RELEASE IRISH PRISONERS IN LONDON JAILS

The British Authorities Issue Amnesty Proclamation Granting Freedom to PASS "ACT OF OBLIVION"

Months May Be Required To Return All Troops To England.

London, England, Jan. 13.—The Irish olitical prisoners in the London jails, Brixton, Pentonville and Wormwood Scrubs, were released this morning, under the amnesty proclamation issued by King George yesterday. Instruc-tions were sent to the provincial jails for similar releases. The first prisoner o be released under the amnest; proclamation, Dr. McConville of Mon-aghan, left Mountjoy yesterday. Dub-lin Castle has Issued a list of 370 prisoners for release today. Five persons were liberated from Mountjoy and 38 from Limerick Prison yesterday.

Amnesty Declaration Elicits Enthusiasm

Dublin, Jan. 13.—Materialization of the earnestly desired amnesty of political prisoners in Ireland has elicited more outward enthusiasm here than any other development in the peace activities. It may be remarked in passing that the choice of the phrase, "act of oblivion," rather than "act of clemency," in the official announce-ment, was recognized as a happy dip-lomatic stroke, the significance of which was not missed.

Indulge in Demonstrations.

Dublin citizens included in lively demonstrations last night, a large crowd outside Mountjoy Prison welcoming the successive batches of librated prisoners with loud cheers, while a happy atmosphere generally pervaded the streets. Similar scenes were enacted in Cork and Limerick, where thers were released. It is understood that a number of men freed from pris-ons in England will arrive today. An editorial in today's Irish Inde ward trip from Cannes, probably on Sunday, will be asked to confer with M. Poincare and President Milerand, clause of our agreement, and draw according to the Echo de Paris, so that the two governments may keep in close th ments from Dublin Castle to England, with the result that the movement has been temporarily suspended.

With regard to the military drawal, it is not anticipated that the work will be completed for some time, perhaps for months. Shipment of roops, estimated to number from 30,-000 to 50,000, is the least part of the undertaking, as after they have gone will be necessary to dispose of mense quantities of stores and food-stuffs, besides military buildings, in-cluding hospitals and barracks, and lands occupied for military purposes.

Tenders Butter Report.

In tenderng the report on butter-grading in Ontario in 1921, Mr. Scott said: "Butter-grading in Ontario has not received the same support from the trade, nor from creameries, as it has in some provinces. There are no doubt many reasons for this. First of all we have a home market for practically all the butter manufactured in the province.

After speaking of the grading of butter in Ontario, Mr. Scott said finally: "In conclusion let me say that I tering on "Matters of Present Day Interest to Ontario Creamerymen."

Debate Questions Relative to Standards For Wives and Husbands.

INTERESTS IN COMMON

Normal Student Urges Ideal of Drummond's "Love Spectrum" Analysis.

"What is real love?" "What part should mentality play as a determining factor with regard to marriage?"

"Should a girl marry a man with-out knowing that he is able to earn enough to support her?"

"Does a man really love a girl if he will marry her without being sure that he can support a home?" "Is a couple justified in getting married without a reserve fund to tide them over in case of sickness, unemployment or other emergen-

The foregoing were among the ques-tions earnestly discussed Thursday vening by the Federation of Girls' lubs of the Y. W. C. A., with a view making their standard for the home for the husband and for the wife, which hey have been considering for several months past as complete as possible pefore putting it into printed form.

According to the industrial Extension Secretary, Mrs. Mattle Rose Crawford, crete form of standards, has been undertaken in the most serious spirit as a guidance for the girls and to prevent em from making shipwreck of their ves on rocks of matrimony.
"Nothing could be more important," sized the point that it should be built on a foundation of true love. Normal Students Speak

Miss Kennedy, the first student speaker took up the subject of love as the foundation of the home, giving as the ideal the analysis of Dr. Henry Drummond, the "Love Spectrum, which resolves love into the componen parts, patience, kindness, generosity numility, courtesy, unselfishness, good emper, guilelessness and sincerity. "If the man you think you love does ot inspire these feelings in you.

said, "then take warning. You are on dangerous ground." Dealing with the question of mentality with relation to standards for choosing a husband or wife, Miss Myles, through the discussion which followed her short paper, had the honor of sug-gesting two points to be added to the federation standards. The first is, that there should be every assurance that ooth parties are normal, mentally before parriage is contracted. The second, in ne interests of posterity that close reations should not marry.

Miss Mary Bondy dealt with the resonsibility of the husband and wife towards the community, once they have established their home. Their respon-sibility involved, in her opinion, support f the church, hospitality to neighbors and strangers, helping along efforts in the line of community betterment. Down in the standard of the Federation of Girls' Clubs goes the additional stan-dard for the home, "making the home a entre of blessing."

Discusses Family Budget. Miss Riggs gave a practical little talk n the family budget, provocative of nimated discussion

A budget, she maintained, would make husband and wife feel equally the ponsibility for financing the home rom the carning side on the one hand, ne spending on the other. What caused hardship in so many nomes when a few weeks' unemploy-ment came along? Lack of foresight

Of first importance was the budget could be waited for rather than run a charge account to result in possible em-barrassment later. At this point, she deplored the habit of "charge accounts," referring to her knowledge of sigs even running charge accounts for their Christmas presents. Progressive Candidate Seems Determined To Force Showdown.

RAILWAYS TO BE ISSUE

Former Premier Likely, However, To Obtain Victory At Grenville.

PRESCOTT, Ont., Jan. 12 .- Although all indications point to the victory of

By rather a coincidence Mr. Meighen opened his campaign for the Conservative party with a big rally at Spencerville, which is also in Grenville County, where he is now seeking election as a private member.

Arthur K. Patterson, his opponent, has placed himself on record as being a supporter of the Progressive party and of its leader, Hon. T. A. Crerar.

Mr. Meighen in opening his campaign today, deplored the fact that the recent federal contest was not fought on either the tariff or railway issues. As the fight progressed Mr. Crerar had spoken fight progressed Mr. Crerar had spoken less and less of free trade and had been ready to concede more and more to the doctrine of protection. He then proceeded to review his own attitude towards the tariff. It was in the very nature of nationality, he said, that a country's trade should be protected.

To Force Showdown.

Mr. Meighen revealed his intention of forcing a general showdown upon the forcing a general showdown upon the question of the National Railways.

"There is a very influential body of opinion in this country," said he, "which is determined that the National Rail-ways will not remain national if they can possibly prevent it. They are re-solved that these railways shall be turned back to private ownership just as soon as that transaction can be con-

After outlining "premature railway

After outlining "premature railway construction" in which the country had indulged and after referring to the financial measures which had been resorted to in order to prevent a crash, he claimed that both T. A. Crear and Premier Drury had stood on platforms and supported this railway policy.

"What right have they?" he said "to point the finger of scorn at Sir Wilfrid Laurier? Much less, what right have they to reprove me, who opposed the scheme?" asked Mr. Meighen. "They have no right whatever to do so nor to come forward now in robes of white posing as exemplars of the new sanctification of political events," he added.

Would Unite System.

He justified the acquisition of the Canadian oNrthern, which was now the

He justified the acquisition of the Canadian on there, which was now the backbone of the whole government system. It was a great political asset and, would yet become the pride of Canada. "The time has now come," said Mr. Melghen, with emphasis, "when the whole National Ball. when the whole National Railway system should be brought together, united and operated as one single unit.

"There is an act on the statute books providing for this. It is the clear duty of the present government to give efto what is obviously the intent of Fears Consequence.

"If we yield to this reactionary element which its urging that these railways be returned to private ownership," he predicted that "this country is headed straight for the precipice of bankruptcy."

Digressing, he playfully attacked Mr.

Crear from another angle. "I don't even know whether the Progressive leader is still in opposition," he said.

leader is still in opposition." he said.
"When last I heard of him he was negotiating with Mr. King."
"At any rate." proceeded Mr.
Meighen, "he certainly was adopting an attitude of benevolent neutrality.
Under these circumstances I cannot see how he is able to lead an effective opnosition.

"At the same time I-have never thought that it was either his spirit or intent to bring about an amalgamation, but he did want to get just as close to the Liberals as he safely could."

Londoner Recalls Dumping Overboard Bunch He Had As Curio.

LITTLE KNOWN TILL 1870

Fifty Years Required To Build Up Industry To Present Importance.

That the banana should ever have een regarded as poisonous seems ridiculous to the present-day person, but that it was is a fact that is borne out by at least two residents of London.

J. W. Tucker, 146 Hamilton road, still has very vivid recollections of the time when he took a bunch of bananas from South America to London, England, to show some of his friends the kind of hings that grew on the trees there. The bunch was picked green and put in the ice-box of the vessel and carried to England and exhibited at the port of ondon as a curio.

The crew knew nothing about its edible qualities, and those shown the specimens declared that it was best left alone, because it was sure to be poisonous, and would have nothing to do with it whatever, finally prevailing upon the owner to throw it into the River Thames before anybody should become reckless and attempt to eat some of them. me of them.

Had the owner of the fruit had a vision of the future of the banana in-dustry he would no doubt have gone in-to the wholesale fruit business right away, but not knowing what the future away, but not knowing what the future held in store for the article was satisfied that he had had some amusement, and for the time forgot the incident.

Not Used by Natives.

At that time the natives of South America did not use the banana as an article of food, and that was the reason that the crew of the ship did not know of its delicious flavor, and, therefore, missed many a time when its use would have added relish to the ordinary ships fare. are.
It seems strange that people were ever afraid of what is to everyone today a very commonplace article of food. Jacob Smith, who with his son Frank, is in the fruit business in the city, was the first man, it is claimed, to offer bananas to the people of London, Ont. Thirty-seven years ago Mr. Smith Thirty-seven years ago Mr. Smith ried to sell the first bananas that came to London on the market square. He had peculiar experiences regarding their value. He was told that before he could tempt even his most intimate riends to eat of the fruit that he would have to eat some of them himself as a demonstration that they were not pois-

Great Britain received the first shipment of bananas from the American tropics in the year 1903, receiving a supply previous to this mainly from the West Indies.

It has taken about fifty years to build up the banana industry to what it is today, and it would be hard to depict what the next fifty years will do towards developing this already enormous business.

for at a minimum cost. Who is responsible? The "cook is in the kitchen." But more than that is needed tractive tables, the efficient, homelike service. The secret of it all is that the Y.

M. C. A. Women's Auxiliary, of which Mrs. J. P. Finnegan is the new president, is exercising untiring vigilance, on the spot to supervise and do the actual work.

Two hundred meals and more in one week would not be such a big proposition, unless it meant two hundred meals and more, week after week, from the time the club and class season opens in October until the wind-up in April.

Then, by way of keeping the auxiliary up to full speed, there are always unscheduled banquets, suppers and other functions popping up which require attention. Monday's night, there's the Business men Class; Tuesday, Tuxis Boys; Wednesday, Trail Rangers; Thursday, Ki-Wi boys; Friday evening boys from the Technical School. Too Busy to Vote.

If the municipal elections had been held on New Year's Day, the members of the Y. M. C. A. auxiliary would have been almost too busy to do their duties as citizens by voting so fully occupied were they with their share of "open house" at the Y. M. C. A., and serving refreshments to the many who called. The organization, an entirely voluntary one, numbers about sixty-five members, but among these, as in other societies, there are a num-ber too much engaged with other things to take regular responsibility and duty in connection with the "five days a week" obligations.. Friends outside, however, it is stated, frequently and generously afford their assistance to the auxiliary in giving the touch of home to the Y. M. C. A., which only women can achieve.

Talking of the "home touch" It is not confined to the serving of suppers. The auxiliary has a fund, raised by membership fees and in other ways, with which it provides the curtains for the windows, cur-tains that are attractive, gracefully hung and kept clean and fresh. The "eyes of the building" viewed from the outside, are the first indication of woman's co-operation from the home-making standpoint, in carrying forward more effectively the work for which the Young Men's Christian Association stands.

straight left to the chin and a that to the jaw floored Cook for the fount. He was up on one knee when he referee, Jack Smith, finished the fount of ten, but was too late.

The weights were announced as, pok, 189, and Carpentier, 170 pounds.

Carp's First Blow.

In the opening round Carpentier was the first to lead, scoring with both his set and right without a return. Cook and right without a return. Cook and considerable in-fighting followed, a which neither man had any marked dvantage. Cook took a nasty blow on the ribs, but himself scored well toward the close of the round.

Both men sparred cautiously at the eginning of the second round. Carpentier landed a left hook to the jaw and easily evaded an attempt at a counter. The Australian had the better of the fighting at close quarters which ensued, and twice sent home and lefts which surprised Carpentier, ontinually falled to find openings for its right. Up to the third round the out appeared to be going in favor of the Australian.

CHEVROLET

This popular Chevrelet model combines all the comfort and equipment features of the Sedam type, with the convenience of limited seating capacity. Yet there is ample accommodation for four passengers by reason of an extra seat with collapsible arms that fold under the dash when not in use.

The driver's seaft is set forward within comfortable reach of wheel and controls, and behind it is placed a receptacle for parcels. A much larger luggage compartment is con-cealed in the rear of the car.

As in the "FB 40," fixtures include dome and dash lights, mechanical window lifts and Yale latches, and trimming is in striped plush velour of a rich grey and blue mixture. All , windows have silk curtains.

By virtue of their victory over Perrins, 3 to 1, at Westminster Rink last of thrills in the first fixture, and Sid Rankin had a busy job refereeing the game. At one time, during the second period, London Six had three men on the ice and Perrins had four.

Roy McKay drew the most part of the penalties. Arthurs and Loughed had a mix-up after four minutes of the second period had passed. Both were put off the ice for the rest of the period. And as soon as this happened the remaining players started some fun amongst themselves as well. However, forgetting all the mix-ups, it was a real good game and both teams played a good brand of hockey, when they did. Both goal tenders, Tozer for Perrins, and H. McLean for London Six, played their positions just as well as they could be played. Both had their bombardment turns quite frequently, and all that both let in were four goals.

Roy McKay did all the scoring for the winners and Harry Mays got the lone tally for the biscuit makers. At two minutes, McKay and Arthurs went right through Perrin's defence line, the former rushed Tozer and made the first counter. At thirteen minutes time, McKay took the puck fom center ice, made a dash for Perrin's goal, but Lougheed checked him. He managed to keep the puck, however, and made another rush similar to his first one, and this time he outguessed Lougheed and scored. It was a beautiful place of skating and stickhandling on McKay's part.

The closing fixture was listless. Both teams played good clean hockey, and the fans showed their appreciation of this. The Jones team is a light aggregation, but nevertheless the players showed they were game and did their best to score in the closing minutes. Bell players are much heavier and this helped them along in their victory. Jones got the first goal at six minutes' time. Needham, the Manhattan Junior defence man, doing the trick. Bell Telephone evened it up in the second period, Wilcox scoring at ten minutes' time.
Wilcox got Bell Telephone's winning goal. He shot the puck toward Jones' goal after a puck-off from an offside, and it rolled right into the nets.
Jones forced the pace after this, but Bell put up sterling defence, and they couldn't get past it.

The second period was real lively, but no goals were scored. McKay got his third goal in the last session, when he shoved the puck in the nets during a scramble. DRAMA AT GRAND SCORES TRIUMPH

Lesson For Every Class.

"The Unloved Wife," the dramatic attraction at the Grand Theatre for the balance of this week, scored a genuine triumph at its presentation Thursday

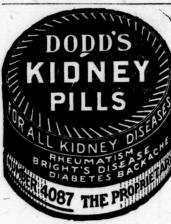

It is splendidly acted, and it is a play that all men and women can see and be more understanding and conse-quently happier for having seen it. It leals less with the marriage proben than with the problems of abnormal psychology. It is a pathological drama that ends in a sane and wholesome

Because the majority of people have little peculiarities of viewpoint, and a greater number than one realizes have been ambittered, soured or prejudiced by unpleasant past experiences, "The Unloved Wife" is a play that helps to prepare all who see it for the often difficut task of living with other people who have become morbid through brooding over wrongs of the past. Altogether, it is a highbrow play, and yet a lighbrow play of an unusual type. You don't have to be a highbrow to get a lesson from it. You may not get the same lesson as the highbrow gets, but you do get some lesson and so does the highbrow.

Godfrey Matthews capably plays the part of Jack Pennington, "a modern St. Elmo," obviously suffering from hypochrondria of an ugly variety by reason of the unkindness of a woman

There may be mothers of the Marion Courtenay butterfly type. The role really seems a carciature of motherhood, but Miss Florence Hackett is un-deniably a clever and versatile actress, no matter what one thinks of her role. Both Miss Hackett and Mr. Matthews have abnormal psychological roles to play, and such roles are more difficult than ordinary roles.

The more human characters are im-The more human characters are impersonated delightfully by Fred Merrill, as the cantankerous but quite human old grandfather; Marie Del Vecchio as the dear, kind and gay grandmamma; Miss Lottie Salisbury. in the title role; Miss Isabelle Leonard in the invaid sister's part; J. Norman Wells as the boy next door, and Abert James as Jim Walton.

Don't Spoil Your Hair By Washing It

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali, for this is very injuri-ous, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all io pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright.

'The Unloved Wife" Carries Miss Virginia Man Stars in "House of Glass."

> Any theatrical offering connected with the name, George M. Cohan, is always something worth while, and the comedy-drama, "House of Glass," presented by the Grew Players at the Majestic Theatre Thursday night from the pens of Max Marcin and George M. Cohan, is well worth seeing by London theatregoers. It has been some weeks since Miss Virginia Mann, eading lady of the Grew Company here, has had such ample opportunity to really show her ability. The last few plays put on by Mr. Grew have been of a fluffy comedy nature, and Miss Mann did not have much

However, the drama being presented this week Miss Mann proves possibly more so than in any other offering that we have seen her in this season (and we have seen most of them) that she has few equals in stock in emotional roles. During the last three acts of the four-act drama Miss Mann has some exceptionally heavy work, and shows why she is the leading lady of the com-

Robert Hyman has not the part to demonstrate that he has any more than ordinary ability. As far as the male nonors of the play are concerned they and Wallace Ray. The role of a successful lawyer fitted Mr. Penwarden liks a glove, while Mr. Ray's portrayal of a "strong arm detective," who was on familiar terms with all the tricks of the trade, was exceptionally good.

The cast was exceptionally good.

The cast was one of the largest yet used by the Grew Players in their stay here. Other members whose work is deserving of mention are Gertrude Gustin, Elizabeth Fox, Rickey Secrest, Wm. H. Malone, Thomas Nevarro, H. E. Lockhart, Rose McDonald, Henry E. Lockhart, Rose McDonald Williams and George Spelvin.

DISMISSES ACTION OF L. HEARN ESTATE

Justice Masten Doubts Rights of Plaintiff to Costs.

Mr. Justice Masten has handed out udgment dismissing the action brought at the last high court sittings here, by Timothy Adalr on behalf of Lewis Hearn estate the costs he incurred in to set aside the deed made by Mr. James. His lordship throws some doubt in Mr. Adair's right to take out of the Hearn estate the costs he incurred in bringing this action against Mr. James. He says: Upon a consideration of the whole vidence, I am clearly of opinion that this action cannot succeed, and I find that when the deed in question was made on 30th September, 1920, Lewis Hearn knew what he was doing and wisely and providently desired to sell land in question that it was advan-tageous for him to do so, that he was not induced to sell by any undue influence or persuasion though he was at the time liable to be easily persuaded, that the price paid was a fair price and adequately commensurate with the value of the lot sold, that his interests were protected by competent indepen-dent advice, and that the increased price subsequently offered was the result of special circumstances which had not arisen at the date of the convey-ance in question. Action dismissed. Not a case for costs. So far as it has appeared at the trial no order was ever obtained by the committee authorizing the bringing of this action. It will be a matter to be carefully investigated and considered by the Local Master when passing accounts of committee, whether plaintiff's costs should be allowed out of estate.

HESSEL LEADS CITY HOUSING BODY FOR 1922

D. J. Tallant, Former Vice-President, Re-elected to Same Position.

SEEK SALE FOR HOUSES

Commissioners Now Have a Total of 46 Residences Ready For Occupation.

The housing commission will meet the finance committee of the city council on Wednesday or Thursday night of next week to decide on the price at which the Pine Lawn and Garfield avenue houses, 36 or 37 in all, will be sold at. A campaign to dispose of them will immediately

Such was the decision of the commission on Thursday night. It was first meeting of the year. R. ment Hessel, representative of labor tery. on the commission, was named chairman, and D. J. Tallant, vice-chairman in 1921, was re-elected. Both appointments were made on motion last year's chairman, John Cunliffe, the mayor being the third member of the commission present.

There was an informal discussion in regard to the selling price of the houses, but definite acction by the commission was impossible at this time owing to the fact that a state- her residence in ment of the actual cost of the houses was not available. . Piper will do the work.

Toronto, J. W. Ellis, wrote in regard to the repairing of the Pine Lawn roofs, outlining his understanding of the agreement which is to be made with the general contractors, Messrs. Hayman & Mills, for this work, and at the same time giving approval.

Mr. Ellis says that the roofs are to be put in shape by the general contractors and guaranteed for a reasonable period. He then lays down in detail just wherein the fault is found with the present roofing, and also the exact changes which the contractors must make in the roofs, concluding that all work must be to the satisfaction of the building in-

Leave It to Mr. Piper. The commission decided to leave the matter in the hands of Mr. Piper, and he will have the repairs made just as soon as the weather permits A statement in regard to the uses built by the individual loan in 1921, showed that under the 1919 ac ere were two built last year; each

THE TIME FOR RECEIPT of the personal income tax returns from Ward 4 has expired, said Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant, and the returns made are far from equal to the number of notices sent out. Mr. Grant believes that the trouble may be due to the fact that many people who received forms, believe that if they have no taxable income, a return is not necessary. Mr. Grant points out that his department is not aware of whether their income is assessable or not, and for this reason the return will have to be made. Employers' returns for the whole city, sent out at the same time as the Ward 4 personal returns, have been returned quite punctually.

Ontario Retail Merchants Ask For Immediate Freight Rate Cut

TORONTO, Jan. 11.—The Ontario Retail Merchants' Association convention today protested against telephone rate increases, and called for immediate reduced freight rates.

Daylight saving time throughout Canada and speedy action for deep ening the St. Lawrence were also favored, and a resolution urging that the sales tax be placed at the source of supply and not on the retail merchants' shoulders, was introduced.

That indifference existed among retail merchants themselves regarding their own interests was strongly stated by members, and con by President Sieman, who urged renewed enthusiasm in their cause.

N. C. Ryan spoke on the "Cost of Doing Business," which he defined as a system in order that each merchant may know the "vitals" of his Chinaman. It is a particularly coward ly thing to assault Chinamen, who, as a rule, are inferior in physique and peaceable. These crimes have been frequent in Canada, and the court looks on them severely. I don't suppose the punishment in this case will have much ffect on the young men.

"If I impose a sentence of seven years in penitentiary I am showing as much leniency as I can. I, accordingly, impose a sentence of seven years in penitentiary for your crime committed on the 9th day of April, 1921, and for which you have pleaded guilty." Unmoved at Sentence.

Williams seemed quite unmoved at the sentence, and gazed calmly around the court room.

His companions, the Murrells, escaped from the county jail here on the night of September 2 last, and have not yet been apprehended. They sawed through the bars of their cell and with the aid of a ladder left in the jail yard by some workmen, had no difficulty in gaining their freedom.

Williams tried out the same "stunt" about two months ago, but turnkeys at the jail discovered a bar that had been partly sawed before he was able to complete the operation. Since that time he has been carefully watched day and night.

Early in December Williams, who is Early in December Williams, who is also known as Vaughn, was seriously ill with pneumonia, and was in a critical condition for over a week.

Early on the morning of the Melbourne affair the Murrells and another man, who was never caught, and Williams, walked from London to Byron, broke into a garage there, and stole a motor car, proceeding to Melbourne. They attempted to hold up the Home Bank in that village, and in endeavoring to make their escape Sidney Mur-rell shot and killed Russell Campbell. The three desperadoes were caught, but their companion, known as "Fat," showed a clean pair of heels.

The bandits were tled to telephone poles until the arrival of the London police.

IS IT IMPORTANT WHERE YOU BUY YOUR MEATS?

Do you go along in a half-hearted manner and buy at any old meat shop? Do you really think is this first-quality meat I am buying? Do you know whether your butcher goes in for quality or for price? In short, are you getting results for the money you are giving him? It is very important where you shop. Meat is one of the Big Four necessities in your daily life. You and your family need good, nourishing meat to put them out in the world fit for the hard knocks. Our abattoir and farm lies in the very center of one of the finest cattleraising districts in the world. We are right on the spot to select the choicest animals before they go to market, thus enabling us to give you super-quality week in and week out.

"A gentleman once, eh? So you don't think I'm one any more. But Bill there—he's one, ain't he? It seems to me you've been getting kind of bossy around here, lately—and the women of we northern men don't behave that way."

"I'm not your woman, thank God—and I ask you to be careful."

"So you're not my woman, eh?"

"No, no, no! I never will be!" The girl's eyes were blazing, and she had forgotten her fear in her magnificent."

Seemingly in a flash the darkness was upon them. Bill was face to face with his enemies in his own dark with his enemies in his own dark with his enemies in his own dark. Harold cursed in the blackness; as if in a continuation of the leap he had made to upset the candles, Bill seized Virginia in his strong arms.

They clinched, staggered, reeled, the darkness. Ducking low, Bill the darkness. Bill wrenched him back and forth, and instant would have crushed with hope. Perhaps if these men for the life out of him if it hadn't been for the interference of Pete.

The latter breed leaped on his back, and Bill had to neglect Harold an Harold turned quickly to the shelf above Bill's head and procured half a dozen matches from the box.

Have darkness. Ducking low, Bill the darkness. Ducking low, Bill the darkness. Bill wrenched him back and forth, and in instant would have crushed to the floor.

The latter breed leaped on his back, and Bill had to neglect Harold an Harold turned quickly to the shelf and in the darkness. Ducking low, Bill the darkness and the province of the fray with added fury.

They clined, translation of ning to the floor, and Bill's strong arms hurled Harold after him.

The knife dropped from Pete's hand. Ho turned with a look of ghastly surprise. His neck was broken like a match, arms hurled Harold after him.

The odds were but two to one.

Harold had taken out his own resweep to the fray with added fury.

Virginia's pistol was in Joe's hand breed and Harold, and Bill was like a wild heast.

In uri Pete to the floor.

They were both powerful men, the breed and Harold, and Bill was like a wild heast.

He was the nearest of the three attackers, and Bill's outstretched arms seized him. The woodsman's muscles gave a mighty wrench. His grasp was about Joe's chest at first, but with a great lurch he slung the man's body out far enough 50 that he could loop his sinewy arms about the man's knees.

Then with a terrific wrench of his mighty shoulders Bill hurled him against the wall.

Their bodies caushed against the wall or sushed against the wall, broke the furniture into kindling at their feet; they snarled their ling at t

Then he went on his face, creeping like a legless thing toward the door (Continued in Our Next Issue.)
