CHAPTER VII.
A CHAINED HEART.

"You have nothing to say? I regret that you should have troubled me and yourself by insisting on an interview at which I look like a fool and you feel like one."

Lord Edgar flushes hotly, then remembers who it is that speaks, and what he is suffering.

"I have to go to town, sir, at once," he says.

"Then why not go?" retorts the icy voice, keen and biting. "What is it you want? Money? In the name of Heaven and earth get it out of the steward. I have nothing else you are likely to require. Go to the steward. Go to—wherever your destination may be, and leave me in peace. Good-day!" and striking the hand which he leans back and fixes his eyes on the opposite wall as if he had suddenly become deaf, and blind, and dumb.

Mr. Palmer opens the door, and with an "I-told-you-so" look, ushers Lord Edgar out.

And so fate, in the shape of the marquis' gout, rivets another chain in the destinies of Lela Temple.

CHAPTER IX.
FRIENDLY ENEMIES.

LELA flew to her own room. Her cheeks were flushed with the thrill of that kiss which she herself had given Lord Edgar. She was trembling with a sense of a new life; to use a metaphor much beloved of the old poets, Love's dart rankled sweetly in her heart, and she wanted to be alone, not only for a few minutes, to realize all the joy that had befallen her.

The room—a dainty little apartment—looked out on the nuns' garden. It was not elaborately furnished—Mr. Temple's salary was a very modest one—but it was as neat as a pin and eloquent of that grace which only a woman's presence can supply. With glowing eyes she—who who twenty-four years ago had never known an emotion to stir her heart—brow herself on her knees beside the bed and hid her face in her hands. But if her idea was to shut out all thought of Lord Edgar she did not succeed. The touch of his strong hand, the pressure of his strong arm seemed about her even now. His earnest "I love you! I love you!" rang in her ears, and made sweet music of the silence. His stalwart form and handsome face seemed to penetrate the space and stand before her; she could not shut the vision out; her whole being was suffused with that joy which a maiden experiences once and once only in her life—the joy springing from the knowledge that she is beloved.

If the professor had been a woman instead of a book-worm he would have read her secret at a glance when, a little later, she stole down to tea, her face still flushed, her eyes hidden under the dark-fringed lids.

But he, buried in his books, had quite forgotten that she had been away all day, and had forgot the existence of Lord Edgar, until there came the sound of carriage wheels rolling down the gravel drive, then he looked up absently, and said:

"Hem! Lord Edgar's gone—thank the gods!"

Her work nearly fell from her hands, and her face blanched; then she smiled with the sweet consciousness of assurance, and said:

"Oh, no, grandpapa; he is not going to-night."

"If you do you—ah, I forgot. Did you enjoy your walk? You were both bored to death, I suppose, eh? I can't imagine what you found to talk about. He knows nothing about anything but dogs and horses, and you know nothing of anything except books, and very little of them," with gentle sarcasm.

Lela colored, and went to the window with a sense of guilt upon her.

"We didn't bore each other, grandpapa," she said, meekly, feeling an utter hypocrite and deceiver.

"No! Then the pity I expended on you both was thrown away. But what makes you say that he has not gone?"

"Because he said he was not going," she answered, looking out at the sunset sky, and wondering how soon she should hear his step on the terrace.

"I'm sorry for that," remarked Mr. Temple, grimly. "Something will be sure to happen if he remains. We shall be burned in our beds, or the marquis and he will quarrel. Yes, he had far better go!"

Something had happened already, she thought, as she leaned her cheek against the window frame and watched and listened.

The minutes grew into hours; the sun fell, and the stars came out, a crescent moon grew into silver and shone down on her face, pale and wistful now as a thirsty flower, and still his step did not break the silence of the terrace. The professor, sitting over his books, was conscious at last of the night air, and looked up.

"Lela, you will catch cold; come in and close the window."

With a sinking of the heart she obeyed; a disappointment greater were almost than she could bear weighed upon her. Had he forgotten? No! that was impossible. What had happened? Where was he?

The door opened and a servant entered.

"Lord Edgar's compliments, miss, and here is the book," she said, putting down on the table a small packet.

Mr. Temple's ears pricked up at the word "book."

"What is it, Lela?" he said; "what book?"

With a flush of shame she took up the parcel gently, and carried it to a lamp at the other end of the room.

"It's see, grandpapa," she said, tremblingly.

What did it mean? Breaking the thread with uncertain fingers she took out a small volume bound in morocco. As she turned it over wondering, she saw a paper stretching out from the leaves. With a thrill she seized is the same all through—the last drop is as delicious as the first.

it. There was a line of writing on it, just one line:

"I am obliged to go to London at once. Good-night!"

Then, with a novel feeling of guilt and deceit upon her, she took the book and put it down before her grandfather.

"It is a volume of poems, grandpapa," she said, and glided out of the room that he might not see the tears that rushed to her eyes.

Gone! She should not see him, should not touch his hands before she slept! Oh, how long the night would be! How long!

Lord Edgar flung himself into a first-class carriage of the express in that frame of mind which schoolboys are wont to describe as "riled."

That he should be journeying to London, instead of jeering against the window with Lela's lovely face framed in it, was exasperating in the highest degree. He bought an evening paper, and flung it aside after a glance; a couple of cigars scarcely soothed him, and when, after what seemed to him an unreasonable time, the train reached Paddington, he flung himself into a hansom and scowled at the London streets, just cooling off, after a hot day, as if they were a city of desolation.

"Confound Flyaway, and Clifford, and the whole of the Jockey Club," he murmured. "I wonder what she is doing now? Is she waiting still? I'll be bound that idiot of a Palmer will forget the book. I wonder how early the trains start in the morning?"

In this restless and impatient mood he reached his chambers. They were in the Albany, one of the best sets; and, hot as London was, his valet had managed to keep the luxurious rooms cool and comfortable. The man was standing on the stairs as he entered the hall.

"Mr. Revel is here, my lord. He has had your telegram," he said, as he opened the door of the drawing-room.

As Edgar entered, the tall, thin figure of Clifford Revel arose from the depths of an easy-chair. He was in evening dress, an exquisite white orchid in his button-hole, his dark, handsome face set in its usual expression of calm, impassive acuteness. Something faintly like a sneer curved the clean-cut lips as he looked at the flushed countenance and kindled eyes of his cousin, and as he held out his hand, white and long, and beautifully shaped; he raised his dark eyebrows with a deprecatory smile.

"How do you do, Edgar?" he said.

"How do you do, Clifford? What on earth's the matter? Jove, how hot it is! Lela, open that window—do you mind, Clifford?"

"Not a bit! Is it so warm? You look hot."

"Look hot! I feel it!" retorted Lord Edgar, flinging his hat and dust coat to the valet, who took them, and noiselessly disappeared.

Clifford Revel pushed the chair on which he had been sitting to the window, and laying his white hands on Lord Edgar's broad shoulders, pushed him gently, but firmly into it.

"Sit down, my dear fellow," he said, in his slow, musical voice. "You are upsetting yourself, as usual, without, let me trust, due cause. The horse—"

Lord Edgar had forgotten all about Flyaway again, and stared. Then he remembered.

"Confound the horse!" he said.

"Quite so," retorted Clifford Revel, if anything spoken in so soft and serene a voice could be called a retort. "That is exactly what all the men who have been backing her will do, and they will confound you and me also."

"What's the matter with her?" demanded Lord Edgar. "The place is like an oven! What a man wants to live in such a dusthole as London in the summer for I can't conceive."

"Ha! Only on Sunday last you remarked, if my memory does not deceive me, that there was no place worth living in but London."

Lord Edgar colored.

Sunday last! Yes, but something had happened since then. He had not carried Lela across the stream then.

"Did I? I must have been a greater idiot than I thought myself. Have you had anything to drink? Lela," calling to the man, "bring some soda and brandy and the cigars. Well, go on."

But Clifford Revel glanced toward the man warningly, and remained silent until he had done his service and left the room.

"My dear Edgar, let me beg of you to exercise a little caution; one word of this business before our silent but intelligent Lela, and the news will be all over town."

"Well, he's gone now. Take a cigar. What is it?"

"No, thanks; I am going out."

Lord Edgar glanced at the scrupulously neat evening attire, and nodded.

"The horse, my dear Edgar, is dead lame." He said it in exactly the same tone as in which he had declined the cigar, and paused in the middle of the sentence to re-arrange the orchid, which had fallen a little askew. Lord Edgar whistled.

"By Jove! How did it happen?"

"How do these things happen? No one knows—no one ever will know. The fact is, however, sufficient. We—you and I and all our friends—have backed the horse to win, and, if she runs, we shall lose. There is no time to be lost, you see. I was sorry to wire, but I dare say you were glad enough for an excuse to return; though, by the way, you don't seem so," and his keen, dark eyes scanned for a moment the frank, handsome face that certainly did not express much joy.

Lord Edgar colored and laughed, then frowned. The keen eyes watched him closely.

"I'll ask after the Abbey and my uncle directly," he said. "About this horse first. Of course, we must get out of the mess."

"Get out of it!" repeated Lord Edgar, looking puzzled.

Clifford Revel nodded, and took a cigarette.

"There will be just time, if we commence to-morrow morning."

"Commence what?" demanded Lord Edgar, with a frown.

"To lay against her," said Clifford Revel, coolly. "We must save our money—"

Lord Edgar sprang to his feet.

"Clifford, what are you talking about? Are you joking? Do you mean to say that, knowing the horse is lame and can't win, that we must bet against her, though up to now we have backed her right through?"

"Of course!" was the reply. "What else would you do?"

"Anything but that, at any rate!" returned Lord Edgar, staring at him.

"Why—why, Clifford, it would be dishonest! I wouldn't do it to save every penny I'm worth! Come, say that you are joking! Of course, the horse shan't run! I'll have it put in the papers that she's lame."

Limerick Has General Strike.

Korean Rising Against Japs--Poles Massacre Jews--Germans Oppose Sarre Valley Arrangement.

STRIKE IN LIMERICK.

LIMERICK, April 14.—This city awoke to-day to find itself in the throes of a general strike called by the trades unions as a protest against martial law which has gone into effect in the Limerick military area. The gas and electric supplies were cut off at 2 o'clock this a.m., and no factories or stores opened to-day, even the drug stores having their blinds down. Food supplies have ceased coming into the city, as the farmers refuse to take out military permits to enter Limerick.

HEARING SOLUTION.

PARIS, April 14.—A statement by President Wilson in behalf of the Council of Four, says that the questions of peace are near solution and that they will be quickly and finally drafted. This announcement was contained in an official bulletin, which added that the German plenipotentiaries had been invited to meet at Versailles on April 25.

GERMANY'S WAR DEBT.

PARIS, April 14.—One hundred billion gold marks is the amount Germany must pay the Allied and associated governments for losses and damage caused in the war plus other billions to be determined by a special commission on which Germany is to be represented. This is the final and definite conclusion which has been reduced to writing after a week's negotiation which took a wide range and involved frequent changes and modifications. The payment of one hundred billion gold marks is to be divided into three distinct amounts as follows, first twenty billions within two years, second forty billions during thirty years beginning 1921, third forty billions when a commission shall determine how it shall be done.

TROUBLE IN KOREA.

TOKIO, April 8.—The riots in Korea, the War Office announces have spread greatly in the last few days and the rioters coerce and threaten persons engaged in legitimate occupation. If action by the Imperial troops is withheld too long there is danger that Koreans connected with the Russian Bolshevik will take advantage of the disturbances and expose the people to further unrest.

KOREANS SEEK INDEPENDENCE.

SEOUL, Korea, April 9.—The Korean independence agitation continues in the provinces. The Japanese were repressing it severely with the result that there have been many additional casualties.

SLAUGHTER OF JEWS.

STOCKHOLM, April 14.—The Jewish Press Bureau here is informed that a letter written by Baron Zuckermann, representative of the joint distribution committee of American funds for Jewish war sufferers relating to a slaughter of Jews in Hinsk has been published in Jewish newspapers in Warsaw. On April 5th a meeting place was surrounded by Polish soldiers, he says, and all those present were arrested, taken to the market place and shot. Mr. Zuckermann then wrote to members of the Polish Diet demanding immediate intervention and the Polish cabinet promised to investigate.

ESCAPED FROM BOLSHEVIKS.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Every American in Odessa, members of all foreign missions, and about 20,000 Russian refugees got away safely when the city was abandoned to the Bolsheviks, according to a belated despatch from Constantinople received to-day at the State Department.

DISORDERS IN SILESIA.

BERLIN, April 14.—The strike of bank employees and metal workers here continues. It is reported from Essen that the strike of the Krupp employees has ended. Now disorders are reported from Dolewitz, Silesia, where the coal miners are striking against the inadequate food supply.

DERNBURG'S APPOINTMENT.

BERLIN, April 14.—Dr. Bernard Dernberg, former Colonial Minister and former chief of the German propaganda service in the United States, has been appointed Finance Minister in the National Government to succeed Dr. Schiffer who resigned last week, the Tageblatt announces.

RIOTING IN LAHORE.

LONDON, April 14.—There has been rioting at Lahore and Allahabad, India, with some loss of life, including Europeans, according to a Government statement to Parliament to-day.

FLIGHT POSTPONED.

LONDON, April 14.—Major Wood, one of the entrants in the trans-Atlantic flight, was compelled to-day because of weather to postpone the first leg of his flight from Eastchurch, on the island of Sheppey, in the Thames, to Limerick. The major will start across the Atlantic from Limerick.

FEEDING THE RUSSIANS.

PARIS, April 14.—The Russian commission in Paris, headed by Prince Lvoff, the first Premier after the fall of the empire, and embracing representatives of various anti-Bolshevik Governments, is strongly opposed to the recently proposed plan for feeding Soviet Russia through neutrals, on condition that the Bolshevik cease hostilities. Prince Lvoff, Sergius Savanoff, Boris Bakmeteff, and their associates favour the sending of food to Moscow, Petrograd and other large cities, under Bolshevik control, but object to the plan for the cessation of hostilities on the grounds that it would do injustice to the forces of Admiral Kolcha and General Denikin, which are making good progress in their campaign against the Bolshevik.

BACK TO LONDON.

LONDON, April 14.—Premier Lloyd George returned to London from Paris this afternoon.

THE SARRE QUESTION.

BERLIN, April 14.—The German Government is firmly resolved to refuse to discuss at the Peace Conference the future allegiance of the Sarre territory, according to a Berlin agency on what it terms competent authority. The government will "resolutely reject any proposal to tear the Sarre territory from the empire by means of a general plebiscite."

FINAL STAGES OF NEGOTIATIONS.

PARIS, April 13.—The Peace Treaty and League of Nations have undoubtedly reached final stages of negotiations, Premier Lloyd George will announce in the British House the date for the calling of the Peace Congress which Germany will attend. The final session of the Council of Four was stormy. The Monroe Doctrine was opposed by France on the ground that it singled out one nation for special treatment. Australian opposition to the Japanese equality amendment was so strong that Britain withheld approval, preventing its adoption.

THE FOOD SITUATION.

PARIS, April 14.—Roumania and Jugo-Slavia will be able to feed themselves from this year's harvest. Hungary, Germany, Austria and Czecho-Slovaks will not be able to do so, the commission reports.

COMMENT WITHHELD.

NEW YORK, April 14.—The papers with few exceptions refrain from commenting on the summary of the revised covenant of the League of Nations. The Times asserts that American opposition to the League is subsiding. The Sun continues opposition on the ground that it restricts "our inherent freedom of action."

THE AIR SERVICE.

LONDON, April 14.—Vickers are about to start a trans-Atlantic air service, handling passengers and freight.

NO TRUTH IN REPORT.

LONDON, April 14.—Serbian officials declared to-day there was no truth in the report that a revolution had broken out in Serbia.

NOT YET SATISFACTORY.

LONDON, April 14.—The summary of the amended covenant of the League of Nations evokes no enthusiasm in London morning papers, and is declared by some commentators to be no less satisfactory than the first draft.

TROTSKY ADMITS DEFEAT.

LONDON, April 14.—Trotsky admits defeat on the eastern front in wireless messages from Moscow picked up here.

BRIEF STAY.

PARIS, April 14.—Lloyd George's visit to England will be a brief one, says the Petit Journal.

How Is Your "Culebra Cut"?

The Panama Canal is a clear passageway as far as the Culebra Cut. But Gold Hill has a way of sipping into the cut. And until dredges can clear the channel, the industrial schedule of the world is out of gear.

How about your own canal? The intestinal canal is a clear passageway as far as the large intestine. There, if you become constipated, waste matter is allowed to stagnate. It becomes unhealthily dry and undergoes abnormal fermentation and putrefaction. Germ activity is increased. Your whole system is out of gear. Result, the production of irritating and poisonous substances, which are absorbed into your blood and carried all over your body, liable to produce disease anywhere. The longer such stagnation is allowed to exist, the harder it is to clean out the canal. 90% of human disease originates in the "Culebra Cut."

If engineers tried to blast out the slide from Culebra Cut they would have more slides to cope with. If you try to blast out accumulated waste from your Culebra Cut with pills, salts or purges, you will increase your constipation—and next time you will have to take stronger medicine in a larger dose.

You can't dredge your canal. You can clean it out with Nujol. Nujol softens the mass, and supplies the intestinal canal with sufficient moisture to replace deficient mucus. It causes the obstructive waste matter to pass gently out of your system at a regular hour, absorbing and removing the poisons as it goes. Nujol regularly keeps the traffic of your mind and body operating on schedule.

You admire the Panama Canal system. Why not safeguard your own? Your druggist has Nujol.

Warning: NUJOL is sold only in sealed bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark. Insist on Nujol. You may suffer from substitutes.

Red Rag to a Bull.

How many people know the real meaning of the phrase "Like red rag to a bull?"

Why should a bull, or any other creature, be enraged when a piece of scarlet cloth is flaunted before them? The bulls are not alone in this. Sheep, meek and gentle, will presently become transported with rage if they see anything of this color. Geese and turkeys are similarly affected—the former even having been known to attack a sunset-colored child. The excitement animals display in such circumstances is similar to that caused by the smell of blood. Here is the theory: The color reminds the animals of blood, an association which invariably suggests bodily discomfort and hurt. So they express their terror by the only means they possess.

Japan Getting Angry.

Because of the striking aid rendered the Allies by Japan during the war, that country was admitted to the Council of the big powers, following the conclusion of the armistice in November last, and her representatives have been occupying seats at the Council Board on an equality with those of Britain, France, Italy and the United States. Claims have been presented at the Council meetings by the Japanese for various concessions and one of these has been the demand that the subjects of the Mikado be received in all countries on the basis of racial equality. Such demand has been strongly contested by the British Dominions which fear Japanese immigration, Australia and Canada particularly, strongly protesting any such right being granted. The negotiations or debates are still proceeding and no agreement on the subject has yet been reached, or is likely to be reached, while the big self-governing countries of the British Empire and the United States oppose the Japanese desire.

So acute has the situation become, that Japan's chief delegate to the Peace Conference, Baron Makino, has made a statement to the Associated Press, declaring that "no Asiatic nation could be happy in a League of Nations in which sharp racial discrimination is maintained. Japan is not proud to fight but we are too proud to accept a place of admitted inferiority in dealing with one or more associate nations, and we want nothing but simple justice." Referring to the Australian protest that if the equality sought by Japan is granted, a flood of the "little brown men" will pour into that Dominion, the Baron says "Japan does not wish to force her laborers as immigrants on any associate country, and recognizes that this question is one for each nation to deal with itself."

Commenting on this defiant attitude, the following New York despatch will be interesting:

"Much that Baron Makino, head of the Japanese delegation at Paris, had to say on the subject of race equality is true, but it might have been expressed in more diplomatic and tactful language.

"Japan's latest pose is not for the right of its people to migrate at will. What it asks now is recognition in the covenant of the League of Nations of the abstract proposition that as regards peoples and races there must be no discrimination by governments as such. If this principle were to become universal, Japan itself would be one of the first nations to be indicted, for it does not treat the Chinese as equals; at this moment it is proclaiming by force the inferiority of the Koreans, and its land and mining laws bear heavily upon foreigners.

"In view of the fact that every government in the world receives Japan as an equal and that at the Peace Conference it has been accorded a place of the highest honor, Baron Makino's complaint becomes mere truculence when he speaks of not being too proud to fight, although too proud to accept a position of inferiority. As the hospitality of nations is not won by such expressions, it must be that the Baron has something in mind besides an abstraction.

"The United States has recently enacted a law which bars many inhabitants of Southern and Eastern Europe from this country. It applies in part to Italy, with which we have been associated in war, but the government of Rome presents no protest and makes no threats. Japan already has every consideration that Baron Makino insists upon. Unless his real grievance is against the immigration laws of the United States, Canada, New Zealand and Australasia, he has lost his case on his own pleading."

Whether Baron Makino utters a jest in the "not too proud to fight" expression, or uses it merely as a warning to the Allies is an open question. Coming as it does, when the Peace Treaty is almost ready for signature, it may be regarded as significant. The Japs are close observers and keen imitators. They have studied all the phases of the late war from every military and naval standpoint, and they know every weak point in the conduct and strategy of all the combatants. Possibly with the cocksureness which is a distinctive attribute of every man who fights under the banner of "The Rising Sun," it may be that Japan has determined to take on the West with the object of deciding once and for all the question of superiority. Should such a conflict be precipitated it will involve every white nation, every white continent because it will be the death struggle of the Caucasian against the Oriental.

Supreme Court.

Arguments of counsel in the mandamus case of James Murdoch vs. Mayor Gosling and the City Councilors, were completed yesterday morning in the Supreme Court. Mr. McNelly was heard for Mr. Murdoch and E. Leo Carter for the Council. The Court takes time to consider judgment. This being the end of the April civil term, the court rose until May 1st.

New Rector for Cathedral.

At a meeting of the parishioners of the C. of E. Cathedral, called by the Church Warden and held in the Parish Room, Synod Building, last night, His Lordship Bishop White, presided, being assisted by Messrs. Geo. Davey, T. A. Hall, and the Warden. The Committee appointed some months ago to make enquiries and secure the services of a new Rector, presented their report through Mr. J. W. Withers, Secretary. The Committee had referred to three former rectors of the parish—Rev. Canons Browne, Cartwright and Heygate, and had secured the services of Rev. L. L. Jeenes, M. A., a young man of 35, who has been working in the parish of Whitechapel, London. He was recently an Army Chaplain in a cavalry regiment at Aldershot, where vast audiences at the C. of E. Institute have been listening to sermons and lectures of his on vital questions of the day. The Committee called Rev. Mr. Jeenes last evening and if the nomination is accepted he will be appointed.

"Johnny Get Your Gun."

The favorite W. S. Harkins Players will begin their engagement in St. John's on Easter Monday. Among the plays that the company will put on, is "Johnny Get Your Gun." Not a war play, but a farce comedy that played an entire season at The Criterion Theatre, New York. It tells the story of a cowboy who does leading stunts for a Movie Picture Co., and the manner in which he goes about preventing the sister of his dearest friend from marrying a fortune hunter. "Johnny Get Your Gun" is a laugh from start to finish. The prologue of the play is laid in a movie picture studio in California, and gives one an idea how a motion picture is directed and put on the screen. The handsome young leading man of the W. S. Harkins Players, Mr. Keith Ross, will play the part of "Johnny," and the entire company will appear in the play. Prices will be $1.00 for Section B, all other reserved seats 50c, and 75c. Seats now on sale at Chesman's.

The Trans-Atlantic Flight.

Meteorological reports from along the ocean and the other side are very unfavorable to-day, and in all probability the Sopwith biplane will not fly. Work on the Martinside biplane, "Raymor"—a contraction of the names of the men who will fly her, i.e. Rayham and Morgan—has been completed, and at 3.30 this afternoon she was to be tested and tried. It was possible that she would take a flight during the afternoon, but up to press hour this move had not been definitely decided on. The Sopwith fliers and organizing manager were down to see the "Raymor" this forenoon, while all during the morning people from the city were there in hopes of catching a glimpse of the machine.

Birdmen's Patron Saint.

The Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster, who has initiated the Guild of St. Michael for Airmen, invites all Roman Catholic Airmen "to place themselves under the protection of St. Michael by joining the guild." No one could desire a doughtier champion, remarks a London paper, but the choice of the Russian Airmen, who in the early days of the war decided on St. Michael as their patron saint, is perhaps even more plausible. It is at all events, plain that these days have given an entirely new meaning to the phrase, "prince of the powers of the air."

House of Assembly.

The House of Assembly opens at 3 o'clock this afternoon. After the presentation of petitions, reports of committees, and notice of motion and questions, the order of the day is "Committee of the Whole" to discuss the Act to further extend the life of the present Legislature.

"Eliza Comes to Stay."

Through an error, the date of the play "Eliza Comes to Stay" would appear to be April 17th, in our item in Saturday's issue. The correct date is Thursday, April 24th. As the principal part will be sustained by such well known amateurs as Lieut. and Mrs. L. R. Cooper, Mrs. H. A. Outerbridge, Mrs. C. Hutton, Miss Mitchell, and Messrs. Knight, Tait and Love, we think a packed house will fill the Methodist College Hall on Thursday night.

Cleaning Up.

We note that the Council is trying to clean up Duckworth Street, and it is time that an effort was made in this direction. The condition of this Street has been a disgrace to the city for months, more especially as it is one of the principal thoroughfares of the city, and we hope that the cleaning now in progress may improve its appearance.

Shipping Notes.

Twelve Months a Prisoner in Germany.

Pte. Albert M. Martin Tells of His Treatment While in the Hands of the Huns.

Private A. M. Martin of the Nfld. Regiment arrived in the city on Friday by the S. S. Sachem, having been a prisoner of war in Germany, since December 8th, 1917, shortly after the Cambrai drive. On that day a portion of the Regiment's trench was taken by the Germans, and he, with about 30 others, including Pte. John Hennebury, M.M., who was dressing Pte. Martin's wounds at the time, were taken prisoners. A German soldier, seeing that Pte. Martin was wounded and helpless was about to shoot him when Pte. Hennebury pushed his rifle aside, thus, no doubt, saving his life. Pte. Hennebury then carried him back to the German dressing station where his wounds were attended to by a German doctor who did not handle him any too gently. From the dressing station he was taken on a hospital train to a Military Hospital at Le Cateau, France, where he remained three months. While at this Hospital Pte. Hillier, of Ours, died, from what cause Pte. Martin is unable to say, as it was only the evening before his death that he was speaking to him and then he seemed to be as well as usual. The attendance at this hospital was very bad; the prisoners were crowded together, being discharged from hospital Pte. Martin was sent to a prison camp in Le Cateau where he found the prisoners in a terrible condition with dirt and vermin, having no soap and no possible chance of getting a bath; all without a change of clothing for months, and sleeping on stone floors all through the winter with only one blanket to cover them. The next move was to Lequeucy, a notorious camp, near Valenciennes, where 10 men were packed into a small room about 10 feet square with very little ventilation, the windows being tightly closed all the time. The food consisted mainly of a quarter of a pound of black bread a day, with soup made from sauerkraut. He remained there about ten days and then was sent direct to Germany, through Belgium, in a cattle truck, the awful journey taking 2 1/2 days. They arrived at Dulmen more dead than alive having had to walk 10 miles from the train to the camp. Here he found thousands of prisoners of all nationalities and during his stay of three weeks he found conditions far better than at the other camps; the treatment given the prisoners being more what a Christian should receive. From Dulmen he and 60 English prisoners were sent on commando, where they worked in the mines and on the coke ovens, (the very worst kind of work). Their hours were from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. and all day and night (24 hour shift) every other Sunday. This lasted about 2 1/2 months, and, owing to the shortage of food, Pte. Martin was reduced in weight to 90 lbs. (a living skeleton) when some parcels came through from England just in time to save the men's lives. In addition to food the parcels contained clothing and soap so that the men could also keep themselves fairly clean. One day, after having spent about 7 months at the coke ovens, the guard beat Martin about the body with the butt of his rifle till he (Martin) could stand it no longer so he put the guard to sleep and in doing so smashed his hand so badly that he was unfit for work so they sent him to Munster to stand his trial for mu-

West Coast Notes.

The Society of United Fishermen at Channel have made extensive improvements to their Hall, which is now one of the finest and most up-to-date on the South Coast.

Codfish continues fairly plentiful about Channel and neighboring fishing grounds, and the halibutting season has also opened promisingly, some boats recently taking from 500 to 1,500 pounds daily. The price paid by local dealers is 10 cents per pound.

The people of Burgeo and LaPoile district are somewhat surprised that their representative, who by the way resides in Halifax, Nova Scotia, has not yet put in an appearance to discuss legislative matters, but doubtless before Parliament closes he will appear on the scene.

An old and respected resident of Channel, in the person of Mr. Samuel Genes, recently entered into eternal rest. Mr. Genes who was one of the old stock was affected with blindness some years ago. To the bereaved family every sympathy is extended.

A "Dry" Peace.

JUBILATION, BUT LITTLE TO DRINK.
(Daily Mail.)

Are we to have a "dry" peace? People are looking forward to a day of jubilation, and many are making arrangements for luncheons, dinners, and merriment. Tables have been spoken at all the leading restaurants in London and the country. "What is troubling me," said the manager of a large establishment on Saturday, "is not so much where I shall seat all my patrons, as what I shall give them to drink. They will want something better than beer; the price of wine is becoming almost prohibitive, and we cannot get whisky."

Householders intending to give parties in their own homes are in a greater dilemma. The principal stores and wine merchants are still rationing their customers, and will supply only one bottle of whisky and one bottle of brandy or other spirit per month, and at the non-licence shops a fortnightly notice has to be given to obtain a single bottle.

Large Whisky Stocks.
Yet there are large stocks of whisky, and increased withdrawals from bond have been sanctioned by the Liquor Control Board and the Food Controller. A suspicion prevails that middlemen are holding up supplies with the object of getting excessive profits. There is more wine and sherry on the market, but some of it is too crude for immediate consumption.

Champagne is becoming a luxury for millionaires only; nearly all the 1906 wines are crossed off the lists; as much as 35s. is asked for 1911's are marked as high as 15s. bottle. The outlook for peace is gloomily—and dry.

Society's Ugliest

Conduct

Sir Dyce Duckworth, Bt., president of the Society of Photographers in connection with Church Army in Mesopotamia, held at the Royal Hall, said: "In high society there were many signs of carelessness, sloth, and ugly conduct. What was heard of those wild dances that were on among people who ought to be better—dances to music good only for West African savages—was they saw that, in London drawing rooms it showed great degradation and dehumanization. He hoped exhibitions of that taste and character would be stopped."

$50-NO BENEFIT

This money might have been saved by Mr. Z. D'Muro of 722 Papineau Ave., Montreal, had he only known of Zam-Buk sooner. Writing to the proprietors of Zam-Buk, a short time ago, he said:

"For over a year I suffered with eczema which nothing seemed able to cure. I had treatment from three doctors, which cost me $50, but none of them were able to cure me. I suffered intensely from the irritation and pain, and I thought I should never get relief, until one day a friend told me about Zam-Buk and I started using it right away. From the very first application I felt better. Zam-Buk relieved the irritation and seemed to cool and soothe the sores. Gradually the sores began to heal and, with perseverance, Zam-Buk completely rid me of the disease. I would like to be able to tell all sufferers from eczema to stop experimenting with useless remedies and use Zam-Buk. By using this balm in the first place they would save themselves needless suffering and expense."

Zam-Buk should be in every home, not only for skin troubles, boils, rashes, pimples, abscesses and ulcers, but also for cuts, burns, and scalds, for which it is indispensable. Get a box to-day. It will keep indefinitely and still retain its strength and purity. All dealers, 50c. box.

'The Siberian Sapper'

Captain Jack Turner, M.C., has our thanks for a simple copy of the bright little magazine, "The Siberian Sapper," published at Vladivostok, Siberia, by the 16th Field Co., Canadian Engineers. The "Siberian Sapper" is edited and compiled by the litterati of the Battalion and an excellent periodical results. It will be interesting here to know that a large share of the contents is contributed by Jack Turner, the soldier-poet, and author of "Buddy's Blighty." Below are some extracts from the "Sapper."

"GOSSIP"

Signs attached to a pile of cases at Base Supply Depot read: "FOR YOUR information these cases contain hard-tack. Leave them alone" Camouflage? We wonder!

Now that signs of spring are in the air, will the S. O. S. kindly arrange for an issue of moth-balls, so that we may put fur caps in storage for the summer.

Can Lt. Col. Lambert throw any light on the story which is going the rounds about six months post discharge pay? If it is not to be forthcoming, it would be kindness to tell us before we have it all spent.

Now that we have a Railway Transport Officer of our own, perhaps Lt. Englehart will try to arrange some up-country tours for deserving officers.

Who was the real sponsor of Going Home Rumour No. 1756937, that we are to return on March 21st accredited to our worthy Chaplain on Sunday before last. Is the Reverend Gentleman willing to bet on it?

We are pleased to notice the advent of a contemporary paper amongst the Canadian Forces. "The Rumorologist," which is evidently the house organ of the Fushinsky Theatrical Company, has made its initial appearance as a two page "ronco." The aims and editorial policy are not very clearly defined in the first issue, but it is intended to chronicle and classify the varied rumours and stage whispers which float through the Auditorium, the publication is most timely, and the Editorial Staff have a vast field of research to draw upon.

The many friends of Lt. Col. Brook,

D.S.O. will be glad to learn that the condition of his nose is due entirely to a regrettable accident, and that the rumoured connexion between this disfigurement and the gash on Major Sasewell's chin has no foundation in fact.

Lt. Turner, M.C. (the Author of "Taking Over") when last seen by our Second River reporter, denied flatly that he wrote the verse in question. We are glad to take this opportunity of correcting the prevalent suspicion that he did write it. He also states that the next poem he writes will be worse.

OVERHEARD ON PARADE AT CORONAL

Officer—What was your occupation, my man, before you joined the Army?
Recruit—Mechanical Engineer, Sir!
Officer—Where were you employed?
Recruit—On a tug on the Lachine Canal, Sir!

Officer—Are you a good Engineer?
Recruit—Pretty good, Sir!
Officer—Well now! suppose you are in the engine room of a tug on the Canal; everything is apparently all right; the fires are burning; you know the boilers are all right; you suddenly notice there is no water in the gauge. What is the first thing you would do?
Recruit—You say the boilers are all right; the fires are burning and everything all right. Are the pumps working?
Officer—Yes! the pumps are working and everything is all right. What is the first thing you would do?
Recruit—Everything is all right, fires burning, boiler and pumps working, and no water in the gauge—What would I do—Look over the side to see if there were any water in the Canal.

SOME TIME!

It was rumoured that Walters (S) hearing that some nurses had arrived at the Hospital, climbed the wall one night and met Miss P—l. She was wandering beside a Swift Brook, which had steep banks, and carried a box under her arm. She wore a Taylor made suit, but as her hair was short, it was a question whether she had come from East Barracks or Headquarters. He was much taken by Irwin (ing) ways. They stopped at the Woodhouse, and he told her in a Sutton manner that there was a Stayner two or her waist, and offered her a box of Keadling (S) to remove them. It rather Gauld her to be in this condition and picking up a Shortfread, she walked on in a Saswell sort of way, remarking that she "wasn't Gornostal." She was so peeved she was about to Lambert Massey, but Potter, who is a "Jake fellow, was in her way, and all she did was to Barkale ankle.

She walked to East Barracks where she discovered a Hatch left open, covered with only a spider's Webb, and raised Cain with the man who Hughes wood smashing in his Christie. Her appetite was somewhat appeased by a box of McCormack's, supplied by the Hants, which they could a (Ford), and it was with great difficulty that it was possible to Turner out. As for the doors, she almost Benham from their hinges. We doubt if Everett will occur again, as our Hall was a wreck. It was Adam shame, and the Morrissey of her the more I love my Coolie. It was a heliofatome.

Rev. Father Rene Labelle, parish priest of Notre Dame, Montreal, was recently at New York chosen as Superior General of the Sulpician Order in Canada, to succeed Rev. Father Troie, who died some days ago.

Mayor J. E. Meyers, of Minneapolis, seorns elevators and runs up the four flights of stairs to his office every morning. He says he does it to gain time and the exercise required to keep in trim for his sedentary duties.

The Rapid Transit Subway Construction Company, in New York, a jury says, must pay $50,500 to the owners of a 10-storey building at Thames and Greenwich Streets, erected in 1889, which now sways and vibrates, because of the subway underneath it.

"There should be a public spanker," suggested Crown Attorney General Greer in the general session at Toronto on Monday when several young men between the ages of 17 and 20 appeared before Judge Coatsworth for sentences on charges of stealing automobiles.

At Meriden, Conn., recently, Mrs. Julia Copperhill celebrated her 101st birthday, and didn't have to put on any "specs" to read the many messages of congratulation that came to her. Despite her great age, Mrs. contained a cheque for £10,000, health, and reads and sews without glasses.

Point Judith Light, near Newport, R.I., has been fitted with an electrically operated phonograph and megaphone apparatus and literally transforms it into a "talking lighthouse." Vessels fitted with a receiving outfit can plainly hear the megaphoned warning, repeated every five seconds, "Point Judith Light." Any ship that comes within two miles of the light hears a mysterious voice also calling "You're getting closer. Keep off!"

When the Bishop of Liverpool, G.B., was opening his letters recently he found in one of them a £1,000 cheque. Within a few minutes he had a still greater surprise, for another letter contained a cheque for £10,000. These gifts, Dr. Chavasse announced, were to assist the poor clergy of the diocese, for which object he recently made an appeal. In each case the donor wished to remain anonymous.

What the coroner described as the worst and saddest influenza tragedy he had heard of was disclosed in Dublin, at an inquest on Mrs. Francis Phelan. It was explained that she was found dead in bed when the room was forced open. Her husband, his sister, and a child were also found in a dying condition, and the three had since died. The family had been stricken with influenza, and had not been able to call in assistance.

One thousand bass are now dwelling imprisoned in cans with holes in the top under 10 feet of water in a lake near West Chester, Penn. They were supplied by the States Fisheries Department to the lake's owner, who wished to stock up with bass. He reeled out with the cans, each containing 200 baby fish. The boat capsized, the cargo sank, the man swam to shore.

How an old French woman living in St. Souplet stole an enemy machine gun after the town had been captured by the Germans, slowly collected ammunition, which she stored in her cellar, and turned the weapon on the fleeing Germans when the 27th (New York) Division pressed forward into the place, is told by Major Tristram Tupper, Division Adjutant. After the fighting had ceased the body of the aged woman was found beside the machine gun. The Germans had returned to shoot and stab with their bayonets the grand dame who had done her bit for France.

A clergyman who was not distinguished toward an occasional glass, says London Tit-Bits, hired an Irishman to clean out his cellar. He brought out a number of empty whisky bottles, and as he lifted each one looked to see if there was anything in it. The clergyman, who was walking on the lawn, noticed him, and said: "They are all dead ones, Mike." "They are," answered Mike. "But there is one good thing about it, they all had the minister with them when they passed away!"

Nfld. Poultry Ass'n.

The Nfld. Poultry Association met last night in the Board of Trade Rooms, the President, H. W. LeMessurier, C.M.G., presiding.

Mr. Frank Miller was admitted as a member of the Association.

Secretary Calver declared that the demand for hatching eggs was good and that as the supply on hand was limited those still in need of eggs had better apply at once.

The spilling of eggs in shop windows was discussed, it being pointed out that when eggs are in windows through which the sun shines, then incubation starts in, and the housewife secures bad eggs.

Mr. W. R. Butler promised to read a paper, "My Ten Years Experience of Poultry Raising in Nfld.," at the next meeting.

It was opined by the meeting that "cold brooders" are much preferable in the brooding of chicks.

You Can't Find Any Dandruff and Hair Stops Coming Out.

Save your hair! Make it thick, wavy, glossy and beautiful at once.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking only one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment. A small bottle will double the beauty of your hair.

Progress Points.

Do you ever think of what your employer expects from you? Here are a few helpful tips:

Be Reliable. Your employer wants to know that he can rely on what you tell him and on what you do.

Be Keen. Your employer detests indifference. How can he possibly take a friendly interest in you if you don't take an interest in your job?

Be Accurate. Every employer has a horror of carelessness—slipshod ways of doing things. Inaccuracy irritates him.

Be Cheerful. An employer likes to see bright faces. He doesn't like complaints and lamentations. He may give a man a better job because the latter's face cheers him up.

An Entertainment will be given by the Young Ladies' Guild of the Presbyterian Church on Tuesday evening, April 29th, at 8.15, in the Presbyterian Hall. A double bill will be presented. Part one will consist of a one-act farce entitled "That Blonde Person." Part two, a Minstrel Show, entitled "Uncle Joe's Creole Belles." Come and hear the latest jokes and quips, and the old familiar negro melodies. Tickets 50c. April 21, 1919.

HOSPITAL CASES.—Three patients entered hospital Saturday and Sunday and in each case the patient was suffering from hernia.

Big Billiard Breaks.

Many people have been wondering lately why it is we never hear nowadays of such sensational scores as were made in the exhibition billiard matches of years ago.

The reason is, of course, that certain strokes are now barred, or partially barred.

It is not allowed, for example, to pot the red more than three times running. Before this rule was made, Peall, upon one occasion, played the stroke 633 times in succession.

Another partially barred stroke is the "anchor cannon." The record billiard score was achieved by Dawson with this stroke. He made over 21,000 successive cannons, his total for the break being 42,746.

Canada vs. United States

"Horses," remarked the Yankee. "I guess you can't tell me much about horses. Why, I once had a mare that whacked our fastest express on a thirty-mile run!"

"That's nothing," rejoined the Canadian. "I was out on our ranch one day, twenty miles from home, when a frightful storm came on."

"Was?" queried the American. "I turned my horse's head for home, and he raced the storm for the last ten miles!"

"Is that all?" sneered the Yankee. "No," resumed the Canadian. "Although I didn't get a drop of rain, my little dog, only ten yards behind me, had to swim home."

the Founders, requested the Hon. J. D. Ryan, K.C.S.G., to invite the Presidents and Representatives of the various Catholic Societies to meet him in the Benevolent Irish Society's rooms with a view of placing before them this urgent need. The utmost enthusiasm was manifested by all present, and the project received the warmest endorsement of this very representative gathering. In view of the fact that the work of the institution has always received the most practical support from all sections of the community it was decided to issue a public appeal through the Press. For this purpose a committee was appointed, consisting of the Presidents of the various Societies and some others, from whom the following were chosen as officers: Chairman, Hon. J. D. Ryan, K.C.S.G.; Vice-Chairman, Hon. W. J. Ellis; Secretary, Mr. J. C. Pippy; Treasurers, Messrs. C. J. Ellis and C. J. Myler.

A subscription list was opened at the meeting and offerings mentioned hereunder were announced. Contributions to the fund may be sent to any of the officers of the committee, Brother Ennis, or to the Presidents of the various Catholic societies.

That such an object will receive the support it merits, is evidenced by the whole-hearted spirit manifested, and by the liberality already displayed. We bespeak for this worthy fund a collection which will prove how much our people appreciate the splendid work which has been done by the Brothers on behalf of the orphans, and through them for the country at large.

Construction of Large Motor Vessel in Glasgow.

The British twin-screw Diesel engine vessel "Glennapp," which has just been built by a Glasgow shipyard is, according to the local press, the largest and most powerful motor vessel in the world. It is of 10,000 tons deadweight, and has two sets of engines, constructed by Messrs. Harland & Wolff, at their Glasgow works. These give a total of 6,600, which figures represent a very marked progress in this type of vessel. The engine room auxiliaries, also all deck machinery, including the steering gear, are electrically driven, the power being generated by two auxiliary Diesel sets in the engine room. A small oil-fuel boiler supplies steam for heating and cooking systems and for fire-extinguishing purposes. The oil fuel is carried in double bottoms.

The vessel is designed with four masts, three of which act as derrick posts, and the accommodation for officers and crew is on the most up-to-date lines, separate messrooms being supplied for seamen and motor-men, and separate living rooms for the crew.

The Real Reason.

A woman missionary in China was taking tea with the eight wives of a mandarin. The Chinese ladies expressed great wonder at the lady's clothing, but her feet especially astonished them.

"Why," said one, "you can walk and run as well as a man."

"Of course," replied the missionary. "Can you ride a horse, and swim too?"

"Certainly."

"Then you are as strong as a man?"

"I am."

"And you wouldn't let a man beat you, even if he was your husband, would you?"

"Indeed, I should not," responded the missionary emphatically. "No Englishwoman ever allows such things."

The mandarin's wives exchanged knowing looks with each other and then the eldest said softly:

"That explains why the foreign devil has never more than one wife. He is afraid!"

The Outstanding Product of a Large Manufacturing House

FOUR large factories and five distributing warehouses stand back of Brandram's Genuine B.B. White Lead.

Every step in its manufacture is closely watched by chemical engineers—nothing is left undone which would help to maintain the quality of the world's finest white lead.

Brandram's Genuine B.B. White Lead

Is different from any other white lead. To begin with, it is corroded by several secret processes which are then merged into a pigment of marvellous smoothness. This pigment is ground no less than five times, first under huge stones, and finally between heavy steel rolls. In this grinding process, it is made into a pulp by being mixed with pure refined linseed oil made in our own linseed oil mills.

Whenever you paint, use Brandram's Genuine B.B. White Lead if you mix your own paint. If you want to save the labor of mixing you can ensure the use of this quality pigment only by getting B-H "English" Paint.

What He Wanted.—Are you looking for a "permanent" investment? "Not too permanent." "Hub!" "Don't want to put my money in unless there's a chance to get it out!"

A Long Trip.—Speaking of British errors about British overseas Dominions, we may mention one recently quoted in London Punch as coming from an English provincial paper: "For some days Private Theo pushed a 150-pound cart through the snow which covered the vast stretch between London (Ontario) and Canada."
