TWO PASSENGER STEAMERS COLLIDE IN IRISH CHANNEL: HEAVY LOSS

Vessels are Passenger Ships Connemera and Retriever—Feared That all are Lost, Which Would Place Death Roll in Neighborhood of 300.

By Courier Lensed Wire
London, Nov. 4.—The London and North-western Railway Steamship Connemera, bound from Greenore to Holyhead with passengers, has collided with another vessel, and it is feared that the death roll is about 300.

London, Nov. 4.—The Connemera collided with the Steamship Retriever in the Irish channel last night. Both vessels were sunk. So far as is known, there is only one survivor from both ships.

A Lloyds despatch from Belfast says the collision occurred off Carringford Lough, an inlet on the Irish coast between the counties of Down and Louth. The Retriever was inward bound.

A few bodies have been washed ashore on the county Down coast. The despatch says it is feared 300 lives have been lost.

The Connemera, 1,106 tons gross and 272 feet long, was built in Dunbarton in 1896.

The Retriever was 190 feet long,

CECIL FINCH IS STRUCK BY CAR

Fourteen Year Old Lad Receives Painful Injuries in Motor Accident.

Struck by a motor car which passed over his body, inflicting injuries to his hip, Master Cecil Finch, the 14-year-old son of Mr. James Finch, of 127 Cayuga street, is still in a serious condition this morning following upon the accident which occurred yesterday afternoon. In company with another lad, Master Finch had crossed the Murray St. bridge over the canal, and after pausing for a moment to adjust the chain of his bicycle, was hurrying on across the road to rejoin his comrade, when he was struck by the car, driven by Sergt. Mounfield, of the 215th Batalion, bearing orders to the Mohawk rifle ranges. The lad was knocked down, the wheels passing over the centre of his body. The lad was also badly bruised and cut about the face.

Sergt. Mounfield, to whom no blame attaches in the matter, acted with commendable alacrity following the accident, at once stopping the car and coming to the help of the injured lad, whom he conveyed to the home of Mr. Fitness, Colborne street, where prompt aid was rendered. Dr. Eler was summoned immediately to the scene, and dressed the injuries of the lad as well as possible.

The injuries sustained in the head were the cause of the most serious apprehensions, and it was at first feared that concussion of the brain might ensue. To-day, however, the danger of such an emergency has largely passed away, and the injured lad was reported to be resting slightly easier. His numerous friends throughout the city, as well as those of his parents, will unite in extending their heartiest wishes for his speedy recovery.

Sixty Men Entombed

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 4.—Sixty or more men are entombed in the Bessemer mines of the Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company, 20 miles west of Birmingham, as the result early to-day of an explosion. More than half are said to be white men. Officials believe the blast was caused by gas. The entire force of state rescue workers under C. S. Nesbitt, chief mine inspector, together with a crew from the United States mine bureau were summoned to the scene shortly after the explosion and every effort is being made to reach the entombed men.

Following the explosion frantic relatives of the entombed men crowded the opening.

BE ON TIME TO-NIGHT WITH ALL YOUR PROMISES CASHED

Time is Fast Going by, You Will Have to Get Busy and Stay Busy From Now On

To-night at 8 o'clock closes the fifth epoch in the Courier contest. What you expect to win depends entirely upon the results that you get this week. Remember, candidates that promise will not get you anything in this world; you must have results in order to be a success. Anybody can be a failure, but it takes real Canadian blood to make a success. Does this blood run through your veins? If so, then you are a hustler in the Courier contest, and get getting subscriptions while your opportunity is before you. One subscription to-night is equal to three and one half in vote value at this time. Oh, Democracy, is there done to reach the entombed men.

Following the explosion frantic relatives of the entombed men crowded the opening.

GERMANY WARS ON NEUTRALS WITHOUT A FORMAL DECLARATION

Submarine Activity in Norwegian Water is Denounced by French Writer—Action of U. S. in Lusitania Case Encouraged Sinking Marina

By Courier Lensed Wire.
Paris, Nov. 4.—Georges Clemenceau, in Homme Echo, discussing the German submarine activity in Norwegian waters, declares that this shows that Germany has now decided to wage war without formally declaring on all neutral powers which thwart her. "It is," he says, "the inauguration of a new 'right of man' eliminating all other rights except that of force."

Evoking the Lusitania case, Clemenceau continues:

"Is this not the doctrine by virtue of which the Lusitania was sent to the bottom with her tragic cargo of women and children? Most prudent Wilson found in this only an occasion for a display of jurisprudence, which, above all, had for its result to invite the German to re-

CAMPAIGN FOR PRESIDENCY COMES TO A CLOSE TO-DAY

Last Speeches of the Candidates Will be Made, Hughes Speaking Five Times in New York—Others Make Addresses Elsewhere

New York, Nov. 4.—Candidates for the United States presidency and prominent campaign orators in general will make their last spoken appeals for votes to-day. Some time around midnight, when the last cheer has died away, the last red fire has burned out and the last paragon has gone home, the national campaign will be virtually over.

Charles E. Hughes ended his political travels yesterday, but the last day of his campaign is one of the hardest. He makes five speeches here this afternoon and will deliver his final address at a rally in Madison Square Garden, which will close the greatest Republican rally of the campaign in New York city.

President Wilson at Long Branch, N.J., will make his last speech before an audience from his home state. Every Democrat in the county organization in New Jersey will send delegates to Shadow Lawn, the President's summer residence. Both candidates will spend the two days that intervene before election quietly. The President is at Shadow Lawn and Mr. Hughes at the hotel, where he has made his New York headquarters since he left Washington. They will receive the returns at these places.

J. Frank Hanley, the Prohibition Presidential candidate, will reach his home in Indianapolis to-night, after a final day of speech-making through Indiana. Since September 8, Mr. Hanley has travelled nearly 20,000 miles, through thirty-two states. The Socialist candidate, Alton L. Benson, who has made campaign speeches in almost every part of the country, is to-day in Kansas City, Mo.

Mr. Hughes, the Republican candidate, holds the record for campaign journeys. When he reached New York yesterday he had four distinct trips, which since August, have carried him through thirty-three states, and a distance of about 25,000 miles. None of the President's trips were as long as those of his rival, and most of them were made to some specific point for the purpose of delivering one principal address.

President Wilson's campaign has had the assistance of his Cabinet members and of Vice-President Marshall, while Mr. Hughes enjoyed the unique distinction of having speeches made for him by two former occupants of the White House, William H. Taft and Theodore Roosevelt. Colonel Roosevelt made his last speech here last night.

The increase in the number of states whose women may vote for President this year has given women a greater part in this campaign than ever before. The most extensive campaign trip ever undertaken by feminine political workers ended here last night, when a special train brought back the women who have been travelling through the country to win votes for Mr. Hughes. They have journeyed 11,700 miles and addressed 131 meetings in 28 states.

Election bets, aggregating more than $100,000, were reported on the Broad Street curb yesterday, and it was estimated that as much more money was staked in wagers of which no records were made.

For the first time in this campaign sentiment played a part in the curb gambling, and many wagers grew out of arguments over President Wilson's speech of Thursday in which he arraigned Wall Street. Although there was evidence of much money on both sides seeking investment, the odds continued at 18 to 7 on Hughes.

Heavy Losses For Anstrians

By Courier Lensed Wire
New York, Nov. 4.—A news agency despatch from Rome published here to-day, says:

Twenty-five thousand Austrian soldiers were killed, wounded or captured in the first four days of General Cadorna's new sweep on Trieste. No offensive on the Austro-Italian front since the beginning of the war has been marked by such fierce fighting. Battling in the Carso, Italian and Austrians have met in hand-to-hand struggles that have continued at some places all night.

An especially furious combat preceded the capture of Veliki Hill by the Italians. The summit was crowned by heavy Austrian artillery that drew a semi-circle of fire against the base of Veliki and prevented Cadorna's men from advancing in frontal attack.

Several small Italian detachments under cover of darkness reached the slopes on the sides of Veliki outside this fire zone. Without waiting for reinforcement, they scaled the sides, surprised the enemy, and after a brief encounter with bayonets and daggers, captured the Austrian batteries. The victors signalled news of their success to their waiting comrades below, and then turned the captured guns on the Austrian trenches to the east.

In the fighting southeast of Gorizia Italian infantry charged over a wide area which had been flooded by the Vertovilla River. At some places they advanced to the attack in water waist deep, holding their rifles high above their heads. It is estimated here that 100,000 Austrian troops are defending the Isonzo line now under attack by Cadorna. Several Austrian battalions have been practically wiped out of existence.

VIESTE BOMBED

Pte. W. Riekey, 215th, Fell From Apple Tree On Farm.

Capt. Sweet and Lieut. Lyle have been selected as the two officers of the 215th battalion to attend the course in the use of the Lewis machine gun to be held in Toronto Exhibition Camp. Col McClaren was expected in the city this morning to look over the conditions prevailing around the quarters of the battalion.

The church parade of the battalion will be held at Zion Presbyterian church to-morrow morning at 9:15 o'clock. The services will be conducted by Capt. the Rev. S. E. McCagney.

Pte. W. Riekey, who enlisted with the battalion in the early summer, but who was granted leave of absence to work on a farm, and had not as yet reported for duty, met with the misfortune of falling out of an apple tree on the premises of Mr. LaPierre, for whom he has been working. He was taken to the Brantford hospital last night, but it was decided to send him to the base hospital in Toronto to-day for further treatment.

FEW MOTOR CARS STORED FOR WINTER

Dodge Brothers Closed Conveyances Good in Any Weather.

The "stored for the winter" tag on motor cars will be less in evidence throughout the country this year than ever before, according to A. S. Digby, Dodge Brothers dealer in this city. There are several reasons, he says. One is the unparalleled business activity now in prospect, which will require incessant use of the automobile for business men. Another is the growing impression that "the motor car made these days is good enough in any weather." Still another, and perhaps more important, is the development of winter cars to the point where cost no longer conflicts with comfort, weather, still another.

In other words, the time has arrived when the average motor car owner will not hesitate between shivering through the winter in an open conveyance, or investing in year-around comfort by using a winter car. The motorist has come to regard it as an actual economy. Tucked away in the warmth of an enclosed car on his way to the office, he no longer finds it necessary to devote the first half hour of his working time to "warming up." As one puts it: "I find wholesome pleasure even in defying the blustery winds; it puts me in a good mood for the morning."

Due to conditions such as these, as well as the prices afforded by the heavy sales last year, Dodge Brothers' dealers are preparing for an exceptional demand. They are now in a position to supply snug winter cars both of the touring and roadster type. Slight alterations in the style used last year make it even more desirable both from the standpoint of taste and comfort. The interior is handsomely upholstered in grey and both the roadster and touring car are fitted with a dome light of a pleasant glow. Doors fit tightly, but open easily and rattling is minimized by exactness of construction. One of the most attractive features of the Dodge Brothers' winter car is the fact that the winter top may be removed with-

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash won't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash won't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

THE SITUATION

The Roumanians not only continue to hold their own in Transylvania, but they are also reporting important successes. They have driven Teuton forces back south of Kronstadt, and they are also now in a position to clear the enemy out of Wallachian territory.

Additional points of vantage have been gained by the Italians in their offensive towards Trieste. They have taken thirty-five hundred additional prisoners, and are now only twelve miles from the place named.

The British and the French have extended their lines on the Somme front, and the British continue to advance on the Struma, having captured the village of Allisa.

MINISTER OF OVERSEAS FORCES

The fact that it has been decided by the Ottawa Government that Canada should have a Minister of Overseas Forces, resident in London, will not occasion any surprise. The wonder has been that Sir Sam Hughes should have hitherto been able to keep an eye on the Canadian and British end of affairs.

There are now 258,000 Canadians on Overseas duty, and more are continually on the way. The supervision of their maintenance, equipment and so on, cannot of course be conducted so well at long range as by a man continually on the spot and a recognition of that fact will be heartily approved.

It will be generally agreed that an excellent choice has been made by the selection of Sir George Perley.

UP TO THE LIBERALS

It is for the Liberals to say whether or no a Dominion election shall be forced on Canada during war time.

This was the authoritative message which Hon. Mr. Kemp, last night, delivered at a Conservative meeting in Toronto, and incidentally to the whole country. He said in part:—

"If constitutional considerations were alone regarded it would have been proper to have held an election in the Autumn of 1914 or 1915. The higher consideration of the public interest and decent regard for public opinion were taken into account by the Government, and an extension of the Parliamentary term was proposed for reasons which apply with equal if not greater force to such further extension as will make an election unnecessary during the continuance of the war."

"For that reason the Government proposes to ask for such further extension as may be necessary; and upon the Liberal party will rest the responsibility of determining whether a war election shall be avoided or whether party strife shall be precipitated and carried on during the pending struggle."

"We have no fear of the result, but we think it is not the time for an election; if there is to be an election it must be brought on at the instance of the Liberal party of this country. We cannot have an extension of the Parliamentary term without the consent of the British Parliament, and it is necessary to go to the British Parliament with the unanimous approval of both Houses in the Parliament of Canada."

The Laurierites are thus placed in this position. When there was some unauthorized election talk last year they said it would be a "crime" and a "disgrace" to precipitate a conflict while hostilities were still in progress. They will now have to show whether they will sponsor such a "crime" on their own behalf, or elect as decently as the Conservatives have. It has always been the case which is "diabolical" if followed by Conservatives, is heavenly when taken by themselves, but the aspect has latterly undergone a change from their standpoint.

There can be no doubt that a few weeks back the Liberal party manipulators were keen for the fray, despite their previous protestations.

Since then, however, Laurier has made an exhibition of himself in refusing to serve on a joint Parliamentary war commission. His course in this regard has rightly earned the repudiation of many of his followers, and also some of the more outspoken Liberal papers. The Expositor has of course swallowed the same, but other sheets of a more independent turn of mind, have spoken out in meeting.

Meanwhile even the most ordinary observer realizes that Sir Wilfrid made an exceedingly bad, not to say unpatriotic break.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

HEALTH AND ALCOHOL

NOW THAT PROHIBITION of the use of Alcohol in Ontario is in force it might be of interest to discuss the relation of its use to the health of the community. What is the opinion of those qualified to know, upon this subject?

Perhaps as good an authority as any are the life insurance companies. The men who manage these companies are hard-headed business men. Their business is to sell life insurance at so much per annum either for life or for a given period of years. Insurance men obviously do not want to take any greater risks than they can avoid. What is the attitude of insurance companies to the user of alcohol?

Recently the actuary of the New York Life Insurance Company obtained the opinions of seven of the leading life companies upon the following five questions:

- (1) Are total abstainers considered favorable risks for insurance?
(2) The hazard on lives of men who drink moderately each day but who never take alcohol to excess?
(3) Does a long-lived family history, a healthful occupation, or other favorable features offset a fairly free use of alcohol daily?
(4) What is the longevity of those who drink moderately each day, but who occasionally drink to excess several years ago?
(5) What is the expectancy of persons who have taken cure for alcoholism several years ago and have been total abstainers since that time?

The replies indicate that abstainers from alcohol have from 10 to 20 per cent. lower mortality than non-abstainers. American statistics corroborate the British in this respect.

On the question of the life expectancy of men who have taken the cure and have been total abstainers for years, it was found that there is an extra mortality of 70 per cent. Men who had cured themselves had an extra mortality of 32 per cent. The steady free users of alcohol had, compared with abstainers, a mortality of 85 per cent.

The principal organic disease which results from drinking alcohol is cirrhosis of the liver. The rate from this disease among drinkers as compared with abstainers was increased 500 per cent. A moderate drinker who occasionally drank to excess ten or more years before insuring would be regarded as a hazardous risk and would be charged an extra premium. The company would take into consideration the man's age and his family life.

In regard to the third question the New York Life actuary says: "The feeling exists among medical men that, while there is a markedly favorable effect on longevity through a first-class family history it is not an offset to a habit of three glasses of whiskey a day, which is likely to be exceeded in the future in a good percentage of cases."

HEALTH OFFICERS AND CLEAN CITIES

In visiting an urban centre it is almost possible to judge of the ability and character of the Medical Officer of Health by the cleanliness and general tidiness appearance of the streets, lanes, market, and general environs.

On a recent visit to one of the smaller cities in Ontario the writer had the pleasure of observing a splendid farmers' market. A long double line of horses and wagons occupied the area about the market hall. The vendors arrived early; they were a clean, well-dressed, smart-looking collection of farmers and farmers' wives, sons and daughters. The market was evidently an established affair, for the city housewives were on hand early; many had their baskets, and after careful selection made their purchases and departed. By eleven o'clock scarcely a single vehicle was left. The farm products were sold and the vendors had left for their homes.

The dining-room of the hotel where I stayed overlooked the street. The windows were uncurtained yet not a fly was to be seen in the room. What a contrast to the dining-room of a nearby city where I had dined the previous day! In the latter the room, which had not even the excuse of an adjacent market filled with horse-driven vehicles, swarmed with flies. They were on the walls, the tables, the food—on everything. It was disgusting.

OFFICERS' SPORTS
A meeting of the officers of the 215th battalion was held last night when the question of sports for the coming winter was considered. Col. Morris thought that it would be advisable to have a committee composed of all the officers, rather than a smaller one on which only a few would be represented. The gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. will be used during the winter for indoor sports. Games will be arranged with battalions in nearby cities, of which the soccer game this afternoon is the first of the kind. The battalion in Galt will also be asked to play here and in this way interest in the battalion will be fostered among the men.

Why Hair Falls Out
Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.

World of Labor

Gleaned from Exchanges and Other Sources.

Journemen tailors in Minneapolis, who have been on strike for higher wages and recognition of the union, have won a decisive victory and incidentally handed out to the so-called citizens' alliance the hardest job it ever got.

The union bookbinders in St. Paul and Minneapolis have asked for the first wage advance in fifteen years. They have built up a 100-per-cent organization, and many employers have already signed up and the balance will be forced to do likewise.

The low wage city of Baltimore, Md., which has kept its civic employees chained down to a $2 a day wage rate, has been forced to concede a minimum of $3.25. Labor is scarce, and outside contractors were ready to pay higher prices for their help. The civic departments were getting so badly tangled up that the city council was only too glad to come over, as this only way out.

There can be no room to doubt that trades unionism is catching on in Canada. Many of the international organizations report large gains in membership during the past month, and among the organized workers wages have materially advanced, and in many instances work hours have been reduced also. It's labor's growing time now.

Coal is retailing at $11.25 a ton in Winnipeg, and wood is $9 a cord, while bread has had a forty per cent advance inside of a month. The cost of living is going up in Toronto, but the Prairie City is evidently trying to go it one better. On an average a workman requires a couple more tons of coal each year to get through the winter than in Ontario.

According to the Moosejaw Times, there is a coal strike in progress in labor in that district at the present time. Many farmers and manufacturers are applying to the Provincial Bureau of Labor for help that is, however, being refused. Apparently the scale of remuneration offered is not high enough to make those who are available anxious for jobs, and it is said the severity would not be apparent if those who require help were willing to pay a living rate of wages. This looks as though it might be so.

The financial report of Granby Consolidated Company for the year ending June 30, 1916, shows that gross receipts were $9,297,737, as compared with $4,686,441 in 1915. After deducting financial obligations, the surplus for the year was $3,819,295, equal to 26.46 per cent on $14,398,520 capital stock the previous year. The Granby is no white elephant, it will be noted.

From all over the Dominion comes complaint of the high cost of living. It has become a burning question in every central labor union and every local organization in the land, and the demand is going out in no unmeasured terms for the Federal Government to take immediate action. Now that the municipalities and 236th Battalion, C. E. F. He was wounded in France while in the 10th battalion and is now touring Canada from Halifax to Vancouver to secure enlistments of members of the McLean clan in his battalion, which he calls "Sir Sam's Own."

Other public bodies are joining in the chorus it is well to note that organized labor was first on the job and the first to enter protest at Ottawa and demand that the federal authorities—do something.

The New York milk strike is over and the producing farmers have forced the milk dealers to pay an advance of 45 cents on each 100 pounds of the commodity. During the time the fight was on more damage was done by the farmers in 48 hours than was done by the traction strikers in a month; milk wagons were smashed, and thousands of gallons of milk poured out on the road way. The farmers did not stop to argue; they got out in the middle of the night and saw to it that no milk got by, and the militia was not called out either, as would have been done if a trades union had been out for an increase in wages.

The gross earnings of the big Canadian transportation systems last August were 15 per cent in advance of the same month in 1915, and rivalled the boom year of 1912 and 1913. George L. Myland, who represented the Peterboro Trades and Labor Council at the recent Trades and Labor Congress convention in Toronto, is some worker in the movement. He is Financial Secretary of the Peterboro Trades and Labor Council, Treasurer of the Central Labor Union, Second Vice-President of the Labor Educational Association of Ontario, Secretary-Treasurer of the Ontario Conference of Typographical Unions, and District Organizer of the A. F. of L. George says he does not get a moment off his job.

UNANIMOUS IN THEIR PRAISE

All Who Witnessed Somme Pictures Appreciate Their Time Merit

LARGE AUDIENCES

Nightly Hail the Greatest War Pictures of the World.

Large audiences were once more the order of the day at the Colonial theatre yesterday afternoon and evening for the showing of the celebrated war pictures "The Battle of the Somme" brought to the city under the auspices of The Courier. Particularly large and enthusiastic were the crowds in the evening, when the opinions of the prominent men of the city, as expressed last evening in The Courier, had been read by all, thus alleviating any prejudice which might have existed as to the refinement of the films. Graphic and thrilling though the pictures are with the vividness of reality, there is not the slightest in them to offend the taste of the most sensitive or refined, and all who have not yet witnessed the showing of the film should make a point of doing so to-day, when continuous afternoon and evening performances will be held at the Colonial theatre. The last showing of these, the most realistic and wonderful war films ever seen in Brantford, will be at the hour of 9.45 to-night, in order that clerics and those of other similar occupations may be afforded an opportunity of witnessing them.

Music and Drama

Miss May Bell Marks and Marks Dramatic Company commences their engagement at the Grand Opera House Monday night, under the most favorable auspices. A very large audience, not alone for Monday night, but for the entire week indicates in succession of big houses worthy in every way of the popular attraction. The usual success of the Marks Bros. Company is due to many things. The company's leading people has been a great magnet, but it does not depend on that alone. The plays were those that were seen in New York the past few seasons, the beautiful gowns of Miss May Bell Marks, the leading lady, are a feature, while the stage settings are the most elaborate ever sent on a tour with a popular priced attraction. Then again there is the acting company that boasts of some of the best actors in the country. Lovers of the drama will be given the opportunity of witnessing a series of the most recent play successes which would never be seen here were it not for the enterprise of Mr. J. W. Marks, manager of Marks Bros. Co. No. 1. In the evolution of the drama that has been in progress for the past few years, the one-night stand is being eliminated from the big travelling companies, and the production of plays on the local stage that scores a hit in New York are growing less and less. This makes the visit of this company more important, as its various plays are given exclusively by Miss May Bell Marks. Monday evening "All of a Sudden Peggy" will be presented. It is a delightful romance and is staged in the most gorgeous manner. The usual matinee will be given during the week.

PARADE OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Notable Spectacle in Connection With Red Cross Campaign.

In keeping with the general success of the British Red Cross campaign in the city was the manner in which the school children participated yesterday. The novel method was conceived of soliciting the cooperation of the owners of cars in the city to the extent of loaning them for the purpose of conveying the school children of the city through the streets, in a parade. Shortly after three o'clock in the afternoon the procession formed up at the corner of Brant Avenue and Richmond Street, and then followed the route outlined in the Courier on Wednesday. Upwards of ninety cars in all were generously donated by the citizens, and were appropriately decorated, flags, bunting and Red Cross shields being employed to advantage. Large banners were attached to some of the cars to denote the different schools whose representatives they carried. The response to the appeal for the loan of cars, and those who witnessed it were unanimous in their approval and praise. As the parade wended its way through the principal streets, crowds assembled to view the unique event, and those who witnessed it were unanimous in their approval and praise. Shortly after four o'clock the foremost car containing Inspector Kilmer arrived at Victoria Park, where a large crowd were waiting to greet them and to witness the remainder of the proceedings. The band of the 215th Battalion were on the scene and rendered patriotic music in keeping with the occasion. At the base of the Brant monument, in the centre of the park, a group of the representatives of the various patriotic organizations waited to receive the contributions of the different schools. On behalf of the local branch of the British Red Cross, Rev. G. A. Woodside thanked the Inspector, the principals of the schools, and the children, for the assistance which they had given the committee in raising the required sum. Far more good was accomplished by small gifts than could be recognized, declared Mr. Woodside. Inspector Kilmer made a short speech in which, on behalf of the pupils of the Brantford schools, he thanked the ladies and gentlemen who so generously loaned their cars for the occasion, and also the 215th Battalion band for the excellent music which they rendered. The proceedings were then brought to a conclusion by the band playing the National Anthem, and the children were then dispersed. The method followed was three children from each class room of the Public and Separate schools. The children's offering amounted to the splendid total of $269.32.

DODGE BROTHERS WINTER CAR

It is astonishing how quickly people get to know about a car, and especially about the men who build it.

People are not buying Dodge Brothers Motor Cars because they want a car of some sort, or any sort. They are buying it because they want the precise and particular kind of a car which Dodge Brothers build. All over the country they seem to have a shrewd and accurate idea of exactly the kind of manufacturer Dodge Brothers are. They seem to know that Dodge Brothers' idea, from very first, was that if they built the car right—nothing else mattered much. People generally know all about the car—or nearly all—before they call on a Dodge Brothers dealer. They know it either from their own experience, or from what they have seen or heard told of other people's experience. They pick out the very points for which it is noted everywhere—points which have not been emphasized especially in advertising. They know why they want the car—and they are more eager for it to-day all over the country than they have been at any other period in its history. The production has always been too small to come anywhere near satisfying the demand. It is at this moment, and it probably will be for years to come, no matter how much it may be increased. The explanation is ridiculously simple. The car has never bred anything but good will. Every time one of these cars goes into a home it becomes an intimate part of the family life of that home. It gets native, but good words and good will. The result is that that particular home becomes a little circle of good will revolving around Dodge Brothers Motor Car. The circle spreads out finally, and takes in a near-by neighbor. That neighbor's home, in turn, begins to radiate good will toward Dodge Brothers and their car, and the circle keeps on growing. In that way it has grown wider and wider, till it takes in the entire country. There is always a desire for the car waiting to be satisfied, as fast as the dealer gets in a supply. That's why sales of more than seventy-eight million dollars in twenty-two months have fallen far short in satisfying the demand. The car has qualities peculiar to itself. People have found this out in their own way. It has made good with them, and they have given it their good will. That is why the good will circle goes on growing greater and greater. Dodge Brothers know this. They know it is the biggest and best asset in their business. And knowing it, they will of course, keep on making the car better and better.

It will pay you to visit us and examine the car. The gasoline consumption is unusually low. The tire mileage is unusually high. The price of the Touring Car or Roadster complete including regular motor top is $3,235. Add freight from Detroit.

The following letter has been addressed by His Worship Mayor Bowlby to Sir Henry L. Drayton, K. C., Chief Commissioner of the Board of Dominion Railway Commissioners:

On the 24th October, 1916, I wrote you setting forth the position in relation to the blowing whistles, etc., within the limits of the Corporation of the City of Brantford. I did this because of the receipt of a letter dated the 20th October, 1916, from W. O. Chisholm, K.C., one of the solicitors of the Grand Trunk Railway at Montreal, enclosing a letter (copy of which is herewith enclosed) which letter as you observe required your Honorable Board to state its attitude in relation to the right of the Grand Trunk Railway Company to blow whistles, etc., in Brantford. I do not know whether or not you received from the Grand Trunk Railway Company's solicitor, such a letter. I have not been honored with any reply to my communication of October 24th, 1916.

SISTERS THREE

Chapter XXXIV.

For one tense moment Gipsy stood quite still, frozen with horror; but the following moment all her self-possession and presence of mind had returned to her.

She realised in that moment just what had happened.

Morwenna Gull's excited and morbid brain had been unshaken by the words she had heard from Jim and by what she had learned of the plan to remove her and her father from the immediate neighborhood of Gaston's Keep.

She knew also where Gaston Lebraton was. Doubtless she had seen him take his boat round the Reef, and had guessed that he went to bathe—as the rain ceased and the sun began to shine—in that favourite creek of his where the afternoon sun shone warm and full. She had fled upwards to the down land, knowing how often he left his boat there, safe in the narrow cove, and took the upward path to warm himself after his dip.

And she had come hither, full of wild thoughts—how wild and fierce Gipsy had yet to learn—and here she was, craning over the edge of the cleft, peering in her hand a great stone to launch upon the head of the man whose whistle could be heard coming upwards from the creek below.

Let but such a weight fall upon a man's head or strike him anywhere and he must fall headlong into the gulf beneath, for the path was unprotected and the drop sheer.

Gipsy's brain reeled, but her eyes were wary. There was yet a few seconds of time in which to act, for the threatened attack to be made.

Morwenna apparently realised this for she put down the great stone out of her hands, stepped back a few paces, and seemed to be arranging something in her dress.

Now was Gipsy's chance. She gave imperative signs to Keeper's dog and girl started at the same instant. The next moment Morwenna had measured her length upon the short turf at the edge of the gap. The dog was standing over her as though to guard her from rolling over, and Gipsy had seized the great stone in her hands and was sending it rolling down the steep slope, where it bounded harmlessly for a time and then came to a standstill among the boulders from which it had been torn.

"You wicked, you murderous girl!" she cried. "I saw the thing you meant to do! How could you? How could you!"

Quite calmly and steadily Morwenna rose to her feet. There was a look in those wild eyes of hers that Gipsy would have done well to heed; but her relief was so great at having got rid of that great stone—the only one to serve her purpose—for here among the short turf there were only small stones and pebbles to be found. She could do no hurt now, though Gaston's whistle was growing louder and nearer.

Then Gipsy was startled by a flash before her eyes. Morwenna had plucked from concealment a long knife which she carried, and with a mad screech that rang far and wide she hurled herself upon Gipsy.

It was so awfully sudden—so unexpected! And the young dog leaped on it as part of an exciting game. He leaped and barked about them, but did not understand what to do, and yet, as he seemed about to leap upon Morwenna once again—though only in play—she jumped at him with the knife, and Keeper emitted a howl of pain and fear. But Morwenna's attempt to kill the dog gave Gipsy the chance to spring past the infuriated woman and to rush full-tilt down the path.

In a second Morwenna was after her; the dog, though still yelling with pain, followed as fast as his injury would allow. It was a wild flight down the zig-zag path and every instant Gipsy expected to feel that cruel, sharp blade between her shoulders. Had Keeper not been ready he would have already caught up and ripped the mad woman brandishing the knife. Gipsy thought she felt the clutch of a hand upon her, and a short, sharp cry broke from her—

"Gaston! Gaston!"

"Coming! Here! Hold on!" The voice came ringing up the gorge. Already Gaston was aware of something wrong—already he was tearing up the path at top speed. Something was happening to Gipsy and her dog—of that he was perfectly well aware. One of his own hounds was following him. The sagacious creature leaped on ahead, saw something, and with a deep bay of anger and menace he lunged himself between the flying girl and her crazy pursuer, and the next instant Gaston had caught Gipsy in his strong arms. For a few seconds she clung to him, shaking in every limb.

"Gaston—Gaston! Take care! She has a knife!"

"Stand still, don't be afraid! She shan't touch you!"

Gipsy felt herself half swung off her feet, set back to the high bank

AUTOINTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

The Dangerous Condition Which Produces Many Well Known Diseases.

HOW TO GUARD AGAINST THIS TROUBLE

"FRUIT-A-LIVES"—The Wonderful Fruit Medicine—will Protect You

Auto-intoxication means self-poisoning, caused by continuous or partial constipation, or insufficient action of the bowels.

Instead of the refuse matter passing daily from the body, it is absorbed by the blood. As a result, the kidneys and skin are overworked, in their efforts to rid the blood of this poisoning.

Pointing of the blood in this way often causes Indigestion, Loss of Appetite and Disturbed Stomach. It may produce Headaches and Sleeplessness. It may irritate the Kidneys and bring on Pain in the Back, Rheumatism, Gout, and Rheumatic Pains. It is the chief cause of Eczema—and keeps the whole system unhealthy by the constant absorption into the blood of this refuse matter.

"Fruit-a-lives" will always cure Auto-intoxication or self-poisoning—as "Fruit-a-lives" acts gently on bowels, kidneys and skin, strengthens the bowels and tones up the nervous system. 25c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial 5c, 25c.

GEORGE HOLT "God's Country and the Woman," at the Brant.

ture, and raved till her voice suddenly cracked upon a high note of frenzy. It was as though it was what Gaston was waiting for.

In the comparative calm that followed he spoke very coolly and in matter of fact fashion, which reduced Morwenna's ravings to the level of some silly bit of play-acting.

"If you have quite done that interesting harangue, Morwenna Gull, I will take my turn, though I have not much to say. But pray do not cut short the flowers of your rhetoric until the fount of your eloquence is quite exhausted. Are you sure you have done?"

She glowered at him from under her thick black brows, but attempted no word of reply.

"I have not heard you in such fine form since the days when you used so amably to try to drown me in the poor girl had incurred your royal displeasure. In those days you were just a wild, silly, jealous bit of a girl whom nobody took seriously. But perhaps you remember, Morwenna, that I warned you even then that you would have to be careful; that that sort of thing could not be allowed to go on. You promised that you would break yourself of your wild ways. How have you kept that promise?"

"You went away. There was nothing to keep it for!" The words were muttered rather than spoken. "Take care, take care, take care! She is mad!"

Indeed it looked like it. For the wild girl with streaming black hair had leaped aside and dodged her way behind the man who had been without his master's word. He had balked her for half a minute—time in which to let Gaston push Gipsy into a place of security where he could watch her, but now she was bearing down upon them, her eyes blazing, her lips drawn back like those—as Gipsy remembered—of the mad wolf which she had seen once as though about to spring at her throat. But this human assault was in some aspects almost more dreadful than the beast, escaped from the menagerie, for Morwenna cried aloud—

"You shan't have her! You shan't have her! I will kill her first, as I would have killed you but a moment ago if she and her dog had not barked me. Stand aside, Gaston Lebraton, or you shall die together! Live together you shall not! I will take care of that—I, Morwenna, the witch's daughter, the weaver of spells!"

"Morwenna, drop that knife!"

Cold, clear, quite calm, Gaston's words came, and though Gipsy could not see his face, she was certain that his dark, unwavering glance fixed full upon the crimson, distorted countenance of the wild fisher-girl, who held aloft in her threatening hand the shining blade, which looked every instant as though it would descend in a wicked, jabbing stroke against Gaston's unprotected body. The girl gasped in her anxiety and fear; but she saw that beneath Gaston's steady gaze the wild eyes of Morwenna wavered for an instant—just for an instant; but that was enough. In that moment Gaston took a step forward and gripped the wrist of the girl's hand which held the knife just below the blade. Even so there was for a second or two a breathless struggle, for the girl's fingers clutched his arm like a vice. But the man's strength prevailed. The knife went flying through the air down to the bottom of the ravine. They heard the sullen splash as it reached the water, and Morwenna, uttering a cry of baffled rage, fell upon Gaston like a wild cat.

Gaston's dog had been a silent watcher of the scene; now he became an active participant in it.

"No teeth," shouted Gaston of the huge hound upon her back frightened the mad girl, took her off her balance, and for the second time prostrated her upon the ground.

"Guard her!" said Gaston briefly to his great hound, Woten; and the huge beast laid a firm paw upon the girl's body, so that she knew it to be useless to try to rise.

A flood of words poured from her lips. Gipsy did not understand one-third. It seemed less the English language, and it sounded as though she was invoking upon Gaston's head every plague and blight her distorted mind could think of.

Gaston looked at her with an odd sort of expression upon his face, vigilant, stern, yet not without some latent sense of a certain grim humor in the scene.

Then he turned his eyes upon Gipsy with a question in them.

"Will you go? The fun of the fair is over. Do you care about the anticlimax?" he seemed to say. Her eyes gave answer—"I'll see it out!" He smiled and nodded. Then he turned his attention once more to Morwenna, who had moved into a sitting posture, just as if she were suffering by the dog to do more. She seemed to have noted the glances passing between Gaston and Gipsy, and her railings rose higher and higher; she shook her arms with violent menacing ges-

How affairs are finally adjusted and the dishonorable curio dealer receives his just deserts and the two lovers are reunited, is presented in an unusual and most dramatic manner.

THE BRANT

The management of the Brant offers an abundance of good things for its patrons the coming week and with the excellent orchestra of seven musical artists that have been secured, this popular home of advanced ideas promises to even outshine its many previous treats of the past. Among the new musicians now permanently employed are three noted concert soloists from Detroit.

The bill for the first half of the week includes the noted Japanese artist, Sessue Hayakawa in one of Lasky's finest productions, "The Honorable Friend." The ever popular Earle Williams will be seen in the first of an interesting series of Motor Stories from the great Vitaphone Studios, entitled "The Scarlet Runner." Two excellent vaudeville acts are also on the bill of fare.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday Mr. Moule has secured as an added attraction, James Oliver Curwood's great play "God's Country and the Woman" one of the finest photo drama masterpieces before the public featuring Will Shipman and an all star cast.

GETTING A "WILD WAVE" SCENE

That photoplay people will sacrifice anything, even risk their lives, for the sake of the picture, is not better exemplified than by several incidents which occurred during the filming of some of the scenes for "The Last" a forthcoming Paramount picture, in which Marie Doré plays the stellar role.

Two members of the company willingly risked their lives so that the scenes might be perfect, when others had refused very substantial monetary inducements to do the same thing.

To secure the proper placing of the picture, Miss Doré and her company, under the direction of James Young, went to a wild, unfrequented spot on the Pacific coast, where gigantic rocks rise out of the water. Here it was elected that Elliott Dexter, Miss Doré's leading man, be caught in a boat with another man when the waves were at their wildest and go through a natural rock archway. The arch was but a little wider than the skiff, and the boat in order to keep from striking the rocks from underneath, was to shoot through the arch on the crest of a wave, dart into some other rocks, strike and capsize, washing the two men ashore, supposedly unconscious.

In order to protect Mr. Dexter from any possible injury, Director Young engaged a fisherman who was considered absolutely fearless. He was shown what he had to do, and after saying it was impossible, agreed to try it. The cameras were set in motion and the boat headed for the hole under the arch, but the wary fisherman did not wait for the crest of the wave. Instead, he would dart through after the wave had broken, when he knew he was comparatively safe. Director Young offered the fisherman more money to go through on the crest of the wave, but the offer was refused. Finally one of the members of the company offered to make the trip. The two rowed out—the boat shot through on the crest of a wave, whirled around throwing both men out, and they floated face upwards, apparently unconscious. Miss Doré could rush out and rescue them. The disgruntled fisherman went back to the village and emphatically declared that all motion picture people were crazy anyway.

--- SIDE - TALKS

By Ruth Cameron

SHE DIDN'T APOLOGIZE

The other afternoon when I called on a friend of mine she answered the door herself in a very short skirt and a flannel shirt.

While she is a woman whom I greatly admire, we are not intimate friends, and I had with me a guest who is a stranger to my hostess. It was a situation which would have embarrassed the ordinary woman. Not so this woman. She did not look flushed or annoyed. She did not break into apologies or explanations. She received us cordially and led us into her living room, and then, at her leisure, explained (not apologized) that she had been working in her garden.

She Didn't Say "It's the Maid's Day Out"
She keeps a maid who usually answers the door, but she did not think it necessary to establish this fact by explaining that it was the maid's day out.
"Don't you admire that woman?" I do.

She had what I consider one of the finest of all qualities—true dignity.

That is the sort of dignity that made Lincoln capable of being entirely unembarrassed when his Cabinet found him playing leap-frog with his son.

They Had Blacked The Prime Minister's Face
That is the sort of dignity that Sir William Pitt, the Prime Minister of England, possessed. He had been romping with some of his young friends when his two Secretaries of State called. His niece had just succeeded in blackening the Prime Minister's face with a burnt cork.

Yet one of the rompers records how "the tall, ungainly, bony figure seemed to grow to the ceiling while the Secretaries of State bent like willows before him."

True dignity and false dignity are as far apart as the poles. True dignity is a quality of the soul, not of the spine. True Dignity is Rooted in The Soul—It doesn't consist in keeping your back like a ramrod and your manner like an iceberg. It consists, rather, in independence of soul.

False dignity props itself up by explanations and apologies. True dignity never needs to be because it cannot be undignified. It dignifies all that it does.

False dignity is as common as true dignity is uncommon. True dignity is often found in high places because it frequently carries its possessor into them by its own force, but it is also found in lowly places, for, to quote Aristotle, "Dignity consists not in possessing honors, but the consciousness that we deserve them."

COAL ADVANCES

Washington, Nov. 4.—Convinced that the present coal stringency is likely to continue indefinitely, the Panama Canal authorities have given formal notice to steamship lines of an advance of 50 cents per ton on coal sold to merchant ships passing through the canal. The new rates of $8 per ton at Cristobal, Colon and $8.50 at Balboa, however, will not take effect until December 1 next, the date at which it is assumed all of the coal purchased by the Government at the old price will have been disposed of.

TOTAL TONNAGE OF SHIPS SUNK

Naval Losses During Entire Course of War Are High.

By Courier Leased Wire.

New York, Nov. 4.—One thousand, eight hundred and twenty ships with an aggregate gross tonnage of approximately 3,328,584, have been sunk by belligerent nations during twenty-seven months of war ending November 1st, according to figures published here to-day by the Journal of Commerce. The losses during October were larger than for any one of the preceding five months, according to the statistics, amounting to 127 vessels of a total of 227,115 tons gross. The October rate of destruction was considerably in excess of the monthly average throughout the war period. Norway lost the largest number of ships, 56, according to the statistics, but their gross tonnage was 57,331 as compared with Great Britain's total loss of 115,546 gross tonnage of 38 vessels destroyed.

A table showing the total shipping losses since the war began estimates those of the Entente allies at about 75 per cent, and those of neutrals at nearly 18 per cent, with Teutonic losses less than seven per cent.

INJUNCTION AGAINST FORD

By Courier Leased Wire.

Detroit, Nov. 4.—John F. and Horace Dodge, automobile manufacturers and stockholders in the Ford Motor Company, obtained a temporary injunction in circuit court here yesterday afternoon restraining Henry Ford from using the assets of the Ford Motor Company to extend the business as planned instead of distributing profits in dividends. In their application to the court, the Dodge Brothers allege that increased labor costs and unstable business conditions coming at the end of the war, make reckless expenditures of the company's assets unwise.

The company's annual statement issued recently showed profits of several million dollars, which, it was announced, would be put back into the business.

MATERNITY DRESS.
By Anabel Worthington.

From the fashion standpoint this maternity dress lacks nothing in appeal. There is a dignified elegance and a certain individuality to it that holds attention, and it is built on the most approved lines so as to be self-equalizing and yet preserve the normal appearance.

The surplus waist with broad rever fronts in contrasting color—to better show an attractive vest or chemise that fills the long V shaped neck—adds grace of line to the garment. The notched collar, cut in a point in the back, appears to be in one with the revers as it corresponds in color; the full length sleeve, semi-fitted, is fitted to match the collar.

Of surprising work in its cut is the straight, gathered skirt that is fitted outside the waist. It has a tucked shirring at top, where an elastic is inserted to regulate the skirt and adjust the fullness.

Silk, serge, yule, crepe, wool poplin, blue cloth finished with white are leading fabrics for this type of garment. There is every reason why it should be developed from a reliable pattern.

The dress pattern No. 8003 is cut in sizes 34 to 44 bust measure. To make in size 36 will require 6 1/2 yards of 36 inch material, 3/4 yard for the collar and cuffs and 1/2 yard of 6 inch wide edging for the vest.

To obtain the pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

RIPPLING RHYMES

BY WALT MASON

A man runs up a little bill, and when it's due he pays it, he coughs up for the merchant's till, and no excuse delays it. Unlike the dead-beats and the bums, he makes a proper showing; the merchants bless him when he comes, and praise him when he's going. This man, in season, meets reverse, as all men strike disaster; and then, when empty is his purse, and hard luck is his master, the dealers say, "Buy all you wish, until your luck grows stable; we'll gladly trust a man, odds-fish, who pays up when he's able." Another man runs up a bill, he keeps it up for the merchant's till, and he says, "I will, when I get good and ready." Though he has roubles in his belt, and other roubles handy, he'd rather lose his freckled pelt than pay up like a dandy. And when misfortune dogs his feet, and want has badly frayed him, and he has but his hat to eat, the merchants will not aid him. If you are building in your town a bad pay reputation, some day that rap will knock you down, and hurt like all creation.

GIRLS! ACT NOW! HAIR COMING OUT MEANS DANDRUFF

Save your hair! Beautify it! It is only a matter of using a little Dan- derine occasionally to have a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lus- trous, wavy and free from dandruff. It is easy and inexpensive to have beautiful hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowl- ton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as di- rected and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incompar- able gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dan- druff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two week's use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itching scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

 If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine, and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.
