BISHOP OF LONDON'S STRIKING SENTENCE IN ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL:--"Christ died for Freedom --- Our boys out there are martyrs for the same cause as truly as St. Stephen was martyred, who fell after his captain --- The Contest we are fighting is on the side of God -- God's Holy War."

ITALIANS ARE NOW WITHIN SIXTEEN MILES FROM TRIESTE

Efforts of Italian Troops to Force a Passage of Isonzo Being Stubbornly Contested--Italians Occupy Monfalcone, Sixteen Miles From Trieste.

Special Wire to the Courier.

Rome, June 10.—An official statement issued at the Italian War Office, follows:

"Reports received of the operations on June 7 and 8 show that the Italians in pursuing along the Isonzo River the task of dislodging the Austrians from strong natural positions, and establishing bridge heads, are displaying great bravery and tenacity in the face of heavy obstacles, intensified by floods."

"We have occupied the town of Monfalcone (16 miles northwest of Trieste, near the Adriatic). Our losses were not serious, while we took 400 Austrian prisoners."

Rome, via Paris, June 10.—Efforts of Italian troops to force a passage of the Isonzo river are being stubbornly contested by the Austrians, but are meeting with success, according to a statement signed by General Cadorna, chief of the general staff, issued at the War Office last night. The communication follows:

MONFALCONE OCCUPIED.

"With the object of repulsing the enemy from dominating positions he still holds on the right bank of Isonzo and establishing strong positions at the passages of the river, we continued our operations on June 7 and 8. The enemy offered a determined resistance, but we succeeded in occupying the ground and strong fortifications. Our passage was made more difficult by numerous obstacles placed on the bridges and in the roads and also by the flooded ground along the lower course of the river. Everywhere our troops fought with ardor and tenacity and succeeded in taking important positions which enabled us to occupy the city of Monfalcone. The fire of our guns considerably damaged the enemy's artillery at a number of points."

AUSTRIANS FLED.

"In the difficult region of Monte Nero a successful attack on our part led to the occupation of positions from which the Austrians fled leaving one hundred bodies, which were buried and sixty wounded."

Near Caporetto seventy Bosnian soldiers surrendered."

"In other regions along the Isonzo we made over 400 prisoners. Our losses were unimportant. Prisoners say the Austrian losses were considerable."

"On the Tyrol-Trentino frontier our forces continue in close co-operation with the army in the operations which must be occupied in order to force the enemy to disclose his defensive preparations and permit the development of ulterior operations."

"Notwithstanding the determined resistance of the enemy our troops have approached beyond the front to Baldozzano Pass at the foot of Sasso di Sile."

ANOTHER HEIGHT TAKEN.

"A victorious action was fought on Montebello (about seven miles) north of Cortina d'Ampezzo. A piece of artillery remained in our hands in the neighborhood of Monte Croce fighting had been going on for several days for the important position of Freikopel, which the Austrians defended desperately. Our Alpine troops definitely took it on the evening of the 8th, making one hundred prisoners."

SHAKE UP IN THE BALL TEAM--DENEAU QUILTS

There is to be a new manager for the Brantford baseball team.

The directors know that they have the best infield of the league, and other good players—both facts freely admitted by the other clubs—but the position at the bottom of the ladder, clinched by the loss of two games yesterday to St. Thomas, does not make matters look that way.

At a meeting of the executive committee held last evening, the resignation of Deneau, as manager, was accepted. Rube has many good qualities, but his over anxiety has reacted on the players to a prejudicial extent.

Warner, who is on the pitching staff, will be the new manager. He

LETTER FROM THE LATE AIDE TO THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL

J. Hanbury-Williams, Now in Russian Army Staff For British Govt, Writes Interesting Letters—Was at Przemysl.

Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M. P., has received from Montreal, the following interesting letter from Russia from J. Hanbury-Williams, formerly A. D. C. to Lord Grey and who visited Brantford with the Governor-General.

General Headquarters, Russian Army, April 29th, 1915.

"I am what they call 'Liason Officer' between our army and the Russian army, and have been working quite alone all these months, but to-day I am to be provided with an A. D. C., a young officer MacCaw, of the 3rd Hussars, who talks Russian well, and I hope will be a help to 'devil' for me. It has been a strenuous time. I have had to draw up reports, cipher, cables, etc., alone, and I shall be glad of a bit of help. Our headquarters is a railway train, and I have a compartment to myself, just big enough for a table to write on, and a few photos of the war to look at as I go to bed and wake up in the morning."

"We move about a good deal, and I go 'on trek' every now and then, and have now seen the fighting pretty well all over the front. The week before last I was at Przemysl and up in the Carpathians, and then went on to the borders of East Prussia, went up in a balloon, etc. Our troops here are doing well. They are gallant and patient soldiers, the brave 'soul' in them, and as gentle as lambs till they get roused, when 'there is trouble.'"

"The Austrians continue to give themselves up in large numbers, and it is curious to see thousands of them being marched along in care of about two Cossacks, who treat them most kindly and well. I have seen the Germans and the Austrians in their trenches and have seen a lot of our artillery work, which is good—all most interesting, but, of course, one cannot help longing for all the misery and suffering which is caused, to be at an end, and I shall be glad to see my own belongings again."

J. Hanbury-Williams.

BRYAN STILL THE CENTRE OF INTEREST

He Wishes Public to Pass Opinion on His Action.

Washington, June 10.—William J. Bryan's resignation as secretary of state and the circumstances leading up to it, still held the center of interest in Washington today overshadowing even the despatch of another note to Germany. Its effect on the nation's foreign relations and also its political consequences afforded speculation.

Chief attention was concentrated on the effect of Secretary Bryan's personal statement giving the reasons for his resignation. In that statement, Mr. Bryan announced his intention as a private citizen of submitting to the public for judgment his view of what the American policy towards Germany should be. The propositions, which Mr. Bryan expects to urge upon the people are that an offer should be made to Germany to submit the questions in dispute to an international commission for investigation during a year's time and that meanwhile American citizens should by proclamation be warned not to take passage on belligerent ships or on American vessels carrying ammunition. These suggestions, Mr. Bryan explained, had been submitted to the president, who had not felt justified in adopting them. It is upon these propositions that Mr. Bryan hopes to create a public sentiment in the United States that will make war with Germany impossible. Mr. Bryan's statement, some officials thought, was unfortunate, coming at a time when the discussion with Germany was in progress. Some members of the cabinet, had advised against the issuance of the statement.

There was considerable speculation here to-day as to who would succeed Mr. Bryan. While the president is not expected to make a choice for some weeks, it was believed that Robert Lansing, councillor of the state department, who has been commissioned as secretary of the 'ad interim' eventually would receive the permanent appointment. Mr. Lansing began to-day his first full day as secretary. Likewise Mr. Bryan began today his first full day as a private citizen. He spent the day quietly devoting much time to reading and answering telegrams of congratulations from friends all over the country. Mr. Bryan has not determined definitely his plans for the future.

De Wet Pleads Not Guilty to High Treason

London, June 10.—General Christian De Wet, one of the leaders of the South African rebellion against Great Britain, pleaded not guilty to a charge of high treason, at the opening yesterday of his trial at Bloemfontein, says a despatch to the Reuter Telegram Company. The indictment against him is a long one, covering alleged rebellious acts and seditious utterances. Attorney-General DeGager is prosecuting the case and three judges are sitting.

General De Wet was captured on December 1, 1914, on a farm at Waterburg, British Bechuanaland, whither he had been pursued by a motor car brigade.

FRENCH PRESS CRITICIZES BRYAN'S ACTION SEVERELY

Paris, June 10.—Great importance is attached by the morning newspapers to the resignation of Secretary of State Bryan from the cabinet of President Wilson. They express the belief that it explains the delay in answering the German reply to the first American note of protest on the sinking of the Lusitania and forecasts the contents of the second note just sent.

"It must be admitted that such a resignation and above all such a letter surprises us in Europe," says Jean Herbet, one of the best known French writers on foreign affairs. "It is hard for us to understand that a minister, at a time when his country was discussing with Germany as grave a question as the use of submarines against merchant ships could part company with his chief executive and openly declare that he is in complete disagreement with him as to the methods to be employed."

"We should say this minister had not the right to diminish the prestige of his government before foreign countries, but Mr. Bryan has a double excuse. First of all, ministerial discipline must have seemed rather irksome to a man who so many times has aimed at the presidency. Then, too, his departure does not in any way lessen the prestige of his government for that prestige rests on the ardent patriotism of the American people on the deep sense of justice, high character and popularity of President Wilson, and last but not least, on the powerful fleet which President Wilson reviewed last month."

GREAT CONFLICT RAGING ON THE BANKS OF ISONZO

London, June 10.—An important battle is known to be raging on the Isonzo River between the Italians and Austrians, but so strict is the censorship that not a word has been received from Rome concerning the results. The Austrians claim, but they repulsed the first great battle of the Italians in the war with severe losses to the attackers. According to the Austrian version, one division with infantry assaulted a bridgehead at Gorizia yesterday afternoon but was repulsed with severe losses. The report continues that the Italians retreated under our artillery fire and were obliged to abandon several guns. The same thing happened in the case of hostile attempts to attack near Gradisca and Monfalcone. Fighting is proceeding along the Carinthian frontier east of Ploken Pass, and an artillery duel in the districts comprising the barrier fortifications on the Carinthian-Tyrol frontier.

The Adriawerke factory, which was manufacturing asphyxiating gases and high explosives destined for use in the campaign against Italy was blown up and razed to the ground by Italian destroyers bombarding Monfalcone. German troops were encountered by the Italians for the first time in the fighting at Lavarone.

GERMANS LOST SHIP.

Petrograd, June 10.—In spite of the German denials, it is insisted upon in authoritative circles here that one German torpedo boat and another transport were sunk and another torpedo boat damaged by a Russian submarine in the recent naval engagement in the Baltic.

Germany Have Withdrawn From the Baltic Provinces

Berlin, June 10.—The official announcement from the army headquarters to-day states that the German forces which invaded the Baltic provinces of Russia have retreated. The statement says that the German wing southeast of Shavli has withdrawn to the south, towards Beisagola-Soginie line.

No Answer is Expected For a Week or Ten Days

Washington, June 10.—The American note to Germany concerning the sinking of the Lusitania which precipitated the crisis in President Wilson's cabinet and as a climax to which William Jennings Bryan resigned as secretary of state, was believed here to have reached Ambassador Gerard in Berlin to-day. It was expected that the ambassador would present the communication immediately to the German foreign circle. It will be given to-night for publication to-morrow morning. In the meantime, President Wilson has asked that detailed forecasts of the note be not published. It is said that the German Government will not make answer to the note

HURST-BROWN.
A happy union was celebrated in St. Paul's church, Holmedale, when Miss Ada Violet, daughter of Mrs. J. Hurst formerly of Grimsby, England, and John, son of the late Mr. Brown, Chorley, England, were united in marriage by the Rev. Patterson-Smythe, assisted by Rev. H. R. Light. Both parties are members of the St. Paul's congregation, Miss Ada Hurst being for some time back, organist while Mr. Brown is a member of the choir. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of Miss Hurst's brother, 81 West Mill street, where the many and useful presents the bride had received were exhibited. The happy couple left for a short holiday in Hamilton. The bridesmaids were Misses L. Hanford and G. Himsby, and the groom was supported by Messrs. Harding and Hurst.

A SOLDIER'S FAREWELL

(To the tune of Tipperary.)
Our country calls for soldiers,
So we're going out to the front,
We hope to do our duty
And help bear the battle's brunt;
This city never has been slow
When'er they needed men,
And when they call for more recruits
They'll find her there again.
Chorus.
So good-bye to dear old Brantford,
We know you late to see us go—
But we must heed our country's need,
As very well you know,
For some one must fight her battles
And we hope to gain renown;
We think we'll win and come back again
To dear old Brantford town.
There's not a man in all this city
Who would not lay down his life,
Leave mother, father, all that's dear,
E'en his children and his wife,
Some of those who now are leaving
In the battle will go down,
So respect their cry, as they bid
good-bye,
To dear old Brantford town.
—G. T. DUCAN.

CONDOLENCE EXPRESSED

A vote of condolence was passed to Harry Richards, upon the loss of his wife and child in the Lusitania disaster. Richards, who played for Cockshuts, and made a name on the Duffs line-up later, left for the front with the second contingent, and his wife later sailed to join friends in England. Unfortunately she took passage on the ill-fated Lusitania, and was lost among the victims of the calamity.
It was in view of these circumstances, that the executive of the football league passed a resolution to their colleague.

Echo Place Had Splendid Concert Last Evening

The members and friends of the Elm Ave. church held a very pleasant and enjoyable concert last night in the church hall at Echo Place. The program was varied and of a highly enjoyable nature, and all the artists retired with hearty plaudits to reward them for their efforts.
Opening the evening, the orchestra led in splendid shape, followed by united chorus.
The remarks from the chair were apt and to the point, and Mrs. Douglas, who so ably occupied the position, deserves to be congratulated on the manner in which she presided.
The Young Men's class sang the "Old Home Song," and the singing was emphasized in the telling of the story of the author and his quite romantic career.
A series of recitations, songs and solos were enjoyed and the following artists ably contributed: Miss N. Smith, Mr. Gough (violin), Miss Treble, Miss M. Davidson (piano duet), Miss J. Emerson (Gates of the West). A duet by Messrs Johnson and Gullen was also enjoyed, both artists blending harmoniously in their effort.
The remaining items on the program were of an exceptionally good kind, and Miss Neva Smith gained herself quite a reputation for elocution, while the duet of Mrs Baird and daughter was simply beautiful.
Mr. Frank Houghton sang a solo well, and was followed by the class chorus, then the meeting broke up with the rendering of the National Anthem.

London, June 10.—A Reuter despatch from Athens says that Count De Bosdari, the Italian minister to Greece, in a recent speech at Athens referring to designs attributed to Italy in certain quarters with reference to Asia Minor, said that in the event of the partition of Asia Minor, Italy would not remain impassive, Asia Minor being large enough to satisfy all appetites.

GULF FLIGHT SAILS

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Sailly, Eng., June 10.—The American tank steamer Gulf Light which was torpedoed by a German submarine off the Scilly Islands, May 1, and for the damage to which the German government has offered to pay an indemnity sailed from St. Marys for Rouen yesterday under her own steam. When hit by the torpedo the Gulf Light was on her way from Port Arthur, Texas, for Rouen with a cargo of oil. The steamer after she was torpedoed anchored in Crow Sound and later was taken to St. Marys Roads. The German government, in reporting on the attack, said it was due to a mistake of the submarine commander.

HERO'S STORY OF AIR VICTORY

Lieut. Warneford Describes How He Smashed the Zeppelin.

Northern France, June 10.—A conqueror on the staff of the Northern France Journal, Le Telegramme, had the good fortune yesterday to meet Lieut. Warneford after his return safe and sound from his splendid hawking of the giant Zeppelin in the air between Ghent and Brussels. They had a little talk. Warneford was delightfully modest, and didn't want to say much about his exploit, which he declared just happened to come his way in the fortune of war.

"A most charming very young gentleman, this Sous-Lieutenant Warneford," says the Journal, "is the brief pen picture of the hero. He was most prudently reserved and spoke as men of action do speak, with no wealth of words.

"He said that three of them, Lieutenants J. P. Wilson, J. Mills and himself set off the night before upon an air reconnaissance. They started in the dark with only their compasses to guide them. At about half past three in the morning they found themselves in the vicinity of the north of Brussels. Coming down a little lower they were able to distinguish a big Zeppelin hangar at Evere.

"My companions, Wilson and Mills," said Warneford, "then rose a little higher until they were exactly over the hangar. Then one after the other they threw their bombs. Several found their mark, and I saw a long flame shoot out from the hangar, but whether there was a Zeppelin inside or not I couldn't say. Having thrown their bombs, my companions continued their flight, turning high in the air and making for their own camp.

RESERVED AMMUNITION

"I reserved myself and my ammunition for further adventures. I proceeded on my journey at an increased height. It was just on 3 o'clock in the morning, when all of a sudden I perceived on the horizon about midway between Ghent and Brussels a Zeppelin flying fast at a height of about 6,000 feet. I immediately flew towards it, and when I was almost over the monster I descended about 15 metres and flung six bombs. All six struck the engine of the 'ship fair and square in the middle. There was instantly a terrible explosion, and the displacement of air around about me was so great that a tornado seemed to have been produced.

"My machine tossed upward, and then flung absolutely upside down. I was forced to loop the loop in spite of myself. I thought for a moment that the end of everything had come.

"In the whirl I had the pleasure of seeing my victim falling to earth in a cloud of flame and smoke. Then by some miracle my machine righted itself, and I came to earth in the enemy's country. I was not long on the ground, you may be sure. I speedily put myself and my machine into working order once again. Then I set the engine going, but now," continued the young man, with a chuckle and a smile, "I can say no more, for here is my lunch, and I am hungry."

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Berlin, June 10.—Only one German submarine in the naval engagement of June 5, in the Baltic Sea off the Gulf of Riga, according to reliable information obtained here. It is stated that a German destroyer, which was sailing by the side of the collier, was slightly damaged by the same torpedo, but was able to port. Details were made of a report published in the Army Messenger at Petrograd that there were explosions on other vessels attacked by the Russian submarines, or that any other damage was done.

WIRELESS INTERCEPTED

By Special Wire to the Courier.

The device is said to make it impossible for the Austrians to intercept Italian messages.

THE SITUATION.

The Italian authorities still refuse to let much news come through, but it is evident that they are doing well in their first great attack of the war along the Isonzo river. The Germans are now pouring troops in there to help the Austrians, and some fierce work may be expected from this on.

The French continue to make progress, and have now the entire village of Neuville in their hands.

In the Eastern theatre of the war the Russians are still retreating, not because of lack of men or courage, but because of shortage of ammunition.

Not so very long ago the Courier came in for some criticism for asserting that if the war ended right then Germany would be on top, and for further pointing out that the Kaiserites held the best position all round. The "Round Table," one of the leading British quarterly reviews, in its last issue goes very exhaustively into the same phase of the matter. "It is sometimes difficult to realize," it says, "that after ten months we are only now at the turning point of the war."

The review then goes on to point out that the Germans have still to be driven back to their own territory; that it is quite likely another 2,000,000 of the enemy will have to be killed or disabled before the road to Germany itself is clear.

THE UNITED STATES FACES DOUBLE-BARRELED TROUBLE.

It has always been the boast and the feeling of our neighbors that they were so situated as to be free from any possible European entanglement. That they should ever be involved in any war in that section of the hemisphere naturally seemed incredible, and yet right now they are standing on the very edge of entanglement in the present great struggle.

Uncle Sam has stood for a lot—very much more, in fact, than seemed probable on the part of a people whose ingrowing feeling was undoubtedly that if the necessity arose they could lick all creation. The violation of Belgium was watched without protest, although Roosevelt, when President, had, on behalf of the nation, affixed his signature to the document which should have guaranteed that land from attack—a violation which, in the case of John Bull, another of the signatories, brought him into the ring with a rush with his coat off.

On top of this comes their affair with Mexico. This presents many serious aspects, which have gone largely unnoticed because of the world interest centering upon the European conflict. Wilson, acting on behalf of large U. S. interests there, has sent a note to that land stating in plain terms that as neither one of the warring factions seems capable of bringing order out of chaos, they must either get together on a satisfactory basis or else Washington will intervene. That they will do so does not seem to be very likely, and then what? Invasion? That is the only logical step unless the Wilson pronouncement is to be regarded as a hollow mockery, and in such case the States would find all the guerilla chiefs as one, for when it comes to their nation as against an outsider there are no divisions. The task of enforcing their submission would prove a long and a costly one, for the physical features of that land lend themselves to a class of fighting which could be sustained for an almost indefinite period.

Altogether, for a people who desire peace, and are not looking for conquest, our neighbors are at this moment face to face with very menacing possibilities.

THE FENIAN RAID.

It is forty-nine years ago this month that the Fenian raid occurred. On the first of June, 1866, word reached the then town of Brantford, that these men had crossed the Niagara River from Black Rock, near Buffalo, and had established themselves at what was known as Fort Erie.

No place in the Dominion exhibited warmer feelings of patriotism, or exerted itself more zealously on behalf of country and flag than did this. Volunteers offered from all classes, just as willingly as they have done during the present great war. Money was freely appropriated by the city and raised by citizens, and everything possible was done to help in the suppression of the raiders. The troops here were ordered to be ready to march at a moment's notice. When it was reported that another column of the Fenians had effected a crossing at, or near Windsor, the excitement was renewed. The day following the Royal troops attacked the enemy near Fort Erie and captured fifty-nine prisoners and a quantity of arms and other munitions of war. The prisoners were brought to Brantford under a strong escort of troops and lodged in the county jail. There was an immense throng at the depot to witness their arrival, and those who constituted the throng were naturally in a most resentful mood. But for the presence and determination of the militia, there might have been summary punishment for the miscreants, and this, of course, could not be countenanced, but if ever the acts of a tumultuous congregation of outraged people would have been justifiable, it would be under circumstances such as the above.

After all the immediate trouble with the Fenians was at an end, it became known that a regiment of regular troops would be stationed at Brantford, and movements were at once put on foot for the reception of the troops and to provide them with quarters. The town council rented the Kerby House and buildings, which were repaired and quickly put in order, and for some years this was, so to speak, a garrison town.

GALA NIGHT WITH I. O. G. T. LAST NIGHT

Enjoyable Program Put Through by Crack Artists.

Last Tuesday evening was gala night with the members of the Independent Order of Good Templars, and a most enjoyable programme was appreciated by the large audience which had assembled. The evening was an open one for the lodge members and their friends, and after the regular routine of lodge business was finished, Mr. Manhennett, Chief Templar of the lodge, declared the lodge open to all visitors, and immediately started on a length programme and after making appropriate opening remarks, called on Miss Elizabeth Hamilton for a solo, who responded with two well chosen selections in a clear, sweet voice which was heartily applauded.

Mr. Stubbins was then called upon and his rendering of King and Country in a robust tenor voice, won for him merited applause, and he had to respond to a hearty encore.

Miss Gladys Neil then gave two excellent piano selections, and showed her musical ability to good advantage in her renditions and was also warmly applauded.

Messrs Luscombe and Hutchins of the Brant Minstrels, then gave a short sketch which contained much humor, and also showed up well in a duet and had to answer to an encore, and responded with another humorous number, again scoring a success.

Miss Kathleen McFayden was heard to advantage in a solo, entitled "Will the Roses Bloom in Heaven," and was also heartily encored and responded with "When I dream of old Erin."

Mr. Bob Lamb was at his best in his rendering of the "Wee dock-and-doris," and also had to respond to loud applause for an encore and responded with the well known Scottish song, "The standard on the Braes of Mar," again showed up to good advantage.

Mr. Luscombe then gave another short black face sketch and won the hearts of all, and received an encore, which was also well received. Ice cream and cake were next served, and after all had done justice to the refreshments, the program continued.

Mr. Manhennett sang in good voice "Silver threads among the gold," and received good applause for an encore which he responded to.

Miss Margaret McFayden then gave a good exhibition of dancing the Highland fling, and the manner in which she executed this popular dance won for her high praise and applause, and she had to repeat for a well-earned encore.

Mr. McFayden then gave a good account of himself in rendering a comic song, "Belle of the Ball," and his work called forth a hearty encore, and he responded with "Etiza Jane," another good old comic song, and was again well received.

Miss Dunn then gave an exhibition of dancing the Irish jig, and was also well received.

A pianoforte duet by Mrs and Miss Norris was then given, and their skillful playing won for them merited applause and an encore. A very pretty arrangement of "Roaming in the Gleaming," was then given by Miss Margaret McFayden, and Mr. Bob Lamb, which was the hit of the evening and won for them loud applause, and they had to repeat for an encore again scoring and winning the appreciation of the audience.

Miss McIntosh rendered in excellent style two beautiful piano solos, which were well received and applauded.

Mr G. Hewitt was heard to advantage in a couple of mandolin selections and his work earned for him merited applause.

The program closed with the singing of God Save the King, at a late hour, and all feeling well satisfied at the variety of the programme.

FINE CONCERT

G. E. Morley, B.A., member of Stratford, who gave an eloquent, ardent, recital, assisted by Miss Freda Gardner, soprano, of Waterford, and by local musical talent. Mr. Morley's popularity as a reader, was never more in evidence than when he responded to his numerous encores, nor his popularity as a man, than when upon his first appearance before the audience he was greeted with their heartiest applause. Mr. Morley's appearance, either in professional or friendly role, will ever be welcomed in the village and community.

TURK GUNBOAT SUNK IN TIGRIS

Enemy in Mesopotamia Has Become Completely Demoralized.

London, June 10.—The Turkish gunboat Marmaris has been sunk and the Turkish transport Mosul has been captured, according to an official statement given out last evening by the British government. The action took place in the Persian Gulf region. "Fuller reports our advance up the Tigris River and the occupation of Amara show that as the result of an action on May 31 and June 1 the enemy's force which had been threatening Kurnah for some time became completely demoralized. "No resistance appears to have been offered to the small party pursuing by river the Turks trying to escape as fast as they could in mahallas and steamers. The former surrendered when being overtaken, while the Turkish gunboat Marmaris was sunk and the transport Mosul captured. "Although the strength of the force which arrived at Kurna in the Comas (British destroyer) and some small launches was quite insignificant, the entire garrison, which numbered over 1000, surrendered, including the Turkish civil governor of Amara, Halim Bey, the commandant of the force recently opposing us at Kurnah, and Said Ullah, commandant of two first brigade battalions. "Shortly after our occupation of Amara, British advanced guard troops of Daghastani's column, which had hastily retreated from the Kherka, Valley, entered the town and were captured. The remainder of this force, estimated at about two thousand, fled, leaving a heavy gun in our hands. "The remnants of the enemy who so far have escaped capture, are retiring in a state of disorganization, many of their discarded weapons being captured. The British forces are moving up the valley of the Tigris into Mesopotamia, the seat of the ancient empires of Babylon and Assyria, and at this moment may be drawing the sword on Basorah, approximately 100 miles as the crow flies south-east of Bagdad. "The Turkish gunboat Marmaris displaced 492 tons and carried a complement of 66 men. She was 172 feet long and was armed with four nine-pounders and two 1-pounders. She also was equipped with one torpedo tube. The Marmaris was built at Le Creusot, France, in 1897.

A GOOD TEAM

The Dormitory Kolts, of the Y. M. are practicing faithfully in anticipation of a game with the Bell Telephone Co. team next Thursday at Agricultural Park. They held a practice on Tuesday and some new players were discovered, who promise to make good. H. E. Rose does well as an outfielder, and will be played on Thursday. Harry Kobbald, a new infielder, has been secured from Toronto, and certainly looks good. Bob Hope is showing marked improvement with every practice. Harry Fleming, of softball fame will play second base for the team, with his usual brilliant, snappy work, while Douglas will take care of the right garden and Manager Riley, the receiving, Charlie Ross and Bill Hamilton, well known old timers, have reported for duty. Ross is noted as a Dufferin and Hamilton as an excellent pinch hitter. Scribe Baird will likely be chosen for umpire, and it is probable that the fans will have a surprise when they see the Kolts play. On Friday, another softball game will be played, this time between the Brants and Clerks. The batteries for this game will be—Brants—Fleming and Robbins. Clerks—Woolman and Klersey.

WILL RESIGN Sydenham Street Methodist Board May Take This Course.

It would appear that the action of the Stationing Committee of the Hamilton Conference of the Methodist church, in turning down the request of the Sydenham Street church for a change of pastorate and refusing to honor their call to Rev. C. Herbert Woltz of Springfield, has caused considerable resentment and feeling among the members of the board and church.

During the first week in the New Year the board notified the chairman of the District and the President of the conference that a change was desired, and a call was extended to Rev. J. H. Knight of Charing Cross, London conference. Owing to opposition of certain officials, a transfer was unable to be effected and the call had to be dropped. They then called Rev. Mr. Woltz, who accepted, subject of course, to the approval of the stationing committee. So that there would be no misunderstanding the attitude of the church board, petitions were sent out signed by nineteen members of a board of twenty-three to the proper authorities. This was further augmented by a committee of three who were sent to appear before the stationing committee last Saturday evening to insist on a change and that Rev. Mr. Woltz be sent. They were further armed with an even stronger petition than the previous ones, signed by the same nineteen members of the board. Apparently the stationing committee thought the board were not in earnest and ignored their requests and demands.

Last night the members of the board held an indignation meeting to protest against the arbitrary attitude of the stationing committee. They passed unanimously a strong resolution, which among other things contained the statement that unless their wishes were complied with they would resign the official positions they held in the church. They signed the resolution and appointed a committee of three to further their wishes in the matter.

The president of the conference Rev. Mr. McBain has been notified of the attitude of the board. Rev. Mr. Lovell, the chairman of the district, of Rev. Mr. Hamilton, the representative from this district on the stationing committee, have also received intimations of the condition of affairs. The matter will be taken up Monday presiding, held a meeting this afternoon and reached a satisfactory settlement of their differences with the cabinet regarding the appointment of law officers for Ireland.

Weather Was Cold and Errors Were Much in Evidence.

St. Thomas, June 10.—Dad Stewart's Saints took both games of yesterday's double header here, the first by an 8 to 5 score and the second, a seven inning contest, 6 to 2. The weather was exceedingly cold and as a result the games were dotted here and there with errors and hits. Wilkinson and Creswell, who started the first fixture for St. Thomas and Brantford, were both relieved after four and a third innings in favor of Howick and Higgins. Howick gets the credit for the win, as the score was a tie, and Creswell for a loss, as the Saints forged ahead before he was removed. Ort, Stewart, Harris, Howick, Kopp and Burrill all featured, both at bat and in the field, Kopp especially shining in the outfield.

The MASQUERADER

By Katherine Cecil Thurston,
Author of "The Circle," Etc.
Copyright, 1904, by Harper & Brothers

She looked up at him. "You're always nicer when you smoke," she persisted earnestly. "Light a cigarette—and give me one."
Loder's mouth became set. "No," he said, "I'll stick to this advice business. It interests me."
"Yes—afterward."
"No; now. You want to find out why this Englishman from Italy was at your sister's party and why he disappeared?"

There are times when a malignant obstinacy seems to affect certain people. The only answer Lillian made was to pass her hand over Loder's waistcoat and, feeling his cigarette case, to draw it from the pocket.

He affected not to see it. "Do you think he recognized you in that tent?" he insisted desperately.

She held out the case. "Here are your cigarettes. You know we're always more social when we smoke."

In the short interval while she looked up into his face several ideas passed through Loder's mind. He thought of standing up suddenly and so regaining his advantage. He wondered quickly whether one hand could possibly suffice for the taking out and lighting of two cigarettes. Then all need for speculation was pushed suddenly aside. Lillian, looking into his face, saw his fresh look of disturbance, and from long experience again changed her tactics. Lillian's cigarette case on the touch, she put one hand on his shoulder, the other on his left arm. Hundreds of times this caressing touch had quieted Chilcote.

"Dear old boy!" she said soothingly, her hand moving slowly down his arm. In a flash of understanding the consequences of this position came to him. Action was imperative, at whatever risk. With an abrupt gesture he rose.

The movement was awkward. He got to his feet precipitately. Lillian drew back, surprised and startled, catching involuntarily at his left hand to steady her position.

Her fingers grasped at, then held his. He made no effort to release them. With a dogged acknowledgment, he admitted himself worsted.

How long she stayed immovable, holding his hand, neither of them knew. The process of a woman's instinct is so subtle, so obscure, that it would be futile to apply it to the commonplace test of time. She kept her hand tensed, as though his fingers possessed some peculiar virtue. Then at last she spoke.

"Rings, Jack?" she said very slowly. And under the two short words a whole world of incredulity and surmise made itself felt.

Loder laughed.
At the sound she dropped his hand and rose from her knees. What her suspicions, what her instincts were she could not have clearly defined, but her action was unhesitating. Without a moment's uncertainty she turned to the fireplace, pressed the electric button and flooded the room with light.

There is no force so demoralizing as unexpected light. Loder took a step backward, his hand hanging unguarded by his side, and Lillian, stepping forward, caught it again before he could protest. Lifting it quickly, she looked scrutinizingly at the two rings.

All women jump to conclusions, and it is extraordinary how seldom they jump short. Seeing only what Lillian saw, knowing only what she knew, no man would have staked a definite opinion, but the other sex takes a different view. As she stood gazing at the rings her thoughts and her conclusions sped through her mind like arrows—all aimed and all tending toward one point.

She remembered the day when she and Chilcote had talked of doubles, her skepticism and his vehement defense of the idea, his sudden interest in the book "Other Men's Shoes," and his anathema against life and its irksome round of duties. She remembered her own first convinced recognition of the eyes that had looked at her in the doorway of her sister's house, and, last of all, she remembered Chilcote's unaccountable avoidance of the same subject of likeness when she had mentioned it yesterday driving through the park, and with it his unnecessarily curt repudiation of his former opinions. She reviewed each item, then she raised her head slowly and looked at Loder.

He was prepared for the glance and met it steadily. In the long moment that her eyes searched his face it was she and not he who changed color. She was the first to speak. "You were the man whose hands I saw in the tent," she said. She made the statement in her usual soft tones, but a slight tremor of excitement underlaid her voice. Poodles, Persian kittens, even crying gazling hells, seemed very far away in face of this tangible, fabulous, present interest. "You are not Jack Chilcote," she said very slowly. "You are wearing his clothes and speaking in his voice, but you are not Jack Chilcote." Her tone quickened with a touch of excitement. "You needn't keep silent and look at me," she said. "I know quite well what I am saying, though I don't understand it, though I have no real proof"—She paused, momentarily disconcerted by her companion's silent and steady gaze, and in the pause a curious and unexpected thing occurred.

Loder laughed suddenly—a full, confident, reassured laugh. All the while that the past half hour had spun about him, all the intolerable sense of an impending crash, lifted suddenly. He saw his way clearly, and it was Lillian who had opened his eyes.

Still looking at her, he smiled—a smile of radiant determination, such as Chilcote had never worn in his life. And with a calm gesture he released his hand.

"The greatest charm of woman is her imagination," he said quietly. "Without it there would be no color in life; we would come into and drop out of it with the same uninteresting tone of drab reality." He paused and smiled again.

At his smile Lillian involuntarily drew back, the color deepening in her cheeks. "Why do you say that?" she asked.

He lifted his head. With each moment he felt more certain of himself. "Because that is my attitude," he said. "As a man I admire your imagination, but as a man I fail to follow your reasoning."

The words and the tone both stung her. "Do you realize the position?" she asked sharply. "Do you realize that, whatever your plans are, I can spoil them?"

Loder still met her eyes. "I realize nothing of the sort," he said.

"Then you admit that you are not Jack Chilcote?"

"I neither deny nor admit. My identity is still open to question. I can get twenty men to swear to it at any moment that you like. The fact that I haven't worn rings till now will scarcely interest them."

"But you do admit—to me, that you are not Jack?"

"I deny nothing—and admit nothing. I still offer my congratulations."

"Upon what?"

"The same possession—your imagination."

Lillian stamped her foot. Then by a quick effort she conquered her temper. "Prove me to be wrong!" she said, with a fresh touch of excitement.

"Take off your rings and let me see your hands."

With a deliberate gesture Loder put his hand behind his back. "I never gratify childish curiosity," he said, with another smile.

Again a flash of temper crossed her eyes. "Are you sure," she said, "that it's quite wise to talk like that?"

Loder laughed again. "Is that a threat?"

"Perhaps."

"Then it's an empty one."

"Why?"

Before replying he waited a moment, looking down at her.

CLOSING CONCERT at the Ontario School for the Blind, Monday evening, June 14th, at eight o'clock sharp. Good programme of vocal and instrumental music. No charge for admission.

THE PROBS Toronto, June 10-The high area is now centered in Ontario and the western low one is advancing quickly towards the great lakes. Rain has been almost general in the western provinces, the heaviest falls being at Edmonton, Battleford and Minnedosa. The weather is unseasonably cool throughout the Dominion.

Moderate winds, fair and cool. Friday-Southwesterly winds, and showery.

NEGOTIATIONS ARE NOW OFF

Rome, June 10.-Germany has broken off negotiations for the exchange of wounded prisoners who are unfit for further military service, with all the belligerent countries. The exchange in Great Britain prisoners. Various pretexts for this action have been placed before the Vatican, such as possible use on semi-military duties of prisoners still in captivity. These have made the worst impression at the Vatican.

FRENCH NOW HOLDING THE "LABYRINTH"

London, June 10.-Careful reading between the lines of the various official announcements of the last twelve hours leads British observers of the situation on the continent to the belief that the weary Russians have been successful in gaining a breathing space, along the eastern front. Furthermore evidence of the stubborn opposition which the Austro-Germans are said to be meeting near the center of the line in Galicia is declared here to exist in the statement from Petrograd that 2,000 Austro-German prisoners have been taken in a series of counter-attacks near Przemyel.

Borden Will Visit the Canadians

Ottawa, June 10.-If Sir Robert Borden goes to Great Britain this summer, as is quite probable, it is believed that the prime minister will avail himself of the opportunity of seeing something of war conditions at the front. It is likely that he would cross over to France and visit the Canadian division as well as the other lines of the allies.

ONLY A FRACTION LEFT

In the west the French make their usual report of slow progress against the enemy. The French claim and Berlin admits that the French now are in occupation of entire village of Neuville, St. Vaast, which only a fraction of "The Labyrinth" is left in German hands. From other portions of the French front come reports of minor advances.

ITALIANS REPULSED

According to Vienna, the efforts of the Italians to cross the River Isonzo, near Gorizia, have been repulsed after a serious engagement. It would appear evident that the Italians have met the first difficult problem of their invasion of Austria in this endeavor to cross the Isonzo, although they claim to have a foothold at some places on both banks.

LEGAL

THE BEAUTY IN OUR GLASSES is that they rather add to the dignity of one's appearance than detract from it. Some people have the idea that glasses spoil beauty. On the contrary, they rather enhance it, and suggest learning, too. But it is not of the looks of our glasses, so much as their efficacy and accuracy of adjustment to the individual sight that we want to speak. For young or old we adjust the lenses with scientific precision, and far less expensively than you might think.

CREW IN TERRIBLE PLIGHT Hartlepool, England, June 10.-The crew of the trawler Velocity, which has been taken at sea by a German submarine, were landed here this morning after being 52 hours at sea in a small boat without food or water. The men were in a terrible state of exhaustion when they were picked up by the vessel which brought them to port. The submarine fired five shells at the Velocity to send her to the bottom.

Borden Will Visit the Canadians Ottawa, June 10.-If Sir Robert Borden goes to Great Britain this summer, as is quite probable, it is believed that the prime minister will avail himself of the opportunity of seeing something of war conditions at the front. It is likely that he would cross over to France and visit the Canadian division as well as the other lines of the allies.

THE BEAUTY IN OUR GLASSES is that they rather add to the dignity of one's appearance than detract from it. Some people have the idea that glasses spoil beauty. On the contrary, they rather enhance it, and suggest learning, too. But it is not of the looks of our glasses, so much as their efficacy and accuracy of adjustment to the individual sight that we want to speak. For young or old we adjust the lenses with scientific precision, and far less expensively than you might think.
