Lieut.-Col. A. M. Smith Believes That All Should Learn to Shoot—and Shoot Straight—No Expeditionary Force Possible Had It Not Been for Militia.

Lieut.-Col. A. M. Smith, formerly commanding officer of the 7th Fusiliers, is a firm believer in the advisability of training every man in the country to shoot, and to be able, in case of necessity, to defend himself, his home and his country from attack.

"I agree with Capt. Murphy," he said, "that every young man in the country should learn to shoot and shoot straight. In these days when the men of every country except the English-speaking people are trained soldiers it is distinctly dangerous to bring up a race of men unacquainted with arms."

Not a Provocation. Lieut.-Col. Smith believes with ex- FIGURED IN THRILLING President Roosevelt that the ability of RIDE ON BATTLEFIELD a nation to defend itself in case of attack not only does not constitute a provocation to other nations, but is most likely to preserve it from aggression, since the knowledge that an efficient defence can be made is likely to make an enemy chary of attacking. The possible argument that universal military training is likely to result in militaristic spirit is met by Lieut .-Col. Smith with the reply that it is a well-known fact that the man who has the self-reliance which comes from a knowledge that he is capable of defending himself in case of necessity is less inclined to provoke a quarrel than

No Autocracy in Britain. There is no danger, either, he contends, of an autocratic militarism in the British Empire such as obtains in Germany, because the British law is very jealous of the rights of civilians when soldiers are called out to quell a riot or insurrection they are regarded as civilians and subject to civil law as regards their actions against their fellow subjects. They are not exempt even, he points out, on the ground that they obeyed orders of their superior officers. soldiers were called out in case of a riot and fired on the rioters, the fact that they did so under orders would not protect them from punishment if the Realizes Hopelessness of Her law held that they had maimed or killed wrongfully. In fact, their status would be exactly that of any civilian who might be called upon by the police for assistance. The only reason for calling on the military in case of such an emergency would be that they would be prepared with arms, whereas IS TIRED OF GERMANY it would be impossible to call together and arm a body of ordinary civilians. Praises Militia Units.

Lieut.-Col. Smith also believes that more attention should be paid the ordinary militia corps. He points out that but for the existence of such corps as the 7th and similar militia bodies, the organization of the Canadian overseas forces would have been an impossibility, since, for only one reason, there would have been no experienced clared war against Austria, and, in a men in the country to train them even if they could have been got together. sense, war also against her ally, Germany, Turkey, the ill-starred partner He holds that a man who joins one "kill or conquer" policy of Pots- other of the regular militia corps for

Boy Scout Notes.

What it Means To Be a Sportsman.

A true Scout is always a true sportsman. That is, he is a hearty working winner and a good loser.

It always makes me feel proud to see a fellow take defeat with a goodnatured, "He certainly is a dandy. I tried my best today, but I am going to get in shape next time to make my best better, and see if I can't beat him."

I have no sympathy for a chap who has always same and see in the service to march, this time covaring another route march. best better, and see if I can't beat him."
I have no sympathy for a chap who has always some excuse ready and will not acknowledge the other fellow winner.
No one should feel discouraged at defeat. The greatest men have been defeated time and time again, but have never given up, and so in the end have come out with the service the boys will proceed on another route march, this time covering the East End.

The many friends of Sergt, Brady will be welcome at the memorial service.

B Section, composed of all the court of the service has been another route march, this time covering the East End.

The many friends of Sergt, Brady will be welcome at the memorial service. B Section, composed of all troops south of Dundas street, held a route march on the King's birthday. Scoutnever given up, and so in the end have come out victorious. One great man said: "Victory would lack one-half its sweetness if not preceded by defeat."

Keep this in mind.

Keep this in mind. When you are nearing the end of a game, and think you are being beaten, renew your energy, and see if you do not make the other fellow step around some. Never tell yourself you are de-feated until the third man is declared out in the last inning.

What do you call real sport? When your side has twenty runs, while the other has not a single score? No! Not if you are a sport. You want to win by the smallest margin possible. You want to have to run for your prize and fish for your fish. That is real sport. Most men and boys go hunting for pleasure. Sometimes the game is very plentiful. Gluttons will be overjoyed at this, but not true sportsmen. A real hunter wants to have to work for his game. A glutton will kill until he is over-burdened, then he will kill for the sake of killing and leave the slaughtered game to rot. A true hunter will kill barely enough for his own use, and will be glad to let the rest live.

Fortunately, the laws of Canada limit the privileges of the hunter. There are game laws that set aside certain seasons for hunting and that limit the number of animals to be killed by each man. Parks are set aside in which the animals can live in peace, and in many other ways the poor dumb creatures are protected. There are heavy fines and terms of imprisonment dealt out to the See to it, chum, that you are a true

Manitoba Architect Estimated Cost of Caissons for Parliament Buildings At Less Than Half Kelly's Bid --- Commission Hears More Sensational Evidence.

[Canadian Press.]

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 11.-V. W. Horwood, late Manitoba province architect, was again on the stand this afternoon before the Royal Commission He gave evidence about the famous Kelly letter, bearing date September 20, 1913, Mering to put in the caissons for $844,000, on which letter Kelly's counsel, F. H. Phippen, K.C., of Toronto, based the contention that the job was done under been since the diplomatic correspondcontract. Horwood said he had received the letter, but he could not say when.

He did not acknowledge it at the time he received it, but after announcement of the Royal Commission had been made, Kelly telephoned him and asked for a peaceful outcome of the pending him to come to his house. $100,000 FOR CAMPAIGN

Chief Justice Mathers asked the witness to fix the time at which he first knew $844,000 was to be paid for the caissons. Horwood could not do it. His own estimate of what they ought to cost was $500,000 and this was allowing the principles of interest today that a note would soon be sent to Great Britain and her allies, insisting on a change in the operation of the blockade conducted by them so as to conform with a note would soon be sent to Great Britain and her allies, insisting on a change in the operation of the blockade conducted by them so as to conform with a note would soon be sent to Great Britain and her allies, insisting on a change in the operation of the blockade conducted by them so as to conform with own estimate of what they ought to cost was $500,000, and this was allowing the principles of international law forbidding interference with trade in non-contraband articles, passing to and in attendance. $100,000 for the campaign fund. $100,000 for the campaign fund. Witness said the matter of how much might be taken out of the caissons was discussed between Dr. Simpson, late president of the Winnipeg Conservative Association, but now at the front, Kelly and himself. Kelly and he both thought $100,000 was too much, but his final understanding of it was that the sum would be around that figure.

Horwood said he never made up, on his own initiative, estimates preparatory to the letting of contracts, but figures were supplied him with which his figures had to conform. This was true of the estimates covering the wings and also of the $802,000 estimate for the caissons. He instanced preparing the many.

This was done, and brought the total up to the required figures of $215,000.

Destroyed Correspondence, Horwood told how he destroyed, at the request of Hon. Dr. Montague, the file of correspondence connected with the Parliament Buildings. Dr. Montague told him he had better get rid of it. He had one sheet of records in a loose-leaf register rewritten, omitting all reference to the Parliament Buildings. Asked why he destroyed some of the documents and handed some to Dr. Montague, Horwood said the minister had demanded the originals, looked over them and told him which ones to destroy. Dr. Montague also instructed him to destroy all his copies.

Horwood denied that Thomas Kelly ever said anything to him about paying campaign money to the Liberals. Elliott had stated, in his evidence before the royal commission, that Kelly had given the Liberals $12,000 as an insurance fund. Witness stated he never had said anything like that. BRITAIN'S RIGHTEOUS CAUSE.

THERE are men in every country who would make war a condition of affairs to be desired. This class is uppermost in Germany now. It is not uppermost in Britain. The class that represents the antithesis of the warring spirit is the ruling force in the British Empire. Men who would willingly run the risk of being called traitorous to prevent an unjust war, who have not the slightest belief in the divine right of kings, who believe the only aristocracy to be the aristocracy of service, whose whole excuse for fighting is of a purely sacrificial nature, who desire to give, and not to take, who wish to strike only for protection and for freedom for the whole human brotherhood, these are the men who controlled British destinies at the outbreak of war, and who now control them. The Bishop of London, England, presumes upon no sacred tem to combat in Canada. It is to be hoped that the thieves and grafters will similar operation that culminated in the railways that connect.

Never has there been such an evil system to combat in Canada. It is to be hoped that the thieves and grafters will similar operation that culminated in the railways that connect the railways that the railways that connect the railways that the same principles for which Jesus Christ died.

But Christ died without a protest, he invited death, says one of the numerous cynics to be found. This may be granted, but would Christ have failed to place his body before a wild beast that sought to tear a child if such action had been the only means of saving the child? The common children of the dust have not Christ's power, a force of divinity that placed all men at his mercy, but a power which he used in his own mysterious ways. We see the wild beast threatening the child of civilization. We, or those of us who are great enough to perish for an ideal, have only our poor bodies to offer. We give those bodies, not as a mass of to slip their Sunday clothes off before limbs and torsos to be trampled over, but as a wall with which to plunging in. stay the hordes of pitiful savages who threaten humanity. We make this wall as strong and as formidable as possible with steel and powder and flesh. We press the foe backward. We have taken the only means of preserving all humanity that could be devised in the most just minds of the most moderate men.

The British men who made this "war" are the most truly Christ-like band of statesmen who have served any nation. It seems all wrong to call it war. It is for peace. It is peace itself in a sense. It is peace militant. Christ is peace. The cause of the British is Christianity militant.

Our cynic sneers again. "You argue strangely of Christ, who In fact, it is, perhaps, a bigger part died submissive and meek when you enlist him in your cause and call the spirit of your actions the Redeemer himself; Christ never fought," he parries.

Can we not say with truth that there are thousands of the race who would have died upon a cross could they have saved the world from this war? We CAN say that, and it is true. Legions of men at the front would have bared their sides to the Kaiser's spear had such a human martyr been gifted with a vision of the racking of civilization before his eyes and the opportunity to save all. It cannot be that one poor human life could end it all. The returned Christ alone can do that.

The human heart is torn and suffering. The great ideal may not inspire all who go to war, but even to the duller brain some spark of the holiness of the British cause must reach. Let the evnic have his way. The British people are not dying upon a cross. 20,000 the officers put out of action But they are scourging, not the money-changers, but the murderers numbering 900. The losses for this one in the temple. They are protesting against brutality. Call it week were almost as great as those for fighting if you will. Christ's whole life was a protest against "fought" in the most effective way within his divine conception. The British fight in another way, but the same spirit actuates them as actuated Christ. And they have never been so glorified.

Advice To June Bride On Picking a Husband

Temperaments vary. For that reason some of us buy Windsor ties and become musicians, while others of us wear thumb nails always in mourning be-cause we are carpenters and mechanics. Some women prefer to marry the ag-time artist rather than the man who is handy with a jack-plane. Later in life they regret it generally and become strong advocates of manual train-ng in the public schools. The reason is this: The man who is clever at the plane generally can't mend a chair nor make a window seat from a the butter! soap box. The musical husband may do to entertain company, but it is more economical for the young woman wh would marly this June to go in for the autmatic plano-player, and select a guy who is able to put a step in the llar stairs. The majority of folks have untrained ears that can't dis-tinguish handmade music from the canned variety anyway. But any guest can tumble down the cellar stairs when he steps on a step that isn't there. Instead of wasting wind exercising his cornet on the back porch, the me-chanically-inclined husband utilizes his breath doing useful things. If a chair leg has been kicked off by your sister's children, the handy hus-band puts it back on and the job is so none have quite forgotten the pleasant smooth you would never know the leg times spent in the "Busy Bee" hive at had been broken. Had the cornetplayer or rag-time artist mended the same chair, the off hind leg would have rested on the bass and the high one on

"Through the kindness of the J. P. Cook Company, these premises have been loaned to the Red Cross Society. This entrance to the J. P. Cook shoe store still open."

This is the sign which, on Monday next will hang in the window of the Richmond street entrance to Cook's shoe store, which is being converted into an office and information bureau for the London branch Red Cross Society. A Central Bureau.

The purpose of the store is to have a central place, where donations may be the "stand by the president" girl. She left, patterns and instructions regarding sewing obtained, and has discarded Belgian blue and the Kaiser's green-gray, she has put aside her military stripes and buttons, so popular a few weeks ago, and she is proving her patriotism by wearing gowns of American design and "neutral" colors.

Here's a very charming illustration her military stripes and buttons, so popular a few weeks ago, and she is proving her patriotism by wearing gowns of American design and "neutral" colors.

Here's a very charming illustration hoped to keep the office open all day.

The advantage of such a central Here's a very charming illustration bureau will readily be understood. Visof the new American girl model which I sketched the other day in the studio of a famous fashion designer. It's made of white wool with pin stripes of black. The jacket is semi-fitted, and it's lined with reseda green crepe; the collar and the tabs on the coat and skirt are also of green crepe. The buttons are green with rims of white. The skirt is circular, and it gains a becoming fullness from the pleats at the sides. It's the popular shoetop length. A blouse of polka dotted chiffon would be pretty with this gown—and of course, the only hat for a good American girl is the prim little, trim little sailor hat.

Lord's Day Alliance May Make Test Case of London-Ottawa Game Tomorrow.

TORONTO, June 11.—Sunday baseball in Hull by the Ottawa baseball team will be stopped if the Lord's Day Alliance can stop it. David W. Snyder, secretary of the alliance, reporting today to the Toronto Methodist Conference, said a test case would be made of it in the courts of Quebec. Last year permission was received from the Attorney-General to proceed with an action.

"Our schedule calls for Sunday games and we intend to adhere to it strictly," said President Fitzgerald, of the Canadian League tonight, when informed of the proposed action of the conference.

"The Eastern and International Leagues have been playing Sunday baseball in Quebec for fifteen years. We will go ahead with our games till someone succeeds in preventing us."

TOBACCO HABIT

Mr. S. D. Lent, a railroad man, was an inveterate smoker for 30 years. He used the strongest tobacco obtainable. After arising he says he would light a pipe and keep it hot for the rest of the day, with the exception of meal times. Often he would get up in the middle of the night. The habit was doing him great injury. He got a certain book, the information in which he followed, and thereby freed himself from the habit quickly and easily. Anyone who uses cigars, cigarettes, pipe, snuff or chewing tobacco excessively and who knows the injury being done through nervousness, heart weakening, kidney disorder, eye weakness, impaired memory, loss of vitality, etc., should write to Edward J. Woods, 549 L. Station E. New York city and get the very interesting free book that will be sent promptly upon application.

CONSTANTINE IMPROVES.

Washington, June 12.—King Constan-tine of Greece is improving, according to dispatches to the legation today, which state that His Majesty's strength perature has changed only a little from the normal in the last 24 hours. The King is yet unable to sit up.

To the inexperienced their thoughts are very hard to hold. We may have what we think an exceedingly fine thought on a subject in which we are interested. We think to ourselves we will write that down at the first opportunity, but when that opportunity arrives we have forgotten the thought, and cannot even think what it was all about, while we still feel certain that it at least was a very fine thought, and it at least was a very line thought, and might have made us famous if we could only have remembered it.

Another time we rush, while it is still hot in our minds, to pen and paper, only to find that we are disappointed. only to find that we are disappointed, that in black and white we cannot find that in black and white we cannot find the essence of beauty we thought it contained. The fine flavor, the per-fume is still in our minds, but is beyond our powers of expression. Of all the thoughts, our night thoughts are the hardest to capture, to bind together, to make concrete with our feeble language, to make them visible, as it were, to others. They are the most illusory and fleeting. John Lancaster Spaulding expresses the

Jesus said: "Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friend." They—these young men— are willing to know what it is to die. They are not world-worn and weary, not decrepit with age, but filled with the full tide of robust youth, bright-eyed, full-blooded, with the just pride of life in their souls. Do we realize what it means to die, for them to die? We can and do look with considerable equanimity upon the deaths that occur all about again, he says:

more father's care, no mother's love, but just "a globe collapsed, last end of all," then a lone grave in a foreign soil?

My thoughts lead me on to wonder what has drawn these heroes from out the general rabble of us? It looks to me like real patriotism; it certainly is not money, for they get but a few cents all. No profits from shoes, hats or clothes for them. They work hard of days and lay hard of nights, the blazing sun and the wintry blast is their por-tion until the end. Miss Clayton is rather a seriou young woman, under any circumstances, and takes her work as a photoplayer in the most serious manner. She believes that unless a player has some real sympathy with the lesson that is being taught in the drama, good results cannot come from the interpretation of the drama. Miss Clayton, therefore studies the problems that are presented and endeavors to show exactly what their effect would be on matic interest in the life of the married couple after marriage as there is before marriage. And as most plays end with the marriage hero and heroine, Miss Clayton is taking particular pleasure in the series which deals with the couple after marriage. In the cur-rent issue of the Photoplay Magazine she writes:

"I believe that as intense a love in-

On Fast Trains

Lastest Device for Instruction Amusement of Passengers.

Motion pictures have become factor in the railroad business within the past few weeks. They are not only to be used for educational purposes, but arrangements are being completed to install motion picture projection machines on some of the luxurious transcontinental trains to lessen the monotony of the journey for the passengers.

The installation of the pictures on the railroad trains is an idea that probably results from the success that has been attained in their use hings for the passengers.

Few of the transatlantic liners were without their orchestra in the days when travel across the ocean was more popular than it is now, and there are numbers of amusement devices that are never heard of on shore that are provided for the passengers so that they might while away the moments spent aboard ship. Most of the liners have from two to half a dozen men whose soul duty it is to take care the amusement field gave a new form of entertainment to the steamship companies, and they seized upon it with alacrity.

Now the railroad companies are to utilize the pictures on long journeys. There probably is no trip in the world—except the journey across Siberia on the trans-Siberian rail-

The educational feature of the pictures in railroad work results from efforts of C. L. Harred, of the signal department of the Pennsylvania railroad, who has just finished an exhaustive investigation of the value of pictures for instructing men in signal work by practical application of a system of instruction he de-

The Italians began their march gainst Gorizia on the morning of June ear the city, Austrian artillery opened fire, and heavy masses of infantry which were thrown forward forced the Italians fall back several times.

"Italian artillery posted east of the city opened a great gap in the Austrian ranks, but up to the morning of the 9th neither side had gained a decisive advantage. The Austrians lost from 8,000 to 10,000 men. Gorizia is overflowing with wounded, who are being cared for at private houses because of a lack of hospital space

Solidiy Established. An official statement made at main headquarters of the Italian army under the date of June 11 and given out here tonight, says that the Italians are now solidly established in the Austrian city some days. The full statement, which is signed by Lieut.-Gen. Count Cadorna, chief of the staff of the Italian army,

"Some progress was made today at different points along the front. A reconnaissance party beyond Monte Nero found in the gorges recently explored by our fire the wreckage of rifles and machine guns abandoned by the enemy and the bodies of forty talions coming from Plezzo (in Austria, 89 miles northwest of Gorizia) attempted, according to statements made by prisoners, to take our troops in the region of Monte Nero in the rear. The attempt was frustrated by the energetic resistance and rapid manoeuvering of the bersaglieri and Alpine troops. "We are now solidly established in the city of Gradisca, which has been held

33RD BANDSMEN SCORE SUCCESS

First Public Appearance Yesterday Indicates Good Work.

RIVALRY

Battalion Bands Will Vie With Each Other for Camp Honors.

Yesterday afternoon the newly-formed brass band of the 33rd Overseas Batmade its first public appearance giving an impromptu concert on the parade ground. Under the direction of Corp. Scott, formerly of the 7th Fusiliers Band of this city, and an old bandsman of the 48th Highlanders, the newlyorganized band made a great firs impression. Though the organization is but two days old, it scored an instant hit, and the men of the 33rd are predicting a great future for it.

From now on there will be the keenest rivalry between the bands of the 34th and the 33rd to see which can win the title of being the premier band of the brigade. In both there is a wealth of splendid band material, and the two ing their men together and getting the best that is in them.
Lieut.-Col. Wilson of the 33rd was one of the interested spectators who listen-than the front. The work of constructed to the new band of his battalion ing the earth seats has been done by yesterday, and he was more than delighted with the showing that it made.

The first public parade of the band INDECENT PICTURES will be tomorrow, when with the 34th organization it will take part in the Sunday morning church parade services on the heights.

READY FOR BASE CO.

Forty Recruits Already Available for That of 33rd.

While the officers have not yet been selected, the base company of the 33rd Overseas Battalion is now practically ready for organization. There are 40 recruits available for this additional company, the regular battalion strength being exceeded by that number.

There will be only one captain for the base company and one of the subalterns is slated for promotion to this rank.

Eight more recruits were taken the strength of the 33rd today.

that there would be 30-cent fares to Port Stanley.

On one occasion Sir Adam Beck said: "There will be 30-cent fares all through the summer season for the people of London."

This pledge was constantly renewed and made as important a part of the campaign of promises as the pledge that the scheme would reduce taxes in the first year of operation.

But now it is intimated in the electrification organ that there would be 30-cent fares to Port Stanley only on one day of the week. At other times the fare will be two

Field Guns, Machine Guns and Airships Found Hidden In German Steamer

NAPLES. June 11.—1:05 p.m., via Paris, 4:35 p.m.—The German steamer Bayern, which has been interned in this port since last August, was today unloaded by the Italian authorities.

A thorough search of her cargo was made. Hidden under ostensible goods of no particular importance were field guns, machine guns and several aeroplanes. As none of this war material was mentioned in the ship's papers, the customs authorities siezed it all. The Bayern sailed from Hamburg several days before the opening of hostilities between Austria and Servia. She put into Naples and remained here for safety. The German Government tried repeatedly to obtain possession of her cargo, but permission to remove this always was refused by the Italian authorities. HOW FAT FOLKS MAY BECOME THIN

Perhaps you are suddenly becoming stout, or it may be that you have been putting on weight for years. In either case the cause is the same—lack of oxygen-carrying power of the blood. This trouble occurs in adults of both sexes and all ages, but it may be overcome very easily and without any of the privations that most people imagine necessary to reduce their weight.

Simply go to your druggist and get some oil of orilene capsules. Take one after each meal and one before going to bed. Weigh yourself so as to know just how fast you are losing weight. Wonderful results have been accomplished by this inexpensive recipe, but be sure to get the genuine oil of orilene in capsule form. It is sold only in original sealed packages. Any large druggist can supply you, or a large size box will be served.

Say you saw it in The Advertiser. At midnight a spark smoulders in your building; the wind rises and fans it into a blaze. The firemen are called, but too late. Your property is burned. You have partial or total loss. It is happening somewhere everyhour. Sound business methods demand that you be prepared to meet such a calamity by covering your property with a sound insurance. The cost is very low, and no man or woman too poor to have a protection, and you cannot do better than let me write you a policy on your goods or your building, in the Quebec, Acadia, or the Equitable Fire Insurance Companies. Drop me a card. Call or phone me and I will protect you at once. Samuel Wilson, agent. Office, 216 Richmond street. Phone 2103. 69u

NERLICH FREED: JURY FINDS NO

ACT OF TREASON Demonstration Is Quelled-Zirzow's Narrow Escape.

TORONTO, June 11 .- Emil Nerlich, on trial for treason, was late this afternoon pronounced not guilty by the jury after nearly six hours' deliberation. An brother publicly embraced him, and the late prisoner and the crown counsel shook hands.

Judge Sutherland said that while he might have committed for contempt of court Zirzow, crown witness, and the main centre of the prosecution, for tearing up a document in court, he had abstained from doing so in order that he might not prejudice the case against the accused. He added: "It seems to indicate what we have heard so much about lately, the absolute disregard of officers trained in the German army for all civil rights and customs."

GERMANY AND U. S. CAN HARDLY RETAIN FRIENDLY SPIRIT German Officials Are Pessimistic-Will

Not Meet Wilson's Wish. [Canadian Press.] LONDON, June 12.—3:45 a.m.—German opinion is unanimously against granting President Wilson's demand for assurances that American ships and lives will not be endangered by suo marine warfare, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company by way of Amsterdam.
Official circles are pessimistic, the dispatch says, regarding the continued maintenance of friendly relations with the United States.

Immediately after it had been rereceived the contents of the American note were telegraphed by Foreign Min-ister Von Jagow to Emperor William, who is on the Galician front,

ONE BITTER COMMENT. AMSTERDAM (via London), June 11.

—9:35 p.m.—A dispatch from Berlin to the Kolnische Volkszeitung, a copy of which has ben received here, says:

"Without doubt Mr. Lansing, in comparison with Mr. Bryan, is a man of very sharp tone, but the German press will do well not to inquire too anxious-ly whether he is a man of sharp or of peaceful tone.

"Our submarine war will not cease on that account, If American ships or Americans in British ships enter the war zone, they must, despite Mr. Lansing and President Wilson, take the risk involved in such a voyage. America can claim the right to judge neutrals' rights only when she herself maintains neutrality. Such was not the case under the pacifist Mr. Bryan, and probably will be just as little the case under the international law expert, Mr.

BERLIN HEARS OF CRISIS IN THE RUSSIAN MINISTRY

BERLIN, June 11, via London, 11:25 p.m.—Reports to the Vossische Zeitung, indirectly from Petrograd, point to the possibility of a ministerial crisis and the retirement of Premier Goremykin. A meeting of Duma leaders last Saturday with President Michael Rodzianko in the chair, at which a request to the Emperor to convoke the Duma at an early date was adopted, had, according to the newspaper informants, the purpose of starting an agitation for a coalition ministry.

Prince Manuroff, the reports continue, presented a resolution that the Duma immediately after its convocation move an address to the Emperor and demand a ministry in which Parliament would be represented. Members of the extreme right voted the resolution in principle, it is stated, and Prince Rozianko went to the meeting after a long conference with Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces at headquarters.

is a real bargain in bread, during war time, too. It is made of the purest ingredients, in a sanitary, sunlit factory, and when first you draw the keen edge of your knife through the rich brown crust and see those firm, creamy-white slices fall from the loaf, then is when you realize what a really good bread it is, and it won't take long for you to learn to call it by its name.
