PARIS MAY SETTLE CONFERENCE FATE

Anxious Waiting for Dictum on Russian Policy.

Barthou Says it is Less an Answer Than Indictment of Powers—British View is That Something Might Come of Commission.

(Canadian Press Cable) Genoa, May 12.—The fate of the Genoa conference may be settled today in Paris in the opinion of many of the delegates, and the decision of Premier Poincare on the Russian reply to the ultimatum memorandum is awaited here with the utmost anxiety.

Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain and Signor Schuler, Italian foreign minister, have used all their influence with the chief of the French delegation, M. Barthou, to impress upon him that the Russian note, although no so favorable as was hoped, still leaves the door open for profitable discussions, and perhaps for general agreements. They urged him to reflect this opinion in his dispatches to the premier. It is believed that, if left to themselves, the majority of the powers would favor continuance of the discussion, but if France withdrew from the conference, a certain number of the others would follow her lead.

The number of such powers might be sufficient to render hope of a general agreement with the Soviet government impossible, even should Lloyd George be willing to continue the conference without France. The latter contingency is improbable, however, considering the storm of protest such an indication of the collapse of the Entente might raise in England.

Barthou's Comment. M. Barthou telegraphed the text of the Russian communication to Paris yesterday and expects to receive his instructions today. After reading the document his only comment was: "It is less an answer than an indictment of the powers, coupled with a flat refusal to reply to the questions put to them (the Russians)."

French Opinion. The British view, as given by Sir Edward Greig, was that the note "certainly was for a rejoinder."

Other members of the French delegation said the reply could only cause a delay in the conference because it indisputably dismissed the past and concerned itself with the future. Its reference to the economic situation was declared to be unsatisfactory as it refused to accept points already raised in documents which had been approved by Belgium or France.

QUESTION RE THE CATTLE EMBARGO

London, May 12.—(Canadian Press)—When asked in the House of Commons yesterday whether any proposal to admit Canadian store cattle to the United Kingdom would be confined to cattle coming direct by sea and not those sent through ports of the U. S., Sir A. Griffiths said he understood it was desired to move merely that the embargo on the importation of Canadian cattle be removed. He added that it was for Mr. Speaker to decide what, if any, limitations should be placed on discussion, the scope of the motion and what amendments would be in order.

CONCERNED OVER TARIFF BOOSTS

British Board of Trade President Presents Estimates. Confident of Holding Own in Trade With Dominions—A Disquieting Feature is Attempted Discrimination Against British Shipping.

(Canadian Press Cable) London, May 12.—Night Hon. Stanley Baldwin, president of the board of trade, in introducing his estimates in the House of Commons yesterday, reviewed the world trade. He said there was nothing in the condition of the British dominions, the United States, Holland or Scandinavia or Spain to prevent them buying largely again.

He regarded with apprehension the increase in traffic, especially in France, Italy, Spain and the U. S. but was confident that Great Britain would hold its own in trade with the dominions. A further disquieting feature, Mr. Baldwin said, was the attempted discrimination in certain maritime countries against British shipping. He hoped the board and the dominions would confer with regard to this matter before it was too late. If the restoration of Europe were delayed, Great Britain must intensify its development of inter-imperial trade.

YOUTH DEAD FROM POISON

Mother and a Man are Held by Peterboro Police for a Hearing.

Peterboro, Ont., May 12.—Death from strychnine poisoning, with a recommendation for a thorough investigation into the case was the verdict last night of a coroner's jury empaneled to investigate the circumstances surrounding the death of Ernest Edwards, whose body was found lying in a Dunmer Down year on April 12.

MISSING MONTHS; BODY IN RIVER

Fate of Principal of an Ontario School Determined—Identification by Papers.

Windsor, Ont., May 11.—Missing since November 7 of last year, when he disappeared from a Walkerville ferry, the body of W. Ross Ellison, principal of Prince Edward school, was taken from the river last night. Personal papers still in the clothing assured identification. In addition to these papers, including a bank book, was $68 in Canadian currency. Ellison is said to have had $100 when he left home on the night he disappeared. He was suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Manufacturers of Maritimes Urging Course

Sell All C. G. M. M. Ships Under 5,000 Tons, Get Larger Ones and Go After Business—W. S. Fisher Addresses Meeting.

(Canadian Press) Halifax, N. S., May 12.—That all ships of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine under 5,000 tons be sold and new steamers of larger tonnage be procured with a view to capturing the West Indies trade, is a suggestion which the maritime division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, would have the association take up with the Canadian government. The ships to be procured would take care of passenger service and refrigerator transportation. It was also suggested that steps be taken to stimulate tourist traffic between Canada and the West Indies, and that the winter flow of Canadians from Florida and other U. S. points to the British tropical islands be encouraged.

SEEKS HER CHILD; TAKES POISON

Montreal Woman, Unable to Have Case Reopened in a Boston Court.

Boston, May 12.—Unable to reopen a case against her husband in 1918, for the possession of a child, Emily F. Towner, of Montreal, swallowed poison today in an attempt to force the Boston courts to reopen her case. Her condition is critical, so physicians in a Boston hospital said last night.

SACRED PLACES WHICH MUST BE KEPT INVIOLENT

A Committee to Designate Them for the League of Nations—Economic Protection Over Albania Blocked

Geneva, May 12.—The council of the League of Nations will probably appoint a committee composed of Christians, Jews and Moslems to designate the sacred places in Palestine which must be kept inviolate. The possibility of the league establishing an economic protectorate over Albania was definitely blocked at a public session of the council this morning. The council has approved a report recommending such a protectorate.

First Shut-Out for the Giants

McGraw's Men Get Only One Hit Off Bill Doak.

(Canadian Press) New York, May 12.—Bill Doak of the Cardinals made room for himself in the 1922 ball of pitching axes yesterday by holding the Giants to one hit, a slow-moving bunt by Bancroft in his first attempt at the bat. The westerners won, of course, gathering enough hits off Phil Douglas to count twice. It was the first shut-out of the season for the world champions.

ROYAL VISIT TO BELGIUM ENDED

Boulogne, May 12.—King George and Queen Mary today concluded their visit of state to Belgium. King George tomorrow will place wreaths on the graves of British heroes who fell in the northern sector of France.

Knockout Blow WAS A FAIR ONE

British Writers on Victory of Carpenter.

(Canadian Press Cable) London, May 12.—The blow which Georges Carpentier knocked out Ted "Kid" Lewis in the first round of their championship bout here last night was perfectly fair and legitimate and the judgement of all the experts who report the fight for this morning's newspapers. Critics of "Kid" came from all parts of the Olympia auditorium when the decisive blow was struck and the writers go out of their way to prove that the Frenchman used nothing but fair tactics. Joe Palmer, the referee, is quoted in the Daily Telegraph as saying: "The blow was perfectly fair. The men had broken from a clinch and it was Lewis' business to protect himself. This he failed to do."

A COAL MINE IS DYNAMITED

Pennsylvania Property Blown Up—Sheriff and Deputies Leave for Scene.

Pittsburg, May 12.—The Peterman Mine in Pennsylvania township, near here, was blown up early today by a heavy charge of dynamite which threw stones so far that a farm house almost a quarter of a mile away, was damaged. Sheriff Woodside, with a big force of deputies, left Pittsburg this morning for the mine, where it was reported a body of coal striker sympathizers had collected.

More Estimates Passed at Ottawa—Dominion Iron and Steel Claim.

Ottawa, May 12.—(Canadian Press)—Yesterday in the Commons the House in committee passed a vote of $644,000 for approved items of the fiscal year 1920-21. Supplementary estimates for the last fiscal year were considered in committee and took up the most of the time of the House at both afternoon and evening sittings. A vote of $100,000 for penitentiaries was passed, the minister of justice saying that it was necessitated by increased prison population.

NAVY SOON TO USE METAL SEAPLANES

Cleveland Company will Construct Machines from Duralumin.

Washington, May 12.—Secretary Denby of the Navy Department has authorized an announcement that the Glenn L. Martin Company of Cleveland, Ohio, has undertaken the development of a number of seaplanes to be constructed of duralumin, a special alloy of metal, and to be used by the fleet for spotting guns at long ranges. The construction of metal aircraft of duralumin is a departure for this firm, which hitherto has built planes of the ordinary wood and wire type, such as the well-known Martin bombers which were used last summer in the airplane bombing attacks that destroyed a number of former German ships off the entrance to the Virginia Capes.

The development of metal aircraft construction in the United States, Secretary Denby said, has been made possible by the Navy Department in that the special alloy metal, duralumin, originally developed in Germany, has been introduced to American manufacturers in connection with the construction of the rigid airship ZR-1 at the naval aircraft factory at Philadelphia. This work has now progressed to the point, according to naval aviation experts, where duralumin of proper quantity, and in all of the useful shapes, is now available to any aircraft builder from at least two American commercial sources. The naval aircraft factory at Philadelphia has also developed special machinery and processes for its fabrication.

Metals Parts Under Construction. Aircraft manufacturers transacting business with the Bureau of Aeronautics of the navy have been invited frequently to visit the factory at Philadelphia to observe the metal fabrication of the work that is going on there. Besides the construction of the giant rigid airship ZR-1, the parts of which are being manufactured at Philadelphia for erection at the naval air station at Lakehurst, the factory is also building metal wings, pistons and other parts for seaplanes. Just as the surface fleet of the navy passed by stages of evolution through the era of wood into that of steel, so it is predicted by experts that the air fleet of the naval service will proceed from the period of wood and linen into that of metal.

Secretary Denby said that the Stout Engineering Laboratories, Inc., of Detroit, were also working with duralumin. This firm has received a contract from the Navy Department for the construction of experimental torpedo-carrying seaplanes to be built entirely of metal, and a simple machine of this character is now under trial flights. Other manufacturers in work for the navy, it was disclosed, have employed duralumin for parts of airplanes with success, notably the Gallaudet Aircraft Corporation of Providence, R. I., and the Aeromarine Plane and Motor Company of Kew-Forest, N. J.

"It is expected," said Secretary Denby, "that future naval aircraft will be built of metal to an increasing extent. The advantages of metal over wood are especially important for tropical service. After nearly twenty years of flying without knowing just how it was done, new instruments have been devised by the aeronautical experts and pilots of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics by which can be recorded what an airplane pilot does and how the airplane responds. Three special instruments have been perfected to record the speed of the airplane in the air, the loadings or changes in weight on the wings and the movement of the controls. Although these instruments are fairly complicated, their operation is simple and mechanical. The recording is done by means of a photographic film. The results reveal for the first time a practical method of securing information in testing new types of airplanes and of determining the ability and technique of a pilot. The last function of the instruments will be of great value to the pilots themselves and to instructors of novices, who are seldom able to recall just what they did with the controls at a certain point of a flight.

The first of these new instruments is an air speed meter. Another is used for recording variations in the loading on the wings in flight and the landing carriage when landing, taking off, or running along the ground. In flying through a loop, for example, the pilot is sitting down hard as he goes up and again as he flattens out, but he is literally hanging in his belt at the top of the loop. It is these variations in load on the wings, due to the weight of the airplane and the aviators in the air, that are recorded by this instrument and also the weight on the carriage while on the ground.

The third device—a control-position recorder—indicates the exact position of all the controls during any manoeuvre or part of a flight. When the pilot gives his ship left-rudder it is recorded in degrees. When he dives by pushing on his "stick," or pulls it back to lift the nose, the movements are shown on the record of the flight. After he lands, there is no argument as to what he did, for it is plotted from an automatic record. If one pilot reported that a certain airplane was not controllable, he could be checked up by having another pilot put the airplane through the same manoeuvres, and then comparing the records of both pilots as delineated by the new instrument.

"CRAMMING" CHILD'S BRAIN.
Professor Sess Too Much "Higher Education" in Schools.

Philadelphia, May 12.—Too much "higher education" in elementary schools was deplored as tending to "strain eleven-year-old brains" beyond capacity by Phillip Marshall Brown, professor of international law at Princeton University, in an address before the public conference on training men for foreign commercial service.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the committee of fifteen appointed by the United States Bureau of Education and was preliminary to the opening tomorrow of the National Foreign Trade Convention.

There is too much being piled into the elementary and high school courses, declared Professor Brown. "Most of us have a mentality of eleven years, anyway. Psychologists and sociologists all tell us that this piling in of too much higher education is going to be bad for society in the long run."

Professor James P. Lichtenberger, president of the American Sociological Society; Stephen P. Dugan, director of the Institute of International Education, New York; Wallace W. Atwood, president of Clark College, Worcester, Mass.; and Glen L. Swiggett, head of commercial education in the Federal Bureau of Education, were among the day's speakers.

BETTER THAN HARD COAL
Soft coal so free from soot that it does not make whiskers on stove covers or pipe and does not mat or clog when burning, is far better than Hard Coal for general household use. Quicker to light, takes less to make a fire, cheaper in price and can also be used for open fires and small heating stoves. Such a coal is Broad Cove soft coal. The main thing is to insist on getting the genuine article. No other soft coal burns just like Broad Cove. You will know it by the above characteristics.

BRONZE AGE HOME NOT ATTRACTIVE

Prehistoric Houses Draughty in Winter, Smoky in Summer, Said Prof. Windle—Methods of Defence.

Notwithstanding the many discomforts and drawbacks which characterize our modern apartment houses, we in the twentieth century have much to be thankful for that our lot was not cast in the Bronze Age. In a recent issue of the "Preliminary Man in England" in Switzerland, said Professor Windle, gave rise to much discussion as to why such a tiny instrument should have been used there, until somebody remembered that today the Swiss reapers use a very small sickle beside the corn fields there are so hilly that a larger tool would stick into the earth at every stroke.

The small hillocks to be found in many parts of England and Ireland were the "barrows" or burial places of that age, and these were responsible for many of the prehistoric photographs of the period. Photographs of many samples of "drinking cups" and "eating vessels" were shown by the lecturer, who pointed out the primitive attempts at art in the form of incised lines and patterns on the surface of these vessels. Two almost identical photographs of pottery were of particular interest, said the lecturer, as one was made about thirty years ago at Port Moresby in North Australia, and the other one dated back more than 4000 years.

The dwelling places were exceedingly primitive and in many cases consisted merely of hollows burrowed in the earth, with a covering of reeds, but the later type of house was the "bee-hive" hut, which was a more pretentious structure, many examples of which were still to be found in England and Ireland. Photographs of some of these still extant in County Kerry showed the simple masonry employed, the stones being piled on each other without any attempt at mortar, and having a kind of chimney or hole at the top. "I presume," said Prof. Windle, "that in winter at any rate these huts had an outer covering of turf to keep out the biting draughts that must have blown through them otherwise, but the alternative smoke and stiffness cannot have been much of an improvement.

Of particular interest were the ingenious methods employed by the builders of some of these forts against sudden attacks by an enemy. The most commonly employed device was an outer wall having only one narrow entrance easily guarded by a few of the garrison, and when one entered by this door a maze of winding paths presented themselves, leading into cunningly contrived traps for the invaders.

This idea, said the lecturer, of prevention against attack was to be found in widely distinct places and ages. In England the tops of mountains were used for the building of forts, which were surrounded by immense moats some of which were sixty feet in depth, and which concealed 10,000 men without any trouble. The moats were filled with water, and the same idea was responsible for the Borneo lake dwellings which had been burned down about forty years ago, and the other Swiss lake village whose ruins date back some 3000 years. The Swiss ruins had been found to be treasure places for archaeologists, as household articles of the bronze age dropped between the cliffs and crevices in these rude structures into the water beneath.

The idea of the town planners in these Swiss lake villages, said the lecturer, presented an interesting counterpart with those of the Romans, as both had the same idea of streets running at right angles. The exactly similar idea is that of the "block" in the modern American cities.

WADES INTO WATER TO AVOID CAPTURE

Chatham Man Makes Getaway Through Marshy Borders of St. Clair.
Chatham, May 12—Wanted by the county police on the charge of forgery, Jaeger St. Pierre last night evaded county officers by wading out into Lake St. Clair near Mitchell's Bay and eluding capture when darkness hampered his pursuers.

County Constable Peters, with his assistants, started out to arrest St. Pierre on the forgery charge, involving one thousand dollars. After several inquiries, they located their man near Mitchell's Bay. It was nearly dusk when they arrived at the place where St. Pierre was living, but he saw them in time to make a getaway. After a hot chase the man succeeded in getting into the water. Shots were fired at the fugitive, but he kept on wading through the marsh. Before a boat could be secured darkness had fallen.

The hunt was resumed in the morning, but he had been burned down about forty years ago, and the other Swiss lake village whose ruins date back some 3000 years. The Swiss ruins had been found to be treasure places for archaeologists, as household articles of the bronze age dropped between the cliffs and crevices in these rude structures into the water beneath.

THE COUNCIL WILL PROCEED.

Mayor McLellan and Commissioners Wigmore, Bullock and Frink approved of the policy set forth in the campaign that the civic power commission should be entirely independent of City Hall. Commissioner Thornton stood out for an audit of all accounts by the city controller. He agreed with every other feature of the policy for civic distribution of hydro, including the appointment of a power commission. The difference on one point between him and the rest of the council was not of sufficient importance to be permitted to wreck the whole hydro project. Those who oppose civic ownership, along with the New Brunswick Power Company and its friends, no doubt hoped this result would follow, but they are disappointed. Mayor McLellan, in an interview published today, declares that "no question of an audit is going to prevent the people of St. John from securing the benefits of Musquash power at the least possible cost to the community."

His worship takes the broad view, in which his colleagues and the citizens will concur, that progress is not to be blocked by disputes over minor details. There is no occasion whatever for heroics in behalf of the public interest, which can only be served by carrying out the policy of getting hydro-electric power to the people at cost. This is the declared policy of the city council.

THE RUSSIAN PROBLEM.

The situation in Genoa in regard to Russia lends interest to the attitude of the United States, which is not taking part in the Genoa conference but must be regarded as a factor in the final settlement of Russian affairs. Secretary Hughes has steadfastly refused in behalf of the American government to recognize the Soviet government of Russia. Last week a delegation of women urged that full recognition be granted to the Russian Republic and other republics carved out of old Russia. Of Secretary Hughes' reply, Bradstreet's says—

"The secretary pointed out that the interest of the United States in the people of Russia has been manifested in the most unmistakable manner, and that there is no disposition here to interfere with the Russian people in working out their own destiny although there have been organized efforts on the part of the Soviet regime to interfere in the domestic affairs of other peoples. He further directed attention to the fact that there are no legal obstacles to trade with Russia, and that the handicaps that do exist are due to the situation in Russia itself, which is in the control of those who dominate its affairs. Russia, he said, needs credit, but it is idle to expect credit unless there is a basis for it, and that basis cannot be supplied from the outside but must be furnished inside of Russia. Political recognition, the secretary added, follows the establishment of a sound basis for intercourse, and is dependent upon the existence of a government that is competent to discharge its international obligations." We are, Mr. Hughes concluded, most desirous to do what we can to aid in Russia's recuperation, but those who dominate the affairs of that country must establish the basis for it."

The aim of the other powers at Genoa has been to get from Russia such assurance as would be a satisfactory basis of agreement under which they could render aid in the restoration of that country. Nothing but ill-considered obstinacy could prevent Russia from meeting the other powers in such a manner as to restore confidence and clear the whole European atmosphere.

The Standard cannot decide the people by suggesting that the market for hydro-electric current will be so restricted as to make the price higher than at present. Not only will there be eventually a market for 10,000,000 kilowatt hours, but for a great deal more. The initial cost to consumers may be somewhat greater because of the inaction of the old city council for a year or more, and it would be still greater if there were further delay in moving to get a distribution system; but once the market is gained the price will be low and will always remain low. If the New Brunswick Power Company had its way the price would always remain high. We are building for the future, and monopolies must be broken.

Sir Robert Home, chancellor of the Exchequer, anticipates a trade revival here very long, and says the situation in Great Britain is now showing improvement. This information, from such a source, is welcome.

The interests of St. John and of the provincial hydro-electric commission in regard to the success of the movement for cheap and ample power in this city are identical. The most hearty co-operation is therefore essential to both.

THANKFULNESS.

If when the evening shadows fall around me,
I can look deep within my heart and say:
"I have been true unto the best within me,
Have tried to live just as I should to-day."

I can be glad, though failures press upon me,
And doubt and grief oppress and weigh my soul,
And know that some time, though the way be weary,
I yet will reach a noble, worthwhile goal.

Katherine Edelman, in Kansas City Star.

William J. Bryan tells of an election contest in a small county where the opponent applying to be sheriff was a Jew. He could not withstand the appeal of the incumbent on the third-term issue. After holding the position twice, he himself felt the need of a third term, and he came to the office of the incumbent. He was so impressed by the fact that this was the very issue which elected him, he could not withstand the appeal of the incumbent on the third-term issue. "LIGHTHOUSE NAN"

Fairville Talent Scores a Hit in City Hall, West Saint John.

"Lighthouse Nan," a comedy-drama in three acts, by The St. Columba Dramatic Club, was presented in City Hall, West Saint John, last evening, under the auspices of the C. G. I. T. of the First Presbyterian church. The production was well received by the audience, and each member of the troupe came in for a good share of applause.

Spoken of as the most successful industrial and business debacle of the disastrous consequences of which cannot be foretold or estimated. The upsurge in 1909 against the excessively high rates of the Payne-Aldrich bill, levied with little reference to principle and chiefly to satisfy the greedy demands of the beneficiaries of protection, not only forced the Republican party to adopt and proclaim a fixed rule of measuring protection to be accorded—namely, the difference in the cost of production here and abroad, which this bill utterly ignores—but brought about the overthrow of that party in 1912.

"It is predicted that this bill, with its prohibitive rates, based on an uncertain and dangerous principle of measuring differences in competitive conditions here and abroad, will not only advance present prices, increase the cost of living, reduce production, create unemployment, but will finally eventuate in the practical monopolization of practically all of our protected industries, making the sway of the trusts and monopolies supreme, and that the overthrow of the Republican party, which will follow, will be as complete and more permanent than that which swept it out of power in 1912."

This report will furnish considerable ammunition for the congressional elections in the fall. Meanwhile congress has not yet agreed finally on the tariff, and it is not yet law. Bradstreet's of last week says—

"Clearly can scarcely be said to have marked the progress of the tariff bill in the Senate thus far, in view of the fact that over two thousand amendments to the House bill are to be passed upon by the upper house. However, after ten days of debate, the first vote upon an amendment was reached on Tuesday of this week. On Thursday the Senate passed another item. This represented such slow progress that Senator McCumber felt moved to say, on the basis of a calculation made by a treasury expert, that at the present rate the bill would pass the Senate in 1946."

At yesterday's meeting of the city council three commissioners testified that there is a good deal of unemployment in the city at the present time. Conditions should improve as the season advances, but it is still desirable that any citizen who can provide even a little work should do so now, in order that those out of employment may be able to earn at least a little money to meet their family needs.

The new city council has made prompt application for 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 kilowatt hours of electric energy from the Musquash development. This is in line with the mandate given by the citizens and proves that the council realizes the necessity of action without delay. The application should have been made last year.

HOW LONG CAN WE LIVE?

How is longevity to be attained? Jean Finlay in the "Have-Much-Wealth" gives an answer, regarding the subject from a new aspect. First of all, he says, the common notions as to the brevity of life must be abandoned. Man, he insists, can live 100 years, and this in a state of health that will permit him to serve himself through all his physiological and moral faculties. He says—
"One of the principal associations for man's death before 100 years has been the false idea that eighty or ninety years mark the extreme limit of his terrestrial life. This auto-suggestion crept like a poison into man's consciousness and made the ravages of time and age more content. As soon as it is replaced by the truth that we can attain the age of a century and a half—many proceed toward it with serenity and radiant contentions of health."

"What is more, physicians for formerly refused to treat in the usual way people who had exceeded the conventional limits of life, but their firmities to quail old age, today treat them like other patients. And they obtain unexpected results."
"Count Greppi, who died in 1920 at the age of 106, furnishes an edifying example for the centenarians of tomorrow. The former Italian ambassador and senator had until the last moment of his life kept up his physical and intellectual faculties. He, no doubt, would still be among the living had it not been for an excessive attachment to which he was necessarily regarded on his way on account of his old age. He was so much tormented on account of his hundred years that he ultimately was seized with anxiety and apprehension that undermined and finally killed him."

Insurmountable documents have been sent to M. Pinot from all part of the globe, enough to fill large volumes. Here is an example, in the contents of a recent letter sent to him by the eminent Chinese lawyer, M. Amadeo Morago Droguet, corresponding member of the Society of Comparative Legislation of Paris.
"I reiterate the doctrine of the functions of protector of the natives, here are, in a population of 40,000 souls, more than twenty persons who have reached the century-and-a-half mark."
"And the author of this document guarantees the absolute authenticity of his statements, resulting from one of the most thorough investigations."
"Since I launched the doctrine of longevity, which actually enjoys a success beyond all my hopes," says M. Pinot, "I have had to surmount my assertions. Dr. Eugene Fisk, president of the Life Extension Institute, at the annual meeting of the New York Medical Society, maintained the doctrine that it will be possible to prolong human life beyond 100 years. He supports his assertion on the fact that we have succeeded in prolonging 300 times the life of certain worms; that the tortoise lives over 2,000 years; and that several plants succeed in going beyond tens of centuries."

"Nothing authorizes us, it is true, to accept the doctrine, which only brings in its favor arguments that have no bearing on human physiology. Yet it must be admitted that the doctrine, however improbable it be, is this and all similar doctrines can only help the triumph of the real doctrine that the real longevity that should attain a century and a half."

CONDITIONS IN GERMANY.

(Montreal Gazette)
An interesting account of the conditions obtaining in Germany at the present time was given by F. W. Fry, a cabin passenger on the Regina. Mr. Fry, who returned from Germany twelve months with his wife and family in Germany, stated that while the German economy had decreased from a pre-war value of 24 cents to its present value of 14 cents, it has also decreased in buying power for the Germans to one-twentieth of its pre-war value, making prices for them from fifteen to twenty times higher.
As examples Mr. Fry mentioned that in making some recent purchases in Berlin he had to pay for a large leather hand-made pigskin bag which was obtained for 3,400 marks, or approximately $117, the same bag which was bought in New York was $92.50, marked down from $128. A pair of Glycerine shoes cost $84.00 a pair, the cost of the best Scotch woolen tweed was bought in Berlin for $10.00. While in Berlin Mr. Fry rented a large furnished house in the best part of the city for 4,800 marks, or about $15 per month, while the household staff, consisting of two housemaids, a cook, scullery-maid and chauffeur, were quite content with a wage of $2 per month each. Mr. Fry stated that conditions in Germany are improving rapidly and that the country's transportation, customs and other public services are now functioning normally.

LADY ASTOR'S APPEAL.

(Lady Astor in Baltimore)
"The big contribution you women can make to politics and national life is to return to the moral standard, instead upon the single standard of morality, not by lowering our standard, but by raising the moral standard to that of women. Do that in America. We are working for it and we are going to do it in England. If America and England do it then all countries will follow."

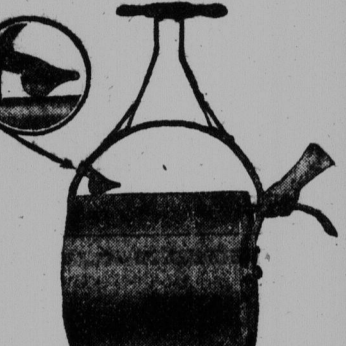

"You cannot be material in your domestic life and be spiritual in your national life. You cannot be material in your national life and be idealistic in your international relations. Lust creates the spirit of war; it is incompatible with the spirit of peace. The material lustful man lives and dies. It is the spiritual man who never dies. So with nations; no material, selfish, lustful nation, however powerful, has ever survived."
"The peace which the world wants is not the peace which comes from a smashing conquest—that sort of peace is apt to sow the seeds of vengeance. I believe the women can help to bring to the world the real peace which paceth all understanding."

"Always remember St. Paul's words: 'I beseech you particularly to women: God has given us the spirit of fear, but of power and of love and of a sound mind.'"

WOMEN AS ECONOMISTS.

(Toronto Globe)
An official who has been doing research work for mutual savings banks in the United States says that wives whose husbands earn less than $4,000 a year make wiser and more economical use of money than do the husbands, but when the family incomes rise above that point the feminine impulse toward economy weakens and the wives are apt to spend on dress more than they can afford.
Arnold Bennett, in his latest book, "Mr. Prohack," develops this theme amusingly. Mr. Prohack was a civil servant with an inelastic income who was plighted, like his class, by rising prices during and after the war. His wife practiced a rigorous and increasing self-denial, but the husband balked at

BURGLAR DEVICES MAY SETTLE RATES

Many Kinds of Man Traps Undergoing Study by Insurance Experts.

(N. Y. Times) To make the contest waged between burglars and burglar traps a little more even, the insurance interests have called upon science to improve the traps. And science is going to do its best. The Underwriter Laboratories, organized and maintained by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, primarily to pass upon fire prevention devices, has undertaken to test burglar alarm systems. George B. Mulder, general agent of the laboratories, said yesterday that the investigation of anti-theft appliances had been undertaken at the request of the Burglary Insurance Underwriters' Association. Contrivances are to be graded according to the way they show up in practical tests, and when the grades are announced insurance rates probably will be determined by the effectiveness of the system protecting the property. It was the tidal dimensions of the crime wave that led the insurance people to turn to mechanical ingenuity for help. Devices guaranteed to prevent the entrance of a thief or warranted to scare him to death after he got inside were being manufactured literally by the thousands by persons seeking to reap a living from the fact that business concerns in every city and town were at their wits' end. "We decided to put it up to the Underwriters' Laboratories to pass upon these devices before we based insurance rates on their practicality," said E. W. Cluff, Secretary of the Burglar Insurance Underwriters' Association. "It's no simple matter these days to get a burglar alarm system that is weather proof, fool proof and warranted to stop robbers. We hope that some of the existing systems may be improved. I am not finding fault, but the outlaws are about two jumps ahead of the best of them here in New York. "There are two appliances which most business houses use in this city. One is the local system and the other is known as a central office system.

A TRIAL Will Satisfy You Windsor Table Salt Purest and Best THE CANADIAN SALT CO. LIMITED

The former has a large gang on the building which is started ringing through one means or another by the robbers when they break and enter. The latter system signals the district office of some agency, which has armed men ready to rush to the scene and arrest the intruders. "The trouble with the local system in this city is that nobody ever pays the slightest attention to the gong. The man on the street is indifferent to its noise though he is walking underneath it. He may glance up, but it never occurs to him that robbers are at work somewhere in that building, or if it does he is too afraid of making a ridiculous mistake to call the police. "The other system used to work, but the bandits have devised a way to beat even that by a sort of hit-and-run play. They have quit fiddling around trying to break a window glass or a door in such a way as not to set off the alarm. They got caught too often doing that. What happens now is this: Four or five men who seem to know the inside of a certain lot or warehouse back a fast automobile up against the curb. The engine is left running. The robbers smash a door or window as if there never was such a thing as a burglar alarm. They have perhaps four or five minutes before the central office men get the flash and race to the rescue. That gives them about three minutes to collect their loot, fur or silks, and make a clean getaway. They don't get so much as they might, but you have got to give them credit; they make the most of a very short time."

A Revolution in Ice Cream Making Purity Ice Cream is made by the new Heath Process—carbonated freezing makes it more refreshing, does away with the dusty air that injures ordinary ice cream. So Purity Ice Cream represents a revolution in ice cream, a revelation in flavor. People say it's divine. Purity ICE CREAM Delicious Nutritious!

Mr. Cluff said that there were hundreds of apartments robbed in New York without any system having been devised that would give real protection to the premises. This is because the majority of such robberies come under the general classification of thefts. They are committed not by burglars who break and enter but by sneak thieves who get in on one pretext or another and walk off with what articles strike their fancy. Among the greatest sufferers from such departments, he said, were the walk-up apartments. For example, a thief has reason to believe that the family on the third floor is out. He pushes the third floor bell in the area-way and the lack of response verifies his supposition. Then he rings the fourth or fifth floor bell. The lock clicks and he is admitted. Once in, it is simplicity to jimmy a door. The insurance man said that it was unfair to blame the crime wave on New York policemen. He added that they were the equal of any force in the country, but New York thieves were by far the cleverest and the most audacious. At the Underwriters' Laboratories, 28 City Hall Place, a formidable list of devices has been submitted and skilled engineers are hard at work in their testing.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR TAG DAY TO AID SALVATION ARMY

Final arrangements were completed last evening for the tag day on Saturday in aid of the social work of the Salvation Army. This branch of the army's work, which means so much to many poor families all over the world, is entirely dependent upon public support and the effort in St. John tomorrow will be in progress wherever the "blood and fire" banner is unfurled. Mrs. S. K. Smith is acting as general convenor for the city and suburbs, and is assisted by the following sub-convenors, each with a capable corps of workers:—Duke, Mrs. R. W. Wigmore, Royal Arms Chapter, I. O. O. F.; Sydney, Mrs. F. N. Holman; Queens, Mrs. H. W. Robertson, opportunity circles, Kings' Daughters; Kings, Miss Frances Britton; Prince, Mrs. A. M. DON'T you agree that the folks who own a motor boat are the ones who get the best fun out of their vacation spent by the water?

And this is just the ideal boat. In addition to its famous patented de-many remarkable advantages. They are the most comfortable with graceful lines and elegant fittings. They are absolutely built—strong and sturdy.

They are scientifically and safely built—with propeller in "cup" shape enabling the boat, and adding to the speed. Their value is possible because we specialize in three models

GOVERNMENT HOLDS 140,000 SHARES OF C. P. R. STOCK

Shares Part of Alien Enemy
Property Seized During the War—Total Alien Property
Held is $20,000,000, Says
Hon. A. B. Copp.

Ottawa, May 11—The government is holding 140,000 shares of C. P. R. stock as a portion of the alien enemy property seized during the war. This information was given to W. F. MacLean, Conservative member for South York, in the House of Commons today. Mr. Mac-Lean asked with regard to these shares when an item of $10,000 for expenses of the clearing house which handles alien enemy property was under discussion.

Hon. A. B. Copp, secretary of state, answered a number of questions in regard to alien enemy property. He told
Hon. T. A. Cresser that the alien enemy property now in the hands of the government was estimated to be worth $20,- 000,000. Its exact value was not known.

The government was merely holding the property as a custodian, and its disposition was now under consideration. Mr.
Copp stated that repatriation claims amounting to $25,000,000 had been filed.
Some of these claims had already been satisfied.

The vote for the clearing house carried.

The Labor Problem Growing
Worse by Attempt of Men to Raise the Wage Scale—
Many Idle in Cities.

(By R. A. Farquharson.)
Staff Correspondent Toronto Globe.

Regina, May 2.—Instead of improving, the farm labor situation in Western Canada, particularly in Saskatchewan, has been growing worse. This province is nearly 2,000 men short of the present farm needs. There is in the west plenty of experienced farm help, but I. W. W. and O. B. U. organizers have been busy, and by refusing to go on the land, the men hope to raise the wages scale. To a certain extent, their move has succeeded. Early in the spring representatives fixed the minimum wage at $35 a month. A week ago in Manitoba it was only an exceptionally good man who was being offered $40; now $40 a month is the minimum for which men having alleged experience, will work. Even at that price they are refusing to work.

Thomas M. Molloy, Commissioner of Labor and Industries for Saskatchewan, told me today that the situation had become so serious it was proposed to bring in 600 farm laborers from the United States.

May Waive Restrictions.
Application will be made to the Dominion Government tomorrow to permit farm hands to cross the border without the required $200 "handing money."

"It is known," Mr. Molloy said, "that I. W. W. organizers have been working all winter among the unemployed farm laborers, while the O. B. U. has been attempting to form an agricultural branch. Last fall several small strikes occurred at three times, the men wanting $1 an hour and an eight-hour day; this time the movement is more general."

It is estimated that more than 1,700 additional laborers are needed in the province. Were it not for the need to hate the situation would soon adjust itself, but the spring has been backward and, if the weather is not to be reduced, labor must be obtained at once for all the farmers.

Many Idle in Cities.
In Saskatchewan itself there are very few unemployed. Many men do not think that there are 600 men out of work in the province and of these very few have farm experience. In Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver the situation is entirely different. In these cities there are said to be more than enough idle farm hands to remedy the present shortage.

A number of men have been brought from Vancouver and more are coming. Railway companies have provided reduced rates from the coast and the trip is costing the laborers less than $15. It is almost as far to the coast as to Toronto, but no reduced rates can be expected from the East. The cost of transportation makes it practically impossible to bring men from Ontario, although it is understood that there is plenty of experienced farm help in the older province.

A number of farm hands who wintered in the balmy air of the coast are dropping back of their own accord and finding employment in districts where they are known. This is helping to relieve conditions. With the 600 men

HEARTBURN
A SEVERE CASE

Many people are troubled with heartburn who really do not realize just what it is.

In cases of this trouble there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach attended by disturbed appetite. It is generally caused by great acidity of the stomach, and whenever too much food is taken, it is liable to ferment, and become extremely sour, causing heartburn. In such cases vomiting often occurs, and what is thrown up is sour and sometimes bitter.

The one way to get rid of heartburn is to keep your liver active by using LAXA-LIVER PILLS.

LAXA-LIVER PILLS
and you will have no heartburn or other liver troubles such as constipation, jaundice, water brash, floating specks before the eyes, coated tongue, foul breath, etc.

Miss Agnes Cutting, Shallow Lake, Ont., writes: "I have had heartburn for a long time. There were gnawing and burning pains in my stomach, and then when I vomited there was a sour, bitter taste. I used two vials of LAXA-LIVER PILLS, and they have cleared me of my heartburn. I don't think they can be beaten by any other medicine."

men from the States it is expected that the situation will be remedied. It is hoped the opening of the southern port will induce Canadians to see the error of their ways and get out on the land.

No Demand for Green Men.
There is no demand at all for inexperienced labor. Farmers have found it too expensive a luxury, even in the best of times. They are loathe to trust six or eight valuable horses to a green man and are not anxious to pay a laborer a day's wage for driving an empty or clogged seeder over a field.

Farmers who have men report that they are getting something approaching a day's work for their money. There is less tendency to loaf on the job than during war years, when labor was at a premium. The men who are really anxious to work are all out on the land now. It is expected that others will soon follow.

Compared to wages being offered in other lines for unskilled labor, the farm hand is this year doing fairly well. Construction gangs have been hired for temporary work at wages as low as 30 cents an hour, with board and blankets to supply.

Sure of Steady Work
The farm laborer who contracts for $40 a month is sure of steady work until the fall, and has, besides, the promise of a bonus during the harvest. The general feeling here is that the farm hands have chosen the wrong time to attempt to force higher wages. Public opinion is with the farmer. The laborers have no organization to force the employer to come to their terms, even though there are said to be plenty of organizers. Acting as individuals, no matter how stubborn a few are, the majority are bound to get to work soon.

Sad Give-Away.
Mrs. Hibrow—Did the earl you had to dinner last night bring his coronet? Mrs. Newrick—Didn't even know he could play one. Passing Show.

Because Mrs. McGregor let herself become run down, read what happened. "Like a great many other people who get the 'flu' a few years ago," she writes, "it left me in a weakened, run-down condition. Nothing seemed to bring back my old strength and energy. I was tired all the time, I had no appetite, I had dull pains all over my body. I suffered agony with headaches. I was dependant and took no interest in anything. I was nervous, I was irritable and was always looking for slight things. I was losing weight. I was in such a nervous, weakened, run-down condition, that last spring I got pneumonia. My family didn't think I would live and the doctor told me afterwards that it was only because I had a strong heart that I managed to pull through. By the time I was out of danger, I was so weak and tired that I had lost interest in everything. I tried several preparations to build me up but none of them did me any good. One day a friend who had been very ill called in to see me, looking the picture of health. I asked her what she had been doing with herself to look so well and fat. She said that Carnol had done wonders for her and advised me to try her. As the evidence of what Carnol had done for my friend could not be denied, I decided to follow her advice. Today I think Carnol the most wonderful preparation in the world. It has made me a happy, healthy, contented woman."

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 8-122

SALE OF METEORS
FOUND PROFITABLE

Concern Makes a Regular Business of Collecting Them for Museums—Differ on the Source.

(New York Times)
The big Toms River meteorite, the second to fall in New Jersey within a few months, was one of the most spectacular reported in recent years, but such falls have been frequent enough to strew the earth with them sufficiently to make the collection of meteoric stones a profitable occupation. One big concern in Rochester, N. Y., issues a regular price list for meteoric stones, graded according to size and quality, and sells them with fossils and other scientific objects to universities, schools, museums and other institutions throughout the United States and Europe.

The meteorites were one of the things that ignorant people were right about and scientists were wrong about for centuries. In spite of the frequent fall of these objects and the reports of numerous eyewitnesses, learned men for centuries rejected and cast doubt on the veracity of their scientific colleagues, if by chance one of them was the witness of the fall of a meteoric stone. In a lecture on meteorites recently, Friedrich Berberich, a German scientist, said: "In Vienna there existed a complete disbelief in meteorites. The then Director of the Court Mineral Cabinet, Sturt, expressed himself concerning the mass of pure iron of Agram, which fell in 1761, as follows:

Doubted Meteor Data.
"Certainly even the clear heads of Germany in 1761, owing to the gross ignorance prevailing at that time regarding natural history and practical physics, may have believed that the dense masses of iron of Agram and Eichenstadt to have fallen from heaven, but in our times it would be unphilosophical to consider such fairy tales even probable."

A similar conception prevailed also in America, for when some one told President Jefferson in 1807 that two professors had described the fall of a stone he declared "one can rather believe that two Yankee professors lie than believe that stones fall from heaven."

The late Lord Rayleigh, in his presidential address to the British organization for physical research, gave a list of 1761, as follows:

list of similar quotations from men of science, and argued that their skepticism as to popular reports of meteorites was no more unjustified than the present skepticism of many as to the testimony in favor of supernatural occurrence. When scientists finally did admit that stones fell from heaven, one of the prevailing explanations for many years was that they were ejected from the volcanoes on the moon, whose craters had been visible since the days of powerful telescopes. The contrary theory is now much in vogue—the theory that the craters of the moon do not eject meteorites, but that the craters on the

"TIZ" FOR TENDER,
SORE, TIRED FEET

The minute you put your feet in a "TIZ" bath you feel pain being drawn out and comfort just soaking in. How good your tired, swollen, burning feet feel. "TIZ" instantly draws out the poisonous exudations that puff up your feet and cause sore, inflamed, sweaty feet.

"TIZ" and only "TIZ" takes the pain and soreness out of corns, calluses and bunions. Get a box of "TIZ" at any drug or department store for a few cents. Your feet are never going to bother you any more. A whole year's foot comfort guaranteed.

Millions of small meteorites are believed to fall to earth daily, usually being reduced to ash in the upper atmosphere, so that they float noiselessly down occasionally showing a streak of light due to friction with the air at high speed. The annual increase in the mass of the earth by meteorites and meteoric dust is placed at 100,000 tons by George P. Merrill. The Chamberlain theory of the origin of the earth is that it has been built up, not by the cooling of hot gases, but by the aggregation of meteoric fragments or cosmic dust. Regarding the fragments found in the trail of the large meteorite or small comet which hit Arizona, Merrill said: "In 1891 A. E. Foote, in cutting the Canyon Diablo meteorite iron, found a black vitreous mineral, having a hardness above that of quartz, and which he understood to be a diamond. Later, O. W. Huntington, by dissolving a considerable quantity of this iron, was able to isolate a considerable number of minute, colorless particles, which had not merely the hardness of diamonds, but the crystal outlines as well. The crystals found by Huntington were should be stated, minute—about which is more than that of sapphire, and since Huntington's work, diamonds have been separated from the Canyon Diablo and other iron by several workers."

OF CHARTER MEMBER OF CHILDREN'S AID
Just before the conclusion of the monthly meeting of the Children's Aid Society last night, the president, A. M. Belding, referred to the fact that Rev. J. C. B. Appel, who was present, was to leave the city for the fall for California. During a brief speech he made a reference to the long connection of Mr. Appel with the board, he being one of the original number mentioned in the act of incorporation, and he had been a faithful worker ever since. He would be very much missed when he went. Mr. Appel, in replying to the president, said the work of the Children's Aid Society was very near his heart. He hoped to keep in touch with affairs in St. John after he located in California and would always take a keen interest in knowing the progress of the society.

The monthly report of the agent told of some very distressing cases with which he had dealt during the month. One little boy had been admitted to the home while his mother had gone to the hospital to undergo an operation. There are now twenty-five little ones in the home. One baby taken to the General Public Hospital was reported to be getting better.

PTYTHIAN SISTERHOOD.
A second Temple of the Pythian Sisterhood will be organized in a few days in the Castle, Union street. Mrs. Foster, a past grand officer residing in Woodstock, will institute the temple, assisted by staff dignitaries. The new body has a charter enrollment of more than 120 women already and it is expected the roll will approach the 200 mark before summer, so that everything will be in good shape for autumn activities in altruistic work to which the Sisterhood is devoted. The institutional exercises will consume both afternoon and evening and will include the initiation of about fifty new members. The other original members will be sisters living in the main section of the city who find it more convenient to withdraw from Loyola's ten p.m. north end, which up to the present has been the only branch of hood in town. Recently the people donated a substantial sum to the organization expenses. A companion Temple and has lively and helpful interest in the branch, which is a natural order in the central part. It is expected West St. Johnize next.

EASY TO MAKE "CLOTH" OF WOOD

Process Used by Germany During the War Explained by a Yale Professor—Wood Yields "Silk" as Well.

Clothing, ordinarily made out of wool, cotton, silk or linen, has also been made of the fibrous portions of nettles, rushes, broom and turf, as well as wood.

How the wood fibers were prepared for use is told by S. J. Record, professor of forest products at Yale University, in an article in the current issue of the magazine of the American Forestry Association dealing with novel wood and forest products.

Wood is made up of countless little hard fibers all tightly cemented together. The wood is first cut up into little chips which are cooked in certain acids or alkalis to dissolve out the hard material and separate the fibers one from another.

As such short fibers could only be spun into a thread with the greatest difficulty, they are first made into paper. The torn edge of a piece of paper shows the tiny fibers of which it is composed lying in a closely tangled web.

The method of converting wood into clothing is contained in this simple explanation. Chips are cooked to a fibrous pulp. The pulp is spread out and the tangled fibers ironed down into sheets of paper, which is then cut into narrow strips.

The objection to cloth made in this way, as Professor Record shows, is that it is coarse and harsh and becomes "tender" and is easily torn when wet.

he points out, no one wants to wear paper clothing if he can get anything else.

The artificial silk, which is becoming a rival of the natural product of the silk-worm, is also made from wood.

This is manufactured in another way. After the wood is reduced to wood pulp, as for the making of paper, the fibers are dissolved by chemicals and the solution squirted out through extremely minute holes and hardened into delicate threads something like the strands of a spider web.

Long pine needles, or "pine-straw," is particularly true in the limestone and lake regions, where the sand is very deep and there is no clay available to make roads firm.

Fleischmann's fresh yeast increases the action of the intestines

The familiar tin-fall package with the yellow label is the only form in which Fleischmann's Yeast is sold

HUNDREDS of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indiscriminate use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. You can get Fleischmann's Yeast fresh daily from your grocer.

Buying Advertising Space Means Buying A Market

Cautious merchants buy advertising space the same as they do merchandise or goods in trade—with a microscope in their hand.

"What do I get for the expenditure?" is the paramount question in the present day merchant's mind. Stunts, schemes, fictitious and proof lacking circulation claims have no attraction for the keen space buyer.

The membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations—the A. B. C.—of The Telegraph and Times-Star ensures accurate and trustworthy circulation statements.

The A. B. C. is Your Safeguard

The A. B. C. is a non-profit organization made up of concerted advertising interests—publishers, advertisers and advertising agents; and the object is to produce verified and authentic net figures of circulation.

All local newspapers were invited to become members.

LOCAL NEWS

GOVERNMENT MEETING.
A meeting of the provincial government will be held in Fredericton next week, possibly on Tuesday or Wednesday. This meeting was postponed from last week on account of the absence of the premier and Hon. P. J. Veniot in Ottawa.

PRESENTATION.
The Sewing Club of Dominion L. O. B. A. No. 18, met at the home of Mrs. Thomas Rogers, Harding street, Fairville, on Thursday evening. During the evening Mr. McKinnon, on behalf of the club presented to Mrs. Rogers a beautiful gold brooch in honor of her birthday and the regular society. Dainty refreshments were served by members of the club. Mrs. Rogers is a past mistress of Dominion Lodge.

PROVINCIAL ROAD WORK.
Hon. P. J. Veniot, minister of public works, and B. M. Hill, provincial road engineer, were in the city today on their way to Musquash to inspect the portion of road in that vicinity for which tenders have been called. This road is to be built under the federal aid plan. They were accompanied by Musquash by Dr. L. M. Curran, M. P. P. Before returning to Fredericton they will make an inspection of the Loch Lomond road to determine the question of repairs to that highway.

DOINGS IN CITY DEPARTMENTS

The fortnightly payment of wages for city laborers was made from city hall this morning. The following amounts were disbursed: Public works, $4,684.86; water and sewerage, $4,753.23; harbor, $1,866.25; ferry, $224.90; total, $11,990.13.

During the extreme low tide in the harbor, west side, and the face of the wharf is now back to practically its old position. A few finishing touches are all that are now required.

The harbor department is today receiving its supply of Douglas fir to be used in wharf repairs during the coming season.

The lower mast of the new flag pole for Haymarket square was placed in position yesterday and the topmast is being erected today. The mast staff, some 90 feet in length is painted white with black rigging and presents a very attractive appearance.

Some carters have been observed by city employees hauling ashes and rubbish through the streets uncovered, contrary to a by-law not in effect. The carters have been notified to cause a strict watch to be kept for such infractions. Property owners have been requested to sweep the dirt from their sidewalks, so that when the city sweepers come along the pavement all the refuse in the street may be gathered up at one time.

A Good Arrangement.
Favorable comment has been directed to the arrangement of the sidewalk in the Germain street block between Queen and St. James street, laid last year. Here a seven-foot asphalt sidewalk has been laid in between the houses and a grass strip left between that and the granite curb which lines the pavement. Grass seed has been sown and trees planted. Public works officials say that this arrangement is more economical to upkeep, looks better and allows a greater width for roadway and is generally advocated for all residential streets. The asphalt, it is said, is easier to work into the irregularities of the house line than is concrete.

Trees are being planted today by the Arboricultural Association and city workmen are sowing grass seed in the grass strip along the sides of Lansdowne avenue.

Public works department crews are today making repairs to the surfaces of Duke street, West St. John.

Concrete pedestals are being placed on the western corner of Queen street and the southern side of Haymarket square, on which will be placed two of the captured German medals received from the Dominion government.

LET AFFAIRS OF OTHERS ALONE

Rev. Dr. J. H. MacDonald's Advice in Lecture Given in Fredericton.

Fredericton, N. B., May 12.—Lieut. Col. Rev. J. H. MacDonald, D. D., C. B. E., former pastor of the Brunswick street Baptist church, received a hearty welcome last evening in that church from an audience representative not only of that denomination alone. He lectured on Sinclair Lewis' novel, "Main Street." The point which he stressed was the importance of avoidance of personal affairs of others. "If women go in for politics, as they have in the recent election, and I am speaking from the viewpoint of Nova Scotia, as I have seen it, they must learn to leave out the personal element or they will become great failures than the men," said Dr. MacDonald. His remark was met with a storm of approval. He also said he would suggest as a topic for debate in women's societies the question whether a person has a moral right to tell another what a third party has said about that party.

"We want more confidence in our eastern towns, more of the booster spirit, although not exactly of the type displayed in 'Main Street,'" Dr. MacDonald declared. He said that some one had told him that the west was looking up and he had replied that things were so fast there that that was the only way they could look.

Y. M. C. I. HOUSE LEAGUE SCORES

Records of the Bowlers in the Season Which was Closed on Wednesday.

The averages of the Y. M. C. I. House League, which was brought to a close Wednesday, have been compiled. They show that the high average for the year was made by Joseph Harrington, 94.17-63; the high score total by Waldo Reid, 346; and the high string by Archie Copp, 183. The Robins had the highest average pinfall with the Sparrows second and the Hawks third. The Hawks, however, rolled one more game than the Robins and three more than the Sparrows.

The following list gives the names of the bowlers on the teams, the number of strings they rolled, their individual pinfall and their averages:—

Commission Ready To Enter Into The Contract With City

Prompt Reply to Mayor's Letter—Hydro Current Applied For Will be Reserved and Delivered in Accordance With Terms Named.

Mayor McLellan today received the following letter from the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission in reply to St. John's formal application for power:

Mr. C. O. Foss, Chief Engineer New Brunswick Electric Power Commission, St. John, N. B.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of a letter from your commission of the day of May 11, which is in response to an application made on May 11 on behalf of the City of St. John for electrical power and energy to be supplied by your commission.

Your statement that your commission will reserve the amount of current we have asked for and will be ready to enter into a contract to deliver same at the city boundary in accordance with the terms named in the city's application is satisfactory, and it is the wish of the city, having appointed its own power commission, will experience the satisfaction it anticipates through efforts to its commission to enter into a contract which will be mutually agreeable to all parties concerned.

Thanking you for the prompt consideration which has been given the city's application, believe me to be, Yours very truly, H. R. McLellan, Mayor.

N. B. RIFLE ASSOCIATION

Deferred Meeting Held Last Night—Lieut. Col. Sparling President.

A meeting of the New Brunswick Rifle Association was held in the lecture room at the army last night with Major W. C. Magee presiding and Major J. S. Frost, the secretary treasurer, acting as secretary.

The association decided to adopt a rule to the effect that forfeits on the rifles should not be shifted during any match.

The finances were found to be in a satisfactory condition with a comfortable balance on hand.

It was decided to have the Prince of Wales Cup, which was donated by the late King Edward VII while in a visit here as Prince of Wales in 1864, sent to England for repairs made necessary. It was also decided to send for an additional supply of the medals given in connection with the winning of this cup at the shoot each year at Sussex.

The election of officers and members of the council followed. It was decided to ask Lieutenant Governor Pugsley and Colonel A. T. Ogilvie, D. S. O., commanding officer of the district, to act as patrons of the association. Col. Murray MacLaren, C. M. G., was elected honorary president.

It is expected that the annual meeting will be held in Sussex early in August. There was a large increase in attendance at this meeting last year, and since then a number of new branches have been formed and several others revived.

DEMPSEY AND CARPENTIER AGREE ON TERMS FOR ANOTHER MEETING

London, May 12.—An agreement for Georges Carpentier and Jack Dempsey to meet either in London or Paris before next May has been reached between Jack Kearns and Francois Descombes, so Kearns told the Associated Press today. The managers agreed to leave the promotion of the event to whoever offers the best terms.

Both Carpentier and Dempsey are to be free to meet other men in the meantime, but a defeat for either prior to the time set for the Dempsey-Carpentier match would cancel the agreement.

It is also hoped to revive the maritime or inter-provincial meeting this year, an event which has not been held since the war. The custom was for each province to take its high scorers at the Sussex event. Of the ten chosen, five were from this province.

POLITICS IN THE UNITED STATES

People to Elect New House of Representatives in November.

(Montreal Gazette) In November the people of the United States are to elect a new House of Representatives and some U. S. senators. Already the preliminaries are attracting attention, and men prominent in either party are issuing statements calculated to inspire the rank and file with confidence or hope. The national electors of the United States in the contest of 1922, like those of Canada in 1921, dealt hardly with the party in power, and for somewhat similar reasons. In each country there were those who cheered for war when first it came, and there was throughout the country a loyal and generous response to the calls of the government for the sacrifices necessary to make the war effective.

The Development of the Steel Industry

OVER 4,000 years before Christ, a savage, crouched before his cave-fire, gazing intently into the glowing coals, was attracted by a peculiar hard, black substance, which the blaze could not consume. He pulled it from the fire, and history records its first knowledge of iron.

Chance had led this savage to build his fire over a piece of ore, and the wood having burned to a charcoal, it fused with the ore under the intense heat and produced a lump of iron. Down through the centuries came this metal. History shows us that the early Assyrians and Egyptians beat this metal into implements and knives, proof of which has been taken from ruins dating about 1,370 B.C. When the Roman Empire was at its height, the use of iron became universal throughout Europe.

Various methods prevailed in different countries until 1350 A.D., when cast iron and iron and steel, somewhat as we know them to-day, began to make their appearance. So, generation after generation, the development and refinement of steel has occupied the thought and directed the experiments of engineers and scientists, until to-day steel is a product of exact qualities and with a wide and ever-increasing range of adaptability.

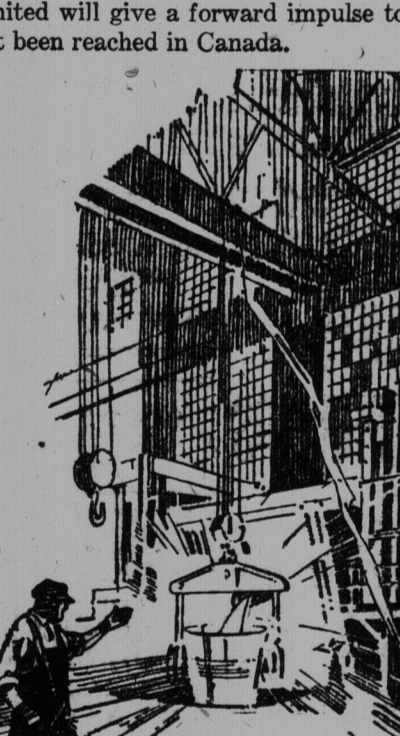

With the universal recognition of the use of steel, commerce demanded finer, harder, and higher grades of steel, having greater strength and longer life under heavy stress or strain. Thus came into being the Alloy Steel Industry. While the initial cost of alloy steel is higher, the uniform quality, lightness of weight, greater strength and wearing qualities, have made it possible for the lowest priced automobile in the world to-day to use the highest percentage of relatively expensive alloy steels. The builders of this car acknowledge that the use of alloy steels made their product possible.

The need for a plant to manufacture alloy steel in Canada is shown by the fact that over 100,000 tons of alloy steel were imported into Canada last year. The steel plants operating in Canada to-day are largely confined to the production of steel rails and other forms of steel and iron products of which the commerce of this country has largely consisted. The formation of the Dominion Alloy Steel Corporation Limited will give a forward impulse to the industry and carry it to a higher stage of perfection than has yet been reached in Canada.

The company will erect at Sarnia, a modern Alloy Steel Mill, having a capacity of 100,000 tons. The strategic location is ideal, affording cheap transportation for materials and cheap hydro electric power, which is a prime necessity, it having been found that these steels attain their highest perfection only through the electric furnace.

The Dominion Alloy Steel Corporation Limited will have on its Board of Management men who have spent their life perfecting and manufacturing alloy steel, and other well-known and prominent men. Thus the company is assured of the best practical brains possible to secure.

A descriptive circular giving complete information regarding the above Industry will be mailed on request. H. B. Robinson & Co. Limited Investment Bankers 260 St. James, Montreal. J. M. Robinson & Sons Limited Investment Bankers St. John, N.B., Fredericton, N.B., Moncton, N.B.

A WOMAN'S WORK IS NEVER DONE

It Seems So in Many Cases and Good Health is Always Necessary. Viscount, Saskatchewan—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness of the female organs. I had pains in the back and bearing-down pains in the abdomen and was in a general run-down condition. I could not sleep, rest or work and was quite unfit to do even slight household tasks. A friend told me about your Vegetable Compound and I in my turn truly recommend it, as my severe symptoms vanished and I am better in every way. I do my own work, look after my children and see to chickens, cow and my garden. I also recommend it for young girls who are weak and run down, as my 15-year-old daughter has taken it and is quite her own girl self again."—Mrs. FLORENCE WILBY, Viscount, Saskatchewan.

CANADA has the World's best MATCH. In the new Maple Leaf Match—the match that is different—Canada has something that cannot be bought elsewhere in the world. In Britain, they have matches made by Bryant & May Ltd., the largest makers in the Empire, and Maguire, Paterson & Palmer Ltd., the second largest. But, in Canada, we have MAPLE LEAF MATCHES. The product of the new factory, the latest match plant built, and the combined knowledge and experience of all three organizations, who have joined forces and formed the Canadian Match Company, Limited, to give Canada the match that is DIFFERENT AND BETTER. Different and Better. The new Maple Leaf Matches are different even in appearance—longer and stronger than anything Canada has known—and very much different in action. They are non-poisonous, the heads do not fly off, no live sparks when the flame is out, they light every time, they withstand more moisture and wind,—every match is a perfect match. Take any one from any Maple Leaf box. Examine and test it against any ordinary match that you can buy. The Canadian Match Co. Limited Toronto Montreal Winnipeg

FIRESIDE CLUB'S CLOSING BANQUET

The close of the winter season was marked by the Fireside Club of St. David's church by a most enjoyable banquet, which was held in the church rooms last evening. During its score of years of existence the club has proved a popular feature with the young men of the church and the fortnightly meetings and the Sunday afternoon Bible class have received their hearty support. It never was stronger nor in a more flourishing condition than at present, the reports presented last evening showed. After the supper, which was served

NEW YORK'S PAYROLL
$75,000,000 A WEEK

But Employers Fail to Increase Payments by Check to Foil Robbers—Hylan's Appeal Unheeded.

New York's payroll is about $75,000,000 a week, according to estimates furnished by Louis I. Dublin, statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and ere has been no recent tendency, as far as bank's report, to pay it in checks rather than cash, in spite of losses by hold-ups.

Mayor Hylan's recent appeal to employers to pay by check instead of cash, so as to buffet payroll robbers, has had no appreciable effect, according to statements on behalf of the Chatham and Henik and the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank. This precaution has not been taken for a variety of reasons, it is said, in spite of the fact that losses from hold-ups, burglaries and larcenies in the last twelve months have caused a net loss to surety companies on their year's business.

In calculating the payroll of the people of New York City, which is far greater than that of any other city in the world, Mr. Dublin said:

"There are approximately 2,500,000 wage earners in this city. These include all occupied males and females. My best estimate is that the annual salary for those employed in New York City is about $1,200, or approximately $24 a week. We have for 1919 the results of the census of manufacturers, showing an average salary of $1,264 a year, or $24 per week, which is for all manufacturing industries in New York City, and includes both salaries and wages. I am inclined to think that the higher salaries which prevail in commerce than in manufacture will raise the average to the figure that I suggest.

Total $75,000,000 a Week

"On this basis of 2,000,000 the $30 average per week means a total of $75,000,000 as the weekly payroll of New York City. This is subject to correction, because of the difficulty in the lack of authentic data on the subject of salaries for persons in various types of employment."

Many business men are opposed to the plan of increasing payments by check, according to Vice-president William J. Griffin of the National Surety Company. "They object," he said, "because it means loss of time from business by the employe in going to cash his check at the bank. In order to cash it during banking hours, the employe usually has to take the time from his business hours. If the employe carries it home and has it cashed by a local tradesman, nothing is accomplished in the way of checking banditry, because the money in the hands

Wash it with Lux

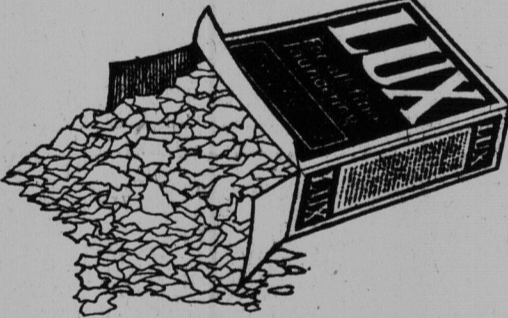

Do not trust your sweater to the family washing—and it is not necessary to send it out to be "cleaned". Dip in the rich, creamy lather made by the wonderful LUX flakes. Do not rub or twist. LUX will do all the cleaning. Now rinse three times in water of the same temperature—squeeze the water out and dry in the sun. It is as easy as washing your hands.

Your sweater will look like new, and will have that soft, "comfy," fluffy feeling that it had when you first bought or made it.

The thin, wafer-like flakes of Lux, made by our own exclusive process, dissolve instantly, so thoroughly that no particle of solid soap remains to rot or discolour the wool. LUX will not harm anything that pure water itself may touch.

of tradesmen is as much exposed to bandits as when it was in the payroll. The scheme of paying by check does not seem to be of much value in keeping down crime.

"Losses from crimes of many kinds all over the nation have been so large in the last twelve months that the burglary insurance companies have, as a whole, been doing business at a loss."

"There has been some change in the type of crimes. Big thefts of securities by organized bands have been infrequent in the last year. The losses from burglaries have been very heavy. There have been, of course, many false crimes and dishonest claims for losses, but, in my opinion, these bear only a small proportion to the total. We prosecuted and sent to jail several men for conspiracies of this kind and it has tended to check it."

Benefits from Advertising.

"There is one indirect benefit to the companies in the advertising. When losses are suffered by so many, owners of property subject to theft are anxious to get policies and an increase in business in the future results. But a crime wave like that of the last year is almost an unmixable calamity."

Automobile thefts all over the country have been so numerous, according to Joseph W. Russell, of 50 John street, a member of the New York Underwriters' Conference, that in the last twelve months the reported losses have exceeded the premiums by $20,000,000.

"Many of these claims have been crooked," he said, "and the underwriters are making efforts to protect themselves by inspecting the physical condition of cars more carefully and scrutinizing the record of owners. I have favored an association of all automobile underwriters in order to have the physical inspection of cars undertaken by one central bureau."

"It is difficult to deal with the moral risk in this way, however. That would mean that each company would report to all other companies anything they found against the character of an applicant. This would amount to a blacklist. We might find ourselves in conflict with the state anti-trust law in proceeding this way. Then again, it is dangerous to exchange information as to the record of individuals, because of the danger of mistakes and of libel. However, drastic means of self-protection must be adopted by automobile underwriters in view of the ruinous losses of the last year."

KIPLING'S SCHOOL DAYS.

Kipling as a schoolboy suffered from the horse-play of his more rugged companions, and this contribution to the "lander" on cricket in one of his poems, according to one of his schoolmates, Hon. George H. Malcolm, now Minister of Agriculture for Manitoba. The school was at Westward Ho, in Charles Kipling's region on the west coast of Devon.

"It was a rough life we had at Westward Ho, and especially for a boy like Kipling," says Mr. Malcolm in The Winnipeg Free Press. "On account of his eyes the future author of 'The Light That Failed,' who was not aggressive and had to be excused from games (which were compulsory), it must have been at first hard, indeed. We were all young, and most of us far from home, and a lot of young barbarians, I am afraid, in our treatment of one another. Duckings, tossings in the blanket, and all that sort of thing were common. Kipling hated cricket and football and the other compulsory games, and all the do-do there was about them. His feeling in that regard shows itself in 'Stalky & Co.', as it did many years later in his poem in which the lines about 'flannelled fools at the wicket and muddled oafs in the goal' gave a great deal of offense in some quarters in England. He was fond of rambling about the cliffs on such jaunts as he has described in 'Stalky & Co.' The school was run largely on 'strut lines, and Sergeant Fox, as it is described in the book, is drawn from the life. Some years later after I came to Man-

STATE OF TRADE
(Toronto Globe.)

Buying at retail continues more or less passive, merchants generally reporting that the month of May did not open as promising as anticipated. The month of April fell below the same period last year, and this was largely ascribed to the listlessness on the part of the buying public toward the end of the month. Business generally is fair, and special efforts to bring in customers seem to meet with some measure of success. As to the rest of the province, some sections report better business under the improved weather conditions. In the west, while the retailers report business improved they state that it is not up to the volume during the same period in 1921. Merchants, however, both in the east and west are optimistic as to the summer and fall business.

HOSPITAL DAY TO BE OBSERVED

Hospitals throughout the length and breadth of the North American continent will observe today, Friday, May 12, as National Hospital Day. It is the second national hospital day, as the custom was only inaugurated last year. The twelfth of May was chosen as the fitting day because it is the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, the founder of modern nursing, who gave her to the care of the sick and started a movement which ever since has been of inestimable assistance to mankind everywhere.

Presentation of Prizes at Clerical League Banquet

The Clerical Bowling League closed its second successful season with a banquet and entertainment last evening in Bond's at which the various prizes offered at the beginning of the season were presented to their winners. The affair was largely attended and a special programme was prepared for the occasion. Frank Ashe, president of the league, presided.

The earlier part of the evening was spent in the enjoyment of the excellent repast which had been prepared. Following this the toast "The King" was proposed by the president of the league and responded to with the singing of the National Anthem. The president then gave a brief address, in which he congratulated the members of the New Brunswick Telephone Company team on their achievement in winning first honors and spoke of the extremely successful season that the league had enjoyed.

Two distinct features of this tour headed by Mr. Hunter are: First, the major league players while in Japan, where they play a series of twelve games stretched over a period of five weeks beginning on November 4, will be the guests of Waseda and Keio Universities; second, the enterprise purpose solely to stimulate interest in America's national game in Japan and to develop a keener sense of the value of athletics and clean sportsmanship, free from any stain of commercialism, in the life of a nation. Leaving Japan, the party will travel through Korea, Manchuria and China, absorbing everything of interest without giving thought to baseball, for no games are scheduled till Manila is reached. In Manila two weeks will be spent, during which time four games are to be played. Here the party will be the guests of the American Chamber of Commerce, The Elks Club and the Rotarians. Honolulu will be visited on the return trip, and San Francisco reached late in January. The personnel of the party, with proposed itinerary, is being forwarded to Judge Landis for his official sanction. The transportation details are being worked out by E. T. Stebbing, general agent, Canadian Pacific (Steamship Traffic), New York City. No Shut Out in 201 Games. Minneapolis, May 12 - The Minneapolis team of the American Association has played 201 consecutive games without being shut out. This, according to word from Thomas J. Hickey, Association president, establishes a world's record. By scoring eight runs last Sunday Minneapolis successfully escaped a "white wash" through 201 games, and incidentally made the tallest of the same pitcher who last let the Millers down without a run. The last shutout against the Millers was recorded Sept. 17, 1920, when Ben Tincup, pitcher for Louisville, blanked them, 13 to 0. In a congratulatory letter to Manager Joe Cantillon, President Hickey declares that, as far as he can ascertain, no other ball club has escaped shutouts even for single season.

RING.
Lewis Knocked Out.
London, May 11—Georges Carpentier tonight knocked out Ted (Kid) Lewis in the first round of what was to have been a twenty round bout for the light heavyweight championship of the world held by Carpentier. The end came when Carpentier drove a sharp right to the point of Lewis' jaw. The Englishman toppled over backward and lay motionless on the floor until the referee counted ten. Then Carpentier picked up his fallen foe and aided in carrying him to his corner.
The spectators were slow to realize what had occurred, but when finally they comprehended that the battle was over and Lewis was defeated there arose a storm of boos and cries of "foul" from all parts of the vast audience which drowned out the comparatively little applause Carpentier was receiving from his partisans.
From the bell to the end of the referee's count two minutes and fifteen seconds intervened. Carpentier weighed 175 pounds, the light heavyweight limit, while Lewis tipped the scales at 167 pounds with his clothes on when the fighters weighed in this afternoon. Among those present were the Duke of York and Prince Henry, who were seated at the ringside. Jack Dempsey was shown to a seat near the royal personages, to whom he later was introduced. He chatted with them for a moment.
Dempsey was not looking at the ring when the knockout was scored. He was busy autographing a programme. Therefore he declined to comment on the fairness of the blow which laid Lewis low.
Keenan said that Carpentier's sensational win enhanced the chances of a second Carpentier-Dempsey match being arranged shortly.
The Exchange Telegraph fight expert considers the fight had a most unsatisfactory ending. He declared that there was no doubt that Lewis had the better of what little boxing there was and no question that when the referee called the men to break away, Lewis automatically dropped his hands and the was applauded as he entered the arena. The management of the fight declined to make public the amount of gate receipts, or the percentage of them which would go to the fighters. When it was suggested that the receipts amounted to $30,000, it was said that this amount was not far wrong. From other sources, considered authoritative, it was learned that Carpentier will receive $25 per cent of the gate and Lewis 25 per cent.

Hilton Aways.
Hilton Belyea, Canadian and New England sculling champion, accompanied by his brother, Harry, sailed for Philadelphia on the S. S. Manchester Importer last evening. Friends and relatives on the wharf gave the champion three cheers as the liner backed out into the stream and started on her voyage. She is expected to arrive in Philadelphia Sunday.
Captain Mulcahy made arrangements with the wireless operator on the liner to send forward, when they were nearing their destination, a message to the rowing authorities in Philadelphia telling them that Hilton was on board and giving them the time and place the liner would dock, so that they could be on hand to meet him. The captain felt that this would facilitate matters for Hilton, especially as he was arriving in a strange city.

Ice Cream should not be added to the meal. It should be part of the meal. Less bulky foods during the meal and a big, heaping dish of Ice Cream at the end is a sensible plan.
Begin eating more Ice Cream now. Substitute it for other foods. You will live better and longer, feel happier and stronger.
COUNTRY CLUB Ice Cream is the best Ice Cream you can buy. Made by PACIFIC DAIRIES, LIMITED 150 Union Street, ST. JOHN, N. B.

Frenchman took advantage of this and put Lewis down for the count.
TOWN WORK FOR THE IDLE.
How Gardner, Mass., Solved Its Unemployment Problem.
One of the most successful municipal experiments in providing work for the unemployed has been accomplished by the town of Gardner, Mass., one of the largest chair manufacturing centres in the country. As a result of a series of meetings of the Chamber of Commerce, which showed that more than 100 families were being supported by charity, and that scores of requests for daily help were being received, the town officials appropriated about $300,000 for public works. In describing the plan and its success, H. S. Gustafson, manager of the Gardner Chamber of Commerce, says:
"Gardner has a population of about 17,000, and its valuation is in the neighborhood of $17,000,000, so it isn't the largest corporation in existence. Spending $300,000 for municipal improvements just to give men work may not appeal to the metropolitan reader as cut of the ordinary, but it is a pretty big undertaking for a town barely within the city class. During the past year Gardner appropriated close to $800,000, two-thirds of which were spent for absolutely necessary development and maintenance. The other third was spent to give employment to idle workers from the chair shops and other industries so that these men could get a week's pay and keep their families from starvation without the necessity of calling upon charity.
"It was felt such improvements should be done largely by unskilled labor in order that as many citizens of Gardner as possible might be given employment. The board recommended the immediate clearing and grading of the lot and construction of the foundation for the proposed new Town Hall Building, which, when completed, will represent an outlay of more than $300,000. An appropriation for the immediate improvement of Main street, with the condition that preferential employment be given to citizens of the town, was also recommended.
"The projects furnished work for about 500 men who otherwise would have had to fall back upon the town planned by the town. Its cost was $151,000, and it gave work to seventy local residents. Fifty men were given work at the Wilder ball park, which derives its name from Solon Wilder, who, by the gift of a large tract of land, made the ball field possible.

Charles Clarke, of the marine and fisheries department of this city, has returned from Bridgetown, (N. S.), where he called on his uncle, Edmund Clarke, who was one hundred years old last Friday, the day he made the visit. Many relatives and friends called on the venerable resident of the town to tender congratulations and talk over old times.

OVERSEAS TOUR FOR DUKE OF YORK?

Canada First to be Visited, is London Report.

The Earl of Balfour—The Russian Negotiations—A Waiter With a Memory Good for Forty-four Years—News Topics of London.

(From Our Own Correspondent) London, April 20—I am told that no very distant date the Duke of York is likely to make a tour overseas very much on the line of those of his elder brother, the Prince of Wales, with the realization of the empire. The duke's first venture, to which is looking forward rather more keenly than did the London-loving prince, will be to Canada, and is likely to take place in the autumn of the present year. The duke practically announced this interesting event the other night when he was the guest of the Canada Club, and spoke very effectively in reply to the usual toast, stating his desire to become personally acquainted with his hosts' great country, and that the opportunity might not be long in coming. I hear that plans are more advanced than is generally supposed, and that Prince Henry will almost certainly accompany the duke on his voyage. The trip will, moreover, almost certainly be extended beyond Canada. Both the king and queen, despite the natural and unavoidable anxieties felt at the palace during the present tour of the Prince of Wales, are eager that their sons should know the world and see the empire overseas. Travel is the finest educator, and they desire their sons to be in the best sense traveled men.

A Worthily Bestowed Honor. Never was honor more worthily bestowed nor more gracefully adorned than the earldom conferred on Sir Arthur Balfour, the Nestor of politics today, but, as Sir Frederick, Banbury never fails to insist, the family member for the City of London. But for the break in his House of Commons career, occasioned by his defeat at Manchester in 1906, when the big and little loaf elections were fought, Sir Arthur could easily hold the proud title of Father of the House of Commons, which he entered in 1874 at the age of twenty-six and now leaves at a belated earl at seventy-three. The House of Commons without A. J. B. will not be quite the same place, but the House of Lords gains a recruit of the utmost distinction, and one who, while playing in the amphitheatrum of his years a commanding part in the great affairs of the world, still plays also at golf, and makes quite a decent show even at lawn tennis. An earldom will sit as lightly on A. J. B. as do his American glasses. He will get a wonderful reception in their Lordships' house when he takes his seat, and those who know him like those who only know of him, will trust that his voice may be heard many times will presumably pass in time to Gerald Balfour's family.

Russia. "Now, negotiations with Russia have this peculiarity about them, that the mere mention of them, however innocent they may be, drives a considerable number of people in this country immediately insane." Last night I read these words, written by the late Lord Salisbury in 1878, in the admirable biography of that distinguished statesman by his clever daughter, and their truth was strikingly confirmed by the newspapers this week. Some people in this country have certainly become "immediately insane," but the delegates at Geneva have kept their heads, and their example is well worth following. They have slept on the news of the Russo-German treaty, and are taking time to consider their attitude. The time and method of concluding the treaty constitute a "blazing indiscretion," to put it into higher but it cannot be candidly described as utterly unexpected. For months past there have been coming and goings between Berlin and London, by such envoys as Beren, Sittman and Rathmann, and their business was well known to be in connection with schemes for the exploitation of Russia, in which they hoped this country would join. We declined to pre-judge Russia, out of loyalty to our Allies, a loyalty which, by the way, the Paris press is beginning to appreciate at last. So now Germany, having no such obligations, has jumped the claim.

Danger Spots. In the text of the treaty itself there is less to object to than in the manner of its conclusion. But Clause I, containing the mutual renunciation of claims, will cause trouble if the Soviet representatives attempt to make a precedent in their dealings with the Allies, Germany, after all, is giving up very little, most of her interests in pre-war Russia being those of salaried German specialists who have lost their employment, which is a very different thing from the vast capital claims of France, and in a lesser degree of England. No such basis of settlement is conceivable in the case of ourselves or France. But the greatest danger is in the implications of the treaty, and especially the suggestion, already heard, that behind it lies a military convention which would again convert Europe into two armed camps a generation hence. The danger is not immediate, for the Russian armies cannot be equipped by Germany, and the first hint of an attempt to do so would see an Allied army over the Rhine in deadly

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night.

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Menthosulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leads the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Menthosulphur from any good drug-gist and use it like cold cream.

earnest. But the latent peril is there, and, until it is removed, all progress towards the pacification of Europe is gravely hampered.

Forty-four Years After.

A fine old Scottish gentleman, who is a member of one of the West End clubs told me a remarkable experience the other evening. Half a century ago, as a very young man, he used to make periodic visits to London—a business representative on behalf of his father, a big North Country manufacturer, and here stays in town extended over weeks at a time. He used to put up in those days at the Cannon street Hotel, and his last visit there, until a few days ago, was in 1878. Recently he felt a longing to revisit some of his old haunts of long ago in the city, and to recapture the old careless rapture of his youthful adventures in the great world of commerce, from which he years ago retired. He did so, and among other places determined that he must call at the Cannon street Hotel. He proceeded to lunch there, and just as he was settling himself at a table the head waiter came to him and, correctly addressing him by name, remembered that it was a long time since they had had the pleasure of serving him in the hotel. A long time—44 years—since that retentive waiter had been there ever since.

Links of Circumstance.

The same old gentleman told me how strangely he became a member of the very exclusive club institution called the Gresham Club. During one of his early business visits he found himself one night almost alone in the hotel, when he noticed in the hotel, but whom he he was utterly unknown. Suddenly there entered an obvious honeymoon couple who did not observe the two strangers hidden away in their archaisms, and while the young husband sat to write a note at a table his charming bride perched herself on his knee. Very soon they were, still in blissful innocence of strangers present, spooning rather openly. As quietly as possible the elderly gentleman and my then youthful friend crept out of that embarrassing smoke room. Once outside, both broke into laughter and, thus naturally introduced, a final drink to the happy couple was suggested. The result was an invitation from the elderly gentleman to lunch next day at the famous Gresham, where my friend remembers being introduced to the chairman, a governor of the Bank of England, and was promptly put up for membership. But his elder colleague gave just a word of Victorian caution: "I shouldn't come too often to the club, my boy, until you have grown a beard."

IRON, STEEL, METAL AND MACHINERY

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following comment in its May 11 issue: "The Canadian iron and steel market is firm, but no advance of importance has occurred. Seasonal improvement is taking place, but no more than has been expected. April business showed a slight increase over March, and from present indications, May will gain over April. Bars and small shapes are principally in demand, although even these lines cannot be termed features, for the call is not strong enough. Small tools and supplies are moving at a fairly good rate, and if the present strength is expected that it will, May should show an increase over April. Competition is very keen, prices being cut to the bone in many cases. Machine tools are steady, but not brisk. The tone is better, prospects are showing more interest, and several good deals are under way. At present these look very rosy, but when they will break is another matter. This is a buyers' market, with the result that several good purchases have been closed, that is from the buyers' bargain viewpoint. Montreal reports a good demand for building supplies and lines such as spikes, nails, bolts, and heavy hardware. Merchant bars are also active in that locality. Non-ferrous and scrap metals are quiet in Toronto district. Montreal shows some price advances in scrap metals, but as the demand is weak, these prices mean little or nothing. Miscellaneous lines such as waste, oils and steel pipe are all in fair demand, pipe being the most active of these mentioned. Bolts are rather strong in some quarters, one firm working overtime to supply the demand. The motor industry is very lively, and textile trades are also busy. Business generally is improving gradually, and reports show no serious crises, though it is not the committee as a whole. In describing the work Professor Cook says: "The general committee is divided into fifteen sub-committees, each of which considers a certain phase of the revision work. The chairman of these sub-committees constitute the Executive Committee. More than seventy scientists from all parts of the country have been requested to render auxiliary service in connection with the research work necessary in the work of revision. "The Sub-committee on Scope, which is made up entirely of physicians, virtually decides upon the drugs and preparations which are to be included in the new Pharmacopoeia, and remedies determines which of the older remedies have become obsolete and are to be deleted. So far this sub-committee has decided that 478 of the drugs listed in the present volume shall be continued in the revised issue. One hundred and two articles now listed in the Pharmacopoeia have been recommended for deletion because they have been replaced by other drugs which are now considered better or because of lack of use. "Twenty-seven new drugs are recommended for inclusion in the revised Pharmacopoeia. Among them are acetylsalicylic acid, or aspirin; asphenamide, or 606; benzyl benzoate, the non-habit-forming sedative, which has been so extensively used in place of the opium derivatives with good results, and which itself is entirely non-habit forming; chloramine-T, Dakin's solution and dichloramine-T, the wound antiseptics developed by American chemists during the World War; chaulmoogra oil, which has been found to be practically a specific for leprosy, and a number of other important drugs and chemicals. "The present United States Pharmacopoeia is the ninth decennial revision, and the revision committee began work on the tenth revision late in 1920. No estimate can be given at this time as to the probable date of completion of the work. The printing and proofreading generally require a full year, and no manuscript submitted to the publishers until all standards and tests have been agreed upon. "As the United States Pharmacopoeia is the official standard for drugs under the Federal and State Food and Drug Acts, great care is taken by the Revision Committee, in the interest of public health, to make the standards for the drugs listed conform to the highest degree of purity. "WILL CHEER LIGHTSHIPS. Radio Outfits to Be Furnished to Distant Stations. Washington, May 12—Happier days for men on the lightships and in the light-houses have come with the advent of radio telephony. George R. Putnam, commissioner of lightships under the department of commerce, declared. According to Mr. Putnam, radio should be a great boon in relieving the lonely and monotonous life of the faithful keepers at isolated stations, both on lightships and at lighthouses. The keepers of the Alaska light-houses at the entrance of Bering Sea remain at their posts for three years at a stretch; they have been without mail for ten months. At Tillamook Rock light, off the Pacific Coast, bad weather has prevented direct communication with the shore for seven weeks at a time. On the offshore lightships supplies are received usually once a month, and the tenders often work in remote localities. Relaxation at these stations depends chiefly upon libraries furnished by the government and donated magazines, with an occasional photograph presented by a thoughtful friend. Formerly a tender would be sent from a light-house depot to repair or replace a buoy. After a round trip of perhaps
