There is just as much impropriety in commencing a discourse of any kind without having the vocal organs in tune. Suppose a man to be silent all day in his study or b hind the desk, and in the evening appears before an audience; he is not in a condition to read or speak with case and distinctness before his lecture or address is half finished. He begins s'uggishly, and blunders on for some time before h s vocal powers are fairly awakened. I have noticed, even in common conversation.

That a person, after keeping a silence of several hours, will speak awkwardly or answer incornectly in his first efforts at making and ble sounds. The words seem not to fit the mouth, or he wrong one will intrude its presence before you are aware that you are not saying one subject without remark. The question of the Federation of the Colonies is one in which Canada has no doubt a very deep interest, and in which any representations, proceeding from the Legisla ture of that Province, will be received with the greatest attention. But it is necessarily one of Imperial character, involving the fu-ture Government of the other North American Colonies, equally bound with Canada by the common tie wich unites all the member of that Empire. It is therefore one which properly belongs to the executive authority of the Empire, and not that of any separate Province, to initiate. 1 do not however question the importance of the reasons which led you to advert to it, and shall await the further development of the views of yourself and your advisers on the subject. A NEW AND USEFUL BOOK. THE AMERICAN DEBATER : being a plain Exposition of the principles and Practice of Public Debate. By J. McEligott L. L. D.

This book presents, within the compass of 325 pages, a mass of information respecting debates and debators, not to be found between the covers of any other single volume. It carefully, comprehensively, and yet briefly marks out the qualifications essential to a good debate, and points out the best mode of acquiring them.

It indicates the conditions on which skil an the extemporaneous use of language is to be gained, and proved it to be mainly the re-sult of judicious study and practice. It furnishes a full course of instruction in

The unprecedented success which has crowned the efforts of this Company from the commencement, and the unlimited confidence accorded in by the public in the vicinity of its head quarters, induce the Directors to extend its operations to all parts of Canada, confident of like results in proportion as the equitable plans of this institution may become known.

Support a Home Office—Build up your own Institutions: Canada is old, rich, and extensive enough to support its own Insurance Companies, and thus keep within the Province a large amount of Capital which otherwise aids in building up Foreign Offices usually conducted under a system of expensive management, and yet paying their stockholders large dividends.

The following Rules may be taken as the basis of the Company's operations:—

By Act of Parliament—18 Vic., cap. 120—no member of the Company is itable for any sum beyond the amount of his premium.

Any difference arising between the assured and the Company shall be settled by arbitration in the County where the loss shall have occurred.

On insurance on any contiguous property liable to be burned by one and the same fire will be taken to a larger amount than two thousand five hundred dollars, unless at the discretion of the Directors.

City, Town, Village, and Personal Property will be insured for a term not longer than one year, nor less than one month, and the whole premium in such cases must be paid in cash.

Insurers for three consecutive years, who shell not themselves have made a claim, shall be entitled to a share of the profits which may have accrued, after first providing a saitable reserve fund. Their shares of profits to be deducted from the next subsequent premiums.

Farm property and isolated dwellings will be insured for a term not longer than three years. The premum will be paid by note, one third only of which will be required in cash as part Payment thereof; the balance, or any part thereof, to be paid only wh a required to meet losses.
