It have no interest in falsifying the record has been confidently asserted, however, that if it had been carried on in a business-like way the fishery rents and licenses of the province would not only pay grudge against the Conservative adminfor the hatcheries and the protective service, but would return a very hand service, but would return a very handsome revenue to the provincial treasury, a revenue that would increase very much more rapidly than the cost of protecting and preserving the fisheries. The Dominion revenue from the fisheries of Canada last year was $95,000, leaving a truth: net deficit on the operations of the department of $325,000. Even should the Dominion close up its hatcheries and cease doing much of its protective work, it is not improbable that the provinces will take it up with even greater vigor and make the fisheries not only self-sustaining but revenue-producing. The provincial authorities in the various provinces are in a position to exércise a more direct and effective supervision over the fisheries than the central government. For the average fisherman it is a far cry to Ottawa, and redress of grievances is difficult to obtain, as even such a well-established concern as the Nobles of the Georgian Bay discovered

It will be observed that under this interpretation all British Columbia rivers would be left under Dominion authority Mr. Coste himself, being witness? I as far as concerns the regulation of sea- had great difficulty in curbing my feelsons, modes of catching fish, etc., but ing and bridling my tongue when I heard the province would have the right of control as regards licenses and license fees, etc. It is plain that if the judgment is upheld the fishery situation will be very much mixed, and it will require by negligent of their own interests as adopted in the convention requesting system.

MR. COSTE'S STATEMENT.

Some time ago Mr. Thomas Cunningham, of New Westminster, who was one of the delegates sent to Ottawa in connection with the Fraser river reclamation matter, in a letter to his brother imputed certain statements to Chief Engineer Coste of the Public Works Deman well known to and respected by a great many British Columbians, who would not have the slightest besitation against the late government. He cannot be suspected of harboring any istration or having any ulterior purpose which would cause him to utter an untruth to its disadvantage. Therefore when he wrote the following passage in his letter to his brother almost every person who read it accepted his statements without a question as to their

The chief engineer of the department was present, and to the surprise of all frankly confessed that the work which had been done on the Fraser was a blun-I will here quote his own words: "We commenced to improve the Fraser at the wrong end and have lost all that was gained at first." I was not prepared to hear such a frank confession, but it argues well for the honesty of the man, who now feels, as some of us have all along believed, that the matrassing of the channel at the mouth of the Fraser was a huge blunder, involving the loss of a large sum of money, besides it had a bad effect on the upper portions of the river. Is it not exasperating to find that all these years and the expenditure of vast sums of money have been worse than wasted, the chief engineer, the evidence of Mr. Coste. It would require many large volumes to give a complete record of all the strong testimonial letters written by the women of the country in favor of Diamond Dyes. These indispesable aids in good housekeeping are gaining in public favor every week, and once tried, they become permanent home favorites.

Just think of it! One package of Diamoud Dye will color from one to six pounds of goods, according to shade desired. This is wonderful work when the small expense is considered. Your last year's jacket, suit, cape, iress, and your husband's suit and child-

They were carefully placed together, and although all of em were not found there were enough of them to show that the bomb or machine that exploded was a piece of cast iron pipe about six inches in diameter. Fastened to either end of this pipe was a cap which screwed on. The odor after the explosion and the volume of smoke indicated that the explosive was either dynamite or giant powder, So far no motive has ben disclosed for the murder of Hamlin Andrus. He was popular with all in Yonkers and was essentially a home man. Late this afternoon, however, information was received by the police of a startling character, which may aid in the solution of the mystery. It was to the effect that the omb was intended for John F. Andrus, brother of the dead man, several times a millionaire. John F. Andrus did not appear at the office of the chemical company this morning as was his custom. On learning of the explosion and the death of his brother he hurried to the police station and communicated with Captain Magin.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Lying on a shelf in the Walker Museum, University of Chicago, is a recently discovered fossil, which the professors in the department f paleonotology claim to be the only perfect one of its kind in the world, and which therefore, they may consider to be of special value. It turned to the university.

Four weeks ago the fossil was discovered by Mrs. A. A. Davidson in the neighborhood of Monticello, Iowa. It is a sort of crinyd, a small water animal resembling the star fish and sea urchin.

"The Orphan's Prayer" is creating a genuine sensation among artists. It is that beautiful masterpiece by a celebrated English artist, who was offered any amount, up to ten thousand pounds, if he would paint another picture as good as "The Orphan's Prayer." The gifted artist tried and tried again, labored and worried and yearned, but gave up the attempt, freely acknowledging that "The Orphan's Prayer" was an inspiration, and no thought or study, or any sort of meditation could get from his brush a picture fit to be called a companion piece. The great artist met his death through accident in climbing the Alps, and "The Orphan's Prayer" remains as his monument. It was a great stroke, worthy of their great paper, by which the publishers of the Family Herald and Weekous cost, "The Orphan's Prayer" for science the Family Herald was good value before, we might say the greatest value to be had in newspapers. WHISKY UNDER SUGAR.

Smuggling Scheme Unearthed Through Accident to the Umatilla. Port Townsend, Oct. 20.-In discharging the damaged cargo from the steamship Umatilla another Alaska smuggling scheme was exposed. In the cargo was large consignment of barreled sugar destined to a leading Alaska firm. The action of salt water had melted the sugar, and in the centre of each barrel was a large case of spirits. Investigation reveals that in recent months large quantities of supposed sugar have been shipped to Alaska, and it is now reckoned that thousands of gallons of whisky and brandy have been smuggled into the territory in this man-

The customs authorities are investigating.

As the cargo is discharged it becomes more apparent that less than 15 per cent. will be saved from complete loss. Groceries, canned goods, furnishing goods, bicycles, sewing machines and innumerable other commodities are practically destroyed by the action of the salt water and the acids and minerals emanating from the decaying cargo. Aside from the iron and other unperishable freight the cargo will be practically a toal loss. The steamship company is viding they will pay all freight charges and 20 per cent. of the value as evidenced by the invoices, or upon the execution of a general average bond. Much of the cargo in its ruined condition is being hipped to its original destination. The ast steamer to Alaska carried several hundred tons.

In the miserable duna night without water and without food they suffered severely from the vitiated atmosphere and when morning dawned and the prison doors were thrown oper there stepped forth thirty-eight less prisoners than were flung into the houses. What became of the bodies, we have not heard, but judging from the treatment of the rebels killed in the vicinity of Manila they received scant One gentleman says he saw 30 rebels shot down in Manila one morning before breakfast, and in crossing a wellknown bridge in the town he saw two bodies left to rot in the sun, the carcases ripped open and the entrails exposed—a most disgusting spectacle. The remainder of the prisoners, some 170 to 180 in all, were shipped on board the Spanish steamer Charruca for deportation to Yap. It is said, with what amount of truth we can only conjecture,

> Yap, and no questions would be asked as to how many were landed there. According to all accounts the rebels are badly organized and can make no prolonged stand against trained troops. They are said to be without a leader, and the fighting that our informant has heard about was only of a desultory and unorganized nature. It is re-asserted that some of the conspirators, the "head-centres" are in Hongkong, and that is the chief reason why the Spanish authorities keep such a strict watch on all letters and telegrams leaving the islands. Every letter to or from the Philippines is opened and scrutinized, so that any news that gets through to Hongkong or Singapore has to be smuggled. Only what the press censors pass is allowed to go into the Manila newspapers. We are informed that the first news of the plot was discovered by accident, and that the authorities arrested a woman, the wife of a half-caste brewer at present on his way to Spain. In her possession were found documents which placed the officials in possession of the whole of the facts connected with the conspiracy, with the names of many of the arch-conspirators." seems to have included the seizure of Manila, but the authorities seem to have been well informed of what was going on and were able, at the right moment, to act vigorously, upset the calculations of the leaders, and drive the rebels off from the town. It is said that the governor-general was to be murdered and that the officials who attended his funeral were to be attacked and the town of Manila sacked. It appears that the government commenced operations by arresting a number of the conspirators and that the natives thereupon rose and attacked the troops. . The Madrid Herald says: "While Havana and New York informs us that the Cuban rebels are penniless with hardly any money to carry on their revolt, Premier Canovas tries to make us believe they have money to burn and sow it broadcast in Spain and her colonies. The recent uprising in Valencia and Pedraiva, Spain, and Cavite, Philippine Islands, he boldly charges to the Cuban junta, through its paid men. Every time a disturbance occurrs the government declines the responsibility for it, attributing it to the underhand doings of the Cuban rebels. The truth is that there is a deep feeling among the masses; they are in open hostilty toward thei government; tired of suffering for its misdeeds and soon to rise up against it." The reinforcements of 40,000 will hardly suffice to keep the rebels at bay and more will be required-who knows how many more? The Madrid Cimico says Premier Canovas is responsible for the existing state of affairs, which would be bettered should he retire. The Neuva Mund recently attacked Weyler saying that under his command the Cuhan revolt has assumed greater proportions than when Campos was in Cuba. and that if in a month's time after the arrival of the reinforcements he does not deal a finishing blow to the rebellion, he will be treated worse than Campos was.

It can be stated also that the sending of the revenue cutter Windom to sea with sealed orders has no special significance whatever beyond the purpose of the treasury officials to keep secret from Cuban agents the movement of the revenue fleet. Hitherto insurgent agents in this country, through Cuban sympathizers, have managed to secure all ne cessary information regarding any contemplated movement, even in advance of American officers, and as a result the es, of the government have been defeated. Away back in what is known as the Big Piney country they made about thirty miles a day. It took about three weeks to get over the Rocky Mountains, the trail at times being along precipitous sides of the mountain, where variations of eight or ten inches in driving might send the wagon down the precipice 2,000 feet. At one place they struck a lot of boulders over which the horses picked their way with difficulty, the axles of the wagon barely escaping them. Progress here was exceedingly slow. A LEAF OUT OF MY BOOK.

Now I (who write these lines) am going to give you (who read them) a leaf out of my book. And I want you to nember what I tell you, for I can't keep on repeating it every day or two.

I am a man of about 56 years. I in-herited a good constitution, and for the latter half of my life, thus far, have takmon sense care of it. Yet I never coddle myself. I am not cranky on heat, cold, eating, drinking, or anything. I am out in all sorts of weather, and the more it storms the better I like it. I have many times been exposed to contagious and infectious dis-eases—from typhus fever and consumption to influenza and pneumonia. Yet I have never "caught" any of them, and—mark me now!—I never "take cold." Haven't had a cold in 25 years. How do you explain that? Wait a minute, and I'll explain it myself.

But first read this, and learn a lesson from it. And be particular to notice and compare the dates. It is a woman's Tonkawa, Oklahoma, and who is consid- letter. I wish she had said more, but ered wealthy. They called Brooke to it is enough to throw light upon the

From time to time I was under the doctor's treatment, but their medicines did me little good. In June, 1892, Mrs. Coe, a neighbor of mine, urged me to try Mother Siegel's Curative Syrup, and I got a bottle from Mr. W. Cole, the chemist in High Street, West Cowes. After taking one bottle I felt much better, having less pain, and finding my food agree with me. I continued taking the Syrup, and gradually gained, strength until I was able to walk a distance of five miles. By taking an occasional dose I have since kept in good health. Happily the Syrup was able to cure what it could more easily have prevented.—But she hadn't heard of it then-we mustn't forget that.

Remember, keep yourself healthy. Use Seigel's Syrup to ward off disease. Have it on the shelf. Take a dose now and then to keep the body clear and regular. Be wise and fear nothing.

Interviews are published with a number of leading cattlemen, who with one exception, favor the removal of the quarantine and say the farmers would be greatly benefitted. There is a great showing just now on the West Le Roi and Josie. Mr. Moynahan put two men on the ledge close to the Le Roi west end line and two others on the hillside three hundred feet further west. Thursday morning both places presented an attractive appearance. A lot of fine looking copper ore has been taken from the opening next to the Le Roi ground, while in the other opening further west a solid mass of ore appeared which seemed to be five or six feet wide. Both these veins seem to be strong, well defined and continuous; and both carry rich ore. The ore

Thurst day morning the capping had been partially removed, revealing a magnificent body of ore well streaked with copper. The big strike on the California of a north and south ledge, reported two weeks ago, seems to be all right. When the capping was first taken off a mass of diorite was found, with a yery clear, smooth foot wall. The diorite, however, was heavily seamed and the ore found in the capping above had evidently been forced up through these seams and had overflowed the surface. Wednesday the diorite began to go out, regular ledge matter taking its place. By Thursday noon the whole bottom of the shaft was in mixed ore. It looked as though a solid ore chute would soon be

The Hall mines smelter has been running along smoothly for the past week on Silver King and Josie ore. During the first six days 738 tons of material were run through the furnace producing 501/2 tons of natte. The big brick chimney is now up 132 feet and it is expected that the remaining 35 or 40 feet will be finished in eight or ten days. The chimney will probably be the highest in Canada, the top of it being 200 feet above the furnace blower. The stack of the reverberatory furnace has been finished and workmen are now proparing the foundation for the calcine furnace or roaster. When these im provements are perfected work will be commenced upon the blast furnace.

The Alexander syndicate this week secured a bond on the Commonwealth group of claims on Hooker Creek owned by T. G. Proctor and W. S. Drewry. There are three claims in the group and some $2,500 have been spent in de velopment. The bond calls for $40,000 and requires an expenditure of $5,000 within six months. Fresno, Cal., Oct. 21.-S. B. Bresee, a pioneer resident of Fresno, has just undergone a matrimonial adventure which has made him a much wiser man. He is 60 years of age and this is his second unsuccessful attempt since his first wife

Some time ago he chanced to run acress a paper which contained a number of "matrimonial ads." One of these set forth that a "charming widow of means," residing in Los Angeles, was desirous of taking unto herself a husband. Brosee was tired of a single life, and the "Los Angeles widow of means' caught his fancy. Besides, Mr. Bresee had a $5,000 mortgage on his home in this city, and by winning the Los Angeles "widow of means" he thought that she would save it for him.

Accordingly he entered into correspondence with the lady and subsequently proposed and was accepted by mail. On Saturday, October 10, they were wedded, and after a short but extremely blissful honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Bresee came to Fresno. The bride seemed well pleased when she first arrived, and the groom was equally happy. At evening the bride expressed a desire to visit the business quarter of the city and never returned. She purchased a ticket for Los Angeles. Just why Mrs. Bresee left her husband is such a summary manner is not known. Rook was shot down and killed. Last night a posse took the negro and hung him to a tree. To-day a gentleman in Greenwood received a telegram from another gentleman in Sunnyside stating that he had received a letter from a negro living near there The libelant prayed for the custody of containing information that the negroes a minor child, Walker Blaine Beale, had challenged the whites to a riot. FRANCE AND RUSSIA. Alliance Between the Two Countries-How Formed.

London, Oct. 22.-The Chronicle upon authority which it believes unquestionable, gives the history of the formation and growth of the Franco-Russian alliance.

"It was opened," says the Chronicle, "by a military convention dated August, 1890, of which General Obrutcheff was the chief author, and which was for defensive purposes. The next important event was the visit to Toulon of the Russian fleet in October, 1893, the statesmen chiefly concerned being M Casimir Perier and M. De Giers. It is simply a military convention, with special relations to the balance of power created by the Austro-German alliance, and lapses on the day the latter alliance comes to an end. It is purely defensive and in no way aggressive, and therefore could not be used for the recovery of Alsace-Lorraine. In fact, it is solely directed against a possible German attack, such as was made by Bismarck in 1875.

"The treaty has been practically put m operation by fresh codicils, dating first with the scare based on the unfounded report that England intended to interfere in Morocco; second with the Chino-Japanese war, and third with the Soudan expedition. In connection with the latter it is believed that France has sent two notes to England with Russia's approval, displaying a desire to recur to the abortive Drummond-Wolf convention of 1887, which proposed the British evacuation of Egypt and the neutralization of the Suez canal, but which came to nothing owing to French opposition."

TRIED TO BURN THE SHIP, Experience of the Crew of a British Ship With a Crazy Cook.

New York, Oct. 21.-If the crew of the four-masted British ship Arracain, steel double-decker, which arrived today from Calcutta, had been permitted to have their way Cook Henry Williams would have been cast overboard in the South Atlantic. The skipper, Captain Brockenshaw, placated his men by put-ing the cook in irons in the hospital, and that is the way he came into port. The cook is a swarthy, black-bearded half-breed, his father having been an Englishman and his mother a native of Trinidad. He got the ill will of the crew by salting their food too much. They complained to the skipper on July The cook said there was a con-The steamer Maud left for the West | spiracy in the forecastle against him Goest last night with a full cargo of and refused to do any more work in cook's mental gear was out of order and put him to work about the deck.

August 3 he went among the crew and asked them to forgive him for the trouble he had caused them, and asked one of the seamen, an Italian, if he preferred to die by drowning or burning. The Italian told his shipmates about the cook's inquiry, and they suspected the cook intended to destroy the ship. The skipper locked him up in the hospital.

At nightfall smoke was seen puffing through the lattice door of the hospital. The mate unlocked the door, opened it a little and as he did so Williams, with a razor in each hand, flung himsel against the door and slashed severa' times at the mate, cutting a slight gash through the rim of his hat, in his muffler and in his vest. The mate slammed the door, and with the help of the men held it against the fierce assaults until he could turn the key. The cook was in a frenzy now and he tried to batter the door down. He finally succumbed to the smoke. The door was opened and he was dragged out unconscious. The steel deck was almost red hot when the crew got to work on the blaze. The members of the crew had a talk and decided to ask the skipper to get rid of the crazy cook, who had recovered consciousness. They said he was a menace to themselves and the ship and he ought to be thrown overboard. The skipper said he had no authority to kill the cook in cold blood, but he would put him in irons and keep him under guard for the rest of the voyage. He did this and there was no more trouble aboard

City Barrister Advises Council Not to Trammel Itself With Any Conditions

Suggested by Tramway Company-The Ward By-Law Passes Second Reading.

. Alderman Glover was the only member absent at last evening's regular meeting of the city council The Point Ellice bridge difficulty was first discussed, McPhillips, Wootton & Barnard, solicitors for the Tramway Co, writing as follows:

Victoria, Oct. 19, 1896. (Without prejudice.)
Gentlemen-We have to acknowledge receipt of a letter of this date from the city clerk in reply to ours of the 15th instant. It would appear from your letter that it is the intention of the city to proceed with the construction of the bridge without complying with the conditions laid down in our letter of the 15th instant. We beg to point out that one of the conditions on which we stated the company would consent to the completion of the bridge now in construction

"2 The city will agree with the receiver and the Consolidated Railway Company to replace the said bridge by a permanent bridge of sufficient strength and stability and properly constructed to carry tramway traffic of all kinds within two years from this date, such bridge to be available for the purposes of the Consolidated Railway Company and their successors and assigns upon the terms of section 33 of the agreement set out in the schedule to the Victoria Electric Railway and Lighting Company Act. 1894."

The suggestions contained in our letter as to construction were not intended to indicate the character of the bridge which should be sufficient for all classes of the company's traffic, but only to indicate the character of the temporary bridge which the company would at present accept (at considerable inconvenience and loss) on the condition above mentioned. Should the corporation endeavor to proceed with the construction of the bridge without complying with proceedings to prevent any such action on their part.

Ald. Partridge stated that he had visited the Point Ellice bridge and found that nothing was being done, as no lumber could be secured. At the rate it was being built, the bridge would not be completed in six months.

The city engineer and the city solicitor wrote again with reference to the Kingston street tangle. They pointed out what might be done to get the fences back and get the sidewalk built. Their communications were again referred to the street committee.

The city solicitor reported with reference to the legality of the curfew by-law and the enforcement of the milkby-law. The report was similar to one given by him last year. The council must get the necessary power from the legilature to pass a curfew by-law. The city solicitor knew of no reason why the milk by-law could not be enforced.

SMALL DEBTS COURT.

Question of the Constitutionality of the Act Before the Supreme Court.

Re Small Debts Court Act. This morning the question of the constitutionality of the Small Debts Act came up in a reference to the full court, consistcern, having appointed a receiver, and it ing of Justices McCreight, Walkem and Drake. The case was referred under chapter 5 of the act of 1891, and notice had been given of the reference to the department of the minister of justice for Canada who refused to take any part in the reference, but the provincial government have retained Mr. Cassidy to contest the constitutionality of the act. Mr. A. G. Smith, D.A.G., appeared for the Crown.

Mr. Cassidy opened with the statement that the act gives police magistrates a judicial position as distinguished from the executive authority they may have to administer the ordinary laws of the province, and is therefore unconstitutional. The act gives them the same power as county court judges. except as regards amount, and they have no jurisdiction in torts-they have also powers of committment. The amount at stake in a case makes no difference; it is a question of principle and then we come face to face with the question whether the provincial government can appoint a judge. Section 96 of the B.N.A. act reads thus: "The gevernor-general shall appoint the judges of the superior, district and county courts, except those of the courts of probate in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick." This case will likely last all day to-morrow. Saturday, at 11 a. m. was this morning fixed by Mr. Justice Drake for hearing the argument on the preliminary objections in the Vic-

And Speaks Voluntarily.

Never having had a strong constitution, Mrs. Ann Glover, 23 Homewood Ave., Hamilton, was always more or less a sufferer from violent headaches and finally her system became so run down that she was unable to sleep at nights and the pains in her head caused such intense agony that she frequently had to rise and use local application in order to get any relief. She lost her appetite and her stomach was in a very disordered condition. Her health improved from the day she began to take Ryckman's Kootenay Cure. After taking a moderate amount, she regained her appetite, the pains left her and she was at last able to get the refreshing sleep so long denied her. Mrs. Glover gratefully recommends the medicine and believes steadfastly in its virtues. Declared before J. F. Monck, Notary Public, August 21st. 1896.

Yukon Miner Arrives in Seattle to Find His Wife and Family Have Left Him.

Former Lover Supposed Have Caused All the Trouble.

Seattle, Oct. 20.-People who live in the vicinity of Breadway and Prince William street are discussing with gusto the strange story of Charles Ross, who but several prominent ranchers in returned from the Yukon last Saturday laying precincts have corroborate evening, to find that his wife and eight rom the M. years old, strong of limb, and in the appetite and give sweet, refreshing language of the times, a "hustler." He spect to another railway proposition, lived for a long time in Westmoreland county, Pa., and there was married to a woman, who had a history. Briefly cutlined, it is as follows: She was born in Scotland, and when a young girl fell in love with and was engaged to a young man named McIntyre. He followed the sea, and fortune led him to make a vovage during their betrothal. Before he left his sweetheart they took a solemn Diarrhoea Remedy." This medicin vow to be true to each other. Apparently, this unexpected news did not cause any diminution in the affection of Mrs. Ross for her husband. They lived happily, provincial secretary and deputy attorney, and when he commenced talking of tryceneral acknowledging copies of the ing his fortune in the far-away interior Yukon, his trip taking four months, during which time he suffered many and extreme hardships. His indomitable and placed him in a position where he could dig the vellow metal. He prospered and, it is said, sent money to his of the other boards of the province to from his wife, and so he took a trip wife and family. Still no word came down to Circle City, expecting to surely find some word awaiting him there. Anxiously he sought the little postoffice, and in a hesitating manner, made so by his fear of not hearing, asked for a letter. He was told that none had come. The word made him half sick with fear that something had happened. He found that a steamer was about to go down the river, and without further hesitation he took passage and came on to Seattle. He was well supplied with money, for in his few months' work he had taken out $700. He arrived in the city last Saturday evening and took the first car out to his home. He almost rushed up to the house, opened the door and found a strange woman. Almest heartbroken he heard that his wife and children had gone away some time last August.

It appears that about a month after e went to Alaska a strange man came to his home. He apparently had plenty of money. Mrs. Ross soon had fine Ogilvie's Flour. $5.25 per bbl. clothes, and one day she and the children went away. A reporter who had heard something of the story was told that Ross had employed Attorney F. E. Sims to locate his children. If they were in Pennsylvania he would send them money. If They had gone to the old country with their mother and did not want to return he would go back to the gold fields and bury himself from the busy world.
