

"This island is only the cradle of our race," the manifesto declares. "The greater Ireland beyond the seas, from Adelaide to Brisbane and San Francisco to New York, is heart and soul behind the Irish in Flanders."

"Our countrymen the world over stand aghast at our invasion and their friendship is growing cold. This is no hour for tricks or bargains. Whatever bitterness must be felt in the record of opportunities lost or promises unkept, we are confident that an answer to our appeal must come from the heart and conscience of a nation that never yet has sold herself to wrong or asked a price for doing right."

Wretched from Asthma. Strength of body and vigor of mind are inevitably impaired by the visitations of asthma. Who can live under the cloud of recurring attacks and keep body and mind at their full efficiency? Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy dissipates the cloud by removing the cause. It does restore the sufferer to normal bodily trim and mental happiness.

ATTACK NEXT ON BRITISH FRONT

Enemy Aerial Activity There a Sure Sign.

All Defence Measures Are Complete.

Paris Cable — The Matin's correspondent at the front, after referring to the renewal of the enemy aerial activity on the British front since the cessation of operations between Soissons and Rheims, says:

"It is certainly against this point that the German push will be directed. All precautions have been taken to counter the German plans. Nothing is more reassuring than the measures of defence which have been carried out on the front, as well as behind the lines."

"The Belgians, Portuguese and British, with the assistance here and there of American engineers, have increased their entrenchments three or four times over and have transformed each sector into an uninterrupted line of citadels."

Mr. and Mrs. John Kitching and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Crooker attended the Masonic services held in St. Luke's church, Burlington, on Sunday last. The Rev. Dean Owen, of Hamilton, preached a very appropriate and eloquent sermon.

At Petewawa Camp on Saturday, L. M. Henry scored a home run for the 70th Battery. Henry's playing all through the game was very brilliant, and when he scored his home run he was congratulated by the colonel amidst the fluttering of hundreds of handkerchiefs by the fair visitors at the camp.

Word was received here on Tuesday last of the death, at Rockwood, of Mr. Robert Fulton, father of Miss Annie Fulton, of the Bell telephone staff here. Deceased had only been ill a little over a week, pneumonia setting in resulting in his death. Miss Fulton and family have the deepest sympathy of all in their bereavement.

Halford Carson of the Customs Department, Ottawa, visited at his home here for a few days.

The Ladies of the Patriotic League will hold a meeting on Friday evening in McGregor's hall, at 8:30, to appoint committees for booths, etc. at the Garden party on July 17th.

Don't forget Carlisle's big day, July 1st. A good time is promised to all comers.

The Millgrove picnic passed safely through our village to Wabassa Park, on Tuesday last, and was largely attended. Our traffic officers were on the job with fire in their eyes, and it would not have been well for anyone who had dared to molest them. We believe a very enjoyable time was spent at the park.

It might be well to remind young men, non-residents of our village, and who contemplate paying a visit to friends here, especially in the evening, that it is not considered safe to park their autos in any of the residential streets, as no traffic officers have as yet been appointed for the residential sections. It would be much better and considerably safer if they locked them. A miserable joke was played on a male visitor on Saturday evening last, some joker starting his car from in front of a residence and depositing it in the yard of one of our most highly esteemed tax payers, much to his disgust. After making personal enquiries and using up his telephone batteries, he at last found the owner of the car. He now swears that he will henceforth keep his gates locked at night so as to prevent further intrusion.

Epworth League Meeting

Miss Doris Bews favored us with an excellent solo.

The topic, "Canada's Political Development," was given by Miss Ruth McGregor in a most interesting way.

The business of the evening was then proceeded with.

Moved by Miss R. McGregor, and seconded by Miss B. Simpson, that the treasurer give Mr. Facey $1.85 for small articles purchased.

Moved by Miss Bessie Souter, and seconded by Miss B. Simpson, that Miss Florence Smith be sent as a delegate to the Summer School held in Milton.

We closed by singing and the mizpah.

Institute Meeting

The 15th Annual Convention of the North Wentworth Women's Institute was held in the Roller Rink, Waterdown, on Wednesday, June 26th at 2:30 p. m. The Executive meeting was held in McGregor's hall at 1:30. Mrs. George, District President, occupied the chair at both meetings. Mrs. C. E. Horning, District Secretary, and Mrs. Watson, Vice President of South Wentworth Women's Institute, were guests.

The address of welcome was read by Mrs. C. W. Drummond and replied to by Mrs. James Gray of Freelon Mrs. Yates, Government Representative, delivered an interesting and instructive address on "The Conservation of Food and Mothers influence in the Home."

An excellent program of vocal and instrumental music was rendered by Mrs. Dr. Hopper, Miss Eager, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. F. Allen of Waterdown, and the Misses M. Inksetter and Clara Mann of West Flamboro.

A cordial invitation was extended by Mrs. R. Flatt of Millgrove to hold the next Annual meeting in that village.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

About 400 delegates were present and the largest and most successful meeting ever held here was brought to a close by all singing the National Anthem.

The North Wentworth Farmers Institute held their annual meeting here yesterday. About 100 delegates were in attendance. A full report of the meeting will be given in next weeks' Review.

Registration Card Holders with leatherette backs and celluloid front can be had at Cummin's Drug store.

Educated boys and girls were never in such demand. From every sphere of life comes the call for better equipment of the young for the duties of life. Whether these duties lead into the agricultural, commercial, industrial or professional walks of life or into service for King and Country a liberal education is the first essential that they may be well and faithfully performed. The Waterdown High School has done noble service in the community for the past seventy-five years. Her students have always met with a fair measure of success. She has a creditable honor roll, sixty or more of her sons stand for right and freedom in the blood stained trenches of France and Flanders. That service must continue. Every boy and girl who has passed the entrance should enrolle next September. The attendance is growing because the need of education is felt. Attendance during 1916-17 school year, 50; attendance during 1917-18 school year, 75; attendance during 1918-19 school year—make it 100.

Owing to the ever increasing price of paper only a limited number of extra copies of the Review will be available. Extra copies after July 1st, 3 cents per copy.

Different.

Father—What was that racket last night when you came home?
Son—My coat fell down the stairs.
Father—A coat wouldn't make all that noise.
Son—Well, I was in the coat.

Absent Minded.

Grocer—That long-haired man who just went out must be a music crank.
Customer—Why do you think so?
Grocer—He insisted that I only give him four beets in the measure.

His Choice.

"So you threw up your position because it was hard. Don't you know that no position is easy?"
"Yes, father; that's why I prefer no position."

Direct.

Jack—I cannot love my neighbor as myself.
Bess—But you can surely respect him a lot more if he's half way decent.

BUSINESS.

"Harper says that every husband should wash the dishes for his wife."
"And who is Harper?"
"He is in the china business."

The Test Kiss.

At first she kissed him just for love
As deep as a man may think,
But now she kisses him at eye
To see if he's had a drink.

Pleasing Hubby.

Butcher—What cut, madam?
She—One from the lower part of the animal, please. Hubby says most of your cuts are too high.—Judge.

GOOD REASON, TOO!

It happened at a Red Cross tea held at a country club. The fussy old gentleman of the white vest tapped the tweed-clad youngster on the shoulder.
"My boy," he said, "why are you not in the army?"

The boy smiled. "To be frank with you, sir," he said, "I don't like it. There's all this business of sleeping in the mud, and uncooked food, and rain all the time—dashed uncomfortable, you know."

"Uncomfortable!" The white vest-front heaved indignantly. "Are you not of age, in good health or physically fit?"

"Yes—sound as a drum. Just twenty-two, no dependents." The young man was still cheerful. The inevitable group gathered about them.

"Disgusting! Have you no patriotism—no love of country? What is your reason for not being in the army? Confess, coward!"

"I can't be," said the cheerful youth. "I'm in the navy. Eighteen hours' leave and special permission to wear 'civies.'"

Cares for it.

"And do you care for the theater, Mrs. Murphy?"
"Sure, I do not. My husband does that."
"Does what?"
"Cares for the theater! He's the janitor!"

RIGHT IN IT.

"Virginia is consistent in everything, isn't she?"
"What now?"
"Why, her new mermaid gown is to be made of watered silk."

Lesson XIII, June 30, 1918.

Jesus Christ Our Redeemer and Lord—Review—John 10, 1-18.

Summary.—Lesson I. Topic: Christian Liberty. Places: Borders of Tyre and Sidon; Decapolis. The scribes and Pharisees found fault with Jesus and His disciples for eating without first washing their hands. Jesus taught that moral defilement was from within and not from without. Jesus with His disciples went into the borders of Tyre and Sidon and He cast out the evil spirit from a young girl at the earnest request of her mother.

II. Topic: Conditions of discipleship. Places: Decapolis; Dalmatia; Bethsaida-Julias; Caesarea Philippi. In Decapolis Jesus miraculously fed a multitude of four thousand with seven loaves and a few small fishes. Jesus and His disciples went across the lake to Dalmatia, then across to Bethsaida-Julias, where He cured a blind man.

III. Topic: Vision and service. Place: A mountain near Caesarea Philippi. Jesus with Peter, James and John went up on a mountain and was transfigured before them. Moses and Elijah appeared and talked with Jesus. Peter expressed a desire to remain there. A voice came from the cloud saying of Jesus, "This is My beloved Son; hear Him."

IV. Topic—Failure of selfishness. Places: Capernaum and other parts of Galilee. Jesus again foretold His death. The disciples talked among themselves as to who should be the greatest in the new kingdom. Jesus showed them that the way to greatness was the way of service. John reported that the disciples saw one casting out devils in the name of Jesus and he was not one of the twelve, and they forbade him.

V. Topic—The cost and the rewards of Christian service. Place: Perea, the region east of the Jordan. Jesus gave instructions regarding the sacredness of marriage. He rebuked His disciples for trying to keep the children away from Him. He showed the rich young ruler how he might obtain eternal life, and showed also how difficult it was for the rich to enter the kingdom.

VI. Topic—Jesus foretells His death. Places: Perea; Jericho. Jesus again told His disciples of His approaching death and sufferings. James and John desired to have the chief places in Christ's kingdom and the other disciples were displeased. Jesus pointed the way to true greatness. At Jericho Jesus healed Bartimaeus of his blindness.

VII. Topic—Christ the Lord of our lives. Places: Bethany; Mount of Olives; Jerusalem. On the Sunday before His crucifixion Jesus rode in triumph into Jerusalem amid the hosannas of the people. The next day He returned to Jerusalem, cursing the barren fig tree on the way. He cleansed the temple. The next day the fig tree was withered.

VIII. Topic: Religion and citizenship. Place: Jerusalem in the temple. In the parable of the vineyard Jesus foretold the treatment he was about to receive at the hands of the Jews. He silenced the Herodians, the Pharisees, the Sadducees and the scribes who opposed him. He commended the widow, who cast all she had into the treasury of the Lord.

How to Make Sugar-Beet Syrup

Used For All Purposes Like Other Syrups and Molasses

We have had a number of letters from correspondents asking us how to make beet syrup. The first step in making beet syrup consists in topping and cleaning the roots. As already stated, the crowns should be cut off at the point of the lowest leaf scar. The reason for this is that the crown or upper part of the beet contains a large part of the salts taken from the soil in the process of growth. It is desirable to have the syrup as free as possible from these mineral salts which, if present in too large quantities, will render the syrup unpalatable.

In cleaning the roots, they may be placed in a tub or other suitable receptacle and covered with cool water, to loosen the dirt and to make the roots more crisp. After soaking for a few minutes, until the dirt is loosened, they should be thoroughly scrubbed. A coarse brush with stiff bristles or wire is useful in this work. After the roots are thoroughly washed they should be cut into thin slices. A 3-bladed kraut cutter, securely fastened on top of a barrel, has been used and found very satisfactory. The upper head of the barrel should be removed, so that the beet slices will fall directly into the barrel. If a kraut cutter is not at hand, any slicing device, the simplest of which is a butcher knife, will be satisfactory. The slices should be very thin. The thinner the slices the more rapidly the sugar is extracted. In some experiments slices only one-sixteenth of an inch in thickness were obtained. The slicing box of the slicer was not used, the beet being held in the hand and pressed against the blades of the slicer.

A bushel of beets will make approximately two bushels of slices, which should be placed in a barrel and covered at once with hot water. About 10 gallons of water will be required to cover them. An excess of water should be avoided, since it would increase the amount of evaporation required to reduce the solution to the required consistency. If boiling water is used, the temperature of the slices will reduce the temperature of the water to about the proper degree, that is, 166 to 175 degrees F., for the extraction of the sugar. The barrel should be covered with several thicknesses of canvas to hold the heat. The soaked beets should be permitted to soak for about 60 minutes, and the barrel should be agitated from time to time without uncovering it.

The water should now be drawn off and strained through several thicknesses of cheesecloth. No pressing is required to remove the juice from the beets. If the barrel is provided with a faucet near the bottom for the purpose of drawing off the liquid, it will be found convenient. The soaking does not remove all the sugar from the beet slices, but by far the larger part of it is extracted if the slices are sufficiently thin and the water is of the right temperature. The resulting liquid is of a light brown color, with a sweetish-bitter taste. The refuse beet slices are a valuable feed for chickens, hogs and other live stock.

The juice may be placed in a kettle or other convenient receptacle, where it should be heated slowly until it has evaporated to the proper consistency. It should be noted that evaporation depends upon the temperature, the surface of the liquid exposed, and the condition of the air above the liquid. Slow boiling is important in making beet syrup, and several hours will be required to complete the evaporating process. This may be done on the kitchen stove, or a kettle may be suspended in the open, and fire should be maintained sufficiently hot to keep the liquid boiling until the proper amount of evaporation has taken place to produce the desired consistency of syrup. Some people like a thin syrup, while others prefer a thick product. In boiling the juice, care should be taken to avoid burning. A little experience will enable one to accomplish the boiling without scorching the syrup.

While the boiling is progressing, a scum will rise on the surface of the liquid; this should be removed carefully by means of a skimmer. An old-fashioned milk skimmer, or a basin with or without small holes in the bottom, will accomplish the desired result. The skimmer should, for convenience, be provided with a suitable handle. A small straight or curved stick of proper length, split at one end and slipped over the edge of the skimmer, will serve the purpose. The object in skimming is to remove the scum as completely as possible without wasting any of the liquid. The operation removes the strong, beet-like flavor and leaves a wholesome and palatable product. The removal of the scum tends also to keep the liquid from boiling over. As soon as the syrup has reached the desired consistency and has been skimmed carefully it may be placed in cans or bottles for future use. It should be canned or bottled while hot and tightly sealed or corked to prevent moulding.

The syrup produced from beets is dark in color. This would be objectionable if the product were placed on the market, but for home use it probably would not be regarded as serious, in view of the simplicity of the process and the quality of the product. Any method of bleaching or otherwise removing the dark color would require considerable skill and some outlay of money. The flavor of the syrup is pleasant. It contains the pure juice of the beet root and is a wholesome and nutritious food, which to a certain degree should be helpful in reducing the sugar bill.

Beet syrup may be used for all purposes for which other syrups or molasses would be employed, especially for table use, for example, on buckwheat cakes, in making dark-colored cake or in preparing certain kinds of home-made candy. If the evaporation is carried far enough and the syrup is allowed to stand, a dark sugar will settle out. This sugar will be found very satisfactory for home use in cases where refined sugar is not necessary, such as in making pies or dark colored cake.

—Canadian Countryman.

CURING SKIN TROUBLES

These Are Always Due to Bad Blood Which Must Be Enriched and Purified.

So many people, both men and women suffer from skin troubles, such as eczema, blotches, pimples and irritations that a word of advice is necessary. It is a great mistake for those suffering from troubles of this kind to smear themselves with greasy ointments. Often they could not do anything worse, for the grease clogs the pores of the troubled skin and the condition becomes actually worse.

When there are pimples or eruptions, or an irritating or itching rash a soothing boracic solution may help to allay the irritation, but of course that does not cure the trouble. Skin complaints come from an impure condition of the blood and will continue until the blood is thoroughly purified. It is well known that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have effected the best results in many forms of skin disorders and blemishes. This is due to the fact that these pills make new, rich blood, and this new blood attacks the impurities that give rise to skin troubles and disperses them. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure skin disorders from within the system—the only sure way. Mrs. Ritchie, Parkburg, Sask., says: "Two years ago I was attacked with eczema in my hands. I tried almost everything that was advised, but as the trouble was growing worse, I consulted a doctor and took his treatment for some time with no better results. By this time my hands were a mass of sores and I began to despair of finding a cure. A friend strongly advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to do so. After using two boxes I could see an improvement, and I got a further supply. I used altogether eight boxes by which time every trace of the eczema had disappeared and there has not been a single symptom of the trouble since that time. I gladly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for troubles of this kind."

It should be added that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have a beneficial effect upon the general health. They increase the appetite and energy and cure all diseases that arise from impure blood. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CUT GAUGE FOR PIPE USE

IX. Topic. How to meet the crises of life. Places: Jerusalem; Bethany. Jesus foretold the destruction of Jerusalem and the second coming of Christ. It was at the time of the Passover and Jesus and His disciples were at Jerusalem to observe it. A feast was made for Jesus at Simon's house in Bethany. Mary anointed Jesus with costly ointment.

X. Topic: Tests of loyalty to Christ. Place: Jerusalem. Judas Iscariot plotted with Jewish leaders to betray Jesus to them. Jesus with His disciples observed the Passover feast in Jerusalem and at its close He instituted the Lord's Supper. Judas declared his knowledge of a traitor among his chosen apostles. It was an extreme moment for Judas. In the presence of his unsuspecting brethren and his compassionate Master he was free to repent and break away from his evil purpose. His withdrawal from the sacred cemetery was his decisive step. Before leaving that table where they had celebrated Israel's deliverance from bondage, Jesus instituted another supper in its place, to be celebrated in memory of his atoning death. All types were fulfilled in him. Instructions and prayer followed before he retired with the eleven into the Garden of Gethsemane. To the disciples it was to be the scene of their weakness and fear. To Jesus it was the place of his atoning agony where he suffered as man's substitute, as the bearer of sin, as an acceptable sacrifice to God. Peter's rash act of defense with his sword was rebuked and his evil repaired. Jesus still provided for the safety of his disciples. The weakness of human nature was further brought out when Peter trusted in himself to act up to his standard of faithfulness, only to be driven to bitter tears of repentance.

Unless worms be expelled from the system, no child can be healthy. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is the best medicine extant to destroy worms.

Quoted Them.
There is an old story of Arthur Roberts, an English actor, which illustrates how a little presence of mind may save lives. There had been an alarm of fire in the theatre, and a frank seemed imminent. The actor walked to the footlights and addressed the audience, "Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "if there was any danger do you think I should be here?"

deceiving the people. Judas had shared the closest fellowship in the chosen circle of apostles. He had been taught by precept and example the real principles of the gospel. The Roman authorities were participants in the betrayal. Pilate as a governor was sited by the test that was put upon him, so that the world has ever since known him as a criminal in his decision against Christ. The Sanhedrin, so determined to set at naught the claims of Christ, heeded not the claims of the Mosaic law by which they claimed to be governed. They indulged in mere mockery in the trial in which they pronounced Jesus guilty of blasphemy, when his claim should have made them tremble and go in search of truth. They inflamed the people into mob violence, without any definition of the terms of conviction.
II. As seen by His disciples. At the last Jewish Passover meal, Jesus declared his knowledge of a traitor among his chosen apostles. It was an extreme moment for Judas. In the presence of his unsuspecting brethren and his compassionate Master he was free to repent and break away from his evil purpose. His withdrawal from the sacred cemetery was his decisive step. Before leaving that table where they had celebrated Israel's deliverance from bondage, Jesus instituted another supper in its place, to be celebrated in memory of his atoning death. All types were fulfilled in him. Instructions and prayer followed before he retired with the eleven into the Garden of Gethsemane. To the disciples it was to be the scene of their weakness and fear. Peter's rash act of defense with his sword was rebuked and his evil repaired. Jesus still provided for the safety of his disciples. The weakness of human nature was further brought out when Peter trusted in himself to act up to his standard of faithfulness, only to be driven to bitter tears of repentance.

LIKE INVERTED RAIN.

Luckily for the Aviator, He Was Out of Range of the Drops.

It will be easily understood, writes C. G. Grey in "Tales of the Flying Service," that before a bullet that has been shot straight upward begins to fall there must be a point where it stands dead still and that for the last part of its upward flight it travels very slowly. One officer of my acquaintance told me after some months of war, that his most curious experience was when once, and once only, he discovered the exact extreme range point.
He was flying along quite peacefully on a bright, sunny morning at an altitude of a little over 8,000 feet, without worrying about anything, when suddenly he saw something dart past the side of the machine. He began to look about him and saw, a shade below him and a trifle to one side, a whole stream of little bright things glittering in the sun.
Then he realized that he had just struck a level that happened to be the extreme vertical range of a machine gun that was making uncommonly good shooting. Other bullets from rifles and other machine guns also flashed into view as he flew along, and when his eyes caught the right focus he could follow the slow, topmost part of their movement for a considerable distance. "It looked," he said, "just as if it were raining upward," and the phenomenon was so novel that he quite forgot for a time that the "raindrops" indicated that he was unopposed with some one below.

Home Training

Home is the first and most important school of character; it is here that the great majority of human beings receive their best, or their worst, moral training. It is here that the habits are formed, the intellect awakened and character molded for good or evil. Our example is constantly becoming interwoven with the lives of others, while their example insensibly influences our lives, the consequences of which we may never be able to trace.

People are more ready to learn through the eye than through the ear, and whatever is seen makes a deeper impression than what is read or heard. This is especially true of children for whatever they see they unconsciously imitate, and become very much like those with whom they live. They are like insects that take the color of the leaves they feed on.

Whatever efficiency may be in our schools, the example set in our homes must always be vastly greater in influencing the character of our future men and women. No individual stands alone, and no one's acts die out utterly, but their good or bad deeds will continue to influence generations for all time.

Determination to achieve some worthy pursuit is the foundation of all true greatness. Energy is the "open sesame" to almost every station in life, and more is accomplished by it than by genius, for the latter is often full of disappointment. Some noted writers have described genius as "common sense intensified," "the power of making efforts," and "it is patience." Talent is not necessary to insure success, but the will to persevere; failure may come, but one always has the consciousness of having done one's best.

The life of Napoleon shows what a powerful will can accomplish. He put the whole force of his body and mind upon his work, and whole nations fell before him; no road was too rough to travel, no mountain too high to climb. His example inspired his men and put new life into them, he spared no one, not even himself. But all was of no avail, for his chief aim was glory, not duty, and his intense selfishness was his ruin at last.

The life of Granville Sharp is a striking example of individual energy, especially in the cause of negro emancipation in London, England. The cruel treatment meted out to these poor blacks, when they were kidnapped on the streets and sent to the West Indies for sale, aroused all that was best in him, and for years he fought single-handed the most noted lawyers and learned men of the time, and was rewarded at last by seeing the personal liberty of every British subject vindicated.

Mere wishes and desires will avail as nothing if not put into act and deed. Wellington did not stand and wait till Blucher came up, he was preparing with all his energy to meet him.

Our aim springs from the nursery, and our best philanthropy from the fireside, but like charity, true philanthropy begins at home, but it does not end there. That character is power is true in a much higher sense than that knowledge is power, and it carries with it an influence that commands the respect and confidence of all mankind.

TEMPERATURE AND TEMPER.

Here is a good old story that somebody has taken the trouble to dress up in khaki—or hospital blue:

Sister Anne was going the round of the ward in the big hospital for wounded soldiers, examining the medical charts over each bed and taking temperatures.

Reaching the side of one hero, in whose mouth she had left the thermometer a minute ago, she was horrified to find, withdrawing it, that it registered 120, although only an hour ago the patient was normal. Swiftly she summoned the house doctor, but he, on arriving, was seriously perturbed, as there was nothing in the patient's condition to account for the sudden rise.

"Look here," he said to the soldier, "have you dropped this thermometer or been fooling with it?"

"No, sir. Only been stirring my tea with it!"

Upset Her Balance.

Like a rose petal on a sephyr she blew into the hostler's.

"I'm looking for something nice for a young man," she said shyly to the gallant behind the counter.

"Why don't you look in the mirror?" asked the hostler, and she was so flustered that he managed to get an order for four dozen raincoats that she didn't want, before she knew what she was doing.

"Use Your Hoe"

Reprinted by a Farmerette Request

Gone are the days when my mind was free from care:

Now I must work in my garden everywhere.

For everyone has a garden plot, you know,

I hear my garden voices calling, "Use your hoe!"

Chorus—
I'm hoeing, I'm hoeing.

And my back is aching so:
I hear my garden voices calling

"Use your hoe."
Why must I work when I'd rather smoke my pipe?

Why don't the crops hurry up in getting ripe?

Why do the weeds fill my garden, row

to row?
I hear my garden voices calling "Use

your hoe."
Oh, what a job when I'm picking tater

bugs;
I'd rather work cleaning house or shaking rugs;

Just when I think I can sit and watch

it grow,
I hear my garden voices calling, "Use

your hoe."
I'm working hard when the summer

sun does shine,
When winter comes all the stuff will taste so fine,

When prices rise I'll be very glad, I know,

That I heard my garden voices calling

"Use your hoe."
This can be sung to the tune of "Old

Black Joe."
