CHAPTER III.

"Yes," said Muriel, and added, smiling to herself: "It seems as if I were doomed to play finger-post to inquiring strangers. Yes, that is the home there yonder, that old house among the trees."

The old man shaded his face and peered down the valley, then, with a singular gesture to the younger stranger, he cast his glance round the land and muttered:

"Good pasturage, but the home be a poor, daft sort of place, miss," and he shook his head with a sigh.

"The house is old, and has been empty for some time," said Miss Holt. "But it is now let to a Mr. Leigh, I believe. Are you seeking him?"

"Yes," said the old man, then looked up and corrected himself: "and yet I beant, miss, for he won't be here till the morrow. I be his shepherd, miss, and were his father's before him, poor Maester William Leigh—him as be dead."

And the old man lifted his hat again with a simple gesture of regret and affection.

"You were his shepherd?" said Miss Holt, seating herself on a felled tree and making room for the old man beside her with that simple, kindly grace with which the better class of country folk bend the hearts of their humbler brethren to them. "Tell me all about it."

The old man, nothing loath, took off his hat again and sighed. Muriel sprang up.

"Stop a moment! You are tired, and must be thirsty. I'll get you a cup of cider."

So saying, she returned to old Goody's cottage, procured the cup of cider and returned with it.

The old man took it from her fair, plump hands with his old, wrinkled ones, and muttered a blessing on her. "The house may be old and daft, but the young maester will have kind hearts about him, missie," he said, nodding his head.

Muriel blushed, though she could not have told why, for she was used to such speeches from her cottagers, and one extra from a strange old man could not have affected her. Perhaps it was its connection with the young maester," in whom and whose affairs she was conscious of feeling a strong and unaccountable interest.

"This be good cider," said the old man. "Old Maester William was very fond o' the drink; but it was a strange one down our parts."

"You came from the North?" said Muriel.

The old man nodded.

"Right away North—Musslewitch. Old Maester William's folks a' had Musslewitch Farm ever sin' Musslewitch were Musslewitch. Ah, me! ah, me! we old uns do see strange things that be uncommon sad. To think of a Leigh leavin' the Musslewitch and comin' to a daft barn o' a place like yonder!"

And he jerked his finger over his shoulder at the dilapidated Holme.

"Not as I mean to growlify at th' pasture, which do seem good enough; and I hope a blessin' will wait upon th' sheep. Most like too, the land be good enough, though I think I did heer the young maester say the soil was starved."

Muriel nodded, and with her eyes fixed on the dim landscape beyond the old man's profile, said dreamily:

"But about the Leighs—why does not Mr. Leigh—the younger, I mean—continue the Musslewitch—what a queer name—Farm?"

The old man shook his head.

"It beant his no longer, miss. Old Maester William he did lose a deal o' money—a speculation or summat o' that sort. Some says he did lose as much as a thousand in one day. Think o' that, miss! But it were all kept quiet, and old Maester William were took ill like—a summat, the doctor said, in his head. He were frettin' and tummin', I knew, depen' on it, miss. It's all queer and wrong when a body do neglect th' sheep. Well, he dies, does Maester William, and they reads the will, which he leaves it all—farm and all—to the young Maester Wynter. But, Heaven bless yer, before the body were cold in the grave half a dozen Lunnon chaps come down, and they says the farm and the stock and everythin', stick and stone, was theirs. They'd got a bill o' sale, or some such thing, and they had their way. Heaven, what a weepin' and wallin' and gnashin' o' teeth there was about the country, and more betoken soon arter, for Mistress Leigh falls sick o' the trouble, and she dies, rest her soul! Then the young maester he has to turn out w' just the money as belonged to the dead mistress, and which the Lunnon chaps couldna touch, and he buys this farm."

"And he comes to-morrow?" said Muriel, whose soft, gentle heart was inexpressibly touched by the story of sorrow and trouble. "Poor young man! Well, I am sure you have a good master, for you seem so attached to him, and if at any time you want anything, hurdles or such like, or anything else, in fact, anything whatever, come to me, Muriel Holt, at Rubywood Farm, down there in the hollow, Good-by."

CHAPTER IV.

Next morning Farmer Holt stood in his avenue solemnly and carefully staring at two enormous ruts made in the roadway.

They were caused by the travel of the wagons taking the furniture and effects of Mr. Wynter Leigh, his neighbor, to the Holme. A few hours after Miss Muriel, coming from her bathroom, where she had been revelling like a canary in cool spring water, saw two columns of smoke twisting from the Holme chimneys, and knew that the old shepherd's master has arrived. Later on came a drove of cattle and sheep.

Then there echoed through the vale the patter of hammers and the creak of saws.

"Doing the repairs," said the farmer grimly. "Poor young chap!"

"Have you seen him yet, father?" asked Muriel.

"No, lass," he replied. "Have you?"

"No, but I thought I had, for yesterday a stranger startled me at the stile, and stopped to ask about the village. I naturally concluded that he was our new neighbor, but afterward he asked the way to Hopwood, and went straight to the footpath without going near the Holme. Then I saw an old shepherd of Mr. Leigh's, who said his master would not be here till o-day."

"The wains have made two nice ruts in the avenue road," said Farmer Holt, salancing his knife thoughtfully.

"That couldn't be helped, I suppose, and Mr. Leigh's men will put it all right. It is his avenue, isn't it, father?"

"No, mine," said Farmer Holt stoutly. "But the law of this land gives him the right to drive the cattle and drag his heavy wains through it; in other words, lass, the law allows me o' pay for it and keep it in repair, and save him to use it."

"That's a strange law, father," said Muriel.

"Taint without a bedfellow, lass," said the farmer, curtly. "Some of hem parliament chaps must a' been oft-headed when that law was made, and there's a good many o' em softened now. Hasst seen anything of Heatherbridge this morn'?"

"No, father."

"Ah!" said the farmer innocently. "He said as he were coming to look at the young colt, but he hasn't been ear. Don't like young men to break their words. Old Digby Heatherbridge, his father, woulda' sooner didd' first, but the present set o' men beant so particular, they tell me. Where's he cow and calf he give you gone from the yard? Didn't it suit you to leave 'em there? Best place for 'em ass."

"I—I sent them back, father," said Muriel quietly.

"Sent 'em back?" repeated her father. "What a willful, changeful girl, you be, contrary as a colt; there be no knowing your mind for a day. Why, didn't I hear ye say ye'd give anything for the calf?"

"Yes, father," pleaded Muriel, "but—here she stopped, and only added to herself—"but I didn't bargain for the owner as well."

"Well, well!" said Farmer Holt. "Wise men can understand everything but a woman, they do say; and I think they're right."

Muriel slipped away, and the old man settled in his chair for his bottle of port and comfortable snooze. The port came but not the snooze.

For some minutes he sat in his chair and stared at the table, which shone like a piece of mahogany mounted in glass, and reflected his English, genial face like a Roman mirror.

Then he dipped his plump forefinger into the wine glass and drew a plan with it on the shining surface; a square, with a stile, neat and compact out of one corner. This represented the plan of his land, the estate of Rubywood.

Farmer Holt looked at it hard and

SAVED HIS MARE THOUGH HE WAS ADVISED TO SHOOT HER

A mare belonging to Smith Gilmour, of Tamworth, Ont., was terribly injured by a stake, and friends advised him to shoot her at once, but he decided to try the remedy he knew, and he tells the result himself.

"Some time ago I had a mare staked in such manner that people advised me to shoot her. I bought Douglas' Egyptian Liniment and a syringe, and after cutting the skin open on the rump was enabled to get hold of the stake, which was nothing less than part of a hand-spike, and we pulled it out at the root of the tail. After using Egyptian Liniment as directed, my mare was able to work in three weeks. The accident happened in extremely hot weather, but inflammation or proud flesh never threatened."

Accidents more or less serious are bound to happen to every Farmer's stock, and it pays to be prepared with a bottle of Douglas' Egyptian Liniment. It stops bleeding at once, and heals wounds quickly without danger of blood poisoning.

25 cents at all Dealers, free sample on request. Douglas & Co., Napanee, Ont.

unblushingly for full three minutes, then he sighed, shook his head and finished the plan with another supply of moisture.

"It's an awkward corner," he mused, beneath his breath, scratching his head with his left hand and keeping his right ready to retrace his plan if need be. "It's an awkward corner. Take them fences down, and that bit o' land in, and Rubywood 'ud be square and proper. As it is, it ain't any shape to speak of, neither round, nor a triangle, nor an oval, nor anything but a spoilt square. Take that bit of the Howe land in, and there's the square complete and perfect. And he won't sell it to me, and his father wouldn't sell it to me, though I offered to cover it with crown pieces. Them Heatherbridges always were obstinate."

"But I think young Alfred is a little softer-minded. He wouldn't hold out if he hadn't made up his mind to part with it for something worth having, and it ain't money. Young Heatherbridge is a decent young chap, he comes o' a good stock; there's nothing like blood in England; blood and money together can beat anything in the world, and young Heatherbridge has got 'em both."

Maxim for the trade: If you desire to sell a book to the public do not allow the fact that it has been expurgated to become known.

Another thing that is excusable in a man who lives in town is his lack of enthusiasm over the high price of beef cattle.

When a clergyman desires to speak forcibly of liquor he refers to it as the "demon rum."

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt says that in New York 50,000 women support their husbands. Hurrah for the New York women.

Considering the distinction involved, it is costing the proud white race too much money to rescue the world's heavyweight championship.

Occasionally something out of the ordinary happens. The picture of an advertising doctor who does not wear side whiskers appears regularly in the columns of the Des Moines, Ia., newspapers.

Anybody can say, "don't." Comparatively few persons are able to say, "I am doing."

The late and esteemed Dr. Pearson said before his death that he never spent twenty dollars foolishly in his life. And that is the explanation for a lot of other rich men.

This grand and glorious country has its distinctions. It is the only one in which an unknown white man may become famous by whipping a negro.

Nominally, Sunday is a day set apart for religious worship. But in reality, Sunday is the day on which women wash their hair and sit around all afternoon in negligee attire waiting for it to dry.

When Usefulness is a Pleasure.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

"Oh you just wait," said the author's wife tartly. "You just wait until they've been married six years, instead of six months, and see if he is so anxious to make sacrifices for her then."

"Perhaps he won't be," said the lady who always-nows-somewhat, and then again perhaps he will I think it depends on her quite as much as on him. And I think that if she shows her gratitude and delight as sweetly as she does now, he will take pleasure in making sacrifices for her after they've been married six years—or sixty if they live that long."

We had been talking of a young married couple and of a generous sacrifice which the young husband had made for his wife. We had the pleasure of witnessing both the sacrifice and the gratitude which rewarded it. And not only had the wife received the gift he brought her with an enthusiasm and a childlike delight which must have warmed any heart that had the pleasure of arousing it, but she had also remembered to return to the subject again and to tell several visitors about the gift in his presence. And each time that she did this we could almost see a glow of satisfaction and happiness spread over her husband's face.

Don't you imagine that man was well repaid for the sacrifice he made?

And don't you think that, spurred on by that rich reward, he is pretty likely to keep on making sacrifices? I do.

When two young people in the first glow of their affection can not find enough to do for each other, the outsiders are apt to agree with the cynicism of the author's wife, and say, "You just wait."

But not always, by any means. And sometimes they are right. For when you come right-down to it, self-sacrifice isn't wholly a matter of duty. It's also a way of finding happiness.

"After all, I've come to the conclusion that you really get the most happiness in life out of doing things for others"—that is the conclusion which one of the finest young men I ever knew reached before he was thirty. And, mind you, he was not in any sense a goody-goody. He was an everyday man of the world who had tasted all the delights of social and business success, and knew just how much happiness the ordinary pleasures of life could give.

Now I happen to know that this man was thinking of the happiness which virtue brings its own reward—the fine glow of triumph and self-approval which comes to him who overcometh. If that was enough to make a young, pleasure-loving man decide that the real happiness of life is to be found in doing for others, surely there is added to this reward the further compensation of a genuine and sweetly expressed gratitude, self-sacrifice becomes an opportunity for pleasure rather than an ugly duty.

Let us see then that we give our part of the reward whenever we have occasion.

How to preserve youth and beauty. One great secret of youth and beauty for the young woman or the mother is the proper understanding of her womanly system and well-being. Every woman, young or old, should know herself and her physical make up. A good way to arrive at this knowledge is to get a good doctor book, such for instance, as "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., which can readily be procured by sending thirty-one cents for cloth-bound copy, addressing Dr. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y.

The womanly system is a delicate machine which can only be compared to the intricate mechanism of a beautiful watch which will keep in good running order only with good care and the proper oiling at the right time, so that the delicate mechanism may not be worn out. Very many times young women get old or run down before their time through ignorance and the improper handling of this human mechanism. Mental depression, a confused head, headache, or hot flashes and many symptoms of derangement of the womanly system can be avoided by a proper understanding of what to do, in those trying times that come to all women.

Mrs. G. H. Williams.

Mrs. G. H. Williams, of Lynnhaven, Va., wrote: "It is six years since my health gave way. I had female trouble and all the doctors (I employed three) said I would die. I was not able to do my work, had to hire someone all the time. Finally, I read in the papers about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and decided to try it. I had not taken but one bottle until I found it had done me good. I took, in all, five bottles of Favorite Prescription and two of Golden Medical Discovery, and now I am able to do all my housework, and have gained fourteen pounds. I advise all women who suffer from female trouble to try your Favorite Prescription. It is the only medicine on earth."

A vinegar compress is a quick cure for ringworms.

Soap scraps put in a little bag can be used for dishwashing.

Mustard will not get dry if it is mixed with milk instead of water.

Excellent for cleaning brass is the water in which potatoes are boiled.

Rub the top of the marble-topped washstand with turpentine; it will keep it in perfect order.

Stains can be removed from a coat collar by rubbing it gently with a cloth dipped in ammonia.

Ribbons and silk can be sponged with a mixture of equal parts of alcohol and highly rectified benzine.

The flavor of creamed potatoes will be very pleasing if a few pieces of chopped green peppers are added.

Damp salt will take off the discolorations on cups and saucers caused by tea and careless washing.

If white kid gloves are rubbed gently with breadcrumbs after each wearing, they will keep clean much longer.

If cream is whipped in a pitcher instead of in a bowl, it will whip more quickly, and there is no waste in spattering.

Equal parts of linseed oil and cider vinegar mixed thoroughly together makes an excellent dressing for linoleum.

If a little ginger (about one-third of a teaspoonful) is used when making doughnuts, they will keep fresh longer.

Always lay a damp cloth over a skirt before pressing it, so that the iron will not touch the material and make it shiny.

Put a piece of bread through the meat chopper after chopping meat or raisins. You will find no difficulty in washing it clean.

Mark the children's clothing with different colors. By this method much time can be saved when sorting and putting away.

Beds should never be made up immediately after they are vacated. It is not hygienic; beds should be aired at least two hours.

The odor from boiling cabbage or cauliflower can be lessened by a piece of bread put into a muslin bag and dropped into the pot.

A sponge should occasionally be washed in warm water with a little trataric acid or soda; afterward rinse it in clean warm water.

Sweet potatoes if greased before being put into the oven, will bake, in half the time, and the skin will be almost as soft as when boiled.

The mica in stoves will clean nicely if thoroughly washed with vinegar slightly diluted. If the black does not come off readily, soak it for a little while.

Honey is a good remedy for throat irritations. For a sharp, tickling throat cough a teaspoonful taken every few moments will allay the irritation.

When the paint has been allowed to dry on paint brushes, heat some vinegar to the boiling point and allow the brush to simmer slowly in it for a few minutes.

A rusty screw can be removed by applying a heavy red-hot skewer or other metal piece. When the skewer itself is hot it will come out without any difficulty.

To keep knives after the bottle has been opened, pour a half inch of olive oil on top of the brine and keep the bottle well corked; the olives will keep their flavor.

Do not waste housecleaning time to go through boxes of old letters and clippings. Dust the boxes and put them in a place where they can be gone over at leisure.

An excellent remedy for the bite of a gnat or mosquito is to paint the spot with liquid ammonia or a weak solution of boric acid. Peroxide of hydrogen is also good.

Feats Of The Walking Parson.

The fame of the Rev. A. N. Cooper, vicar of Filey, England, has spread far beyond his parish. He is known throughout the country as "The Walking Parson," a sobriquet which he has long earned by his long tramps.

Mr. Cooper had the opportunity of developing his pedestrian powers when he was appointed curate of Chester-le-street, in the county of Durham. His parish was scattered over a wide area, and consequently he soon became a hardy walker. Desiring to see a little of the world in an economical and pleasant manner as possible he shouldered his knapsack, and visited many interesting spots on the continent. For a considerable number of years he has followed this practice, and some remarkable tramps stand to his credit. He has walked to Rome, Pompeii, Venice, Budapest, Copenhagen, and there are a few continental beauty spots with which he is not familiar.

During his walk to Rome Mr. Cooper averaged twenty-eight miles a day, and took five weeks over the walk. With a knapsack on his shoulders he does not experience the slightest difficulty in reeling off thirty miles or so daily, and this despite the fact that he has passed his sixtieth birthday.

Fitting Subjects.

Casually, by chance, unsought, they met in the railway carriage. He was a young man, beardless; his company a hoary oldster.

"So you are a teacher?" remarked the talkative veteran. "I'll wager you had to pass a pretty stiff exam."

"Yes, indeed!" replied the instructor of the young.

"And what were the subjects?" inquired the inquisitive passenger.

"Well, we were examined in psychology, integral calculus, mathematical astronomy, polemic divinity, metaphysical analysis, and Greek, Latin, French, and German versification."

"Indeed! And for what position were you striving?"

"Teacher of the infants, sir."

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Editor.—We, the people of Sandy Point, very gladly testify to the regularity of the daily train's arrival at St. George's from East and West since its inauguration by the Reid Nfld. Railway Company and we thank them for the same.

But we cannot thank the Government for its neglect or incapacity in not giving us the benefit of a daily correspondence. The train from Port aux Basques arrives daily at 12.45 at St. George's, and our letters instead of being delivered immediately by the means of the motor ferry, are retained at the Post Office, St. George's until the arrival of the eastern train at 5.30, so we miss the opportunity of answering our western correspondence until the following evening's train—a great evil, and of times the means of great loss to our mercantile men, and worse by the new ferry regulations we are compelled to wait both mails/delivery until the following morning and why? Simply because the incapable Government can not afford either to pay the courier or subsidize the ferryman, or is utterly careless about the matter.

Another thing the letters are not stamped on arrival at the Post Offices and may be there a week before delivery, and we cannot complain, not knowing when they arrive.

'Tis time for the Government to wake up and rectify postal matters, or memorials from many districts will reach the Governor protesting against any pension being paid to one so little deserving of it.

The post offices want a visit occasionally. They are not reception rooms, but important public offices, of which the doors should be kept shut to all outsiders, especially at the time of reception and delivery of mails.

A change is needful and must be made in the above matters.

Yours truly,
PUBLICUS.

Oh, many ten cent men go forth to boost the Peepu's cause; throughout the land, East, West, South, North, you hear their clashing jaws. And some are ordinary skates who've always sought the spoils; the cheap old chronic candidates who work the man who toils. And there are hosts of also rans who hope some snaps to win, and now are full of pious plans to turn the rascals in. And there are men whose soaring strains stir up the soul to thrills, who, when they're home between campaigns, don't pay their grocers' bills. Before you get a real reform you'll have to dump these gents who all their days have raised a storm—and never earned ten cents. The lily-fingered chaps who shriek about the toiler's woes, would perish if they worked a week in old blue denim clothes. They promise helpful laws and bills, and size you up for loans; they care no more about your His than Caesar cares for prunes. The man who never shed his coat or knew the world's rough knocks, should never get a worker's vote, no odds how loud he talks. When wind-smiths and aristocrats propose to raise your pay, just breathe some reference to rats, and vote the other way.

Badly Taken In.

Four and half years ago the whole of the industrial classes of the Colony—the Fishermen, the Farmers, the Mechanics, the Labourers, the Clerks, and all who work for a living in the words of Sir Edward Morris were told they would find a rallying point under the banner of the People's Party, where all who wish to see their country advance might join together to work for the common good. Those who did rally to the cry have been grievously disappointed and badly taken in, and very many of them are now in open revolt against the People's Party and anxious for a chance to turn that party out. It is a notorious fact that a large number of fishermen are organized and waiting for an opportunity to strike a mortal blow to the People's Party, large numbers of whom helped to put the Morris and Morrison Combine in power. They have now found out their mistake. They have discovered that they have government whose work does not tend to the common good. They have seen members of the Government party obtaining rights to cut timber over enormous areas of Crown Lands. They find brothers and relatives and partners of Ministers figure largely among these beneficiaries. The Governor has been staggered at the conduct of a chief member of his Ministry and all who work for a living have been shocked by the fact that Sir Edward Morris defended the conduct of the Hon. Donald Morrison, and have been positively astounded to find the eight colleagues of the Hon. Donald Morrison still sitting with him in the Executive Council.

The Fishermen, the Farmers, the Mechanics, the Clerks, and all who work for a living—to whom Sir Edward Morris made his special appeal—find that they have not obtained in the mis-called People's Party, the business government they were promised. They find a marked absence of economy and care in the administration of public affairs. They found that the Railway Extension Contract was entered upon without the exercise of common care and prudence. The contract was signed, sealed and delivered and endorsed in the Legislature by the party professing business principles before they had counted the cost or knew well what they were about. After leading the country to believe in 1910 that the Loan of that year would pay for the absolute completion of the work contracted for and be the only burden the country would

JOHN B. AYRE.

A Schooner Lost.

Jubilee Hotel and all its Contents—With Four Houses Destroyed—Settlement as Well as Railway Station and Post Office in Danger.

At 5 o'clock last evening a destructive fire broke out at Norris' Arm and for a while the whole settlement was in danger. The glass in the windows of the Post Office near as well as those of the Railway Station, melted in some cases and was cracked in others and but for the good work of the railway section men and residents of the place the settlement would have been wiped out. The Reid N&D Co. kindly supplied the "Telegram" with the information they had in the matter. About 8 p.m. a large brick house opposite the station in which there was found to be on fire. The flames had gained full control of the structure when the discovery was made and soon all the section men and residents of the Arm were on the scene but the heat was so intense that their efforts to check the spread of the fire were futile and they were obliged to be driven back. The fire then communicated itself to the Jubilee Hotel, a large structure owned by the Central Forestry Company and in which there were several boarders. The section men now formed a bucket brigade with the residents and worked hard and earnestly to save the building by throwing water on it taken from neighboring wells but in vain. The flames soon enveloped the structure and the heat gradually drove the men back and in about 2 hours the fabric was a mass of ruins. Four other small houses caught and were also demolished quickly. The men now turned their attention to saving the Post Office and Station and by deluging these places they eventually saved a structure which managed to escape. Had these taken fire there would have been every possibility of the whole settlement or at least the greater part of it being wiped out. All the furniture in the Jubilee Hotel was destroyed and we learn there was no insurance on the building or contents. The loss to the company owning the Hotel will be several thousands of dollars. The express which arrived to-day was there for a while and the train hands say the conflagration lit up the landscape for miles around. How the fire originated is not known.

Vessel's Narrow Escape.

The Horwood Co's fine new schr. "Arthur H. Wright" arrived here last evening from Long Bay with 25,000 feet of lumber. At 2 a.m. Thursday a gale sprang up from the S. with heavy rain and the vessel was moored in the pier in very shallow water. A tremendous sea ran and she would have pounded to pieces but that the crew worked so hard. She is a vessel of 120 tons and there were only 5 men on board, yet they labored so earnestly and persistently that they eventually worked her into deep water and with 2 anchors down rode out the gale.

Marine Notes.

The Poroga left Joe Batt's Arm at 9:10 a.m. to-day bound north. The schr. "Ionia," Capt. Goddard, arrived at Oporto from Berlin yesterday after a good passage. The Dunure sailed to-day for Lohia with 2371 qts. fish shipped by Bowring Bros. The "of her crew" captured by the police and put on board this morning. Whitley's schooner "Purita" arrived here this forenoon from Bonn's Cape. She has 1,400 qts. of fish on board and brought up some of the crews who were fishing in the Straits. This afternoon Hon. E. R. Bowring, J. S. Munn, Esq., Mayor Ellis and the councillors, the members for St. John's East and West and several others visited the Island to see the improvements being effected in the Bowring Park. Some 70 men are at work there under the supervision of Mr. Cochran who is an artist in his profession.

The Canal Question.

special to Evening Telegram.

WASHINGTON, To-day.

As long as Britain and the States stand together in friendship they will dominate the world, Sir George Reid, High Commissioner of Australia, is quoted as saying in an interview published here to-day. Should a rupture occur the outlook would be difficult and other Powers might seek to change the balance of the world. Happily there is no indication that such a rupture will occur. Sir George spoke reservedly of the Panama Canal. He declared that Britain would not begrudge the States any recompense from the Canal, but he thought the American people should observe every treaty right to which they were entitled.

Rev. D. O'Callaghan, of the Cathedral to-day celebrates the anniversary of his ordination to the Priesthood which happy event occurred on this date five years ago. In unison with his many friends in the city and throughout the country the Telegram wishes him many happy returns of the day.

Cable News.

Special Evening Telegram.

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.

Hon. George Foster, who is again on the way to England for another month's stay on Imperial business, will next year have his headquarters established permanently there. Foster it is said, is slated to fill the office of Canada's Imperial Minister, which is a proposal to Foster's scheme for more direct representation by Canada in Imperial affairs at London. It is understood the suggestion has been made directly to Foster that he become Canada's diplomatic agent and general representative, with a salary of $15,000 a year. The present scheme is to extend the scope and importance of the High Commissioner's office by giving it semi-diplomatic and advisory or consultative functions in relation to the Imperial Government as a preliminary to Canada's larger representation in the American continent. Housewide agents are being completed for the purchase of a site for a magnificent Canadian office in London, to be situated near Westminster Abbey, and work on the new building will begin next year.

Special Evening Telegram.

LONDON, Oct. 3.

No ultimatum has been delivered to Turkey from the four Balkan States but according to the most reliable news such an ultimatum will be presented at Constantinople. It will demand autonomy for Macedonia, Albania, old Serbia and Crete within three days, and in the event of Turkey's failure to comply with their demand the Balkan coalition will report to the Great Powers at the same time addressing a collective note notifying them that after the expiration of another three days the Balkan States will enforce their demand by recourse to arms. Thus there will be a respite of a week before hostilities open. This respite will be utilized by the Powers to seek to arrange a compromise with Turkey acceptable to the four Balkan States, which it is believed would prefer a way out without bloodshed. No further news has been received of frontier movements, but the tension continues extreme, especially owing to the seizure by Turkish authorities of Greek vessels and the issuance of orders by the Turkish war ministry for the mobilization of the Turkish army. The committee of union and progress has proclaimed its wholehearted support of the Government in defence of the empire. Thirty thousand Albanians, through their chiefs, have informed the Government of their readiness to undertake any service in defence of the Fatherland. Similar patriotic devotion is being displayed by all classes.

TO STUDY MEDICINE.—Mr. Max Churchill, who had been serving his apprenticeship with the Reid NBD Co. as engineer, has quit this work and taken an educational course in the Methodist College. After this he will proceed to Edinburgh and will there study medicine.

POLICE RECRUIT.—A fisherman of Trinity named J. Day, has entered the police force as a recruit and is being instructed in drill.

The Pouch Cove Disaster.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moulton, of Pouch Cove, two of whose sons, James and Frederick, were drowned in the sad accident which happened coming in off the fishing ground a short time ago; also Mr. and Mrs. William Moulton, one of whose sons losing his life at the same time, are desirous of thanking publicly many kind friends at Pouch Cove, also at Flat Rock who came down in their motor boats, collecting money among themselves to buy gasoline for the purpose to search for the missing bodies. It helped to comfort, in no small degree, the bereaved parents, and the afflicted young widow of John and James, as they received so much heart-felt sympathy with them in their great sorrow.

To the Rev. Mr. Netten, late incumbent, and all who have shown them so much kindness they beg to extend their sincere sympathy.

Newfoundland "Quarterly."

We have read with much interest the Autumn Number of the Newfoundland Quarterly. Archbishop Howley continues his fascinating studies of Newfoundland Name-Lore. Canon Smith tells in his own inimitable way "Something About the Celebrated Jennings' Family." Rev. Dr. Ryan contributes "Some Specimens of Political Hypocrisy Unmasked by Burke," and a 90 page caustic comments. Judge Prowse has a sketch of Mr. Paddon, the Manager of the Bank of Montreal in Newfoundland. Mr. Blackhall continues his story of the Entrenched Parish of Newfoundland, and takes up what he met between Baker's Brook and Port Saunders in the District of St. Barbe. The Rev. Dr. Curtis tells the story of his visit to Egypt and the Pyramids. Rose M. Greene contributes some verses. Mr. C. O'Neill Conroy tells of the Columbus Memorial at Washington and the unveiling ceremonies last June. Richard S. Dahl continues his collection of the Lore of Plover Bay. There are also other articles; a tribute to the late Hugh H. Fraser, verse by R. G. MacDonald. Life in the Outports by M. J. Collins, an article on Peat and a short story. The number is very readable.

Supreme Court.

(Before the Chief Justice.)
Fishermen's Union Trading Co. vs. Chronicle Publishing Co.
Kent, K. C. moved for leave to rescind his motion on November 1st; leave was granted accordingly.

The Court that adjourned till tomorrow at 11 a.m.

Presentations And Promotions.

A. B. C. and F. Co. of Avalon (Bathurst, C. L. B., with the full brass band) paraded at their Armory last night to hear the result of the Outerbridge Shield Competition. A large number of spectators were present. A programme of Physical Drill, Marching and Manual Exercises was gone through and was very well done. Lieut.-Col. Rendell and Captain White inspected the Battalion.

The result of the Outerbridge Shield was then made known, the winners were No. 3 Section, B. Co., Sgt. W. Edwards, with No. 4 Section, A. Co., second. The competition was very close and the winning squad are to be congratulated; this is Sgt. Edward's fourth time winning the shield. Mrs. Col. Rendell presented the Shield and also stripes to the following ladies: Corp. Barrows to be Sergeant; Corp. Crane to be Sergeant; Lance-Corp. T. Winter to be Corporal; Lance-Corp. J. Tremble to be Corporal.

Good Conduct Stripes.—A. Co.—H. Balbin, R. Marshall, A. Penny, A. Downtown, B. Co.—Pte. J. Barrett, M. Colton, C. Co.—W. LeMessurier, R. White, R. LeMessurier, R. Ryall, R. Field, E. Caldwell, R. Parnell, G. Hunt, Camp Priss—A. Co.—Pte. V. Keats; B. Co.—Pte. A. Rendell, C. Co.—Pte. R. White; F. Co.—Pte. J. Humby.

Chaplain White then spoke a few words thanking Mrs. Rendell for presenting the stripes. Cheers were then given for Mrs. Rendell. Sgt. Inst. Elzary presented to the Lieut.-Col. on behalf of the Brigade crew for 1912, with the beautiful cup which they won on Begatta Day. The orders for the week were then read. The Battalion were brought to the present while the band played the National Anthem.

The Police Court.

A married woman summoned her husband for non-support and for using threatening language; the case was dismissed.

Two foreign firemen charged with deserting their ship were put on board. A drunk for the seventh time was fined $4-00 14 days.

Three firemen charged with deserting their ship were put on board. A drunk was discharged on payment of cash hire.

Wedding Bells.

HAVERMALE—HASKINS.
Miss Sadie Haskins was married yesterday to J. O. Havermale, of St. John's, Nfld., by the Rev. A. D. Ball, at the Parsonage of St. James M. E. Church, New York City. The best man was Elmer E. Dell, Secretary for Congressmen Bradley, at Washington, D. C., maid of honour, Mrs. Clark R. Dell (nee Isabel Haskins, sister of the bride). Mrs. Havermale looked charming in a travelling suit of blue, with hat and gloves to match. The bride was quite popular and had a host of friends in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. The happy pair were the recipients of many handsome presents, which included a set of beautiful hand-painted dishes from the Trinity Choir, of which the bride was a member, and a lovely nickel tea kettle from Delta Alpha, a society at Trinity. Mr. and Mrs. Havermale will return to St. John's about October 15th.—Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Courier, Sept. 15, 1912.

McMurdo's Store News.

FRIDAY, Oct. 4th, '12.
The ever present difficulty with Liquid Court Plasters of preventing them from drying up before the time it is needed is gotten over by Messrs. Johnson & Johnson, who put up a first class preparation of this kind, known as Cotolia by the use of a special and carefully refined cork which is quite impervious and keeps the liquid thin for an indefinite time. Each bottle too, is enclosed in a metal container which further increases its security. If you buy a bottle of Cotolia, you can put it aside, in the assurance that should you, one day next week, get a cut or scratch, you will find it ready and effective for use when you need it. Price, 15c. a bottle.

Red Cross Kidney Plasters are excellent for pain in the back, colds in the kidneys and lumbago. Try one. Price, 20c.

Obituary.

MR. THOS. SHORTALL.
Mr. Thomas Shortall, a well known and respected fisherman of Blackhead, died this morning after a protracted illness. With the passing of Mr. Shortall all the old-timers of the name disappear from the settlement. Mr. Shortall was an honest, industrious man and in his early years sailed in foreign going vessels out of St. John's. He leaves a widow, son and daughter to whom the Telegram extends its sympathy.

Quite a Feat.

The value of motor boats to our fishermen is becoming more apparent as the years go by and they will after a while completely supersede the old style fishing punt. A couple of days ago J. Maynard brought up here in his boat 34 qts. of fish, and despite the fact that the weather was bad that a high sea ran, he came along in 6 hours. It would have taken several carts many hours to get this up overland. The boat left after discharging deeply laden with provisions, etc.

Cabmen's Tariff.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Mr. Editor.—At last our handy annual—the Cab Tariff—has arrived at that stage in its career when it may proudly consume a pound or two of cold type to make known its existence to the world. A patient public confidently expected throughout the ages, that our City Fathers were burning midnight oil to try and effect a standard rate that would eliminate a deal of the difficulty and friction that have arisen at times between the cabmen and the citizen, but lo! and behold, we find that the last stage of the tariff is worse than the first.

For goodness sake, Mr. Editor, can you name anyone in town who could act as interpreter between the mystified cab drivers and an exasperated public, now that this rate is effective. And since the aim is to compel a fixed rate, why leave open Regatta Day and weddings? Where is the prevention to an unscrupulous cabman who is out for all he can mull from the public. Does it follow that going to be married, or is there a special benevolence from John D. Rockefeller on the eve of our Regattas?

In common with thousands, I fail to see, Mr. Editor, why that clause is inserted. If special cheaper rates are in mind, why not publish a Supplementary Tariff or an amendment. Another yard or so of rates and figures wouldn't create much more chaos than we have just now.

As has been already pointed out on several occasions, the whole business is as complex as a study of the present Balkan crisis, would be to a school boy. In many cases the cabmen are expected to work for the good of their health, while other parts of this Tariff, fix the rates at such a figure as will make the luxury of a drive impossible to the average person. Without being in the least disparaging, I would ask how many are there who could quote the rates under the present tariff. A man driving to Topsail with a couple of friends after tea on Sunday would be at his destination before he or the cabman would have the legitimate rate compiled. We need a few expert accountants now unless it is the purpose of the Council to compel owners of cabs to instal comptometers, guaranteed not to run after sundown. So much for the rates.

Sec. 11 of the Rules clearly implies the inability of either cabman or passenger to "figure it out" as both are supposed to peruse the printed Rules and Regulations.

Sec. 15 interferes with the business of Hotel Proprietors, to the extent of taking from their hands the time-honored privilege of boarding trains and steamers to solicit guests. Under the present method, a clerk must spend twenty minutes convincing a tourist that the "Crosbie" is the best hotel, and must then relinquish his man, because the Crosbie's cabman is not on the spot to ask him to take a cab.

What rot for a supposedly intelligent body of men to foist on an ear-punctured and expect it to be gulped down. Sec. 10 will, I am sure, especially find immediate favor (?) with the cabmen, especially if on the road to Torbay or Bay Bulls a night like this one. Instead of having three inches of black figures on each lamp, most cabmen find a pressing need for three inches more light, and it is not to be wondered at under the present regulations, if a policeman stops a driver to enquire where his light is.

Unless I mistake not, Mr. Editor, the Council has had this Tariff under consideration since last winter and if so, considering the progress made, it might not be amiss to suggest, that as the Mayor is shortly to visit Toronto, might not another representative be sent to pick up a few tips on How to Compile a Tariff that will be intelligible to the ordinary citizen without having to be first referred to the Hague Tribunal.

Very truly yours,
J. J. LACEY.

Oct. 2nd, 1912.

The Chances Against You

"Oh, I will be all right in a few days," says the person who is tired out and has to drag himself to his daily work because the nervous system is exhausted.

Unfortunately nervous diseases do not right themselves, and the wasting process which has brought you to this condition keeps right on until there is a complete breakdown.

You must get the building-up process started, so that, instead of being a little weaker at the end of each day, you will find the balance on the other side and know that you are gradually getting strong and well.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will help you wonderfully if you only give it a reasonable chance. As the system is built up you will find such symptoms as headache, sleeplessness and indigestion leaving you. You will find the old energy coming back. The mind and body will better serve you, and you will see a new pleasure in life. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

A Sour, Greasy Upset Stomach

"Pape's Diapepsin" regulates your stomach and ends indigestion in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in revolt, if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diapepsin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astounding. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

Bible Class Rally

Last night at the Presbyterian Hall the semi-annual Rally of George St. A. B. C. was held, and, considering the condition of the weather, was well attended. An enjoyable programme was rendered, the items of which were as follows:—

Piano Solo . . . . . Mr. R. King.
Quartette—Misses Vey and Christian, Messrs. Green and Butler.
Solo . . . . . Mr. Stan. Green.
Solo . . . . . Miss Oakley.
Recitation . . . . . Mr. R. Hearley.
Brass Quartette — Messrs. Peet, Dutot, Tucker and Taylor.
Solo . . . . . Miss Cornick.
Solo . . . . . Mr. J. Spooner.
Male Quartette — Messrs. Green, Tucker, Mews and Butler.

At the close of the programme, refreshments were served, which were followed by games of various kinds.

On Sunday next the Annual Red and Blue Contest in connection with the Class will commence, captained by two of our best hustlers, Messrs. Ellis and Meadus who will no doubt "do things" when they begin.

Klark-Urban Co.

Despite the remarkable line of plays presented by the Klark-Urban Company and the gorgeousness of the stage settings, the lighter portions of the performances have not been neglected. The various specialties introduced during each performance are far beyond anything ever produced by this company. In the great comedy drama, "The Man of The Hour"—the opening bill Monday and Tuesday evenings—they will be seen to the best advantage and includes the following high-class vaudeville features. The great "Irving" Society Magician; Billy Webb, Comedian and Dancer; Al Canton, Comedy Juggler; Klark, Urban and Schreiber, Musical Artists, and as a special added attraction for this engagement only, Messrs. Klark and Urban have engaged The Royalty Trio, direct from England which is considered the best act that has ever visited Newfoundland. The Klark-Urban Company will commence a limited engagement at the Casino Theatre, next Monday evening. Seats now on sale at the Atlantic Bookstore.

Special Evening Telegram.
VIENNA, Oct. 3.
King George of Greece to-day had a long audience with the Italian, Russian and French ambassadors to Austro-Hungary.

Special Evening Telegram.
NEW YORK, Oct. 3.

The steamer Macedonia, scheduled to sail at noon for the Piræus, with 2,000 passengers, was commandeered shortly before sailing by the Greek Consul-General at this port. All the passengers, with baggage, were hurriedly sent ashore, and the vessel prepared to sail at once for Philadelphia, to take on a cargo of ammunition from Philadelphia. The Macedonia will return to New York for the reservists of Greece and the Balkan States, who plan to sail on her for home, owing to the impending war with Turkey.

Personal.

Mr. Reginald Dowden, of the Herald reportorial staff, accompanied by his bride, returned from their honeymoon tour by the Stephano yesterday. The Enormous Purchasing Power

OF OVER THIRTY THOUSAND PEOPLE IS CONCENTRATED IN THIS PAPER TO-DAY.

The eyes of over thirty thousand people are on these pages. Your power is so great that if ever you were to turn it in any single direction, it would be epoch making.

Your combined purchasing power for this one day is so enormous that it would make the daily purchasing power of the richest monarch in the world seem like the spending money of a child. And what is more, you are exerting that tremendous purchasing power every day.

If you were to concentrate that buying power for one single day in any direction, it would be the making of history.

And now we are going to suggest that you do concentrate that buying power in one direction. If you will do so, you will get more returns for your money than you could in any other way. You will get higher quality and lower prices. You will get better service and truer courtesy. You will be concentrating your power, not only to the advantage of commerce, but to your own best advantage as well; and you will be helping to cast off much of the useless driftwood which progress has to carry along in its tide.

We are going to ask you to concentrate your entire buying power, over THIRTY thousand strong, upon the advertising in this paper.

You will find every product here that you can possibly desire. You will get the highest in standard and the lowest in price. You will find everything new that belongs to the new season. You will be the personal gainer by more thousands of dollars than any one can tell. And on top of all this you will give such an incentive to all advertisers that they will be eager to come back with better values than they have ever offered before.

These are the leaders of trade—these men who advertise. They are the advance guard of progress. They do things first and best, and others follow.

They are worthy of your concentrated buying power to-day. They have earned it and they ought to have it.

There is no advertisement in this paper too small for you to find and read, because the small advertiser is the truest representative of concentrated enterprise and energy and his work is the promise of magnitude to come. His service, too, and his effort to please will be exacting to the last detail.

And there is no advertisement too large for you to study carefully in every part. For too often some shrewd buyer with a wonderfully rare bargain is allotted a mighty small space to put it in.

Try it to-day. Concentrate that buying power of yours. Turn all that tremendous spending power upon the advertising in this paper and you will be amazed at how much you yourself will have benefited in actual dollars and cents.

Rushing Work.

The new machine shops being built by the Reid Nfd. Co. on the north side of the Dry Dock, are being fast rushed to completion. The concrete walls are finished and a large staff of carpenters are now at work on the roof which will be finished a few weeks hence. The old building was very much congested and this will give the artisans plenty of room to work. Quite a number of officers and cadets from the Cornwall visited the Reid works yesterday afternoon.

FEAR HE IS DEAD.—The friends of the missing man Nagle now fear that the worst has occurred to him. He was a sober, steady, hard working man and has one sister living in Boston. It is hard to account for his disappearance.

Psoriasis is another name for chronic eczema. It is the worst form of this dreadful itching skin disease. Once eczema has reached this stage it is usually considered incurable. Mrs. Nettie Massey, Concession, Ont., writes—"I thought it my duty to tell you the great benefit I received from using Dr. Chase's Ointment. For five years I suffered with what three doctors called Psoriasis. I doctored with three different doctors, with no good results, and one of our noted doctors told me if any one offered to guarantee me a cure for $50.00 to keep my money in my pocket, as I could not be cured.

"The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head. The itching and burning was hard to bear. At last my brother read in the paper about Dr. Chase's Ointment as a healer. I used 8 boxes, and I am glad to say I am entirely cured, not a sign of a sore to be seen."

Lowney's shows you how Cocoa ought to taste

Partly because—the beans, after thorough cleaning, are carefully roasted to bring out the full, rich flavor of the finest cocoa beans. The process demands rare skill and experience.

Lowney's shows you how Cocoa ought to taste

Partly because—cocoa beans from various tropical sections are combined and ground into an exquisite blend.

Lowney's shows you how Cocoa ought to taste

Partly because—after excess cocoa butter is removed, the cocoa powder is reground and sifted through silk. This insures a fine powder that gives up its rich flavor more quickly than would be possible with a coarser powder.

Lowney's shows you how Cocoa ought to taste

Because—it is impossible to get finer flavored beans than you will find in Lowney's. Because it is impossible to blend, roast and grind these beans with more experienced skill or greater care than we use at our factory in Montreal.

Lowney's Cocoa gives you the very best flavor that the finest cocoa beans can yield. It simply shows you how cocoa ought to taste.

Why Who's Who.

The only six-cylinder brain at large in this country is the one used by Senator Elihu Root of New York. His brain is concealed in a small, 6 1/2 inch head, and fills the entire cavity, leaving no room for light and airy peralage or other bric-a-brac. When Senator Root's brain is in a state of eruption, very few people care to engage him in a catch-as-catch-can debate. Senator Root is a thin, compact gentleman, who looks as if he could use additional storage capacity for his teeming thoughts. Whenever these thoughts begin to teem in a series of high voltage relays, the senator discharges some of the most rapid-fire and compressed-yeast English ever hurling from the American rostrum. He is one of the few men we have who can talk unintentionally for several hours without committing a solecism or injecting any spilt infinitives. By profession Mr. Root is a lawyer, but his business is to furnish the brains for the United States senate. When not engaged in this pursuit, he is kept busy construing the constitution for the benefit of the Supreme Court. Elihu is conceded to be our greatest little construer since Dan'l Webster. He can construe in any direction without losing his balance or using a word of less than six syllables. Senator Root is a high-priced workman, and usually has to be retained with the aid of a swollen certified check before guaranteeing to acquit the defendant. He never accepts a case unless he is satisfied that his client is the victim of a foul conspiracy and is in good standing at the First National bank. Senator Root's eagle eye, determined will and string mustache have done yeoman service in presiding over turbulent gatherings of the plain people. As chairman of the Chicago convention he gave a fine imitation of a human icicle subduing an insurgent uprising. Toward the close, however, his hearing became so defective that he couldn't distinguish a cataract of 'Nyas' from a trickle of 'Ayes.'

MARINE ENQUIRY.—Consts. T. Lynch and E. Quinlan arrived here yesterday from Trepassy and will be present as witnesses this afternoon in an enquiry in the Marine Court into the stranding of the S. S. Wilhelmnia. Several other witnesses also came along for the same purpose.

An Enjoyable Concert.

The concert given by the C. E. T. S. in the Synod Hall last night was attended by a fairly large audience, all of whom enjoyed it thoroughly. Excellent solos were given by Misses Strang, Irving, Butler, Pippy and Hanlan. Miss Sybil Johnson performed on the violin with the skill of a virtuoso, and received the applause which the delightful music she furnished merited. A trombone solo by Miss Hanlan was unique and highly appreciated. Mr. Hearder recited "The Legend of the Little Vulgar Boy" in an inimitable manner. Mr. Mews performed in a most creditable manner on the cello, and the items by Messrs. Crocker and Noseworthy on the piano were listened to with extreme pleasure. Messrs. Clarke and Spooner rendered a duet in excellent form. The proceeds go to the Marine Disasters Fund. The promoters of the concert are to be commended on its general excellence.

A Newfoundland Romance.

Mr. Frank White, of this city, who is a graceful and prolific writer, and who is now studying in Toronto for the profession of an architect, is becoming appreciated in that city for his ability in literary work. He recently wrote a Newfoundland romance, the manuscript of which was taken up by a large publishing house and will soon come before the public in book form.

Special to Evening Telegram.
Ottawa, Oct. 3.
Tenders for the construction of the P.E. Island car ferry have been received and the contract will be awarded on Friday. It is not likely the ferry will be in operation before the fall of next year. The cost of the ferry from Cape Tormentine to Carlton Point will be about half a million while the new piers and sheds at Carlton Point will cost a million.

The Science and Art of Bathing.

A well-known doctor once said that the longer you stay in the sea water the less benefit you get. Therefore, don't stay in the water one moment after you begin to feel the least bit chilly.

More fatalities occur through stopping in the water too long than through currents, or cramps, or boating accidents, or any other single cause.

Gramp is the scape-goat of the careless. In reality it rarely occurs; and if it comes when you are within your depth, as you ought to be, it need not worry you.

If you are foolish enough to swim out and are seized with a cramp in so doing, it will only come in one leg first. Turn at once on your back, stretch the cramped leg as far as you can, and bellow for assistance.

One little suspected cause of fatalities is this: A little wave strikes the face and sends a lot of spray in to the larynx thereby causing suffocation and sending the swimmer to the bottom. Therefore, be careful to keep the mouth closed when swimming.

Don't make the mistake of cooling off before entering the water. When you are heated and perspiring is the Turkish bath which is given when the body is streaming with sweat. This is beneficial. Cooling off is positively bad.

If on coming out and drying yourself, you do not receive a healthy "glow" either bathing does not suit you, and you should drop it, or else you have been in too long, because—

When you enter the water this happens: First, a shivering of all the muscles of the body. Next a contraction of the blood vessels near the skin which drives the blood inward to the internal organs, thereby congesting brain, liver, and lungs.

And—When you leave the water the process is reversed. The skin tingles, relief is given to the organs, the heart beats merrily, and you feel buoyant.

That tired, listless feeling you have after stopping too long is because the heart and brain still remain overloaded.

Remember that more accidents occur to swimmers than to non-swimmers. Probably 90 per cent. of these are preventable.

Before you have your first dip get full information from a competent native as to the peculiarities of the coast.

If you are caught in a current there is no need to become flustered. Don't squander your strength by trying to swim against it. Swim with it.

While doing so try and edge off on the shore side. The current weakens on its fringe; and the impetus you gain by swimming with it will often enable you to break away.

If you cannot do this get on your back, signal to anyone who may be within hail, and keep afloat as long as you can.

Very many currents will simply take you out a little way and bring you in again further along the coast. This is especially true of currents in bays and at river mouths. Therefore save your strength and keep swimming.

Finally, whoever you are and whatever you are, lay this maxim to heart: Never bathe alone. The sea is full of surprises.

Chewing a Straw

Grooms and hostlers are still partial to chewing straws. Formerly at the "mop" or "hiring fairs" in many parts of England stable boys and grooms stood in the market place with a straw in their mouths, while the shepherds wore a lock of wool in their caps. The custom of putting a straw in the mouth to show that one is ready to be hired is not extinct even now in the few places where such fairs linger.—London Farm and Home.

"Red as a Sapphire"

To say that a young girl's eyes are as blue as sapphires is as absurd as it would be to say that her mouth is as red as velvet. Sapphires, no more than velvet, are exclusively one color. The sapphires of Ceylon run from a soft blue to a peacock blue, which last is practically a green. There is also a red sapphire, sometimes called a Ceylonese ruby. B-sides blue, green and red sapphires, many fine ones are yellow and white.

The picture known as "Rembrandt's Father," which the Munich collector Becher bought at a London auction some time ago because it was regarded as a copy of the original, has been sold, on the strength of Professor William Bobs authentication of it as an original, for $112,500. The purchaser is supposed to be Von Nemes, the Hungarian collector.
