GAMEY CASE CLOSED.

ARGUMENT TAKES PLACE ON TUESDAY NEXT.

Commissioners May Call Mr. Gamey Themselves to Explain Some Points-Mr. Conmee Tells of the Manitoulin Protest.

Toronto, May 7. - The evidence in the Gamey case was practically finished yesterday, and the commission adjourned at 2.50 until Tuesday morning, when, after a few matters have been disposed of, Mr. Blake will begin the argument for the prosecution. Neither side has yet decided whether or not to recall Mr. Gamey, but the Chancellor said the commission would require his presence commission would require his presence on some points.

The names of the other Ministers having been mentioned, Mr. Johnston said that they had not been called because there was nothing for them to answer. The Chancellor remarked that he supposed, so far as they were concerned, there would be a non-suit if it were a civil investigation.

Among the matters for consideration on Tuesday morning may be certain accounts in the Ontario Bank if an examination of the books meanwhile reveals anything pertinent to the inquiry. In view of certain anonymous hints, an expert accountant will also look into the books of the Treasury and Crown Lands Departments for a clue. The commissioners will also mous hints, an expert accountant will also look into the books of the Treatury and Crown Lands Departments for a clue. The commissioners will also ask Mr. D. A. Jones of Beeton a few questions, but not "Capt." Sullivan, for his name early disappeared from the storv, and he did not appear to be an actor afterwards, even according to Mr. Gamey's statement.

At the opening of the commission vesterday the first witness was Mr. James Conmee, M.P.P. Both before and after the elections he spoke with Mr. Gamey about mining and other matters. They discussed starting a smelter, and whether the Government would grant a subsidy. Between the 4th and 11th of June, in the Rossin House. Gamey again discussed the smelter, and he told Gamey that Mr. Harcourt was favorable to some form of assistance. Gamey mentioned a waterpower which could be used in concetion with the smelter, and said he thought he could raise $10,000 to put into it. In the conversation Gamey said that Mr. Whitney, in a speech a Sudbury, showed ignorance of minin matters.

Sudbury, showed ignorance of mining matters.

Gamey said that if the Ross Government carried out its policy he would give it an independent support. About the end of June he met Gamey again on the train, and Gamey said he had made up his mind to give the Ross Government his support. The protest was mentioned, and Commes said he did not think it would be pressed if he (Gamey) were going to be a Government supporter. His attention was called to the denial made by Mr. Gamey in his evidence that he said he would support the Government. Mr. Commee was positive Gamey did say so, and, moreover, that it was understood at nomination that he would be independent. Gamey further told him that he was not bound to support any party, and that he had tried to put his party right on these matters.

hing ever shown in I as a normal state of the had tried to put his party right on these matters.

In cross-examination Mr. Conmee said he had been urging the Government to establish a customs smelter, but none was yet built. The Government was a little slow about the matter. He had urged it upon Mr. Hardy, 50c., 55c., 6oc., 75c. 6cc., $1.00 to the said he had been urging the Government was a little slow about the matter. He had urged it upon Mr. Hardy, as Commissioner and as Premier. He reminded Mr. Gamey that if ier. He reminded Mr. Gamey that if the Government was not very fast his political friends were very bad in opposing such a policy. After the election Gamey told him that, though he ran as a Conservative, he was not a strict party man. Though witness_ivas anxious to see those districts go the right way, he had no charge over them.

Gamey asked him in June if his be-

Gamey asked him in June if his being a Conservative would be a detriment to the enterprise of starting a smelter or prevent the Government from giving assistance.
Witness said he did not think so, for his experience wis that the Conservatives frequently got the best of it. The Conservatives got the best of it. The Conservatives got many things that it puzzled the Liberals to get. He thought if would do the company no harm if he (Gamey) continued a Conservative. It was then Gamey said he was not a strict party man, and would give the Government independent support. He told Gamey that he was an independent supporter and told the Liberal convention that if he accepted the nomination it was on condition that he might reserve to himself the right to judge for himself any condition that he might reserve to himself the right to judge for himself any measures that might be proposed. He himself had voted against the Government many times, but not under Mr. Ross' Premiership, but hoped he was still in the Liberal party.

"And hope to be Minister of Mines?" asked Mr. Ritchie.

"I don't know."

"If it was offered to you you might accept."

"If it was offered to you you accept."

"And I might not."

The Chancellor—You would take it into your serious consideration.

Continuing, he was asked if Mr. Brodie, who was on the train with Gamey, was a polifician. "A candidate," said Mr. Conmee.

"Oh, I see; a candidate, but not a politician," replied Mr. Ritchie. Continuing, he said that at this interview on the train Mr. Gamey said that many Liberals had voted for him and seemed more resolved to support the Government.

Some time afterwards ne told in. Stratton what Gamey said. He also told it to Mr. Grant, who had charge told it to Mr. Grant, who had charge of the election protests. At this time he thought Gamey was in earnest, but told Grant that Gamey might change his mind when he got among his Conservative friends in Toronto. He was asked by Mr. Fraser, the Liberal candidate, to see Mr. Grant about the Manitoulin protest. He had promised Mr. Fraser that, it necessary, he would put up the deposit. He did put up the deposit about the end of June. It was not by check, but by parcel. He was not sure how much he drew in Toronto. He had drawn a couple of thousand dollars in connection with some lands, and as the other partner did not show up he carried the money in his

For about a month he kept this $2,-000 either in his pocket or his trunk. He had often carried more and for a longer time. He did not remember the denominations, but the parcel was not large. Fraser has not yet refunded him the money. He could not recollect the date on which he paid Grant. He explained that he carried part of the money in his coat pocket, part in his pants pocket and the $1,000 in his vest pocket.

"So that you were bulging out with money?" said Mr. Ritchie.

Mr. Conmee, continuing, said he

He knew the petition was disstood Gamey was going to support the Government, but did not use those words. He knew the petition was dismissed, but did not know the $1,000 deposit was paid back to Mr. Grant. He thought it would go back to Mr. Fraser, and that was why he did not ask Grant. He had not seen Fraser since, and so far has not got any of it back. He did not tell Gamey that he had put up the deposit. He did not know in August that there was a general campaign fund. He was asked if he had put up two other deposits of $1,000 each, and declined to say. He would say that any deposit he made did not come from any general fund. He did not contribute to a fund after the first of August. A question as to contributions before the first of August was overruled by the Commissioners in accordance with their decision.

In re-examination he said he was in the habit of carrying large sums of money about with him.

Chancellor Boyd said he wanted to

In cross-examination she said that no reply was sent, and no entry made of its receipt. About 25 letters were received on the same day, but she did not remember any of the others. She remembered putting two other letters in that private drawer previous; one from Sir Wilfrid Laurier and one from Sir Richard Cartwright. There were other letters there, but she did not know how many.

In response to some anonymous communications, Mr. R. A. Campbell, formerly M.P.P. for South Leeds, now Registrar of Renfrew, and Mr. J. E. H. Barnet of Renfrew, were examined with reference to a dispute with the Government over the boundary line of a timber limit. It "ppeared that the only foundation for e summons was that Mr. Barnet h d once flourished some $50 bills, partly Ontario Bank bills, and said that they were the same kind that Gamey got. Both swore positively that no money was ever paid in any form in comection with the matter. The court then adjourned until Tuesday.

NARROW ESCAPE

W. K. Merrifield says that the report in Tuesday's edition of The Planet about Ald. Mounteer being in a runaway recalls a runaway in which the same alderman figured a good many years ago. At the time Mr. Merrifield was working at the Rutley House and he saw a man's head appear and disappear above the fence on the McNaughton property. Mr. Merrifield was working at the Rutley House and he saw a man's head appear and disappear above the flence on the McNaughton property. The continual presto change business interested Mr. Merrifield and he went over to investigate. He found a man whom he afterwards learned was the present Ald. Mounteer, having in a cart. One of the traces had got loose and frightened the animal. It was trying to get away and its efforts made the cart spin round like a top. Ald Mounteer was giving his individual attention to two things, namely, to keep the cart from giving his individual attention to two things, namely, to keep the cart from upsetting and the horse from getting away. Mr. Merrifield arrived in time to achieve a rescue but Mr. Mounteer was so dizzy that he could scarcely stand. Mr. Merrifield turned the present adderman the other way round for 800 times and removed the sensation of dizziness. From which Mr. Merrifield figures that the horse must have circled over 800 times more or less before he succeeded in effecting a resoue.

The Captain and Fourteen of the Crew Drowned in Sight of Land Three Survivors Leap Ashore-Wreck Near Canso, N.S.

Halifax, May 7.-The Gloucester schooner Gloriana was dashed to pieces on the rocks at White Island, near Canso, at I a.m. yesterday. The captain and fourteen men were drowned, and of the total crew of eighteen only three, John Bichard, Eugene Leblanc and Frank Nickerson, reached and in safety. The story of the wreck is one of the most thrilling in the history of Nova Scotia disasters. Death started the eighteen men in the face stared the eighteen men in the face from the very moment the vessel struck the rocks. There was no hope of getting ashore in the boats, and the unfortunate men were quickly driven to the rigging. THURSDAY, MAY 7 A DELIBERATE UNTRUTH.

The Globe of yesterday makes the following announcement :-

The Attorney-General yesterday handed the following statement to the press:—"We are authorized to say that the statement made as to the release of A. L. Shambleau at Chatham being made on an order from the Attorney-General's Department is not correct. The fact is that no evidence was produced. There is nothing to prevent a fresh charge being laid and and the case prosecuted if proper evi-dence for that purpose is forthcom-

If the announcement of the Liberal organ is correct, then the Attorney-General deliberately handed out a statement that he knew-or should have known-to be absolutely false.

The fact that the prosecution of the late treasurer was stayed on definite instructions from the Attorney-General's Department is well known here in the County of Kent, and the storm of indignation which this action by the Government precipitated has doubtless caused the issue of the Attorney-General's untruthful statement.

To excuse its course the Government has energetically sought during the past two months to attach all blame and responsibility to the members of the County Council. It was said that, in addition to the big political pull exercised, representations were made to the Attorney-General's Department, to the effect that the Council wished it to be inferred that they were willing the prosecution should be dropped. The County Council has rightly refused to allow the Government to shift the blame upon them, and, at their special meeting last week, repudiated the attempt and passed a strong resolution asking the Crown to proceed with the prosecution and placing the responsibility of the staying of it definitely upon the Attorney-General's Department, which not only issued peremptory directions in the matter, but despatcha special messenger from Toronto to see that these directions were carried

So far as the Crown Attorney is concerned, it does not seem fair or right to blame him. While Mr. Smith, as a public official, declined to be interviewed, it is well known that, at the outset, he publicly took the proper ground that he could see no reason for treating this case differently from any other, and, if the matter were left to him, the prosecution would go on.

The fact that when the case came to trial, no evidence was offered was the result of definite instructions from the Attorney-General's Department at Toronto, and the statement published by the Globe, and said to have been handed out by Hon. Mr. Gibson himself, is deliberately and definitely untrue

It is a very small act on the part of the Government to attempt to shoulder off the blame of their apparent compounding of a felony upon the members of the County Council of Kent.

In view of the Council's strong action, it remains to be seen whether a political pull can again interfere with the administration of justice in this county.

DEAD SEA ODDITIES.

Peculiar Facts Relating to That Ancient Body of Water—Its Geologic History According to Prof. Libbey.

According to Prof. Libbey.

Scientific observation justifies the estimate that a daily average of 6,500,000 tons of water is received into the Dead Sea from the Jordan and other sources during the year. During the rainy season the amount is very much greater; during the dry season it is of course very much less, but this average will be maintained year after year. There is no outlet, and the level is kept down by evaporation only, which is very rapid because of the intense heat, the dry atmosphere and the dry winds which are constantly blowing down the gorges between the mountains.

down the gorges between the mountains.

This evaporation causes a haze or mist to hang over the lake at all times, and when it is more rapid than usual heavy clouds form and thunderstorms sometimes rage with great violence in the pocket between the cliffs even in the dry season. A flood of rain often falls upon the surface of the sea when the sun is shining, and the atmosphere is as dry as a bone half a mile from the shore. The mountains around the Dead Sea are rarely seen with distinctness because of this haze.

According to Professor Libbey, the Jordan itself has had the following geologic history: The valley originated as a crust rift at the close of the cretaceous period. It was subsected nated as a crust rift at the close of the cretaceous period. It was subsequently widened and deepened by ice action to the Sea of Galilee, if not throughout its whole length, and then submerged nearly as far north as the Sea of Galilee. During this submergence a layer of sedimentary deposits occurred, 4,000 feet in thickness. These were now gradually elevated, the Jordan cutting its way down as the lafid rose. Some 3,000 feet of this sedimentary rock was redown as the laid rose. Some 3,000 feet of this sedimentary rock was removed when conditions altered, and probably the glacier disappeared or the water supply falled or the rate of elevation increased or all three took place and connection with the ocean was abolished. After 1,000 feet of rise the present conditions were produced.

A Lucky Dog.

They tell this story of Lord Charles Beresford and Sir Frederick Treves, the King's physician:
Lord Charles fell ill, and Sir Frederick was called to his bedside.
"Tell me," said Sir Frederick "your symptoms."
The other said he had a pain here, an ache there and a stiffness some-where else. And to each of these an-nouncements, the physician exclaim-ed, chuckling delightedly: "Excellent!"

"Charming!"

"Splendid!"
When Lord Charles had concluded
the enumeration of his troubles, Sir Frederick slapped him heartily upon the back and cried in a bold, gay

"My dear fellow, let me congratu-late you. You have the rarest dis-ease of the century. You have, you lucky dog, a disease that heretofore was thought to be extinct."

A Premature Monument.

Last spring with much ceremony the city of Armagh erected a fine $625 monument on the most commanding site in the cemetery in honor of the memory of Hugh Carberry, who died in South Africa fighting against the tyrannous British. He was supposed to have been killed at Modderspruit in 1899. Michael Davitt unveiled the monument. Now Mr. Carberry bas written to his friends in Armagh asking them if they cannot turn the monument into money and send it to him, as he is very badly in need of cash.

"In 1895 one of my daughters was suffering on account of a severe cough, heetic fever, wasting of flesh and other symptoms of diseased lungs, writes Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, of Bartins Bornes. At the consumption of the severe cough the severe could be suffered by the gratifying success, and she now enjoys excellent heath. This being true, I hereby heartily endorse your medicines."

Ab. Merrill, one of the members of the Raleigh Oil Company, was through the oil fields yesterday in company with Mr. Turner, one of the Raleigh speculators. Mr. Turner is delighted with the find of the Raleigh company and says that the well is worth at least $50,000, and is one of the finest wells in the country.

The company are not pumping the well at present, but will go ahead with the operations in a few days.

It is said that Miss Adams gives an exceptionally clever portrayal of the parts so long played by Ada Gray. The Quick Lunch in Lendon.

Proposals have recently appeared in the daily press in favor of the inauguration of a system of quick lunches by which the busy man may have a substantial midday meal served expeditiously, the partaking of which shall occupy but a few minutes. We do not hesitate to ask that all our readers will impress upon their patients that the adoption of this proposal would be a wicked physiological step. The repair of the body is not a process to be triffed with in this way. Eating should not be done in a hurry. The demands of business may be pressing, but the demands of the body are in reality more serious. Just as by stoking a steam engine to cramming point the fuel burns badly and the intensity of the fire is lowered, so by bolting his food the vital processes within a man's body are hindered rather than helped. Necessarily food eaten rapidly escapes in a great measure the preparatory processes of digestion, and sooner or later a breakdown in pidly escapes in a great measure the preparatory processes of digestion, and sooner or later a breakdown in the maltreated human machine supervenes. In a word, hurrying over eating is fatal to the healthy sustenance of the body.—Lancet.

OIL STRIKE

Thos. Brady, owner of the old Sheriff farm on the Raleigh-Harwich townline, was quite jubilant over the strike of oil on this farm. A Detroit company has leased Mr. Brady's farm and began boring on the Sheriff farm nearly a month ago. The work has been delayed from various causes and the well was not finished till yesterday at 4 o'clock, when a flow of water and oil was struck at a depth of about 437 feet. Mr. Brady was seen this morning on his return from the well.

"The well was flowing all last night," remarked Mr. Brady, "but it was capped this morning. The driller told me that at the rate at which it was flowing the well would do a barrel of oil an hour. The old Lock drain, into which the well was flowing last night, shows evidence of the presence of the oil. The surface of the water was covered with petroleum and the man living on John Flook's across the road, dammed the ditch and secured quite a large quantity of oil. It looks as if we had a pretty good oil well."

The members of the choir of Park St. Methodist Church will no doubt be much supprised to learn that, while in the chair lift for many Sundays past, they have been in imminent danger of losing their lives. For some time past the archway above the choir lost has been in such a condition that the centre part was at any moment liable to fall.

Contractor W. H. Carswell is engaged at present putting in a steel arch to support the centre. Mr. Carswell would not work under it until he had braced it well, it is only a miracle that kept it from falling.

THE ASSESSMENT BILL.

Mr. Ross Explains Some of It's More Salient Features. Toronto, May 6. - The Legislature spent over an hour yesterday discussing the proposal to submit the assessment bill to a special committee. The members were variously divided upon the wisdom of dealing finally with the measure this session. The Premier explained that the measure was not one upon which the Government staked its position. It was the embodiment of views expressed by the commission appointed to consider the matter, and should now be made the subject of minute study by every member of the House, in order that both in special committee and in the House itself it might be intelligently dealt with. The measure received its second reading, and was sent to a special committee, consisting of eleven Government and nine Opposition members. The committee will hear deputations, and may make a number of important amendments before submitting it to the House.

The Breakfast State of Mind.

Why is breakfast "the most trying meal of the day?" asks a writer in the "Spectator." Why are people irritable at breakfast and disinclined to talk? Is it possible, perhaps, that there exists a particular breakfast bacillus, which thrives in the presence of bacon, coffee and buttered toast, and which attacks everybody who comes which thrives in the presence of bacon, coffee and buttered toast, and which attacks everybody who comes into the room where it lives, with a varying effect upon different constitutions? For the breakfast state of mind varies with different persons. There are several distinct classes into which the prevalent symptoms seem to fell. People do not behave in the same way at breakfast as at other meals, and though at dinner their moods may be practicably indistinguishable — the states of mind of diners, that is, do not greatily vary—at breakfast they conduct themselves as differently as possible. There are some people, for instance, who are in offensively high spirits early in the morning; in a state of health, in short, which really is rightly described as rude. You can hear them coming downstairs, no matter hew far the stairs are away from the dining-room, after slamming their bed-room doors with a resounding bang. They open the dining-room door as if they were pursued by a policeman, and probably slap their male friends on the back in an extremely provocative manner. During breakfast itself, while consuming great quantities of all kinds of food, they comment loudly on the small appetites of others, and insist upon drawing the attention of those who clearly wish to eat very little to the presence of everything which is edible in the room. They appear to be perfectly unconscious of the amount of suffering which their splendidly healthy habits inflict upon other persons of less robust constitutions, and are only able habits inflict upon other persons of les robust constitutions, and are only able habits inflict upon other persons of less robust constitutions, and are only able to suggest, in answer to possible complaints of a headache, that the complainant should resort to the particular dishes of which they have themselves eaten, and which they invariably describe as "quite excellent."

If the frame of mind of the rude and bolsterous breakfaster is one extreme, the other extreme is the mental state of the man who goes through the meal in a condition of profound depression. He glances vaguely and uncomprehendingly at a succession of dishes, eventually taking the smallest possible amount of the dish that is easiest to get on with. He does not speak unless someone speaks to him, when he either answers shortly and sadly, or, more often, with obviously forced merrlment and inconsequent laughter. Or—and perhaps this variant of the breakfast state of mind is a more striking antithesis to the rudely bolsterous—his unbalanced mental attitude may be one esis to the rudery distribute may be one of suppressed fury. Men have been known who every morning of their lives hold a kind of review of their acquaintances and friends, and in some cases of those whom they employ. They occupy the breakfast hour in passing, so to speak, down the front and rear ranks, and in trenchantly summing up the habits and qualifications of every man reviewed, ending in each case with the verdict that "he is an ass." Probably he is nothing of the kind; later in the day, indeed, he may become endowed with all the virtues, but from eight o'clock in the morning until ten he possesses for the furlous breakfaster no characteristics except those of the idiot, or, in exceptional cases, balanced mental attitude may be one faster no characteristics except those of the idiot, or, in exceptional cases, of the professional robber. Of course, between the extremes of the rudely boisterous and the profoundly depressed or trenchantly furious breakfast states of mind there are others less definite. The curious case came pressed or trenchantly furious breakfast states of mind there are others less definite. The curious case came under the observation of the present writer of a man who, although in every respect temperate and healthy, did not find himself able to breakfast until everyone else had finished. He was accustomed to get up at the same time as everyone else, but knowing that others staying in the same house were breakfasting in the ordinary way down-stairs, he would pace up and down his room waiting until a footman, specially instructed, brought in the news that breakfast was over. He would then enter the dining-room with an excellent appetite, which, however, failed him completely should any fellow-guest by chance return to the room. But nothing, in any case, oxhausted his patience; if it happened that a late riser remained at the breakfast-table half an hour longer than the rest, he accepted the situation with complete equanimity; nor, upon any consideration, would he consent to breakfast in his own room, or anywhere except at a descrited table.

There are other and more or less comprehensible states of mind; as, for instance, the dislike which some persons have of watching other people eat sons have of watching other people as porridge; the unhappiness which possesses some breakfasters, usually journalists, unless they are allowed to walk up and down the room in silence; the extreme difficulty which some men find extreme difficulty which some men find in breakfasting in a room in which there is a looking-glass; and the strange mental condition which, at whatever time they may happen to come down to the dining-room, impels some persons to but one desire—namely, to get the thing over as soon as possible. "Early or late, whiter or summer, work or holidays, two damns and a cup of coffee—that's my breakfast," was the succinct comment of one who invariably began the day in a quite unnecessary hurry.

PROSPECTUS.

THIS Corporation has been formed for the purpose of dealing in lands in Manitoba and the North-West Territories of Canada.

Up to a few months ago practically the whole profit from dealing in the lands in the Great Western portion of the country had been reaped by shrewd American investors, who realized the immense possibilities and the certain future of Western Canada before we Canadians realized the immense heritage which lay within the heritages of our own country. In the last months of the months. within the boundaries of our own country. In the last months of the year 1902, however, the promoters of this Corporation having, through the different financial institutions with which they were connected, been obliged to make a careful study of the Western situation, became so thoroughly satisfied of the certain obliged to make a careful study of the Western situation, became so thoroughly satisfied of the certain future of the great West, and of the practically assured profits from an iuvestment in Western lands, that they decided to form a company to deal in land in the Janadian West. With that end in view a block of something over 125,000 acres was secured in the Big Quill Plains, in the district of Saskatchewan, and a company known os The Eastern and Western Land Corporation, Limited, was formed for the purpose of acquiring and handling this block. The stock of The Eastern and Western Land Corporation, Limited, was placed upon the market and offered to the public for subscription in January of the present year, and was placed upon the market and offered to the public for subscription in January of the present year, and so prompt was the response that within one month it was necessary to close the stock books, and even then applications for a large quantity of stock were refused. But from a Sharzholder's standpoint the best part remains to be told. Before the sales of stock were stopped, arrangements had been made with a large American Land Company for the sale of the whole of Company's lands at a price so largely in excess of the purchase price that the stock of The Eastern and Western Land Corporation, Limited, is already a very profitably one, and is held very firmly by its present holders; and all this was done in less than a month. Can any better proof be given of the wisdom of an investment in Western lands.

At the time The Eastern and Western Land Corporation, Limited, were dealing with the Quill Plains lands the Directors had in view several other available blocks of land, and were having the same carefully examined but waited until the one operation proved to the Canadian public the safety and lic the Stock of The Ontario and Saskatchewan Land Corportation, Limited.

It is only within the last year or two that Canadians have come to realize that Canadias future in a great measure lies in the West, a country immensely larger than the East and capable of supporting millions of people. Few in Eastern Canada realize the great progress this Western country is now making, and that before many years the West will surpass the East in point of population. Immigrants are pouring in, and the people of the United States especially are investing immense sums in land and holding for the rise which they know is sure to come. Lands in the West are increasing rapidly in yalue. Investments in them now are bound to realize haudsome profits. The Canadian Pactific Railway Company in 1902 sold 2.320,440 acres against $33,922 acres for the previous year. The Saskatchewan Valley Land Company, of St. Paul, Minn., sold over one million acres of land in 1902 at a profit of some millions of dollars. The Haslan Land and Investment Company, of St. Paul, Minn., sold 300,000 acres in one year. The North-West Colonization Company, of St. Paul, disposed of over 500,000 acres, and if to these be added the lands sold by the Dominion and Manitoba Governments, The Canadian Northern Railway and other companies, syndicates and individuals an opinion may be formed of the immense advances this Western country has made in one year.

The Ontario and Saskatchewan Land Corporation, Limited, has purchased a large track of land in what is known as the Vermillion River District in Western Saskatchewan. It has been a tradition for years in the West that the most fertile belt of land in Canada, and therefore in the world, is situated in this district which lies along between the Battle River to the south and the Saskatchewan on the north. In this fortile country we have the right to aclect 300,000 acres of specially chosen lands, and our selectors are now in the district carefully examining the land section. This land will lie along and between the E

The Union Trust Company, Limited, now offers $800,000 of the capital stock of this corporation, divided into 8,000 shares of $100 each, for subscription at par, 25 per cent, to be paid in on application, 10 per cent. in 30 days thereafter, and 10 per cent, further in 60 days and the balance, as called oy he directors, if deemed accessary. Applications for stock will be accepted only in order of their receipt by the Trusteer, and should be addressed to The Union Trust Company, Limited, Toronto. Applications and also the large Prospectus of the Company may be obtained from The Union Trust Company, Limited, Toronto, or from any branch of the Merchants Bank of Canada or of the Union Bank of Canada, through whom applications and payments may be forwarded. whom applications and payments may be forwarded.

Expatiating upon the hardships of the educated youth, a contemporary intimates that this is a bad time for the college man who goes out into the world to find something to do. Taking into consideration the fact that this is what is popularly known as the "silly season," it is not surprising to find intimations of this nature in ordinarily sane quarters. Viewed, however, as a proposition worthy of serious consideration, it is not difficult to substantiate a claim to the contrary effect, and to say positively that for the man who is really educated there has never been a time richer in opportunities than this. Of course if a man spends four years in college storing his mind with useless knowledge it is not at all likely that his BA. will help him much in getting himself established in life, and the chances are that without material assistance from his parents he would stand an excellent chance to be reckoned among the idlers. But the other man, the man who knows what he wants to do and fits himself for it, and is persistent and conscientious in his work, need have no fear that the world man, the man who knows what he wants to do and fits himself for it, and is persistent and conscientious in his work, need have no fear that the world will be lacking in rewards for him when the harvest time comes. The melancholy fact that our colleges are turning out sciolists by the dozens, men who half know a lot of things that have no practical value in the pursuit of fame and fortune, does not alter the other fact that the well-trained student who has gone at his work seriously, and with a particular object in view, finds always a ready market for his energies. The whine that we get from the so-called "educated" man is not from educated men at all, but from those who confound the possession of a degree with education; who think that because they have fulfilled the academic requirements of the college they are therefore educated. These men may possess a vast amount of information, but they are no more educated necessarily than a man who possesses a complete tool-chest is by virtue of that possession a good carpenter. To have the finest set of tools in the world is a hollow mockery to the man who does not know how to use them; and these wai gsters who plunge into the whirl ame eddy of life with a store of information that they do not know how to avail themselves of are in an equally sad case. But the fault is not with their times: it is with themselves—or perhaps with their parents, who have failed at the proper time to observe their bent, and to direct their energies in the channels most fit for their fullest development.

An Athletic Fallacy.

Commenting on the recent defeat of Walter J. Travis, the golf champion, by Louis Napoleon James, the New York "Evening Post" says: "With all friendly feeling for Mr. Travis, most golfers will rejoice in his defeat. It is only human nature to wish to see a tradition of invincibility broken, and for three years past Mr. Travis has been invincible. He was and is the finest example of what are called the older players—that is, those who had reached full maturity before handling the driver or the iron. It was felt, and justly, that the younger players, who had learned their full swings during the flexible period of boyhood, must very soon assert their superiority. This has been done by Mr. James, a Western player. But Mr. Travis has not fallen before demonstrating the hollowness of several athletic fallacies. It is often said that, athletically, it is all up with a man beyond thirty who has not previously been an athlete. Proverbs to this effect abound. It is said, for example, that a man may ride beyond thirty, but never acquires "a seat," and in general the man of thirty as a beginner in sports has about the consideration that Dr. Johnson gave to the preaching woman. Mr. Travis, by learning a very difficult game, beyond the fatal year, and by carrying off for three years running the championship honors against all comers, has done much to commend himself to his contemporaries—even to those who by no means covet distinction on the links. It is a comfort to have those wretched proverbs about the thirtieth year disproved." Time is like a creditor who allows an ample space to make up accounts but is inexorable at last. but is inexorable at last.

"Take care of the pennies and the pounds will take care of themselves."

Large things are but an aggregation of small things. If we take care of the small things we are in effect taking care of the large things which the small things combine to make.

Take care of what you cat, when you cat, and how you cat, and your stomach will take care of itself. But wh otakes care of such trivial things? That is why, someday, the majority of people have to take care of the stomach. When that day comes, there is no aid so effective in undoing the results of past carelessness as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the stomach, and restores the organs of digestion and nutrition to a condition of healthy activity. It cures biliousness, heartburn, flatulence, indigestion, palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities and a score of other ailments which are but the symptoms of disorder in the stomach and its allied organs.

Irish Politics.

In that it removes the cause, cleansing the blood of scrofulous and all other impurities. It overcomes all the effects of catarrh, too, and builds up the whole system. The tragic times in Ireland, when peasant was at open war with landlord and all were at war with English rule, are relieved by many good stories. As Mr. Michael Madi nagh says in his book, "Trish Life and Character," the mercurial Celt is whimsical even in time of transle land, he met Father Healy at a dinner in Dublin.

"Tell me, Father Healy," said Mr. Balfour, "is it true the people of Ireland hate me as much as the Nationalist newspapers represent?"

"Hate you!" replied the priest. "If they hated evi' as they hate you, Mr. Balfour, my occupation would be gone."

Yet it was Mr. Balfour who a few years late had accomplished much toward the pacification of Ireland. His name became amusingly prominent in Irish families. A gentleman driving into the town of Westport, County Mayo, was stopped by a pig which ran in front of his horse. An old peasant shouted across the ditch to a boy who was watching the pig stupidly:

"Arrah, Mick, will ye stir yerself! Don't ye see Arthur James runnin' away!"

Struck by the name, the gentleman asked the old man about it, and found that in gratitude to Mr. Balfour, who had been the means of getting them the pig, the peasant had given the animal his name.

It was not long since the young women in the cataloguing department of the Astor Library were laughing at a beginner there who catalogued Greek roots under "botany." But some of the mistakes made by beginners elsewhere are just as amusing. Many years ago a young woman who had not yet learned all the intricacies of her work was cataloguing a set of works under "mill." So she wrote:

"Mill on Liberty."

"Ditto on the Floss."

That is one of the historic mistakes that librarians quote, and a newer one is just as amusing. This was the result of a young librarian's inexperience, and read:

"and—See Metallurgy."

Oh, those cherished recollections of the days of long ago.

How they seem to fill a feller full of thrill from head to toe!

Seem to perweste his bein' with a jingle of delight

Till the songs jes' come a-bubblin' from his heart as waters bright.

Oh, the frolics and the revels of that rural life so gay

When you had your gal beside you snuggled in the flyin' sleigh,

When the wimmen done the quilitin' an' the young folks shucked the corn

While the laughter shuck the copwebs from the rafters of the barn.

There was fun in trampin' homeward from the spellin' school at night, on your arm a somethin' hangin' that jes' thrilled you with delight— Somethin' that you valued higher than the wealth of earth, by jings!

Longshoremen Submit Terms to the Stevedores.

Montreal, May 7.—As the result of conference between Mayor Cochrane, a number of Aldermen and the leaders of the 'longshoremen's strike, the men have at last submitted an offer to the shippers. It embraces the agreement made the other day with respect to wages, hours, etc., but the vital point of union recognition was avoided, two extra clauses being submitted, as follows: "(1) All foremen to be employed in the same positions as they occupied at the close of last year, and to execute the functions of their office without interference as they did in the past. (2) In case of disputes arising, the representatives of the men shall have the right to apply to the shipping companies to have the said grievances adjusted."

Ottawa, May 7. — Mr. Robert Bickerdike, M. P., has asked Mr. D'Neill, the leader of the striking longshoremen, to come to Ottawa and neet the members for the Montreal listrict, in order to discuss the situation. Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, who has returned to the city from Montreal, states that 1,570 men are at work, out of a number which is normally 2,000. He says that the sticking soint which prevents an agreement is he strikers' demand that the preference be given to union men in engaging help for the season. As there are 1,000 union men, this would mean that none of the 1,700 men who are now it work could be retained. But these nen have been hired for the summer, so that if they were let go the stevelores would be legally bound to pay them their wages during that time.

He explained that it had been decided to purchase all the existing railways, which would absorb $65,000,000 of the new loan, and $25,000,000 more will be expended as quickly as possible on the development of the railways; $12,500,000 would be spent on land settlement, and $10,000,000 on public works. ASPHALT BLOCK

O. W. Connet, assistant city eneer, has written J. G. Kerr from

Dear Sir,—To those who are skeptical about the durability of asphalt blocks have been with me this morning, I think they would have been convinced that no other known paving material has the same life. I met one of the company which will make the blocks here, on his way to the customs office to get a block that they had requested the mayor of Battimore to send them. I was invited to go with him, and the box was opened in my presence. The block had originally been five inches deep, and was worn to 3 3-8 inches. Had trap rock such as is now used been employed, instead of limestone, the wear would have been much less. As it is the block was not half worn out. Attached was a certificate that the pavement was laid in 1883, twenty years ago, no part of which had been renewed since; also the following from the assistant city engineer.

Baltimore, April 27, 1903.

"A block taken up from the middle of the roadway of the south west side of Eutaw Place, between Mother and Lanvale streets, Baltimore, on this day, on my presence. Butaw Place is about three-quarters of a mile in length, with roadways 28 feet in width, on each side of park in centre, paved with asphalt blocks, and is one of the principal thoroughfares to Druid Hill Park.

O. W. CONNET, Dear Sir.-To those who are sker

RRITAIN'S WARNING. Will Maintain Pre-eminence in Persian Gulf.

London, May 7.-Lord Lansdowne has practically notified the competing powers that any attempt on their part establish a naval base or fortified post in the Persian Gulf means war with Great Britain. "I say without hesitation," said the Foreign Secre tary, dealing with the subject in the House of Lords yesterday evening, "that we should regard the establish-ment of a naval base or a fortified port in the Persian Gulf by any other power as a very grave menace to British interests, and we should certainly resist it with all the means at our disposal. resist it with all the means at our disposal."

Lord Lansdowne preceded this explicit enunciation of British policy by a review of the situation there, as it affects British interests, contending that so far as the navigation of the Persian Gulf is concerned Great Britian holds a position different to that of the other powers, both because it was owing to British enterprise and expenditure of life and money that the gulf is now open to the commerce of the world, and because the protection of the sea route to India necessitates British predominance in the gulf.

Lord Lansdowne's attitude in this matter generally meets with approval, although the answers thereto of the other powers interested in the gulf are awaited with some anxiety.
