TWO PICTURES.

This is what the great Edmund Burke says of the duty of a Representative. We want Mr. Snowball and his friends to read it:—
"It is the duty of your parliamentary representative to sacrifice his repose and his pleasures to yours, and above all, to prefer in all cases your interest to his own."

THE REVISED BIBLE.

Ten years ago, about 40 gentlemen of culture, christianity, and knowledge in divinity, some on one side the Atlantic, and some on the other, set to work to collect all the ancient manuscripts they could find, bearing upon that portion of the Bible known as the new testament. They likewise began a translation of the whole work from Genesis to Revelations. They contended that, as the old bible stood, it was not sufficient; that many of the texts said to be the Word of God were spurious—claiming at the same time that the bible was of divine inspiration—that many of the Hebrew and Greek texts were mis-translated, that many of the passages were expressed in ambiguous terms, and finally that the Anglo-Saxon was not pure. For the last ten years they have worked very hard, comparing manuscripts and comparing notes, and the result of their labors was given to the public less than a fortnight ago. In a late issue, we gave some extracts from the new book, setting them opposite to counter passages of the authorized protestant bible.

The revised edition by no means finds catholic favor in the Protestant world. Thousands of pious protestant christians, are shocked at the changes made in passages, some words of which were dear to them. Not can they find in any of the altered passages in any sense an improvement. Others again are joyful over the changes made, and hail them as a flood of light let in upon the Word of God. The ministers have spoken much of the book from the pulpit, some giving it a warm welcome, and some a chilling reception enough. In referring to the book, we do not look at it from a denominational point of view, but merely compare it with the protestant bible it comes to supersede.

We do not think it an improvement by any means upon the old protestant bible. Some of the changes, it is true, may in a literary sense be an improvement, but a very great many of the changes are not an improvement, and taken all for all, little has been done for the christianity of the protestant world, or the literary excellence of their Word by the "improvement and revision." If indeed the revisors have made clear any of the passages, upon which so many of the protestant denominations differ, and split, and separate; if they reconcile the doctrine of Predestination with Free-Will, and Close-Communion with Free-Communion, so that neither of these denominations will hold its own belief absolute in the future; or show that the Greek preposition en in the case of Philip and the Eunuch meant in the water, or to the water, or by the water; or that the authority to rule the church is vested in the bishops in assembly, at the same time that it is vested in a confraternity of laymen; that while the claims to apostolic succession can only be proven by holy orders, that any man may preach without the Holy Ghost having breathed upon them, and be in the line of the apostolic succession; if, we say, all these different protestant doctrines have been reconciled and bridged over, we take back what we have said, and in a large sense pronounce the revised book a success.

But even though upon examination it be found—which alas is not likely!—that such a federation of faith has been accomplished in the revision, there are a few points still, which might be argued with serious force against the clarified innovation. All pious Protestants, who do not believe with Mr. Henry Ward Beecher, and other excellent divines, that there is no hell, must deplore the use of the word "Hades" in the new book, for hell in the old. Hades was the hell of the Greeks; now the revisors have made it the hell of the Protestant christians. There is little if indeed any difference between Hades and Tartarus of the Pagans—unless indeed that Tartarus was the hell of wicked spirits, Hades of the good. Both were the unseen worlds whither spirits winged their way after death. Round about the unseen world flowed the abhorred river Styx. When the soul reached this dismal river, it found the ferryman Charon waiting, who took it in his wherry across to the region of shades. Pluto was the god of these dreary regions, and the passage to his abode was guarded by the hideous dog Cerberus, the three-headed—the tria juncta in uno of the poets. All who have read anything of classics in Greek or Latin, or read any of the books on mythology, or even open their dictionaries will find that Hades is the hell of the Pagans, created not by God, but by the old Greek or Egyptian romancers. When the bible student reads that the rich man "lifted up his eyes from Hades" he turns to the dictionary to find the meaning of "that word," and he is told it is "the unseen world of the Greeks"—reading further he finds it described to be as we have portrayed it above. To be a christian and believe his bible, he must first be a Pagan and believe in the Pagan hell.

Now the word hell has a significance to the christian mind that no other word can ever have; and this significance is not so much due to the original meaning of the word, as to the associations with which the christian idea and christian faith have invested it. Hell means to those christians who do not believe with Mr. Beecher, and several others, a place of eternal torments, where the perverse and unrepentant wicked shall suffer through all eternity. To put any other word in the bible, in its place, is to shake the belief in hell, and eventually to lead to its disbelief.

In the appendices to the revised book there are "ords" and "differences" enough to bewilder any christian save one who would strain at the gnat and swallow the camel. When the new book is authorized, the appendices with their multiplicity of "ords," and the various renderings the revisors give of some passages, will also be authorized, so that the confusion spoken of in the Old Bible was order itself compared to the Sphynx' riddles presented to the bible student in the appendices of the new. They recommend in the American appendix, the substitution of the word demon for devil, pointing to the Greek word daimonia in the text. Now according to any Greek lexicon we have ever seen, daimonia is a term for all second class divinities,—sometimes gods of the rank Dii Majorem—good and evil. They may be perfect enough to sit at the council of Olympus, while they may be depraved enough to take the lowest seat in Pandemonium. Homer used the term to distinguish any being superior to man; hence even the gods were called demons sometimes and the adjective daimoniakos meaning divine was derived from it. But there was a division made in after ages between the good and the bad demons. The good were called agatho-demons the bad caeco-demons; so that when the appendix would have the elision of devil, it ought to have suggested caeco-demon in its place!

When the Evangelists wrote, the christian mind had given to the words hades and demon an interpretation quite different from what the Greek had given them; indeed the meaning the apostles ascribed to them was precisely that which orthodox christians give them today, while the dictionaries to which the bible student will look for the explanations of these words give not the christian but the Pagan interpretation.

SIR H. L. LANGEVIN'S VISIT.

We notice by some of our exchanges that the Minister of Public Works or newly created and worthy Knight, Sir H. L. Langevin, is soon to make a visit to the Maritime Provinces. The date of his departure, however, is not fixed. We do not know what are the preparations, if any, in progress for the reception of Mr. Langevin, but we do know that the people of the lower provinces would be delighted to do honor to their distinguished and brilliant fellow countryman. We believe a hearty reception will be extended him irrespective of nationality or party, the English descended joining with the French descended, and the Reformers with the Conservatives, to give him a hospitable welcome.

We have no doubt but the prominent citizens of St. John will show how well the chief city of New Brunswick knows how to entertain distinguished and worthy strangers, while if the Honorable gentleman could spare the time to visit the Miramichi, we are satisfied Chatham and Newcastle would entertain him to the very best of their ability. Hon. Senator Muirhead and Mr. Snowball could arrange matters here, and conduct them with credit too, while Hon. M. Adams, Mr. Davidson and other gentlemen in Newcastle, could keep up the credit of the shiretown. That Mr. Langevin will receive a most enthusiastic reception by the Acadians descended of the Province, too, we have not any doubt, nor could the reception on a large scale fall into better or abler hands than those of Hon. P. A. Landry.

A REBUKE FOR INDECENT WRITERS.

There are few newspapers in the Dominion, on whatever side of politics, or however strong their bias that have not been disgusted with the ghoul-like exultations of the Toronto

Globe over the sick beds of members of the Cabinet. The Montreal Witness, one of the pillars of the Reform party, in an issue now before us, referring to the coarse, brutal articles of the Globe says:—

"The gleeful way in which the Toronto Globe seems to chuckle over the presumed approaching demise, or necessary retirement through illness, of Sir John Macdonald is said to be very offensive to most of the party which has so faithfully followed that paper. As Mr. Gordon Brown is on the Atlantic he cannot now be held directly responsible for the coarse behavior of his paper, which we hope will take a hint and for its own sake act more decently."

The Board of Agriculture in Fredericton we believe, has met and agreed to squander some of our money on a Model Farm.

Six baronets of Tipperary have been proclaimed under the Protection Act; also one in Donegal.

We have a good many rich men too in Chatham. Vide the tax list.

THE JEW IN WINNIPEG.

There are ten Jewish families living in Winnipeg, and the first case of circumcision took place there lately. Rabbi Freedman, of the St. Paul Synagogue, performed the ceremony in presence of a mixed assembly of Jews and Gentiles. At the conclusion of the ceremony the father of the circumcised child, escorted by his guests to wine and cake, after the ancient Hebrew custom, when the health of the child was proposed and enthusiastically honored.

TORONTO.

The commissioners of the Yorktown centenary have just returned to Washington from their visit to Yorktown, where they have had a conference with the committee from Virginia, and have inspected the location of the place selected for the commemoration. Two hundred acres of land have been bought and a site for the erection of a monument has been chosen which embraces an extended view of the river and the town. The old Moore house in which Lord Cornwallis signed the capitulation is undergoing repairs so as to serve for the general quarters of President Garfield during the festival. The country around is well wooded and provided with water in abundance and offers all the facilities desirable for the vast encampments of troops, as well as for military maneuvers. The committee of Virginia is engaged now in providing all possible conveniences for the landing of visitors and guests who may arrive by water at Yorktown. On the 18th October, the Freemasons will place the corner stone of the commemorative monument. It is believed that 4,000 Masons will participate in the ceremonies, the programme of which has been arranged by Grand Master Cole and Grand Scribe Isaac. The same day Governor Halliday of Virginia will pronounce an address. On the 19th the President will receive the monument in the name of the nation; this reception will be followed by dedicatory exercises—an oration, poem and ode. The replies received by the committee indicate that the number of troops present will be at least 10,000 of whom one part will camp, and the other will be lodged on board of the transports. The thirteen original States will be represented by their Governors and a detachment of their respective militia. It is decided that the State of New York shall send the 15th regiment. A delegate of the Congressional Commission of Yorktown held on the 10th, a conference at the office of the war department with Secretary Lincoln, General Sherman and Colonels Craighill and Casey, relative to the Yorktown commemorative monument. It has been decided that this monument shall be of Virginia granite and shall occupy a conspicuous position commanding the York river.

UNAPPY IRELAND.

A serious affray took place in Mitchellstown, Cork, on Friday, in consequence of the attempt of the sheriff to evict five tenants on the estate of the Countess of Kingston. The sheriff was assisted by 250 police and military, including a troop of dragoons, but the resistance of the people was so determined that the work was only partly accomplished. The bells of Mitchellstown began ringing in the morning to warn the country that evictions were about to begin. The bells then miles around took up the refrain, calling the population to assemble. The police attempted to stop the bells, but did not succeed. Ten thousand persons assembled here is less than an hour. A large number gathered around the police and military. While the first eviction was proceeding, eggs, stones and other missiles were thrown at the sheriff and his assistants. Three evictions were carried out, but to execute the next two it was necessary to pass through the town. The people obstructed the street and sent showers of stones into the constabulary. Then the cavalry charged and drove them back, but they only returned in greater force and with new daring. While plussing a yard behind which a large number of rioters were concealed, a heavy volley of stones was delivered and one of the cavalry horses was killed. The police charged through the yard and dispersed the assailants at the point of the bayonet. Several were wounded. One man's jaw was cut open. Twelve soldiers were struck and many others were injured. The riot Act was read twice without effect, and in consequence of the resistance it was decided not to proceed further with the work of evictions. The excitement lasted late into the night, but there was no further disturbance.

The past week has been of grave anxiety and alarm to the authorities of Ireland. The police are rapidly becoming demoralized. Every man hand is against them. After a long and fatiguing march they find in some country village that the wells are defiled with mud and rubbish, so that no one can quench his thirst. No patrol can venture far except in great force.

Several of the leading English papers denounce the policy of the Government. They say if the government want to cure the grievances in Ireland they must begin at the root. The root of the evil is the system which is made the landlord the arbiter of the fate of the tenant. Speaking of the Coercion Act, says the

[Poll Mail Gazette]

That fanatic trump card has been played, with the result predicted by some, that it has done no good at all, and however tightly the practice of coercion may be braced up it will do no good. So long as we confine ourselves to this method we shall inevitably drift, as we are drifting more and more rapidly every day, toward a state in which the troops will have other work to do than merely to collect rents. The affair the other day of the band of peasants ensconced with arms in the ruined castle in county Limerick means that we are in full sight of at least a sputter of insurrection, and if the Land Bill does not pass the House of Lords the sputter will blaze into a conflagration. Why is it that things have got worse? Is it because that very policy has been pursued by some landlords against whom the Disturbance bill of last year was expressly designed. The number of evictions is declared to be increasing, and it has been admitted by Mr. Forster to be deplorably large. Mr. Gladstone spoke of the considerable number of persons who, though able to pay their rents, are under sinister suggestions compelled to avoid payment. Mr. Gladstone is, no doubt, perfectly correct in this. There are always rogues ready to take a dishonest advantage of disturbances. The sight of one unjust eviction engenders a furious resentment in a whole district. Similar suggestions would fall powerless if the population were not prepared for them by the sight of injustice, admitted to be injustice by the English Government itself, perpetrated before their eyes on members of their own class. England is now witnessing a violent struggle between the two great conflicting classes. If the Land League were suppressed to-morrow the struggle could not come to an end, because it breaks out locally under the provocation of local evictions. It is these evictions that ought to be suspended in the interest of public order. If that course were to be taken we should have done the best that can be done to meet the very real danger of the moment."

BY ELECTRICITY!

No more trouble in getting children's pictures taken. I am now working in connection with my Camera, an ingeniously constructed apparatus, worked by Electricity, enabling me to produce a beautiful Picture of any child in one second of time—All we need now is a wink from the little folks, and we have a facsimile of them securely made.

In thanking the people of Miramichi for their very liberal patronage during my stay in Chatham, I can assure them in future of getting even better work done by me than in the past. For the greater facilities, greater will be the results. I have just procured at a great expense the very latest improvements in apparatus, I keep on hand a large stock of pictures, such as Oil paintings, Chromos, and Motos. Also a very large stock of picture frames and mouldings. Pictures framed in any style desired, with but short notice and prices to suit the times. I do not wish as I am the only photographer here to exact unreasonably high prices. Old faded likenesses and pictures that have been taken by inexperienced workmen, can be renewed by me, enlarged and finished in Ink, Oil, Water Colors or Crayon. Rooms—Opposite Masonic Hall.

EMIGRATION TO MANITOBA AND THE CANADIAN NORTHWEST.

Sale of Lands.

To encourage the rapid settlement of the country, the Canadian Pacific railway company will be prepared to sell further notice, to sell lands for agricultural purposes at the low price of $2.50 an acre, payable by instalments, and will further make an allowance by way of rebate from this price of $1.25 for every acre of such lands brought under cultivation within three to five years following the date of purchase, according to the nature and extent of the other improvements made thereon.

The lands thus offered for sale will not comprise Mineral, Coal or Wood lands, or tracts for Town sites and Railway purposes.

Contracts at special rates will be made for lands required for cattle raising and other purposes not involving immediate cultivation. Intending settlers and their effects, on reaching the Company's Railway will be forwarded thereon to their place of destination on very liberal terms.

Further particulars will be furnished on application at the Offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, at Montreal and Winnipeg.

Desecrating the Sabbath.

On Sunday afternoon the steam tug "St. George," owned by Mr. M. P. Goulet, made fast to the bark "Sinker," and proceeded down the river with her to sea. There was no necessity about the case.

Sheriff's Jury at Newcastle

Muirhead vs. Snowball. This is a case of replevin, and arises out of logs cut by one Colpeau on Benous, and seized by Mr. Snowball. The case occupied the jury Monday and Tuesday. Mr. L. J. Tweedie for plaintiff, Mr. Davidson for defendant. Case on also today.

Washing Space.

The News publishes another foolish letter sent to it by a very foolish writer, concerning hemlock bark, and the Surveyor General. If the News really knew how little such letters as these troubled the Surveyor General, or what little attention any person of common sense pays to them, it would most assuredly not waste its space giving them publicity.

First Trout.

As usual the first sea trout of the season were caught and brought to Chatham this spring again by Mr. T. F. Keary, and Mr. J. Ruddock. They left here Saturday morning, went to Bartibogue and in the evening brought in several beautiful fish. Later on they will take their amphibious vehicle, described before in the Star, for a weeks fishing.

Suit for Libel.

It is said that Mr. Colpitts, photographer, of Chatham, has entered an action for libel against the editor of a weekly paper at Chatham, for certain disrespectful publications. Libels might be proven against the editor of the sheet referred to, almost every week, but the game is not worth the powder, and this fact has saved him many a time.—St. John News.

Lobsters on P. E. I.

We have been making enquiries of a gentleman interested in the lobster fishery on P. E. I. and learn that there are no less than 200 factories putting up lobsters there this summer. There are here spawners lobsters are the greatest prey. Mr. Whitecher in his sagacious wisdom will not doubtfully live to see the lobster fishery wiped out in the Maritime Provinces. That will be a relief to him, because he will then not be worried with lobster regulations. Mr. Whitecher is a great injury to the fisheries of these Provinces.

LABOR TROUBLES IN NEWCASTLE.

A boss discharges a revolver three times among the men.

On Sunday the news reached here that a labor riot had taken place the evening before, on the premises of Messrs Stewart in Newcastle, and that one of the bosses there had fired a revolver among the men. We sent a Star reporter Monday morning to ascertain the facts which are as follows:—

On arriving at the Stewart premises, on Monday, our reporter found all the carriers employed by the firm, sitting around the wharf. Two Norwegian barques, the "Allette" and "Cala," lay there, but there was nothing doing about them. He enquired of the men why they sat about the wharf, and they said they had struck. On asking their reason they said they struck because they had not received a wage treatment. One of the men then told the story for the rest to our reporter.

"From the first we expected to have our pay cut down this summer because from the first the manoeuvring going on, it was plain to see that something like it was intended. We talked among each other about it, and concluded that if we were paid anything decent or served like other men, we would not strike. 'You know,' said he to our reporter, 'it does not suit a man with 7 or 8 mouths to feed, to lose two or three days, or one day, by a strike, and it is only when we are regarded as mere slaves who ought to have nothing to say about the wages we should get, that we think of resisting. Depending as we are upon the ship work to support our families, we cannot be too independent; and our employers see this, and take advantage of it. However, we have all strong arms, and though we did lose work for a time, we were determined on standing up for our rights. On Saturday morning, therefore, we went to the office and said we wanted an increase on the dollar and forty cents a day we were getting, and if we did not get more we would stop working. We were told that was our pay and we would get no more.'

Rep.—"Is the $1.40 below the wages given to ship laborers by other firms?"

"Yes, if other firms paid only this, we would not have complained. We demanded the same as they pay at the Ritchie concern, and that is from $1.60 to $1.80 a day. Down at Chatham they pay $1.80 a day. Why should we get less. Are we not as well worth $1.80 as other men? We again made the demand, it was again refused, and we said then we had struck. This was early on Saturday. Later in the day we had all standing on the deal wharf, and made another demand for a raise. This was done in a quiet but firm manner. There was no disturbance, no noise, and no one made any threats.—Frazier then, who is the boss here, came down swinging a revolver in his hand, and swore he would shoot the first man who would go down to the ships. One of the men said he did not care for him or his revolver, whereupon the fellow, Frazier, fired his pistol three times some ten feet among the feet of the men. The men felt some pity, and no little contempt for Frazier, who has only to do as he is told, or they would have pitched himself and his little pistol over the wharf. Such a person is not fit to have charge of a revolver, much less of a lot of men. I suppose he will be arrested in a day or two for the offense which is pretty serious. A spiteful fellow like him is not fit to have a pistol, and he ought to be fined, and his shooting iron impounded; and both will happen, if the authorities only do their duty. I hope policeman Cassidy will not forget this. The shots did not harm anybody."

Rep.—"Why I thought the Stewart firm never had any trouble with their men?"

"We have no fault to find with the Stewart firm; and if the Stewarts themselves were here, this kind of thing would not be going on. We always believed and believe yet, the Stewart firm is one of the very best in the Province, but it is the agency of the firm we complain about. Why doesn't the Star show up the management of the firm here, that the Messrs. Stewart's may have their eyes opened?"

Rep.—"The Star will do what is just and right between both sides. I am here now to get a report of what you say and publish it. Speaking for the Star now, I may say to you, that I think the time has come when both sides of the story should be heard, and the rights of the workingmen be recognized. Where the workingman is oppressed, believe me the Star will not be silent. We do not counsel strikes, but just demands, and firm, lawful and uncompromising resistance to oppression. The scale has too long been uneven,—the workmen accounted as nothing. It is time now it were balanced."

"I know the Star has not hesitated to speak in the interests of the workingmen,—and none of them is ungrateful of it."

Rep.—"Well what do you propose to do now?"

"To hold out till our demand is granted. Joyce says he will send men from Nelson and Chatham to oppose the strike. Why did he not send to Chatham or Nelson for men last spring? He advertised for millions all through Prince Edward Island, and if he could get strangers, he would not give a cent to a Miramichi man. He thought when he got the Island men here, they would work for anything he felt inclined to give them. Ought Miramichi be proud of Mr. Joyce, and oughtn't the Island men be thankful to him? I think the Chatham men and

LABOR TROUBLES IN NEWCASTLE.

A boss discharges a revolver three times among the men.

It is reported that the ship men of the same firm working at Nelson will also strike. It is a pity at this season of the year, with times good, and men making only what seems reasonable demands, to have strikes occurring. A strike is so much time lost. The strikers suffer by a loss of pay for the time, and the employer likewise suffers. It is to be regretted that a firm so widely respected as Messrs Stewart's should through the mismanagement of subordinates, fall into evil repute.

More "Exodus."

Mr. Chas. Smith, a large lumber operator for Guy, Bevan & Co., has also left this country, on account of the "terrel N. P." Mr. Smith left suddenly, taking with him $5,000 and leaving all his men's wages unpaid. Smith had a contract with Guy, Bevan & Co. to get out logs by the thousand, and he drew upwards of $5,000 to pay driving wages. On Sunday last he left Fredericton, his wife being very ill at the time, and drove to Woodstock, where he, it is said, sold his horse and wagon to Mr. Glidden, and took the train for the West. Mrs. Smith died on Tuesday. Their son was at work on the drive, and on hearing of his mother's death, he went to Newcastle to get money to come home, but on finding his father had drawn it all, he was obliged to borrow enough from his fellow workmen to come home with. Mrs. Smith was buried yesterday. Nobody suspected anything was wrong until after Mrs. Smith's death, when enquiries were made as to her husband's whereabouts, and the foregoing facts came to light. Mr. Smith is probably now in Leadville, and the grim chronicle of Exodus once more sharpens his pencil and tallies one against the N. P.

STAR BRIEFS

The army worm is moving towards our provinces.

Several salmon have been already caught up river.

It is said Mr. Doucet, the new Sheriff of Gloucester, can get no "securities."

A large number of hands are at work on the Barlustr Church, which is progressing nicely.

Capt. Thomas Quigley left for St. John Monday night, to take charge of the bark "Annie Troop."

Mr. John Menzies of the North West has been awarded the contract for rebuilding the Bay du Vin bridge.

Mr. John Davidson of Newcastle, took the first prize for throwing the ball at the Fredericton University sports—says the Advocate.

Mr. Chas. Smith, referred to elsewhere, in absconding, forgot to square some accounts he owed some of our Miramichi people.

Pilot George Sutton of the pilot boat "Spy," spoke on Tuesday at St. Paul the British Bark "Adept," Capt. Morrison, bound for Quebec which wished to be reported.

W. S. Loggie & Co., have sold all their preserved lobsters, on the way to English markets, for £1 currency per case. The usual sales are from 18s to 19s cy. Messrs Loggie made a lucky stroke.

Mr. Robert Murdoch, late clerk in the employ of Mr. Wm. Murray, leaves here on Thursday for Hamilton, Ont., where he intends going through a course of commercial studies. Mr Murdoch is one of our first class young men and we wish him every success.

Advices received from Gaspé state that salmon nets were set on the 16th instant, a few fish only being caught since. The fish are very large, averaging from 22 to 30 lb. Codfishing has just commenced. Herrings are plentiful, and large quantities are being taken. Lobster fishing is very good on the coast of Baie des Chaleurs, but the lobsters are of small size compared to last year.

An I. C. R. brakeman Dickie was seriously assaulted at Coal Branch one day last week. Dickie runs on Con. Locky's train between Moncton and Coal Branch. At Newcastle, coming down on the day in question a dozen or more young men got aboard for Coal Branch. On the way, one of them commenced to insult a couple of ladies, passengers on board, when Mr. Dickie, as an officer on the train, interposed and compelled the party to desist. At Coal Branch the ruffians approached Dickie, who was standing freight, and after a word or two commenced a violent assault, biting one of his fingers nearly off, and also biting himself to good advantage, however, barring the cannibalistic propensities of his assailant. He is now off duty on account of his injuries: so says the Times.

A vessel bound to Miramichi abandoned at sea.

Captain Logan of the bark "Moris" arrived at Quebec on Sunday, reports May 10th, 6 p. m. in longitude 39-20, latitude 49. 15, during a gale took off the crew of the barque "Marathon" of Belfast, Ireland, bound to Miramichi and put them six days afterwards on board the "S. S. Tunstall," bound to Sydney, C. B. and Montreal. The "Marathon" when abandoned was water-lagged, the mud ballast having choked the pumps. The sea was making a clean breach over her and Captain and crew were in an exhausted condition when rescued.

A TOUR THROUGH IRELAND.

THE EARL OF ENNISKILLEN AND HIS TENANTS.

A WICKED AGENT—ONE SMITH.

SPREAD OF THE LAND LEAGUE—AND SAMPLE GRIEVANCES.

Honor to whom Honor is Due.

(From Cor. Montreal "Witness.")

It seems a great pity that the attachment between the Earl of Enniskillen and his tenants should suffer interruption or be in danger of passing away. The Earl, now an old man, was much beloved by his people, until, in a day evil like for him and his tenants, he got a new agent from the County Sligo. Since this agent came on the property, re-valuation, rent raising, vexatious office rules have been the order of things on the estate. The result of this new state of things has been the Land League has spread among the tenants like wildfire. To hear of the Land League spreading among the Enniskillen Orangemen, among the Earl's tenants, of dissatisfaction creeping in between these tenants historically loyal and attached to a family who had been their chiefs and landlords for centuries was surprising to me. To convince me that such was the case I was requested to listen to one of the Earl's tenants reciting the story of his grievances at the hands of the Earl's agent. It was a sample case, I was told, and would explain WHY THE PEOPLE JOINED THE LAND LEAGUE.

It was pleasant enough to have an opportunity of going into the country and to have an opportunity of seeing the farms and the style of living of the Donegal farmers, as compared with the Donegal highlands. The Salvation Army has occupied Enniskillen for a time. It is said they have done some good among the lower classes. What with the Land League and religious agitation, I should say that Enniskillen is as much excited as is good for it. Crossing the market place I heard one of the lady officers of the Salvation Army address a crowd who listened very attentively and seemed much impressed. Her address was a passionate appeal to the fears of her audience. The country out of Enniskillen is very pretty, the hedges here leaved out and the trees are beginning lazily to unfold their leaves. The roads are not near so good as the roads in Donegal, which are a legacy from the dreary famine time, being made then. The hedges are not by any means so trim and well kept as the hedges by the wayside in Down or Antrim. The roads up to the farm houses are lanes, such as I remember when I was a child. The nuisances of dunghills near the doors of the farmhouses are utterly abolished for sanitary reasons, also whitewashing is an obligation imposed by the Government. For these improvements I have heard the authorities both praised and thanked.

In these times of discontent it is well to see the Government thanked for anything. The country is hilly and the hills have a uniform round topped appearance, marked off into fields that run up to the hill tops and over them down the other side. There are of course mountains in the distance, wrapped in a thick veil of blue haze. The house to which I was bound was, like most of the farm houses, long, narrow, whitewashed, a room at each end and the kitchen in the middle. I will now let the farmer tell his grievance in his own words.

He is about sixty years of age, a professor of religion of the Methodist persuasion, an Orangeman, and a hereditary tenant of Lord Enniskillen, and now an enthusiastic adherent of the Land League.

"In 1844 I bought this farm—two years before I was married. There is 17 acres. I paid £184 as tenant right—that is, for the good will of it. The rent was £19 7s 4d. I should have gone to America then; it would have been better for me. I have often rued that I did not go, but, you see, I was attached to the place. My forebears kindled the first fire that ever was kindled on the land I live on. I held my farm on a lease for three lives; two were gone when I bought it. I have been a hard-working man, and a sober man. There is not a man in the country has been a greater slave to work than I have been. I drained this place (etches down a map of the little holding to show the drains). I sowed with drains; 11 acres out of 17 acres are drained, the drains twenty one feet apart and three feet deep. Drove stumps for the drains two miles. £100 would not at all pay me for the draining I have done. I built a parlor end to my house, and a kitchen; also, a dairy, barn, byre, stable and pig house. Every year I have bought and drawn in from Ennis killen from sixty to one hundred loads of manure for my farm; this calculation is inside of the amount; I have told here year after year, and raised a family in credit and decency. When the last life in my lease died, my rent was immediately raised to £27 10s. I paid this for a few years, and then the seasons were bad, and I fell behind. It was not a fair rent, but was the reason I was unable to pay it. I complained of the rent. I wanted it fixed by arbitration; that was refused. I asked for arbitration to decide what compensation I had a right to, and I would leave; that was refused too. I was served with a writ of ejectment. The rent was lowered a pound at two different times, but the law expenses connected with the writ came to more than the reduction given. I had the privilege, along with others, of cutting turf on a bog attached to the place at the time I held

JAMES A. HAY,

CARRIAGE BUILDER,

Light Driving waggons, C. noorl, Piano Bows, Express Carts etc. Trimming and repairing a speciality. Best stock kept always on hand. Come and inspect.

I have also the sole right to use Young's New Axle Cutter

Patented in the United States and Dominion of Canada. We would call the attention of all owners of carriages or waggons to this Machine and the benefits derived from its use. All wagon axles after being two or more years in use become worn till they become loose, requiring the use of leather washers to take up the lateral play; the washers soon filling with sand, cause the axles to wear much faster, until the axle is soon raised, or nearly so.

THE REMEDY. By the aid of this very simple machine the shoulder for the axle nut is cut back and the thread extended, allowing the nut to be screwed forward, causing the wheel to turn as evenly as when new. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere. A Paint shop is in connection with the Factory. Orders respectfully solicited and satisfaction guaranteed. Chatham, March 14 '81

PROTECTION IN ENGLAND

(Mail)

Many English journals, in consequence of the new French tariff, admit that the time is drawing nigh when the Imperial Government will have to deal with the question of foreign bounties. Mr. Hugh-ley, the Conservative member for Manchester, observing the perils of the British manufacturer is being forced into by reason of the adoption elsewhere of protective duties, intends to move in the Commons for a committee to inquire into the influence of foreign tariffs on the trade and commerce of the United Kingdom; and it is not at all improbable that free-traders will have the policy which some have already propounded, of "correcting the ideas of foreigners by weighting their products with imports sufficient to countervail illegitimate advantages secured under protective tariffs and bounties." This, of course, though a high-sounding sentence, simply means retaliation.

There is a difficulty in the way of offering France concessions which will induce the Government of that country to reduce its tariff. It is this: The new French tariff imposes specific duties calculated to give the French manufacturer a protection of twenty-five per cent. against English goods. If England was in a position to make concessions to France, France might in return make concessions to England. But England has no concessions to make in order to purchase the compliance of France to the principles of free trade. Great Britain has given already every tariff advantage she can give to France, and in asking for a reduction of the French tariff, she is suing France, as an English journal points out, in forma pauperis.

IRISH RUMORS.

A despatch of the 26th inst., says that "There is a well-grounded rumor to-night that Mr. Forster, who had come to Ireland in a very bad temper, has determined to suppress, for a time at least, all land meetings in Ireland. Five meetings of first-class importance are announced for Sunday, and the attitude of the authorities is watched with some anxiety. Although protected by six hundred troops and police, a process-server at Gungoslin, county Leitrim, was foiled in the attempt to serve processes on some of Lord Annesley's tenants by the threatening attitude of the people. All is quiet in county Limerick. The authorities have not yet intimated when they will renew the attempt to carry out evictions at New Pallas and Killmallock.
