SAFE BLOWERS

Lethbridge, Alta., Aug. 8.—Safe blowers were busy in the city Friday night and blew open the safes of the Taylor Milling Co., and the Citizens Lumber Co. They got less than $3 altogether. The local police closed up a gambling game with Coles Bros. circus yesterday. It was a sure thing game, but had escaped until Sergeant Eagen investigated.

WAS HANEY THE MAN.

Los Angeles, Aug. 8.—Wm Haney, an ex-convict, is believed to be one of the bandits who recently held up the C.P.R. train, and the murderer of Constable Isaac Decker. He is reported to be in this city, and Chief Dishman has furnished his force with photos of Haney, and ordered them to take no chances, as Haney is a desperate character. There is a government reward of $1,500 on the bandit's head and a further $2,500 offered by the C.P.R.

KITCHENER COMING

London, Aug. 7.—Lord Kitchener, commander of the British forces in India, has been appointed to succeed the Duke of Connaught as inspector general of the Mediterranean forces, which post the Duke recently resigned on the ground of "the ineffective nature of the work and the useless expense to the nation involved therein." Lord Kitchener will take the rank of field marshal and also become a member of the committee of Imperial defence. The inspector general has command of the garrison at Malta and Gibraltar and all the British troops in Egypt, the Sudan and Cyprus. Lord Kitchener will go to Japan to represent Great Britain at the Japanese grand maneuvers in November, and afterwards make a tour of Canada, Australia and New Zealand to study the military organizations and consult with the colonial governments concerning them.

DROWNING AT MOOSE JAW

Moose Jaw, Aug. 8.—A double drowning occurred in the Moose Jaw river a mile from the city this morning, the victims being David Jones, a Welshman, and John Fraser, a Scotchman. The men were employed as teamsters at Wellington White's backyards. Jones went in swimming at a point of the river where the current is very strong and was seen to be in trouble soon after he entered the water. His companion, Fraser, lying on the bank, heard Jones cry for help and although he could not swim threw off his clothing and entered the water. He succeeded in reaching the drowning man, but became helpless in the current and the unfortunate men sank together. The body of Jones was recovered two hours after the drowning occurred, and that of Fraser after eight hours' drifting. Both victims were home-owners, Jones being located north of Swift Current and Fraser at Chaplin.

WANAMAKER BUYS ORGAN.

Boston, Aug. 5.—The largest pipe organ in the world, erected in Festival hall, on Art Hill, at the Louisiana Purchase exposition in 1904, by a Los Angeles firm, at a cost of $1,000,000, and which has been in storage here since the close of the world's fair in the warehouse of the Handlan Warehouse company, was sold recently to John Wanamaker of Philadelphia, who will have it erected in his big department store in that city. Some idea may be gotten of its immense size when it is realized that a pony may be driven through its largest pipes and that it will require ten large freight cars to remove it to Philadelphia. Notwithstanding its immense size it was pronounced by thousands of musical critics who listened to its tones a celebrated instrument. Many of the most perfect organists of this country and Europe played upon it, including Alexander Guilmant of Paris.

RACE TO ALASKA

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 7.—Eh F. Smith, a mail carrier in Alaska, who won distinction by driving a team of malamutes from Nome to Washington, D.C. four years ago, when he was received by President Roosevelt, is in Spokane with four of the original ten dogs to make final preparations to participate in the race between the mail carriers and the miners for a purse of $10,000. Smith believes the carriers will win, as they are used to long drives, and are thoroughly familiar with every part of the country in the northland which they will travel. He said that Alaska is attracting much attention this year, adding that thousands of persons from various parts of the east south and middle west are going into the district this summer. He has been in Alaska since 1894 when he joined the mail service, and declares he could not be induced to stay for any length of time in another part of the world. Mrs. Smith who is with him, will make the return trip by rail, while he will travel over the trail.

KING SPECULATES IN STEEL

New York, Aug. 8.—King Edward is credited with having cleared over a million dollars after three months' speculation in United States steel stock. Wall street is circulating the report and hints that J. P. Morgan gave King Edward a tip on the bull market. It was three months ago when King Edward's agents went into Wall street for steel. A short time before that Mr. Morgan had visited the King at Windsor. Shortly after the interview a big brokerage house in Wall street received heavy orders from the King's agents to purchase steel common. At this time steel common was bought from $50 up. In the King's account 50,000 shares were acquired. During the three months that followed, American stocks had a big boom and on the advancing wave of prosperity the price of steel common rose steadily. Saturday it closed at 76 1/2. In addition to the gain, the financial district considers the extra dividend declared by the steel trust during the last quarter of a year foetus up the King's profits at more than a million dollars.

GOLD STRIKE IN FOOTHILLS.

Edmonton, Aug. 8.—A marvellous gold strike is reported by H. T. James of Entwistle, who leaves the city tomorrow with a party of prospectors and placer miners to work the claim which he has already staked. The strike is on the Embarras river, a stream which empties into the McLeod river twelve miles south-west of Edmonton to the Grand Trunk Pacific, 126 miles west of Edmonton. James has spent a month out there testing the strike, and he returned to the city with a big nugget. It is claimed the strike will show 150 to 300 colors to a number of prospectors have got wind of it, and other parties will follow James west as soon as they can get away. The Embarras river, which has never been explored has its headwaters in the mountains south of the Yellow-Head Pass. It is from the mountain that the placer mining law the discoverer of a claim may stake 1,250 feet along each bank of the river and 1,000 feet on each side from the centre of the creek. Three claims have been staked by H. T. James, Ben Farmer and Jim Hopkins who expect to find fortunes.

HEN MOTHERS CHICKENS

What might be termed a strange freak of nature is on exhibition at Mr. Arch Morton's farm a few miles south of Lumsden. A short time ago the old house cat brought forth a litter of kittens—three to be exact. After giving them motherly attention for a few days the cat came to an end through a worry with the house dog. It was all day with the kittens, but fortunately for them apparently, but fortunately to a hen, with a desire to attend to a brood of chickens, came to the rescue of the little kit. From then on forward she has given them close attention, and the youngsters take kindly to her. It is a strange mixture. The hen scratches for feed as usual, while the diminutive cats are fed by members of the family. They possess the natural instincts of the feline species and skurry away to shelter under the wings of their adopted mother when alarmed by intruders. They present an odd sight with their little heads protruding at times from beneath the hen. We have heard of a similar case in far away Scotland, slightly reversed as it were. In this latter instance an old tabby adopted a black chicken, tenderly protecting it and chasing other members of the poultry family when they approached too closely.—Lumsden News-Record.

WELL DIGGERS SUFFOCATE

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 4.—A fatal accident occurred at Legal about 20 miles north of Morinville today in which August Cornier lost his life by suffocation and Mr. Rochon narrowly escaped the same fate. Cornier, a farmer of the district was digging a well on his farm when he noticed signs of gas coming through the ground. When he resumed his work after dinner Cornier's son went into the well but had hardly touched the bottom than he jumped into the bucket and made frantic signs to be hauled up. Reaching the surface he told that he had been nearly suffocated by the fumes. The assistance of a nearby neighbor, Mr. Rochon, was secured, but after he had removed two or three shovelfuls of dirt he collapsed and the same fate overtook Mr. Cornier who went to the rescue. The lad hastened to the neighbors for assistance. When they arrived and could take the men out of the well it was found that Cornier was dead and Rochon unconscious. The latter quickly recovered when he reached the pure air and is now well. Had he not been of strong constitution he would have certainly shared Cornier's fate as the current of gas flowing out of the well is one of the strongest that has been seen and it is thought a large quantity lies underneath the ground.

POSTAL CLERK CAUGHT.

Montreal, Aug. 5.—John T. Kane, a youth of only nineteen years, was yesterday afternoon caught red-handed in the act of purloining letters in postal station B on St. Catherine street. Kane was engaged in sorting letters when arrested. The theft of letters from this station has been suspected by postal authorities for some time and a close watch was being kept on clerks and sorters of letters, though no suspicion was held against any particular person. Yesterday immediately afternoon P. J. Chillas, post office inspector, went up to Station B to watch the clerks personally. About one o'clock John Kane, who is employed as a sorter, came back after lunch and as usual began sorting letters. After sorting fifteen minutes Mr. Chillas saw the young man quickly slip a letter in his inside pocket. The inspector kept a close watch on his movements and saw one two, three and four more letters stowed away in Kane's pocket. This was ample evidence and a warrant for his arrest was immediately sworn out. Kane was taken privately before Judge Leet, where he was searched and six letters found in his possession. How many others he may have taken during previous days is not known, but the numerous complaints would indicate that the number must have been considerable. The trial was fixed for Wednesday.

Spain Becoming Normal.

Madrid, Aug. 8.—Senor Mura, the prime minister, said in an interview today: "There is one fact, which ought to have been enough to convince thoughtful persons, that the situation has never been as grave as described by some French newspapers that is, that the troubles in Barcelona scarcely lasted five days, having begun on Monday and order being restored on the following Saturday. "As to the rest of Spain, in a few districts where disorders occurred, they only lasted a few hours. The government, moreover, has been completely successful in quelling them. Spain has again assumed her normal life, while absolute tranquility prevails throughout the country. "It is most unjust to say there has been strong opposition among the Spanish people to the military operations at Melilla and to the calling out of the reservists in nine thousand communes all over the peninsula." Madrid, Aug. 7.—The Herald says that the laborers employed in the arsenal at Ferrol have struck for an increase in wages. London, Aug. 7.—The Secoli's Melilla correspondent says the Spaniards have lost 500 men killed and 1,200 wounded in the last three day's fighting with the Moorish tribesmen, and that 35 officers and 150 men have fallen into the hands of the Moors who tortured them before putting them to death.

MINARD'S LINIMENT Cures Garget in Cows.

HE GOT THERE
A small boy went into a South Boston drug store, wrinkled his face, rubbed his head and rubbed his left foot up and down his right leg in an effort to remember something that had escaped him. "Say," he began, "will you tell me the name of the place where we Americans have so many soldiers?" "Fort Sheridan?" "Oh no, it's farther away than that." "The Philippines?" "That ain't just it, but it's somewhere around there." "Perhaps you mean Manila?" "Manila! That's right! I knew I would get it after a while. I want a bottle of manila extract for flavoring. The effect was magical; in five hours the pain had ceased and in two weeks the wounds had completely healed and my hand and arm were as well as ever."

BOUNDARY RUSTLER CAUGHT

For many years Jack Winfield has come and gone across the border at will, and although it was supposed that his mission was not always one of peace he has so far escaped the clutches of the law. Winfield who is now languishing in jail at Williston, is known along the border as Kid Trailer and has at last been nabbed after a daring raid on the pastures of farmers along the border as far east as Gainsborough. On the last days of June he lifted several horses, among them, one belonging to Miss McKenzie of Oxbow, a sister of George McKenzie of Estevan. Winfield had in all eight head of fine horses stably enclosed in a pasture seventy miles west of Williston on the night of July 4, when he was nabbed by sheriff's officers and taken for trial at Williston. Sergt. Lett of Estevan was notified of the arrest and as he had been on the look-out for the missing horses, he had Mr. McKenzie go down to Williston to identify the thief and the missing property. The identification was complete and the horse turned over. Winfield on several charges of horse stealing, after which, if he is convicted, conviction, he will be turned over to Sergt. Lett, who has a warrant for his arrest on a charge of murder committed some time ago in the Turtle Mountain district. The career of Winfield seems therefore to have come to an end, although he is still a very young man. His fate might furnish wholesome reading for eastern youths who long for the life of the fearless outlaw. Winfield is well known in and about Estevan, having made this town a convenient stopping place in his roamings over the border country. He is said to belong to a gang of seven outlaws who have given a great deal of trouble to settlers and law officers in the past two years. Three of them are now in the jails and the others find life getting too strenuous for comfort in this region.—Estevan Mercury

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES IN ALBERTA.

There are not many western women who have not heard or read of Women's Institutes, but there are many, unless of the more recent arrivals, who know the work being done by actual experience. The National Council of Women is an organization which is well known among the women in the western cities and its work is far reaching and effective. The Women's Institute, however, is an organization in country places and small villages. It originated in Ontario and Michigan, about the same period and both these organizations have grown and are generally assisted by the governments. Illinois is doing very effective work along the same lines and many other states are following. Ontario, however, has shown the most remarkable growth, from one little institute less than a dozen years ago, the last report gives four hundred and sixty-five branches, and from a membership of twelve there is now twelve thousand women members meeting once a month. "What an immense number that is! An Army! What an influence they must wield! They are scarcely conscious of what they have accomplished. I do not mean that their work is insignificant, but that it is being done gradually. The greatest work is being done in the women themselves. The stay-at-home work-hard-all-day women have the stimulus of contact with other women. They have discovered or begun to discover that to work is good but not all there is in life. They have learned that even if it often happens their nearest neighbor knows a better way of working than was adopted in the grandmother's days. They have learned that good food can be served more simply and more wholesome than by converting into elaborate time wasting dishes. The handbook of the Ontario Institute gives as the object: "The objects of the Women's Institutes shall be the dissemination of knowledge relating to Domestic Economy, including household architecture with special attention to home sanitation, a better understanding of the economic and hygienic value of foods, clothing and fuel, and a more scientific care and training of children with a view to raising the general standard of the health and morals of our people; or the carrying on of any line of work, which has for its objects the betterment of conditions surrounding rural life. The motto adopted by the organization conveys in a word its lofty objects:—For home and Country."

THE GAS STOVE.

Cooking Utensil Should Be Chosen With an Eye to Economy.

In using a gas stove the flame should be turned out as soon as it is not needed and should not be lighted until necessary.

Another important item is gas saving in absolute cleanliness of the parts of the stove. Where the burners are clogged with grease and dirt more pressure is needed to get results.

A Canadian People.

At the present rate of progress Canada will have within her borders half a million immigrants from the United States, in a very short time, if they are not here now, says the Victoria Daily Colonist. Many of these are of Canadian or British origin within a generation or two; others are of alien origin. The Dominion is receiving in addition a very large number of immigrants from the mother country and a not inconsiderable number from continental Europe. We have a native population composed of people of British stock. An interesting question is: What sort of people will be developed from this intermixture of nationalities. The average English speaking Canadian the immigrant coming from the United Kingdom and the former resident of the United States assimilate immediately. In a generation it will be impossible to distinguish between their descendants. The French-Canadian stands aloof. There are some intermarriages between English and French, usually we think an Englishman marrying a French woman, but they are not sufficiently numerous to make one at all hopeful of the early amalgamation of the two races. The German and Scandinavian elements of the population easily intermix with the English speaking Canadians, not quite as readily as people from the British Isles or the United States but not so much less so as to be any drag upon the process of assimilation. It is too soon yet to speculate upon this aspect of the case. In time there may be in Canada a homogeneous population from the standpoint of blood, but the day is necessarily a long time off. Many generations are necessary to produce a new racial type.

But we can have a homogenous people without identity of blood, and the homogeneity will be based upon community of interest. When people talk about the prospective Americanization of Canada, we always feel like asking them why there should be any such process. Two classes of people anticipate such an eventuality. One of them belongs to the United States and is influenced by the belief that when once a person has enjoyed the institutions of that country they will never want any others, and therefore they believe that the immigrants into this country from the United States will yearn for a return to their old allegiance and will seduce Canadians from theirs. The other class is composed chiefly of English journalists and casual observers, who are misled by superficial indications. The fears of the latter may be dismissed as groundless, but the hopes of the former are worthy of some consideration, because it rests with the people of Canada to say how far there may be any reason to entertain them.

The object of the immigrant from the United States in coming to Canada is the very simple one of bettering himself. He has no political mission. Chiefly he wants to raise wheat and so that he can do so profitably and give his children a sound education, nothing else troubles him very much. He would be prepared to put up with a good deal of misgovernment, if it were necessary, but when he finds that the laws are well administered, that life and property are safe, that individual liberty is complete, and that the people are absolutely self-governing, he is more than satisfied, and in course of time is ready to assume the full obligations and privileges of citizenship. He becomes contented in his new home, and the contented man is never a revolutionist. The Englishman or other immigrant from the United Kingdom naturally desires no change, and as these two elements together with the native born Canadians will always make up the great majority of the population, they will become in time a homogeneous political entity, reinforced from the beginning by the people of German and Scandinavian origin. We feel, therefore, great confidence that the population of Canada will be a great political unit working with a common object, namely, the development of a Canadian nationality within the Empire, but to ensure this care must be taken to see that the government of the country stands for righteousness in administration. The people of the United States are working out their own problems; we are working out ours. Theirs are the more difficult. No thoughtful Canadian would desire to combine the two, neither would any thoughtful citizen of the United States.

Business and Christianity.

Can the principles of Christianity be successfully applied in the conduct of business? Is it possible to buy and sell goods, to barter and trade, without violating the golden rule? An experiment to determine these questions has been, and is being, carried on in London. The results are not conclusive as yet. The Christian Business Association, the title of the organization instituting the experiment, has established a green grocer's shop, a boot repair shop, a laundry and two farms. The green grocer's shop, however, to be closed because of the keenness of competition, and because the Christian principles of the directors would not permit of the cutting of prices—a system in vogue among the competitors of the Christian Business Association's green grocer. The rest of the stores and the farms are still being conducted along original lines laid down by the founders.

The implication, from the reasons advanced by the association for the closing of its grocery department, would seem to be that competition is un-Christian. But even when competition is very keen it can scarcely be so classified so long as it is fair and above board. Cutting prices may be perfectly legitimate and honest. What is really required in business is more fair competition and less of the underhanded and un-Christian kind. The Christian Business Association may succeed in conducting its farms without cutting prices but success in agriculture in contrast with failure in business will not, therefore, condemn business as a vocation unsuitable to a sincere Christian. In other words, the impossibility of selling green groceries on Christian principles has not been satisfactorily demonstrated. Perhaps the fault lies in the standards employed. Are the principles really Christian or merely refined ideals wrongfully ascribed to the gentle Galilean?—Ottawa Citizen.

Press Comment.

(Winnipeg Tribune.)

It is announced that Mr. Whyte is to retire from the C.P.R. shortly in accordance with the rules of the company, which fixes a time limit upon the services rendered by its officials as well as an age limit. It appears that Mr. Whyte has served the company the necessary number of years, and that he is likely to retire, although it has been stated that his period of service has been extended for two years beyond the recognized time.

Just whether the company or the west will sustain the greater loss by the anticipated severance of the tie, it is difficult to say. Mr. Whyte's long and honorable career in the west has made him a very important figure in its life and history. He belongs to the west, and the west has grown very fond of him. It is doubtful if any other man in the service of the company could have done for it what Mr. Whyte did. In the early years of monopoly, and later, when the spirit which grew up with monopoly still flourished, Mr. Whyte was the "buffer" between the company and the public, and that he was able to maintain his position with the former, and preserve the respect and esteem of the latter, was a rare tribute to his ability, tact and diplomacy. It seems to us that the public, in admiring Mr. Whyte's bluff, Scottish frankness, has always lost sight of the fact that he is in reality one of the smoothest and most diplomatic men in the service. The word "smooth" is used in its kindest and best sense. Indeed, Mr. Whyte's old friend—the late R. J. Whittla, always referred to Mr. Whyte as "Smooth William," and Mr. Whittla was a rare judge of human nature.

Although it is announced that Mr. Whyte will remain with the company for two years more, even that he seems much too early to have him drop out of official life. In the best sense of the term Mr. Whyte is still a young man, he is thoroughly imbued with the progressive spirit of the west, and ought to participate in its affairs for a score of years yet. His friends—who is not a friend of Mr. Whyte? would like to see him at the head of the great company he has served so long and so well, but it always has to be remembered that there are other able men besides Mr. Whyte. It is not unlikely that Mr. Whyte, being now in sufficient circumstances, if popular belief is correct, desires the rest and quiet of retirement. He has certainly earned a rest. When the time, however, comes for the severance of the ties which kept Mr. Whyte so long before the public, there will be the sincerest regrets upon all sides.

Plagues of flies are much more common today and no less deadly than when Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron. It is unnecessary to go to the woods or the mining lands of the north to make good the statement. Even in the cleanest of cities and the neatest of households "the fly that does not wipe his feet" is a constant visitor, and he bears with him constantly potential pestilence. Everyone of the germ diseases is propagated by the fly, and he himself may be found sticking to the wall, a whitened mass, dead of one of the forms of bacteria he packs about. Typhoid fever is one of his most frequent loads, and he distributes his infective filth with the greatest impartiality over all the forms of food with which he comes in contact. He is horn and bred in dirt, lives in dirt, and is the emblem of dirt. His abolition would be, perhaps, the greatest possible step towards the prevention of disease.

It is interesting to remember, in this connection, that Beelzebub, lord of flies of the Philistines or Beelobol of the Hebrews, lord of ovals, represented the ancient knowledge of the world regarding the lower forms of insect life. There should be no desire among modern folks to sacrifice to these gods by the encouragement of bacteria-bearing flies or the dirt of which they are products.

Of this sudden eruption of popular fury and blood-thirstiness in Spain there seems to be no very clear account, unless it be the general temper of people who indulge in bull-fights, and who long revelled in the work of the Inquisition. We are told that there is a strong element of provincial antagonism, a relic of the days before consolidation, when what are now provinces were petty dominions. Carlism is said to be an ingredient by some, anarchism, by others; both cannot be since they are opposite tendencies, Carlism being reactionary and not unlikely to be fostered by the

W. H. Hurley Buys Laundry.

The following is from Saturday's Brandon Daily Times, and will be of interest to people of Regina:

A commercial deal of outstanding importance was closed in the city yesterday, whereby the plant and business of the Brandon Steam Laundry passes into the hands of Messrs. W. S. Brock and W. H. Hurley, of Winnipeg and Regina respectively.

The consideration paid has not been stated, but the late owners admit that they have made a most satisfactory price.

Mr. Brock is a well known business man in the Manitoba capital, being agent for a number of prosperous firms, and his advent among the business interests of Brandon will be a distinct gain, and will be welcomed.

Mr. Hurley is considered one of the ablest experts in steam laundry work in the west. He has held the position of manager with the Regina Steam Laundry for some considerable time, and by his technical knowledge and ability has done much to build the concern up to flourishing success. Mr. Hurley will take over the management of the Brandon steam laundry at the end of the present month, bringing with him to Brandon his wife and family.

The ownership of the concern will be vested in a joint stock company, of which it is anticipated Mr. Brock will be president.

The new proprietors will install a quantity of new machinery, and will make a number of extensive improvements which will result in a largely increased capacity.

The operations of the company cover a large tract of surrounding territory, the country connection having grown to a considerable extent lately.

Successful as has been the efforts of the company in the past, it is anticipated that, with an expert of the ability of Mr. Hurley at the head of the practical work, the new owners will be enabled to run the business even more efficiently and economically, and with equal satisfaction to the great number of patrons already on the books.

MURPHY'S OPINION

Hon. Charles Murphy, Secretary of State, Talks on his Trip Through the West—Farmers Tell Him Box Cars Are Wanted.

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—Hon. Chas. Murphy returned yesterday from a trip through western Canada. He did a good deal of talking while in the west, and as the result of an interview it is evident that he did more listening and looking around.

"The outstanding features of the west are the belief of the people in themselves and their country, disregard of the past, working for the present and planning for the future, the impressive consciousness of the schools and elevators, the fact that English, Scotch, Irish, French, Belgians, Dutch, Germans, Swedes and Americans are all Canadians and they all want to see Premier Laurier," said Mr. Murphy.

"The people are too busy with their crops and their industries for politics. They have a great country, they have great cities, they have a great future and they know it. Anyone who goes through the country is bound to realize it. It comes in truly and everywhere you go it is the same story of progress and development. There are hustling enterprising towns everywhere, fine hotels, innumerable banks and a multitude of newspapers.

"All of these towns are surrounded by prosperous farms, fruit growing, cattle raising and milk districts, and everywhere there are splendid school buildings. They are big, they are impressive, and they are artistic. I believed that I was more impressed by the schools than by anything else. I saw and heard nothing of the school question.

"It appeared to me that what the people most want is more railroads and to see Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He is the big figure and they want to see the man. Everywhere I went men asked me if there was any possibility of Sir Wilfrid Laurier making a visit to the west. They want to see him and they want him to see their country. They would give him the time of his life. This is what I heard everywhere I went.

"The premiers of Alberta and Saskatchewan have joined in an invitation to Sir Wilfrid to lay the corner stones of the new parliament buildings, and I hope that he will be able to accept. The people would go many miles to see him for you can't understand how great and how keen is the desire to see the premier."

"I was in the west three years ago," said Mr. Murphy, "but the first hint of what I was to see on this trip was at Port Arthur and Fort William where I found plans being made for terminal facilities which involve an expenditure of $30,000,000 before they are completed. The G.T.P. will have a fourteen-mile waterfront, the C.P.R. is carrying out works on a large scale, and the Canadian Northern is not far behind, and this is for the handling of the business of the west. The towns are bound to be one and a huge one. Winnipeg is a marvel of growth and activity. The people are willing to undertake anything however large and seem able to successfully carry it out.

"They are not concerned about the new American tariff nor anything else American. The country is full of people from the United States and they are the best of farmers, millers and traders and they are all talking Canada.

"Imperial defence, does not appear to interest the west. When I tried to talk to the men about it, I invariably found that the subject was changed to the state of the crops, the price of wheat or the prospect of a branch railroad. One man said to me, and he was an Englishman, 'We want box cars a good deal more than we want Dreadnaughts.'

"The amount of railroad building that is going on is astonishing. The east hears chiefly of the road building of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern, but there is an important amount of work being done by the Canadian Pacific. I travelled almost entirely over the Canadian Pacific and everywhere there are gangs of men by the thousands laying new lines, putting in new sidings, building great branches and straightening and improving the existing lines. The company is evidently determined that it will not be beaten in the extent of branches or the quality of the road in any particular by either the Canadian Northern or the G.T.P. Millions of dollars are being spent by the company. It has been frequently said that the cost of the Canadian Pacific was less than the cost of the G.T.P. would be, but I am not so sure that this will be the case when all the bills for the present work are paid."

Mr. Murphy was much impressed by the business of the Pacific coast, and with the charm of Vancouver and Victoria.

This morning the wings are now all fixed on the machine and this afternoon it was run out of the big shed after the end had been knocked out of the building. It was then wheeled over to Silver Hill where the wrecked Silver Dart lies and Mr. McCurdy has been busy installing in it the 320 pound engine and motor which was formerly in the Silver Dart and which causes 1,700 revolutions of the propellers per minute, which is far faster than any other engine on an aeroplane has done. The Baddock is the first aerodrom which has been entirely put together in Canada. The others, the June Bug, the Silver Dart, etc., were partially constructed at Hammondsport, Ind.

We often hear people say, "Where do all the flies come from?" Sure that's easy. The toper makes the blue bottle fly, the sterner father makes the gad fly, the cyclone makes the house fly, the blacksmith makes the fire fly, the driver makes the horse fly, the grocer makes the sand fly, the thresherman makes the cabbage fly, and the boarder makes the butter fly.—Ex.

Sergeant Goldsmith brought in five children last night from near Watertown, who have been government charges. Carl Strand, the father deserted his family last August and since then they have been provided for by the government. It was decided to place the children in the children's home at Regina. This is the season, remarks the Montreal Star, when the careful housewife wants to know how the grocer keeps his foodstuffs. Does he sweep his store out while fresh fruits and sticky substances and other articles which collect dust as fly paper does flies, are fully exposed to the product of his broom? Does he keep his milk, butter, and other perishables in food chambers? Does he preserve his fruits and sweets from the flies? Does he banish the "typhoid fly" from his shop? Does he make a fine street display at the cost of exposing much food, which is afterwards sold and eaten, to the dust storms and automobile whack? Are his clerks careful in handling foods which they are parcelling up? Are these foods well covered for the journey through the streets in the delivery carts? These are all questions literally of life and death, and the truly wise-housewife thinks more of them than of the amiability of the clerks or a cent of so on the prices.
