Typists and Stenographers, Have You Seen the LINE-A-TIME?

The little device which when attached to your Typewriter makes typewriting a pleasure. It serves the triple purpose of increasing the typist's capacity from 30 to 50 per cent daily, improving the quality of her work and saving her health.

The LINE-A-TIME practically eliminates the making of errors in transcribing. It increases the output of the typewriter, because it enables the operator to utilize for transcribing the time she would otherwise spend bending over notebook or record sheet.

The LINE-A-TIME is a simple device that may be quickly adapted for use with any typewriter or billing machine, and may be placed on any desk. It stands behind and close to the machine, and supports the "copy". Typists who have seen it are enthusiastic over it.

Employers and office managers who are on the alert for devices that will enable their present office force and equipment to increase their daily output, with a decrease in the effort required of each person affected, will be equally enthusiastic over the LINE-A-TIME. Let us send you one on trial, no obligation to buy. We will take it away when you are tired of it. The cost is not a consideration.

That Awful Ache of Lumbago Rubbed Away For All Time

Hoorah! No More Suffering—Every Ache Goes Quick. RUB ON NERVILINE

Lumbago is a peculiar sort of rheumatic trouble that affects the muscles about the loins and back. At times its agony is intense. Severe spasms of pain shoot in all directions, and become more severe on stooping.

In treating lumbago or stitch in the back, it is necessary to keep warmly covered to prevent a sudden chill. Attend to this, and then apply Nerviline freely.

Almost instantly you feel its warm soothing action. Right through the cords and muscles the healing power of Nerviline penetrates.

Quick as a wink you feel the stiffness lessening. You realize that a powerful pain-subduing remedy is curing the pain, is easing your distress, is making you well again.

Nerviline quickly cures backache and lumbago because it has the strength, the power and penetrating force possessed by no other known remedy. Its amazing curative action is due to certain extracts and juices of rare herbs and roots, combined by a secret process, and forming a truly magical medical marvel.

Any sort of aches in the muscles and joints Nerviline will cure quickly. It eats the pain right up—relieves stiffness, restores the muscles to their wonted elasticity and vigor.

It's the quickest thing imaginable for rheumatism, sciatica or neuralgia. As for earache, toothache, sprains, or strains, nothing can excel good old Nerviline.

Get the large 50 cent family size bottle, it's the most economical; trial size, 25 cents. All dealers.

Love in a Flour Mill,

The Romance of Two Loyal Hearts!

CHAPTER XXVI. No tragedy is ever allowed to occur at Monte Carlo; nothing is permitted to disturb its gilded serenity; no one is supposed to be unhappy within its fairy-like precincts. If you have lost all your money at the tables, the administration which runs the place will pay your fare home—and send an officer to the railway station to see that you go.

In England such a scene as that which had occurred at the Villa would have brought the police not only hot-foot upon the spot, but eager to solve the mystery, to get up a case, to capture the criminal or criminals; but here the police arrived with a very different object; and Ronald was somewhat staggered when he was informed by the inspector that which the wounded Englishman had fallen down and hurt himself, that there would not only be no arrest, but no inquiry—if Ronald would refrain from making a fuss, and have his injured servant conveyed to some other place as soon as possible.

It was a pity, the inspector remarked blandly, that his Excellency the Count was absent from home; but no doubt he would return presently. Meanwhile the house would be placed in the charge of the proper person, the major-domo, and all would be well. The inspector added, with a significant smile and an equally significant bow, that no doubt his Excellency—meaning the amazed Ronald—would take his departure from Monaco as soon as his servant was able to travel.

Ronald was astonished, but relieved. No good purpose could be served by following and capturing Raven; for Cara's sake, publicity was to be avoided if possible. With this sense of relief, not unmingled with bewilderment, he went to Smithers, who, at sight of his master, attempted to raise himself, and uttered a cry of anxious interrogation.

"How are you, Smithers?" asked Ronald, taking him by the hand and examining the bandage.

"First rate, sir!" responded Smithers, with respectful impatience. "Never better in my life. Thank God, you've come, sir! I can get up now! It took two of 'em to hold me down. If you will just lend me a hand, sir, beggin' yer pardon—But the young lady, sir?"

"It's all right," said Ronald, with a sudden flush, his hand closing on Smithers' arm. "I've found her. She's on board the yacht by this time, on her way to England."

"Hooray!" said Smithers, with a ridiculous attempt at a cheer. "That's the best news I've 'eard for many a day, as the man said when they told 'im it was a mistake, and that it wasn't triplets, but only twins. On the way to England, is she, sir! She couldn't be goin' to a better place. But"—suddenly—"why ain't you gone with 'er, sir?"—eagerly, anxiously scanning Ronald's face. "Oh, good 'eavens, sir! don't go an' say as you've stayed 'ere on my account! You'll break my 'eart, sir, that's what you'll do!"

Ronald laughed shortly. "Come off it, Smithers!" he said, with a suspicious catch in his voice. "Do you think I should leave you? Do you think I should ever forgive myself if I did? And do you think she would ever forgive me? I told her what you have done for me; and she wants to see you, to thank you; so the sooner you get better—"

Smithers groaned and turned away his head. "Gimme my clothes, sir!" he implored. "Take me out o' this, anyway. The place is gettin' on my nerves, an' every time I close my eyes I see that smilin' devil agoin' for you with that murr'drous knittin' needle o' 'is. Talkin' of that, sir, I've got it 'ere, under my pillow; an' I'm goin' to keep it as a kind o' souvenir of this little adventur'. Take care o' it, will you, sir?—I feel kind o' top-heavy."

He sank into the doze produced by the sleeping-draught which the police doctor had administered; and Ronald sat down and watched beside him.

At ten o'clock Dexter Reece arrived at the Villa. To his surprise he found the great gate open, and a police officer pacing to and fro, as if on guard. Reece passed him, walked for some little distance, and then came back and inquired in a casual way if the Count were at home. The man smiled, shrugged his shoulders, and replied in the negative, so significantly that Dexter Reece, now fully on his guard, and suspicious of he knew not what, got into conversation with the man.

"Palm oil" is a wonderful loosener of the tongue, and in no place is it more efficacious than in this part of Europe. The man slipped the gold coin into his pocket with a complacence which indicated much practice, and at once became communicative. Dexter Reece learnt from him that there had been a fracas up at the Villa behind him, a man had been wounded, the Count had disappeared. He could not furnish much in the way of details; but Reece gathered enough to convince him that the Count had flown, but that he might be captured at any moment, and that it behoved him, Dexter Reece, to carefully and promptly consider his ways and his safety.

He went back to the hotel at Monte Carlo, and, while he packed his portmanteau, he considered his position with all the coolness and acumen which characterized him. If Raven were caught, his identity with the man who had murdered Sir Mortimer and stolen the ruby would probably be discovered. Cara's identity might also be revealed. And the ruby? That also would probably be accounted for. And he had that ruby in his possession; he could feel it now, where he had sewn it inside his waistcoat.

Under these circumstances and this new phase of the situation, the ruby might indeed earn its title and be fatal to its possessor. What should he do with it? He had almost decided to fling it into the sea, or drop it down the grating of the nearest gutter, when an idea occurred to him—one of those ideas which strike the brain like a flash of lightning. He straightened himself, and laughed a short laugh of satisfaction and pride in his own ingenuity, finished his packing, paid his bill, and drove to the railway station en route for England.

CHAPTER XXVII. Four days later, Sir Reginald, Evelyn and Harry Vane were sitting at dinner at the Hall. Vane was now so frequent a visitor that he was more like a member of the family than a guest; and he had availed himself of Sir Reginald's permission to examine and take drawings of the old tower and wing, and spent some hours of each day in doing so. He was very much interested in the work, and so also, it would appear, was Evelyn—indeed, she had been constituted by him, or had constituted herself, a kind of unpaid assistant.

They had spent a great deal of time together; Evelyn found archaeology an absorbing study, and she was never so happy as when she was helping Vane to take measurements, looking over his shoulder while he made sketches, or listening to him as he sat near him, engaged in a piece of fancy-work which must have been of a very elaborate description, judging by the slowness of its progress. Their talk was not always of architecture and the antique. They often spoke of Ronald, and wondered what he was doing, why they had not heard from him lately; sometimes they even talked of themselves; for, with the gentle cunning of her sex, Evelyn lured Vane to recount some of his adventures.

The pheasants and the snipe must have laughed up their wings as the sportsman who had paid a large sum for the privilege of shooting them walked through the woods with nothing more fatal than a walking-stick or a roll of paper in his hand, and seemed to have lost all desire of using a gun.

On this particular evening the three persons before mentioned had got through their fish, and Vane was in the middle of an elephant story, to which Evelyn was listening with rapt attention, when the butler brought a telegram to Sir Reginald. Sir Reginald read it, frowned, and said:

"Mr. Lexham and Mr. Dexter Reece are coming down by the evening train, Evelyn."

"Oh, I am glad," said Evelyn. She gave some instructions to Steele, the butler, then asked, "Why are they coming so suddenly and unexpectedly father?"

"I don't know," he said, indifferently. "Important business, the telegram says. You'll send the carriage, Steele; and you'd better have some dinner prepared."

"You don't know Mr. Reece, do you?" Evelyn asked Vane. "He is such a pleasant, agreeable man. He has been down here several times lately."

"No; I haven't that pleasure," replied Vane; and his tone did not indicate any overwhelming desire to make the gentleman's acquaintance. He realized at that moment that he had begun to regard this sweet girl with a proprietorial sense, and he was conscious of a faint feeling of alarm in connection with this "pleasant and agreeable" gentleman, who was on the point of arriving. The elephant story was curtailed, all three of them grew rather silent; and presently, when they heard the sound of

The case with which OXO can be assimilated is one of its strong recommendations in weakness. the carriage which was bringing the two visitors, Vane, muttering that he would get out of the way, begged permission to accompany Evelyn to the drawing-room.

The permission was readily granted; for it may be whispered that Evelyn was only too glad to have his company; but after a few minutes, spent by Vane in staring rather moodily at the fire, she abandoned her efforts at conversation, and said gently: "Is anything the matter?" "Yes," he said, in his brusque way, and turning to her with a flush on his face and something in his eyes which swiftly brought the colour to her cheeks; "I'm feeling like a bear with a sore head. I'm jealous. I've had you all to myself these last few weeks; and, like a spoilt child, I hate the thought of another fellow coming on the scene; and his being 'agreeable and pleasant' makes it all the worse for me. You know what is the matter with me, I suppose? I love you. It's news to you, I dare say; but I've known it for a long time—ever since I met you in the spinney that first day. I love you, and I wish you'd put me out of my misery at once. I'm a rough sort of beast and a poor hand at wooing; but, as I say, I love you, and I shall go on loving you till the end of the chapter. Now, what do you say? I've started you—"

Perhaps Evelyn was not so startled as he imagined; at any rate, she did not look so very shocked, as she raised her eyes to his; and there was something in them which caused him to catch her to him, with an ejaculation of wonder and of joy; and he held her while they exchanged those confidences, those loving queries which persons in their condition appear to find it absolutely necessary to express; and he only released her when the footman appeared with the tea-tray. Immediately he had gone out they sat very close to each other on the sofa, while Evelyn accomplished the difficult task of pouring out tea with her left hand.

Meanwhile, as interesting and momentous a scene was being enacted in the library, in which Sir Reginald, Lexham, and Reece were closeted. Sir Reginald leant back in his chair, his chin held in his hand, his sombre eyes fixed on the face of Mr. Lexham, who was speaking with intense gravity and suppressed excitement.

FIGHTING NEAR CATTARO

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.

A News Agency despatch from Rome to-day says a desperate and most important struggle for mastery of the Adriatic is now raging between the Austrian naval base at Cattaro and land forces and Montenegrins. The Austrians are making a determined attempt to capture Mount Lovcen, the Gibraltar of the Adriatic. Its retention by the Montenegrins threatens the Austrian base at Cattaro. Since the beginning of the war, Austria has made Cattaro harbor its naval base for operations in the Adriatic. Aegean and the Italian Channel. Cattaro is absolutely impregnable from Mount Lovcen, where the Montenegrins a year ago installed heavy artillery. For six days the Austrians have been attempting to drive the Montenegrins from this position. While Austrian troops are attacking on the slopes from Skutvazora, Gherbal and other Austro-Austrian warships in Cattaro harbor are fiercely bombarding Montenegrin positions. If the Montenegrins can hold Mount Lovcen, they plan later with the assistance of the Allies to drive the Austrians from Cattaro. Until the Austrians are driven from this base they will continue to dispute the supremacy of the Adriatic with the Allied squadrons.

Subject To Colds

Here Is Good Advice.

Don't load your stomach with cough-cups. Send healing medication through the nostrils—send it into the passages that are subject to colds and coughs. Easy to do this with Catarrhozone, which cures a cold in ten minutes. Even to the lungs goes the healing vapor of Catarrhozone—all through the bronchial tubes, nostrils and air passages—everywhere a trace of disease remains will Catarrhozone follow. You'll not have colds, nor will you suffer from sniffles, bronchitis or throat trouble if Catarrhozone is used. Get it to-day but beware of dangerous substitutes meant to deceive you for genuine Catarrhozone. All dealers sell Catarrhozone, large size, two months treatment, costs $1.00; small size, 50c; sample size 25c.

WHAT DOES YOUR MIRROR TELL YOU?

Your mirror has a message for you. Is it one of health and good cheer? Or do you read there signs of disease and a warning to take action?

Is your complexion pale and sallow? Lips, gums and eyelids without color? Is there puffiness under the eyes? These are indications of anaemia or poor quality of blood. Other symptoms are shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, faintness and dizziness, swelling of the ankles, indigestion and irritable temper, ringing in the ears and dimness of vision.

The blood is watery. It is lacking in the red corpuscles which supply nutrition to the nervous system and go to build up the cells and tissues of the body. You need just such help as is best supplied by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. In this food cure you get in condensed and easily assimilated form the ingredients from which good, rich, red blood is formed. Gradually and naturally the weak, listless body is restored and the vital organs resume their various functions.

Since the Nerve Food cures by the building-up process, you must expect to keep up the treatment for some little time. The thoroughness of the cure will more than reward you for your perseverance, and in the meantime your mirror will tell you of improving health and the return of color to the cheeks.

The Coal Problem.

If anything was lacking to convince the public that there is urgent need for Government intervention in the coal crisis, it was supplied by the views of the coal importers, as published in the Evening Herald yesterday. The problem is how to supply coal to consumers, householders and factories, at a reasonable rate. We include factories because we are informed by one factory that this factory has to pay the increased rates like householders, and that there are other factories in the same position. The coal importers of themselves cannot solve the problem as shown by the statement of Mr. A. J. Harvey, principal of the firm of A. Harvey & Co., who states that 15,000 tons will have to be obtained to fill the need until the middle of April, and these are the conditions facing importers, according to Mr. Harvey.

"Yesterday, for instance, negotiations were in progress for getting a shipment of coal from Sydney, and the price quoted was $5.00 per ton freight. The last figure paid locally was $1.75. Before that the 'Ventures' were paid $1.55 a ton. Less than three years ago the freight rate for coal was only $1.10. His firm is now trying to arrange to have a Donaldson liner, the Alconda, come here for a cargo of paper from the Grand Falls mills and touch at Sydney on the way and bring down about 4,000 tons of coal. This is not yet finalized, as it depends upon arrangements for the outward freight, and these are not concluded, but he hopes that the matter will go through. He is also making an effort to get another cargo of coal from Scotland, but the freight rates are so high that he will be unable to sell it for less than $13.00 a ton."

Under these conditions there can be no hope of any reduction in the price of coal, if the importation is to be handled by the coal dealers, we therefore urge upon the Government the need of obtaining a large collier from the Admiralty, not under competitive rates, but under the conditions the Admiralty insist on for the protection of everybody. The only solution offering appears to be those we have already set forth.

(1) The obtaining of a large collier from the Admiralty for Government service in the coal trade;

A CERTAIN-TEED ROOF
is a GOOD ROOF, because it is guaranteed watertight for 15 Years.

CERTAIN-TEED ROOFINGS are made by the largest Roofing Mills in the world. Low prices are due to volume of business.

Stock CERTAIN-TEED as it is a good seller.

GEO. M. BARR, Agent.

(2) The granting of drawbacks on coal to be imported;

(3) The commandeering of coal in port and premises, and shipping if necessary, and of course an equitable handling of the situation as between coal dealers, contractors and householders.

We have already pointed out that we are not wedded to these suggestions, and that the Opposition will willingly aid the Government in these courses or alternative courses which may be better. We thank the Daily News for endorsing our suggestion that a solution be sought by consultation and co-operation between the Government and Opposition.

"The Daily News this morning says: 'The Legislature is not in session, now, but the willingness of the Opposition, voiced in last night's Telegram, to co-operate with the Government in finding a solution to the problem, would render action possible.'"

Ungrateful Son.

Last night the police arrested an inebriate for drunk and disorderly conduct in his mother's house. To-day the aged mother gave evidence that he was out of the country over four years, during which time he never gave her one cent of support. Recently he returned and while celebrating the Xmas season went and smashed up all and sundry in the parent's house, and threatened to do her serious injury. To-day in court his ungrateful conduct was commented on strongly and he was given 24 hours to quit the country, and if he repeated his dastardly and unmanly conduct he would serve six months for it.

STILL PLENTIFUL.—Herring continues to be in abundance at Bonne Bay, a message to that effect having been received to-day by the Marine and Fisheries Department.

Concealment of Birth.

At noon to-day a young woman, belonging to an out-harbor, who had been remanded for a couple of weeks, was arraigned before Mr. F. J. Morris, J.P., in private, charged with concealment of birth. The accused, who was represented by Mr. W. J. Higgins, pleaded guilty. Some extenuating circumstances put forward in her behalf by Counsel, were taken into consideration by the Judge, who imposed a fine of two hundred dollars or an alternative of six months imprisonment. The fine, we understand, is being paid.

"Within the Law."

All the thrills that Caboriau, Anne Katherine Green, and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, not to mention the authors of "Arsene Lupin" and "Raffles" have given us, have been outdone in the latest crook drama "Within the Law." The play is to be produced by the Klark-Urban Company at the Casino Theatre on Monday evening.

Mr. Veiller, the author, has written, not only the most successful play of modern times, but one which is novel as well as stirring melodrama, with one unexpected situation piling on top of another, and the last act continuing at the same high pitch in which the first begins. To use musical terms, Mr. Veiller has begun by blaying the highest notes on his organ fortissimo. Occasionally, to vary the effect and to provide for another climax, he softens his touch on the keys; then, with a whirling crescent, he goes to another loud passage. Seats on sale at Atlantic Bookstore.

EXPLOITS OF ELAINE AT THE NICKEL. To-day at the Nickel Theatre the brilliant and most sensational serial: "The Exploits of Elaine" will be presented. Everyone is interested in this remarkable story and the opinion of all is that it is the most thrilling picture ever seen here or anywhere else.

BRITISH THEATRE.

An entertainment of more than passing interest is that offered at the British to-night to all who appreciate the best in music, singing and pictures. The first episode of that great serial: "The Black Box" is beginning to-day and contains some really good thrills. The story is in thirty reels, two of which will be continued every Wednesday. A two reel drama: "The Curse of the Desert" is an interestingly good number and with other pictures and a clean bright comedy make up that of the programme. At 3.30 in the afternoon Madame Timmons will render a well known and popular solo. In the evening she will appear twice, first in a solo number and again in a duet: "Life's Dream is O'er," with P. J. McCarthy. This is put on by special request from numerous admirers. With two such artists and accompanied by Mr. Gordon Christian a genuine musical treat is assured.

NELLY'S CLEVEREST BABY AT ROSSLEYS.

The pantomime "Beauty and the Beast," is now in full working order, going without a hitch. It's a show full of clean, innocent amusement. Among the many pupils of Mrs. Rossley, there is a tiny tot aged three years, who is one of the cleverest children ever seen in this city, and to see the beautiful performance of this baby is simply past belief, to see the confidence of this mite who performs her part like a true actress, no hesitation or shyness is a wonder; she's a marvel and worth three times the price of admission alone. Next week another grand pantomime "Jack and Jill." THE ADVANCE OF COAL. Dear Sir,—I have been wondering since the advance of coal and the talk about the Government acting in the matter, if there is not two laws one for the rich business man and one for the poor business man. The question that seems to strike me most is this, and I would like to be able to have it answered by some one of your learned readers. It was only the other year or so ago, that the Government or the Council, I don't know for sure which, made a tariff for the cabmen and made a set price for his work. Now, Sir, how is it that the Government or the Council don't go right ahead and take this coal business up like they did the cabmen's business. I think it is a crying shame to have the cabmen held up to such ridicule and the wealthy business man let do as he pleases. I know what is good enough for one ought to be good enough for another. Hoping to get an answer in the columns of your paper, which I know will look into the matter, might I also say that I heard this morning that a prominent East End coat merchant wanted to buy out another East End merchant and he would not sell unless he paid him $10.00 per ton now after the contents of the bottle, and I hear that the other man is selling his coal at the old figure. Thanking you in advance, Yours truly, A. WADE, Plymouth Road.

ESSENCE OF GINGER WINE.

Having had considerable correspondence with parties in the County, I have at last succeeded in obtaining the genuine and original recipe for the "Essence of Ginger Wine" which I now offer at 15 cents per bottle. This recipe has been safely guarded for a great many years. It was originally prepared by an old Squire in Lancashire, A.D. 1815, and is strictly non-alcoholic. It makes an ideal Christmas drink for the young and the old. The contents of one fifteen-cent bottle, mixed with three quarts of hot water, in which there has been previously dissolved one and a quarter pounds of sugar, makes the Ginger Wine ready for use. I have much pleasure in introducing this old (but still) new preparation. PETER O'HARA, The Druggist, 46-48 Water St. West, dec30,t

Brocades are held in their old favor. Sterling silver jewelry is set with rhinestones. It is hinted that skirts will soon grow longer. Varnished mohair braid is the latest novelty. Novelty sleeves for spring continue in coats. Much trimming is prophesied for the new skirts. The skirts of evening frocks are as full as ever. Tailor-made coats have bright-colored facings. The pointed tulle tunics are beginning to go out. Leather handles are new on women's umbrellas. Crystal bead trimming seems to be in no end of favor. Bright-colored trimmings appear on white voile waists. The high-crowned hat implies the new close hairdressing. Deep chinese blue is a favorite shade for evening gowns. Tub silk waists with stripes in strong color are the latest. The latest hats for every day wear are turned up saliors. The newest blanket sports coats have large plaids and fringes. Sometimes entire trains are formed of ribbon sewed together. Elaborate sports coats of colored velvet have white fur borders. Colored trimming forms the only points, it was emphasized, must be cleared up before the next move is made. It must be established whether the British liner, Persia, actually was torpedoed, and if so what was the nationality of the submarine.

TAKEN TO LIFE-BOATS.

NEW YORK, To-day. A wireless message which came in fragments at 8.35 last night from the Greek liner, Thessaloniki, stated the crew had taken to life boats.

GERMANY FEELS PINCH OF BRITISH BLOCKADE.

LONDON, To-day. Germany's export trade has been substantially destroyed, says the Foreign Office, in a paper presented to Parliament to-day outlining the policy adopted to enforce a blockade of Germany.

THE LONDON BUDGET.

LONDON, To-day. Everywhere in Stripa and Volhynian districts, Russia and East Galicia, the Russians are on the offensive. The official communications from both Petrograd and Vienna showing the Russian War Office reports the Russians to have occupied a line of trenches, north east of Czernowitz, and to have repulsed strong counter attacks.

REPULSED COUNTER-ATTACKS.

LONDON, To-day. A Reuter despatch from Petrograd says the Teutonic forces are reported to have evacuated Czernowitz, Bukovina. It adds a large number of prisoners have been taken, including many German soldiers.

CONSTANTLY RECONCILED TO THE INEVITABLE.

ATHENS, To-day. The King of the Greeks appears to have considerably altered his views from that of last month. Speaking to an Associated Press correspondent yesterday as to the present situation in Greece, the King is reticent, saying his determination not to be forced or persuaded to abandon neutrality, seemed to be reconciled to the idea of the Allies remaining at Salonika until the end of the war.

FRENCH ACTIVITY.

PARIS, Jan. 4th, via London. The following statement was given out last night by the French War Office: "In Artois our artillery inflicted considerable loss upon groups of the enemy's workmen in the sector of Thelus. North of Aras our batteries carried out a heavy bombardment against German troops, observed in the suburbs of Roye. In the Vosges an effective fire was directed against the enemy's works between the villages of Baleswiller. To the northwest of Altkirch the enemy's trenches have been demolished and a munition depot blown up."

CABLE SERVICE UNCERTAIN.

NEW YORK, To-day. Trans-Atlantic cable communication continues uncertain by reason of severe weather conditions, which have existed for several days about the British Isles. The Western Union Telegraph Co. and the French Telegraph Cable Co. have both announced until further notice all messages are subjected to great delay and that the service is practically suspended.

RUSSIAN SUCCESSES.

PETROGRAD, To-day. Official statement: The Germans tried to cross the Dvina in the region of Ellsenhote, but were thrown back by our fire. We put to flight Germans wearing white coats, who attempted to approach our trenches in the region of Tsargrad station. In the region of Cartovsk, the enemy was driven from the woods between Koshulokov and Podcherevitchi station. In the region of the middle Stripa our troops having crossed the line of enemy entanglements occupied enemy trenches. East of the village of Bielavintze we took by storm an isolated fortified enemy work. North east of Czernowitz we occupied a line of trenches and repulsed by concentrated artillery enemy counter-attacks, the enemy sustaining heavy losses. In the Caucasus the situation is unchanged.

LORD KITCHENER WILL SPEAK.

NEW YORK, To-day. The London correspondent of the Herald, in the course of a despatch dealing with the report of Lord Derby on recruiting, says: "While Mr. Asquith is making his statement on recruiting in the House to-day, preliminary to the introduction of the single men conscription bill, I am now informed excludes Ireland. Lord Kitchener in the House of Lords will discuss the problem which has been repeatedly forced on the country by the rapid conscriptionists, who under the inspiration of the Northcliffe Press, have muddled everything and forced the in-killed and nineteen soldiers and one of the latter injured here yesterday by the accidental explosion of a shell in the artillery park.

2.00 P.M.

IRELAND EXCLUDED.

LONDON, To-day. Sir J. Simons has not withdrawn his resignation. The position of Mr. Reginald McKenna, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Mr. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, is still undecided, they are making the acceptance of the Government conscription bill conditional upon obtaining a concession to their views on the eventual size of the army. In this matter the Premier is in an embarrassing position. He is being strongly impelled from the outside, not to yield his support to a bill which is believed that a majority in the Cabinet itself is against their views. Ireland is to be excluded from the provisions of the conscription service in the bill to be produced in the House to-day. The bill will be offered by Mr. Asquith, the Prime Minister, immediately after the question hour in the Commons.

Hockey Notes.

A meeting of the Hockey League is being arranged to take place on Saturday night next to finalize last year's business and draw up the fixtures of games for this season. Four teams will be represented—the Feldians, St. Bon's, Terra Novas and Victoria's. The recent hard spurt has created new interest amongst the players. There is an excellent sheet of ice at the Prince's Rink and during the present week hockey practices will be held.

SUICIDE IN BASILICA.

ROME, To-day. Basilica in St. Peter's was closed today because of a young man named Antonio Giovannolo who attempted to commit suicide in the sacred edifice. Giovannolo shot himself with a revolver. The wound was slight, but as blood had been spilt, the Basilica was closed in accordance with the rules of the church, and will not be reopened until it has been reconsecrated, which will probably be to-morrow.

FIGHT WITH GRENADES.

PARIS, To-day. The following statement was issued by the Belgian War Office: After a quiet night the artillery battle was resumed with violence in the sections of Dixmude and Dreilgreen. During the morning, to the north of Steenstraete, there was a fight with grenades which resulted to our advantage.

Mr. Hynes Did Not Raise His Prices.

We were in error yesterday in stating that Mr. Campbell was the only coal dealer that kept his price down to $8.00 a ton. We learn that Mr. W. H. Hynes also has not raised the price of coal beyond this figure. The result is of course that all his coal has been sold. He was offered $10.00 a ton for the lot but refused to sell, preferring to keep his customers out—surely a most commendable action.

The Eastern Trust Company.

A few reasons why an estate can be better administered by the Eastern Trust Company than by a personal executor or administrator:— 1. The Company affords the estate absolute security; it has a paid-up capital of $931,000.00, and a reserve fund of $229,300.00. 2. It has a long experience in the work of administering estates; it is incorporated for this business of acting as a trustee, and, unlike many other trust companies, it does no other. 3. Its existence is perpetual. Your estate, in the event of the death of a personal executor or administrator, must look to the death of a personal executor or administrator, and the work of administration is impeded during that time, and the new executor is unfamiliar with the policy of his predecessor, and confusion results. This company's existence is perpetual, and there is a continuity of policy in its administration that the death of its officers does not break. 4. It possesses the confidence of governments, universities and prominent charities and administers their funds. 5. A number of other advantages which will appear in due course.

THE PERSIA CASE.

WASHINGTON, To-day. There was no lessening of the tension of the new submarine crisis today with President Wilson's return to the White House to take personal charge of the situation, but there were marked indications of the President's intention to proceed carefully and deliberately before committing the United States to the next step in its already strained relations with the Teutonic Powers. At the State Department hope is expressed there would be an opportunity to settle the crisis amicably. It was stated the American Government believed that Austria's assurance that the Anschluss note were given in good faith. Two
